JEALOUSY'S VICTIM

A Young Man's Attempt On His Sweetheart's Life.

THREW HER INTO THE WATER.

William Wyncoop, in Jealous Rage, Tries to Drown Maggie Carroll.

He Would Have Succeeded, Had Not a Party of Yachtsmen Rescued Her—Her Condition Critical—The Young Lady Merely Remarked that Some Young Man Was "Nice" When Her Escort Started in to Kill Her.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 1.—Maggie Carroll, a beautiful young girl, lies at the Emergency Hospital hovering between life and death. She went rowing last evening with William Wyncoop, who had been keeping her company for a year and more, and when they left the boathouse they were chatting pleasantly. They rowed to the breakwater and thence to the Seaside Park shore.

When near the beach Miss Carroll remarked that a young man of her acquaintance was "very nice." This aroused Wyncoop's jealousy, and he exclaimed:

"Repeat that and I'll drown you."

Miss Carroll demanded that her companion row her immediately to the beach, that she might leave him. Instead of doing so he deliberately threw her into the water, and in doing so was pitched out himself.

A savage fight followed, Wyncoop trying to push Miss Carroll under. He succeeded in doing so, but people on a passing yacht had been attracted, and went to her rescue. Both were taken on board, the lady unconscious, and she was taken to the hospital.

Miss Carroll's condition is critical. After Wyncoop was sufficiently recovered he was arrested. He is held without bail.

STRUCK A GOLD MINE.

The Marvelous Find of a Hitherto Penniless Miner.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 1.—B. B. Needham, brown and toil worn with two years prospecting in the Sierra Madre range of Mexico, came to San Antonio yesterday, in search of Mrs. May Fremd. She is the wife of an acquaintance, a miner like himself.

Needham says that after almost inconceivable hardships, Fremd has made a strike of fabulous richness. His find is in the heart of the Giant range, 200 miles from a railway. Chihuahua, the capital of the State of Chihuahua, is the nearest point.

The mine seems to be of limitless capacity and of little trouble to work. There is plenty of water and wood. The yield is the purest of wire gold; as Needham expresses it, "the strike is like picking up yellow dollars." Fremd is now in Chihauhau with specimens of the metal. The city, which contains numerous miners and mining speculators, is much excited. Mrs. Fremd was found; she has been living in straitened circumstances and was overcome by the news of her good fortune. She accompanied Needham to Chihauhau.

CLOSED ITS DOORS.

The Houtzdale, Pa., Bank suspends—Excited Depositors.

HOUTZDALE, Pa., Oct. 1.—The Houtzdale Bank closed its doors at 10:30 yesterday morning. W. H. Dill of Clearfield owned the bank and was its president, with John B. McGrath of Houtzdale, cashier. W. H. Dill is also president of the First National Bank of Clearfield, Pa., which closed its doors at the same time.

The Houtzdale bank has done a large business in the way of deposits. Individual deposits range from $13,000 down, while many secret and beneficial associations, the borough and several township treasurers are depositors in various sums, aggregating many thousands of dollars. The savings of Hungarian and Swede miners that are locked up in the bank aggregate $70,000.

The excitement is intense and were it believed that any considerable amount of money was in the bank, nothing could prevent the excited Slavs from breaking in the doors. The streets are thronged with miners.

Cashier McGrath says that everything is correct in the bank and that if the securities on which the money deposited in the Houtzdale Bank, sent to the Clearfield Bank, are as valuable as he presumed them to be, the depositors will lose nothing.

Death of a Centenarian.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 1.—Edward Shannon is dead here, after having reached the unusual age of 102 years. He was a native of Ireland, but came to this country when quite young and has resided here ever since. Two years ago when Mr. Shannon celebrated his 100th birthday he surprised his many friends by dancing a lively Irish jig. Almost up to the time of his death he was in good health, was able to read and his hearing was excellent.

Charged With Her Husband's Murder.

STOUGHTON, Mass., Oct. 1.—Annie E. Makepeace, of Avon, was sent to prison yesterday to await the action of the Grand Jury, on the charge of having shot and killed her husband on Friday last. The evidence shows that the fatal shot was fired through a closed door, and indicates that there was no well-defined intention on the part of Mrs. Makepeace to shoot her husband.

S. V. White to Resume.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — The following statement is made as to S. V. White's affairs: "All the corn for account of White, which has been carried by brokers whose names have been used in connection with his affairs has been liquidated, except 800,000 bushels. It was margined below any price the market ever reached, and the favorable turn in the quotations will enable Mr. White to resume next week and save a very considerable sum from the wreck—from a quarter to a half million of dollars."

The Ringleaders Transfered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The State prison directors decided to-day that there would be no more conspiracies among the convicts at San Quenten, if it lay in their power to prevent them. They have ordered the transfer to another prison of Charles Backman, Charles Irwin and Charles C. Sullivan, the ringleaders in the recent attempt to blow up the prison with dynamite.

Their Dismissal Recommended.

WASHINGTON, Oct 1.—Commissioner Raum of the Pension Office has recommended to the Secretary of the Interior the dismissal of J. E. Engel of Pennsylvania, F. M. Taylor of Illinois, and Edward Howard of Connecticut, on the general charge that their continuance in office is detrimental to the efficiency of the bureau.

Probable Successor of W. L. Scott.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—There is a strong movement in this city in the direction of securing the appointment of William F. Harrity to the place on the Democratic National Committee made vacant by the death of William L. Scott. A meeting of leading Democrats was held last night at which it was resolved to recommend Mr. Harrity's selection.

Queer Cause for Resigning.

HE DIED FOR LOVE

Boulanger's Suicide Due to Grief Over His Mistress.

COULD NOT BEAR TO LIVE ALONE.

The Act Not a Surpise to Some of His More Intimate Friends.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY.

The Paris Newspapers Make No Reflections Upon His Political Career.

The General Leaves a Will in Which He Enjoins His Friends to Prosecute the Great Aims He Had in Life—His Infatuation For Madame Bonnemain So Great That All Ambition Had Forsaken Him. His Poverty Also Preyed Upon His Mind—Excitement Among His Followers—Boulanger's Rise and Fall.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The suicide of Boulanger has caused a tremendous sensation. The obituaries in the newspapers do not reflect upon his political career, except that in "Le Journal des Debats," which says:

"Boulanger knew the intoxication of the wildest and noisiest popularity. It was Boulanger who said that the weakness of one too often influenced the decision of another. His end fully justifies that dictum. He had not the courage to survive her who sacrificed her self for him."

Boulanger left a will and a political testament in his desk. It is stated that in the latter he enjoins upon his friends to prosecute the great aims he had in view. He ascribes his death solely to grief for the death of Madame Bonnemain. The funeral will probably be held on Sunday.

Although Boulanger was closer to poverty than he had been for many years, yet the evidence indicates that this was not one of his principal motives for suicide. Since the death of Madame Bonnemain, he had been deeply despondent. He seemed to have lost all his vigor, and to be living in a desultory and aimless fashion.

He would pass whole days in a morose silence from which his niece and other friends vainly sought to arouse him. He was even seen to shed tears, while he gazed continually at a photograph of his dead mistress.

Instead of overcoming this feeling with the lapse of time, he had yielded to it more and more. His ambition forsook him, and of late he seemed to take no interest in French politics, about the smallest incident of which he used to show the most lively interest. His suicide, therefore, is not a surprise to his intimates, although sudden and sensational to the public.

Details of the Suicide.

General Boulanger killed himself at noon yesterday, in Brussels, at the grave of his dead mistress, who died recently in that city. He stood alone by the grave for some time, appearing to be deeply affected by sorrowful recollections. An attendant who remained some distance away suddenly heard a sharp report. Rushing to the spot he found Boulanger lying dead on the ground with a revolver clutched tightly in his right hand. He had placed the muzzle to his right ear and sent a bullet into his brain.

Boulanger often drove to the cemetery to mourn at his mistress' grave, and for these melancholy journeys he had prepared a carriage draped with black. He had ordered to be inscribed on the tombstone, in letters of gold, the words: "A bientot, Marguerite." Finally, he had caused room to be made in the vault for his own remains.

On Monday the General caused all his accounts with the trades people to be settled up. He secretly drew two wills and placed them in the hands of his lawyer. His relatives had become convinced that he would seize the first opportunity to carry out his purpose of self-destruction, and they made every effort to thwart his intention. All weapons within the household were hidden on Monday, and from that time the strictest watch was kept upon his movements. Monday night his niece, listening at his bedroom door, heard him sobbing bitterly and uttering exclamations of sorrow and despair.

THE LATE GEN. BOULANGER.

Brief Sketch of His Career as a Soldier—His Exile.

George-Ernest-Jean-Marie Boulanger was born at Rennes, in Brittany, on April 29, 1837. His father was a small country attorney who was barely able to give his son sufficient education to enter the military school. His mother was of English birth, but had lived most of her life in France.

Young Boulanger's early years were passed in Brighton, England, where he was put to school under the supervision of his maternal uncles.

In 1855, when Boulanger was in his 18th year, he entered the famous military school of St. Cyr, where he remained over a year.

Boulanger saw service in Algiers, but was soon sent to Cochin-China, where he received his first wound, a spear-thrust in the neck.

In the war between France and Austria, Boulanger, though a subaltern, distinguished himself highly.

At Solferino he was shot completely through the body, and his life was saved only by the careful nursing of his mother. For his gallantry he received his captaincy and the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

Partly on account of his health, he was appointed to one of the military professorships at St. Cyr.

His wife was his cousin on his father's side and whom he married in 1863.

At the outbreak of the Franco-German war, he was appointed Major, and soon took command of the 114th Regiment of Infantry. His was one of the last regiments to enter Paris before it was surrounded by the German armies.

During the siege of Paris he received the thanks of General Trochu for distinguished bravery, was promoted in the Legion of Honor and made a colonel.

In the fighting with the Commune, Colonel Boulanger was again wounded the third time in the wrist. He headed a party of troops, which attempted to capture some Communards in a courtyard, in which they had taken refuge, Boulanger put his arm over the gate at the entrance of the courtyard. In order to unlatch it from the inside, and in his way presented a mark for the enemy.

After the war, Boulanger suffered a temporary loss in rank, along with many other officers of the French army, but soon regained it.

On attaining the rank of General, he was for a time attached to a cavalry brigade, and later on held a divisional command at Tunis. In 1886 he was appointed Chief of the French Military Mission at the Yorktown Centennial in the United States.

On Jan. 7, 1886, M. de Freycinet, then Prime Minister, appointed Boulanger Minister of War. Boulanger soon instituted such radical reforms in the army and was so imperious in his method of doing so, that the Radicals became alarmed lest the army should become the dictator of France.

But in spite of the efforts of politicians the General's popularity grew by leaps and bounds until, at the inauguration of the Circle Mill, Boulanger, on his since celebrated black charger, took the hearts of the fickle Parisians by storm. It was noticed that since the death of Gambetta the French had not shouted "Vive!" an body until the appearance of Boulanger on his black charger.

In July, 1886, a biography of Boulanger was published, of which 125,000 copies were sold during the first month. Then M. Deroulede and the Patriots' League put forward Boulanger as General Revanche. He was to be the revenger of prostrated France of 1870.

This may be said to be the height of Boulanger's popularity. The politicians effectively combined to down him. He was dismissed from the Ministry of War. He fled to Brussels and thence to England.

He engaged in an ignoble conspiracy to hand the Republic of France over to the Orleanists. In time, his charlatanism was recognized, and his popularity waned. For the past two years he has been living in retirement until his name has almost been forgotten.

Mme. Bonnemain was a distinguished-looking woman who accompanied the General when he went to Jersey. She belonged to a good family and was rich. He was said to have obtained a great quantity of money from her.

MME. DE BONNEMAIN.

The Woman With Whom the Dead General Was Infatuated.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Mme. de Bonnemain is the lady with whom the dead General was most intimate. She accompanied him to England after his flight from France, and early in July last she was dangerously ill in Brussels, suffering with consumption. In spite of the efforts made to save her, Mme. de Bonnemain died July 17.

It was greatly through Madame de Bonnemain's favor that General Boulanger was able to carry on his political intrigues, for Madame had inherited a fortune of $1,500,000, all of which sum she devoted to the cause of the then popular leader.

To such an extent did General Boulanger carry his infatuation for Mme. de Bonnemain that when the French government determined to arrest him he could not be persuaded to pose as a martyr before the French people by going to jail, preferring to fly with her from France to England, and eventually to Brussels, where they have both met their death.

The News in London.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The suicide of General Boulanger caused a tremendous sensation here. Although the General had long ceased to be a lion in London society, yet his personality was sufficiently familiar to Englishmen for them to feel more interest in the man than if he had been a stranger to these shores. The papers are full of the details of the suicide, accompanied by long sketches of Boulanger's public service.

The stockholders of the Fitchburg Railroad Company at their annual meeting in Boston yesterday re-elected the present board of directors.

The Yale eleven played its first football game of the season at New Haven, yesterday, with the Wesleyan College team and scored an easy victory.

An alarm of fire yesterday from the residence of Secretary Blaine at Augusta, Me., created considerable excitement. The fire was easily extinguished.

SAVED FROM OCEAN

Three Rescued Crews Brought Back to Port.

TALES OF AWFUL SUFFERING.

The Crew of the Little Wonder Were 18 Days Without Food.

The Provisions Washed Into the Sea by a Storm and Only a Small Quantity of Fresh Water Aboard — Rescued With Great Difficulty — The Steamship California Struck a Reef — Thirty-four Men from the Wrecked Falls of Earn Saved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The crew of the shipwrecked fishing schooner Little Wonder, who were brought into this port yesterday by the steamship Siberian, are suffering greatly from the effects of their terrible experience.

The Little Wonder sailed from Labrador September 4 with her hold full of codfish, bound for the English Channel. Her crew consisted of Captain Hancock and four men. Two days after starting from Labrador the schooner was struck by a terrible storm which completely dismasted her.

The mate, Edward Brown, was washed overboard and drowned. The vessel was blown about at the mercy of the storm, which continued for two days. All of the provisions on board were washed into the sea, and there was only a small quantity of fresh water aboard. After four days of starvation, the men became so weak that they could only lie on the deck and gasp for breath.

After 18 days of privation the schooner was sighted by the Siberian, and the starving men were taken on board that vessel.

The rescue was accomplished with great difficulty, as the sea was running high and the men on board were unable to help themselves.

Struck a Reef.

The steamship Philadelphia brought in yesterday the crew of the steamer California, plying between Liverpool and the West Indies. At 11 o'clock on the night of September 10 the California struck a reef near the Island of Aruba, in the Dutch Antilles. An enormous hole was stove in her bow, and the shock broke the steam pipe. Water poured through the aperture at the rate of a foot a second.

Second Engineer Davis was overcome by steam and drowned in the rising water. Chief Engineer John Mort, and Oiler John Slevin, who were in the engine room, escaped. The latter was severely scalded.

The crew remained aboard with the seven passengers until the next morning, when a boat was lowered and all got ashore.

Thirty-four Lives Saved.

Thirty-four of the crew of the ship Falls of Earn were brought to this city yesterday by the steamer Murray, from Singapore. The vessel was bound for the Island of Sumatra with a cargo of coal. She struck a sunken rock on July 2. The crew took to the boats and were picked up by a schooner, which carried them to Penang, from which they made their way to Singapore, where they took passage for this port. They will be sent home by the British Consul.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

The Friends of Lawyer Monaghan Think He Has Been Murdered.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 1.—The greatest excitement prevails here over the disappearance of Robert J. Monaghan, a prominent lawyer of this place, who left here last Thursday for New York. There he registered at the Gilsey House, and since then nothing has been seen or heard of him.

There is no possible reason for his disappearance, and his family fear foul play. His accounts, according to his law partner, Mr. J. Frank E. House, are perfectly correct. When Mr. Monahan left his home with the intention of going to New York, he said that it was on business for the Pennsylvania Mortgage Investment Company and the Keystone Development Company, in both of which concerns he is an active officer.

On Monday his brother came to New York and went at once to the Gilsey House, where he learned his brother had registered, taken a room, left his bag, and gone out. The bed was undisturbed, and the bag contained nothing but a change of clothes.

Mr. Monaghan is possessed of a very lucrative practice and is a very domestic man. The two companies with which he is connected are said to be in a very prosperous condition, and on Monday a large sum was deposited by Mr. House in the West Chester Bank to the credit of the Investment Company in behalf of the missing man.

Savannah's Strike Spreading.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—The wharf laborers' strike threatens to assume serious proportions. It has extended to the warehouses and rosin yard hands and draymen. Six hundred yard hands and 100 warehouse hands went out yesterday, and the draymen have given notice that they will strike. About 2,000 men in all are now out.

The Shippers Allege Fraud.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The Vendome Rubber Company of New York, together with Horace Maxwell, have sworn out a writ of replevin and placed it in the hands of the coroner in order to secure about $10,000 worth of rubber garments in the stores of the late G. D. Barr. The shippers allege in their petition that the goods were obtained by fraud.

Striking Weavers Again at Work.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 1. — The striking weavers at the Granite Mill returned to work yesterday morning under a promise from the agent that their wages would be made satisfactory.

Sponge Pudding.

BY MARION HARLAND.

2 full cups of flour, 1 tablespoonful of melted butter, 1 cup of powdered sugar, 6 eggs—the whites only—whipped stiff, 2 cups of milk, 1 teaspoonful of rose-water or other colorless flavoring extract, 1 full teaspoonful of Cleveland's baking powder.

Rub butter and sugar to a cream, stir in gradually the milk, then the frothed whites; lastly and very lightly, the flour which has been sifted twice with the baking powder. Bake in cups or a mould. Eat hot with liquid sauce.

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

Cleveland's Baking Powder is absolutely the best, because:

It is pure and wholesome;
richest in cream of tartar;
highest in leavening power;
Food raised with it keeps moist and fresh;
It is the most economical;
always gives uniform results;
is absolutely free from adulteration.

One trial proves its superiority.

IN TRUE WESTERN STYLE.

A New York Central Express Held Up by a Robber.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Oct. 1.—H. A. Moore, the messenger on the American Express car, robbed yesterday morning on the Central Road, formerly lived in this city, where he was night clerk in the company's office up to a year ago. Since then he moved with his wife to Buffalo.

According to Moore's story, the robbery occurred just east of Utica, at 1 a. m. The messenger suddenly saw a masked man standing over him with two revolvers pointed at his head. The robber's only words with Moore were: "It's money I'm after; we're coming into Utica."

Moore was taken by surprise, and as the robber had taken his revolver, had to give up the key of the safe. Moore says that when the robber secured his revolver he fired three times, none of the bullets hitting Moore, however. The robber ransacked the safe, taking those packages he thought contained valuables. The messenger managed to thrust a $5,000 money package behind the safe, which the robber did not find.

Packages containing jewelry and other valuables were taken. The robber was short and slim and wore dark clothes. A slight dark mustache showed through his mask. When the fellow was ready, he gave a signal to the engineer to slow down. He gave another signal for the train to go ahead, and then jumped.

The amount stolen is said to be up in the tens of thousands of dollars. Moore declares that while the man who did the actual robbing was at work with one hand among the packages, and held a revolver in the other hand pointed at Moore, another man with a revolver was at the hole in the end of the car.

THE TRIPLE MURDER CONFESSED.

Carr Killed Wife and Sister-in-Law, and Mother-in-Law Killed Him.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Vanceburg, Ky., says that Mrs. James Evans, mother-in-law of Carr, who was the supposed author of the tragedy near Vanceburg on September 24, which resulted in three deaths, has just made a confession giving the whole story.

She says Carr and his wife were arranging to separate when Carr offended his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rosa Burrows, whereupon she struck him with a hand axe.

Carr then killed Mrs. Burrows with a corn knife, struck Mrs. Evans, the woman who makes the confession, and then attacked and mortally wounded his wife.

At this moment Mrs. James Evans, the mother-in-law, returned with a corn knife and killed Evans. She said her husband was absent on the way to get a neighbor to come and act as arbitrator in the division of the goods.

Mrs. Evans and her husband are both in jail, where she made this confession.

Four Were Killed in the Wreck.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A telegram from Cleveland states that Road Foreman of Engines, W. H. Maxwell, Fireman Glass and an old lady, named Mrs. Dewey, from Richmond, Mich., were killed, and twenty-two passengers, more or less injured in the accident near Kent, O., yesterday, caused by the collision of an east bound passenger train and a freight. The freight train had orders to wait on the siding until the passenger trains had passed, and the freight crew apparently overlooked the last train, or miscounted the number, and pulled out on the main track. The passenger train was occupied almost wholly by members of the Olin family going to their reunion at Bennington.

Oldest Railroad Conductor Killed.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 1.—Andrew Quinlin, the oldest railway conductor in the United States, was killed by a train near Avon, N. J., yesterday. He attempted to cross the track when he was struck. Mr. Quinlin conducted the first train from Philadelphia to Trenton over the Pennsylvania Railroad. He also conducted the first train over the Camden & Amboy road. Mr. Quinlin was upwards of 80 years of age and was a conductor for 56 years. He retired from active service a few years ago.

Weather Indications.

Young men who desire to join one or more of the educational classes are requested to apply at the association rooms to-night.

—The king of fairs—the Great Inter-State at Trenton—was blessed with perfect weather yesterday and to-day. Numbers of Plainfielders went, and all had a splendid time. The Trenton fair is one that no one tires of attending every year. It is one big institute and mastodonic show combined. One leaves it, always with regret. There were 40,000 people on the grounds yesterday, and 55,000 to-day.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Katherine Sauermann, widow of Valentine Sauermann, died this morning at the age of 71.

J. C. Pope is again so unfortunate as to be on crutches, the result this time of a sprained ankle.

George A. Frost, of this city, editor of the Engineering News of New York, went to Salt Lake City last week to attend the meeting of the Irrigation Congress.

George W. Endicott, M. D., has purchased the valuable property of Mrs. Eleanor B. Jones at the northeast corner of Seventh street and Park avenue. It is one of the handsomest and most desirably located homes in Plainfield.

The Hillside Tennis club had designated Saturday, Oct. 3, for one of its customary teas, but it has been decided to postpone it until Saturday, Oct. 17 owing to the very recent death of M. M. Truman one of the founders of the club and a member of its executive committee.

Miss F. Adelle Weeks and Henry Van Name of this city, were married at the home of the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, at three o'clock this afternoon. They took the 4:14 p. m. train for Washington. Upon their return they will be at home Wednesdays in November, at 2 Elmwood place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Fowler have issued cards for the wedding reception of their daughter, Elizabeth, and Frank Freeman Baynon of this city, Wednesday evening, Oct. 14, from half-past 7 until half-past 9, at 51 South Grove street, East Orange. Mr. and Mrs. Baynon will be "at home" Wednesdays after Nov. 4.

In speaking of the Jumel case told of in another column of to-day's PRESS, the New York World refers to "Charles K. Moore, a wealthy civil engineer who built the Jersey Central railroad." This would mean Colonel Charles K. Moore, of the Crescent League, except that he was only three years old when the Central road was built, and his father built it.

THE proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

CHIEF DOANE VICE-PRESIDENT.

Plainfield's Veteran Fireman Given a Post of Honor by the State Convention.

(SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.)

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 1.—The visiting firemen are having a glorious time. The weather is as nearly perfect as mankind was ever favored with. At night the laddies are lulled to slumber by the murmur of the breakers on the beach; and their rest is hearty, for they are off duty, and have no anxious fears of being disturbed to do battle with the fire fiend.

THADDEUS OSBORNE DOANE.

In the early evening—that loveliest portion of the day at the shore—they go forth in groups and serenade their friends. To see the Plainfield firemen wrestle with tall ladders and stubborn lengths of hose at home one would never dream that their nature had any but a practical side; but the way they warble songs beneath the balconies of Atlantic City firemen's wives and daughters shows that all sentiment is not yet dead within their breasts. They sing well, too. Their strong, manly voices ring out very pleasantly on the night air. Their favorite selection seems to be "How Can I Leave Thee", but once in a while they are compelled to heed the request of some rollicking fellow who demands "Comrades", or "I Listen and Wait for Katie". In early morning, as an appetizer for breakfast, the boys parade about town and promenade up and down the board walk, sniffing in the salty ocean breezes. At 10 o'clock they settle down to the business of the day.

The convention, which is the fourteenth annual of the New Jersey State Firemen's association, is presided over by president Burd W. Spencer of Passaic. The sessions are held in the Grand Opera House. Yesterday the elections were held. Plainfield was honored in the choice of Thaddeus Osborne Doane, chief engineer of the Plainfield fire department, as vice-president for the eighth district. This makes the veteran fireman a life member of the association.

There is a deal of work about the convention. The numerous committees have many important matters in hand, and their reports are necessarily lengthy and occupy much time. New measures are constantly cropping up to be disposed of. The topics under discussion usually bring forth some very excellent speech-making.

But as soon as the day's work is over jollity is resumed. It is all one grand play-day. The town has been completely given over to the firemen, and a gala week they are making it. If the weather continues as superb as it has been 'twill be awful hard work to get the boys to leave for home.

Stover Politically Dead Long Ago.

The announcement that ex-Surrogate James J. Gerber, of Elizabeth, would be a candidate next year for the office, has stirred up the Democratic politicians of Plainfield, who don't propose to let "Smiling James" capture the nomination if they can prevent it. The Plainfield Democracy will claim the office of Surrogate and present the name of Rowland M. Stover to the nominating convention.—N. Y. World.

The Plainfield Democracy will do nothing of the sort. When they present a name to the convention for the office of Surrogate, or for the office of Congressman, or for any other office, it will be the name of some representative man worthy of the nomination, respected by the people, fit for the office and able to poll the party's vote. It is needless to tell the Plainfield readers of THE PRESS that Mr. Stover is not such a man.

The Democratic politicians of Plainfield are not "stirred up" by the announcement that James J. Gerber will be a candidate next year for the office of Surrogate. The pair of ex-politicians who have spent so many days and nights in the Elkwood saloon lately dividing among themselves the two principal political plums to be picked next year, may be "stirred" to know that so strong and thoroughly fit a candidate as ex-Surrogate James J. Gerber is already reaching ahead of them for the fruit, but no one else is worried.

As far as they are concerned, however, the stirring that Mr. Gerber is giving them is nothing to the roasting they'll get if they ever run for office.

Struck a Sewer Hole.

J. W. Gavett took a bad header from his high-wheel bicycle yesterday morning. He was traveling along Park avenue and struck a hole in the roadway where the sewer from the Elkwood building had caused a sinking of the roadway. He was hurled several feet forward, and was badly scratched and bruised. To-day the hole in the road was mended.

NOW WANTS HIS CLAIM BACK.

He Assigned a $15,000 Interest for a $1,450 Loan, and is Sorry for It.

Stephen M. Chester, of No. 2,310 Third avenue, New York, has sued John and Charles K. Moore, of Fanwood, for a fifteen-thousand-dollar interest in the Jumel estate. The suit is in the United States District Court. Chester says that he gave the claim to the Moores as collateral for a loan of $650, and that in some mysterious manner they have since kept it from him.

Messrs. Clarke & Culver are counsel for the Moores. Mr. Clarke showed a reporter original documents, which prove that the Moores advanced $650 to Chester, who gave the $15,000 claim as security. Then they gave him $800 more and took an assignment of the Jumel claim. This, they thought, terminated the transaction.

The Moores invested their money in the claim as a "flyer". When the Court of Appeals finally decided that Chester's $15,000 claim was valid the Moores were compelled to pay $5,260 of liens before they could get possession of the money. This, with the risk they took of getting nothing at all for their investment, leads them to believe that Mr. Chester made a pretty good bargain.

"But"—said lawyer Clarke—"Mr. Chester repents having sold his claim, now that all the risk is ended. He wants to regain possession of his property after having sold it."

Mr. Stimson's Institute.

The Institute for Artist Artisans, of which John Ward Stimson, formerly of this city, is superintendent, opened its fall term to-day with largely-increased accommodations. In addition to the space occupied last year, there have been three fine halls added to it, which will be used for the better installment of the department of ornamental and applied design. Two will be occupied by the ceramic, wall paper, and textile departments, for which latter Mrs. Candace Wheeler has contributed two large looms, which are being erected, and has promised her services for the winter.

All the former departments will be in operation, with a few new ones, including those of fundamental art, elements and principles of art, historical ornament and composition, with illustrated lectures, perspective, anatomy, drawing and painting from life models and antiques, architecture, sculpture, wood carving, metal and jewelry design, ceramics, wall paper, and textiles.

Mr. Stimson said yesterday that fully three times last year's number of pupils had applied this year, some of them from prominent schools elsewhere, who are attracted by the broad, fundamental, national character of the training in the institute. The students have organized a society, with a constitution, officers, etc., having four annual reunions of both sub and post graduates, for the purpose of mutual encouragement and help and the dissemination of art information.

Doctor's Row.

On the east side of Park avenue from Fourth to Seventh street, are eight houses six of which are the homes of physicians, one the home of a dentist, while the other is empty. However, Dr. Endicott has just bought the latter and will soon occupy it.

The three blocks will then present an unbroken row of doctor's signs, as follows: Dr. M. B. Long, Dr. J. T. Fritts, Dr. Edward Rushmore, Dr. J. A. Allis, Dr. Comegys Paul, Dr. T. S. Davis, Dr. W. E. Stelle, Dr. G. W. Endicott.

The C. A. C., C. L. S. C., Will Meet to Organize for the Coming Season.

The Crescent Avenue church C. L. S. C. will hold a preliminary meeting in the church parlors, Saturday evening of this week. The Chautauqua course for 1891-92 is essentially American, and hence the present is a most appropriate time to join the circle. The officers of the circle extend an invitation to any who may be interested, to be present on Saturday evening.

Would Make a Great Base Stealer.

A horse drawing H. A. Voehl's bakery wagon stepped on a loose stone on North avenue, in front of the office of THE PRESS, this morning, and was thrown heavily to the ground. He was going at so lively a gait that he slid ten feet on his knees, leaving two long marks of hair along the roadway, and tearing the flesh from the bones. His raw and bleeding knees were bandaged by a veterinary. The shafts of the wagon were broken.

Let's All Go!

Saturday's ball match will be against John Harkins's fine team of New Brunswickers strengthened, it is rumored, by a number of well-known semi-professionals picked from this year's disbanded clubs.

The Plainfield players are to have the entire receipts, and they certainly deserve a big crowd and a great benefit. Everybody go!

Anneke Jans's Irrepressible Heirs.

Editor VanMeter, as one of the Anneke Jans heirs to an estate of $300,000,000, has called a meeting of the North Dakota heirs at Ellendale, that State, to-morrow, to organize a State committee to be present at Kansas City on Oct. 6 at the general meeting of the heirs.

It is false! No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires's Root Beer. Some dealers recommend imitations for the larger profits they yield. What a delicious drink Hires's Root Beer Packages make.

HIS FAMILY STARVING.

While He Is Arrested for Embezzlement and Elopement.

Michael Sweeny, jr., whose home used to be at 121 South Second street, is in trouble. After he gave up being a hackman in this city he became a traveling salesman for Easton and Philadelphia houses.

Some days ago he was arrested on the charge of embezzlement. His accusers are two of the companies for whom he worked. A friend on Somerset street, this city, furnished bonds for his appearance at Easton. After a hearing, he was locked up in that city, and is now awaiting trial. It is said that he was caught in Philadelphia, with a woman who occupied furnished apartments with him. His wife, it is said, will bring suit for divorce. She and her family of small children are reported to be in great distress, even on the verge of starvation, not having contributed anything to their support in some time. The assistance of friends alone has sustained them. Sweeny's method of robbing his employers was to sell goods and make no return of the money.

Some Good Advice for This Very Book-Borrowing and Book Forgetting Community of Plainfield.

(From The Worcester Spy.)

We all have friends who need not be reminded how to handle books. They love them as we do. We shall not find their books opened face down on the table, thrown on the floor or lying on a damp marble. We shall not discover our "tree calf" copy of "Ivanhoe" surmounted by a heap of cherry stones. Our book-loving friends would be as shocked as we at these outrages which ignorant and unfeeling persons perpetrate against books. But our book-loving friends never wish to borrow!

When a friend begs you to read a certain book and urges your use of his copy your borrowing is perfectly justifiable; and this is the only case where it is. In such an instance the owner assumes all risk of loss or injury. These days of circulating libraries and cheap editions of all standard works render the borrowing of books absolutely inexcusable.

Few persons who have not been put to the test realize the difficulty of refusing to lend some particularly cherished book. The only way to preserve one volume is to refuse to lend any. Then people will call you selfish.

Those persons who never return borrowed books have not been mentioned, for they have no conscience at all, and should be allowed no quarter.

Union County Prohibitionists.

The Union county Prohibitionists are to open the campaign at Elizabeth tomorrow night by a mass meeting in temperance hall, to be held under the auspices of the county executive committee.

Walter W. Winans of Plainfield, Thos. W. Berger of Cranford, and other speakers, are to address the meeting. The Prohibitionists have put candidates in the field for the Legislature, and promise to wage a vigorous campaign.

IT IS DR. MARY.

Her Identity Established—Will Not be Released at Present.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 1.—Dr. Mary Walker is still detained by the authorities. Her identity has been established beyond a reasonable doubt by Prof. Jas. F. Colby and Dr Earle of Washington, and by telegrams received from Oswego, N. Y., and Boston.

It is not likely that she will liberated at present as the feeling is general that even Dr. Mary Walker has gone beyond the limit of endurance in this affair.

"Ellerslie's" New Superintendent.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Vice-President Levi P. Morton has engaged H. M. Cottrell, assistant superintendent of the Kansas State Farm, and a graduate of the Kansas State College, as Superintendent of "Ellerslie," Mr. Morton's country residence at Rhinebeck, on the Hudson.

To Mark "High Tide" at Gettysburg.

GETTYSBURG, Oct. 1.—Colonel Bachelder, goverament historian of the battle, is here to superintend the erection of the tablet at the copse of trees on Cemetery Ridge, which has been designed to mark the "high tide" of the rebellion. The dedication will take place this fall.

The coinage at the United States Mint in Philadelphia for September aggregates 8,250,000 pieces with a valuation of $677,000.

The steam launch Yankee Doodle, which is entered for the big yacht race, in which the Vamose and Norwood are entered, left Philadelphia for New York yesterday.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

We Struck a Bargain

And we are going to give you the benefit of it. We bought 240 pairs of Ladies' Hand-turned Kid Shoes, in all sizes and widths, from AA to D., that were made to sell at $4, and a very cheap shoe at that price. We also bought 120 pairs of Ladies' Hand-Sewed Oxford Ties that were made to sell at $3. We will put the shoes on sale to-day at $2.75, and the Oxford Ties at $2 00.

The above goods were made for Corkery & Co., Springfield, Ohio, and through some misunderstanding they did not take them; and as we deal quite largely with this house, they wrote us what we could have the whole lot for, and we jumped at the chance; and when you see the shoe you will do the same. Come and look at it.

FORMING A BASE-BALL LEAGUE.

Plainfield However Not Represented in the Preliminary Meeting.

Messrs. Mack and Abbott of Somerville, Coding and Peek of Westfield, and Ogden and Coen of Elizabeth, met at the rooms of the Elizabeth Athletic club in that city, last evening, and took the preliminary steps for the formation of a base-ball league to contest the championship of Central New Jersey, in 1892.

Plainfield had been notified of the meeting and invited to send representatives, but there was no one present from this city. Plainfield will be in it, however, and win the championship. The plan discussed at last night's meeting that met with general approval, was that each team should play a series of six games with each other team. But that would make a total of 36 games if there were four teams in the league, and necessitate the playing of both Wednesday and Saturday games every week for five months. There will be another meeting, however, on Oct. 23, when, it is expected, Plainfield's representatives will be present and the project may take some more definite shape.

President Serrell of Plainfield.

The electric company of which L. W. Serrell of this city is president receives the following notice in "The History and Commerce of New York":

We are now in the electric age. To obtain some insight into what is being done in the electrical field, it is only necessary to pay an observant visit to the headquarters of electric supplies, upon which these vast interests draw for their support. This will be found at the office of the B. & S. Electric Equipment Company, No. 115 Broadway. This company furnish electric equipment supplies for electric railways, electric light stations and power plants, and are taking contracts for the building of electric railways, the erection of electric light plants, and general electrical work all over the United States. The company was incorporated in November, 1890, under the laws of the State of New Jersey, with a capital of $25,000, and with L. W. Serrell, president; E. T. Birdsall, M. E. general manager. This corporation have quickly taken a position among the oldest and strongest concerns in the electrical field, by reason of the great practical experience, commanding ability and scientific knowledge brought to bear in the management, and its influence and patronage has already become country-wide. Its services are in important requisition by corporations and private parties in all sections of the Union, and the management is in a position to guarantee the prompt and perfect fulfillment of all orders and commissions. They erected the Flushing and College Point Electric railway, and have put in a number of plants in this city that serve to commend the company more eloquently than words, and prove its only-needed endorsement. The president, Mr. Serrell, is also general manager of the United States Electric Railways company, and eminent as an electrician. Mr. Birdsall, the general manager, is also prominent in the city as a consulting and constructing electrical engineer. Both gentlemen are graduates of Stevens Institute, standing deservedly high in professional and business circles.

Around and About Pond's Works.

Warren Lincoln, formerly general foreman of the foundry at the Pond Machine Tool Works, is now holding the same position in Whiting's large foundry at Whitingsville, Mass., about twelve miles from Worcester.

The dynamo that the Pond company purchased, with which to run their largest planer all night, has been set in position, and John Miles started it Monday night. It is said that he and the day hand, Thomas Hendry, have enough work ahead for three years. The power to run the dynamo comes from the small engine which runs the one that now supplies the arc lights.

The shop is getting a new coat of paint. Won't we be looking gay, shortly!

We lost, Monday, a good, genial fellow, and the shop a good workman, when James Bell left to go south as a professor in the Delaware College, which is situated at Newark, Del. Good-bye, "Professor"!—the boys will miss you.

Miss Holt, of Lake Village, N. H., who has been visiting Mrs. D. P. Hicks of 250 West Third street, left for home Tuesday evening.

LATHE HAND.

That Coaching Party in Trouble Again.

A Fanwood coaching club party, consisting of Mr. L. E. Kennedy, Miss Kennedy, Miss F. L. Tuzo, Mrs. L. Carter, Miss Carter, Mrs. F. A. Van Dyke, Miss Cornell, Mrs. Cutter, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Carter were driving in Main street, Rahway, Tuesday morning, when the driver made too close a turn and an electric light pole struck and demolished the canopy of their carryall. In the collision Mrs. George F. Carter was injured by the upright pieces and the pole and thrown to the ground unconscious. Dr. Holmes resuscitated her after hard work. She was sent to her home. The rest of the party continued their ride.

Their Fame Has Spread to the Metropolis.

[From The Recorder.]

The Four Leaf Clover, Plainfield's clever amateur comedy quartet, composed of George Taggart, Howard, Will and Tiffany Spencer, who did such capital work last year in George Taggart's farce comedies, "A Howling Success" and "Romeo and Juliet", have two new pieces in rehearsal for early production and promise another double bill after the holidays. Their work is full of originality and sparkle, and is characterized by a finish that is almost professional. The success of their new venture is a foregone conclusion.

I HAD catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

The Advent of a Reformer.

"Waiter, will you please bring me a hammer?"

The loud, imperious voice rang sharply through the gilded dining hall. A hundred pairs of eyes looked up in astonishment. The rattle of knives, forks and spoons ceased. The hum of conversation died away. Even the appetizing odors that hung over the luxurious tables seemed to loose their hold on the senses, and a score of petrified waiters stood holding in their petrified hands petrified trays covered with petrified roasts, steaks, sandwiches, vegetables, fruits and pastry.

"A hammer, if you please, waiter," again rang out the imperious voice.

"Wh-what do you want of a hammer?" stammered the waiter addressed, finding his tongue at last.

"I want it," exclaimed the guest, with grim resolution written in every wrinkle of his rugged face, "to break up this powdered sugar!"—Chicago Tribune.

Learning an Art.

His Father—Well, Eddie, how did your first lesson on the snare drum go off?

Eddie—The professor asked me my name, and then gave me a rigmarole to say over and beat time to on the drum till I could do it fast. It made me awfully tired.

"What was it he had you say?"

"'Dead, dead, dead, dead, dead'll be Ed'll be dead'll be Ed'll be dead'll be Ed'll be dead,' and I guess I would have died if he'd made me keep it up much longer."—Jury.

Wall Street All Right.

Mrs. De Stocks—Wall street must be very dull. I saw in the paper this morning that hundreds of men who used to spend from $1.50 to $2 every day for lunch now go to cheap places where they can get a lunch for fifteen or twenty cents, and then sneak off to still cheaper places for their cigars.

Mr. De Stocks—Oh, Wall street is all right. Those brokers' wives have been at the summer resorts, and the bills are beginning to come in.—N. Y. Weekly.

Culinary Item.

"Mother, will you be kind enough to cook the dinner to-day? John was so dissatisfied with the cook that I sent her off, without telling him about it."

"Certainly, my daughter."

John (at the dinner table)—Maria, you must send off that cook. This is the worst deal she has given me yet.—Texas Siftings.

At Asbury Park.

Miss Skinner—We must never recognize Sue Promise again.

Miss Bones—What impropriety has she been up to now?

Miss Skinner—We were looking at the view and she said she could see a certain spot with the naked eye. D'jever!—Jeweler's Circular.

Taking It Away.

Horrified Guest—There's a roach in this soup. Take it away, quick!

Waiter—Yes, sah. Wait just one minute, sah, till I catch him.—Good News.

"I understand that you have been attending the lectures on 'First Aid to the Injured,' Miss Rosalie," said the young man.

"Yes," answered the sweet girl.

"Can—can you tell me," whispered the youth, drawing a little nearer, "what you would do for a bro—broken heart?"—Truth.

Follows Naturally.

"How does it happen," inquired the stranger, "that all the improvements are being made on this one street?"

"It doesn't happen at all, sir," replied the citizen who was showing him about the village, majestically. "This is the street I live on. I am president of the town board, sir."—Chicago Tribune.

At Sing Sing.

Visitor—It is sad, sad to see you here, my man. Was it sudden temptation or the fault of your bringing up?

Prisoner—The last, sir.

Visitor—Who brought you up?

Prisoner—The sheriff and two deputies, sir.—N. Y. Herald.

Ideal.

"Papa's going to have a fountain out on the lawn, Johnny. How do you like that?" asked mamma.

"Bully!" said Johnny. "Say, ma, let's ask pop to have it a soda water fountain."—Harper's Bazar.

An Insuperable Objection.

"I'm sorry," said a magazine editor to a well-known writer, "that I can't print your last story."

"What's the trouble?"

"Why," added the terrified editor, "it has a plot."—Judge.

Vivid Imagination.

Young Husband—My dear Melanie, I must say that this pudding tastes very bad.

Wife—All imagination; it says in the cookery book that it tastes excellent!—Nevelspalter.

She Spoke Without Thinking.

This One—Do you know, Miss Honeydew—er—Dolly—you are the first girl I have ever kissed!

Dolly (incredulously)—Oh, that's just what they all say!—Life.

Got Off Cheap.

She—So you have shaved off your mustache. It must have cost you a great deal to make that sacrifice.

He—No, not very much. It was a five-cent shave.—Texas Siftings.

NEW GAME OF POOL.

A Brooklyn Man Invents a Mirth-Making Game.

It Affords Opportunities for Many Remarkable Exhibition Shots and Is Destined to Become Popular Everywhere.

The members of the Lincoln club of Brooklyn have been enjoying great sport over a new game of pool invented by G. W. Bloodgood, the superintendent of their billiard room.

The game is entitled "Bottle Pool," by reason of the fact that a leather bottle, such as is used to contain the little numbered balls thrown out to pool players to designate the order in which they should play, is a factor in the game. These little balls themselves are also used in the game. Besides the bottle three balls are required, namely, number one and number two pool balls and a cue ball.

BOTTLE STANDING NECK DOWN.

The bottle is placed on the center of the table with the neck down. The one ball is placed on the light red spot, and the number two ball on the dark red spot. The order of playing is decided by banking as in billiards when there are only two players, or by tossing out the numbered balls as in pool. After this has been decided the numbered balls are again passed around. Each player retains the one he has received, the number of which is known only to himself.

Thirty-one points constitute the game and scoring is accomplished in the following manner: By carroming on the two balls, which counts one; by striking the bottle either by carroming on it with the cue ball or touching it with the object ball, which counts one; pocketing the No. 1 ball counts one; pocketing the No. 2 ball counts two; knocking down the bottle by carroming on it or striking it with the object ball counts five; turning the bottle completely over on its bottom is game at any stage of the play. With the exception of the latter stroke, which is rather unusual, the points made in the game must be added to the number on the small ball held by the player. Thus, if the ball held by a player be numbered 10 the player must gain 21 points before calling a game, and whoever first obtains 31 points in this manner wins the game. Should a player get over 31 points he is "bursted," and must begin all over again, but is allowed the option of drawing another number or keeping the one he originally drew, but one or the other must be returned.

When a player makes game he who is worst off for points loses the game. The number held by a player cannot be counted unless he has made other points to be added to it, and, if not, he is credited with no points. A player owing a point is obviously still worse off. When a player is burst he must declare it; if he does not he is credited with no points at the end of a game. When the cue ball is pocketed it is a scratch, and the player who makes it loses his innings and one point. If both the other balls are within the string when this occurs the one ball is spotted, and the next player takes his turn.

The bottle, when knocked down, is spotted if possible where it comes to rest upon the table. Should it rest within an inch of the rail it is spotted in the center of the table, or if it should rest on the rail it must be regarded as on the rail and spotted in the same manner. If it is knocked off the table the player loses his inning, but counts what he made before knocking it off, and the bottle is spotted as usual. If it falls in a pocket it is counted as off the table. For fouling on the bottle the player loses his turn, forfeits one point, and the next player continues. The player making thirty-one points must proclaim it before the next stroke is made. If he fails to do this he cannot proclaim it until the rotation of play again comes round to him, but if in the meanwhile another player makes the number and proclaims it properly he is entitled to the game.

The opening shot is shown in the accompanying diagram. The first shot is made from within the string at the head of the table. This is the original method of starting the game, but some members of the club have found it preferable to spot the No. 1 ball near the further cushion, as in four-ball billiards. The majority, however, prefer the method shown in the diagram. The object of the shot is to pocket the No. 2 ball, take two cushions, and come back on the bottle. Expert players sometimes bar straight carroms in order to make the game more difficult. It can also be played under the rules of continuous pool, where they do not conflict with the rules of "Bottle Pool."

A Powerful Yawn.

A New York man yawned so powerfully the other day that he dislocated his jaw and had to be taken to a hospital before he could close his mouth.

Rather Thin.

There are spiders no bigger than a grain of sand which spin thread so fine that it takes four thousand of them to equal in magnitude a single hair.

Took Her Literally.

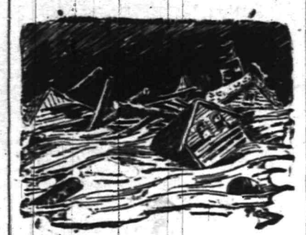
TERRIBLE DISASTER.

The Lesson We Should Learn.

A stream of water trickled through a Holland dike. The small leak remained unheeded, as too small for notice. It gradually enlarged, became a torrent, the dike was undermined, until the embankment gave way, and the flood overwhelmed the city.

Careless neglect sacrificed thousands of lives. By similar heedless neglect many lives are sacrificed by disease. All fatal diseases follow neglect of the first symptoms. The person has debility, is weak, nervous, tired, run down. Sleepless nights and tired waking mornings follow, with bad taste in mouth, dull head, lack of vim, indigestion or kidney and liver trouble.

You neglect these symptoms at your peril, for they may run into incurable disease. Use immediately that wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura, the pure, vegetable medicine which restores vigor to tired brain, strength to weak and shattered nerves, vitality and health to the exhausted body.



Do not fail to follow the above advice and prevent danger before it is too late.

"My wife had poor blood, was weak, nervous, debilitated and half crazy. She had female weakness and her kidneys were very bad. Dr. Greene's Nervura has completely cured her. She thanks God that I bought her Dr. Greene's Nervura!

N. B. KING,
Danvers, Mass."

N. B. Dr. Greene, the successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th St., New York, can be consulted, free, personally, or by letter. Call or write him about your case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

A PECULIAR SERVICE.

The Organization Known as the Royal Irish Constabulary.

A Force of Picked Men Consisting of Thirteen Thousand Members of All Ranks—Most of Them Are Irish and Roman Catholics.

The Royal Irish constabulary now consists of some 13,000 men of all ranks, under the command of an inspector general, Sir Andrew Reed, who is placed in direct communication with the executive. The inspector general is assisted at headquarters by a deputy inspector general, an assistant inspector general and a civil service staff. A county inspector is placed in charge of each county, except Cork, Galway and Tipperary, which are divided into ridings. Counties or ridings are divided into districts varying from three to ten, according to size, each of which is in charge of a district inspector, who is under command of the county inspector. To each district headquarters a head constable is attached, who, in the absence of the district inspector, acts for him, and is the responsible officer. Belfast is under control of a special officer styled "the commissioner of police," who has a number of district inspectors under his command. Other important cities and towns have also special arrangements.

In addition to these there is a special crime or detective department, for which purposes the country is divided into five districts, each under special officers.

A constabulary man's life is a very varied one, according to the part of the country he is stationed in. Some of the barracks, in which four or more men are lodged, are in towns and prosperous districts; others are situated in wild and sparsely-inhabited localities, where even the ordinary necessaries of life are obtained with difficulty. In remote disturbed districts where outrages have occurred or are apprehended, portable iron huts, specially made for the purpose, are often erected, and a few police quartered there till the troubles have subsided. It should be mentioned that the constabulary are now armed with the Snider carbine and sword bayonet, and under special circumstances with revolvers. When on ordinary town duty, however, they are equipped with batons only.

There is a mounted force of about 300 men, who are distributed principally through the towns. They are a smart, well-equipped body, and are available for serious disturbances in any part of the country.

In 1839 a depot was formed in Dublin with a reserve force of about 300 men, consisting of both cavalry and infantry, and a number of officers and men under instruction. The depot is the school of instruction for police, and is established in a handsome and spacious barrack in the Phœnix park. The chief officer is styled the commandant, and is an assistant inspector general of the force.

The pay of a constable, says London Black and White, ranges from £54 to £70; that of a sergeant from £75 to £80, and a head constable from £91 to £104. An army officer commences at £125, and the higher appointments range from £300 to £600. A fair proportion of officers are appointed by promotion from the ranks. The pension is about the same as the civil service scale, viz., two-thirds of pay after forty years' service. Pensions are also granted to widows and orphans.

With such liberal emoluments as these it may be easily imagined that there have been an immense number of applications to join the force of late years, and in consequence the process of selection is gradually becoming more and more trying. It is recruited almost exclusively by Irishmen, about three-fourths of whom are Roman Catholics. Appointments in the officers' ranks are made by nomination of the Irish government in the first instance, the candidates being then subjected to a competitive examination by the civil service commissioners.

The force possesses a fine band stationed at the depot, which is acknowledged to be one of the first in the three kingdoms, and has on several occasions been invited to perform at public entertainments outside Ireland.

ANIMATED LAMPLIGHTERS.

How to Prepare a Harmless Device for Amusement.

In the days of our grandfathers lucifer matches were not the common article that they are now, and it is only a few years ago that they were so expensive as to cause substitutes to be largely used where possible. Many readers, says the New York Herald, remember rolling up the leaves of their old copybooks, when boys, into lamplighters, and the mantel shelf in the kitchen of the old house in the country had its dish filled with nicely made ones ready to convey the flame from the fireplace to the lamp or candle.

The youngsters of the present day have no use for these articles, unless it may be to play a trick with them like the following: Take a strip of quite heavy writing paper, about six or eight inches long and two inches wide. With a common table knife curl this strip so it will look like Fig. 2, by drawing the paper between the thumb and edge of the knife.

Now carefully unroll the strip and bend it on the dotted line shown in Fig. 1, the inside of the roll outward. Be careful in bending not to take the curl out any more than possible. The end of the strip will be in the shape of Fig. 3.

After bending cut a slit along the bend to within half an inch of each end. Then hand to the person upon whom the trick is to be played, of course not letting him see any of the preliminary preparations. Light a match and touch to the end of this lamplighter and set it on fire. Perhaps a better way would be to have one of the lighters, also, without the slit cut in it, and light yours first and then the victim's. In a moment the end will burn off and release the curled sides, which will fly back on to the hand of the holder as in Fig. 4 and cause him a lively jump.

The trick is an amusing one and not in the least dangerous, for the victim does not generally hold the paper long enough to get burned.

BERNHARDT'S TOMB.

It Is in Pere Lachaise, and the Actress Herself Decorates It.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has already had her coffin and her tomb made, says the N. Y. Sun.

The story about the coffin was published some years ago. It was a magnificent receptacle, covered with silver. The actress had herself photographed in it.

A correspondent has just discovered her tombstone in the cemetery of Pere Lachaise in Paris. It is in an out of the way place, where tourists and ordinary visitors do not go, so that persons wishing to see it will have to make a short pilgrimage. It is on the slope of a hill and is overshadowed by another tomb of great size and ugliness. It bears the strikingly simple inscription: "Bernhardt."

The most remarkable thing about the tomb is that when this correspondent saw it it was covered with faded wreaths of box and violets, said to have been placed there by the tragedienne herself. The flowers are faded because of her long absence in America and Australia. It is supposed she will renew them as soon as she returns.

Entitled to the Prize.

A farmer unexpectedly went into his field and found twelve of his laborers reclining under a tree. He sarcastically offered a dollar to the one who would prove himself to be the laziest. Eleven of the men jumped up at once, each one asserting his right to the money. The farmer, however, decided that the dollar belonged to the twelfth man, who had remained on the ground. He announced his decision, and offered the money to the winner, who thanked him with the inquiry: "I say, can't you put it in my pocket for me?"

Organic Disease of the Heart.

An investigation in Switzerland shows that mortality from organic disease of the heart decreases as the altitude of the habitation rises, and that it is greater in towns than in the country.

Speaking of Stimulants.

In the Summer Season trade languishes and business is at a low ebb. What think you of the merchant who says "Let Her Languish" closes up his store and repairs to the seaside? Such a course would be suicidal. It is an act of equal folly to sit idly by, bewailing the hard times and awaiting the return of prosperity. More flies than customers will enter that man's doors.

When business lags, apply the spur. Advertising is the great trade stimulator.

GOULD VERY SICK

The Recent Strain Too Much for Him.

COMPLETE NERVOUS COLLAPSE.

Utterly Prostrated at the Meeting of Missouri-Pacific Directors.

The Report Yesterday that He Had Been Stricken With Appoplexy Unfounded, but He is Very Ill, Nevertheless—Effect of the Rumor on Prices—Mr. Gould Constantly Attended by His Physician.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A startling rumor was circulated in Wall street yesterday afternoon to the effect that Jay Gould had been suddenly stricken with apoplexy.

Before it could be contradicted its effect upon the stock market had been felt and prices were slaughtered recklessly by the excited brokers.

The bears jumped into the ring and made things look sick for a while, and at the close there had not been much improvement, although the stories had emphatically been denied by Mr. Gould's friends.

Mr. Gould was in his office in the Western Union Building yesterday afternoon, and he went out with Mr. Clark to get some lunch and was attended by his physician.

Afterwards they went down to Wall street, and the presence of the big speculator was a substantial refutation of the rumor.

George Gould was asked about the report soon after it became current. "It is absolutely false," he said, "and the story was circulated simply to affect the stock market. Mr. Gould is in his usual health."

Undoubtedly the story had its foundation in a very remarkable incident which occurred at the meeting of the Missouri Pacific directors Wednesday, the facts of which have leaked out from several gentlemen who were present.

The question of passing the quarterly dividend came up, and on the motion of Mr. Gould, who made a long statement as to the condition of the Company, it was formally decided to declare no dividend for the current quarter.

Then Russell Sage had an inning, and to the surprise of everyone and to Mr. Gould's utter consternation, he moved to reconsider the action of the Board.

Mr. Gould was evidently under a very severe mental strain and had shown his extreme nervousness in the earlier proceedings.

When Mr. Sage made his motion he attempted to oppose it, but suddenly became ghastly pale and sank back in his chair, it is said, in a fit of nervous prostration.

Then he became hysterical and wept and laughed alternately, and at first all efforts to quiet him were unavailing. The directors were panic-stricken.

The physician, who now constantly attends Mr. Gould, was called in, and after a time he overcame the nervous excitement of his patient, and Mr. Gould left the Board room in his company.

Mr. Gould is undoubtedly a very sick man. He is suffering from a physical and nervous collapse.

STUDENT ROWDIES.

Phillips Academy Students Assault One of Their Number.

EXETER, N. H., Oct. 2.—There is serious trouble in Phillips' Exeter Academy, attributed to members of the four secret societies suppressed this year. During Wednesday night a band of 15 forced an entrance into a boarding house, handling roughly the landlady and other women of the house who opposed them, and seized a student named Weil of New Orleans, a member of the senior class and a representative non-society man.

Weil was dragged part way down stairs and received severe treatment. In the police court yesterday Henry F. Arnold of New York, McKee D. McKee of Washington, and Phillip Sand of Medford, Mass., were tried for the assault. Sand was discharged but Arnold and McKee were fined $20 and costs.

Wants Damages For an Old Injury.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Charles W. Gray of this city, a special guardian for Benjamin G. Vanlinda, has begun action against the Anchor oil Company, of Pennsylvania, to recover damages sustained by young Vanlida in 1884. In that year oil from the defendant's tank in flowing on to the Bradford, Bordell and Kinzua Railroad, was ignited by a spark from a locomotive, setting the train on fire and many of the passengers were badly burned. Young Vanlinda was among them, and alleges that his injuries are permanent for which he demands $30,000.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL.

The Mackey System Has Acquired More Valuable Property.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The Mackey system of Southern Illinois and Indiana railroads is reported to have purchased the Kentucky & Indiana bridge over the Ohio river between New Albany and Louisville, with all its terminals and equipments, including suburban lines, yards and shops at Louisville, the New Albany Street Railroad and the New Albany and Portland Ferry line, franchises and boats, and the New Albany Belt and Terminal roads.

The property is capitalized for $4,600,000 and in the deal President Mackey obtains 51 per cent. of the stock. He guarantees $127,000 interest per annum on bonds and a 4 per cent. dividend on stock, $86,000, giving a total of fixed charges guaranteed of $213,000 per year.

Cadets have been appointed to the West Point Military Academy as follows: John S. Pickering, Behee, Ark.; Benjamin F. Borden, alternate, Cedar Town, Ga.

The Supreme Court of the State to Consider the Matter.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 1.—Counsel for Gov. Bulkeley, Lieut.-Gov. Morris and the other parties to the quo warranto proceedings involving the title to the State offices met in this city yesterday and settled upon an agreement by which the cases are to be taken at once to the Supreme Court. That body will be asked to decide whether the Legislature has a right to revise or correct the returns.

The Supreme Court will undoubtedly consider the matter at once and give its decision before the Legislature assembles on November 12. It is thought that the Legislature will act upon the advice of the court, and that the deadlock will thus be broken.

DEATH AND DESOLATION.

Two Hundred Square Miles Fire-Swept West of the Missouri River.

ELLENDALE, N. D., Oct. 2.—N. L. Sherman, just arrived here from Fort Yates, brings the news of an immense prairie fire west of the Missouri River. He says a scope of country 300 miles long and 200 miles wide has been burned over, destroying farm houses, stock ranches, many herds of horses and cattle and large quantities of hay.

The fire is said to have been started by a bone picker, who has fled. A reward is offered for his capture.

The whole region of more than 200 miles square is described as a place of death and desolation. Many persons are believed to have perished in the flames.

A WOMAN'S MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Reported to Have Committed Suicide After Bequeathing Her Estate.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 2.—Some suspicions have been aroused by the reported suicide of Mrs. Cordelia W. Griffin of Dover, and a portion of the body has been taken to Harvard College for analysis.

Mrs. Griffin was but 33 years old, and in a will made shortly before her death bequeathed her estate, valued at $80,000, to a certain business man of Dover, whom, it was reported, deceased was to have married several months ago.

It is claimed that there is something very mysterious about the circumstances of the suicide.

There Was No Crookedness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—In an interview John B. Day, president of the New York Baseball Club, said, in reply to a query about the Boston-New York games, of which there has been so much talk of late, "There is no truth in the story, whatsoever. Anson himself admits it. The Bostons simply outplayed us, and, though I am sorry to have the New York Club used as a stepping-stone, I would rather see the Bostons win the pennant than the Chicagoes. There was nothing the matter with Rusie in Boston, and the reason he did not pitch was that he had earned his salary for the season already."

A Big Mine Sold.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 2.—The Grand Central mine at Kingston, N. M., was sold in this city last night by Thomas O'Neil, its owner, to an English syndicate for $1,000,000 cash. O'Neil goes to London to-morrow to dispose of two mines located in the State of Durango, Mexico—the Avenio, which has produced $1,000,000 of silver, and another which has $2,000,000 ore in sight. He will place each one at 4,000,000 pounds.

Arrested His Runaway Wife.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 2.—Morris Blowers, proprietor of the Blowers Hotel at Corinth, N. Y., arrived at Lake City near here last night in search of his runaway wife. Blowers had them arrested and is trying to persuade his wife to go back with him, but she refuses to do so, and says Osborne is the only man she loves. The runaway couple will be brought before a magistrate to-morrow on a charge of adultery.

To Test the Australian Ballot Law.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2.—Very great interest has been excited here by the announcement that the clerk of the Supreme Court received a petition in mandamus against Attorney-General D. K. Watson to compel him to bring quo warranto proceedings to test the constitutionality of the Australian ballot law. The petition was prepared by George J. H. Thompson, a Republican.

For Violating the Contract Labor Law.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Joseph M. Loucroft and Joseph Petit have been indicted by the grand jury of the United States District Court, for alleged violation of the contract labor law. It is claimed that these two men, the former of whom is in the brickmaking business at Bridgewater, have induced a large number of Canadians to come to this State to work. Petit is foreman of Loucraft's works.

Satinet Mill Burned.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2.—The satinet mill of Gilespie & Sullivan at Oxford operated for John E. Lyons & Co., of New York, was burned during the morning, with contents. There was a large stock on hand. The loss cannot as yet be estimated, but there is an insurance of $6,000 on the building and $4,150 on contents.

HIS DYING MESSAGE

Boulanger's Political Testament Made Public.

ADVICE TO HIS FOLLOWERS.

Exhorts Them to Continue in Hostility Against Those Who Banished Him.

HE NO LONGER WISHED TO LIVE.

His Sorrow for Mme. Bonnemain Made Future Work Impossible.

Says His Death is No Shame to Himself, But is to His Proscribers—Bitter Denunciation of the Holders of Power in France—His Great Regret that He Could Not Die On the Field of Battle—"Vive France, Vive Republique"—The Suicide Still the Sensation in Paris.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 1.—Messieurs Rochefort, Le Laure, Dumonteil and Castelain have arrived at the late residence of Gen. Boulanger. The outer casing of the coffin in which the body rests is, by the General's desire, an exact replica of that of Madame Bonnemain.

At a private meeting of Boulanger's friends, his political testament was read as follows:

"This, my political testament, I desire published after my death. I shall kill myself to-morrow. I am convinced of the future of the party to which has been given my name. I cannot bear the frightful misfortune which befell me two and a half months ago. I have tried to get the better of it, but without success. I am persuaded that my followers, so devoted and so numerous, will bear me no anger for disappearing on account of a sorrow so great that all work has become impossible. Let them remember the maxim, 'Uno avulso non deficit alter.' May they continue then to act against those who, in scorn of all law, force me to die far from my country. To-morrow I shall be a dead man.

"To-day I have nothing for which to reproach myself. All my life I have done my duty, and nothing but my duty. My death is no shame to myself, but is a shame to my proscribers, to those who have sought to brand a loyal soldier by the judgment of a political tribunal. I desire to recall the fact that many a time I have offered to constitute myself a prisoner, if they would accord me common law judges.

"The holders of power in France have always refused this request, and thus an acquittal was made impossible. In quitting life I have but one regret, and that is that I have not died on the field of battle, fighting for my country. That country will at least permit one of its children, at the moment of returning into nothingness, to recall himself to the memory of all lovers of the patrie! Vive France! Vive Republique! Done and signed under my hand on the eve of the day of my death.

EARNEST BOULANGER."

THEY MAY UNITE.

The Boulangist Factions Likely to Join Hands in the Future.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The Boulanger suicide continues to be the prominent topic both here and in Paris. The rule on the continent is to keep a dead body out of the tomb not longer than 30 hours at the farthest, and the proposition to keep Boulanger's remains for three days excited no little surprise.

His friends despair now of securing church recognition for the funeral. In addition to the open depravity of Boulanger's career, he was in the habit of speaking with considerable contempt of the clergy, and was, in fact, little better than an infidel, if he had any religious convictions at all.

The ecclesiastical authorities hold therefore, that it would be little different than blasphemy to have the formal services of the church over his remains. They think that a point is stretched in permitting the body to be placed in a consecrated cemetery. This point would not be yielded but that everybody, even his harshest critics, have been deeply touched, by the circumstances of his death, and public opinion demands that he be allowed to rest near Madame Bonnemain.

The grave where the former mistress rests is to be opened and a space made for Boulanger's coffin on a level with and beside that of the woman he loved. A change may be made in this arrangement, but it is not believed probable.

There is an earnest effort by the leading Boulangists to join hands over the grave of their departed chief, and bury the animosities which have disrupted the party, on the ground that in the General's death the enmities which his course excited should be forgotten. The attempt is a good deal like a forlorn hope, for the revanche spirit is at a very low ebb in France, and the Boulangist party has been almost without organized existence for some time.

A few days will tell whether its broken remnants can be cemented by the blood of a suicide. It is regarded as significant that of the two families that aspire to the throne of France, only one, the Bonapartes, has taken any notice of the death of Boulanger. The royalists, in whose ostensible cause he became a conspirator, appear to ignore his fate.

OVERCOME WITH GRIEF.

The Widow Boulanger Fainted on Hearing the Tragical News.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Madame Boulanger, widow of General Boulanger, is residing at Versailles. On being informed of the tragical death of her husband at Brussels, Madame Boulanger fainted. Since then she has been in a state of the deepest dejection, and is apparently overcome with grief.

Canadian Boodlers to Be Indicted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A Montreal special says: J. Israel Tarte, author of the famous charges against McGreevy and Sir Hector Langevin, arrived here from Ottawa and when asked regarding the scandals said that Sir John Thompson, as Minister of Justice, will in the course of a few days have the whole "boodle gang" arrested and indicted for conspiracy to defraud the Government. This includes Hon. Thomas McGreevy and the Connellys. Mr. Tarte will go to Washington with the Reciprocity Commissioners in his capacity as a journalist. The Commissioners are likely to be Sir John Thompson, Hon. G. E. Foster and C. H. Tupper.

Fatal Accident on the "Big Four."

DAYTON O., Oct. 2.—A gravel train on the Cincinnati division of the "Big Four" backed into a hand-car near Carrolltown Station at 5:20 p. m., yesterday. The caboose became detached and rolled down an embankment, while 13 loaded gravel cars piled on top of each other. Conductor Samuel Morris of Mechanicsburg, O., who was on top of the caboose when it went over, was instantly killed, his body being horribly crushed. Seven workmen inside the caboose were seriously but not fatally injured.

Alleged Peculations of $30,000.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2.—The Home Life Insurance Company of this city has filed a bill for an accounting in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago against Edgar H. Kellogg, who for 20 years and until six months ago was general agent of the company for the Northwest. It is recited that an examination of the books of the Chicago agency in February last developed a defalcation by Kellogg of upwards of $23,000, since when other peculations have been discovered, bringing the total up to $30,000.

The Correspondent Found Guilty.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—Richard Neil O'Brien, who has been on trial here for the past six days charged with libel in having sent to various American newspapers dispatches asserting that Prince George of Wales was mixed up in a street row in a questionable section of the city during the Prince's visit to Montreal, and adding various objectionable details to make his dispatch of a sensational character, was found guilty yesterday. The judge suspended sentence.

Work of the Mints in September.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—During the month of September the coinage at the United States mints was executed as follows: Gold pieces to the number of 124,046 and of the value of $2,200,362.50; silver pieces to the number of 6,150,400 and of the value of $1,380,185, and 5,162,800 minor coins to the value of $122,124, making a total coinage of 11,437,246 pieces to the value of $3,702,671.

BOMBS FOR A RULER

Attempt to Assassinate Emperor Francis Joseph.

A MINE LAID UNDER A BRIDGE.

The Plan Frustrated by the Premature Explosion of the Fuse.

The Bridge Approaches Destroyed, But the Structure Not Injured—The Assassins Miscalculated the Life of the Fuse, as the Explosion Took Place Before the Imperial Train Reached the Spot—Great Indignation.

VIENNA, Oct. 2.—Kaiser Franz Joseph arrived in safety at Reichenberg, near Prague, yesterday, and with his advent the news of an alleged attempt upon his life spread all over Austria.

The story is that during the night an attempt was made with a bomb to blow up the railroad bridge at Rosenthal, a suburb of Reichenberg, shortly before the Kaiser's train was to pass.

The official investigation shows that two bombs charged with nitro-glycerine were placed in the gutter or draining portion of the tunnel of this bridge. Attached to the bombs was a time fuse evidently calculated to cause their explosion as the imperial train was passing the mined spot. Eleven other bombs were found about the bridge after a thorough search.

The explosion destroyed the masonry above and about the bridge tunnel and disturbed the roadbed, but did not effect the bridge structure.

The would-be assasins seem, however, to have miscalculated the time the train was to pass near the bombs, or else they were at fault as to the length of life of the fuse used. In any case, the fuse acted at about half-past 11 p. m. Wednesday, before the imperial train even drew near to the dangerous location.

The railroad officials who had been attracted to the scene of the explosion, after making a thorough examination of both the bridge and the roadbed, set a gang of men to work upon the latter and soon had it in good repair. Consequently when the imperial train past at 7 o'clock yesterday morning there was little or no trace of the explosion.

The greatest indignation is manifested in all quarters. There is no clue to the would be assassins.

TORTURE PROLONGED.

Official Report of the Sing Sing Electrocutions.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The report of the electrical executions at Sing Sing on July 7 last by Dr. Carlos McDonald and Dr. S. B. Ward of Albany, admits that the contact in the case of three of the condemned men was unnecessarily prolonged.

The report states that James J. Slocum entered the execution room at 4:33 a. m. and passed at once to the chair. The electrical current was completed for the first time at 4:35:40. The first contact lasted 27 seconds, at the end of which time it was broken; but the pulse was still found to be beating strongly, and between one and two minutes later there was a noisy respiration.

A new scheme was tried on Smiler. The first contact was made at 5:08:30 a. m., and continued ten seconds; it was then interrupted to allow of wetting the sponges; was again made for ten seconds, and again sponges were wet and a third contact was made for ten seconds. At the end of this the pulse was beating so firmly and regularly that it was deemed expedient to again close the circuit for nineteen seconds, at the end of which time the heart had ceased to beat.

In Joseph Wood's execution three contacts of twenty-seconds each were made, at the end of which time respiration had ceased, no pulse could be felt, and there was no heart beat.

Feeling that the contacts had been unnecessarily prolonged, it was determined to make them a little shorter in the case of the Jap. Jugiro came into the execution room 6:00:30 o'clock. At 6:02:15 the circuit was closed for the first time, and there were three contacts of fifteen seconds each, followed with two intermissions of twenty seconds each. When the current was finally broken a very slight fluttering was felt at the wrist.

In this case extreme heat was noticed about the knee above the point where the lower electrode had been applied, and a thermometer held against the skin for only 15 seconds registered its highest point of 115 degrees, while the sensation conveyed to the hand was that the temperature had run up to the boiling point.

A Wharf Destroyed.

MACHIAS, Me., Oct. 2.—The most serious fire that ever occurred in this city occurred yesterday afternoon on Donworth's wharf. Four million feet of lumber and two tenements were burned. The total loss is $68,000, on which there is but a very small insurance. Holway, Sullivan & Co., are the principal losers.

THE JOINT DEBATES.

Henry Cabot Lodge's Latest to the Democratic State Committee.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Following is Henry Cabot Lodge's reply to the latest note from the Democratic State Committee:

"BOSTON, Oct. 2, 1891.

"To the Democratic State Committee:

"GENTLEMEN—I have received your letter of the 30th. You seemed to be in doubt as to whether you ever challenged me at all. No such uncertainty appears to exist in anyone else's mind. You challenged generally, I accepted naming the terms. You wish to mollify those terms. I decline to do so. You now seek to obtain the same results by indirection. You attempt to secure a modification of terms by withdrawing your first challenge and issuing a new one. You cannot arrange both the terms of the challenge for yourself and the terms of my acceptance for me.

"A further interchange of letters as to terms is useless. As I said yesterday I give you a free field to explain why, when I accepted your challenge on the national issues of the 'Attitude of the National Democratic party upon the silver question,' and the 'Prices of the necessaries of life as affected by the McKinley bill,' the debates do not come off.

"Yours very truly,

"H. C. LODGE."

TOBACCO MARKET EXCITED.

Prices in Connecticut Advance and a Further Rise Expected.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.—The Connecticut and Housatonic Valley tobacco market is excited, and in the past ten days prices have advanced three to eight cents per pound over the range current two weeks ago. A further rise is expected. Sales run from 18 to 30 cents, and in one case 35 cents per pound has been realized.

It is estimated that the 1890 domestic crop of the United States will be short 25,000 cases of the quantity of wrappers required by manufacturers for the current fiscal year, and that the shortage of the present year is twice as large.

The cigar product for the year ending June 30, 1893, is estimated at nearly five billion cigars, exclusive of those wrapped with Havana leaf. This will require fifty million pounds of wrappers, whereas the 1891 crop cannot be over 30,000,000.

Large quantities of Summatra wrappers must be imported during the next twelve months, and growers can increase their acreage at least 25 per cent. next season without affecting prices.

The boom has not reached New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Wisconsin, but buyers are quickly getting options on these crops.

Houtzdale Bank Officers Arrested.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—John B. McGrath, cashier of the Houtzdale Bank, was arrested last night, charged with embezzlement. A warrant was also issued for the arrest of President William H. Dill. John Beyer and George W. Dickey of Houtzdale have been appointed receivers for the Houtzdale Bank by Judge Kress.

—Musin is coming.

—The special offer at Edsall's to give dress-linings free of charge with each dress pattern sold, will close next Saturday night.

—The Westfield Wheelmen filed articles of incorporation yesterday at Elizabeth with the clerk of Union county. The incorporators are Dr. F. A. Kinch, Rufus B. Whitehead, John Gluck, and Charles H. Darsh.

—The date of holding the Democratic convention of the First Assembly district of Middlesex county which was to be held at Maier's Hotel, Dunellen, Thursday, Oct. 8, at 2 o'clock p. m., is changed to Monday evening, Oct. 12.

—A jubilee service that all will enjoy will be held by the young people of the First Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, in the new quarters of the mission, at 37 East Third street. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will deliver an address.

—A self-winding clock, synchronized with the United States observatory at Washington, and connected therewith by Western Union telegraph, is now in operation in manager Schemerhorn's office at the North avenue railway station.

—At the Trinity Reformed church tonight at 8 o'clock preparatory services will be held. After the services the board of elders of the church will hold a session to receive any who desire to become members, either by letter or on confession.

—Marsh Bros., the painters, have formed a co-partnership with Alonzo Ayers and the new firm has purchased the business of W. F. Adams at 29 East Front street. Their patrons and the public in general will hereafter find them at the above address.

—That was a funny usurpation of power reported from North Plainfield. The Chief of Police attempted to force a rival to go home and go to bed when he found him walking on the street at midnight. That chief was evidently thirsting for gore.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

—The concert given at Reform Hall last evening was highly enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. N. E. King were repeatedly encored, and the other musicians were heartily applauded. Mr. King was pronounced a master of the harmonica. The hall was comfortably filled. The entertainment was indeed a fine one, especially for home talent.

—J. E. Crater of this city has left the National Custom Clothing and Merchandise company, of Newark, and has connected himself with a new concern to be known as the Commercial Enterprise company, the home office of which is to be at Buffalo. The officers are: Isaac Shaw—president; M. C. Smedley—manager; W. Bailey—secretary; J. E. Crater—superintendent of agencies. The company is incorporated with a cash capital of $500,000.

—One of the 122 Bibles donated by the Somerset county Bible society last year—after visiting families in the four towns of Raritan, Bound Brook, North Plainfield and Somerville—none were given away in either Somerville or North Plainfield. Can it be that our own beloved town and that of North Plainfield are so much better than their neighbors? This seems to indicate that the people in these two towns know more of the Bible than do the others.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

—There was another fine audience in Music Hall, last evening, and Mme. Janauschek, who had thought it suicide for her manager to book a night in Plainfield, was more than gratified. The star's acting evidenced that all of her old time fire and pathos remains. She was called for after each act, and James M. Martin, the author of the play, who took the part of Dr. Grims, appeared with her between act two and three. The whole company, and especially Jessie Bonstelle as Clara Oakley, were all that could be desired.

PARTISAN MOTIVES ALLEGED.

North Plainfield's Democratic Committee Insist that the Borough Council Shall Recognize Their Election Appointments.

At the meeting of the North Plainfield Borough Council, to-night, the following communication will be presented for the consideration of the councilmen:

To the Common Council of the Borough of North Plainfield:

GENTLEMEN:—Complying with the request of the Borough Clerk, and in conformity with the law providing for the selection by each of the great political parties of its own election canvassers and inspectors, who shall be appointed to guard the interests of their respective parties at the polls, the executive committee of the Democratic party in North Plainfield, designated and appointed the following able and efficient gentlemen to act in that capacity for the Democratic party, to wit: E. C. Morse, A. E. Kenney, Benj. Gavin, John Schroppe.

Contrary to every rule and precedent, and in defiance of the law, your honorable body has attempted to controvert the wishes of the Democratic party as expressed through its accredited representatives, by the arbitrary appointment, from partisan motives, of two gentlemen not designated by this committee, and who have signified their unwillingness to accept their appointments from the Council. Such action on your part is beneath the contempt of fair-minded men of whatever political faith.

No pretext for the non-compliance of the Mayor and Common Council with the request of this committee can have any weight or validity, except in the event that it can be clearly shown that the confirmation of the names that we have presented to you would injure the welfare or endanger the success of the Democratic party. As we are more than skeptical about the ability of the Council, as at present constituted, to judge impartially on this point, we solemnly and firmly demand and insist that the Common Council shall confirm the appointments of Democratic inspectors and canvassers as selected by the Democratic party of North Plainfield through its executive committee.

Very respectfully,

A. E. KENNEY, Chairman.
IRA F. RIKER,
B. LUERSSEN,
ABRAM B. KING,
CHARLES DRESSELT,
GEORGE DEMLER, jr.,
WM. PANGBORN.

Sister Societies Enjoyed the Anniversary.

A very pleasant welcome awaited the sister organizations of the city at the celebration of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, last evening. The occasion was the third anniversary of the society. Delegates were present from Dunellen and New Market, and the young people's societies of the various Plainfield churches were present in a body.

The exercises were begun at 8 o'clock. The four hundred young people joined heartily in singing "We're Marching to Zion", and Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, president of the Park avenue society, gave a cordial greeting, in a few pleasant words, to the visitors. The pastor, the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, jr., then read a passage of Scripture and led in prayer, after which the choir sang the anthem "Hark, Hark, My Soul!" The report of the secretary, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, was read, showing a steady and healthful growth for the society. After the singing of the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers" an earnest and interesting address was delivered by James A. Cruikshank, district secretary of Kings county, Brooklyn. He gave sincere counsel to the young workers of the societies, and was listened to with marked attention. The benediction followed the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds". Then came a reception in the lecture room, where all were hospitably entertained. It was a very happy evening for the young people.

Middlesex Democrats Meet.

The Democratic caucus held at Maier's Hall, Dunellen, last evening, was attended by about seventy people. The following were elected as delegates to the State convention:

County—H. J. Cregier, J. Y. Wilson, Peter Staats. Substitutes—C. D. Taylor, Chas. Ward, Ellis Campbell.

Assembly—Joseph Maier, John Gearry, Edward Smith. Alternates—Howard Bird John Peters, Ellis Campbell.

After the caucus a Democratic club was organized, to be known as the Democratic Club of Piscataway Township. Peter Schultz was elected president; H. J. Swackhamer, vice-president; H. L. Terry, secretary, and C. D. Boice, treasurer.

The executive committee is as follows: W. J. Winges, P. M. Ising, Chas. Ward.

After the caucus quite a number of members gathered in different places about town and a few interesting speeches were made.

OBITUARY.

John Blunt Bacon.

John Blunt Bacon died at his residence, Sycamore avenue, last evening, of heart failure, at the age of 43. He had been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for thirteen years, and during that time traveled to nearly every part of the globe in search of health. Mr. Bacon came to this city about seven years ago, and since then had invested considerably in local real estate, and had identified himself with the interests of the borough. His wife alone survives him. The funeral will take place at Troy, N. Y., Monday.

Warren R. Clark.

Warren R. Clark died suddenly at his farm at Piscataway this morning, of heart disease. He was well-known in Plainfield, having lived in this neighborhood 18 years. His age was 58. His wife survives him.

He had been feeling ill of late, and this morning almost fainted while dressing. His wife summoned a neighbor, and efforts were made to revive him, but he died in a few minutes.

DR. CARROLL A VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Temperance Association Re-organizes for Effective Work, and Denounces Existing State Laws.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Somerset county temperance association was celebrated in the Second Reformed church at Somerville, Tuesday, but the work is to be carried on hereafter under a different plan. The members seemed to think that the society was not doing the efficient work it ought to do, and steps were taken for re-organizing it.

After a great deal of routine business, the reports of township secretaries were called for, but only Bedminster, Franklin, North Plainfield and Warren were heard from. The committee on nominations reported as officers for the ensuing year: President—The Rev. W. M. Trumbower; Vice Presidents—Bedminster, the Rev. Samuel Parry; Bernards, Calvin Thompson; Branchburg, Mina V. Saums; Bridgewater, A. P. Sutphen; Franklin, W. H. Ayers; Hillsborough, Hervey McDonald; Montgomery, Daniel Stryker; North Plainfield, H. K. Carroll; Warren, W. W. Winans. Secretary—A. C. Lindsley. Treasurer — Robert Thornhill. These were elected.

A lively discussion followed the report of the committee on resolutions, of which the Rev. Mr. Searle was chairman. The resolution denouncing the liquor legislation of last year was not thought to be strong enough by the Rev. Mr. Trumbower. He offered a substitute which bitterly condemned Governor Abbett. Mr. Searle opposed this, and a long discussino followed. The substitute was defeated. The following were the resolutions finally adopted:

Resolved, That we mutually pledge ourselves, by the faithful use of every personal influence, to do our utmost to increase the ranks of those who refrain absolutely from the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage, believing as we do that total abstinence should commend itself to-day as an imperative duty to every enlightened conscience.

—That in addition to reaffirming past action of this association in reference to the use of recognized moral agencies for the promotion of the temperance cause, we emphasize the value and necessity of prayer, for the unifying of temperance sentiment, the guiding and impelling power of the Holy Spirit increasing the efficiency of temperance effort, the salvation of the victims of the alcoholic appetite, and for the conversion of those who are opposing us.

RECOGNIZING the injurious influence of our present laws, protecting and practically encouraging, as we believe, the vice of intemperance; be it further.

Resolved, That we urge upon temperance citizens the duty of regulating their acts and responsibilities as citizens by the light of conscience, in the hope that thereby such a concensus of sentiment and concentration of influence may result as shall lead to the removal of these opposing conditions.

—That we profoundly regret the action of the last Legislature in still further entrenching the rum power behind the sanction of law, by passing the following laws, viz: the County Excise bill, an act relating to social clubs, the transfer license bill, the bill allowing the continuance of signatures for petitions for license.

—That this association recognizes the faithful, patient and efficient work of the W. C. T. U. of this county.

—That the thanks of this association be extended to the Rev. Addison Parker for his earnest, thoughtful and stimulating address, and to the pastor and people of the Second Reformed church for the use of their church and for the generous hospitality of ther homes, and to the organist of the church for her valued assistance in our sessions.

The following resolution in addition to the above was offered by the Rev. John Davis, of Peapack, and was adopted:

—That we call special attention to the usurpation of the rights of the people in recent excise legislation in taking from the local community that control of the liquor traffic which it had heretofore possessed.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

We Struck a Bargain

And we are going to give you the benefit of it. We bought 240 pairs of Ladies' Hand-turned Kid Shoes, in all sizes and widths, from AA to D., that were made to sell at $4, and a very cheap shoe at that price. We also bought 120 pairs of Ladies' Hand-Sewed Oxford Ties that were made to sell at $3. We will put the shoes on sale to-day at $2.75, and the Oxford Ties at $2 00.

The above goods were made for Corkery & Co., Springfield, Ohio, and through some misunderstanding they did not take them; and as we deal quite largely with this house, they wrote us what we could have the whole lot for, and we jumped at the chance; and when you see the shoe you will do the same. Come and look at it.

CUT DOWN IN THE HARVEST FIELD.

Two Reapers Met, and One Was Death, and the Other Fell Before Him.

A sturdy old farmer working steadily away with scythe and cradle in the harvest field, suddenly met the great reaper of all—grim Death itself—face to face, and in an instant, in the twinkling of an eye, his life was cut down like the fallen grain around him. The Elizabeth Journal tells the story:

Alphonse Constantine, who resides opposite the railway station at West Summit, on Tuesday employed Louis Adams, a farmer residing in New Providence, to cut a lot of buckwheat which he had on his farm.

At about 7 o'clock in the evening the wife of Mr. Adams called at Mr. Constantine's residence to inquire about the whereabouts of her husband, who had failed to return home to his supper. Mr. Constantine said that he had seen nothing of him since noon, when he had started for the buckwheat field. Mrs. Adams and Mr. Constantine went to the barn, and there found Adams's horse tied under the shed.

With John Diech, a neighbor, they repaired to the field, where Adams had been sent to cut the buckwheat. The night was dark. With a lantern they made diligent search.

Adams was found lying across the cradle quite dead. He was about sixty-five years of age and had been married about three months to his second wife. He had a grown family of children, who are all married and live in different parts of the State.

County physician Westcott, of Scotch Plains, was summoned, and granted a burial permit. He is of the opinion the cause of death was heart disease.

The One Perfect Fire-Alarm, and Plainfield Has It.

The story of the rise and progress of the superior fire-alarm system whose most excellent service Plainfield enjoys, is told in "The History and Commerce of New York":

One of the prominent and successful features of the city government of New York is the employment of the American fire alarm and police telegraph, of which the Gamewell Fire-Alarm Telegraph Company of this city are proprietors. The principal office of this company is situated at No. 1½ Barclay street. To Dr. William F. Channing, of Boston, and Moses G. Farmer, of Salem, is due the credit for the first successful employment of electricity for giving instantaneous, universal and definite alarms in cases of fire. In June, 1851, their plan was accepted by the city of Boston and an appropriation made to test the experiment. In the then state of electro-mechanical knowledge, progress was necessarily slow, and it was a year before the first official fire alarm was sounded by electricity. About the year 1855, Messrs. Gamewell & Company became the proprietors of all the patents of Channing and Farmer for the south and west, and shortly after for the entire country. Realizing from the first the incalculable value of the fire-alarm telegraph, and the necessity of attaining as near perfection as possible, Messrs. Gamewell & Company never failed to appreciate and secure every improvement which inventive genius and mechanical skill could develop. In 1877 the Gamewell Fire-Alarm Telegraph Company was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, and is now officered and managed as follows: Joseph W. Stover, president; William H. Woolverton and D. H. Bates, vice-presidents; C. W. Cornell, secretary and treasurer; John N. Gamewell, general superintendent. It is sufficient guarantee that this company will continue the policy laid down by the founders of the business, that Mr. Gamewell remains as superintendent. The fire-alarm telegraph consists of a central or battery station, the wire circuits which connect the central station with the street signal boxes, and the alarm apparatus, consisting of electro-mechanical bell-strikers in church or other towers, electro-mechanical gong-strikers located in engine houses, public buildings and residences of fire department officials, and indicators showing in plain figures the number of the signal box from which an alarm originates. The advantages secured by adopting the fire-alarm telegraph are many and important. It furnishes to every property-holder the means near at hand, in case of fire, for giving an instantaneous and definite alarm, thus saving thousands of dollars in property and sometimes human life. It saves the necessity of turning out an entire fire department at every alarm of fire. It is now in use in every city of any size throughout the United States. The company own and operate a factory at Newton, Mass., where they give constant employment to one hundred hands. Agencies are established in Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, San Francisco and Richmond, Indiana, and the business is broadly distributed throughout the United States and Canada.

Charles Wann of North Plainfield is one of the most active and prominent men in the company's service. He ably fills one of the important positions of the house, and to his efforts especially were due the favors and concessions that Plainfield received at the hands of the company.

A Count Attempts Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Alphonse Von Kaisertren, a Polish Count, aged 35 years, yesterday attempted suicide by shooting himself in the left breast. He now lies at Bellevue Hospital in a critical condition. Von Kaisertren came to this country 18 years ago. His wife keeps a small boarding house.

Old Officer Retired.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Capt. George H. Perkins, United States Navy, at his own request, is placed on the retired list after 40 years service. Capt. Perkins distinguished himself during the late war as commander of the United States steamer Chickasaw, at Mobile Bay, Ala.

Teacher Killed By a Pupil.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—At Huntsville, Ala., yesterday, Prof. Renfro, a white teacher in a colored normal school, attempted to chastise Ebenezer Kahn, a colored pupil. Kahn seized a three-inch steel chisel and imbedded it into Renfro's brain, killing him. Kahn is under arrest.

I HAD catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

THE SHOE'S ON THE OTHER FOOT.

Plainfield Editors Need no Lesson From Ne-of-Summit.

The Summit Record starts out with words of truth and wisdom, but winds up with a paragraph of woful fallacy and foolishness, in the following:

We earnestly hope that the October Grand Jury, when it has entered upon the discharge of its duties, will investigate the rapidly accumulating charges of criminal libel preferred against newspaper editors in various parts of Union county, and unless they find that justice and the public welfare demand that a different course be pursued, they will promptly dismiss every such charge.

There is no reason why the machinery of the criminal law should be set in motion at the expense of the taxpayers of this county for the purpose of permitting a few individuals to wreak a private vengeance for a personal pique or grievance that has its origin in circumstances wholly unconnected with those upon which the present complaints are based. The manner in which it has been attempted to use the Grand Juries of this county for several years past for the purpose of harassing members of the editorial fraternity, has heretofore been commented on. It justly has been said that there are more prosecutions and fewer convictions for libel, than for any other crime in the county and it is high time that public sentiment called a halt in this systematic prosecution, which has in many instances developed into persecution, of editors, who have the courage to speak in fearless terms of subjects of common interest.

Plainfield furnishes the most effective illustration of the extent to which this travesty on justice can be carried. For the past four or five years the rival editors of that town have devoted all their spare time to the work of securing indictments for libel against each other.

In the last four lines of the above is to be found a most unfounded declaration. The fact of the matter is: not a Plainfield editor in "four or five years", or in forty-five years, has devoted a moment to the work of securing an indictment for libel against another editor. Not one has even made a complaint, or even asked for an indictment.

Otherwise the Record's words are words of sapiency, but why do they designate the editors of Plainfield and why come from such a source? If THE PRESS is not mistaken the editor of the Record is the only one of the profession in this vicinity who has been indicted.

The Ravings of Jealousy and Envy.

(From the Somerville papers.)

The Crescents and the West Ends have both practically disbanded for the season.

The Crescents and the West Ends did not play off their tie on Saturday and the reason therefor, if report is to be believed, rests wholly with the Crescents. At the last moment they interposed a lot of conditions unworthy either of themselves or of their antagonists. The idea of asking a team to play for one-eighth of the gate receipts, or finally to come for nothing! They felt probably that any further monkeying at ball was rather too risky a business, and being ahead with the Westfields and even with the Somervilles, they did not want to take any chances. Perhaps their caution is to be commended, but it does not give outsiders a very exalted idea of the confidence they have in their own prowess.

It is hoped that the Crescents will be prevailed upon to give our boys another game or two as players, if not as an organization. We are not satisfied yet.

The championship question is of course left undecided. No one of the clubs has beaten in the series with the other two, and therefore no one club can be said to be entitled to assume the championship of the State. The Crescents have beaten the Westfields, but tied only with the West Ends; the West Ends have tied with both the Westfields and the Crescents; and the Westfields while losing to the Crescents have tied with the West Ends.

The Jewish New Year.

The Hebrews throughout the world will begin the celebration of Rosh Hashono, the festival of the New Year, this evening. The coming year, the advent of which is welcomed with solemn and impressive services, is numbered 5652 in the Jewish calendar.

The celebration of the New Year is universally observed by both the orthodox and the reformed Jews, the only difference in the observances being that the former devote two days to the observance, while the latter content themselves with ceremonies lasting but one day.

Is He Also a Fugitive Murderer.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Chief of Police Hayden is of the opinion that the robber who entered an American Express car on the Central near Little Falls Tuesday night is a fugitive from justice who is wanted on the charge of murder, and who is known to have been in the State at the time of the robbery. He answers the description of the man seen in the car by the messenger. The fugitive is a desperate character.

Ten Thousand Miners on Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. .—The strike of miners of the railroad mines in this district is even more general than was anticipated. Ten thousand miners are idle and work at all the railroad mines has ceased.

Eight Miners Killed.

CARDIFF, Oct. 2.—A fatal colliery accident occurred at the Abergwynfi colliery near Bridgend, Glamorganshire. Eight miners were killed through the fall of a hoisting car caused by the overwinding of the pit gear attached to it.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Polite Conductor—Excuse me, madam, but this car is the smoker.

Aunt Polly Wanta—I know it is, young man. That's the reason I got in ter it. Kin I trouble yo' fer a match?—Puck.

Bound to Rise.

The phrenologist ran his hands rapidly over the boy's head, reflected a moment and tried it again, but more slowly.

"Well, professor," said the boy's father, "what calling do you find him best fitted for?"

"Judging from his cranial development," replied the phrenologist, breaking it as gently as he could, "I think he would make a good parachute jumper."—Chicago Tribune.

Those Horrid Servants.

"Miss Ethel is a long time coming down," said the youth to the servant after waiting some time for the young lady's appearance. "Perhaps," he added, with a laugh, "perhaps she is making up her mind whether to see me or not."

"No," said the servant, with an icy smile, "it is not her mind she is making up."—N. Y. Press.

Hard to Please.

Bloobumper (who has been inveigled into going shopping with his wife)—This fabric will make you a nice dress.

Mrs. Bloobumper—Oh, nobody is wearing that now.

Bloobumper—Then how will this suit?

Mrs. Bloobumper—That won't do either. Everybody's got something like it. It's too common.—Judge.

Nature's Handiwork.

"What dentist made your teeth for you?"

"Those are my own teeth. No dentist made them," was the indignant reply.

"You don't say so? How deceptive they are. They look as nice as the best kind of false teeth. What a wonderful thing nature is."—Texas Siftings.

Narrowly Escaped Loss.

"The life-saver at Bartonhurst saved Mrs. Cohen from drowning."

"Did Cohen reward him?"

"Yes. Gave him five dollars."

"Good. He must be fonder of his wife than we thought."

"Oh, it wasn't that. She had her diamonds on."—Jury.

The Dog's Name.

"What does your father call his bulldog, Clara?"

"Victor, I believe."

"Ah, I have a pair of trousers to send him."

"What for?"

"Because I am a believer in the doctrine that to the Victors belong the spoils."—Washington Star.

He Was Paddled Just the Same.

"I say, mamma," inquired the hopeful heir of the ranch, "am I your canoe?"

"No, child; why do you ask such a foolish question?"

"Oh, because you always say you like to see people paddle their own canoe, and I didn't know but maybe I was yours."—Texas Siftings.

A Last Wish.

He (tremblingly)—I have one last wi-wish to ask you before be-before we part in anger forever.

She (sobbingly)—Wha-what is it, Geo-George?

He—Wi-will you me-meet me next Th-Thursday as u-usual?

She—I wi-will, George."—Yankee Blade.

An Unfortunate Moment.

"Well, barber, it strikes me that your hands might be a trifle cleaner."

"Well, you see, sir, it's been quite three-quarters of an hour since any gent came along as wanted a shampooning."—Judge.

Talk of Summer Girls.

Gerty—Florence told me last night that she was engaged to young Downey.

Ethel—Isn't it awful?

Gerty—Yes; and the worst of it is that I believe she really means to marry him.—Judge.

A Terrifying Subject.

Blinks—I saw a man turn pale and tremble to-day at the mention of the American navy.

Klinks—Eh? Was he a foreigner?

"No; he belongs to the marines and he can't swim."—Good News.

One Count Too Much.

Daughter—I cannot marry that man. He's bad.

Mother—My dear, think how very, very rich—

Daughter—In his youth he killed a man.

Mother—Youth can be forgiven many follies. Think how rich—

Daughter—Once he stole $40,000, and his father had to pay it.

Mother—That was all hushed up. Think how rich—

Daughter—He's an awful drunkard.

Mother—Many gentlemen drink a little, my dear, and I'm sure he can afford—

Daughter—He says you are old and awkward.

Mother—The wretch! He shan't see you again.—N. Y. Weekly.

Delightful Treatment.

"So you proposed to her. Accepted, of course?"

"Accepted! Why, she treated me like a dog."

"Allow me to congratulate you, old fellow. I saw how she treated one the other day, and, by Jove, I envied that dog."—Chicago News.

Rapid Advancement Out West.

Fightson—See that man in the elegant carriage? When he came to this town ten years ago he couldn't write his own name.

Runsway—And now?

"Served two terms, by George, sir, for forgery!"—Chicago Tribune.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Mrs. Laytin (just returned from a good time)—Why, it's only two in the morning!"

Mr. Laytin—Humph! If I'd been coming home alone, instead of with you, you'd think it was late enough, I'll bet!—Judge.

Not an Alumnus.

Summer Belle—That Mr. Spry out there in that rowboat is one of the most learned men I ever met. I wonder what college he graduated from.

College Graduate (contemptuously)—Huh! He's no college man. Look at his stroke.—Good News.

She Was Proud of It.

"Ethel Goodbell brought home a lovely souvenir spoon with her from England."

"I know it; I saw her with him on the avenue, Sunday morning."—Life.

A Blow-Over.

Hoffman Howes—Wheah has Howell Gibbon been lately?

Rockaway Beache—Staying at home, deah boy. His name was misspelled in one of the society papahs, and he is waiting faw the affaih to blow ovah.—Puck.

More to the Point.

Poet (impressively)—I always know when I write something that is very good.

Critic (thoughtfully)—But do you know when you write something that is very bad?—Judge.

No News to Him.

Jinks—The paper says the court has declared you a bankrupt, Binks.

Binks—Oh, that's no news. I knew that long ago.—Somerville Journal.

TAKING IN THE SIGHTS.

—Life.

Wanted No Deadheads.

Dick (at seaside hotel)—Where is Harry? We can't go without Harry.

Tom—He is up in his room, writing to his father.

Dick—Then never mind him. He must be broke.—Puck.

Succinct.

Col. Culpepper (who has struck one of his former chattels)—What ever became of Auntie Lou?

The Waiter—She's daid.

Col. Culpepper—Old age?

The Waiter—No, sah. Ole bourb'n.—Judge.

Slang in the Home of Literature.

"I'm on to you," said the drop of ink to the blotting pad in a tone of considerable asperity.

"Dry up," replied the blotting pad, with firm dignity.

And it did.—Drake's Magazine.

Paternal Ministrations.

Young Husband—Amy, what makes that baby yell in that way?

Young Wife—His teeth, dear.

Young Husband—Oh, if that's all I'll run for a dentist and have them pulled out.—Judge.

So Hard to Tell.

"Yes, that's a a fine dress; but I don't believe the beach police will let you go into the water with it."

"Mercy! that isn't a bathing-suit. That's a ball dress."—Judge.

A Popular Ring.

He—Well, how do you like the engagement ring I sent you?

She—It's beautiful, Jack.

He—I knew you'd like it. All the other girls did.—Jury.

Scholastic Item.

Professor (to boy at blackboard)—How do you write horn?

Boy—You don't write a horn at all. You blow a horn.—Texas Siftings.

Earning His Grub.

Jinks—What's Winkers doing for a living now?

"Oh, anything that his rich wife tells him."—N. Y. Weekly.

Oh, for a Man!

Bessie—Aren't the breakers lovely!

Millicent—Yes; but I'd rather they were brokers.—Jury.

NEW JERSEY NEWS CONDENSED.

Gen. Bird W. Spencer has been elected President of the State Firemen's Association.

Nearly 50,000 people were in attendance at the Interstate Fair at Trenton yesterday. Gov. Abbott and all the State officials were on the grounds.

Maggie Murphy, the twenty-two-year-old girl who was injured in the explosion which destroyed eight lives in Newark, last Thursday night, lies at the City Hospital in a precarious state.

Joseph Bidden, who eloped from East Bangor, Pa., with Mrs. Frank Van Horn, was discharged in Hoboken yesterday. Van Horn telegraphed to the Hoboken police that he would have nothing more to do with the case.

It has been learned that the missing Fritz Daling of Jersey City sailed for Europe last Saturday. He drew all his money, $3,500, from the bank and leaves a family unprovided for. He was for eight years an employe of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

There is a pest of fleas at Middletown, Conn.

The game law is off in Connecticut, and hunting has begun. There is an unusual abundance of game.

John Ball Osborne, of Pennsylvania, United States Consul at Ghent, and Miss Bertha J. Grinnell of New Haven, Conn., were married in that city last evening.

Charles French, the Litchfield, Conn., murderer, was released from the State prison at Wethersfield after serving a term of exactly ten years. He was at first sentenced for life for murder in the second degree, but his sentence was commuted to ten years last spring by the State Board of Pardons.

On the Scent.

First Detective (mysteriously)—I scent a murderer.

Second Detective (excitedly)—Where?

First Detective (solemnly)—Smell that trunk?

Passenger (sauntering up)—You like Limpurger, eh? Zo do I. Dot's why I dake some home mit me.—Good News.

Would Try It Later.

Mrs. de Grampcey—Where did you get your divorce, Mrs. Downey—in Chicago?

Mrs. Downey—No; in South Dakota.

Mrs. de Grampcey—Is that so; I must try South Dakota next time. One gets wedded so easily to Chicago in such matters.—Judge.

IT IS NOT

A LIE.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

(Signed) HENRY SNYDER, Jr.

Sworn to before me this 11th day of February, 1891.

Witness my hand this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1891.

VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

Speaking of Stimulants.

In the Summer Season trade languishes and business is at a low ebb. What think you of the merchant who says "Let Her Languish" closes up his store and repairs to the seaside? Such a course would be suicidal. It is an act of equal folly to sit idly by, bewailing the hard times and awaiting the return of prosperity. More flies than customers will enter that man's doors. When business lags, apply the spur. Advertising is the great trade stimulator.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS.

A Disappointment All Round.

Old Cashly—Young man, when you married my daughter I never supposed that you were going to live on me.

Young Dudely—Well, sir, why didn't you give her enough at the start to be independent?—Judge.

Sparkling Wit.

"I wish I were like champagne," he sighed.

"Ah," she queried.

"Yes," he continued. "It sparkles so."

"And it pops sometimes," she mused softly, but he was too stupid for any use.—Detroit Free Press.

Irish Puns.

Charles Lamb made some famous puns, and, according to the London Truth, his mantle seems to have fallen upon his namesake, Mr. Charles Lamb Kenney.

The popular journalist just mentioned was dining at the house of a friend, and by chance swallowed a bit of cork with his wine, which gave him a severe coughing fit.

"Take care, my friend," said his next neighbor, with a very brilliant attempt at a witticism; "that's not the way for cork."

"No," gasped the sufferer, "it's the way to kill Kenney."

Looking Cityward.

Western Magistrate — You are charged, sir, with killing six of our oldest and most respected citizens. What have you to say?

Prisoner—They were all of 'em rich old penny grabbers wot was leavin' the best buildin' sites in town lie idle, waitin' fer a higher price.

"Well?"

"Well, yer honor, I belong to the village improvement society."—N. Y. Weekly.

To Protect His Fellow-Men.

Client—Your fee is exorbitant. It didn't take you a day to do the work.

Lawyer—It is my regular fee. I am not charging you for time, but for the cost of my legal education.

Client—Well, give me a receipt for the cost of your education, so the next fellow won't have to pay for it, too.—Life.

"Upon This Hint I Spake."

Abby (who is thirsty)—How long will we have to wait for dinner?

Hiram (who lacks decision)—About twenty minutes, I guess. Then I'll have a bottle of plain soda, and have it opened here.

She—I should like to hear some thing pop, if it's only a cork!—Life.

SAM AND EVA AGAIN

Their Story of Adventure May be True After All.

WITNESSES TO THE STARTING.

Two Reputable People Saw Them Enter the Ocean at Coney Island.

Watched Them Out Until Only Their Heads Were Visible—They Did Not Know Sam and Eva, but Describe Them Perfectly—When They Read of the Reported Drowning, They Were Grieved, for They Might Have Rendered Assistance—The Miraculous Tale Gaining Credence.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The witnesses in defense of the remarkable story told by Samuel W. Thornton and Miss Eva Jewell of this city, of their having been carried out to sea from Coney Island on a log, and picked up by a Spanish bark and all the other romantic and picturesque incidents previous to their arrival in Jacksonville, Fla., the story of which has been told in these dispatches and which has created so much talk, are being diligently searched for by the committee from Mount Olivet Baptist Church, who were appointed at the recent meeting at which a mild confidence was expressed in the adventurous yarn.

Two witnesses to the remarkable tale have turned up in the persons of John L. Burst and his wife, of Halsey street, this city. They were at Coney Island in the afternoon when the pair disappeared.

Mr. Burst remarked to his wife on the number of logs that were floating in the ocean near the pier. As they were looking out over the water, which had risen so that it was surrounding the booths on the shore, they were surprised to see a man and woman enter the water and advance out into the waves along the side of the pier until they were within a few yards from the spot on which they stood.

The couple continued to wade out into the ocean until only their heads were visible. Mrs. Burst expressed alarm for their safety, but her husband said that the man was undoubtedly a fine swimmer, and able to take care of himself and companion.

Soon after Burst and his wife quitted the pier. The second morning after they read of the finding of Thornton's and Miss Jewell's clothes in the bath houses and of their supposed drowning.

They recalled the strange actions of the couple in the water off the pier and were quite convinced that they were the missing couple.

"If we had only waited a few moments and given them assistance," was Mrs. Burst's thought when she read the story of the missing couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Burst fully corroborate the above story, and the description they give of the couple they saw tallies exactly with the appearance of Sam and Eva.

Not a few of those who were sceptical of the story told by Thornton, have begun to believe that the adventures as related are really so.

THE DEFALCATION $35,000.

Houtzdale Bank Affairs in Worse Shape than Supposed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—Bank Examiner Miller has made information before Justice of the Peace McCullough, charging President Dill, of the defunct Houtzdale Bank with falsifying the bank's books by making a false entry of $10,000 on July 14th. Bail will not be fixed until the extent of the crookedness is discovered. It is stated on indisputable authority that $35,000 additional to the $10,000 has been found to be missing. The bank examiner refuses to say anything about the latter discovery until he has made information. He admits, however, that the amount is $35,000 and said he had as yet only gone over a part of the books.

Up to the present all but a few hot headed depositors have believed Dill not guilty of premeditated hisbonesty.

Before Dill entered financial circles, he was a Methodist minister and has always been held in high standing. He claims he knew nothing about the books being falsified and says he feels sure the matter will be righted in court.

On account of the bank being a National one, depositors will undoubtedly be paid in full. The stockholders will be the only losers, but their ruin will probably drive others to the wall.

Missing James Cox Sued.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., Oct. 3.—All efforts to find James Cox, the expert accountant of South Brooklyn who disappeared several months ago, have failed. Cox owns a farm at Richland, near here, worth $15,000. George Cramer, an employe, has sued Cox for $300 wages, and Miss Catharine Casserly, housekeeper for thirteen years for Cox and his family sues for $860, money loaned to Cox. It is believed the missing man has gone away to avoid financial entanglements and family troubles.

Sullivan's Company Stranded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The steamship Monowai, from Sydney, brings Australian papers which concur in stating that John L. Sullivan's theatrical tour of the colonies has been a failure. Before the Monowai left Sydney it was understood that the company was to take return passage on that vessel to America, but later it was learned that the actors are stranded and were awaiting remittances from America.

Doesn't Think Much of New Hampshire.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 3.—The authorities being satisfied that the woman arrested the other day at the Warden residence was Dr Mary Walker beyond a doubt, ordered her release. She expressed contempt for New Hampshire, its people and its laws, but declared she was ready to leave the State. She was escorted to the depot by the sheriff and took the evening train for Boston

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AN UNLUCKY CHINAMAN.

A Former United States Navy Employee Detained in British Columbia.

BROOKLYN, N. Y. Oct. 3.—Perhaps one of the most curious and discomforting experiences which could well happen to a person in times of peace is that which has overtaken Paul Chin Sing, an honorably discharged employee of the United States Navy and a prominent and respected member of the Hanson Place M. E. Church, of this city.

Chin Sing had separated himself from the navy a year or so ago, and up to a few weeks ago had earned his livelihood by working for some of his wealthier countrymen in Brooklyn. A short time ago, however, his health began to fail, and, having a well-to-do uncle in San Francisco, he determined to imigrate to that portion of the country.

He purchased his ticket, but unfortunately it was over the Canadian Pacific Railroad, and through Vancouver, B. C. When he attempted to change cars at that place, after his arrival, he was seized and thrust into prison because of the non-payment of the $50 which British Columbian law exacts from every newly arrived Chinaman found in its territory. The railroad company interfered and took the Chinaman out of the kindly care of the Canadian minions of the law. This released him from the payment of the $50 so long as he was not dropped by the corporation, but it did not at all free him from the greatest of his difficulties, namely a re-entry into the States this side the Canadian border.

His trunk, in which were his credentials, had gone on ahead, and this rendered him powerless to prove his identity. At this time word of his plight came to the ears of his pastor and people of the Hanson Place Church. They at once saw that the only way to release Chin Sing and get him back into the United States, was to prepare a petition and letters to the President put these in charge of an influential messenger and have him solicit an audience with Mr. Harrison, to the end that Chin Sing might obtain a safe conduct into the United States. This has been done and the matter is now in the hands of the President.

Chin Sing is in a very sad predicament in any event, and the members of the church denounce his seizure in Canada as an outrage. He is described as about 21 years of age, tall and lithe and remarkably handsome. He joined the Hanson Place Church about a year ago and has ever since been one of its most active members, especially in the work that is being done in connection with the Chinese mission which is attached to the church.

AID FOR MINISTER EGAN.

Likelihood that Three Warships will be Sent to Chili.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It is reported on good authority, that besides the Yorktown, the Boston and Atlanta are also destined for Valparaiso, or some other Chilian port, to maintain the honor of the American flag, which, Minister Patrick Egan informs the National Government, has been threatened by the Junta.

All the indications point to the departure for Valparaiso of three ships of Uncle Sam's navy instead of one ship. The Atlanta was intercepted on her way to Gardner's Bay target practice and ordered to return to the Navy Yard and fit herself out for a cruise. The Boston was docked for a coat of paint, and, as for the general stores, they are fairly flooded with requisitions for articles. If these articles are not ready in the stores they will be bought in open market, so as not to delay longer than is necessary the departure of the squadron to Chili.

Mr. Gladstone Well Again.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Gladstone's reception at Newcastle shows the depth of the affection entertained for him by the Liberal masses of Great Britain. Mr. Gladstone has greatly disappointed the Tories by regaining his health. One reason for deferring the general election to as late a date as possible was well understood to be that the government might have to face Gladstone and his popularity. The signs now inquicate, however, that the grand old man will be in excellent trim for the contest, which will probably be the last of his life, and one of the most momentous.

Could Not Find an Indictment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The grand jury which has investigated the collapse of the building in Park place, by which over sixty lives were lost, has reported its inability to decide whether overloaded floors or an explosion caused the calamity. Tenants of the building who claim to have known it to be unsafe are blamed for not reporting such knowledge. Legislation for better inspection of buildings and against storage of explosives is recommended. The evidence gathered would not warrant the finding of an indictment.

Reciprocity Conference Postponed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The report from Ottawa that the reciprocity conference set for October 12, between Secretary Blaine and Representatives of the Canadian Government has been indefinitely postponed is confirmed at the Executive Mansion and at the State Department. The reason given for the postponement is that the president deems it best that the Canadian Commissioners should deal directly with Mr. Blaine.

GOT HIS DAUGHTER

The Count di Calviano's Long Search Rewarded.

A PRETTY ITALIAN ROMANCE.

Story of the Loves of Lucia di Calviano and Guisseppe Bolani.

A Nobleman's Child Who Preferred Poverty and Her Bolani to Luxury Without Him—The Count Forgives His Daughter, but Not Her Husband, Whom He Tries to Have Arrested Without Success—The Unfortunate Youth Vows Murder and Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Count Laro le Calviano, who has immense estates near Naples, appeared in the Williamsburg police court at noon and demanded the arrest of Giusseppe Bolani, for running away with his daughter. His wife fled two years ago, leaving him with two children, a daughter of 16 and a son of 14 years. When in Naples on a visit the girl became infatuated with Bolani, who was an assistant in a jewelry store.

The Count took her to Paris to break off the entanglement, and forbade any communication. He discovered that they were corresponding secretly, and threatened to send the girl to a convent unless she promised never to see Bolani again and to return unopened any letters he might send to her. The girl promised, and for a couple of months kept her promise.

When the Count returned from a business trip to Marseilles in August of last year his daughter had disappeared. Her departure was coincident with the disappearance of Bolani from his place of business, and left no room for doubt that they had gone together.

Detectives traced the couple to Rouen, where they were married, and then to Paris, where all trace of them was lost. The Count returned to his home and mourned his daughter as dead. His son, a cadet in the Italian navy, was forbidden to mention again the name of his sister Lucia, whose name was solemnly blotted from the family record.

On August 28 last, a little more than a year since he last saw his daughter, the Count learned that she was living in poverty in Brooklyn. A detective found her in Williamsburg, in great poverty. Bolani had failed to obtain regular employment, and the couple had lived miserably on the little money he make doing odd jobs for different manufacturing jewelers. The news of his daughter's unhappiness erased all anger against his daughter from his heart, and the visit to the police court was made to secure her release from her husband.

When the Count was told that it was no crime for a workman to wed a rich man's daughter, he became furious. Bolani, when he found his wife gone, at first threatened to kill himself, but on second thought, concluded to kill Count Calviano, as the author of his unhappiness.

THE TURNER FAILURE.

All Banks Which the Firm Owed Secured Against Loss.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—The suspended firm of A. B. Turner & Co. announce that matters are more complicated than they expected, and that they are not yet able to make any statement of liabilities or what course will probably be taken in relation to the settlement of affairs. They say that only about $20,000 is due to members of the Stock Exchange.

The firm's transactions were, it is said, largely on Stock Exchange business, and the indebtedness is principally to banks. The banks are all secured. While the gross indebtedness may be apparently quite large, the liabilities against which there are not offsetting assets are very light.

Other Nations Favored, Too.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—By royal decree, communicated to the Governor-General of Cuba, by the Colonial Minister at Madrid, the privileges granted to the United States by the last reciprocal commercial arrangement between the United States and Spain shall be also granted to all nations which in their treaties with Spain have the clause of most favored nation, as long as said treaties are in operation. All, excepting the treaty with Sweden, will terminate in February, 1892. The treaty with Sweden will expire in June in the same year. After July 1, 1892, the United States only will enjoy the privileges of the arrangement.

Crushed Two to Death.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 3.—Of the four laborers who were caught between a freight car and the side of a mine chute, at Tyrone, and crushed, Steve Packrun is dead and Urick Saggs is dying. The others have a chance for recovery.

For Closer Communication.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—The Massachusetts Board of Mangers for the World's Fair have decided to send one of their members to Chicago with a view of placing the State Board in closer communication with the National Board

SAY HE WAS MURDERED.

Lawyer Monaghan's Friends Deny that He was Addicted to Sprees.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The friends of Robert James Monaghan, the wealthy Philadelphia lawyer, who disappeared so mysteriously from the Gilsey House last Thursday, and of whom nothing has since been heard, insist that Inspector Byrnes's theory that he is voluntarily hiding himself, is not true. They declare that Mr. Monaghan was not addicted to sprees, and that he must have met with foul play.

Mr. Monaghan's partners in Philadelphia say that his accounts are all straight, and that his domestic relations were unusually pleasant. He was rich and lived in elegant style at West Chester, Philadelphia's splendid suburb, with a charming wife and three children.

Mr. Monaghan was a leading Democrat, president of the Democratic organization in Chester County, and was Gov. Pattison's companion in his last stumping tour of the State. Telegrams of inquiry have come by the score to the Gilsey House from prominent Pennsylvanians, and the police are scored by his friends for their apathy and laxity in searching for the missing man.

Lawyer Monaghan's friends deny that he was seen in Philadelphia last Friday. His uncle, R. E. Monaghan, was mistaken for him.

CARL GETS HIS LENA.

Two Lovers, Unfortunately Separated, Happily Reunited.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—By the departure of Lena Dohbert, a pretty Saxon girl, for Milwaukee, Wis., through aid furnished by a charitable person in this city, a romantic story is nearly brought to its conclusion. When she arrives there she will be married to Carl Van Hoff, her old schoolmate.

Carl and Lena are natives of the little village of Rixford, Saxony. Carl left there six months ago to come to this country, and Lena started for here on the Dubbledam, which steamer had to put into Plymouth after an encounter with a cyclone.

Lena remained with the vessel and arrived in New York September 23.

As she had no money she was detained to be sent back if no one came to her relief. In this emergency she thought of her old playmate, Carl Van Hoff, who, she said, would take care of her.

Carl, who was in Milwaukee, was communicated with and expressed his willingness to marry the girl if he could do so by proxy, or if she was sent on to Milwaukee, as he was too poor to pay for the journey.

The Immigration Commissioners would not consent to this, and were on the point of sending Lena back to Germany, when a kind-hearted person interfered with the result stated.

Irish National League.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The following officers were elected at the convention of the Irish National League: M. V. Gannon of Nebraska president, Patrick Boyle of Toronto, Ont., first vice-president; M. D. Gallagher, New York city, second vice-president; E. J. O'Connor of Augusta, Ga., third vice-president, and William Myman, of New York city, treasurer. Secretary Sutton, of Lincoln, was reappointed. The new constitution of the League is, in the main, a repetition of the other one, except that it cuts aloof from the home party, and makes the League a distinctively American affair, without responsibility to the Parliamentary party.

Tired of Its Bargain.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 3.—The extensive beer brewing plant formerly known as the Bauernschmids and Marr Brewing Company of this city, which was sold to an English syndicate in August, 1889, has been offered back by the syndicate to the original owners at a sum very considerably less than was paid for it, $200,000 in cash, $200,000 in debenture mortgage bonds and $200,000 preferred shares. The great brewery has been offered to the former Baltimore owners, it is said now, for $125,000 cash.

Two Killed by a Locomotive.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 3.—At noon Isaac Randall, of Syracuse, and Isaac Randall, jr., of Manlius Centre, were instantly killed at a crossing on the Syracuse, Ontario & New York Railroad, about a mile north of Fayetteville. The Randalls were crossing the tracks on a lumber wagon loaded with potatoes. The bodies of the two men were found on the cowcatcher of the engine. Both were dead, having expired almost instantly after being struck.

The Order Rescinded.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The chorus of indignation caused among bankers and brokers by the Treasury order for the Custom House to require importations of specie to be accompanied by Consular invoices and the specie inspected by custom officers before being delivered to the importers had its effect in the prompt rescinding or suspension of the order.

Governor's Lot Not a Happy One.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 3.—Governor and Mrs. Steele, Major Weigil and Special Agent Horn have arrived at Chandler after a hard and adventurous trip. The Governor lived much of the time in a deserted wigwam and had to be his own cook. He is besieged by office-seekers, but no appointments have yet been made.

Pennsylvania Board of Pardons.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—The Board of Pardons has recommended a commutation of the death sentence of Alexander Killen, of Allegheny County, to imprisonment for life. John McManus, of Philadelphia, under sentence of death, is granted a brief respite. The application of Harriet Barrow, of Philadelphia, under sentence of death, was refused.

None Fatally Hurt.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 3.—By the collision of two trains on the Reading Railroad, near Temhicken, in the morning, Engineer Thomas Eulert, Fireman J. E. Brosius and Conductor Griswold were injured, none of them fatally.

SHE WAS TORTURED

A Woman Maltreated in an Insane Asylum.

KNOCKED DOWN AND KICKED.

Inhuman Treatment of Mrs. Stevens in the Danvers Institution.

Her Shoulder Dislocated by One of the Attendants, and Her Body Covered With Bruises—While Ill, Plunged Into a Bath, and Kept There an Inordinate Length of Time—The Poorest Food Given Her—Awful Abuse—Her Health Shattered.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 3.—The people of this city are agitated over the cruelty said to have been inflicted on Mrs. Eunice B. Stevens in the Danvers Insane Asylum, a State institution.

Mrs. Stevens says she went to the asylum suffering with nervous prostration and with the distinct understanding that she was to be placed in a quarter of the institution remote from the insane patients.

She says that she was stripped of her own clothing almost as soon as she entered, and was given State dress and sent to a cell five by nine in size, where she was given a plate of beans for supper, which she ate with her fingers, not being allowed a knife or fork.

She remained in that ward for three days and was then removed to another, a raving maniac ward, where there were thirty-seven lunatics. She says:

"The treatment was inhuman. For a sheet a rubber blanket, three-quarters of an inch thick, was provided. The food was the cheapest and coarsest the market afforded, and the abuse was awful. One day in the midst of my sickness, in spite of my condition, I was plunged into a bath and kept there longer than usual, and scrubbed so that when I was finally thrown back upon my bed, I was too weak to move. I have never been a well woman since.

"My shoulder to-day is out of joint, pulled out by Mrs. Goodspeed, the attendant; and in three places my backbone is crooked from her inhuman treatment. I was struck, kicked and knocked down by her, when she was in the slightest degree vexed, and my body was covered with bruises."

Other charges of a like nature are made by Mrs. Stevens, whose release was secured a few days ago by a Lawrence lady.

An investigation is demanded.

HE KNEW NAPOLEON.

Septuagenarians Bear the Body of Centenarian Brandenstein to the Grave.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—At the funeral of Isaac Brandenstein, four pall bearers, each over 70 years of age, carried the coffin containing the body of a man more than old enough to be the father of them all. Mr. Brandenstein was 101 years of age.

The old men who bore the casket were strong and well and their countenances bore little evidence of the ravages of time. Their friends, indeed, would not be surprised if they, too, should attain the agvanced age of their departed friend.

There were some other features peculiar to the faith of the dead man that rendered the obsequies rather out of the ordinary.

Mr. Brandenstein was born, November 29, 1790, in Grebenstein, Hesse-Cassel, Germany, 100 years, 10 months and a day prior to the time of his death. He had many times given an interesting description of Napoleon Bonsparte, whom he saw on his return from the disastrous invasion of Russia. His wife died seven years ago in her 96th year. He married her in Germany.

The centenarian came to this country 60 years ago. In 25 years he had accumulated a fortune in the dry goods business.

The old man never used a cane or required assistance in going up or down stairs. Until he was stricken with sickness, two weeks ago, he was as hale and hearty as the men who bore him to his grave.

Mr. Brandenstein was a living contradiction to the belief that smoking and longevity are incompatible. Rarely was he seen without a cigar in his mouth. Ten a day was his average, and occasionally he used a pipe. He was an enthusiastic card player and a devout Hebrew. In disposition he was always kind and

THREW THE APPLES AWAY.

Two Prohibition Fanatics Destroy the Crop of a Large Orchard.

CHESTER, Conn., Oct. 3.—Preacher Hall and his two sons aided Deacon Hungerford and his hired man to destroy the biggest and finest crop of apples ever grown in Deacon Hungerford's orchard.

Preacher Hall, his sons, and the deacon are ardent temperance men, and when the Lord blessed the latter with more apples than he could eat he was in sore straits. He did not want to turn them into cider, for that was the bane of the farmer's life, especially after it had grown "hard."

He consulted with his pastor, and suggested giving the fruit away, but Preacher Hall disclaimed against that, lest some one else might make cider of them. It was finally decided to throw away the whole crop, so the four men, with the help of the hired man, who silently protested against the work, stripped the orchard and dumped every apple into the village mill pond.

The water was covered with them and when the miller opened the gate to his water wheel, the next day, the apples filled the flume, rattled into the wheel pit, and were ground up, making the water foamy with indignation at this waste of excellent fruit.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Annie Louise Tanner is coming.

—Borough magistrate Crosley collected $32 in fines in September.

—In the lens competition of the Camera club the time has been extended to Nov. 1.

—Mrs. J. C. Ellis will begin her gospel services this evening in the W. C. T. U. rooms, at 7:45.

—Oct. 6 has been set by Mrs. Adams for her fall opening of imported patterns in hats, toques and bonnets, at 5 East Front street.

—On account of a series of meetings arranged for next week with Mrs. Ellis, the opening of the Kitchen Garden will be postponed till Oct. 12.

—Rogers Bros., shoe dealers, are unfortunately compelled to close their store, through adversity, and a constable's sale is advertised for Thursday, Oct. 8.

—The Unitarians broke ground for their new church on Park avenue yesterday. The building will be of stone. O. S. Teale is the architect, and I. W. Pangborn has the contract.

—The communication from North Plainfield Democrats published in last night's PRESS has been referred to the committee on laws and ordinances of the Borough Council.

—"Nox em all" is the name of a first-class shoe for fall and winter wear. Alex. Willett, of No. 7 Park avenue, is selling them at a close figure. He also has a full line of other first-class goods.

—The Borough Council met promptly at 8 last night, and were through at 9. All were present except Mr. Hegeman. After the business of the evening was transacted adjournment was had to Oct. 9.

—The executive committee of the Union county Sunday-school association met at Elizabeth last evening to make arrangements for the convention, to be held in Plainfield, Thursday, November 5, morning, afternoon and evening.

—Those who have been looking for the shoe store of B. R. Force will find it at 14 Park avenue; and those who have not been looking for it have but to patronize it once, learn the quality of its goods and the reasonableness of its prices, and they will never trade elsewhere.

—Borough Councilman Buckle reports that the macadamizing of Green Brook road cost $1,872 64. The repairing of Somerset street cost $688.50. For cleaning and repairing other streets $ 47.94 was expended last month. The expense of grading and macadamizing Grandview avenue was $1,216.34.

—A young woman of the borough gave an exhibition of tree climbing in a small orchard at the corner of Grove street and Mercer avenue yesterday. While reaching for a large and juicy apple she slipped, and in an instant was hanging by her skirts in a very indecorous fashion. When rescued she blushed violently.

—Educational classes will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. rooms as follows: Short-hand, to be taught by J. A. Robinson, Friday, Oct. 9, at 8 p. m. Book-keeping, to be taught by Garret Q. Packer, Oct. 12, at 8 p. m. Mechanical drawing, to be taught by Messrs. A. J. Gavett, civil engineer, and Frank Leland of the Pond Machine Tool Works.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George Mehl and Miss Carrie Mehl have gone to Atlantic City and Philadelphia for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Cadmus have returned from Mt. Tabor, where they have been spending a month.

George Mehl, jr., of West Second street, is visiting friends in Philadelphia. It is rumored that before his return he will become a benedict.

The many friends of Foster Milliken in North Plainfield, as well as in the city, will be gratified to learn of his entire recovery from his recent severe illness. He, with Mrs. Milliken, left Minnewaska yesterday, and will go on to Ashville for a stay of five or six weeks, to make his recovery complete.

Mr. and Mrs. E. LeClere Vogt, who have been enjoying a carriage trip through New Jersey, spent a portion of yesterday and to-day in Plainfield, and this morning Mr. Vogt made a pleasant visit to the office of THE PRESS. He and his brother Louis are the owners and editors of The True Democratic Banner of Morristown, one of the most flourishing weeklies of the State. Mr. and Mrs. Vogt are of course greatly pleased with Plainfield.

FIRE HYDRANTS IN THE BOROUGH.

The Difficulties Between Council and Company Not Yet Adjusted.

North Plainfield has not yet settled its fire-hydrant question. At last night's meeting of the Borough Council, counselor Charles A. Reed reported that for very good reasons the proposed contract had not been drawn as directed.

The proposition of the Water Supply Company—he said—was to furnish water for fire protection at $15 per hydrant, provided 10 hydrants to each mile were taken, for a term of 10 years. The contract authorized by the council was to be for only 4 hydrants to the mile, with the right to add more hydrants as soon as there were funds to pay for them and as necessity arose. To such a contract the company refused to agree. President Bergen said that the company could not afford such a low figure as $15, unless at least 10 hydrants to the mile were taken. $15 was an exceedingly low rate. No other water company in the United States would offer such a price. In other places it ranged from $28 to $85, with one or two exceptions at $25. Morristown paid $50 per hydrant; Orange $65; Somerville $28. The average was about $30.

The company would agree to furnish fewer hydrants to the mile, but would increase the rate. They thought they ought to get about $1,000 a year from the borough for fire protection.

Councilman Buckle said that as he understood it the company were willing to execute a contract by which the borough should take 10 hydrants to the mile from the start, but the terms of which should arrange that no payment should be exacted except for 4 to the mile till July 1, 1893.

Counselor Reed said that such was the case.

Mr. Buckle insisted that there was no cheaper way of getting efficient fire protection. The borough had to be protected, and if such a contract as the one proposed were adopted appropriations to meet the expense could be arranged for. The trouble this year was that the appropriation was nowhere near large enough to pay for 10 hydrants to the mile.

Councilman Sebring urged that competition was the one thing needed. Atlantic City—he said—gets its water free. That's because two rival companies exist there.

Councilman Needham inquired if as the company kept on laying pipe the council were to be compelled to take 10 hydrants for each additional mile beyond the seven already proposed.

Mr. Buckle held that the line would not be run through vacant lots just for the sake of trying to squeeze a little more money out of the borough. The seven miles planned for covered the settled district thoroughly.

So far as Atlantic City is concerned—Mr. Buckle continued—Nature provides generously for her. There's water all around, and often flooding the city over. So fire protection water could n't help be free.

Mr. Sebring wanted the mains extended to "Bull Frog City". There—he said—is where we have most of our fires.

Mr. Buckle admitted that that delectable region needed all the fire protection the borough could give it, but held that as it was a very sparsely district its people could not expect so good a service as the built-up blocks. He said that some men thought that because they paid a few dollars taxes they ought to get all improvements in the outskirts of a place.

The whole matter was referred back to the special water committee for further consideration.

A Plainfield Lawyer's Busy Day.

Lawyer Wm. A. Coddington had three important law cases on his hands yesterday, and did remarkably well with all of them. One was the case of Mrs. Bird against the Postal Telegraph Company, which resulted in disagreement, and which is to be tried over again. Another was the case of Young Burke of Bound Brook, who was clearly guilty of assaulting a justice of the peace, but whom Mr. Coddington got off with a fine of $10, when Burke and all his friends expected that he would surely go to prison for an extended term. The third case was that of Reedy, who was charged with having assaulted a Bound Brook marshal while the officer was trying to make an arrest. The borough and prosecution made a stubborn fight against Reedy, but Mr. Coddington surprised everybody by securing his acquittal. Now Reedy will sue Bound Brook borough for damages, for false imprisonment, and for getting shot in the knee by the marshal without cause.

Avert the End.

This dear old much-abused world of ours is again advertised to come to an end, the climax to take effect in November. An antidote to this result can be secured at Collier's, 3 Park avenue, where watches are to be had guaranteed to keep time, all announcements of its termination to the contrary notwithstanding.

New Plainfield's Absent Firemen May Return.

The Atlantic City firemen's tournament closed yesterday with one of the grandest parades ever witnessed in New Jersey. The parade moved with forty-five companies in full uniform in line, bestdes a large number of visiting delegations. The parade was over three-quarters of an hour passing a given point.

A "RECORD" OF MISINFORMATION.

The Summit Paper Again Displays Its Lack of Enlightenment.

A copy of the Summit Record—which seems to have developed lately into merely a record of rumor and misinformation—reaches THE PRESS with an article marked, from which is republished the following extract in relation to the recent examination before Justice Nash of the complaint of Miller, the Elkwood saloon keeper, against THE PRESS:

THE PRESS has announced that the charges upon which it was recently arraigned were unworthy of belief because the Prosecutor had written to the Justice of the Peace directing him to dismiss the complaint. Taking his cue from this announcement, the editor of the news indulged in a lengthy harangue against the Prosecutor because of his alleged favoritism to the defendant in that case.

As a matter of fact, this charge has had not the slightest foundation, when the complaints against the editors of THE PRESS were first made, the defendants waived examination and were held to await the action of the Grand Jury, the papers in the case being filed with Prosecutor Marsh in the regular order of business. Subsequently these defendants determined that they would have a hearing before their local Justice, and they induced the committing magistrate, Justice V. W. Nash, to apply to the Prosecutor for a return of the papers in the case. This was done, and at the same time Justice Nash requested the Prosecutor to appear at the hearing to aid him in disposing of the case.

The following was the reply to this request:

ELIZABETH, N. J., August 24, 1891.

Vincent W. Nash, Esq., Plainfield, N. J.

MY DEAR SIR:—Replying to yours of August 22, I beg leave to inform you that in my opinion there was no objection to your granting an examination in the case of Force and Demarest. I am just starting on my vacation, and it will be uncertain for several weeks as to when I could attend. I cannot see why my presence is needed in so simple a case as this.

Very respectfully yours,
FREDERICK C. MARSH.

This letter was the only expression of the opinion of the Prosecutor on the case, yet an effort has been made to charge that he had recommended a dismissal of the complaint.

The above is more or less well enough so far as it goes, except the opening sentence. That is false! THE PRESS never announced that the Prosecutor had written to the Justice of the Peace directing him to dismiss the complaint. What THE PRESS said was:

Although there was not a particle of evidence offered that the article was malicious, and not a particle of evidence that it damaged Miller, and not a particle of evidence that even if true it was a libel, yet Justice Nash decided to send the papers back to the Prosecutor, who had already given Mr. Nash his written opinion that it was a "simple case" that the Justice could settle himself.

Another reference to the letter of the Prosecutor to the Justice given above, must convince even the stolid Record that THE PRESS said nothing but the truth. According to the Record's copy of the Prosecutor's letter, the latter wrote: "I cannot see why my presence is needed in so simple a case as this." And according to the file of THE PRESS, it merely said "The Prosecutor had already given Mr. Nash his written opinion that it was a 'simple case'."

Harvest Home Song Service.

In the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow evening, there will be a special service of song and Scripture appropriate to the season. From THE PRESS of last Monday is republished the following in relation to the soloist of the evening:

"More than fifty years ago one of the Colts, of revolver fame, presented to the society now known as the First Presbyterian church, in Paterson, a plot of ground which at the present day is in the centre of the city, making this church the richest, as it is the largest, in that thriving manufacturing place. About eighteen years ago the Rev. Dr. Hornblower was the pastor; he was succeeded by the Rev. Dr. McGee; both names are well known in the history of New Jersey. While Dr. Hornblower was pastor, there came to that church, as chief soprano, Mrs. John S. Tyler, then a mere girl-wife, but with a voice of such rare sweetness and endurance that she has held first place all these years." She will sing two solos in the following programme, to-morrow evening:

Lawyer Coddington Saves Reedy.

The argument in the case, reported exclusively in THE PRESS, Thursday, of the State against Reedy, was made yesterday morning at Somerville. The defendant's counsel, William A. Coddington of this city, pleaded with the jury, that they should take the weight of evidence on the part of the defense as the truth. His appeal was such that many in the court room shed tears. Reedy's sister was in court, and as the prisoner was placed in the dock she stepped to the rail and kissed him.

The case was given to the jury at 11 o'clock, and three hours later they returned a verdict of not guilty. A large number of Reedy's friends were present. When the verdict was given they showed their appreciation by hand clapping. It was however, quickly hushed.

The Republican League to Get to Work.

A meeting of the Union County Republican League has been called for Thursday evening, Oct. 8, at the office of Hon. Foster M. Voorhees, First National Bank building, Elizabeth.

The meeting is to elect delegates to the convention of Republican clubs to be held at Trenton, Oct. 15, and to transact any other business that may properly come up.

The leaders hope that the members of the League will turn out in full force, and not only renew the old and pleasant associations of the successful campaigns of '87 and '88, but make some arrangements for effective organization for the campaign of '91 and '92.

—The annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief association will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, Tuesday morning, Oct. 6, at ten o'clock.

—The sale of the Jones property at East Seventh street and Park avenue, to Dr. G. W. Endicott, was made by that enterprising real estate dealer, ex-Councilman Dunham.

—The Endeavor society of the Congregational church wish to start the church exchange table anew, and members of the congregation are requested to furnish such papers and magazines as they are willing that others should read.

—The West Front street block from Central avenue to New street has been greatly improved by the owners, Messrs. L. L. Manning, Jos. S. Cutter and John Abbott. The sidewalk has been lowered, the street curbed, the fences taken down, and the lawns in front of the houses have been terraced. The improvement has been so great that one would hardly recognize the locality. The property-owners deserve credit for their enterprise.

TO CHASE BAD DEBTORS.

Plainfield Merchants Organize to Protect Themselves Against Dishonesty.

At a meeting held in the Republican headquarters, last night, a local branch of the Merchants' Retail Commercial Agency, whose office is in Philadelphia, was organized, by 39 of the retail business men of this city. The following were chosen as officers:

President—Geo. W. Rockfellow.
Vice-president—A. M. Griffen.
Secretary—J. A. Smith.
Treasurer—L. B. Woolston.
Executive Board—A. D. Cook, F. W. Dunn, G. Q. Packer, J. W. Van Sickle, E. M. French.

This agency uses no dishonorable means to force collections or settlements, but the merchants purpose to exercise their legal right to refuse credit to a person who gains the reputation of not treating a member of the agency honorably.

There is no law compelling merchants to sell their goods on credit. There is no law forbidding merchants refusing credit to any person they see fit, and when a merchant sells his goods on credit it is as an accommodation to the consumer, and if such consumer has no appreciation of the favor extended and wilfully neglects to make a reasonable and honorable adjustment of his indebtedness, then he should be compelled to pay as he buys. It is better for him and much more profitable for the merchant. Many a poor worthy man has been refused credit for the necessaries of life because of the merchant's unpleasant experience with bad debtors, but this system will tend to obviate all that, because the man who does respect his credit will be known and have a standing among merchants, while the "dead beat" and others of his kind will also be known to the members of this agency and be absolutely refused credit; no matter if he moves to another town or State his reputation as poor pay will follow him, and the merchants in such new place of residence will also refuse him credit. This agency issues a regular and legal abstract of unsettled accounts. Each member agrees to forfeit twenty dollars to his branch as a penalty in case he extends credit to a person whose unsettled account appears in the abstract, and no account can appear therein until the debtor has had a full and fair opportunity to go to the merchant he owes and in some way arrange such indebtedness. The man who can pay and won't pay and the man who cannot pay but will not go to the merchant and state his condition and make effort to arrange, is the person this agency is after.

This agency does not interfere with the credit of men who deal honorably, no matter if they are slow; neither does it in any way regulate prices. Its sole object is to compel men to be honest with merchants or to pay spot cash for goods purchased. Something of this kind has been needed for a long time, and this system will work. "In combination there is strength." The members have the success or failure of this system in their own hands. Wherever merchants have properly combined, the system has proved a great success. The United States is being carefully covered by this agency, and the merchants in all small towns are visited and solicited to join the county branch.

Notes from the Pond Works.

Our worthy general foreman, Charles Foster, disappeared Friday afternoon. Rumor says that he has gone to the Watervliet arsenal at Troy, N. Y., for a day or two.

Thursday evening a hook attached to one of the cranes broke in two, letting fall one of the sections belonging to a Government lathe. The section weighed 17,000 pounds (8½ tons). I hear that Mr. Foster was under it taking a measurement about a minute before it fell.

The Pond Mutal Aid Society has put out a notice of a 50-cent assessment extra for sick benefits. They must have quite a number of sick members on hand.

A. J. Warner, machine foreman at the Union Signal Switch company's works at Pittsburg, Pa., was in town and passed a pleasant time with his brother-in-law, Daniel Miller, of 245 West Third street I believe they took a trip to New York. Eh, Dan?

An agent of an accident insurance company was at the works Friday afternoon taking depositions from the workmen who witnessed the Anderson accident.

Amos Andrews of Grant avenue, whose place of business is at Netherwood, has purchased a horse and buggy to take him to and from his daily toil. What next, Amos?

LATHE HAND.

Junior Endeavorers Elect.

At the meeting of the Junior Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church, held Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the next six months:

President—Charles Dolliver.
First Vice-president—John H. Van Winkle, jr.
Second Vice-president—Sadie Holmes.
Recording Secretary—Elmer Wheeler.
Corresponding Secretary—Olive Wikoff.
Treasurer—Theodore Hazell.

The standing committees were appointed, and the work of the society was resumed with every promise of a successful year.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

The Light That Never Failed.

The illumination by which the Plainfield commuters read their New York York evening papers while journeying on the Jersey Central cars from the metropolis to their homes, is quite fully described in "The History and Commerce of New York"; and as a matter of interest to Plainfield people THE PRESS reproduces it herewith:

The question of the efficient and economical lighting of passenger cars is one which has occupied the attention of railway managers for many years, and much inventive ingenuity has been exercised in attempting its solution. The many difficulties attending the use of other systems of lighting led the inventor of the Pintsch system to the investigation of oil-gas as an illuminant and to the perfection of of the system which bears his name. This system is now being successfully introduced by the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, with headquarters at No. 160 Broadway. This company was incorporated in 1885 with a capital stock of $1,000,000, and is officered as follows: Arthur W. Soper, president; Robbert Andrews, vice-president; B. R. Stillman, secretary; W. R. Thomas, treasurer; Robert M. Dixon, engineer. The furnishing of a sufficient and practical light in a car, such as will render reading and other occupations a pleasure, are met by this system and are well borne out by the conditions of its present use. The principal elements in the application of the Pintsch system to a passenger car are the receiver, the filling valves through which gas is supplied to the receiver, the gauge for indicating the amount of gas in the receiver, the regulator for maintaining a constant low pressure on the pipes leading to the lamps and the lamps. The receivers, which are made of various lengths, according to demands of service and construction of cars, embody in their construction the maximum of volume for a given length, and minimum of weight consistent with required strength. The filling valves are carefully designed for their purpose. The connection for hose is a quick-acting ground joint. The valve stem is arranged for opening by a special key to prevent unauthorized or malicious waste of gas. The valve is enclosed in a close-fitting and ingenious cover, which is a great protection to it. The subject of economical combustion of gas and efficient distribution of the light is fully as important as any other in connection with car illumination. This feature of lighting is equally as important as proper regulation. Both are necessities, and this system can justly claim the most perfect car lamp ever yet used or devised. From two to six flames may be used in the lamps, and they burn with a perfectly steady, uniform light. The light is in no way experimental, but economical and safe beyond the suspicion of danger. It is of high illuminating power, and is not affected by extremes of temperature. The recent introduction of this thoroughly practical system of lighting upon many important railway lines, and its application on an elaborate scale to a large number of palace, sleeping and drawing-room cars, is an evidence of the high appreciation in which it is held. It is rapidly taking the place of inflammable oil, and relegating the dim light, the smoky chimneys and the disagreeable odor of the lamp, into the past. The high illuminating power of the gas and the efficient apparatus for its use are unequaled. The system is also applicable to the lighting of ferry boats, streets, railway cars, and as a coast and channel light. The following railway companies and both the great palace car companies are using Pintsch gas for car illumination: the New York Central & Hudson River, the N. Y., L. E. & Western, the N. Y., Providence & Boston, the N. Y. & New England, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Chicago & Atlantic, the West Shore, Baltimore & Ohio, Philadelphia & Reading, the N. Y., N. H. & Hartford, the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, the Rio Grande Western, the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg, the Boston & Albany, the Old Colony, the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago, the Wabash, the Central Railroad of Georgia, the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia, the Denver and Rio Grande, and others. Arrangements are being completed whereby during the present year Pintsch gas will be in use upon railways representing an aggregate of over 40,000 miles in this country. In Europe and in the United States over 38,000 cars are now equipped for and are using Pintsch gas. The latest and by far the most successful method yet adopted for heating railroad cars is devised and presented by this company. The experience of this company has demonstrated the efficiency and economy of the systems of car heating by steam which are now offered in improved form and with perfect details. In the work of this company safety is made the first consideration. As the result of years of practical application on trains on various railroads and careful experiments in their laboratory, this company offer their system of application of steam heating known as the Standard system by hot water circulation, in connection with the Baker or any other similar heater. This system comprises circulating pipes within the car, which are filled with water, and two or more heaters in operative contact with these circulating pipes which can be used simultaneously or separately for imparting heat to the water in the pipes, steam from the locomotive being the primary source of heat, and the Baker or any other similar heater within the car, the auxiliary, when the primary heater is not in use. The heat obtained is abundant, pleasant, easily regulated, and absolutely safe. The circulation is rapid, requiring but one-eighth to one-seventh the time required by the Baker heater completely to heat the radiating pipes. The advantages of this system are many. It is efficient and can warm a car in any weather, because it will give a higher temperature to the water circulating pipes than the Baker heater, and will heat them a great deal quicker. It is simple, as there is but one steam valve and a simple trap. No adjustment of pipes or valves is required. Whatever steam may be allowed to pass, the steam valve gives its heat to the water, which distributes it evenly throughout the car. Salt water is used in the circulating pipes, therefore the danger of freezing is avoided. The officers of this company are well-known New Yorkers and are to be congratulated on the success of this important undertaking.

A Verdict for Neither.

The suit of Mrs. Janet Bird against the New Jersey Postal Telegraph Company was tried before justice Nodyne yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Bird, who lives in the mountains, sold to W. S. Sliter, when he was local manager for the company, a large number of trees for poles. Sliter arranged to pay her from 50 to 60 cents apiece for the poles. The company paid Sliter $1.50 apiece, but he never paid Mrs. Bird. Hence her suit. The company's defense was that the debt was Sliter's, not theirs. He had contracted to build the line, and was not acting as their agent in the matter. W. A. Coddington appeared for Mrs. Bird, and Craig A. Marsh for the company. The jury went out shortly after 8, and at 10:45 stood 6 to 6 and were discharged disagreeing.

Notes of Things Theatrical.

[FROM THE PRESS'S OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Plainfield is now quoted in theatrical circle here as already one of the best one-night stands in the country under Music Hall's new management.

A rumor is afloat to the effect that "Senator" Billy Crane has just won $100,000 in stock speculation. Crane himself does not deny it, but says he will never stop acting even if he should win a million. His play "The Senator", will be in Plainfield the evening of the 16th inst.

Just think of it! Marie Jansen is to be married, in the spring! The happy man is a son of the famous Dublin brewer, Bass, and has lots of the needful. Marie ingenuously refuses to say anything about it, either in confirmation or denial, as she fears it will deprive her of many pleasant attentions during the few remaining months of her liberty.

Some thirty companies went to eternal smash on the road last week, a fact which tells its own pathetic story.

After skirmishing about for a couple of weeks, Henry E. Abbey was finally compelled to engage the Standard for Sara Bernhardt, beginning Nov. 2.

There is trouble ahead for "Miss Helyett". Audran, the composer, and Wyndham, who sold the American rights to Charles Frohman, both object strenuously to Mrs. Leslie Carter playing the leading role. They say she is not at all suited to the part, and they won't have her anyway. On the other hand, Belasco, who is preparing the production, and, I understand, supplying the necessary funds, says that Mrs. Carter shall play the part because—well, because he wants her. And there you are. Wyndham cabled Sunday that he was coming over here shortly to fight the matter in the courts.

Another controversy which has developed curious facts is that now being waged between Oscar Hammerstein and Rudolph Aronson over the rights to "Cavalliera Rusticana". Hammerstein went to court and applied for an injunction on the ground that he had bought the American rights from the composer for $3,500. Aronson then proved that the original score which Hammerstein claimed to have bought was lying in the express office with C. O. D. charges of $3,500 on it still unpaid. Hammerstein explained that he was waiting for a favorable decision from the courts before paying these charges and claiming his score. The wily manager was severely reprimanded and narrowly escaped being fined for contempt. His case will probably be thrown out of court.

Charles Frohman got John Drew away from Augustin Daly, and now Daly is trying to get Henry Dixey away from Frohman. He will probably succeed, as Frohman has been very much disappointed in in Dixey as a light comedy star. In short, Dixey has demonstrated pretty emphatically that his particular forte is burlesque and not comedy.

Richard Mansfield will conclude his long and eventful run at the Garden Theatre next week with an exposition of his entire repertoire, presenting a different play nightly.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Brief notices will be inserted under this head free of expense, but must be delivered at this office not later than 11 o'clock Saturday morning to insure publication.

The usual services will be held at the Mt. Pleasant school-house to-morrow evening.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3.—The grand jury now in session has recently taken up the Sunday closing question and has written the police commissioners to see that the law is obeyed. In accordance with this communication the police have been ordered to enforce the law.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

There is a prospect that Jersey City will have night schools for the first time in several years.

William Healey, of Newark, yesterday recovered a verdict of $1,500 against Seabury & Johnson of that city, for the loss of a hand.

The closing day of the Interstate Fair at Trenton drew an attendance of over 10,000 people yesterday. The fair had in all 93,378 visitors.

The club house of the Crescent Canoe Club, at the foot of Danforth avenue, Jersey City, was destroyed by fire Friday. The loss is $3,000. Incendiarism is suspected.

George Wolf, the Newark convict whose wife re-married twice, believing that his imprisonment made her free and who is now living happily with her third husband, has sued for a divorce, not wishing to interfere with her. She will re-marry her present husband when Wolf's decree is granted.

All the druggists sell the Tudor Whiskey. Some of the other dealers do not. They say it pays too small a profit. PURE whiskey never does yield a large profit. It is the adulterated stuff which makes the money. Do you want to pay your dealer an exorbitant profit on an adulterated article, or do you prefer genuine old Whiskey which is sold at a moderate profit? Decide for yourselves. The TUDOR WHISKEY is WARRANTED ABSOLUTELY PURE and TEN YEARS OLD. 9 6 tf

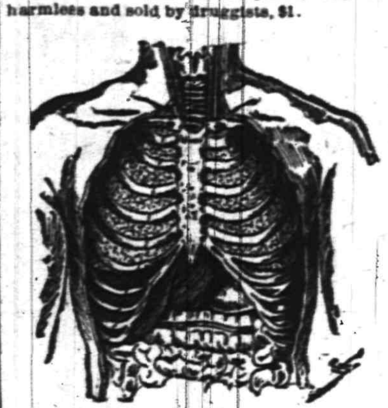
OUR LIVER.

What People Ought to Know of It.

THE LIVER.

The nerves which control our liver often become weakened, irritated, diseased. The function of the liver is disturbed, and torpid liver or disordered action result. Hence the bile, which is waste and poisonous material designed to be expelled, is not properly secreted and eliminated from the body. Thus retained it causes indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, bloating, biliousness, bad taste, headache, dizziness, dull head, nervousness, weak, languid and tired feelings. If not cured this condition leads to fatal liver and kidney diseases. The best remedy and most certain cure, is Dr. Greene's Nervura, which restores digestion, corrects the disordered liver, regulates the bowels, invigorates the blood, and, by strengthening and vitalizing the nerves, re-establishes health and strength. It is purely vegetable, harmless and sold by druggists, $1.



THE LIVER IN POSITION.

"I tried all our doctors to no purpose. My kinney, liver and stomach were terrible. I was full of pains and all run down, weak and tired. I never saw such a wonderful effect as Dr. Greene's Nervura had. It has completely cured me, and I know several other ladies who were cured in this town with Dr. Greene's Nervura.

THE WOMAN OF FASHION.

The Dress She Is Having Made for Walking or Tramping.

A Gown Worn by the Cruising Girl—How a Dress May Be Made Warm, Yet Airy in Appearance—Pretty Dresses Designed for Favorite Fall Wear.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

In these cool, delicious fall days walking, or rather tramping, is the favorite exercise.

It is necessary to have a walking costume, and one appropriate to the season. It will not do to don the mountain dress or boating suit that has seen hard service during the summer. The frock must first and foremost be suitable for what you want it—no frills, no furbelows, no material that will not bear wetting or is easily soiled.

Cheviot, serge or some light but warm wool fabric is best liked for such a dress. Russet brown, wood brown, green or blue make up prettily; checks are occasionally used, but the solid colors have a decided preference.

The skirt is plain, but fuller than the present style, is simply hemmed and just escapes the ground. A loose, plaited waist is worn with this skirt and belted in with one of those arrangements in kid, which is properly called a girdle.

A dress that is simple but decidedly jaunty withal is of homespun in red russet brown. The skirt is plain, with a deep hem around the bottom. The bodice is a yoke waist and fastened on to the skirt. There is a deep collar of fine Russian leather, the cuffs are turned back and are of the leather, as is also the belt, which is perfectly plain. A brown felt sailor hat and Russia leather tramping shoes complete a costume as pretty as it is unique.

Another gown which is like unto this, although somewhat different, is of darkest navy blue. It is made after a similar model and is supplied with a sailor collar and cuffs of white Bedford cord. In place of a girdle, the skirt is gathered upon a very heavy white cord, to which the blouse waist is also sewed. This makes a light and jaunty suit, and is one which will be a favorite with women who wish to go upon cruising tours and wish a gown which is light, comfortable and pretty withal.

Bedford cord is more popular than ever. Ribbed goods come in the handsomest materials and bid fair to rival the habit cloths. They are in all colors and in figures and stripes, as well as the plain ribbed material of last season. These figures look especially well made up in a gown that has a coat effect.

A frock with a decidedly chic air about it is of gray Bedford cord, so closely resembling corduroy that at a glance it is difficult to discover the difference. The habit skirt is perfectly plain in front, with not even a fold to mar the severe effect; while in the back it is arranged in full, soft plaits, and extends just far enough to allow for a short—a very short—train.

There is a blouse shirt-waist of pongee, made not very full and belted in by a broad silver belt; this is plain with not even a buckle for ornament. Under the collar of the blouse, knotted loosely, is a four-in-hand tie of pale blue surah. A blazer of Bedford cord completes the costume.

Another pretty fall toilet is a combination of brown and tan. The skirt and coat are of brown Bedford cord. The coat is close fitting in the back and has deep revers in front, showing a close-fitting waistcoat. The waistcoat is tan broadcloth; it extends but a short distance below the waist line, and is fastened by large brown buttons. The neck is left open a little to show a collarette and a four-in-hand tie of brown surah. The revers are tan and form the collar of the coat proper. With this gown is worn a hat of brown, coarse straw. It is trimmed with wings of coarse embroidery and loops of brown and ecru ribbon; these with a small brown bird almost cover the crown of the hat. The gloves are heavy walking ones, and are of the same shade of tan to match the dress.

If you are thinking of getting a walking dress, and intend to extend its usefulness into the early winter, get a brown or a green, and you cannot go amiss. These are the colors that are going to be worn. They come in many shades and in all kinds of materials, so you will be able to suit both your complexion and your purse. You may have your gown made of different shades of the same color, or of contrasting colors.

Green and a dull Indian-red make a pretty contrast; chestnut brown with the red also makes a good combination. Be careful in combining different colors to avoid glaring contrasts. Do not aim at striking effects. The unobtrusive gown is the swell gown, one that fits perfectly and is made to suit your particular style. Black still holds its own. Black Bedford cords are more popular than ever, and come both in plain ribs and in fancy stripes.

A gown which appears light and airy, and yet is heavy enough to be comfortable, may be made of black Bedford cord. Very deep cuffs may be fashioned of embroidery and fitted on so that they are tight to the elbow. The front of the waist may be also trimmed with embroidery. A deep ruffle of some kind of black goods—surah makes a very graceful ruffling—is fitted to the lower edge of the bodice and also around the bottom of the skirt. Festoons of the surah are used as a heading for the surah ruffling, and the skirt is trimmed with long, diagonal slashings, let in of the same surah.

Black woolen goods are made up with some bright color, either with another dress material or with jet or passementerie trimmings. Black and red, black and gilt, black with a little, a very little green—any of these harmonize well and make a decidedly pretty gown. Discretion must be brought to bear, and whatever color is combined with a black gown should be used in moderation.

A very little of a vivid red or a bright gilt goes a long way. Be a little careful; have the somberness of your black frock relieved by the bright bit of color, but do not allow it to have the appearance of a gypsy costume.

Blue is on the decline; that is, the dark shades that were worn during the summer. Porcelain blue is the new shade; this is a clear bright blue, somewhat lighter than a merino. There is a decided tendency towards the lighter shades of gray and coral. A combination of Henrietta cloth in pale coral and heavily corded with silk makes a handsome dinner dress. A pale French gray in cloth and bengaline makes a pretty house gown, and it can be worn at the theater as well. Have a Louis XV. coat with a full lace cravat and deep lace ruffles at the wrists.

Don't think because September is fast merging into October, that you must discard your straw bonnet. True, the shop windows are filled with hats of felt and bonnets of velvet, but do not be tempted.

Whatever you get now will surely have to be remodeled in November;

THE CRUISING GIRL.

even the shape of the coming hat is undecided as yet. The manufacturers are endeavoring to imitate the summer hats in felt, but it is uncertain whether they will be able to get the little flutes and angles which were produced in the straw.

So keep your old bonnet and make up your mind to wear it a month longer. Freshen it up by altering the trimming a little. If the flowers have become faded and soiled, replace them either with wings or birds; change the ribbons slightly and you have a fetching fall hat and one you know is becoming.

A bunch of poppies and wheat brighten up a brown straw rough and ready; or the same hat, with a few ribbon and velvet bows, and a brown pheasant, make a pretty symphony in browns. A dark blue chip is renovated by a bit of blue velvet and a bunch of small white tips or wings. If you have a white felt hat or one of pearl gray, even if it has seen service during the summer, bring it out and trim it with black.

If the hat is one of the large, soft felt ones, put two black birds on it; if it is small, use for your only trimming a black ribbon band, and a large jet buckle. Small bonnets are always popular. They remain with us season after season, and bid fair to be worn more than ever this autumn. Most of them are not much more than a small bunch of flowers, but they fulfill the duty which is required of them—they are comfortable and they are becoming.

Keep the Bed Dry.

It is not everybody who can make a bed well. Beds should be stripped of all belongings and left to air thoroughly. Don't, however, leave a window open directly upon the bed and linen, with a fog or rain prevailing outside. It is not uncommon to see sheets and bedding hanging out of a window with, rain perhaps, not actually falling, but with ninety per cent. of humidity in the atmosphere, and the person sleeping in that bed at night wonders the next day where he got his cold. A room may be aired in moist weather, but the bedding and bed must not absorb any dampness.

He Knew Her Way.

"To-day is my birthday," said Mrs. Gayboy, to her twenty-five year old son.

"So it is," said the young man. "You must be nearly as old as I am now; eh, mother?"—Puck.

SIX ENTOMBED ALIVE

Horrible Fate of Miners in the Richardson Colliery.

NO HOPE OF RECOVERY ALIVE.

Two More Fatally Injured and a Number of Others Seriously Hurt.

The Gangway Closed and the Men Were Shut In—Every Possible Effort Being Made to Reach the Buried Miners—They Will Likely be Overcome by Gas Before Assistance Can Reach Them—The Gangway a New Opening—Heartrending Scenes.

GLENCARBON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Great excitement in this valley was created when reports came that the Richardson mines had closed and all the miners were lost. Later word came that the west gangway of the Crosby vein had closed and that twelve men were entombed.

Rescuing parties were immediately formed and on entering the mines the body of Michael Grant was found on the gangway. He was fatally injured. Then were discovered John McGaskie, Polander, dead; Thomas Conville and James Brennan, seriously, and Martin Kelly, mine foreman, slightly injured.

These were the only bodies found before searching the inclosed gangway, inside of which six other men were entombed, with no hope of their recovery alive. Their names are: John Purcell, fire boss, married, wife and three children; John Salmon, single; John Lawler, wife and three children; James Simons, single; Michael Welsh, married, two children; John Culick, Polander, single, and Thos. Claacy, widower, with seven children. The company and the men are doing all possible for the speedy recovery of the entombed, dead or alive.

The Richardson Colliery is situated in the Hecksherville valley and is operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. The gangway in which the accident occurred is a new opening, but twelve breasts in working order at present. The accident has caused a gloom to fall over the valley, which is partly relieved by the untiring efforts of the officials and the men engaged in removing the mass of coal which lies between them and the imprisoned miners.

There is no hope of recovering the bodies alive, as the gas will overcome them long before relief can reach them.

LOSS IS LARGE.

The N. Y. Central Train Robbers Got Away With Considerable Booty.

UTICA, Oct. 5.—The American Express officials have been telling the loss which they sustained by the robbery of one of their cars near this city last week was very small. At first they placed the loss at not over $1,000 and afterwards got it down to $250.

Near the old distillery, three miles east of this city, two young men, who were out for a walk yesterday, found three large canvas bags and seven jewelry boxes, all empty. Scattered around were envelopes and wrapping paper in which the packages had been done up.

From the marks on these papers it is evident that the robbers got away with considerable booty. One was labelled "Jefferson County National Bank, Watertown, $5,000," and another "Watertown National Bank. Bonds $5,000.

Many envelopes were found on which were marks, indicating that they had contained various sums, ranging from $20 to $50. The jewelry boxes had contained diamond rings, but of their number or value no idea could be gained.

GERMANS CELEBRATING.

The 208th Anniversary of the First Arrival of German Settlers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Germans of this city yesterday celebrated the 208th anniversary of the arrival in America of the first band of German settlers, by holding a festival. The choruses of ten German singing societies took part. The orator of the day was Hon. Carl Schurz.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—To-morrow will be generally observed by the German-American citizens of the District of Columbia. Arrangements have been completed for a grand military and industrial parade which will be reviewed by President Harrison as it passes Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the Executive Mansion. In the evening orations will be delivered at the Schutzen Park, one by L. W. Haberborn in German, and another by Simon Wolf, in English. The festivities will conclude with music and a grand pyrotechnic display.

Boston Central Labor Union.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—At the meeting of the Boston Central Labor Union, a communication from the Executive Board of the United Garment Workers of America was read, stating that a conspiracy had been formed to disrupt their organization between certain large clothing manufacturers and the Knights of Labor, by forcing the members of the United Garment Workers to join the Knights of Labor. The matter will be investigated. The trouble in the Elgin and Waltham watch companies works will also be investigated, the men claiming that the recent reduction in wages is unjust.

Big Blaze in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Fire yesterday morning destroyed Elevator "A" of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company's system, at Locust Point, together with 135,000 bushels of wheat and all the machinery. The loss is estimated at about $600,000. It required the utmost efforts of the firemen to prevent the fire from spreading to surrounding property.

Marvelous Pitching by an Amateur.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—Commiskey unearthed a "phenom" yesterday in the person of Breitenstein, an amateur, whom he put in to pitch against the Louisvilles. Not a man made a base hit and 27 came to bat during the nine innings.

LAWYER MARSH LECTURING.

Says He is Going to be a Spiritualistic Preacher the Rest of His Life.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Luther R. Marsh, the well-known New York lawyer, made his first appearance as a lecturer at the Spiritual Temple, yesterday, speaking in the morning and evening. Among other things he said that he was himself the real medium of the spirit pictures and other marvellous manifestations credited to Mme. Diss Debar. She was the pivot on which the spirits worked in connection with his organism. In proof of this assertion, Mr. Marsh pointed to the fact that it was only after meeting him that Ann O'Delia obtained any remarkable manifestations of spirit power, and that she has received none since they parted, while he has continued to receive even more marvellous manifestations without her.

Mr. Marsh says he has over a thousand pages of manuscript written down by him at the dictation of the spirits of Aristotle, Cicero, Christ and the woman of Samaria, which he will shortly give to the world in a book. His spirit bride, he says, is the Queen of Heaven, and his spirit consort in earth life the Queen of Sheba, who was reincarcerated in the person of the late Adelaide Neilson, and who is constantly with him, inspiring and cheering him in his work. He believes that he is obeying the commands of his guiding spirits in taking the spiritualistic platform, and that he will, when speaking, be surrounded by a guard of his familiar spirits.

Next month he will make a tour of the Western cities, speaking in Rochester, Buffalo, Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago and St. Louis. He has been invited to lecture in New York, but has declined, desiring to avoid the comment and criticism of the metropolitan newspapers, believing that outside of New York his public appearance on the spiritualistic rostrum will be less likely to be associated with the sensationalism of the Diss Debar episode.

WAS SHE COERCED?

Charges Made by the Latest Contestant of Mrs. Searles' Will.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 5.—The latest claimant for Mrs. Searles-Hopkins' millions, Mrs. Marie E. Bresse, of Los Angeles, Cal., has filed protest against the probating of the will, and makes several sweeping charges in support of her reason for contesting the will. She claims that the will now being contested is not the last will and testament of the deceased. Also "that the said decedent was not competent to make a last will and testament, and was not at the last of sound or disposing mind and memory. That the said decedent was also duly influenced in the execution thereof and in the attempted disposition of her property thereunder by her husband, Edward F. Searles, and other persons."

No information has been received at the Probate Court of any settlement of the case by Timothy Hopkins. It is stated that Searles is more determined than ever to fight the case, and it now appears as if startling evidence might be submitted against him. The hearing stands adjourned to October 14.

A COUNTY ALL ABLAZE.

Terrible Forest Fires Producing Desolation in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—Terrible forest fires have been raging for over a week in Eldorado County, and more than 40 square miles of country have been burned over. The flames spread over Greenwood Creek County, and all the country to the west of Garden Valley, destroying many dwellings, barns, hay, and thousands of acres of dry feed. At Pilot Hill the postoffice, town hall and many residences were all burned.

At Burner Hill there is nothing left of the village but a hotel, school house and one or two scattered buildings on the outskirts of the town. All the grain on the hills in that section of the country has been destroyed, and the loss of stock will be large in consequence. Farmers and ranchers have been rendered penniless by the fire.

Killed His Wife and a Boarder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—At a late hour Saturday night John Osmonde, aged 28 years, shot and killed his wife at their home on Third avenue, and also shot and fatally wounded John P. Burchell, a boarder in the house. Osmonde was a hard drinker and had frequent quarrels with his wife. He left her five weeks ago. She had commenced proceedings for divorce. He went home and questioned his wife about the matter and to try and get her to live with him again. When she refused to talk about it he shot her dead. Then he turned around and shot Burchell. The murderer was arrested.

Newcastle Federation Denounced.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—At a meeting in Hyde Park, attended by several thousand workingmen, resolutions were passed denouncing the Liberal Federation at Newcastle for having suppressed free speech, and neglected the interests of the labor classes in order to give precedence to Irish Home Rule. It was resolved that the Federation was therefore unworthy of confidence, and that a labor league should be formed to secure the election of labor representatives to Parliament. Bernard Shane presided.

EIGHT WERE KILLED

The Boiler of a Tug Explodes With Terrible Results.

FIFTEEN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

A Family Wiped Out—Not a Vestige of the Husband Found.

A Large Crowd of Spectators Watching the Tug at Work When the Explosion Occurred—Many Wounded by Flying Timbers and Iron—Every Man on the Boat Dead or Dying.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—As a result of a boiler explosion on the tug Charles Parker last evening eight persons perished and one man is missing, two were fatally hurt and at least fifteen others were more or less seriously injured.

The Parker and three others tugs were engaged in attempting to dislodge the large propeller H. S. Pickards of Buffalo, laden with coal, which had grounded in the draw of Archer avenue bridge.

Work began at noon, and 300 or 400 persons watched the puffing tugs from both sides of the river. At 4:40 o'clock Fireman Joe Cullen noticed the Parker's boiler was foaming, and had just called the captain's attention to it when there was an explosion, not loud, and the boat sank to the river's bottom.

The boiler shot into the air toward the west bank, flew over the Illinois Steel Company's yards, struck a network of coal trucks and demolished them, and, continuing its flight, bounded along and ripped up railroad tracks, and finally landed against a fence on Ashland avenue, 600 feet away. The 200-pound anchor was lifted clear over the Picard's high masts and fell in Archer avenue.

This eastern direction was also taken by the furnace doors, which were split into small pieces and proved the main instruments of death. Splinters of wood and a cloud of debris flew in all directions and were responsible for the wounds received by a score of spectators.

John Rice was going to his work at Nelson Morris' packing house. His wife, Mary, and their 18-months-old girl, Barbara, accompanied him down the street. Mrs. Rice was struck in the forehead by a flying bit of the furnace door, and while falling another piece hit the baby.

Both their skulls were crushed, while the husband disappeared and is generally supposed to have been blown into the river. Joe Cullen, fireman, and Henry Bell, lineman of the Parker, were very badly scalded, and at the hospital it is reported that neither can live.

The known dead are: Samuel Cooper, switchman of the Illinois Steel Company; Mrs. Rice, Barbara Rice, Bartholomew Curtin, aged 10; an unknown man; J. C. Moore, engineer; James B. Carter, captain, and Samuel Armstrong, steward, all of the tug Parker. The bodies of the last three were not recovered from the river.

HER IDEAL AT LAST.

Mrs. Frank Leslie Wedded to the Brother of Oscar Wilde.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A notable alliance was formed last night at Delmonicos'. Then Mrs. Frank Leslie, whose name has been made a household word by the journals which bear her name, and William Kingsbury Wilde, M. A., of London, were united in marriage. The ceremony was very private.

Mrs. Leslie had often said that if she ever married again she would marry a journalist, and she has kept her word, for Mr. Wilde is a journalist in the true sense of the word. He is the eldest son of Sir William and Lady Wilde, and was born in Dublin about forty years ago. He has done much excellent work for the London papers. Oscar Wilde, who set society circles agog when he visited this country in 1884, is the groom's brother.

Lieut.-Governor Jones' Eyes Fail.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 5.—General Jones left for New York last evening to receive treatment from specialists for an eye trouble. For some time he has done a large amount of work, using his eyesight to an unusual extent. The pressure of his increasing business and his political and State labor have largely overtaxed his physical and nervous system, and it is feared he will become blind. This misfortune will practically unfit him for the present campaign and he will be compelled to forego his many plans.

Drowned His Daughters and Himself.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—The two-year-old daughter of Hamlin, who committed suicide after drowning his two daughters in the bay, was found in the bay yesterday morning. The funeral of the father and three children took place in the afternoon and was attended by an immense throng. There is great sadness felt over the mournful deed.

Miss Mullen, the Yonkers girl whose intended husband disappeared on the night set for the wedding, has ceased pining for him and declares that she will not marry him now under any circumstances.

A HYPNOTIST'S INFLUENCE.

The Spell Which Thomas A. Bell Cast Over Trenton Merchants.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 5.—Thomas A. Bell, the man who wrecked the Star Rubber Company, makes the assertion that he will go somewhere else, and will soon be as wealthy as he was a few months ago, through the medium of his hypnotic gift, which wonderful power has already ruined a number of men.

Among those whom Bell ruined were Phillip A. Dunn, president of one of the leading banks, and Jonathan Steward, a prominent and wealthy wholesale grocer. Bell had these men completely in his hands. They did just as he wished. When revelations of Bell's dealings were made and nearly every business man in Trenton understood the situation, Dunn and Steward stood behind the wrecker and provided him with funds. Financial ruin came to Dunn and he died, but up to the last he was as a baby in Bell's presence. The same was true with Steward, who has also died since the disclosures and difficulties occurred.

Bell frequently boasted that he was gifted with a magnetic influence over others. There was one man, an employe at the Star Rubber Works, upon whom Bell frequently operated. When, for instance, a book or document had been lost in the office, he would call in his man, put him under the influence of hypnotism, and he would at once go to the safe or shelf, as the case might be, and put his hand on the lost article. To the person thus under his influence Bell could make a glass of water appear to be any other drink, such as chocolate, coffee or whiskey, and could make his subject drink it supposing that it was in reality what it seemed. Scientific exhibitions were given by Bell at Philadelphia and other places, at some of which Dr. Ward, of the State Insane Asylum, was present.

At one of these Mr. Bell placed his subject directly in front of him, with his back turned so that he could not see him. Bell would then take a pin and stick himself, and as quick as a flash the man he had under his power would place his hand on the part of his own body corresponding to the place where Bell had stuck himself. One of the onlookers, thinking there was some fraud about it, asked Bell to let him take the pin and do the sticking. His request was granted, but the result was the same.

REMOVED THE SPLINTS.

Brutal Treatment of a Laboring Man by a Buffalo Surgeon.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Dr. L. Bradly Dorr, who so inhumanly treated a poor laborer who did not have money enough to pay for setting his broken leg, is receiving the censure of both press and public.

Frank Snyder, a laboring man, fell from a street car and sustained a fracture of his right leg. Dr. Dorr was called to attend him and placed the injured leg in splints. Snyder asked how much it would be, and the doctor replied that it would cost him $10.

"I am a poor man and cannot pay such a price," replied Snyder. Then Dr. Dorr removed the splints and left the man in his agony, saying that he could not take care of people without money.

Some of the man's friends found him later and took him to the hospital, where his leg was rebandaged. The hospital physicians say that Snyder's leg will be crooked and that he will be a cripple for life. It was due to taking the splints away after the leg had been injured.

SEVENTEEN POISONED.

Members of a Boy Choir Become Ill from Eating Canned Ham.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 5.—The Rev. W. H. Graff, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, accompanied by a number of boys, mostly members of the boy choir, went for a day's chestnutting Saturday seven miles north of this city. Shortly after partaking of their lunch 17 members of the party were taken violently ill, and for a time fatal results were feared in several cases.

Canned ham, of which all had used freely, is believed to have been the cause of the poisoning. Mr. Graff was one of the sufferers. They were brought home and are now pronounced out of danger. The food is supposed to have absorbed lead poison from the can.

Ship Carpenter Suicides.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 5.—The body of a man was found last evening in a field on the outskirts of this city. A revolver was in his right hand and there was a bullet hole in his forehead. Letters were found in his pockets showing that his name was George Gross. One letter was a recommendation from the United States Lighthouse Board at Tompkinsville, S. I., stating that Gross was a first-class ship carpenter. He had only a few cents in his pocket.

Mrs. Harrison Returns to Washington.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Harrison, wife of the President, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison, and left for Washington this morning. Mrs. Harrison's stay at Auburndale was a most enjoyable one, and she will remember with pleasure the many attentions shown her by residents of the Garden City of New England and surrounding suburbs.

Petroleum Oil as Fuel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Reports are received by the Bureau of American Republics to the effect that the experiments of using petroleum for fuel on the Oroya Railroad in Peru have proven successful. The trials were made at an altitude of 5,800 feet above the sea with the two locomotives from the Rogers Works of Paterson, N. J. The oil used is not crude petroleum, but a residium oil.

Canadian Pacific Steamship Line.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—General Passenger Agent McNicoll of the Canadian Pacific road says that the Canadian Pacific would soon commence to run steamers between this port and Vancover. Arrangements are being made to have the new Canadian Pacific steamers on the China trade call here commencing November 1.

CAN DUPE ANYONE.

A Handsome Adventuress With a Record in Limbo at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Kate F. Dee, the handsome adventuress who was committed to jail for forging the name of Mrs. O. F. Bresee, and in whose behalf prominent citizens had interested themselves, turns out to be one of the most accomplished confidence women in the country.

When arraigned she pleaded poverty, and explained that the forgery was not premeditated. By using Mrs. Bresee's name she had intended to secure from a Sister of Charity a loan of $20.

She said that her husband had been a wealthy contractor, who had deserted her, and that of five children only one remained, four having died within two days.

Since then the detectives have been investigating her story, and from a letter in her satchel think she is the wife of a man named Dee of Buffalo, and that she is wanted in Niagara and Rochester. Their belief that she is a dangerous customer was verified when Thomas Selby of the Hotel Selby in Washington secured from Commissioner Rogers a writ of detention. She passed on him two worthless checks for seven weeks' board. He says he is a good judge of human nature, but Mrs. Dee was too much for him.

To this last charge Mrs. Dee makes no denial or explanation. The detectives say her manners are so refined and she is so engaging and fascinating that she can dupe almost anybody. She dresses very plainly, is decidedly handsome, and looks to be about 31 years old.

FOR MRS. MAYBRICK'S RELEASE.

The Masonic Fraternity to Present a Petition to the Prince of Wales.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—A movement is to be at once set on foot by which the members of the Masonic fraternity will sign a petition for the release of Mrs. Maybrick in England. Prince Albert Edward is a Mason, and a petition to the Queen through the crown Prince would be presented by him directly to the Queen.

Although more than 500,000 loyal subjects and free Americans have besought justice and a fair trial for this unfortunate woman, it is doubtful if the Queen has ever heard of the Maybrick case. This concerted action of the Masons, it is thought, will carry great weight, and receive consideration from the English powers that has never yet been vouchsafed the cause of the helpless little American who is in the clutches of the English law.

Detective Arrested for Blackmail.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—John T. Norris, a detective of almost national reputation, is arrested on a charge of blackmail preferred by a man whom he had been shadowing. His accuser is John Snearly, alias Jack Forbes, who was for a time supposed to have been implicated in the robbery of Thomas Blackburn, a Missouri farmer, to the tune of $7,000. It is alleged Norris had Snearly arrested knowing him to be innocent. Farmer Blackburn failed to identify Snearly and he was released. Norris is also called upon to answer a suit for $20,000 damages for malicious procecution.

Building a Railroad on Private Land.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 5.—The Port Reading Railroad Company has begun the work of laying tracks on private lands in Raritan township. The owners will sue for heavy damages. The Raritan township committee has secured the filing of a bill in chancery to prevent the encroachment of the road on a public highway at Metuchen. The bill will be returnable on the 12th.

STOLE HALF A MILLION.

The Defalcation at the Kingston Bank Much Greater Than Supposed.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 5.—All Ulster County is in the greatest excitement over the closing of the doors of the Ulster County Savings Institution.

Expert examiners have been at work since Tuesday, and have found already that the enormous sum of $468,000 has been stolen by Treasurer Ostrander and Matthew T. Trumpbour, assistant treasurer, and it is feared that the stealings will reach over that amount.

Superintendent Preston swore to a complaint charging Trumpbour with perjury in swearing to false statements contained in the July report of the bank to the Banking Department, and Trumpbour was arrested at his house by Chief of Police Hood. He had his clothes all packed up and was preparing to flee from town. He was locked up in jail and there he remains.

Ostrander was arrested about two weeks ago for embezzling $75,000 and was under bonds of $20,000. His bondsmen Friday night turned him over to Sheriff Dill, and he was also locked up in jail. When Ostrander was arrested there was a great run on the bank for three days, but the other banks came to the rescue of the Ulster County Savings Institution, and the trustees made a statement showing that there was a surplus of $245,000. The statement being signed by such well known men as Judge Alton B. Parker, Gen. George H. Sharpe, Judge William S Kenyon, Postmaster Noah Wolven, John W. Searing of the Kingston "Leader," and other reputable citizens, had a reassuring effect, and the depositors who drew out their money brought it back again.

The system adopted by James E. Ostrander and Matthew W. Trumpbour, the latter being fully cognizant of the stealing and assisting in concealing it, for the purpose of swindling the depositors and hiding the theft, which grew by degrees, was most ingenious, and for twenty years has baffled the skill of expert examiners in the employ of the State. In carrying it out, deceit and perjury have been frequently and effectively employed.

The people had great confidence in the institution, and the deposits, from $546,873 in 1867, ran up to $2,196,070 in 1873. No matter what the state of the money market might be, it was always conceded by every one that the Ulster County Savings Institution was sound.

BABY CLEVELAND IS CHIPPER.

Mrs. Cleveland is Doing Nicely and Grover is Happy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—While ex-President Cleveland was being besieged by reporters at his home last evening, it was noticed that there were dark half moons under his eyes, but the happiness he felt was unmistakeable.

"Yes, it is quite true," he said, before any question was asked him. "Both the mother and child are doing splendidly. Mrs. Cleveland has rested quietly all day and is much better than could be expected. The child is strong and healthy. At its birth it weighed eight pounds."

Mr. Cleveland intimated that it was likely that they would go out of the city as soon as Mrs Cleveland was strong enough to travel.

During the afternoon and evening a number of congratulatory messages were received: Mrs. Folsom, Mrs. Cleveland's mother, and Miss Rose Cleveland were among those who sent telegrams.

Congratulations for the Clevelands.

ATCHISON, Kan., Oct. 5.—The Democratic County Convention has sent the following telegram to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland: "The Democracy of Atchison County, in convention assembled, congratulate you upon the birth of your daughter."

—Inez Parmater is coming.

—The Dorcas Circle, King's Daughters, will give a "yellow tea" Thursday evening.

—Charles Hand is trying to rent the Crescent Rink to a big New York manufacturing firm.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Public Library to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—The annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief association will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, Tuesday morning, Oct. 6, at ten o'clock.

—The ordinance requiring that all Plainfield bar rooms be open to inspection from the streets Sundays, was faithfully observed yesterday.

—A fire-alarm wire was broken by workmen engaged in straightening up the line yesterday morning at 11:30, and one blow of the gong was sounded.

—Hackmen James McCormick and Dennis Kilbride will be tried in a day or two for crowding a private team up on the sidewalk and breaking the harness.

—Anthony Comstock, of New York, will speak to men, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., in the First Baptist church, next Sunday afternoon, at 4:15.

—There was fine singing at the Bethel chapel last evening. A chorus of children's voices rendered very beautifully songs appropriate to the harvest season.

—Policeman Giese made a raid on some youthful gamblers who were desecrating the Sabbath on West Third street, and captured their cards. He will have them up before judge Codington in a day or two.

—Edsall announces in his new advertisement that this week he will offer some of the greatest bargains ever presented in this city, embracing articles from the cheapest grades to the finest quality.

—Robert Mariner, who has been working for Day the liveryman, won't work any more this week. While getting the hay down for the horses in the dark Saturday night, he ran a pitchfork into the muscles of his calf.

—The board of registry of the Second ward will meet at the home of William Messerschmidt, 27 Washington street, to-morrow morning at ten o'clock, and start out on their annual house-to-house canvass.

—Sergeant Lynch captured a young man yesterday who is "wanted" for stealing a watch from his grandfather up in Bangor, Pa. He says he returned the stolen property, but will be held to await a message from the Bangor authorities.

—Hackman Michael Kennedy went into the City Hotel yesterday and left his horse standing untied on the crosswalk, compelling everybody to walk around it. He was arrested for the offense, pleaded not guilty this morning, and will be tried Thursday at 10 a. m.

—The next attaaction at Music Hall will be Miss Agnes Herndon in La Belle Marie, Saturday evening of this week. The New York Tribune says: "Miss Herndon is one of the handsomest and most talented of American actresses, her company is a good one, and the play was well put on the stage."

—People who have occasion to use North avenue a great deal are getting impatient about the condition of the sidewalk in front of Sebring's half-finished new building adjoining Mallinson's drug store. It is a dark stumbling place at night. Work has been suspended on the building several weeks.

—A midsummer day in chill October is the rarity Plainfield people were treated to yesterday. It was a great day for wheelmen. The county roads were alive with bicycles. Clubs from Brooklyn, Harlem and elsewhere visited Plainfield in a body, and numbers of Plainfielders took a spin out of town.

—The report of the Government weather bureau for New Jersey, the past week, was as follows: "The weather conditions have been most favorable for all farm work, which is well advanced. The rains during the week have improved pastures and put the ground in fair condition for late plowing. Winter truck doing well."

Opening the New Baptist Chapel.

The young people's mission chapel of the First Baptist church was opened yesterday afternoon. Dr. Yerkes spoke, congratulated the young people on what they had achieved, and urged them on to greater efforts. B. T. Barnes sang a solo. There was a large attendance, and everybody was happy.

Hotel Glenham.

I can attest to the efficacy of Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills—not only using them myself, but having given them to several of my friends, all of whom have been materially benefited by them. For cases of Dyspepsia and Torpid Liver I consider them invaluable. N. B. BARRY.

TOOK TILL AND ALL.

Constable Rockafellow Serves Another Execution on Miller the Saloon Keeper, and Seizes His Money Drawer With $76.25 in It.

When Constable George Rapidity Rockafellow has a duty to do he does it. He never rides two horses at a time, and in the discharge of his duty is n't afraid even of ex-policeman Carey. He's the first man who made Joe Miller, the saloon keeper, pay up. He had a judgment of A. M. Seguine against Miller to collect, and he shut up Miller's place until the latter settled.

Saturday night, just ten minutes before the closing time of twelve o'clock, Rockafellow stepped into the Elkwood saloon and presented an execution on account of a judgment obtained by J. A. Smith for about $200 for groceries. He asked Miller to pay it, but the latter refused. The constable then said he would make a levy on the contents of the cash drawer, and asked Miller to open it. This was also refused. Rockafellow then stepped behind the bar and took the cash register containing the money drawer, and carried the whole thing out. Officer Kelley was with him.

The drawer was opened in Mr. Smith's store, and the contents were counted in the presence of five persons. There was $76.25 in money. Miller is said to have remarked that it was lucky he had just taken out $50 to pay his men. But it is rumored this morning that his men have not been paid yet.

HE WAS FROM WESTFIELD.

So He Could Hardly Be Expected to Know that the War Was Over.

Moraller, the jeweler, of West Second street, reported to the police yesterday that he had been swindled out of $50 by a passer of Confederate money.

He said that a stranger had visited his place, Saturday night, bought a $12 watch, tendered a $50 bill, received $38 in good United States money in change, and vanished. Then Moraller found that the bill was a Confederate one.

Later it was ascertained that the stranger was a greenhorn named Pahs, who lives at Westfield. He has been in this country just eight months, and the Confederate bill was passed on him in New York. He supposed it was all right, and has promised to refund Mr. Moraller.

Mrs. Ellis at Warren Mission.

(Contributed.)

Warren Mission building was filled last evening to hear "a woman talk". Bright and fascinating as usual, in a way peculiarly her own, this consecrated worker chains the attention of her audiences from the beginning to the end of her discourse; while her deeply spiritual words draw all with a tenderer love, closer to the Master.

Meetings will be held by Mrs. Ellis every evening of this week at the W. C. T. U rooms, at 7:45 o'clock.

Young men of Plainfield—you who were converted under her words of earnest entreaty—come, and bring others with you!

Christian workers of Plainfield—you who are sometimes disheartened in well-doing, come, and get soul refreshment!

Come, all who are weary and heavy-laden—all who are unsaved—all who are anxious for the salvation of others!

Come, all who are dedicated to the Master's service, and let us consecrate ourselves afresh!—a spiritual uplift will be good for us all.

Come, all who can, and together let us ask God's blessing on our city, and on this week's work of love!

A Bible-reading will be given by Mrs. Ellis every afternoon this week (Wednesday excepted), at 3:30, in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

Dear women of Plainfield and vicinity, you are all urgently invited to be present and to bring your Bibles, pads, and pencils, with you.

SUSAN B. ADAMS,
Press Supt. W. C. T. U.

May Have a Street Railway Yet.

It is understood that at the meeting of the Plainfield Common Council this evening a proposition will be read from Thomas Nevins and his associates, asking for a street railway franchise to run over a route different than that for which Mr. Nevins's company has already been granted a franchise but against which a fight in the courts was begun. The right of way has been secured, and the proposed route will cover the city thoroughly and give the suburban districts the rapid transit they desire.

The proposed route for the new project starts on North avenue, runs through Peace street to Front, along West Front to Grant avenue, then through West Fourth street to Monroe avenue and back to West Front street.

The motive power will, it is said, be horses, till the citizens agree to something better.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyon question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

BROKE HIS BROTHER'S JAW.

One Derided the Other's Superstition, and Then They Fought.

Dominick Duffy and Cormick Cawfield, brothers-in-law, got in a fight near the corner of Third and New streets, Saturday night, and as a result Duffy's jaw was broken in two places and he has to swallow his food through a tube. The trouble arose over the existence of a ghost that is said to perambulate the boulevard. One said he had seen it; the other laughed at him and said ghosts did n't exist. Then the term "liar!" was used, and they clinched. No arrests have been made, but the police are investigating.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Chapman visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

Miss Mary Caffrey has returned from a visit at Cedarhurst, L. I.

Miss Blanche Fellows, of the First Presbyterian church choir, is much better to-day.

Mrs. David Zeigler, of Denver, with her two children, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sarah A. Laing, of West Fourth street.

The family of J. D. Spicer are expected home to-day from Belmar, where they have occupied a cottage the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wiechers gave a dinner at the Union County Country clubhouse, to a party of friends, Saturday evening.

Dr. W. E. Linstedt of New Brunswick won the tea caddy presented to the Middlesex Bowling Green club by C Schepflin, Saturday.

J. Howard Rushmore, brother of Dr. Edward Rushmore of Park avenue, is dying of consumption at his home in North Plainfield.

The Rev. T. Logan Murphy again officiated, yesterday, in the Holy Cross church, after an absence of over three months in Europe.

Thomas B. Aldrich, jr., and wife, spent Sunday with friends in Plainfield. Mr. Aldrich formerly lived in this city, but is now a resident of the metropolis.

Charles E. Doane of East Fourth street, is just as proud and happy as ex-President Cleveland, for he too is the father of a sweet baby girl born this morning.

Miss VanBoskerck, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Brooks, and Messrs. Cock, Perkins and Kaufman, will appear in Mrs. Burnett's "Esmerelda" at The Casion this season.

Abram, son of C. D. Cadmus of Gordonsville, West Va., goes home to-morrow after a six weeks' visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Johnson, of 120 Duer street.

Charles Potter Rogers has left the Potter Press Works and will adopt the law as his profession. He begins his studies in New York this week. His many friends wish him abundant success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Myers and their daughter, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, have returned from their home at Colorado Springs and will occupy their house here for the coming season.

William R. Converse, one of the Bound Brook Chronicle's hustling young men, has been secured by Talent, the bright new metropolitan monthly, to represent its commercial advertising department.

Arthur Mulford will be "best man" at the coming wedding of Frank F. Baynon and Miss Fowler of Orange; and Messrs. Clarence Murphy of this city, and Otis, Olmstead and Fowler of Orange, will be the ushers.

The funeral of John Blunt Bacon took place fro m his late residence, Sycamore avenue, last evening, the Rev. Erskine M. Rodman officiating. The body was interred to-day at Troy, N. Y., the former home of the deceased.

The Crescent Avenue church bell was not rung yesterday, because of the serious illness of Willie M. Demarest at the home of his father, corner of Seventh street and Crescent avenue, opposite the church. There is little hope of his recovery.

Captain McComerick, 1st Lieut. Schlendorf, 2d Lieut. Myrick, and twenty-five other members of the New York Touring club, rode out to Plainfield on their wheels yesterday and enjoyed one of the City Hotel's fine dinners. Their club is an organization of members of the defunct New York Bicycle club.

Senator Keys of Somerset county spent yesterday in this city in company with his estimable wife. They have been enjoying New Jersey's autumnal beauties on a driving tour. Their handsome team of horses, stylish carriage, and well-bred coachman, were a centre of attraction in front of Force's Hotel all the afternoon.

The Hon. John H. Sawyer of Brooklyn died at The Albion this morning after a long illness. He went to Europe last May in search of health, but after six weeks he returned to The Albion and had been there ever since. He was a great sufferer. His wife was with him when he died. Ten minutes before his death he said he felt very well. His son is expected out from New York this afternoon.

After a long absence on the road with that great money-maker, "Tuxedo", George Thatcher is back in New York and was a visitor in Plainfield this morning. He says, from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico there is not such a charming place of homes as Plainfield. He is deeply in love with the city, and would n't sell his handsome residence at Seventh street and Central avenue for $35,000. While here to-day he ordered $1,000 more spent on it and hopes to be living there again by next fall.

A CLUB-HOUSE FOR THE C. Y. M. L.

The Rev. Father Smyth's Young Men to Have Handsome and Complete Billiard Rooms, Bowling Alleys, Etc.

The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum commence to-day the construction of an attractive and commodious club-house at the corner of Sixth and Liberty streets. The site was purchased from J. W. Dearing, of Brooklyn, at a cost of $4,000. The ground floor of the building now occupying the site, will be altered so as to furnish accommodations for a parlor, reading room and billiard room. The addition to the main structure will be two stories in height and seventy-two feet in length. The upper story will be used for a gymnasium and for private entertainments, and will have a seating capacity of tares hundred. The lower story will be filled with bowling alleys, bath rooms, etc., and no expense will be spared to make the place inviting and comfortable.

The proposed alterations will cost about $4,000 and will be finished by Thanksgiving day. The present officers of the association are: President—Thos. Carty; vice-president—J. J. Kenney; treasurer—M. J. Whalen; secretaries—M. J. Mack and Frank McInerney; spiritual director—the Rev. J. A. Stafford; board of trustees—the Rev. P. E. Smyth, Thomas Carty and John J. Kenney.

BROKE, AND THEN WON.

Dr. Herbert's Colt Gives Plainfield's Speedy Trotters an Exciting Race.

An exciting race was trotted on the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park, Saturday. The contestants were J. W. Johnson's Colonel, Mr. Hayes's Andy, and Dr. F. C. Herbert's bay colt Reputation.

After the word "go" was given by the judges, Reputation broke and was thought to be out of the race, but, with his customary skill, C. C. Brower, who was driving him, quickly got him in hand, and the colt trotted the mile in 2:39½, winning the heat. Andy was second.

The next heat was "dead", between the colt and Andy. The third was won by Reputation, with Colonel second. Time—2:39½, 2:42, 2:42½.

M. Quinn's gray George trotted an exhibition mile in 2:33.

Tennis in the Park.

The concluding sets of the tournament between the Racquette Club and the Washington Park Tennis Club were played Saturday afternoon on the courts of the latter. As in the previous games, the Washington Park men played all around their opponents, and had no difficulty in walking off with eight of the eleven sets contested. To the credit of the Racquette Club, however, be it said that they played better tennis than they did the week before. The scores:

S. McCutchen beat V. Baker, 6-2, 6-1.
A. VanDeventer beat G. Morrison, 6-2, 1-6 6-4.
H. Morrison beat S. Townsend, 6-1, 6-5.
G. Cooley beat W. MacClymont, 6-2, 6-1.
VanDeventer and Cooley beat Baker and Patton, 6-2, 6-5.

A Borough Man's Gift to His Native Town.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, of Manning avenue, North Plainfield, attended an entertainment and flag-pole raising at the school-house near their old home at Roycefield, Somerset county, Saturday afternoon.

There were recitations, singing, and able speeches. The flag-pole was a gift from Mr. Dolliver as a token of the love and respect which he has for the old neighborhood. The flag was given by Ivanhoe Council, No. 72, Jr. O. U. A. M. of Somerville.

Died at the Asylum.

Julia Cuff, a colored woman who was sent to Morris Plains from this city some time ago, died at the asylum Friday morning. The body was put in charge of A. M. Runyon & Son, who interred the remains in the Methodist cemetery to-day.

Men of brains originate, the unprincipled imitate. Counterfeit never have the true ring of the genuine. Wide-awake people refuse to be gulled. They insist on Hires's Root Beer, and are sure to get it.

—Easter Lodge, Knights of Honor, will meet this evening in Music Hall building.

—At the Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning, eleven members were added to the church roll—eight by letter from other churches, and three on confession of their need of a Saviour.

I HAD catarrh of the head and throat for five years, I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

THE proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

The new edifice of the First Presbyterian Church of Jersey City was opened yesterday with elaborate ceremonies.

Mrs. Weines complained to the Newark police yesterday that her husband, William, had deserted her, taking with him $500 of her money.

The trouble in the Willing Workers for Christ Society of Marion has been settled by the withdrawal of John H. Peloubet's order of ejectment of the society from his hall.

Fire broke out in Charles Starks' cigar factory in Cedar street on Saturday night. The stock was lost, while the building was badly damaged. The loss, under $5,000, is covered by insurance. A few hours later the dancing platform in Wagner's Park was totally destroyed by fire.

THE BASE-BALL BENEFIT GAME.

Crescents Wind up the Local Season by Presenting a Victory to the New Brunswick Team of King John Harkins.

'Twas a very pretty game of ball—that of Saturday—up to the sixth inning. After that its features were not so handsome, for the Crescents went to pieces, and the New Brunswicks won with six runs to their credit, while the Plainfield players had reached the rubber only once.

To have to criticize a benefit game is an unpleasant task, and THE PRESS may be excused for omitting some harsh words that it might very justly say. As usual, there was some very good individual playing; but steady, earnest team work on the part of the Crescents was noticeably absent. A number of the Plainfield aggregation did not seem to try to bat. Instead, they waved the stick through the air in a very listless manner, as if anxious to get out and retire from active participation in the game. The duty of each one was to give the spectators just as good a game as they possibly could, but not all of the players were fully awake to what was expected of them. Indeed, it was openly remarked that some of the men acted just as if they knew it was the last game they ever would play with the Crescents, and as if they did n't care a straw about adding to their local reputation.

Hammill did fine work in the box, for a time. In each of the first five innings he struck a man out, and kept down to four the number of men who went to the bat. In three of these innings the New Brunswicks were put out in one-two-three order. But the sixth inning was fatal. In that, although Hammill struck out two men, he gave a man a base by hitting him in the side, and delivered a very wild pitch that let in two runs. The third run resulted from an error of Jones, who ran after a fly that was properly Tierney's, snatched it away from Tierney's reach, and muffed it.

As the Crescents were not hitting the ball, they could not overcome this lead. Instead, they permitted three more runs to be scored in the seventh. Bonner, who up to this had been catching a superb game, was guilty of letting three balls go past him—each of them so well delivered that the umpire called them strikes; and as the usual bad error of Lee occurred at this point, and Hammill gave a man his base on balls, the three hits that were sandwiched in resulted in wholesale scoring.

For some of the Crescents Francis was a hard pitcher to meet. Concerning those who did n't try to hit it is of course not known what earnest endeavor might or might not have accomplished. But there were loyal Crescents who did their best to solve the mystery of the big fellow's curves and shoots, yet whose efforts were unavailing. Jones proved himself a good waiter and twice got a base on balls. Lufbery seemed to be spiritless. Tierney tried to hit, but found the New Brunswick shortstop too agile a fielder. Keeler did all that could be expected of him. McIndoe never did worse. Hammill worked earnestly and steadily; and Holly won favor by his manful attempts. Lee was as listless as a wet rag. Bonner showed improvement over previous records.

Luckily, neither of Keeler's errors was costly. The Crescents' spry little catcher won great applause for two brilliant plays executed in quick succession. The first was a magnificent catch of a sky-high wild pitch that would surely have let in a run; the second was the difficult feat of holding fast to a foul fly 'way beyond his reach while running like a deer.

The New Brunswick boys gained the admiration of the audience by their unwavering good-nature and thoroughly gentlemanly behavior. They were a quiet, well-mannered set, and those who had heard awful stories about New Brunswick's "Sixth Warders" were heartily pleased with these their representatives. Even the renowned "Muggins" Bradley, who sat on the bleachers as chief rooter for the visitors, was as lamblike and smiling as a summer cherub, and confined his remarks to language against which no one could possibly raise objection.

The attendance at the game was not overwhelmingly large, but a great many tickets were sold that were not used. The profits to be divided among the players were such that each received $17.60 as his share, and there is enough of a balance to pay all the expenses of the team in going to New Brunswick this week Saturday to give Harkins's team a benefit game in return.

The score:

ATHIRST FOR GOOD READING.

And to Give New Books to the Villagers This Fair is Planned.

Great interest is manifested in the fair that is to be held this week Wednesday and Thursday at Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, for the benefit of the Public Library and Reading Room of that place. Those who started the library have seen no reason to think that the enterprise was not a wise one; but on the contrary, so strong has been the feeling that both library and reading room are supplying a real want in the community, that any proposition to close for a summer vacation has always been voted down in the trustees' meeting. The fact that there is now a loud demand for new books and new attractions in the reading room testifies to the use that is made of the appliances already in possession of the institution. To supply this need the bazar already alluded to is to be held, and it is hoped that a very handsome sum will be realized. A cake table, a doll show, and a fine refreshment department, will be among the attractions. Fancy and useful articles will of course be found in profusion, and in this connection it may be remarked that it is none too early to lay in a stock of Christmas presents. The tickets, which are put at the low price of 10 cents, are remarkably artistic. They were designed especially for this fair. The Scotch thistle, emblematic of the sturdy settlers who gave the place its name, is cunningly introduced in the upper part of the design, while below books and papers recall the object of the sale. Altogether they are quite a novelty in the way of tickets. The regularity with which stages run (once every hour to and from Plainfield, and to and from every train) will enable friends from a distance to give their aid to the object of the fair. The fact that a good supper, nicely prepared and well served, can be procured there, will prove an additional inducement to visitors from neighboring towns.

A PASTOR SPEAKS HIS MIND.

There is No Earthly Heaven but Jersey, and Plainfield is its Inner Paradise.

The Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, of Morristown, editor of the New York Christian Advocate, thus valiantly defends this garden State in a recent issue of his paper:

Referring to a mistake in some paper, which located Chautauqua Lake in New Jersey, the Pittsburg Christian Advocate says:

"One of our Methodist papers, on its first page, speaks of 'Chautauqua Lake, N. J.' If that is not a thing to cause one to ponder over the littleness of earthly greatness, we never saw one. O, Chautauqua, where is now your fame, that you should be set down so suddenly on the sand flats of Jersey!"

"Sand flats of Jersey"! Jersey, whose agricultural and horticultural products are worth more to the acre than those of any other State in the Union! Jersey, whose cranberries, strawberries, peaches, pears, plums, blackberries, and grapes, make the mouths of the people of the two great cities of New York and Philadelphia water from early spring to late autumn! Jersey, whose mineral resources are among the most valuable in the land; whose lofty wood-covered hills and splendid forests of pine in the south, and oak, chestnut and beech in the north, are the envy of all foreigners who see them! Jersey, whose boundaries are the magnificent Hudson and the broad and majestic Delaware! Jersey, whose sea coast is the longest in proportion to its area, and the most famous strip, except that of Massachusetts, from Florida to Maine! Jersey, whose northern lakes are worthy to be compared with Chautauqua, and one, Hopatcong, taking its surroundings into the account, not inferior to any of the smaller lakes of America! Jersey, with Princeton University, Stevens Institute, Rutgers College, Drew Theological Seminary, Pennington and Hackettstown, and the two finest lunatic asylums in America (extensively patronized by Pennsylvanians)—to be spoken of as "sand flats"! Where has our contemporary lived? If he will visit Dr. Freeman, or the editor of this paper, at Morristown, we will open to him a new world, and cause him temporarily to regret that fates ordered him to live elsewhere. Sand flats, indeed! Chautauqua is great, but until Chancellor Vincent was elected Bishop, the literary head-quarters and life-blood of Chautauqua were at Plainfield, New Jersey!

Praise Service by Presbyterians.

A delightful praise service was held in the First Presbyterian church last evening. Clarence Eick presided at the organ, and the choir was composed of Mrs. Asa Collier, soprano, Mrs. Elias Bird, alto, Robert Gorton, basso, and L. S. Bond, tenor. The programme was as follows:

Could Not Appreciate Forgiveness.

Willard Van Tine insulted and abused Joseph M. Harper last Friday and was arrested. Mr. Harper was persuaded to forgive the fellow and not appear against him, but directly afterwards Van Tine went back and abused Mr. Harper worse than before. This morning judge Codington fined him $5 for using profane and indecent language.

FRUITS OF THE HARVEST.

Park Avenue Baptists Conduct a Beautiful Service of Song.

(Contributed.)

In the old days, when the Jews were the chosen people of God, they were accustomed to gather together at the close of the harvest for the Feast of Tabernacles, to thank God for His bounty and goodness. Not in commemoration of that custom, but with a like sense of God's providence and blessing, the people of the Park Avenue Baptist church were gathered last evening to thank the Giver of all good for the bountiful harvests of the year. The church was most tastefully decorated with fruits of the harvest. Around the platform, like great horns of plenty, were baskets showing corn, rosy-cheeked apples, carrots, red tomatoes, turnips, and potatoes. In front of the pulpit leaned big twin pumpkins, flanked on either hand by purple egg-plants. Heads of cabbage, Spanish onions, mammoth beets, tiny radishes, and bunches of celery, were showing over and under and between the baskets. Nothing was out of place, and all together made a pleasing picture. Tall cornstalks with yellow ears half husked, vines of lima beans, and sheaves of golden wheat, made a background, while great sheaves of rye framed the pulpit. On the left of the pulpit hung branches of chestnuts. Cornstalks and wild flowers made a novel trimming for the organ loft. Pink and white dahlias crowned the general beauty, while down in front, on the lower platform, stood a line of graceful palms and potted plants. When the service began, not only the sweet-toned organ, but every heart, prompted the great congregation to rise and sing "Praise God from Whom all all blessings flow". The service was a beautiful one. The two anthems by the choir, under their new leader, Mr. Roe, were well rendered. Mrs. Tyler, who came from Paterson, to be at this service, sang two solos. Her voice was sweet and clear especially in the second one, and all hearts were touched as she sang the beautiful verses of "Nearer My God to Thee". One of the most beautiful hymns was the first on the programme, "What shall the harvest be?" Miss Runyon, who took the solo part, sang with all her heart, and the congregation were so intent in listening to the choir that they forgot to join in the chorus. The pastor talked for fifteen minutes on thoughts suggested by the harvest. First, the temporal, material harvest. Never had this land known a year of such plenty. God had greatly blessed our land, and to Him we ought to return thanks. The harvests are so abundant that every poor man ought to be the richer for them, richer because it should take less money out of his scanty purse to buy food. When God has made food so plentiful, shame to the man who would for his own private gain make the price of breadstuffs unnaturally dear! There are harvests moral and harvests spiritual,—he continued—and in order to reap bountifully in the latter we must sow bountifully. If we would have part in the great harvest-home song service at the end of the world, we must have Christ for our leader, for He will lead that greatest and gladdest of all services of song. God grant—he said in conclusion—that you and I may have a glad voice in the song the redeemed shall sing—"The song of Moses and the Lamb."

A Chance for Young Men.

(Contributed.)

There are many young men who, if the benefits of study could be impressed on them, would make far different use of their time than they now do, and their lives would in consequence be far more successful. How many young men there are who are spending their evenings entirely in the pursuit of mere pleasure, who might be using their spare time in the evening pursuing some useful study, which would lay the foundation not only for more success than they would otherwise obtain, but likewise bring them a pleasure and a satisfaction in the years to come that would be enduring, and that would compensate them an hundred-fold for their self-denial. One of the studies that is calculated to improve the mind and to help a man intellectually is shorthand. It strengthens the memory, quickens the intellect, and leads to literary culture. Aside from this, young men having this valuable accomplishment are in great demand in commercial and professional life, and the rewards that await the persevering student ought to spur him on. There are many who pursued to a certain extent this art, who if the opportunity was afforded them would take it up again. There are doubtless many who want to better their prospects in life. There are also some who are seeking to fit themselves in some way to enter business. To all such the Young Men's Christian association extends a hearty invitation to join the class which will be organized Oct. 9. There is hardly any expense attending it. A membership in the association entitles any young man to join it. A good common-school education is sufficient foundation, and perseverance is the chief requisite for success in the study.

A Bicycler Comes to Grief.

While riding his bicycle, Saturday, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. Wyckoff, of Dunellen, met with a painful accident. He struck a tree while running at a rapid speed, and was thrown backwards from the wheel. His clothing caught in the machine, which tore through his garments and terribly lacerated his flesh. Dr. Gaston was immediately telegraphed for, and soon arrived and dressed the wounds.

The most beautiful woman in New York said that she "ascribed her good health and rosy cheeks to the occasional use of a tablespoonful of pure whiskey before meals. It increased the circulation, sent a warm glow through the system, and gave her a hearty appetite." That is the experience of all who drink pure whiskey moderately. A. R. TUDOR's Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old. 9 6 tf

HIS GAMEST FISH.

How Billy Florence Took a Forty-Two Pound Salmon.

It Was a Big Fish on a Short Line—A Vivid Description of a Plucky Fight—What Bob Ingersoll Thinks About Gaffing Salmon.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

"The gamest fish I ever caught," said Billy Florence, comedian, fisherman and prince of good fellows, during a chat the other day, "well, I'll tell you. It was on the Natashquon, just above a spot called Second Falls. Sothern and myself had been fishing all the morning below the falls with varying success. Sothern having landed a couple of fine fish, while I was a little chagrined and annoyed at losing three—the first by bad handling, the other two partly because Sothern had chaffed me so unmercifully about my unsportsmanlike treatment of the lordly salmon by giving him too much butt, that I forgot to examine my fly until after I had lost two fish and then found that the barb was broken.

"I at once put on another fly, and leaving Sothern below the falls, started to fish above. He laughingly bade me better luck next time as I tramped up to the ledge of rock forming the wall of the river.

"Just above the fall was a series of ledges, which made strong ripples and currents. This broken water extended about a quarter of a mile and at its head was a beautiful pool, unbroken by a ripple. I knew this was the resting place of many a salmon, for I had killed a number of fish in that neighborhood.

"The first cast I made my fly (a Jack Scott) fell about thirty yards from the shore. Like a flash the surface of this glassy pool was ruffled and a monster salmon rose and took the fly. Whiz-z-z went the reel and like lightning he dashed up the stream.

"Now, I had been fishing from a canoe below the falls with Sothern and was not prepared to pay out much line, or have an extended run, consequently did not have a large reel with me. The one on my rod did not carry more than ninety or one hundred yards. I therefore felt certain that if the salmon continued his headlong flight I should soon be at the end of my tether, and then woe betide me if I returned to Sothern with a broken or shattered reel, therefore I fervently prayed that Mr. Salmon would change his royal mind and go down the stream. But then again there was the strong water down below to be feared, and consequently, you see, I was between the horns of a dilemma.

"Yet steadily on the salmon went. Whirr—whirr—went my reel. Will he ever stop? was my constant thought. There was but little line on my reel when Mr. Salmonsaller turned, and, O ye gods! was making for the strong water below.

"I reeled in as fast as I possibly could, fearing my captive would get off by the slack line, nor did I know whether he was on or not—ah! what fearful uncertainty which fishers mostly dread, since it is utterly impossible to reel in the slack as rapidly as the salmon gives it to you on the return run. No, by Jove, I've got him yet! for I suddenly felt the tug as he still went farther down the stream and toward the much-dreaded broken water above the falls.

"He now gave me a splendid view of his fair proportions by leaping into the air. This was the first time I had seen him since he had struck the fly, and he was a beauty with his silver scales and the myriad drops of water sparkling like so many diamonds in the sun. Will he turn again? I thought, go to the bottom and sulk, or take refuge among the rocks and bowlders at the head of the falls? No, he is determined to go, and I, perforce, must go with him, since my line will not permit me to give him more extended range.

"So down we went, I holding my rod as taut as I dared, while I picked my way over the rocks along the shore. Intent on my captive, I missed my footing, and heels over head I went, rod, reel and all. I am afraid at this juncture I forgot the Biblical injunction 'Swear not at all'—and—and—well, of course, I didn't. I was sure my fish was gone and I didn't care if I broke rod, reel, legs, back and neck. But no, ghost of Isaac Walton! Genio Scotti and Johnny Heckshir! I had time yet. With bruised shins, battered knees and pounding heart, on we went. The son of a gun had reached the ledges above the cascade and now came the fight for life.

"Tug, tug, tug, he went. Splash! Once more he rose in the air and came down with a thud. Good! thought I, try that again, my boy. Tire yourself out. If you can stand it I can.

"My tackle was superior of quality. The leader I had was one made by Forrest expressly for me, and I had tested it for fourteen pounds. My rod was a royal seventeen footer. My only weak point was my hook, and since I'd had bad luck in the morning with it, I feared a repetition of the same break. But no, thank goodness! it stood the fearful strain.

"The fish was now resting for another struggle, and I had time to take breath. My shins, feet and legs pained me from my fall, but never mind. I had my friend on the other end of the line, and for a time hostilities were suspended. My constant thought was how his lordship would act when he regained his strength. Would he go for still rougher water and make for the cascade and go down the entire falls? If he should adopt this latter course, where would young Florence be?

"I was dripping with perspiration, for remember this was a hot July day. I was under a constant strain, keeping my line taut, and oh! how my shins ached. Suddenly the salmon started in and out among the rocks and currents, directly for the cascade. Great Scott! was I to lose him after all? Hold taut, Billy! There he goes on the edge of the falls. No, by George, he has turned and up he goes again, making straight for the pool where he first rose. I never had such an experience, for salmon seldom turn and run up stream the second time. Talk of Napoleon crossing the Alps! to see me paddling over those rocks and stones again would have been a picture for any artist.

"But as the chances for capture were now turning in my favor, I was content. Once more the salmon leaped into the air, making the third sight I'd had of him. He was pretty well played out when he struck the water, for I managed to reel him in a good bit.

"Metallic, Metallic, I shouted as my Indian came slowly up the rocks from below the falls. 'Come here you black son of Hiawatha. Stand by. Be ready to gaff this fish.'

"Not much thought Mr. Fish, for away he went for another run. That was however his final effort. Once more he came to the surface but it was upside down this time. But he soon righted—I never saw such game—tug—tug—tug—reel—reel—slowly—slowly—in he came.

"When Metallic reached over to gaff him, the poor fellow made a little run, but it was a sorry and ineffectual one, for I soon reeled him up within gaffing distance. A stroke from my Metallic and I laid my silver beauty on the grass at my feet. Forty-two pounds, one hour and ten minutes.

"Do you know," continued Mr. Florence, thoughtfully, "I don't feel as I did once about gaffing those noble creatures that fight so bravely for life. I shall never forget that when Bob Ingersoll heard me describe this battle, he took me one side and said: 'Billy, how could you? How could you kill that fish?' 'Why, wouldn't you?' I asked. 'Never, never,' said he, 'I couldn't kill anything that had life and such bravery.' I tell you, I've thought of what Bob said a great many times since.

MY FORTY-TWO POUND SALMON.

"And now let me tell you a funny story apropos of our life at Camp Beatrice. You know when we go fishing we take our appetites along. You can imagine how delighted we were when the Maryland club sent me up a beautiful ham. The whole camp was stirred up, and no one more so than Johnny Heckshir. He announced that probably he was the only man in America who knew how to cook a ham properly. It must have a white wine sauce, he said, and he laid violent hands on every bottle of white wine in camp. Well, the fuss that was made over the cooking of that ham. For hours everybody was on the qui vive, and at last it was set forth by the proudest man in creation. But you should have tasted it! It was like nothing but a bunch of red shoestrings. We couldn't eat it, the dogs wouldn't touch it, and the Indians finally took it for a football. Heckshir went around with a look of gloom on his face, and he couldn't understand it—never had failed before—had had the most wonderful success—and all that sort of talk. What was the matter? Why this: The ham was already boiled when the Maryland club sent it to me, and Heckshir, with all his cooking accomplishments didn't know a boiled ham from a raw one. Well, now, you may be sure that he never heard the last of that."

A Little Princess.

The Archduchess Elizabeth, daughter of the widowed crown princess of Austria, was spending the summer at Murssteg, and was dressed in the peasant's dress of that part of the country. The only thing that was wanted in her costume was a feather for her hat, and the little princess begged the ladies who were with her to take her to a shop where she could buy one. She chose the one she thought prettiest, which cost sixty kreutzers, but unfortunately none of the ladies had so much money with them, and the owner of the shop seemed very suspicious when they offered to send the money in the afternoon by a servant, but while she was hesitating the Princess Elizabeth said to her: "Please allow me to take the feather; we are really honest people," and this little speech pleased the woman so much that she immediately gave it to her.—London Queen.

BRIGGS TO BE TRIED

Put on the Defensive Charged with Heresy.

TEN DAYS TO FILE HIS ANSWER.

The Whole Matter Came Very Near Being Dropped by the Presbytery.

Over One-half the Ministerial Members Favored Abandoning the Case, but the Lay Delegates Carried the Day—The Vote no Indication as to How the Members Stand on the Question of Dr. Briggs' Guilt or Innocence.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Over 100 staid Presbyterian clergymen of the New York Conference met at the Scotch Presbyterian Church on West Fourteenth street yesterday to discuss the case of the Rev. Dr. Briggs, charged with heresy.

The supporters of Dr. Briggs and his opponents were almost evenly divided.

A committee was appointed several months ago to consider the charges and it was to receive this report that the meeting had been called. The report of the committee recommended that Dr. Briggs should be placed on trial for heresy.

The report charged Dr. Briggs with preaching doctrine which irreconcilably conflicts with Holy Scriptures and the standards of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Briggs' cause was supported by Rev. Dr. Alexander, who moved that the committee be discharged and its report tabled. There was a hot fight over this motion, one member asserting that it was an attempt to whitewash Dr. Briggs.

Dr. Alexander's motion was discussed for several hours and finally defeated by a vote of 64 to 62. The report adverse to Dr. Briggs was then adopted by a similar vote.

Dr. Briggs has ten days in which to put in an answer to the charges. At the end of that time the Presbytery will fix a date for his trial. Dr. Briggs' friends said that it must not be supposed that the votes against him were on the charge of heresy. They only signified the consent of the voters to try him.

Rev. Dr. Page, of the New York Presbyterian Church, in Harlem, attempted to resign from the Presbytery, as he is going to enter the Episcopal Church. He was frowned upon by the ministers and compelled to wait for several hours before his resignation was accepted. The proceedings were turbulent at times and several members asked that more brotherly feeling be exhibited.

CONNECTICUT TOWN ELECTIONS.

A Number of Exciting Contests Over Local Issues in the Nutmeg State.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 6.—Yesterday was town election day all over Connecticut, except in New Haven and Bridgeport. One of the hottest fights ever known in the town of Hamden, near New Haven, resulted in the triumph of the Republicans.

The town, however, voted by the biggest majority ever known there in favor of license. East Haven, also near New Haven, had a big contest over the license question, voting strongly for license, after a year's trial of no license, and the election resulting in a victory this time for the Democrats.

Meriden went Democratic, North Haven Republican and no license. A big revolution occurred in the town of Orange, which voted no license. The elections throughout the State were chiefly fought out on local issues.

Testified Through Fear of the Police.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 6.—The contradictory testimony of Henry Jeransen, formerly a gardener for Maurice B. Strellinger, (Curtis, the actor) caused something of a sensation in the court room to-day. On Saturday Jeransen testified that the pistol found near the scene of the murder of Officer Grant belonged to Strellinger. Yesterday Jeransen took the stand and said that his testimony of Saturday was false, and that he testified then through fear of the police to what they had told him to say. He said that he had never seen the pistol in Strellinger's possession. The case was put over for a week.

National Convention of Trainmen.

GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 6.—The National convention of the Brotherhood of Trainmen opened here yesterday morning behind closed doors. Four hundred delegates are in attendance at the Court House. The city is decorated in their honor. The convention continues for the entire week. The most important questions to be decided are the recent switchmen's strike on the Northwestern Road in Chicago, and the authority of Grand Master Wilkinson for removing the board of trustees and appointing a new one before their time of office had expired.

To Revolutionize Rapid Transit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Thomas A. Edison, the electrician, claims to have just perfected a new system which he can apply to any street car and which will revolutionize rapid transit. He says he has just finished the tests; that they were a grand success, and that the North American Company is going to use the system. It is a trolley system, only the rails are used and there is no slot. It is not a storage battery system either.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

The sloop yacht Brunette was burned to the water's edge at Providence. She was valued at $6,000.

The property at the corner of Main and Summer streets, Haverhill, Mass., has been selected as the site for the public building for that city. The price paid is $20,000.

John P. Squire & Co.'s jacking establishment in East Cambridge and Somerville was partly burned last night, causing a loss of about $150,000.

LOOKS DARK FOR MOORE.

Suspicion that He Was in League With the Train Robbers Grows Stronger.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Express Messenger B. A. Moore, who says he was held up in his car on the Ame ican Express special train early last Wednesday morning, is still here, as are also members of the train crew who occupied the rear apartment of Moore's car and didn't know anything about the bold robbery until the train was stopped and the alleged robber had made his escape.

While the company's officials still maintain that their confidence in Moore is unshaken, it is a fact that Moore is practically under arrest.

The officials say that Moore and the crew are simply held here to answer questions as the investigation progresses. But another man has been placed on Moore's "run," and if he attempted to leave town there is no doubt that he would be stopped quietly if possible, but publicly if necessary.

A new light has been thrown over the peculiar "hold up."

When Moore arrived in Buffalo he turned over to the superintendent, among other things, a package of bonds to the amount of $12,000. These bonds were non-negotiable.

Moore said the bonds had fallen on the floor of the car while the robber was at work, and had been kicked under the safe and thus escaped the thief.

Moore made a serious mistake in this story, it is hinted, as an examination disclosed the fact that the package had been opened and the bonds sorted over.

That a robber would have time to open such a package and sort over the bonds, rejecting those that were not negotiable, in the brief time he had, according to Moore's story, is regarded as rather improbable.

This fact, and the failure to find any Bullet marks in the car, which should have been there according to the messenger's story, make things look rather dark for Moore.

A COUNT HEAVES COAL.

The Heir to a Polish Title a Fireman on the Panhandle Railroad.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 6.—The heir to a title in the aristocracy of Poland is fireman of a freight engine now making regular trips between this city and Dennison, on the Panhandle Railway. His name is Ernest W. A. C. Grabowski, and if the Czar had not brought Poland under his sway he would now be a Count.

He had been educated in German colleges to be an engineer, but anxious to escape the military service imposed by Germany fled to America. He arrived here in 1884, but found his inability to speak English a bar to secure employment in his profession. He drifted as far west as Detroit, and from there he went to Cleveland and in a fit of desperation enlisted in the United States army, voluntarily accepting a life he had fled from Germany.

He served his term and was discharged at Denver in 1889, but at once re-enlisted here. Soon after he was examined for promotion as a commissioned officer and was successful, but the fact that he was not naturalized prevented his securing the commission. He then asked for a discharge and it was granted. Then he took the railway position he now holds.

Monaghan's Whereabouts Still a Mystery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Robert James Monaghan, the prominent Democratic lawyer of West Chester, Pa., seems as far from being cleared up as ever. He was last heard of two weeks ago, and his friends both in this city and Pennsylvania fear that he has been foully dealt with. They think it just possible that in temporary mental aberration he may have sailed to Bermuda or the West Indies, or be straying around New York or Pennsylvania. He was a hard worker, and last year suffered from insomnia. Of late months, however, he has been almost entirely free from that complaint, and his friends, therefore, fear the worst.

A Wonderful Oil Well.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—The Greenlee and Forest well on the Reuy farm at McDonald, is the wonder of the world. It is now doing 600 barrels an hour, or 14,400 barrels per day. It is the greatest oil producer the world has ever known. The owners yesterday ordered the drillers to remove the tools from the well. At that time it was doing 400 barrels an hour. Great difficulty was encountered in removing the tools on account of the immense flow of oil, and the work had to be abandoned, the production increasing to 600 barrels an hour.

Workmen's Pay Will Not Be Contracted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Director General Davis denies that there is foundation for the reports published that "American exhibits are to be ticketed with inscriptions showing the amount paid to workmen for producing the same for the purpose of making a contrast with the pay given to Europeans for similar work."

The Dresser Farm Sold.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Oct. 6.—The Dresser farm of 110 acres, at Curtisville, has been purchased by Anson Phelps Stokes, of New York and Lenox, for $19,000. About 700 acres of land have been bought in that vicinity by summer residents within the last month.

TRIED TO LYNCH HIM

A New Jersey Murderer Narrowly Escapes Mob Law.

HE BEAT HIS WIFE TO DEATH.

Broke Every Rib in Her Body and Otherwise Injured Her.

A Crowd of Indignant Quarrymen Attempt to Take the Law Into Their Own Hands—Only Prevented by the Arrival of the Police—The Murderer in His Cups When He Committed the Crime.

AVONDALE, N. J., Oct. 6.—Patrick Brady, who works in the stone quarries near this place, brutally murdered his wife yesterday.

Brady spent Sunday with his wife drinking. Monday morning Mrs. Brady failed to prepare breakfast.

Brady therefore took two young children to a neighboring saloon and bought something to eat for them. At noon Mrs Brady failed to have dinner ready. Brady paid another visit to the saloon and told several men that his wife was still drunk.

Then he returned to the house and a short time afterward he went back to the saloon and said that his wife was dead. He made no attempt to get away, and when the neighbors and others went into the house they found Mrs. Brady lying lifeless in a pool of blood. Her head was battered almost into a jelly, her lips were torn off, and her neck and breast were horribly cut and bruised. Word soon reached the quarrymen, and a crowd of fifty or more tried to lynch Brady.

Some of the men got a rope and others surrounded the now frightened murderer and struck him. The arrival of Constable John Conway saved his life.

He arrested the murderer and protected him with his club and revolver until he was able to get him away from the crowd. He took him to Nutley, and there he kept him until County Physician Wrightson and Prosecutor Crane of Newark were notified.

The former saw the body and had it cared for. Besides the apparent injuries, he found that every rib in the woman's body was broken and that she was otherwise injured internally. The man says that when he returned to the house he found her dead body. He emphatically denies that he killed her.

"I didn't do it," he said, "but I'm glad she's dead; she ought to have died long ago."

Late last night he was taken to the county jail in Newark. The children are cared for by neighbors. Brady is 40 years old and his wife is 38. They had led a quarrelsome life for some time. Blood was found on Brady's shoes and under his finger nails, and there is every evidence that he stamped and kicked the woman to death.

A New Village in New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 6.—A party of capitalists, most of whom are Brooklynites, have purchased a tract of land in Bergen county, N. J., a short distance north of Hillsdale village. This land, which comprises the hills in North Bergen county, with a valley on either side, is being laid out into building plots, and already two-thirds of the land has been purchased by private individuals, who contemplate building summer as well as permanent homes there. Many Brooklynites are among the purchasers. Thi place is to be called Hillsdale Manor.

Costa Rica to Put in $100,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The Latin American Bureau of the World's Fair has received a cablegram from Lieut. Scriven, Commissioner to Central America, announcing that Costa Rica will spend $100,000 on her exhibit at the World's Fair instead of $50,000 as originally intended. The government has officially applied for an acre of ground at Jackson Park upon which to erect a building and display its resources.

Thinks This a Great Country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Mr. William C. K. Wilde, who has just married Mrs. Frank Leslie, in replying to the usual question, said: "I'll not tell you yet how I like America. This is my first visit. I'm only a four-day-old American, you know, and ought not to say much. Only this I must say: Your country seems to me to be just full of greatness, kindness and courtesy."

Printing Office Attached.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 6.—The property of the Journal Publishing Company was attached for $10,000 yesterday afternoon at the instance of Warren P. Tobey, who is suing for damages for the death of his son, who was killed at the office last month. Bonds were given.

A Minister Sentenced.

READING, Pa., Oct. 6.—Rev. Phillip H. Garrett, a well known United Brethren minister, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment for defrauding an insurance company. He broke down completely as he was led from court and wept bitterly.

THE WRECKED KINGSTON BANK.

A Receiver Appointed—Exciting Scenes at the Examination of the Wreckers.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 6.—At Justice Fursman's Special Term in Troy yesterday an order was granted on a motion of Deputy Attorney-General Hogan, appointing Nicholas E. Brodhead of Kingston temporary receiver of the Ulster County Savings Institution.

The Union Trust Company of New York, and the Manufacturers' National Bank of Troy, were appointed depositories for the funds of the institution as they shall come into the receiver's hands. The receiver's bond is $250,000.

Crowds of people flocked in from the surrounding country yesterday to see if there was any chance of getting their money back, and also to see the preliminary examination of Ostrander and Trumpbour.

Threats were made of an attempt to seize the culprits when they were taken from the jail, and Sheriff Dill had taken the precaution to summon a posse of twenty deputies.

Chief of Police Hood also had all the available men of his force on hand. The Fourteenth Separate Company was also notified to hold itself in readiness.

At 11:20 o'clock the assembled people were admitted to the court-room, which in a few minutes was filled with more than a thousand curious and excited men.

Defaulting Treasurer Ostrander and his accomplice Trumpbour, were then brought from the jail into court. The former leaned on the arm of the Chief of Police and looked even more like a physical wreck than he did on Saturday morning.

Recorder Hussey stated that he had been informed that the prisoners desired to withdraw their demand for an examination and asked them if they did so.

Counsellor Vanburen replied that they did. The prisoners were then committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury which meets next week.

IN HONOR OF MR. FLOWER.

Rousing Reception to the Democratic Nominee—Mr. Cleveland Talks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The reception at the Democratic Club rooms on Fifth avenue, in honor of Roswell P. Flower, last evening, marks the re-entrance of Grover Cleveland into the political arena. After a silence unbroken since the opening of the present campaign in this State he made a speech clearly defining his position, and his desire for the success of the State ticket.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the guests and members of the club began to arrive at the club rooms. Mr. Flower was one of the early arrivals. As he entered he was greeted with hearty applause.

Mr. William E. Curtis, secretary of the club, introduced Mr. Flower, in a short speech, in which he referred to his record in Congress, and commended him to the support of all true Democrats. Mr. Flower responded very briefly, thanking the club for its flattering reception. He said that he would continue to protect the interests of the Democratic party.

Bishop Esher to Be Sentenced.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—At the session of the Evangelical Association yesterday morning the case of Bishop Esher, which has been under consideration for several days, was again taken up. The conference has thoroughly reviewed all the proceedings of the trial conference in the bishop's case, and they came to a vote on the question whether the evidence justified the finding of the trial conference. A ballot was taken and all the ballots were cast in the affirmative. A committee of nine was appointed to formulate a sentence in the case of Bishop Esher.

Woman Suffrage Association.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A call has been issued for the twenty-third annual convention of the New York State Woman Suffrage Association to be held at Auburn on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 10 and 11. The text of the call is that the object of the association is to secure for the women of the State of New York an equal position with the men at the ballot box. On Tuesday evening the welcome will be given by Mrs. Mary Pierson.

The Charges to Be Investigated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The management of the New York Baseball Club has decided, on account of the recent charges brought against it to the effect that the team had been purposely weakened in the recent Boston series, to make an immediate and full investigation and report the result of its inquiry on October 12. The executive committee of the club, Messrs. Day, Talcott and Spaulding, will conduct the investigation.

A Remarkable Run.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—A Royal Blue train on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, which was delayed by the elevator fire at Locust Point, made a remarkable run from Canton, after it got through, to Philadelphia. The distance, 92 miles, was run in exactly 92 minutes, including stops.

Condemned the Liquor Traffic.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—The National Methodist Local Preachers' Convention yesterday adopted strong resolutions condemning the liquor traffic. Fourteen States are represented in the convention. The delegates were received by Governor Pattison last evening.

Secretary Noble in Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Secretary Noble left last night for Chicago, where he will take part in the reunion of the Army of the Tennessee, and the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Grant monument.

Siam Wants British Protection.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 6.—The King of Siam seriously meditates asking England to take the country under her protection, in order to prevent it from falling into the hands of France, to whom it must otherwise yield in the not distant future. England will be asked ere long to take the subject into serious consideration.

IT HAD TO GO UNDER

Phillipsburg Bank Also a Victim to President Dill.

HOPES OF PAYING ALL CLAIMS.

The Failures at Clearfield and Houtzdale Caused a Great Run on the Bank.

The President of the Bank the Father-in-Law of Dill—He Had Drawn Out a Large Amount to Assist His Son-in-Law. A Panic Imminent, and Fears that Many Individuals Will Go Down.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—This community was greatly excited yesterday by the following announcement which was posted on the doors of the Phillipsburg Bank, supposed to be one of the strongest private institutions of the State:

OCT. 5, 1891.

The continued demand of our depositors is greater than we can meet at once. We deem it best for all their interests to suspend payment and liquidate our affairs. We firmly believe we can pay every depositor in full.

O. PERRY JONES, Cashier.

Ever since the Clearfield bank closed and the Houtzdale bank failed the Phillipsburg institution has experienced an unprecedented run. The miners and their friends became alarmed and began a run, steadily withdrawing their deposits of $500 to $1,000, and many thousand dollars were thus paid out during the last three days. Then the heavy depositors took fright, and began a quiet checking of their balances, which resulted in the announcement.

The officers of the bank had feared a run and made every preparation for the worst, but with every check paid out there seemed to be two more coming in and they decided to no longer attempt to stem the current.

On Saturday confidence was somewhat restored by the gold and currency visible on the counters. At the last moment two heavy checks from lumber and coal mining firms overthrew the balance, and a hasty meeting of bank officials was called for 8 o'clock yesterday morning. At 9 o'clock the notice was posted.

The secret of the closing lies in the fact that Jonathan Boynton, of Clearfield, is president of the bank. Boynton is the father-in-law of President Dill of the Clearfield and Houtzdale banks, now in jail.

The statement has been made here and in Clearfield that Mr. Boynton, only a few days ago, had drawn out $20,000, which he loaned to his son-in-law to assist him in his troubles, and this, with rumors that Dill had previously borrowed enormous sums from Mr. Boynton, caused a feeling of uneasiness.

The effect of closing the Phillipsburg bank can hardly be estimated. This city lies close to Houtzdale, while Clearfield is not far away, and as all depend for their prosperity largely upon mining and lumber, the panic cannot be fully measured.

It is feared that many individuals will go down in the crash that seems imminent here. Cashier Jones made a statement yesterday that every dollar would be paid in full as soon as the bank had time to negotiate the collateral security it has on hand. He also said that President Boynton only owned $10,000 worth of stock in the bank, and that he was merely a figurehead. President Boynton has not spent a week in the bank for the last five years.

Held in $5,000 for Assault.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 6.—Carroll Burnham was held in $5,000 yesterday to answer a charge of felonious assault on Mrs. John Fratzill. Burnham entered Mrs. Fratzill's house and demanded $25. The woman refused his demand and Burnham assaulted her. She offered him $5 to go away, which he accepted. Mrs. Fratzill then caused Burnham's arrest.

Eight Children Poisoned.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 6.—Eight children, from three to ten years of age, were poisoned yesterday by eating the berries of the wild parsnip and are not expected to recover. They were playing about the streets, and seeing some plants growing with bright red berries on top, ate a quantity of the berries, which were sweet and pleasant. Shortly after all the children were taken violently ill.

Foul Play Suspected.

DANVERS, Mass., Oct. 6.—Samuel Chick, who was found dead Sunday in a stream in about 18 inches of water, is now believed to have been the victim of foul play, as he was seen in the vicinity carousing and drinking with a party of roughs. In his pockets were found a Bible and a small roll of bills.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

J. Sloat Fassett and party were given a rousing reception at Syracuse last night.

James W. Wadsworth, treasurer of the Republican State Committee, has resigned.

There were three deaths on the steamship City of Rome during her last passage from Liverpool.

Jay Gould has recovered sufficiently from his collapse of last week to be able to attend to business again.

A certificate of nomination of the Republican State ticket was filed with the Secretary of State yesterday.

The resignation of Herman Oelrichs as a member of the Democratic Natn'l Committee was received last evening.

Fourth-class postmasters have been appointed in New York State as follows: F. Dupree, at Douglas; C. Beach, at East Masonville, and M. Weatherwax, at Port Kent.

Lieutenant-Governor Edward F. Jones, who is being treated for eye trouble in New York, said that his course against the Democratic State ticket is in full accord with Mr. Tilden's expressed views in relation to Tammany Hall.

Snickerdoodles.
BY NELLIE CAMPBELL BEDFORD.
One-half cup butter; two cups sugar; two eggs; one cup milk; three cups flour; one-quarter teaspoonful salt; two level teaspoonfuls Cleveland's Baking Powder; one teaspoonful cinnamon; three teaspoonfuls powdered sugar. Cream the butter and sugar; add the beaten egg yolks and salt, and alternately the milk and flour. Sift in the baking powder and spread in two shallow baking pans. Mix the cinnamon and sugar and sift over the top. Bake in a moderate oven and cut in squares when cold.
Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.
"Cleveland's Superior baking powder is rightly named, being superior to anything in that line we have ever used. One trial will be sufficient, we think, to install Cleveland's in the pantry of every housekeeper."

The San Francisco to Go to Chili.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—It is stated at the Navy Department that the San Francisco, now at Callao, Peru, will, within the next few days, sail for Valparaiso, Chili. The troubles with Chili appear to be quieting down and there is a feeling in official circles that matters will be satisfactorily adjusted. No news has been received from Chili for several days.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Musin is coming.

—Charles J. Noel has been made a special policeman.

—There will be a meeting of the Plainfield Camera club this evening at 8 o'clock.

—The Crescent League is trying to get the Bicycle Club to arrange a series of foot-ball games.

—Members of the bowling section of the Y. M. C. A., and all others interested, are requested to meet at the association rooms, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association are making a specialty of the finest gilt-edged elgin creamery butter. Their advertisement gives particulars.

—Yesterday the streets were sprinkled with water from the Supply Co.'s hydrants. The mill race was so low that the carts could not be filled from it as usual.

—They used to say "It's cheaper to move than pay rent". Now it seems some Plainfield people have discovered a way to save both rent and moving expenses. Have a ghost in the house and claim it isn't tenantable.

—It is time the misleading sign-board of Chief of Police, Fire Chief, Street Commissioner, and other city officers, was taken off the front of the Schwed building. Those offices were moved to the Coward building long ago.

—The new club-house for the Washington Park gentry is looming up at the head of Prospect place on Washington avenue, and if a freshet do not come along it will probably be ready for occupancy at an early date.

—The cyclers are on the track of the fiends who are running knives into pneumatic and cushion tires. Corporation Counsel Marsh is one of the sufferers. His brand new wheel was cut only a few days after he brought it from Europe.

—It is already rumored that John Kean, jr., will be president, and Frank Bergen city clerk, of the new council that is to be elected in this city by the "14 rich men", the gas and water bosses and the ring who propose to bond the city to build sewers.

—A young man just missed having his head split open by a flower-pot on North avenue at half-past 3 yesterday afternoon. The heavy piece of crockery fell out of a third-story window at No. 14, and grazed the side of face of the passer-by as he dodged.

—If you want a handsome fall suit or topcoat, elegant in make, fit and material, at one-half the price charged by custom tailors, go to Marshall & Ball, 807, 809, 811 and 813 Broad street, Newark. They embody the latest styles and are elegantly trimmed.

—The Blue Stars defeated the Stars of Dunellen by the score of 27 to 14 on the Grant avenue grounds, Saturday. The battery for the Dunellenites was Craig and Smith; for the Blue Stars, Young and Owens. Umpire—Billy Van Dyke. Scorer—S. Hoffman.

—The case of Demarest against Stover, of this city, will probably be reached in the circuit court at Elizabeth to-morrow. The assault for which the suit is brought was committeed in the office of THE PRESS one night when Stover was accompanied by his two sons.

—The base-ball nine of the Plainfield Bicycle Club has disbanded for the season. It played 22 strong games, and lost only 5. It played no team twice that it did not beat at least once. Next year it will be considerably strengthened. Its handsome set of uniform will undergo repairs during the winter.

—One of the North Plainfield Morrison boys essayed the unusual feat of riding a bicycle under a horse, on Somerset street, to-day, and failed. The equine bridge was not high enough, and after smashing the bicycle into a shapeless mass the horse ran away. It was caught on West Front street near Madison avenue.

—The water mains are crawling through the borough in great shape, and that enlightened district may wake up some morning pretty soon and find itself possessed of an available means of putting out a fire—something which in the wildest flights of fancy the boroughite of a year ago would never have dreamed of.

—Such roadways as have recently been repaired, given a good top dressing, and rolled hard and smooth, are now in fine condition. The work of improvement needs to be greatly extended. Fifth street near Richmond is in a shocking state. West Seventh street, once the pride of the town, is in wretched condition. Even Eighth street needs patching up. And Park avenue deserves all of the care it is just now receiving, and a great deal more.

—A harvest home concert, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, will be held in Cutter's hall, 25 West Front street, Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Emmanuel Baptist church. The exercises will include singing, recitations, dialogues, etc., and will no doubt be very entertaining, as some of Plainfield's best talent will take part. At the close of the concert there will be good music and marching. Ice-cream and fruit will be served in abundance. The committee consists of E. B. Maynard, James Connett, W. R. Connett, Fred Dunham, Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Miss H. Mitchell, Miss Leek, Miss A. J. Vail.

OBITUARY.

Martha C. Brown.

At the residence of her father, William L. Smalley, 22 Craig place, this morning, there passed away Martha C., wife of George F. Brown, after a long and painful illness.

The departed was truly a noble woman—one of God's jewels. Her life was one of continual sweetness and purity. Her death was peace.

Sunday evening she called all the family to her bedside and with face radiant with joy told them that she was about to enter the Golden Gates. She bade them all a heartfelt good-bye, and whispered a message of love and holy counsel for each. She had no fear whatever of death, and her last earthly messages—standing as she did, her features illumined with celestial happiness, on the brink of Paradise—were good seed sown for the Saviour.

The end came at 5:25 this morning, and the bereaved family and their friends were left to meditate on the solemn and and beautiful lesson that the death of a good woman—the flight of a Christian soul—always brings.

Mrs. Brown's husband had sacrificed everything in his efforts to restore his loved one to health. He sold out his business, parted with his beautiful home, and took his wife to California, where he spent a year in trying the benefits and remedies of that climate. Finally, however, he was forced to bring her back to Plainfield to die. Her sufferings of late were excruciating, but now she is at rest forevermore. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon, at half-past 2, at Mr. Smalley's residence.

A Pleasant Evening With the Baptist Boys' Club.

The Boys' Club of the Young People's League of the First Baptist church had a very pleasant entertainment last evening.

The programme included a piano solo, Sydney Smith's Tarantelle third, by W. E. MacClymont, a violin solo by Harry Drake, and an address by Mr. Wilke of the Boys' Club of New York.

In his address Mr. Wilke explained the way in which his club was carried on. He told of their literary society and of the base-ball, foot-ball and lacrosse teams in their athletic society. He advised all the boys to play not only to win, but to play fair, all through life.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Wilke for his pleasant speech and kind words. A flash-light photograph was taken by L. H. Biglow, jr., refreshments were served, and thus closed a delightful evening. The refreshments were in charge of Miss Susie Woodland and Miss Bertha Needham.

Abridging the Hack Nuisance.

The limit of endurance has been reached, so far as the members of the Common Council are concerned, as to the number of hacks that are to be allowed to block up North avenue. At last night's meeting of the Council an application to run another stage was received from Edward K. Allen, who already runs one stage. Councilman Roberts said it was a shame and an outrage on the public to have even as many hacks huddled together in front of the station as there were already. Councilman Ackerman asked if there was any objection to Allen as a man. Councilman Smith said there was not. But he and Mr. Roberts had decided that as for them they would vote for no more hacks. The thoroughfare was already lumbered up with more than it would accommodate, and private vehicles had scarcely any show.

The application of Mr. Allen was refused by the vote of 6 to 4 Councilmen Ackerman, Ginna, Johnston and See voted for it.

Dr. Bliss Their Unanimous Choice, but He Voted With the Minority.

The Rev. John C. Bliss, D. D., formerly pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was yesterday elected Moderator of the Presbytery of New York which subsequently ordered, by a vote of 64 to 62, that the Rev. Dr. Briggs should be tried for heresy.

Great interest was taken in the election, as it was understood that the Moderator would not only probably be called upon to appoint many important committees, including a committee on revision, but would have to render important decisions in the Briggs case. Dr. John Hall was named, but declined. It was generally expected that the Rev Charles L. Thompson would be named, but the anti-Briggs men did not exactly like him. Dr. Bliss was finally chosen unanimously. He was a conservative, and his election seemed to please both sides. He afterwards voted with the 62 who wanted the whole matter tabled.

Completing the North Avenue Job.

The completion of that little job of paving with Belgian blocks the roadway in front of the North avenue railway station seemed for a long time to have been indefinitely postponed, but the workmen went at it again yesterday, and now the work is being rapidly completed.

At last night's meeting of the Common Council Mr. Ginna indulged in words of censure over the delay. Mr. Gallup of the street committee explained that an unavoidable lack of paving stone had been the cause of the wait.

Hotel Glenham.

I can attest to the efficacy of Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills—not only using them myself, but having given them to several of my friends, all of whom have been materially benefited by them. For cases of Dyspepsia and Torpid Liver I consider them invaluable. N. B. BARRY,

DARED A POLICEMAN.

But Though He Had His Family on Hand to Whip the Officer, He'll Never Bother Plainfield's Blue-coats Again.

Farmer Burnet, from over the mountains, will never again run against Plainfield's stalwart policemen. Some time ago officer Charles Giese was compelled to arrest him for misconduct on the streets. Yesterday afternoon Burnet and his two big sons were again in town, and the old man speedily became hilariously intoxicated.

In their travels about town the trio met policeman Giese, and Burnet immediately got himself in fighting trim. He sneered at the officer, dared the blue-coat to lay a finger on him, and said: "The reason you dassn't touch me is 'cause I've got my big boys with me."

Giese told the countryman to move on and behave himself, but his bucolic highness continued to stagger about, using all sorts of language, until he ran into three women, shook the breath out of them, and frightened the prettiest one almost into fainting in the gallant policeman's protecting arms.

Then Giese got on his muscle, grabbed Burnet by the collar, and tied him up into a knot before the astonished gentleman from the rural districts had time to draw two breaths, and proceeded to run him to the station-house. Burnet managed to get out one yell—"Come on, boys, sail in!"—but the big strapping young countrymen took to their heels and ran like the wind. Then, as Burnet fought and struggled viciously, Giese unceremoniously dumped him into a truck, seated himself comfortably on his wriggling body, had him carted to headquarters, and locked him in a cell.

When presented to his honor judge Codington, farmer Burnet was thoroughly subdued. The racket cost him a $5 fine. "I'll never buck a policeman again"—he ruefully said. His sons happened around, after awhile, with a wagon, bundled him into it, and took him home.

The Jaw-Breaker Arrested.

Cormick Cawfield, who smashed the jaw of his brother-in-law, Dominick Duffy, in a fight on West Third street, Saturday night, fracturing it in two places, was arrested by policeman Giese yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by judge Codington. Cawfield pleaded not guilty, and said that Duffy had started the fight and that he had acted merely in self-defense. He was released on his own recognizance in the sum of $100 for a hearing, to be given by judge Codington, Thursday.

The physician in charge of the case says that the danger of serious results is not so great from the broken jaw as from the wound on Duffy's thumb. That member was terribly torn by Cawfield's teeth, and the condition of the injury causes great anxiety. Duffy is not in fit condition to appear in court against his assailant.

Another Newspaper in Town.

Yesterday THE PRESS took down the sign it had borne on its first page so proudly for years—"Plainfield's only newspaper". Another arrived in town that day, and a bright, intelligent-looking and enterprising little fellow it is.

It is called the Courier and is owned and edited by Frank Willetts Runyon, proprietor of the Central Times. Besides publishing the local news it will be the organ of the Republican party of this city, which has for years needed a mouthpiece that would be heard and respected.

THE PRESS welcomes its young contemporary, heartily. If it continues as it promises, it will never fill the grave that is already yawning for one of the dailies of Plainfield.

A Two-Thousand-Dollar Levy.

Constable Mattox with a number of assistants, made a levy on the property of Michael Higgins, the liveryman, this morning. He took about everything of value—even the horses from the stages standing at the station.

The seizure was to satisfy chattel mortgages amounting to about $2,000, held by James Clark, William A. Woodruff and Eugene M. Laing. Mattox paraded his string of horses and carriages loaded with harness, robes, rugs, etc., through the city to the stables at Laing's hotel where they will be sold next Monday afternoon at one o'clock.

Boys' Club Notes.

(Contributed.)

The average attendance each evening for the month of September, was fifty-four. The number of visitors was sixty-three.

All members of the Edwards' Zouaves are requested to appear for drill to-morrow evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Don't forget the entertainment for the boys, next Monday evening.

A Very Late Bloomer.

Mrs. William Paine, of Somerset street, has a night-blooming cereus which on the 4th of this month had two flowers. Last year it had two blossoms on All Hallow E'en.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyon question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

THE DOCTORS DINE.

And Give Thanks to Their Host at the Albion.

The Medical Association of Plainfield met again, last evening, at The Albion. The following members were present: T. S. Davis, J. T. Fritts, G. W. Endicott, W. H. Murray, M. B. Long, M. S. Simpson, J. A. Allis, W. C. Boone, O. L. Jenkins and J. F. Griffen. At 9:30 they adjourned to the main dining room where ample justice was done to the following excellent menu:

Oysters on the Shell.
Celery, Olives, Pickles.
Lobster, a la Newburg.
Sweetbread Croquettes, with Cauliflower.
Roman Punch.
Cotelettes d'agneau.
Pommes Parisienne.
Sweet Potatoes, a la Maryland.
Spinach.
Chicken Salad.
Neapolitan Ice-Cream.
Fruits:
Peaches, Pears, Grapes.
Coffee, Nuts, Raisins.

The association meets quarterly at The Albion. The first meeting was held April 6, and the second, July 6. The kindly feeling existing among the medical fraternity of Plainfield, which is evidenced by these meetings, cannot fail to produce most satisfactory results. The members separated about 11 o'clock, but before retiring expressed their approbation of the entertainment provided for them by proprietor Miller.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Thomas L. Williams and mother, from Port Oram, are visiting Mrs. George Firstbrook, of Essex street.

J. E. Turrill, of Grove street, has set an example for his neighbors by removing the fence from in front of his place.

Mrs. Burke, of East Sixth street, and her daughter, Mrs. B. H. Bachman, are visiting relatives and friends in Philadelphia.

Edward C. Hancock, M. D., a partner of Dr. C. M. Field, has left Plainfield to practice in a town less crowded with physicians and surgeons.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voehl have gone to Hamilton, Ontario, for two weeks. He took his gun with him expecting to shoot enough seal for a fur overcoat.

Captain Grant, of the police force, is recovering steadily but slowly. The doctors say a spell of cold weather will do more for him now than they can.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bettman will celebrate, to-morrow evening, the 25th anniversary of their wedding, with a silver reception at their handsome home on Willow avenue, Washington Park.

Ovide Musin, the greatest violinist in the World, has been secured by the managers of Music Hall to appear with a company of other solo artists in a grand concert in this city, the evening of the 22nd inst.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rubens Berckman, mother of Emil Berckman of Steiner place, received considerable attention, Sunday, at the hands of the New York World, which occupied three columns in telling that she was a descendant of Rubens the great painter, and in detailing the various little romances of her life. She is now an octogenarian.

One of the pleasing features of the programme at the reception to mechanics at the Y. M. C. A., Thursday of this week, will be banjo solos by William Aten of Somerville, who is familiarly known as "Bill Aten" of engine No. 169. Mr. Aten ran for years the fastest trains on the P. & R. and B. & O. railroads. He will be accompanied by four other musicians.

The late Mrs. Catherine Sauermann, whose funeral toook place from the German Reformed church, last Sunday, was one of the oldest inhabitants of Plainfield. She came to this city with her husband in 1849, and had lived here ever since. She was a veteran of the local German colony, having lived here when there were only two German families in the place.

Charles Place, mayor of North Plainfield, and John Ulrich, ex-judge and ex-assemblyman, of Plainfield, have taken up the pen for the Republican party, and each contributes to The Times of Trenton an editorial with his autograph annexed. Judge Ulrich's is entitled "How Republicans Are to Win Success by Deserving It", and Mayor Place's gives "The Reasons Why the People Should be Tired of the Present Rule". In commenting on Mr. Place's contribution The Times says: "He always writes, as he thinks, vigorously and practically."

Firemen Go to Somerville.

Thirty members of Gazelle Engine company went to Somerville this afternoon to participate in the parade of the firemen at that place. As they paraded through town on their way to the train they presented a very gay sight. Their red shirts, polished trumpets, and neat fatigue caps, caught the eye, and the strains of music by the band accompanying them was delightful to the ear. A number of the firemen wore the "pioneer" costume, with towering bearskin head-dress and gleaming axes. The Gazelle steamer and hose carriage were taken to Somerville, both in a state of holiday polish, and bedecked with flags and flowers. The Gazelles will undoubtedly take the town by storm and by the centre of attraction in the parade.

Plainfield Members of the Grand Jury.

The grand jury for the present term of court in Union county, was sworn in today. The members from this city are: ex-Councilman Tell A. Beguelin, Daniel Hogan, jr., and Jamel L. Slevin. Archer N. Martin, of Summit, is foreman.

NOW FOR PEACE STREET.

At Last it is to be Widened and Opened to the Brook.

The project to widen Peace street and extend it to the borough line was given a very material push forward by the Plainfield Common Council last night.

Early in the evening councilman Rushmore reported concerning the matter, for the committee on laws and ordinances.

At the previous meeting of the Council —he said—we were asked for an ordinance in the Peace street project. We then declined to present what was demanded, because the paper that we had was only a memorandum for an ordinance, and was not in shape to be legally acted on. Since then we have had several meetings, and have ascertained that under the act permitting Plainfield and North Plainfield to take action in the matter no progress could be made this year, and possibly not next year. We decided, therefore, that it would be best for the city to do its share of the work and let the borough go on when it is ready. Hence we have had the necessary ordinance prepared, and now present it.

Councilman Hetfield moved that the ordinance lie on the table. The motion was carried. There were nine ayes, and Mr. See's solitary no.

Later in the evening Mr. Hetfield presented an ordinance for the widening, laying out, and opening of Peace street to a uniform width of 60 feet from the Central railroad to Green brook.

Councilman Ackerman asked in what respects this ordinance differed from the one presented earlier in the evening. Mr. Hetfield replied that he had not read the other, and could not say. He presumed, however, that they were identical, having both been drawn by the Corporation Counsel. Mr. Ackerman thought it unnecessary to have ordinances duplicated in that fashion. Mr. Rushmore said that the ordinance which he had submitted had been drawn up by Mr. Marsh and carefully considered at a lengthy meeting of the committee. The committee had done its work to the best of its ability, and had presented the original copy of the ordinance. It had no personal feeling in the matter except to see everything done in a proper and regular way, and having the best interests of the movement at heart it would yield to the singular method of legislation now being employed and would not oppose the ordinance.

The ordinance was unanimously adopted on its first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to final passage.

A Councilman Criticizes.

Councilman Ginna took occasion at last night's meeting of the Common Council to criticise the action of the street committee in making large purchases of crushed stone without consulting the Council. He said it was irregular, and thought that the Council ought to have the awarding of all bids and the issuing of all orders.

Councilman Spangenberg said that such a course as the gentleman suggested had never been followed before. The present committee were merely doing as was customary last year. The stone they were buying was at a lower rate than ever before.

Mr. Ginna said he had not called the price into question. That was very satisfactory. Nor did he know the methods of the last Council. But he did n't like the present way of doing business.

Councilman Smith said that previous Councils had been very careless about orders for stone. The present method was far more to the city's interest than the old, when no records were kept and when accounts were so loosely arranged that the Council of 1890 had had to pay a bill of $217 for the Council of 1889 for which there was no order on record.

After further discussion in the same strain the matter was dropped, the impression of the listeners being that the work of the street committee was being very faithfully performed.

Adjusting Municipal Accounts.

From the 1st of January to the 1st of August, it is estimated, the fire department horses have done $2,000 worth of works on the streets which the street account has never paid for, and which the fire department account has missed For August and September careful account was kept, and the amount of work done was $217. Councilman Hetfield has a plan for transferring such earnings in the future to the fire department account. He submitted it to the Council last evening, but action was deferred for one month to get the opinion of the Corporation Counsel. Messrs. Hetfield, Roberts and Spangenberg alone voted against the delay.

Street Railway Projects.

The new street railway project of Thomas Nevins and associates, of which THE PRESS gave exclusive information yesterday, was not quite ripe for action of the Council last evening, but will probably be brought up at the next meeting.

The Columbia Commercial and Navigation Company withdrew for revision their application for a railway franchise, having learned that for a portion of their proposed route a franchise to another party, Mr. Nevins and company, had already been granted.

Men of brains originate, the unprincipled imitate. Counterfeit never have the true ring of the genuine. Wide-awake people refuse to be gulled. They insist on Hires's Root Beer, and are sure to get it.

DUNELLEN DOINGS.

A Bride and Groom Back from Their European Wedding Trip, and Other Jottings of Local Interest.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church held a consecration meeting Sunday night. Their regular annual business meeting will be held next Thursday evening.

The temperance people held their meeting on the church park lawn Sunday afternoon, with the thermometer 90 in the shade. Mr. Winans addressed the meeting. There will probably be no more such chances for out-door meetings this year, for cold weather is fast approaching.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Enander, who went to Europe about two months ago, on a wedding tour, returned last Saturday, on the steamship City of Berlin, which reached her pier a little after 2 o'clock. They arrived at Dunellen on the 4:38 train. Mr. Enander reports having had a delightful trip, and having seen many friends and relatives whom he never had met before. While abroad Mr. and Mrs. Enander traveled through Norway and Sweden, stopping at London on their way back. Mr. Enander purposes residing in Plainfield, where he is interested in the plumbing business. The serenaders were out and gave them the usual welcome that young married people receive.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taylor, of Taylor's hotel, and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Winges, left yesterday morning on a trip to Niagara Falls. They intend stopping at several prominent places before returning, and anticipate spending about two weeks from home.

The New Market building company, composed mostly of Jr. O. of U. A. M. members, has purchased a lot of Dr. Nelson, adjoining the Baptist church. It is intended to erect a two-story building, making a hall on the second floor which, when completed, will be the home of Friendship council. It will probably be completed by the 1st of January.

Dunellen's New Club.

On Thursday evening of last week, after the adjournment of the regular Democratic caucus held at the Park hotel, it was suggested by those present that a Democratic club be formed. The proposition was received with enthusiasm, and acted upon at once. Nearly fifty signatures were secured to begin with, and the prospects of a large enrollment are very bright. The name chosen was the "Democratic Club of Piscataway Township", and as the sentiment, "Young blood to the front" prevailed at the meeting, the following were elected officers:

President—P. Schultz.
Vice President—H. J. Swackhamer.
Secretary—H. L. Terry.
Treasurer—C. D. Boice, jr.

The members of the Executive Committee are: W. J. Winges, C. H. Ward, and P. M. Ising—well known as earnest and faithful workers in the Democratic cause. Rooms will shortly be secured, prominent speakers engaged, and the campaign will begin in earnest. The members to a man are sanguine that the club will prove a success, and do much towards advancing the principles of Democracy in the township, where the outlook for the Democratic party was never brighter than it is this fall.

The Next Attraction at Music Hall.

A New York paper says of the attraction engaged for Music Hall, next Saturday evening:

Agnes Herndon and her new play, "La Belle Marie", were welcomed by a very large and well-pleased audience yesterday. The play is a melodrama in five acts, which points a moral, and incidently furnishes occasion for mirth interpreted by some of the minor characters. Miss Herndon is furnished with a dual role exceedingly difficult to fill, and her success in presenting two such contrasting parts as a trusting country girl and a French woman of fashion is most creditable to her. Her quick transitions from gaiety and love, to fury and hatred, honest expression to deceit, with accent French to English, with facial expressions and manner, display great emotional power. She is supported by a satisfactory company.

Each Lamp $1 Less a Year.

The Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company will probably continue to illuminate the Plainfield streets for at least another year to come. The time for submitting bids was up at noon yesterday, and that company's bid was the only one received. The offer is to continue the present service at $15.50 per lamp of 25-candle power. The rate last year ranged from $14.60 to $17.50, according to the distance from the station. All new lamps added were of course in the outskirts, and were the high-rate lamps. The average cost per lamp was $16. The matter of arranging a contract was referred by the Common Council last night to the committee on public lights.

An Actress Burned in Music Hall.

Because of the advancing age of Mme. Janauschek, the actress, it is necessary nowadays to build her a dressing room on the stage. While in the apartment improvised for her at Music Hall, last Thursday evening, a piece of wire melted off and dropped from the mask over the gas jet on her head, and thoroughly frightened but little damaged her.

A Secret Project Yet.

A. D. Thompson, the wealthy ice dealer, lumber merchant, stock breeder, produce dealer, etc., has purchased a big tract of land on South avenue, adjoining the railroad track, west of the Oil-cloth Works. The purpose for which he has bought it THE PRESS is not yet permitted to divulge.

THAT NEW STATION AT ELIZABETH.

If Report be True It Will Soon be on Its Way to Completion.

Rumor has it that the contract for erecting a new station in Elizabeth for the Central railroad company has been awarded to Contractor Frank C. O'Reilly of Newark, but just how soon the work will be commenced is not yet made known.

The station will be erected directly opposite the old one on the point where Morris avenue now joins with the railroad. It will be of stone and will connect by way of tunnel with a smaller station to be built on the site of the present dilapidated structure. The cost of the new station it is said will be $40,000. In design it will be very much like the Market street station of the Pennsylvania railroad at Newark.

The Hunter's Moon Now Lights Our Skies.

The new moon, which is just becoming visible in the southwestern section of the sky, was ushered in on the 2d, and is called the Hunter's Moon, and next to the Harvest Moon is the most admired and best known of the year. Our satellite is still at a point in the ecliptic near enough to the sign of Aries for her to make a small angle with the eastern horizon when rising, though larger than that of last month's moon, which rose for several nights with comparatively slight change in the time of her appearance. The bright nights afforded by the unusual amount of moonlight during the Hunter's Moon were supposed in days of old to be a special interposition of Providence in behalf of the huntsmen in the pursuit of their favorite sport.

After the full on Oct. 17, the moon rises for three consecutive nights with an average difference considerably less than three-quarters of an hour. The conjunctions for the month are sixteen in number—rather more than usual. Of these, the moon figures in nine. She has already made her visit to Mercury, Saturn, and Venus, and to-day she exchanges compliments with Uranus. On Oct. 14 Jupiter and the growing crescent come to their nearest point for the month, but the too brilliant face of the three quarter moon will prevent this meeting having much significance, even were it a very much closer one than it is. On Oct. 20 the far-distant Neptune is in conjunction; on the 28th Saturn, for a second time in the month; on the 29th Mars, and on the 31st Uranus, also for a second time.

Board of Education Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening. Commissioners Kirkner, Babcock, Probasco and Finch were present. Principal Bulkley reported tuition money received for the first quarter amounting to $441. The committee on audit of the yearly financial account, reported the books examined and found correct. The following bills were presented and ordered paid: Andrews M'f'g Co., $182.00; C. W. Runyon, 10.00; J. B. Wilson, 215.68; McKesson & Robbins, 22.63; U. S. Express Co., 6.65; G. W. Leman & Bro., 45.00; A. B. Summers, 8.44; The H. B. Smith Co., 40.20; J. M. Hetfield, 7.00; Hoagland's Express, 2.50; Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Co., 21.15.

The collector of taxes reported the amount of school moneys collected for the month of September and deposited in banks, to be $493.04. The present janitors of the several schools were appointed for another year, and the necessary supplies required for use in the schools were ordered purchased.

The Last of the Peach Crop.

Peaches will still be in liberal supply in the markets all this week. The last of the New Jersey peaches will be shipped next week from Sussex county, and there will be also some from the Hudson River Valley. There is a great abundance of peaches in Western New York, and they may be had from there until destroyed by the frost. The season has been one of unusual length, besides one of great abundance. The earliest of the Georgia peaches came in June, and the latest from New York State in October, but peaches came from California ahead of the Georgia peaches, and will be in the East from that State after all other kinds have gone from the markets.

Complaints Against an Insane Asylum.

The residents of Sandford avenue are protesting strongly against the maintainance of the insane asylum kept by Dr. Cooley on that thoroughfare. They claim that it is a nuisance, and that the women and children of the neighborhood are kept in a state of nervous apprehension, not to say fear, by the actions and cries of the inmates at the barred windows. They are preparing a petition that the institution be removed to some less objectionable locality. Some of the property-holders have been notified by their tenants that its continued presence will compel them to move away, and the landlords are threatened with a row of vacant houses.

Bills, Bills, Bills.

The Plainfield Common Council still finds it easier to accumulate indebtedness than to collect taxes. Last night the amount of bills ordered paid for the month was $5,200. To meet them it had to authorize the borrowing of $2,000 and the transfer of $750 from the general fund to the fire department fund. The note of $3,000 falling due Oct. 9 was ordered renewed for 90 days.

THE proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

The City Council Less Tardy Than Usual.

The Plainfield Common Council very agreeably surprised the reporters last night by getting down to business at 8:15 and by adjourning at 9:45. All of the members were present except Mr. Johnston. President Smith apologetically remarked that "It was a little earlier than usual, gentlemen, but they would please come to order". Mr. Smith was not feeling well, so had Mr. Moffett occupy the chair for him. After the transaction of the evening's business adjournment was had to Oct. 19.

Carey's Bills Must Go.

At last action has been taken to remove those ugly advertising bills which ex-policeman Carey has nailed fast to the shade trees all over town. At the meeting of the City Common Council last evening councilman Ackerman introduced an ordinance prohibiting all such defacement of trees, and prescribing a fine of $15 for each offense. The ordinance was unanimously passed on its first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to final adoption.

New Officers.

The annual election of officers for the Y. P. S. C. E. of Trinity Reformed church, resulted last evening as follows:

President—Miss E. C. Benedict.
First Vice-president—H. J. Martin.
Second Vice-president—W. F. Oliver.
Recording Secretary—C. D. Wheeler.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Mabel Woodruff.
Treasurer—Miss Fannie Schomp.

Stabbed His Brother Fatally.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—Yesterday Edward and Richard Scoot, brothers, were playing billiards in Harry Davis' hall. After a slight quarrel between the brothers had apparently been settled, Edward, aged 23, drew a dirk and plunged the blade, first into Richard's neck, then into his left lung, inflicting a fatal injury. Richard is 19 years of age. No one knows what were the causes leading to the quarrel.

HEART FAILURE.

The Warnings Are Plain—Beware!

No hour passes that some one does not drop dead of Heart Failure. The first symptoms of this fatal disease may be slight, but do not fail to heed them if you value your life!

A nervous, weak, weary feeling, giddiness, swimming of head, strange, faint feelings trembling, sinking sensation, coldness of feet and legs, fluttering or palpitation of heart, feeling of apprehension, anxiety, drowsiness daytimes, sleeplessness nights.

Neglect of these symptoms will result in Heart Failure, Spasms, or Neuralgia of the Heart or Death.

If you use the great nerve and heart remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura, when the first symptoms appear, it will prevent all danger of heart failure. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and its use offers the only sure hope of curing this terrible disease and averting the fatal result. Druggists sell it for $1.

WELL AT BREAKFAST—PROSTRATED AT NOON.

"I was troubled with heart disease. Some mornings I would be surprised when I woke and found myself alive, for I expected a sudden death any moment. I bought a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura, and must say that it has rapidly brought me to health and strength. I have now taken four bottles and call myself cured, and I must certainly say that it is the most wonderful remedy for the Nerves, Brain and Heart that has ever been discovered.

THE MAN WHO NEVER WAS.

Why the Ghost of Thomas J. McSwiggan Labored in Vain.

Howard Fielding Makes Public a Strange and Decidedly Mysterious Conversation Between a Spook and a Night Clerk in a Drug Store.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

The writer of the letter which is herewith given to the public requested me to send it to the Society for Psychical Research, an organization formed in Boston for the purpose of investigating things which do not exist. Without further apology I present the weird and somber narrative:

THE MAN WHO NEVER WAS.

I am a night clerk in a New York drug store, and there are many other matters which, in a lesser degree, prey upon my conscience. But let that pass; it is never too late to repent.

My employers are exceptionally fortunate in the location of their establishment. All but six of the saloons on the block are out of favor with the police, and close promptly at one o'clock. From that hour until daylight our business is usually good and I am seldom troubled with ennui. But on the night of which I write trade was bad. A cold, dreary wind howled along the streets, bearing the flaky upper crust of ash-barrels and chunks of frozen sewer gas from the excavation on Broadway.

About two o'clock I sold half a pint of laudanum to a woman in a calico dress who said she was unable to go to sleep. Her excited demeanor and the dark circles under her eyes left me no doubt that she was truly much in need of rest and would get a great deal of it very soon. Then, as there were no customers in the back room, I tilted a chair against the counter near the stove and was in a doze almost at once.

I was awakened by a draft of cold air from the door. Something uncanny in the chill of it suggested ghosts, but I couldn't suppose that the woman in the calico dress had come back so soon. It might be the one who bought Rough-on-Rats about eleven. No; it was a male figure, and it was bending over the directory. There was an air so strange about this customer that I felt he would bear watching. Presently he sighed and turned away from the book.

"It's no use," he said, despondently, "I shall never find him. It's a weary search."

He dropped into a chair facing me, and I was disquieted to observe that the back of it was dimly visible even after he had sat down. I endeavored to maintain a careless demeanor, but in reality I felt as if I'd swallowed a balloon.

"Do you mind my sitting by your fire a minute?" he asked.

"Not at all; not at all," I replied, hastily. "Get right inside if you think you'd feel more at home."

"I am, as you suppose, a spirit," he began.

"Then perhaps you'd better come into the back room," said I, endeavoring to brace up my courage by bandinage.

"But I am not a bad spirit."

"Then don't come. You'd feel out of place."

"Young man," said he, checking my levity with a gesture, "do you know Thomas J. McSwiggan?"

"I dunno," I faltered; "you scare me so that I can't think."

"While you are endeavoring to collect your senses," he said, "I will tell you why I wish to find Mr. McSwiggan. I am his ghost. I am appointed to haunt McSwiggan."

"Then why don't you go haunt him," I cried. "Isn't my ghost attending to his business?"

"He is," said the visitor, solemnly. "Arduous and unpleasant as his duties are I am told that he performs them. I would go to McSwiggan, as you suggest, but unhappily I cannot find him. Listen to my story. McSwiggan was entirely unheard of in the place where I came from until he reached the age of twenty-one. We infer that this was his age because we first saw his name on the registration list of the third precinct of this election district. He must therefore have been of legal age—"

"Well," said I, "that depends a little upon which way he was going to vote."

"I was sent to hunt him up, and secured his address from the list. It was No. 207 on this street. What was my surprise to find it a vacant lot. Nobody in its vicinity had ever heard of McSwiggan. I endeavored to obtain some information by pursuing one Bagley, who has, I am told, great political influence hereabouts."

"Yes," I assented. "Bagley carries this ward in his pocket."

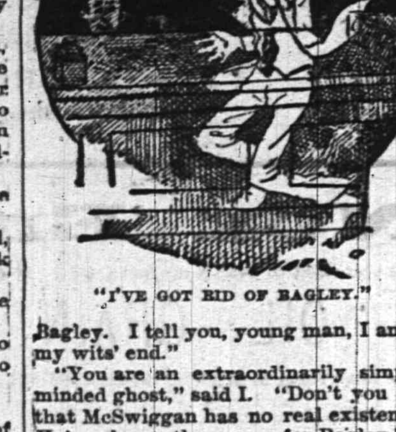
"I went to Bagley's saloon and asked about McSwiggan and he told me to go—well, never mind. Even if I had been sure of McSwiggan it is against our orders to wait for anybody in the place which Bagley suggested. Something in my manner of questioning exasperated Bagley to such a degree that he rushed me with the evident intention of biting off my nose. I immediately assumed the vaporous and unsubstantial shape which I now wear, so that Bagley went clear through me and bit a piece out of the stove. A soft answer turneth away wrath: he let me alone after that. I strolled out into the street, and then for the first time noticed the sign over the door of Bagley's saloon. It was not Bagley's name, but McSwiggan's which appeared there. I made further inquiries, but could learn nothing, except that McSwiggan had never been seen about the place."

"It's only a blind," said I, "Bagley really owns the dive."

"I next found McSwiggan's name on the petition for a license for Bagley's other saloon. He certified that Bagley was a person of good moral character, and that his saloon was always quiet and orderly. It then occurred to me that possibly McSwiggan might be deaf and blind or of feeble intelligence and wholly under the care of others, so with these clews I continued my search, but in vain. Later, I was convinced that he could not be thus incapacitated, for I found his name on the pay roll of a city department. Bagley is his immediate superior in this department, and McSwiggan's pay appears to reach him through Bagley's hands; so here again I was foiled.

"It was only a few days afterward that McSwiggan's name again appeared in court, in the case of a man who lost consciousness and a portion of one ear in the saloon which, as I have already explained, Bagley doesn't own. The man at first declared that Bagley did it and that nobody else was present at the time. The court then took a recess during which Bagley's friends reasoned with the complainant and evidently convinced him that he had been in error, for when he took the stand later he thoroughly exonerated Bagley and cast the blame upon McSwiggan. It had been previously shown that when the police broke into the saloon to save the complainant's life, they had found all the doors and windows fastened on the inside. This left McSwiggan's escape unaccounted for until Bagley arose and testified that he had seen McSwiggan crawl into an empty beer keg through the bung hole immediately after the assault. He (Bagley) had been so much agitated in mind that he had neglected to point out the criminal's hiding place to the police. The case was dismissed.

"Then I learned that McSwiggan had influence by which men could get on the police force; but here again I found that all negotiations were made through



"I'VE GOT RID OF BAGLEY."

Bagley. I tell you, young man, I am at my wits' end."

"You are an extraordinarily simple-minded ghost," said I. "Don't you see that McSwiggan has no real existence? He's only another name for Bagley."

"Do you—do you realize," gasped the specter, "to what your view of the case condemns me? I should have to follow Bagley into all the society he frequents; to do everything he does. No, no! It would be too horrible. Do you think that cyanide of potassium would have any effect upon a ghost? Give me all you have in the shop."

"It is against the law to sell poison without a physician's prescription," said I. "However, for a dollar I will make out the prescription myself."

He produced the necessary coin, and I gave him a water pail full of the cyanide. He thanked me for it and said he would go out into a remote corner of space and eat it. For a week or more I saw nothing of him, and I had begun to believe that the large overdose of cyanide had enabled him to throw off his irksome responsibility when one night he came again, but this time radiant with joy.

"I've got rid of Bagley," he said.

"Congratulate you, Spookey, old boy," said I. "How did you do it?"

"Why you see, that night when I talked with you I was so horrified by the thought of haunting Bagley that I forgot to consider an important part of our duties. We are expected, while we imitate the acts of the body, to guard and admonish the souls of those whom we accompany."

"Well, Bagley needs it as badly as anybody I know."

"Yes, but you see he's one of your New York ward bosses, and they don't have any souls." HOWARD FIELDING.

HOW IT WAS DONE

Trumpbour Tells of the Ulster Bank Wrecking.

STEALING FOR TWENTY YEARS.

He Was Led Into the Crime by Ostrander, Who, He Says, is "Slick."

Ostrander Used the Money in Speculation—A Number of Others Implicated—Cashier Van Nostrand Accused of Helping to Conceal the Thefts—Trumpbour Does Not Know Whether Anyone Else Besides Ostrander Stole Any Money—The Total Shortage $513,000—Quiet Now in Kingston.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—M. T. Trumpbour made a full confession of his crime yesterday. He talked fully and freely, giving in detail the manner in which he and Treasurer Ostrander plundered the Ulster County Savings Institution and covered up their operations for more than 20 years.

He throws most of the blame on Ostrander's shoulders. It was Ostrander, he says, who got most of the $513,000 stolen from the bank. He also implicates several others.

Ostrander had been stealing three years before Trumpbour found it out. When remonstrated with, Ostrander pleaded for the sake of his wife and children not to be exposed, and unfolded a plan by which the defalcation could be made good.

"Ostrander is one of the finest bookkeepers I ever knew," said Trumpbour. "His plan was to make false transfers from the depositors' ledgers to the trial balance sheets."

"Of course, it was was almost impossible to detect the fraud. His scheme, which was simple, though very ingenious, amounted to nothing more than representing to the examiner that our deposits were smaller than they actually were.

"When Ostrander unfolded his plan to me I at first rebelled against becoming a party to it, but at last I yielded, Ostrander promising to make up the shortage as soon as he could. He did not make it up, but on the contrary continued taking more and more of the bank's money and losing it in gambling operations.

"Yes, I continued year after year to falsify the depositors' balances. Of course I was a fool to do it. I was not the only one, however, whom he used in covering up his defalcation. Alfred Van Nostrand, the chief bookkeeper, was just as guilty as I, if not more so. He also used the bank's money, and at the time of my arrest his account was overdrawn for a far greater amount than mine. I don't remember the exact amount, but it was over $3,000.

"Andrew Scott, collector for the bank, was also fully aware of the condition of its affairs and Ostrander's deficit. I speak the absolute truth when I say that I had no idea the shortage was anything like $513,000. Van Nostrand, who helped make up the trial balances, must have made many false transfers that I knew nothing about. It may be that he worked exclusively under Ostrander's direction, or it may be that he was covering a separate defalcation.

ALL QUIET AT KINGSTON.

Mob Fury Has Subsided—A Legal Fight Over the Receivership.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The scenes of turmoil and chaos which have reigned are now transformed into quiet calmness and the usual tranquility and order are restored. One can scarce imagine such a complete transformation in so brief a period of time. Wall street, the principal thoroughfare, on which is located the courthouse and the insolvent institution, which Monday was filled with an excited mob, is now almost deserted.

There have been no new developments as regards the amount of stolen funds. Bank Examiner Judson says it will take about two weeks more to complete the investigation. In his opinion the total defalcation will not exceed the sum first reported. The missing trial balance books have been found, secreted in a drawer. It has also been discovered that the balance sheets have been falsified.

Yesterday at the request of Ostrander and Trumpbour they had an interview in jail with Alfred Van Nostrand, the bookkeeper of the insolvent institution. Sheriff Dill was present at the conference. The culprits asked Van Nostrand how the published amount of the defalcation was reached. He replied that it had been discovered by a thorough examination of the books. Trumpbour stated that the deficiency was not so large.

Confidence has in part been restored by the appointment of County Treasurer Brodhead as receiver. Leading depositors and business men feel assured that he will serve the best interests of all persons. There is, however, some disapproval over the selection, and a legal fight over a permanent receiver will be made.

At the request of the trustees of the Kingston Savings Bank, Supt. Preston has put an expert examiner to work on the accounts of that institution to ascertain its condition.

Union Workmen on a Strike.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—About 160 union workmen employed on the Columbus Theatre struck yesterday morning because the name of their union superintendent, G. W. Brown, appeared on the programme of the opening performance as "foreman of the mason work," when he is general superintendent of the job. It seems that Mr. Brown, the superintendent, had some words with the owners of the building about the mistake on the programme, and was discharged, whereupon all the union men quit work.

Fifteen hundred live hogs were roasted to death during a fire in J. P. Squire & Co.'s packing establishment in Somerville, Mass. The flames caused a damage of about $150,000.

MISS BISLAND MARRIED.

The Fair Literateur Starts Out on Another Long Journey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Miss Elizabeth Bisland, whose fame as a magazine writer was enhanced by her description of her flying trip around the world became Mrs. Charles W. Wetmore last evening. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Houghton in the Church of the Transfiguration.

The wedding was private, only the immediate friends of the bride and groom being present. There were no bridesmaids and the customary reception was dispensed with.

Mr. Wetmore is 36 years old and a member of the law firm of Barlow & Wetmore, Wall street. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman and a member of the Seawanhaka Yacht Club. He is a stockholder in the whaleback steamship enterprise, and the whaleback vessel recently in this port bears his name.

His bride was born at Camp Bisland, Fairfax Plantation, on the Teche, near New Orleans. Her family, one of the oldest in the South, lost its entire property while she was a child. Several years ago she started out to earn her own livelihood by writing for the press.

She is a beautiful young woman and has achieved a distinct success in the literary world.

THE BLAINE DIVORCE SUIT.

Young James G. Denies the Charge of Desertion and Pleads Poverty.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 7.—The answer in the divorce suit of Marie-Nevins Blaine against James G. Blaine, jr., was served upon Mrs. Blaine yesterday.

She asks for a decree of divorce and custody of their child and for suitable alimony. Mr. Blaine in his reply denies that he deserted his wife, but claims that she deserted him.

He pleads poverty and urges that he has an income of but $2,000 a year, which will cease Dec. 1 next. He makes a plea for the custody of the child.

There will probably be a hard fight for the child, who resembles his grandfather.

Trinity Church Litigators in Session.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—The national convention of the alleged heirs of Anneke Jans Bogardus, better known as Anneke Jans, is in session here with a large attendance from various parts of the United States as well as from Canada. The object of the promoters is to bring into existence an international organization with headquarters in this city. Branches of this organization are to be formed in different states. When sufficient money has been collected the litigation between the heirs and Trinity Church, which has occupied the New York courts at intervals for the last 200 years, is to be renewed with redoubled energy. The heirs say that the estate to be sued for is now worth $200,000,000.

Massachusetts Mule Spinners.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 7.—The semi-annual meeting of the National Mule Spinners' Association was held here yesterday. Delegates were present from Fall River, Lawrence, New Bedford, Lowell, Lewiston, Nashua, Dover, Pawtucket, Waltham, Augusta, Waterville, Biddeford and other places. The meeting was secret. The business done was the reading of reports and listening to addresses by Senator Howard and others. The report of the secretary showed that grievances existed only in the Pacific Mills in Lawrence. The trouble at these mills will be discussed to-day.

Wants $174,000 for an Alleged Swindle.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—A sensational suit has been commenced against the officers and stockholders of the United States Starch Company of Waukegan, Ill., by Silas W. Pettit, in which he says the officers of the company have defrauded him and others out of $174,000, which they persuaded him and his friends to invest in the stock of the starch works. The swindle, it is alleged, grew out of the sale of patents for making dry starch, which are said to have turned out to be utterly worthless.

Editor Fined Six Cents.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 7.—W. N. Tyler, editor of the Rhinebeck "Gazette," was on trial in the circuit court yesterday charged with criminal libel. In his paper Tyler censured Charles Van Steepberg, a Rhinebeck constable, for making an arrest without a warrant and charged the constable with being intoxicated at the time. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and Tyler was fined six cents.

How Arizona Stands.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The annual report of N. O. Murphy, Acting-Governor of Arizona, shows that there is fully $70,000,000 taxable property in Arizona. The total indebtedness of the Territory is placed at $855,280, and the indebtedness of several counties, $2,175,805. The estimated output of copper is placed at 30,000,000 pounds; gold $1,312,955 and silver $1,683,585.

Estee and Cheney, Probably.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—From an inspired source it was learned late last night that the President has decided upon Estee, of California, and Cheney, of New Hampshire, to fill the two Cabinet vacancies to occur in November by the withdrawal of Proctor and Miller.

THE GIRLS ARE MAD

Wesleyan Students Not in Love With a New Order.

RESTRICTIONS UPON CALLING.

Favored Young Men's Visits to "The Roost" to Be Cut Short.

Under the New Law the Young Fellow Can See His Fair One But Once a Week. The Girls Can Receive But Three Times a Week, and the Young Man Shall Be a Different One at Each Sitting—A Vigorous Protest.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 7.—Wesleyan University has a lively sensation, and the young women students are freely expressing their minds regarding a new order from the college authorities.

Wesleyan has many pleasant young men among its students, and the girls have found them agreeable companions in their hours of leisure. The young gentlemen have been permitted to escort the girls to entertainments and social gatherings under the eye of a chaperon, but also to call upon them at their dormitory, which in the slang of the institution is known as "the roost."

President Raymond recently conceived the idea that the calls of the young gentlemen should be systematized and brought under the college regulations. The matter was talked over by the faculty, and it was concluded that some plan should be adopted whereby the president might know which of the young gentlemen were frequenting "the roost," and which of the young ladies were the special attractions to them. The outcome of the affair was that a general restriction has been placed upon the calls. The new rule requires the filling of a card in this form:

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., ——, 1891.
Signature of caller ——.
Residence ——.
Evening ——. Hour ——.
Gentlemen are requested to bear in mind the following facts:
1. The ladies do not receive later than 10 o'clock.
2. The ladies desire caller to conform to his card.
Not transferable.
Name of lady ——.

The members of the faculty claim that the use of these cards will operate advantageously in several ways. They can ascertain whether certain students are calling too frequently; whether it is advisable on account of the personal character of any of them to shut off the privilege, and also to avert the inconvenience of a young lady having too many callers in an evening.

A young gentleman can hereafter obtain only one card a week, on which is designated the evening he may call. Each young lady may receive not exceeding three evenings in a week, and the faculty, it is understood, will favor a different caller for each evening rather than to permit a fair student's "best young man" to monopolize her entire three evenings.)

Neither the young gentlemen nor the young ladies have objected to the chaperon system, but they are agreed in protesting against President Raymond's new rule as an uncalled for interference with their individual rights and privileges.

The Phillipsburg Bank Said to be Sound.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Oct. 7.—Nothing new has developed in the affairs of the troubled banks in this vicinity. It is said the liabilities of the Phillipsburg Bank are $380,000, and the assets $400,000. An official statement will shortly be made in regard to the banks' affairs. There was something of a run on the Moshannon Bank, at Moshannon, Pa., but all demands were promptly met. President Dill of the Clearfield Bank will have a hearing on Friday.

His Grief Led to Suicide.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 7.—Hon. R. F. Bole, a prominent member of the Erie bar and a resident of Corry, committed suicide yesterday morning by shooting himself through the head. He was a brother of Hon. William Bole, who failed for a large amount a year ago and it is believed that weighed heavily upon the suicide's mind. Deceased had been mayor of Corry. He leaves a wife and one child.

The Original of Sir Joseph Porter.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The Right Hon. William Smith, who died yesterday, was the living prototype of Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B. Mr. Smith had a yacht called the Pinafore, and the advice to "stick to your desks and never go to sea, and you all may be rulers of the Queen's navee," was the practice literally followed by Mr. Smith to attain the position of "monarch of the sea."

Suit for Infringing on "Extra Dry."

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Peter Herman Von Mumm and Max Von Guaita of Frankfort, Prussia, and Alexandre de Bury of Reims, France, have begun suit in the United States Circuit Court against Morris Loeb of this city for infringement of their trade mark on their "Extra Dry" champagne.

POOL ROOMS RAIDED.

An Effort to Break Up the Business—Commissions a Myth.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The police raided the pool rooms yesterday and arrested thirty-five persons interested or employed in the rooms. This action on the part of the authorities was the result of a consultation between Inspector Byrnes and District Attorney Nicoll.

Hitherto under existing judicial decisions the pool rooms have been enabled to do business on the supposition that the transactions were on a commission basis and that orders given in the rooms would be telegraphed to agents at the track where they would be executed. Of course it was well known that none of the money taken in at the rooms found its way to the track, but this was difficult to prove.

The Inspector tried a plan whereby he expects to get several convictions and thus break up the pool room business. He had men at the track and others in all the pool rooms and they accurately noted the time the horses started at the track and up to what time the pool rooms took bets on the races.

In this way it is hoped to prove money was taken in on races at the rooms after the horses had started in the different events, and thus show that the commission business is a myth.

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

No Possibility of Finding the Entombed Miners Alive at Glencarbon.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 7.—All hope has been given up of reaching the entombed miners alive. The work of the rescuing party is very slow on account of the treacherous condition of the roof, which threatens to fall at any moment. Superintendent Kelly, who was injured in the cave-in Saturday, is directing his men, in spite of the fact that his bruises give him much pain. Michael Grant, who had his skull crushed in, is dying.

The relatives and friends of the entombed men refuse to give up hope and still linger about the mouth of the slope. Their faces light up eagerly when any one emerges from the mine, but a simple shaking of the head is sufficient to make them relapse into a condition of watching and waiting.

The coroner yesterday impannelled a jury and began an investigation into the disaster. The body of one of the victims was viewed, but the jury reserved its verdict and was continued until after the bodies of the other six men are recovered. The jury will also investigate the rumor that the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, the operators of the colliery, neglected the usual precautions to prevent such an accident.

German Day Celebration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—German Day was celebrated in Washington with appropriate ceremonies. A large military, civic and trade's procession paraded the streets of the city, being reviewed by the President as it passed the Executive Mansion, and disbanded at the Scheutzen Park, where a promenade concert and varied amusements took place. Hon. L. W. Habercom, Fifth Auditor of the Treasury delivered an address in German, and Hon. Simon Wolff, ex-Consul-General to Egypt, followed with a speech in English. A pyrotechnic display concluded the day.

Methodist Ecumenical Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The Methodist Ecumenical Conference, which opened here to-day, is to be one of the most remarkable religious gatherings ever convened in the United States. The Ecumenical Conference, as its name implies, is composed of the representatives of all the various branches of Methodism established throughout the world. This will be only the second conference of the kind, the first having been held in London ten years ago. The London gathering was a great success, to which the American delegates largely contributed. The conference here will be on a larger scale.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 7.—Over 600 delegates were in attendance when the fifth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union opened here last evening. Rev. Julius A. Herald, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivered the address of welcome. Rev. Dr. Bender, of Altoona, vice-president of the Union, responded. The address of President Rev. George B. Stewart, of Harrisburg, was the event of the evening. Receptions were held at a number of the city churches. The meeting will continue to-day and to-morrow.

The Veiled Prophet Celebration.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—Last evening the great pageant of the Veiled Prophet passed through the principal down-town streets to the Chamber of Commerce building where His Highness was tendered a reception and ball at which the beauty, wealth and aristocracy of St. Louis were handsomely represented. The subject chosen for the floats in the pageant was scenes from the works of popular writers of fiction. There were twenty-two floats in the procession, each float drawn by four horses, and in beauty of design and decoration surpassed all tableaux of previous years.

New Translation of the Bible.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—Prof. Paul Haupt, chief of the Semitic Department of Johns Hopkins University, has just returned from London and Berlin, where he had a conference with noted scholars in reference to a new translation of the Bible. It is proposed to include in this translation not only the Old and the New Testaments, but also the Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha. The character of the work will be international, though the project is to be brought out under American auspices.

Brilliant Society Wedding.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 7.—Dr. Robert Taylor, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Miss Florence Templeman, daughter of R. W. Templeman, were married in Christ's Protestant Episcopal Church last evening by Rev. William Bodine, assisted by Revs. Kirkus and Graham. The church was packed to overflowing with Baltimore's most fashionable society.

IS SHE HIS WIDOW?

A Woman Who Says She Was Millionaire Allen's Wife.

CAME TO HIS GRAVE AT NIGHT.

Allen's Sister Denounces the Claimant as an Impostor and Adventuress.

The Millionaire Popularly Supposed to Have Been Unmarried—The Woman Said to Have Proved Conclusively That She Was Allen's Legal Wife—She Wept Over the Grave of the Deceased Until Guards Drove Her Away.

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 7.—When E. C. Allen, the millionaire publisher, died on Aug 9 last he was supposed to be an unmarried man and his vast fortune was being divided among his relatives until a very recent date, when a woman appeared with papers in support of her declaration that she was the wife of the dead millionaire.

The manner of her appearing added to the mystery of the case. Two guards were stationed at the grave to frustrate any attempt to steal the body. On the night following the funeral a woman heavily veiled appeared at the grave at about midnight. She threw herself upon the grave and wept bitterly for about half an hour. The two guards, thinking she was a member of the family, did not interfere, and she was allowed to depart unmolested.

On the following night the woman again appeared at the same hour and wept over the grave. This time she was challenged by the guard as she was about to depart. She attempted to run, but fell and was caught.

Her veil was torn by the fall and she was seen to be a beautiful woman. She demanded in French an explanation of her detention. The guards told her what their instructions were. Then the woman said she was a relative of the dead man and had a right to be there. She was allowed to go.

The next day the guards told Mr. Allen's sister of the episode, and she denounced the woman as an impostor. Since then the woman has sought Miss Allen, and it is said, has proved conclusively to the latter that she was the legal wife of the late publisher. Members of the family refuse to talk about the matter.

Oscar Holway, one of the administrators of the Allen estate, says, however, that no woman has made any claim upon him for a share in the Allen estate as Allen's widow.

Methodist Local Preachers Adjourn.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 7.—The convention of the National Association of Methodist Local Preachers adjourned last evening. Officers were elected as follows: President, John R. Wright, D. D., of Washington; First Vice President, Chauncey Shaffer, L. L. D., of New York; Secretary, D. T. MacFarlane, of New York; Assistant Secretary, George B. Jones, of Philadelphia; Corresponding Secretary, C. C. Leigh, of New York; Treasurer, James North of Baltimore.

Another Reservation to Be Opened.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—It is reported on good authority that the Nez Perces reservation will be declared open by the President in a very short time. This reservation lies in the heart of the Cherokee strip, just west of the Santa Fe Railroad, and is the richest land in the Territory. The tribe has had their lands allotted and there are over 500 quarter sections which the President can declare open at any time.

Suing Her Husband's Parents.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Mrs. J. C. Eldredge of this place has begun suit against her husband's parents for $20,000 damages for alienating her husband's affections. The Eldredges are an old and wealthy family.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

Col. B. A. Lee, of the Third New Jersey regiment, is ill at his residence in Keyport.

Robert Henry Siebold, of Hackensack, N. J., fell overboard from a yacht in Jamaica Bay, and was drowned.

Judge Lippincott in Jersey City, refused bail in the case of Thomas F. Smith, indicted for ballot box frauds.

The Citizens' Association for the Suppression of Nuisances of Jersey City has raised $1,000 and employed counsel to begin the necessary proceedings to abate the nuisance caused by the hog abattoir on the Hackensack meadows.

John Kelly, of Jersey City, has obtained judgment of $2,500 against the Central Railroad of New Jersey in the Hudson county circuit court for injuries sustained by being thrown from a platform of a train in rounding a curve.

Dissatisfaction is felt in Hackensack over the verdict of accidental death rendered by the coroner's jury in the case of Peter Conlin, found dead with a fractured skull in Demarest Van Riper's barn a week ago. Foul play is suspected.

Joseph Puglia, the Paterson Italian whose wife recently eloped with his bookkeeper, taking $2,000 of his money with her, has recovered the greater part of the amount through the United States Minister to Belgium, where the couple had fled.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Senator Hoar has inaugurated a movement at Worcester, Mass., to raise a statute to Gen. Devins.

William McKay's boat building shops and a large dry house at Newburyport, Mass., were burned yesterday.

While on his way to a funeral at Bozrah, Conn., the Rev. George Cryer, aged 74 years, died in his carriage. With one hand he was holding the reins and with the other his bible.

CIGARETTES GOING UP.

The Manufacturers' Price Raised, and the Retailers Protesting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—There is a deal of grumbling among the retail cigar and cigarette dealers of this city, and it is possible that an extensive boycott will be instituted against the wholesale dealers and manufacturers very shortly. This will, of course, mean that no more cigarettes will be smoked in New York for a long time, and the retailers declare that they will positively refuse to handle "students' lamps" until the manufacturers reduce the price to its original standard.

The American Tobacco Company raised the price of cigarettes 20 cents a thousand the first of the month. This company is a combination of these firms: W. Duke, Sons & Co. of New York, Kinney & Co., Goodwin & Co., Duke, Sons & Co., Durham, N. C.; Allen & Ginter of Richmond, Va., and W. S. Kimball & Co., of Rochester. These are the leading cigarette manufacturers of the country.

The Anniversary Commemorated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Deutsche Verein of this city gave a banquet last night in commemoration of the 208th anniversary of the landing of the first band of German settlers in the ship Concord at Germantown, Pa., in 1683. Prominent among the guests were G. R. R. Wormuth, World's Fair Commissioner for the German Empire; Consul-General A. Feigel, William Steinway, L. Windmuller, Charles Stewart Smith, Waldo P. Clement, Dr. Timme and Dr. Boldt.

Fire at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7.—Fire in the attic of the East Divinity Hall, Yale University, damaged it to the extent of $10,000. The fire was caused by a defective flue. About 60 of the Theological students, who roomed in the building, sustain losses of from $100 to $250 each on books, and several private libraries belonging to professors were destroyed.

Registration in New York City.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Yesterday was the first day of registration in this city. A comparison with the first day's registration in 1890 shows an increase of over 7,000 names. There were 72,740 names enrolled.

Return of an Indian Expedition.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 7.—The Salisbury expedition to the Calipagos Indians, headed by Dr. Bawe, of Clark University, has returned with a large collection of specimens valuable to science.

Union Pacific Claims.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—More than 50 per cent. of the claims of Union Pacific creditors have been exchanged for the three years' notes, a portion by people who originally refused to sign the agreement.

—Smith Wyckoff, the obliging porter at the Central Pharmacy, has been granted a week's vacation by manager Leggett.

—The Junior Endeavor Society of Trinity church will meet to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

—Two Plainfield sportsmen spent all day yesterday hunting for game in the brown October foliage, and got only one lone woodcock.

—Henry Rogers of Washingtonville has an open-air bed of strawberry plants in bloom again. On some of the plants the berries have set.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church sent away a big box of garments and good things to some needy people yesterday.

—The monthly business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the rooms, 73 West Front street, to-morrow afternoon, following Mrs. Ellis's Bible reading.

—J. C. Pierson & Co., whose house is famous throughout the two counties for the superiority of its goods, are back at their old stand, 42 West Front street, and have a fine new stock of every sort of hardware.

—M. A. Higgins says that he has a new lot of horses, stages, etc., on which nobody has any claim, and with which he will continue business as heretofore, despite the coming constable's sale of his old stock, which he says he is glad to get rid of.

—The delegates from this city to the national conference of the Unitarian church recently in session at Saratoga, speak with satisfaction of the substitution of water for wine in the communion service conducted by the Rev. Edward Everett Hale. They think it a custom that is to be commended in the interest of temperance.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. James T. Vegiard returned to her home, 252 West Third street, Saturday, after a pleasant two weeks' visit to friends in Bridgeport, Conn.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Alice Gay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew T. Gay, of Rahway, to Harry T. Crawford. Miss Gay is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beach, and a niece of Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, of 45 East Second street, and has many warm friends in this city, who deem Mr. Crawford the most fortunate of men in securing a bride of such lovely qualities of head and heart. The wedding will take place at the First Presbyterian church in Rahway, next week Thursday evening, at half-past 6. After the wedding trip the happy young people will reside in their new home at Williamsport, Pa.

Relief Association Election.

The Plainfield Relief Association met in annual business session yesterday, and elected officers for the coming year as follows:

Special Music at Holy Cross.

A special musical service will be held at the Church of the Holy Cross next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The regular vested choir will be assisted by B. T. Barnes, basso of the First Baptist church choir, and L. S. Bond, tenor of the First Presbyterian church. These musical services will be given on the second Sunday in each month during the coming fall and winter.

Gazelle Steamer Had a Hot Box.

The Somerville people thought the Gazelle firemen from Plainfield just "red hot" at yesterday's parade. Indeed, they were so hot that before they had gone far with the procession they had developed a hot box on the engine, and had to stop awhile to cool off. They all had a big time, however, and the day off did them good.

Democrats to Meet in Plainfield.

The Third District Assembly Democratic convention will be held Tuesday, Oct. 13, at 2 p. m., at Force's Hotel, this city.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

A LETTER.

Mr. P. Flaherty Insists on Telling the Public that He Does n't Owe No One a Cent, Though Nobody Has Accused Him of Wrong.

The alleged ghost which one family claims has driven it out of its house, and which has agitated the residents of the boulevard so much of late, even going so far as to cause one brother-in-law to break his kinsman's jaw and bite a piece out of his thumb in discussing the merits of his ghostship's existence, seems bent on breeding further trouble.

Last evening THE PRESS made a remark whose innocence everybody will recognize:

"They used to say 'It's cheaper to move than pay rent'. Now it seems some Plainfield people have discovered a way to save both rent and moving expenses. Have a ghost in the house and claim it isn't tenantable."

A result of this publication was that the office of THE PRESS was honored at noon to-day with a call from a lady, who insisted on having a communication, which is appended, published. She was assured that the paragraph at which she took umbrage had no personal reference, but that it was merely a general observation. "But—she said—"you had no right to publish it. If I could find out who wrote it I would make 'em suffer. I tell you I'd make a good bit of money out of it. Of course you've got to print what people send in, but if you made this up out of your own head I'd make you smart."

Since the lady showed such a close familiarity with newspaper methods, and had such an accurate idea of personal and editorial rights, THE PRESS could but yield to her persuasive demand that her letter be printed. Here it is:

To the Editor of Press In reading your valible paper last evening there was a small piece read as though it ment me by refering its cheaper to move then pay rent and save moving expenses by having a ghost in the house I have receites to show that I paid my rent which is not due till the 11th of this month I do not owe one cent for moving purpose to now one by publishing this you will greatly

Local Talent in a Five-Act Drama.

The programme of the harvest-home concert to be given by the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Immanuel Baptist church, in Cutter's Hall, to-morrow evening, will include the following features:

Chorus, "The Old Oaken Bucket", by the society; address, by E. B. Maynard; recitation, by Miss Leek; quartettes, by the Martin brothers; "Lost Charley; or, the Gypsy's Revenge", a drama in five acts; solo, "Were I a Birdie", by Miss M. Mitchell; reading, by Mrs. E. B. Maynard; recitation, by Master W. Wilson; solo, "Dear Annie, I'm Going Away", by Miss Vail; recitation, by Master H. Thomas; solo, "Happy Bird", Miss M. Webster; recitation, by Miss Retfield; dialogue, "Too Greedy by Half"; duet, "When the Swallows Homeward Fly", by Mrs. and Miss Mitchell; reading, by Mr. Peterson; and tableaux, "The Reapers".

Republicans Opening Their Campaign.

A meeting of the Union county Republican executive committee was held Monday, and plans were discussed for approaching elections. It was resolved that the Republican primaries for the selection of delegates to the assembly conventions in the First and Second districts should be held on Monday evening of next week, and in the Third district on Friday evening of this week. It was also resolved that the number of delegates should be determined by the number of Republican voters in the wards as they existed at the time of the gubernatorial election. The election of members to the county executive committee will be postponed until the time for holding the various ward primaries for the selection of delegates to the next city convention.

The Assembly conventions in the First and Second districts will be held on Tuesday next, the call to be issued this week, and the Third district convention will be held on Monday.

The Republican city central committee of Elizabeth will meet at the office of the Hon. Foster M. Voorhees this evening at 8 o'clock.

Important Notice to Parents.

The Young Men's Christian Association is most fortunate in having secured E. A. Embury as leader of their boys' singing class. Mr. Embury, who was formerly a pupil of Dr. Messiter, of Trinity church, New York, is a teacher of about eleven years' experience in the training of male choirs. The class, which will meet in the afternoon, will be taught to read music, and will receive the most careful instruction in voice culture. There will be no charge for instruction. Boys under 12 years of age who are interested are requested to meet Mr. Embury at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow afternoon at 4:30.

The ex-Irish Leader Dead.

A special dispatch to THE PRESS this morning brought the news of the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, who until recently was the foremost champion of Ireland's rights.

Hotel Gleuham.

I can attest to the efficacy of Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills—not only using them myself, but having given them to several of my friends, all of whom have been materially benefited by them. For cases of Dyspepsia and Torpid Liver I consider them invaluable. N. B. BARRY,

GENIAL GEORGE'S GRATUITY.

Money Cannot Buy the Only Straight Tip He Ever Got.

A New York paper, Sunday, contained a story to the effect that George Thatcher, of this city, wears an ordinary, worn and travel-stained twenty-five-cent piece upon his watch guard with as much pride and sang froid as many another man might wear a diamond or other precious stone as a pendant ornament. It is the association, not the value, that warms Thatcher's regards for the coin, and he considers it, or the way it came into his possession, as one of the accidental tributes that is paid to art, whether the object be a black face comedian or a Corot.

Last January the Boston Lodge B. P. O. Elks gave a performance on a Thursday afternoon for beneficial purposes, and Thatcher volunteered his services for the entertainment. The programme began at 1 o'clock, and Thatcher was playing in Philadelphia, and his name was first on the bill. From Philadelphia to New York is 98 miles, and from New York to Boston it is 243 miles. And across New York, with its crowded streets, it is a million of miles of mental anguish to any traveler hurrying to catch a train.

Wednesday night Thatcher went on at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, at 8:20 o'clock. At 9 o'clock he was back in his dressing room furiously scrubbing off the burnt cork. At 9:20 o'clock the New York train rolled out of Philadelphia, bearing with it Thatcher and his make-up box. At 11:20 o'clock he reached New York, jumped into the nearest cab, and caught the midnight train for Boston. Such a welcome as he received when he stepped on the stage of the Boston Theatre at 1 o'clock the next day made his heart thump with gladness and drove away all recollection of the upper berth in which he passed a sleepless night. But he had no time to lose. One encore and that was all. And while the audience was still applauding and wondering why he did not respond, Thatcher, burnt cork and all, was on his way back to Philadelphia.

He left Boston at 2 o'clock, washed off his make-up on the train, arrived in New York at 8 o'clock, jumped into a hack, and frantically waving a five-dollar bill at the driver told him it was his if he caught the Desbrosses street ferry at 8:20 o'clock. The driver won the bill, but still has doubts whether his passenger was George Francis Train on his way round the world or a dark and desperate, crime-stained fugitive from justice. But Thatcher caught the 8:20 train and reached Philadelphia at 10:25, having made up on the train. He had burnt cork on an inch thick, and his black woolly wig concealed his auburn hair. As the train pulled up he rushed to the door and was pushing his way out when a passenger tapped him on the shoulder and said pleasantly:

"Here, Charley, almost forgot you"—and slipped a quarter into Thatcher's hand.

Thatcher had no time to explain that, although temporarily colored, he was not the Pullman car porter. He dashed for a cab with his make-up box under his arm and with the quarter in his clinched fist! He reached the theatre at 10:35, and a second later stood breathless before the audience. Money cannot buy that old quarter from Thatcher.

It's Costly to Get and Expensive to Keep.

The amount of money expended by the Water Supply company when it shall have completed the introduction of its pipes into North Plainfield, will be about $400,000. It will be years, of course, before the plant will pay, yet in view of the amount invested, it is not surprising that the company will also have spent nearly $25,000 in litigation, before it gets through, to prevent competition.

A Livery Stable in the Rink.

At last Charles Hand has determined what to do with the Crescent Rink. Yesterday W. A. Woodruff secured for him from a Newark company the loan of a sum of money sufficient to carry out his plans of alteration. The front of the big building is to be converted into four stores, with flats above, and the rear part is to be transformed into a livery stable.

His Ring Saved His Hand.

Harry Bush, an employe at the American Steam Laundry, nearly lost his hand in one of the ironing machines yesterday. He got his forearm caught in the revolving cylinders, and only the fact that his heavy finger ring was nearly cut in half and stopped the machinery, saved his hand from a terrible crushing, although one of his fingers was slightly bruised.

An Enjoyable Time With the Masons.

The Freemasons had a fine time at Jerusalem Lodge rooms last night, when they worked the Master Mason Degree in the presence of the grand officers. The new Grand Secretary, Mr. Redway, was present by special invitation, having long desired to visit Plainfield and the banner lodge of the State. After the ceremonies, a banquet was served.

Robbers in the Mountains.

The residence of Freeholder Bullman at Washington Valley was robbed Sunday night of about $15 in money and other articles. The thieves got in through a window on the first floor. The occupants were asleep up stairs, and did not hear them.

Men of brains originate, the unprincipled imitate. Counterfeit never have the true ring of the genuine. Wide-awake people refuse to be gulled. They insist on Hires's Root Beer, and are sure to get it.

The Next Attraction at Music Hall.

The other night she was in Charleston, and the News and Courier, in the course of an excellent notice of her appearance there, said:

"Miss Herndon is unequivocally a talented actress. Her role demands in many passages the exhibition of suppressed feeling, a somewhat paradoxical but common exaction in the work of the emotional actress. In this requirement she is strong, and uses her ability with splendid effect. She possesses a commanding presence, has a deep, sonorous voice, which is under perfect control and finely modulated, and is skilled in the arts and suggestions of the facial expressions. She has a thorough conception of her role, whether in raillery or badinage, or denunciation, or coquetry, or the lovable innocence and amiability which is revealed in the opening scene of the play, or in the exquisite and tender pathos of her expression in the scene in which she receives the locket of her dead mother. In all these varying phases she produced an instantaneous effect upon the audience. Miss Herndon's acting achieved an impression of great favor, which grew more decided as the action progressed."

Dr. Wetmann's Terrible Fall.

Dr. Edward Wetmann, a veterinary surgeon of Roselle, had a very narrow escape from death Monday night, when he fell from a train which was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. He walked out on the platform in search of the conductor on finding that the train did not stop at Roselle, and lost his balance as the train dashed round a curve. He fell on the ground, and the passengers thought he was ground to pieces under the wheels. Dr. Wetmann's body struck the edge of the roadbed, and, rebounding, rolled down a steep embankment into a cinder pit. He was all cut and scratched about the head and face, and his body and limbs were severely bruised, but no bones were broken. He was picked up and removed to his home. He was doing nicely to-day.

Mr. Ryerson Will Compromise and Resume Business.

At a meeting of the creditors of J. V. F. Ryerson, held in this city recently, it was unanimously agreed by those present—who were a majority of the creditors—to accept fifteen cents on the dollar in cash and ten cents in twelve months secured by Mr. Ryerson's personal note, in full settlement of their respective claims against him.

It is said that Mr. Ryerson has a friend who will advance at once the money to make the cash payment. Then he will be able to start business again at the old stand with his stock all paid for.

I HAD catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

Red Cross Society Enjoined.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The Order of the Red Cross was enjoined by the Superior Court from paying out its funds in any bank and from disposing of its funds in the State treasury. The plaintiffs are holders of matured certificates. A conspiracy and confederacy is alleged on the part of the officers and certain unknown persons for the purpose of defrauding. A receiver is also asked for.

OCTOBER HEAVENS.

What Planets Shine Brightest During These Autumn Nights.

When the sun crossed the line Sept. 23 the days and nights were equal the world over, and there was but little change in this equality noticeable before the present month came in. Long before its close, however, we shall be quite forcibly aware of the fact that the days are getting much shorter, and that the nights are at the same time growing longer. The crisp, clear October evenings will be full of enjoyment for those who like to watch the movements of the members of the solar family.

Jupiter, although having passed away from his position in opposition to the sun when he rose at sunset and looked down from the zenith at midnight, is still glorious to gaze upon as the early evening twilight reveals him higher and higher in his path across the heavens, and he sinks to rest below the western horizon in the small hours of the morning. He is now in the constellation of Aquarius, and, as he remains about a year in each constellation, it is fairly easy to locate his surroundings. While at present holding his own and keeping up his court with apparently undiminished brilliancy, he is slowly but surely approaching his downfall, when he will have to yield to the more dazzling lustre of the queen of all the planets, which will very shortly appear to grace the beauties of the autumn twilight.

Venus has now fairly joined the galaxy of evening stars, and her shining, diamond-like rays will in another six weeks be plainly visible shortly after the sun has set, as the planet is gradually withdrawing from the powerful sunlight that has ingulfed her for several months. Before the year closes we shall have promise of her again assuming the bewitching aspect that made her so prominent an object in the early months of the year, when she was more than four times her present size. The constellation of the Lion holds this peerless gem, which, although well down in southern declination, will continue her course away from us until she reaches the farthest point in her coquettish career early in December, when she will once more turn her face to the northward.

Uranus is the third of the evening stars, and, although well beyond our normal vision, can be found with telescopic aid. He is a fairly important member of the planetary family for the month, as he is twice in conjunction with the moon, once to-day, and again on the last day of the month, just before the old moon turns into the new. In addition to this somewhat unusual occurrence the planet is in superior conjunction with the sun on the 25th, and after that date will be classed with the morning stars. Of course, such proximity to the centre of the solar system renders it a more than usually difficult matter to find him. On the 26th Uranus and Mercury are in conjunction.

Saturn has lost his rings, which have been gradually disappearing ever since 1885, when they were open to their widest extent. The reason for this somewhat startling announcement, which very possibly may be found in the "Lost and Found" column of the Celestial Register, is accounted for by the fact that the plane of the ring passes through the earth, and is consequently seen edgewise. As the thickness of the rin probably does not exceed 100 miles, an insignificant amount when one deals with the immense distance separating us from Saturn, it is not visible to us here on our planet. On Oct. 30 the plane of the ring will pass through the sun, shortly after which it will reappear and another change will occur. The face of the ring, that has for the past fifteen years been illumined by the sun, will then pass into shadow, and the other face will bask in the bright sunlight in its turn for a similar interval, when the ring will again disappear, and so on.

These peculiar features of the planet are taken advantage of by those who will no doubt be found to be otherwise than weather-wise to indicate terrible storms and gales; but to those who are not in the weather ring it seems very difficult to see just what bearing the two have upon each other. Saturn's pale yellow light can be seen in the eastern sky just before the little lumps of daylight begin to make themselves visible above the horizon.

Mercury is morning star, but he keeps so much within the sun's influence that it is only with difficulty and under very favorable circumstances that he can be seen. Only sharp eyes will be able to find him about eight degrees south of the sunrise point a little less than an hour before sun-up. This is, however, positively his last appearance for the year, as he is again drawing towards the sun, with which he is in superior conjunction on the 27th, after which he will be an evening star.

Mars is morning star, and will continue as such the remainder of the year. While of but very little moment just at present, he is gradually coming toward us and approaching visibility. In another year he will be the all-absorbing topic of conversation among both amateur and professional astronomers, as he will then be in opposition to the sun and in his most favorable location for interesting observation. He also is in the constellation of the Lion, and is in conjunction with both Saturn and the moon, the former on the 12th and the latter on the 29th.

Neptune has already completed a little more than half his course as morning star, and his general location is fairly well indicated by the waning moon, with which he is in conjunction on the 20th. He is far too small, at his tremendous distance from us, to admit of his being of particular importance to any but the scientist. Taurus is the field in which Neptune at present is wandering, and the bright star Aldebaran serves to show where this constellation is to be found.

At 9 o'clock at night, in the opening days of the month, the prominent first-magnitude stars in the field of view are Arcturus, low down in the west; Vega, just west of the zenith; Altair, southwest of Vega; Fomalhaut, low in the southeast; Aldebaran, east of the Pleiades, and just rising above the horizon, and Capella in the northwest. The Pleiades, the most beautiful cluster in the skies, rise early in the east.

An additional charm has been added to this remarkable group since the camera has detected nebulous matter around the principal stars that are too far distant for the eye of man to perceive. Being situated about half way between the northerly and southerly poles of the heavens, this constellation, when above the horizon, can be seen all over the habitable globe. Originally seven stars of the group were visible to the naked eye, and in Grecian mythology they represented the daughters of Atlas. Only six stars are now visible.

A CHARMING LITTLE FAIR.

The Deft Hands of Scotch Plains Women Have Provided Many Originalities for Their Bazar, and Glowing Success is Assured.

There is every reason to hope, even so early in the day, that the bazar in aid of the Scotch Plains library will be a success. The tickets have sold well, which is no wonder, considering the low price and the real beauty of the cards, and in all probability the hall will be kept well filled during the two days of the fair.

The executive committee in general charge of the affair consists of Miss M. N. Mead, Miss Borman, Miss Kyte, Mrs. James Baker, Mrs. Thomae and Mrs. T. Mead.

Various sub-committees attend to the details of the work. One of the most important of these is the committee on refreshments, consisting of Mrs. Quereau, Mrs. Richardson, Miss Paff and Mrs. John Marsh. The menus, painted by Mrs. Thomae, form an attractive feature of this department.

At the candy table Mrs. Geo. Moore will preside, assisted by Miss Lizzie Nicholl, Mrs. Geo. Mooney and Miss Randolph.

Mrs. Sayre has charge of the cake table.

The ladies in charge of the fancy tables are Miss Reinhart, Miss Cook, Miss Lily Nicholl, Miss Townsend, Miss Barr and Miss Alice Johnston.

The doll show will be held up stairs, in one of the library rooms, under the care of Miss Florence Quereau. A chance glimpse obtained of one of the candidates for popular favor in this contest gave a very favorable impression of what the rest of the show may be. This was a Scotch Plains dude—an aborigine—who might with truth be called a son of the soil.

Quite a little mystery surrounds the table presided over by Mrs. Cutter. "Clippings" are what she calls her wares, but what the clippings are only the buyers thereof may know.

Many original and pretty ideas for fancy work are to be found on the tables.

There is of course a flower table, at which fruit also is sold.

A very pretty feature is the Rebecca's Well, at which Miss Robison and Miss Murray serve lemonade. They are attired in picturesque oriental costumes.

The hall is tastefully decorated with flags, bunting, evergreens, and Chinese lanterns.

The library will be open throughout the fair. Though small, as yet, it is well selected, and the books show marks of having been constantly used. The supply of papers and magazines is very good. The library counts as one of its treasures a complete set of Harper's Monthly in excellent preservation. This was the gift of Mr. Cleaver, who at the same time donated a number of other bound magazines. The library has been the recipient of many handsome gifts, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard having aided it most materially. Last winter Mrs. Warren Ackerman and Mrs. A. D. Shepard presented a fine set of drawing models, in preparation for the drawing classes which the association hopes some time to open.

This fair seems to open the door to many possibilities of extending the work of the reading room in the future. It is a work very close to the hearts of the friends of the library, and one that ought forcibly to appeal to everyone anxious for the welfare of the village.

The fair opens in Excelsior Hall this afternoon, and continues through to-morrow.

"Much Depends on the Kind of Paper."

The Elizabeth Journal, in welcoming the Plainfield Courier to its arms, says, after many words of praise: "To many it may appear that in a comparatively small city like Plainfield two daily papers are enough, but much depends on the kind of papers published. Plainfield is a city that is Republican by a large majority; but it seems to be generally conceded that the Democratic paper has the larger circulation. If this is true it argues something wrong somewhere, and the very fact that a new Republican paper is started is in itself suggestive. The Courier starts in to right this wrong."

THE proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

A BURMESE FUNERAL.

Dancers and Musicians Play an Important Part in the Obsequies.

In many respects the funeral rites of the Burman resemble the obsequies of western civilization. The procession, the casting of earth upon the coffin by relatives and friends, the funeral cars, and the visits of condolence, all have their prototypes in the west. On the death of a Burman, in the families of those who can afford it, the body remains in the house, embalmed, frequently for a considerable time; the friends and neighbors are summoned, and a funeral band of musicians is in attendance. For days, or perhaps weeks, this band plays on steadily till the funeral takes place, the friends and relations occupying the time in eating and drinking and offering their condolences. The funeral car, in the case only of the wealthy, is made of a flimsy framework of bamboo, mounted on a strong trolly furnished with four stout wheels, the superstructure consisting of gaudily-painted pasteboard and flimsy tinselling. The coffin, covered with gilt, rests on a platform at a height of about ten or twelve feet from the ground, and is shaded by a light canopy. On the day fixed for the funeral, a great concourse of friends, relatives and neighbors assemble, and the body is placed upon the car, and a procession is formed, a band of musicians preceding the corpse. Sometimes dancers accompany the procession, and perform in a curious fantastic way to the measure of the dirge of the singers. Occasionally there is a tug-of-war with the car, one side exclaiming: "We must bury our dead," the other: "You shall not take away my friend," the struggle usually creating great merriment in the crowd. A priest now seats himself in a convenient spot, and intones the five secular Commandments and the ten Good Works, besides a long string of Pali doxologies, the friends and neighbors of the deceased squatting near him in devotional attitude, murmuring the responses. All this time cheroots, sweet drinks, betel, le'pet and biscuits are being distributed among the visitors; the nearest relatives carry out the final rites, the coffin is lowered and raised three times over the open grave, and then finally deposited. The Sandalahs fill in the grave, and the spectators disperse.

A casual observer on witnessing a Burmese burial might perhaps be inclined to ascribe to the proceedings a levity and carelessness inconsistent with the solemnity of burial. But the struggle for the car, the quaint gyrations of the dancers, and the noise and laughter of the crowd, are but customs, and as little to be cast up against Burmese natural affection as the unlovable doings of the mutes at an English funeral.

HUNGARY'S PREMIER.

A Man of Remarkable Talents and Force of Character.

Count Edward Francis Joseph Taaffe, premier of Hungary, is a native of Prague, where he was born in 1833. He is Viscount Taaffe of Corren and baron of Ballymote, Sligo, in the Irish peerage, and was brought up along with the present emperor, Francis Joseph. In 1857 he entered the imperial service as secretary of the Hungarian government and was appointed governor of Salzburg in 1863. Four years later he became Austrian minister of the interior and vice president of the Cisleithan ministry. He served as minister president at the end of 1869 and in 1871 accepted the office of governor of the Tyrol and Vorarlberg. He is a great mediator between conflicting creeds and nationalities and has publicly expressed his disapproval of the anti-Semitic agitation.

Count Taaffe is never absent from the chamber. His hale face and bright eyes present a cheerful aspect. He speaks rarely, and more often in the lobbies and at committee meetings than in the chamber itself, but when he does get upon his feet he talks with the racy humor which he has inherited from his Irish ancestors. In the Ring Strasse and the Prater he is a familiar figure, with his gray overcoat and gray felt hat, which he wears very much on the back of his head. His coachman is as well known as his master; he has much the same figure, and wears his old clothes, even pushing his hat back in the same manner as the count, so much so that a witty Viennese once said: "This Taaffe, one never knows, when one meets him, whether he or his coachman is driving. The German party would never be able to upset him; if they were to throw him out of his carriage he would get up on the box."

A Georgia Peach Orchard.

One of the prettiest shows in Marshallville, Ga., is a peach orchard of 6,000 trees planted by the compass in squares, well tilled, beautifully trimmed and each limb gracefully bending under the precious burden of fruit.

Confesses to Wrecking the Train.

NEW LISBON, O., Oct. 7.—William Canfield has confessed to having turned the switch which wrecked the limited train on the Pennsylvania road at New Palestine, a few weeks ago, in which three men were killed. He says that he attempted to wreck the train to plunder it. He is now in jail here.

Mr. Blaine Not Ill Again.

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 6.—The report that Mr. Blaine is ill again is unfounded. The family physician, Dr. G. W. Martin, says that Mr. Blaine is in better health than when he arrived from Bar Harbor. McCormick Blaine, Emmons' little son, has been dangerously ill, and this fact probably gave rise to the rumor of the Secretary's illness.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same. J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., October 6, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To widen, lay out, and open Peace street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Peace street in the city of Plainfield, from the railroad to the southeasterly side of Front street, be widened and laid out so that said street shall be of the uniform width of thirty feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which said centre line is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron monument in the centre line of said Peace street, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence in a magnetic course of south forty-nine degrees and twenty minutes east, (s. 49 deg. 20 min. e.) a distance of seven hundred and ninety-eight and five-tenths, (798 5) feet to a point in said centre line in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as the said street is laid out on a map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street, from the C. R. R. of N. J. to Green brook, city of Plainfield, N. J., July, 1891 made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer and surveyor.

The land to be taken for the widening of Peace street on the northeasterly side of same, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all land which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for said widening on the southwesterly side of said Peace street from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all that land which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a southwesterly direction.

That a continuation of said Peace street be laid out and opened from the northwesterly line of Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street to Green brook in accordance with the following description that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and four one hundredths 32.04) feet, in a magnetic course of north forty-six degrees and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 degrees, 17 minutes w) from an iron monument at the intersection of the centre lines of East Front Street, and Peace Street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence north forty six degrees, and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 deg. 17 min) a distance of three hundred and eighty five (385) feet, more or less to a point in the centre line of Green Brook, said point being in the division line between the city of Plainfield, county of Union, and the borough of North Plainfeld, county of Somerset, and there to end. Said street shall be sixty (60) feet in width; that is to say thirty (30) feet on each side of the above described centre line and the land to be taken includes all that land for thirty feet in width on each side of said centre line which lies between the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as at present laid out, and the said centre line of Green Brook.

That the lands and real estate, and the appurtenances necessary therefore shall be taken and appropriated for the said widening, laying out and opening of Peace street as aforesaid, pursuant to the charter of the city of Plainfield, and the general statutes in such case, made and provided.

The land to be taken, and the lines of Peace street, as the same is herein before ordered to be widened laid out, and opened, are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "Map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street from the C R. R. of N J. to Green Brook, city of Plainfield, N. J, July 1891," made by F. A. Dunham, Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

VISITING THE ADMIRAL.

An Incident of the White Squadron's Cruise Down East.

Howard Fielding Is Entertained on the Chicago by His Old Friend Bob and Gets a View of Nautical Reception from the Inside.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

I am at Clam Cove, Me. This place is situated half way between Belfast and ruin, and is not far from either. There is nothing between us and Belfast except Northport camp meeting; and there is nothing between us and ruin except clams. The clams are used for catching fish and the camp meeting for catching sinners. Both have been unusually plentiful in these parts this summer, but they have not been biting well. I get this information from a man who passes the contribution box on week days and goes fishing on Sundays, and thus obtains a broad view of both industries.

The event of the season down here has been the visit of the White Squadron to Penobscot bay.

One of the officers of the Chicago was a schoolmate of mine. I remembered him well. He used to sit right in front of me. One day he concealed a large, old-fashioned horse pistol in his desk, and while I was bending studiously over my lessons—for the first time in six months—he turned stealthily about, placed the cold muzzle of the pistol on my nose and pulled the trigger.

The weapon was not loaded, but I should have felt better if it had been, for then there would have been some excuse for my conduct. I fell over the back of my seat and fainted upon the bosom of a fat little girl who didn't speak to me for three weeks afterward, although our previous relations had been very tender. I always knew that that boy would live to be a pirate.

When the squadron anchored off Belfast Clam Cove decided to visit it en masse. We engaged Uncle Jimmy Gray's fishing boat and set sail about noon of Tuesday, September 2. Our party consisted of five men, seven women, nine children and a large box of trolling bait. This substance, which is very seductive to mackerel, is made of clams and porgies, chopped fine and ripened by great age. Few people really like its odor on the first trial. In acquiring an appreciation of it one would better begin at five miles and gradually decrease the distance. I began at five feet and finished the voyage on the end of the bowsprit.

Uncle Jimmy wanted to run his boat right up to the Chicago's gangway, but the courtesy of the United States navy has its limits. A marine, armed with a musket, and protected by a bad cold, came down the steps and told us that if we didn't take that porgie bait down to leeward of the ship the admiral would train an eight-inch gun on us. We came about and ran for Belfast, where I deserted the party, and hired a man with a rowboat to set me off aboard the Chicago.

An obliging tar carried my card to my old friend, whom I will call Bob. I wrote something about old times on the card, just as we all do when we're trying to get favors on the slender pretext of long-buried animosity. While it was being taken to him I waited by the rail. It didn't seem worth while to poke around by myself, for of course Bob would show me everything when he came.

I never should have known him. How is it that some people change with years while others can't to save their lives. It always exasperates me to meet anybody who has changed. He always has such an offensive way of recognizing me; and of being reminded at once of some old scene where I looked "so funny."

"Well, well;" said Bob, "it's the same old Howdy; the same long-sparred, queer-rigged, rambling old Howdy. I should know you anywhere—that hair, those feet. Well, well; I'm glad to see you. Come below, old man, where we can sit down and be comfortable."

"But I want—"

"I know, I know; you want to talk over old times, and so do I. Here we are; this is my den."

"But I'm afraid—"

"Oh, no," he hastened to say, "don't disturb yourself. I have plenty of leisure. Seven bells just struck—half past three, you know—and I don't go on duty till four. Half an hour, you see; and I'd like nothing better than to sit here talking with you. Some people insist on running up and down the ship, when really there isn't anything to see. They make me tired. You've no idea how many 'old friends' and poor relations have hunted me out on board this ship since we struck the Maine coast."

"Perhaps, if you object to showing people about—" I said, with the idea of getting away; but he jumped into the conversation again before I could finish.

"It's no use telling them that," said he; "they're bound to go the rounds. There was Millie Leavitt—you remember Millie, the pretty girl who used to have hysterics in old Sufkin's schoolhouse. She sent me a note when we were at Bar Harbor, and I was glad to get it for I always liked Millie in the old days. I replied at once and invited her aboard. Now what kind of a lee shore do you think I struck? Well, sir; she came aboard with her husband and four children. She apologized to me for using her maiden name in writing—says she was afraid I wouldn't recognize her under the other. You can judge my feelings. Her husband is a horrible 'chump,' and Millie herself is not what she was. It's hard to realize how old the girls we used to know are getting by this time. We picture them as they were, and when they appear we are surprised at the glasses and the silver threads."

"Yes, time slips away," said I, "and that reminds me."

"Millie's kids were terrors," said Bob. "The oldest boy insisted that I must fire the eight-inch gun, and when I politely declined he had hysterics, just as his mother used to do. I wanted to ram him into the gun and shoot him over Mount Desert rock. The second kid was all the time howling for something to eat. Finally his mother weakly yielded to his entreaties and gave him a cream cake or something of that nature. He had just got well to work on it when he took fright at a marine and threw his arms around one of my legs for protection. The cream cake remained fastened to my knee and the prints of his fingers cling to those trousers still."

"I SHOULD KNOW YOU ANYWHERE."

"These are annoyances, and yet—"

"Yes, as you say, it might be worse. Now, there was a maiden aunt of mine. She's about forty, is Aunt Jane. Nothing but temporary aberration of mind can account for my letting her get hold of me aboard this ship. Aunt Jane had heard a good deal about sailors, and she told me at the start that it was no use for any of them to flirt with her, because she knew the fickleness of seafaring men. It was evident that she supposed a ship to be a place where a woman who had failed everywhere else could be sure of captivating somebody. She repelled imaginary advances from men who were really only trying to be polite, but she took a fancy to several of our inoffensive youngsters and they had to go aloft to get out of her way. I had to hold on to her or she'd have gone up the rigging after them."

"Well," said I, "it's getting near your time to go on duty, and I want—"

"Of course you do; there's a lot of things we haven't had time even to refer to. Too bad; I wish you'd come earlier. I'd have taken you to lunch in the ward room if you'd been here. We had a nice layout."

He went on to describe it, but he didn't offer me so much as a piece of hard tack. I was horribly hungry, for Uncle Jimmy's trolling bait had prevented my eating any of the cold boiled dinner which had been served as lunch on the fishing boat. The dinner and the bait had too much in common; they were like close shades of color, which fight with each other on a piece of millinery. But the effect was passing off, leaving an aching void within me, and it was agony to hear Bob talk about the good things he had set before his other old friends.

"It was embarrassing the other day when another aunt of mine (Melissa; I guess you don't remember her) was out here to lunch," continued Bob. "She kept regretting that she didn't have her sewing glasses with her. The ones she had were only good at long range. She strongly intimated that she thought our cooking would bear watching, and she asked me particularly what was in everything. Well, well; is it eight bells already, and you must go. I'm downright sorry. Come right this way, old man. Look out you don't slip on that top step. Here's your boat all ready. Take care of yourself. So long, Howdy. Hope to see you again."

I was in the boat and under way before I could frame a protest, and by the help of Bob I had seen nothing of the Chicago but the interior of his state room. I hadn't the nerve to go back; it seemed better to write my letter from the picture of a ship in the last part of Webster's dictionary.

We connected with Uncle Jimmy's boat off Belfast. She was becalmed, and the oars were in Clam cove, and we decided not to call upon the admiral under the circumstances. We drifted about the bay, and sometimes it rained and again it simply sprinkled. And the vapor from that box of trolling bait rose up, and drove all the atmosphere away from Penobscot bay; but somehow I don't think it was the bait that made me seasick. I believe it was the thought of how I'd let Bob make a fool of me just as he used to when we were boys.

ROBBED THEM BOTH

An Official Who Stole from Church and Town.

HE WAS FOND OF SPECULATING.

The Wayward Career of Treasurer L. B. Booth of Newtown, Conn.

The Embezzlement Will Reach Well Up into the Thousands—Booth Had Been Trusted Implicitly by Everyone—Had Held the Office of Town Treasurer for 16 Years—Recent Low Market Thought to Have Caused His Downfall—His Whereabouts Unknown.

NEWTOWN, Conn., Oct. 8.—Town Treasurer L. B. Booth of this place is missing. There is a shortage of several thousand dollars in his accounts, which his bondsmen will be held responsible for.

His pilferings, however, do not stop there. He has also improved the opportunity to rob the Episcopal Church of this place, of which he was a member of long standing, he having full control of the funds of the treasury. He was trusted by the church people implicitly until ugly reports about his town affairs became noised about. Then he was requested to show his accounts, but refused to do so.

A meeting of the vestry was held and certain persons were empowered to make formal demand on Booth for the church books. Meantime he fled.

Booth, it is said, has a mania for speculating, and it is alleged that his money has all gone through that sieve. His business as a general storekeeper has greatly declined, and altogether it is a pitiable case. It is said that he held about $12,000 of the church funds, much of which is in stocks and bonds.

Booth came from an excellent and wealthy family. His uncle died two years ago leaving $150,000. The property went to his nieces and the missing treasurer and his family contested the will, but failed to break it.

Just how much Booth has embezzled is not known yet, but it will reach a large amount.

The missing man is about 45 years old, and has a family. He was very popular, and had held the office of town Treasurer of Newtown for sixteen years. He was regarded as a business man of no mean ability and as a trustworthy official by everybody in the place. The money has been taken within a very short time, and the recent low market is thought to have caused his downfall.

Booth's store was attached yesterday by the church people.

Fined for Using Car Stoves.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Judge Barrett of the Supreme Court has directed a verdict of $7,000 in favor of the State against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company as penalties for violation of the Car Stove act. This act prohibits the use of stoves or furnaces in passenger cars on any trunk line within the State. The defense was that the company did not come within the act because it did not have fifty miles of road within the State and that the Baker heating system, used by them, had been approved by the Connecticut authorities. It was also contended that the act was void because it attempted to regulate commerce between the two States.

Catholic Young Men's Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—At the session of the Catholic Young Men's Convention Rev. James F. Loughlin, of Philadelphia, was elected President; Rev. Frank Maguire, of Albany, Vice President; W. E. TWO KILLED, THREE INJURED.

A Train Runs Down Five Track Walkers in a Tunnel.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8.—A tragic accident occurred in the Union tunnel on the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday afternoon, in which two men were killed outright and three injured, all probably fatally.

The victims were track-walkers, who were at work at the time in the tunnel directly under the bed of Argyle avenue. The men heard a Western Maryland Railroad train approaching and stepped from the track which they thought it would take to the other track on the opposite side of the tunnel.

At this point in the tunnel there is a sharp curve, and the men could neither see the train nor be seen by the train hands until the locomotive was within a few yards of them. When the train rounded the curve the men saw that it was on the same track they were standing on. There was a rush to escape, but it was too late. The train sped by, leaving them mangled and bleeding on the ground.

The killed are: Thomas Hughes, aged 45 years, unmarried; Julius Miller, aged 25 years, unmarried.

The wounded are: Fred Cappells, John Zink and Henry Coleman.

KILLED BY HER SUITOR.

A Girl Who Had Rejected a Young Man is Shot by Him.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 8.—Maria Clegg, 22 years old, was prob ably fatally shot last night by Henry Entwistle, 24 years old, a rejected suitor. The would-be murderer escaped. The girl was on her way home from work when she was stopped on the street by Entwistle, who renewed his suit.

The girl was firm in her refusal to listen to it, whereupon Entwistle drew a revolver and fired three shots in rapid succession at her. Two of the bullets took effect, one in the right lung and the other in the thigh.

The girl will probably die from internal bleeding. Entwistle is respectably connected but of unsteady habits.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The bronze statue to General Grant at Chicago was unveiled yesterday, in the presence of 100,000 people. Judge W. Q. Gresham delivered the address.

Colorado miners a few days ago discovered four outlaws in a cave at White River Hills, near the Arkansas border. A guard was placed at the mouth of the cave and reinforcements sent for, who are now starving the criminals out.

Zazel, who is performing with Forepaugh's show at Las Vegas, N. M., fell 50 feet to the ground a few nights ago and was badly shaken up. A wire breaking was the cause of her fall. She will be unable to resume her performances for about two weeks.

Pugilist Maher Arrives.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Peter Maher, the Irish champion pugilist, arrived in New York last night by the City of Paris, and was met down the bay by a hundred enthusiasts on the steamer Hazel Kirk. He appeared to the sports who saw him as an unusually "likely" young man. He stands 5 feet, 11 3-4 inches, and fights at about 175 pounds. He says he is prepared to make a match with any man, and his manner was one of confidence, though not bombastful. Billy Madden has him in charge.

Arrested for Running a Lottery.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The office of the California Loan and Trust Company was raided by the police last evening and E. C. Dutton and George E. Dimmick, both of Boston, who were in charge there, were placed under arrest, charged with setting up and maintaining a lottery.

Lieut. Farrow's Trial by Court Martial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Lieut. Edward J. Farrow's trial by court martial on the charge of disgracing his position as an officer of the United States military service by raising money upon fraudulent commercial paper was continued yesterday. C. F. Schramme was the chief witness, and he testified that he had negotiated some of the alleged fraudulent paper for Farrow. Lieut. Farrow is the treasurer of the Barnegat Park Company, of New Jersey, and the charge on which he is now being tried grew out of his connection with the company.

A Breach of Promise Suit on Trial.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 8.—The trial of the breach of promise suit of Miss Jennie Walkley, of Haddam, against Storrs L. Hubbard, of the same place, is in progress in the Superior Court at Haddam. The plaintiff claims $10,000 damages. Hubbard is a wealthy farmer and Miss Walkley had her wedding trousseau prepared when Hubbard discontinued his attentions.

PASSING OF PARNELL

The Great Irish Leader Dead at Brighton.

HIS ILLNESS WAS VERY BRIEF.

A Combined Attack of Rheumatism and Congestion of the Lungs.

THE WHOLE WORLD STARTLED.

Close of the Career of the "Rienzi of the Nineteenth Century."

At First Reported that He Had Committed Suicide—Also that He Had Fought a Duel With Sir John Pope Hennessy, Who Died Nearly the Same Time—No Arrangements Yet Made for the Funeral.—The Sentiment Universal that Parnell's Death Will Unite the Irish Party—Comments of English and Irish Papers on the Event—The Story of His Life.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Charles Stewart Parnell is dead at his home in Walsingham Terrace, Brighton.

Death resulted from a chill which attacked him last week. On Friday he was compelled to take to his bed. In the evening of that day his condition became so alarming that Mrs. Parnell and the attending physician deemed it advisable to summon other medical aid, and two physicians were at once called in consultation. Despite their efforts, however, Mr. Parnell grew steadily worse, and it soon became evident that death was only a matter of a short time.

It is stated that Parnell had congestion of the lungs, in addition to acute rheumatism. He became unconscious at 7 o'clock in the evening. The doctors were hastily summoned to his bedside. They found him, later, in an obviously hopeless condition. From 8 o'clock until the time of his death Mrs. Parnell, Miss O'Shea and the doctors watched by the bedside of the sufferer, and alleviated his dying struggles. His senses now and then would be recalled for a short time, and then he would lapse into unconsciousness.

Mrs. Parnell, who has been completely devoted to her husband, refusing to leave his bedside for even an hour's rest, is utterly prostrated by her loss, and her physicians are apprehensive as to her condition. She and the physicians were the only ones present at his death. She believed up to the last moment that he would recover.

It was at first reported that Parnell had committed suicide, but it was soon proved beyond doubt that the rumor had no foundation.

It was also reported that he had fought a duel with Sir John Pope-Hennessy, whose death occurred at nearly the same time, but the rumor was speedily discredited.

No arrangements are yet known for the funeral.

CHARLES STEWART PARNELL.

Active Career of the Gifted Grandson of an American Admiral.

Charles Stewart Parnell was born at Avondale, in County Wicklow, Ireland, in 1846. He was a descendant of the poet, Parnell, and his family have been associated with British parliamentary life for upwards of a century. His great grandfather, Sir John Parnell, was Chancellor of the Exchequer in Grattan's parliament, and the most vigorous opponent of the Act of Union, for his denunciation of which he was dismissed from office, he having previously resisted all efforts of the Imperial Government to allure him into acceptance of their proposals.

The family came originally from Congleton, Cheshire, and Sir Henry Parnell, grand-uncle of Mr. Parnell, and a prominent member of the English Parliament in the time of Lord Grey and Lord Melbourne, under whom he held offices of distinction, when raised to the peerage took the title of Lord Congleton.

Mr. Parnell, whose mother is a daughter of Admiral Charles Stewart, a celebrated American naval officer, was educated at Cambridge University, but did not take any degrees. After a tour of America, he settled down on his property in Avondale, was High Sheriff of the county in 1874, wished to stand for the county, but was not allowed to resign the shrievalty. A month later, when Colonel Taylor, on appointment to the Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster, sought re-election, Mr. Parnell opposed him, but was defeated. On the death of John Martin, in 1875, Mr. Parnell stood for County Meath, and was elected.

Mr. Parnell first took an active part in parliamentary affairs in the season of 1876, when in association with Mr. Bigger, he initiated what was known by the various names of the "obstructive" and the "active" policy. He opposed with great persistence the bill for endowing the Tramway; the flogging clause in the Mutiny Act and the Prisons Bill; and there were many scenes of violence and excitement, and several all-night sittings of the House. He finally succeeded in getting some modifications in the treatment of political prisoners introduced into the Prisons Bills, and being joined by Mr. Chamberlain and other leading Radicals, he led to the abolition of flogging in the army.

He joined in the foundation of the Land League, and in October, 1875, was elected its first president. He went to America in December, 1879, raised the sum of 70,000 pounds in aid of the distress then widespread in Ireland, for the Land League movement. At the general election of 1880, he was elected for County Meath, County Mayo, and the City of Cork; and elected to sit for the last mentioned place.

He was elected in May, 1880, leader of the new party by twenty-three to eighteen votes for Mr. Shaw. He took an active part in the Land League agitation outside Parliament, and in the debates in the House.

After the Land Act was passed Mr. Parnell was arrested in October, 1881, on a charge of intimidation and obstructing the working of that Act. He was released on parole in April, 1882, and finally in May.

At the general election of 1885 he was re-elected for Cork.

Mr. Parnell's name has been prominently before the public in connection with the Home Rule proposals of Mr. Gladstone. His trouble with the London "Times" is too well known to need repeating here.

On November 17, Mr. Parnell was condemned in costs as co-respondent in the case of O'Shea vs. O'Shea and Parnell, and later married the divorced woman. Since then Mr. Parnell's life has been a matter of daily record by the press of Great Britain, Ireland, and the United States.

COMMENTS ON THE EVENT.

How Parnell's Death Is Regarded by the Press and Prominent Men.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Justin McCarthy said, in an interview yesterday, that it would be impossible to forecast the political effect of the death of Mr. Parnell. He hoped that it would lead to the reunion of the Irish party, and it would certainly not hinder the cause of Home Rule. He believed that all Irish hostility to Parnell was swallowed up in genuine and universal regret.

Three weeks ago he had a long and friendly conference with Mr. Parnell at his (Mr. McCarthy's) house in Chelsea. They mutually agreed to draw part of the Paris fund for the expenses of registration, incurred before the division of the party. Before the divorce proceedings he had been a close friend of Parnell, whom he admired intensely.

"Parnell consulted me," said Mr. McCarthy, "about his lamentable manifesto, and I used all efforts to prevent its being issued, because it made his leadership impossible."

The Right Hon. J. Chamberlain said in an interview that the death of Parnell might influence the government to go to the country on present legislation, but it was more likely that the Cabinet would endeavor to pass the Irish Local Government bill. There would be a fair prospect of that being done should the opposition adopt the same attitude towards the bill, as towards the English Local Government bill. The general election, he thought, would be held late in 1892.

The "Dublin Mail" says that many of Parnell's bitterest enemies in Ireland would be shocked by the suddenness of his death. For months past he looked as if he had been breaking down under the stress of a battle too severe for even a strong man.

"Although his cause was hopeless, he was still a thorn in the side of Mr. Gladstone, and might have influenced elections. Now the battle for home Rule must be fought on its own merits. All the same every generous heart would lament the tragic death of the Irish Rienzi."

The Dublin "Freeman" says that one of the most remarkable careers in modern times had been brought to an early and sudden close. "At such a moment it would ill-befit the Irish nation to put aside and discard the memory of the bright days when Irishmen regarded Charles Stewart Parnell with confidence in his integrity, honor and devotion.

"We claim that a great effort should be made to close with death the sad history of the last few uneasy months of fratricidal strife. We appeal to the people throughout the country to be moderate and calm, and to join in that national unity, without which we honestly believe it impossible to predict the final triumph of the Irish cause."

"United Ireland," in an editorial, says that the Captain of the Irish people has been done to death by the taunts of Irishmen, who have broken the heart of their leader. It ironically asks whether their cheeks are pale and their hearts are chilled at the prospect of what their callousness, cruelness and pitiless treatment have effected. It quotes the taunts of Timothy Healy, threatening to drive Parnell to the grave or the lunatic asylum, and satirically asks whether Healy is happy now that the grave is open for one who was in the glory of manhood, a son of Ireland nobler than Grattan, and greater than O'Connell, full of the love of Ireland.

The Dublin "Evening Press," (McCarthyite) says that Parnell's death is a terrible lesson to those who thought that the Irish nation should take Parnell's life as the lease of Ireland's safety. They almost pretended that he was God-like and undying. We cannot forget, even at this moment, that they calculated joyously on the death of McCarthy to place Parnell in possession of the Paris fund. God bless the faithful people did not fail to see that the nation's cause did not depend in the mortality of men. Parnell is dead and Ireland lives. If all the leaders of the Irish cause had passed away with him, Ireland's cause would be fulfilled.

PARNELL'S MOTHER.

How She Received the News of Her Distinguished Son's Death.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Oct. 8.—When Mrs. Delia T. S. Parnell was informed of the death of her son Charles Stewart Parnell, she fell from her chair to the floor shrieking and groaning.

"Oh, my son, my Charles, they have killed you," she moaned.

She became hysterical, and it was some time before she was sufficiently composed to receive the particulars of her son's death.

Mrs. Parnell is 76 years old, and quite feeble. She declared that Charles had offered to aid her, but she had assured him she was comfortable.

She spoke bitterly of her half brother, Edward Stewart, who, she said, had tried to deprive her of her home and had kept her away from her son. She also excitedly declared that her son had been killed by the persecution of Davitt, the "Irish World," and the politicians. She mourned because these "vipers" had prevented her from being with her son in his last years.

SIR JOHN POPE HENNESSY DEAD.

The Man Who Led North Kilkenny's Anti-Parnell Fight.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Sir John Pope Hennessy, K. C. M. G., and Member of Parliament for the northern division of Kilkenny, is dead.

Brief Sketch of His Career.

Sir John Pope Hennessy was born in Cork in 1834. He was educated at Queen's College Cork, and was called to the bar in 1861. He was a member of Parliament for King's county from 1859 to 1865, voting as a "National Conservative and a member of the Irish Independent party."

Sir John "acted with the Irish party on Irish questions, but supported Mr. Disraeli on imperial questions."

Sir John was Governor of Labuan, 1867; of the West African settlement, 1872; of the Bahamas, 1873; of Barbadoes and the Windward Islands, 1875; of Hong Kong, 1877, and of the Mauritius, 1883 to 1889, when he resigned. He was made K. C. M. G. in 1880.

On December 22, 1890, Sir John was elected member of Parliament to fill the seat for North Kilkenny, made vacant by the death of Martin. As the result of a most exciting election Sir John, as the candidate of the anti-Parnellites, received 1,987 votes as against 1,365 votes cast for his opponent, Mr. Vincent Scully.

MICHAEL DAVITT ON PARNELL.

He Says the Leader of the Future Must be Democratic, Not Aristocratic.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Michael Davitt makes the following statement on Mr. Parnell's death:

"My feeling about Mr. Parnell now is one of unmixed sorrow at his sudden death. The occasion demands the expression of deep regret that he should have been cut off at a comparatively early ages.

"We should remember only the good work which he performed for Ireland, in a career of usefulness and distinction for his country.

"His recent unhappy conduct, will, I am sure, be forgotten by a grateful people.

"His death will put an end to the unhappy dissensions by which the Irish movement has been torn during the last twelve months.

"Now that his lips are sealed in the silence of death, I feel that our ranks will be closed up again in a solid movement for Irish National self-government.

"We have done with one-man power in the Irish National movement forever.

"The leader of the future will be democratic, not aristocratic. He must be the mouthpiece, and not the master of the movement for Home Rule.

"Mr. Justin McCarthy did not desire the post which was forced upon him. He would gladly have given it up at any time since, if his doing so could have put an end to discussion.

"If McCarthy consents to continue it will, in my opinion, be the most prudent policy to pursue.

"He has never uttered a word in the recent controversy which could give offence to one of Mr. Parnell's followers.

"He is a man of conciliatory manners, and, as the fight for Home Rule is now nearing a successful close, such a man will fulfill all the necessary qualifications of Parliamentary leadership.

"But whether the future leader be McCarthy, Sexton or Dillon, it does not matter very much, now that the Irish race are about to be reunited. That unity will make even brighter and more hopeful still the already bright prospects of Home Rule."

PREDICTED BY TRAIN.

The "Citizen" Announced that Parnell Would Die Within a Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—"Boulanger is dead, Balmaceda is dead, and Parnell will be a corpse within a week."

This was said by George Francis Train last Thursday night during his speech at a midnight supper given by Huber, the museum man, to a number of newspaper men and well known men about town. Psycho Train was in the midst of one of his most impassioned harangues when he made that remark.

A number of the party laughed, and then Train thundered, "Ye are idiots who laugh. The revolution is on. The people will rise. I am the apostle of hypnotism. Death, devastation and disease are in the air. Two adventurers are dead; the third, Parnell, has run his course, and will die within the week. The transatlantic-hypnotic-psychic cable brings me the news. The whole world is a conductor, and I am the key," and, rapidly snapping his fingers, he wound up with: "Boulanger, boaster; Balmaceda, bandit, and Parnell, poltroon—all dead, atop of the smoking heaps of the ambitions of the chivalry of three gallant nationalities—Chilians, Frenchmen and Irishmen."

Action of the Irish National League.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The Municipal Council of the Irish National League met last night and adopted resolutions expressing its sense of the profound loss which the cause of Irish nationality has sustained in the sad and unexpected demise of Charles Stewart Parnell. It was further resolved to send messages of condolences to the mother and widow of the deceased statesman. A committee was also appointed to confer with organized bodies of Irishmen in this city and vicinity and arrange for a memorial mass meeting to be held in Cooper Union within three weeks.

Palmer House Rolls.

BY MRS. F. L. GILLETTE,

Author White House Cook Book.

Two teaspoonfuls Cleveland's Superior baking powder; one quart flour; one teaspoonful sugar; one teaspoonful salt; one egg; two tablespoonfuls butter; one pint milk.

Sift together baking powder, flour, sugar and salt. Rub the butter thoroughly into the flour, add the milk and egg well beaten. Mix quickly into a smooth soft dough. Roll quarter inch thick. Cut with large round cutter. Spread tops with soft butter, then double one-half over. Bake fifteen to twenty minutes.

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

The most healthful leaven is carbonic acid gas from pure cream of tartar and soda. It is the only leavening power of Cleveland's Baking Powder. That is why Cleveland's is perfectly wholesome, leavens most and leavens best. Try it, Cleveland's.

SHE MARRIED IN FUN

But When Told It Was a Legal Ceremony She Objected.

THEN THE BRIDEGROOM FLED.

The "Mock" Marriage of Lillie Voorhees, a Society Miss of Morristown, N. J.

The Young Man in the Case a Theological Student—The Pair Were Lovers and No Objections Were Offered to Their Union. The Young Lady Thought the Wedding a Jest—Her Parents Indignant, and Say They Will Have the Marriage Annulled.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 8.—This town has been stirred by the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lillie Voorhees, a society belle of this place, to Harold C. Heverin of Philadelphia.

Heverin is a Princeton graduate and is studying for the ministry in a theological seminary of New York. He was engaged to Miss Voorhees, and no one offered objections.

About three weeks ago Miss Voorhees went to Haverstraw, N. Y., to visit relatives. Either by accident, design or pre-arrangement she had been there but a short time when Mr. Heverin also appeared.

The first thing he did was to call upon his fiance, and invite her for a drive. On their return Miss Voorhees says that Heverin accused her of having ceased to love him. This she denied emphatically, and to prove her constancy she laughingly consented to have a betrothal ceremony before a civil officer. The couple then drove to a Justice of the Peace, who performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Voorhees claims that not until the justice informed her that she was legally a wife did she realize that she had been deceived.

Heverin has disappeared and has not been heard from. Mr. Voorhees is indignant and says he will have his daughter's marriage annulled.

"The facts," said Mr. Voorhees yesterday, "are nearly as stated. There was no reason known why this secret marriage should have taken place as there was no objection to the union at the proper time and place."

"Myself and my family were well pleased at the prospect of the match if made in the usual way, but this manner of getting married has outraged all our feelings as well as all sense of propriety."

"The young couple will not live together, and I have already taken steps to have the marriage annulled. My daughter has not seen Heverin since the ceremony nor has she heard from him. believe my daughter's statement that he was inveigled into this marriage by Heverin."

General Sharpe Makes a Denial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—General George H. Sharpe emphatically denies the statement of the Kingston bank wrecker, Trumpbour, that he used the Ulster County Savings Institution as a means of furthering his political schemes. He challenges Trumpbour to name a single loan made with a view to influencing political action.

A Conductor Robbed.

LEWISTON, Pa., Oct. 8.—Joseph Powley, a freight conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was assaulted on his train near this place yesterday by two unknown men, supposed to be tramps. Powley was thrown from his train and robbed of $20.

Small Verdict for Seaman Miner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Seaman Jesse Miner of the steamer Louisiana, who was tried up to the forestay of that vessel recently for alleged mutiny, secured a verdict of six cents for damages against Captain Gayer.

The appointment of E. Clarence Hovey, of Boston, as executive officer of the Board of World's Fair Managers for Massachusetts, was confirmed yesterday.

The British steamer Galileo, arrived at Boston yesterday from Hull, England, with three passengers and crew of the American bark John E. Chase, of New York, abandoned at sea.

The New Hampshire Conference Seminary, of Concord, N. H., has been presented with a tract of land comprising 1,600 acres in Nebraska and South Dakota. The donor is Benjamin Chase Sargeant, of Evansville, Ill.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Two electric wires got crossed on Second street last evening, and quite a brilliant display of sparks resulted.

—A reception to mechanics and a meeting of the bowling section and of others interested will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-night.

—The Dorcas Circle of King's Daughters will give a yellow tea in the Bicycle Club house, this evening. The public will be welcome.

—A lamp that threatened to explode in the room of city treasurer Alexander Titsworth was thrown out last night, thus preventing a fire.

—The case of Demarest against Stover for assault, came up on the circuit court calender at Elizabeth, yesterday, and was set down for trial on the 20th inst.

—Quite a crowd of Plainfielders will go to New Brunswick Saturday to see the benefit base-ball game there, in which the Crescents of this city will participate.

—Two colored women appeared before judge Codington this morning, one accusing the other of calling her bad names. The case was adjourned for one week.

—At the firemen's banquet after the parade at Somerville, Tuesday, John H. Carney of this city entertained the gathering with recitations in German dialect.

—A half-dozen members of the Crescent League were dropped from the roll, last evening, for non-payment of dues, and a batch of others so frightened that they settled.

—Judge Codington has reserved decision in the cases of hackmen Kilbride and McCormick, who are accused of crowding a private vehicle up on the sidewalk and of breaking the harness.

—The Republican executive committee of the city met last night and authorized the issuing of the call for the local primaries, to be held in the first ward to-morrow evening and in the other wards Saturday.

—The Alert hose company went to Elizabeth this morning, and took their dandy hose wagon with them, to participate in the firemen's parade. A number of Plainfielders went down this afternoon to see them win the prize.

—The case of Dominick Duffy against his brother-in law, Cormick Cawfield, for breaking his jaw, biting his thumb, and otherwise assaulting him, was adjourned by judge Codington this morning for two weeks. Duffy is still confined to his bed.

—The installation of the Rev. A. T. Martin as pastor of the church at Dunellen was reported yesterday to the Elizabeth Presbytery in session at Bayonne. The Presbytery represents 34 churches, including those in Plainfield and Westfield.

—The Evening Journal of Pittsfield, Mass., reached its eleventh birthday anniversary this week. It is a bright and newsy paper, the only daily in the Berkshire county-seat, and covers its section of country with an enterprise and thoroughness worthy of metropolitan publication.

—Mrs. Ellis will give one of her pleasing talks, made especially attractive with stories, to boys and young people, to-night, at 7:45 o'clock, at the W. C. T. U. rooms, 73 West Front street, to which all—young and old, boys and girls, men, women and children—will be cordially welcome.

—What next? Here we have a police officer in Plainfield ordering a man off to bed whom he found walking on the streets at midnight. The man refusing, was arrested, locked up and heavily fined. The case will be brought before the Supreme Court. And now comes the following: The Recorder of Hudson county has imposed a fine of $25 on the owner of a rooster which crowed at uncalled-for hours, to the aggravation of a sleepy neighborhood, and is declared a nuisance which ought to be abated. These are funny cases: aren't they? The next thing to be tackled, it is intimated, will be the factory whistles.—Somerville Messenger.

Rare Opportunity for Young Men.

Young men with a good common-school education who want to better their condition in life are advised to consider seriously the opportunity offered by the Young Men's Christian Association in their short-hand and book-keeping classes. A $2 membership in the association entitles to these and other privileges of the association. A deposit of $1 will be required in the short-hand class, which amount will be refunded next January providing the pupil has attended the class regularly up to that time.

The short-hand class will be organized to-morrow evening, and the book-keeping class Monday evening.

A Small Fire.

Yesterday afternoon an employe at the meat market of A. J. Voegler, West Front street, set fire to some brush that was put in the smokehouse in the rear of the store several days ago, not thinking that it would do any damage to the building. In a few minutes the whole interior of the building was in a blaze, but the fire was extinguished before any further damage was done.

Men of brains originate, the unprincipled imitate. Counterfeit never have the true ring of the genuine. Wide-awake people refuse to be gulled. They insist on Hires's Root Beer, and are sure to get it.

JUSTICE DONE IN THIS CASE.

But It Wasn't Counselor Marsh's Fault That the Jury Decided For the Man Against the Corporation.

The jury in the case of the First National bank of this city against James M. Dunn, brought in a verdict, yesterday in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth, in favor of the defendant after a consultation of only half an hour.

Dunn endorsed a note of $800 for Aaron L. Jimmerson which the latter failed to pay. The bank then brought suit to collect the amount of the endorser. Craig A. Marsh was counsel for the bank and R. V. Lindabury for the defendant. The court room was crowded with members of the Union county bar, who sat throughout the case intensely interested, as always, in a battle between the two universally acknowledged leading counselors and most brilliant legal lights in at least this section of the State. There were present from this city: City Judge Codington, Counselors Jackson, McClure, Reed, Hetfield and VanWinkle, and Attorneys Stillman and Coward.

Counselor Marsh's handling of the case was masterly. As Counselor McClure said: "Marsh conducted that case beautifully. It was charming to follow his plan of evidence and his line of argument. There shone forth the training that wide experience has given him." But the jury decided for the defendant. They probably held that as when the note came due the bank allowed Mr. Jimmerson some more time to pay it in, thereby the bank entered into a new contract with Mr. Jimmerson that wiped out the old one and in consequence released the endorser. The bank accepted a new obligation from Mr. Jimmerson to which Mr. Dunn was not a party.

MARRIED THE GIRL AT LAST.

The Breach of Promise Suit Against Johnny Moore Ends Happily.

John Moore, only son and heir of the late "Uncle Billy" Moore, was married to-day to Mary Wood, at Elizabeth.

Young Moore met Mary three years ago, and the day after the meeting wrote to her, in a very gentlemanly letter, that his motives in seeking her acquaintance were highly honorable, and through frequent correspondence and meetings the friendship was kept up until the two young people agreed to get married.

Subsequently they became estranged, and when Mary found that she could not get Moore to keep his promises she sued him for $20,000 damages.

The case was to have been tried in Supreme court yesterday, but was not reached, and to-day the marriage settled it.

The knot was tied by Barney Rogers, sergeant-at-arms of the court, and justice of the peace. John will bring his bride from her present residence in New York back to her old home, Plainfield.

Moore has been willing the past three or four days to settle the case by marriage, but the obstacle in the way was his having to pay Mary's lawyer fees. He had a great aversion to settling a bill which he had never contracted, and felt that if the lawyers had kept out of the case he and Mary would have settled their troubles long ago. His counsel, Craig A. Marsh, persuaded him, however, to end the case by the marriage which he really desired.

Through a successful contest of his father's will Moore is owner of much valuable property in the business heart of Plainfield.

Mary had a big batch of John's letters, which would have made highly interesting reading in court, but which now the public may never read.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. T. C. Smith is at Ogdensburgh, N. Y., for a month.

D. M. Cone and son, of Leyden, N. Y., are visiting their uncle, J. B. Hurlburt, 30 Emily street.

Miss Addie Dervees, of Roxborough, Philadelphia, has been enjoying a week's visit with the Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck.

Photographs of handsome Miss Herndon, who is to appear at Music Hall, Saturday evening, are to be seen in all the store windows. It will interest the ladies to know that Miss Herndon's wardrobe is not second to that of any actress on the stage.

The women of the Home Missionary society request the pleasure of the company of all their friends, to-morrow afternoon, in the parlor of the Crescent Avenue church. There will be an address by Miss Rodgers at half-past three, and tea at five o'clock.

Ovide Musin, the great violinist and concert leader, who had been engaged to play at Music Hall on the 22d inst., was married yesterday in New York, to Miss Annie Louise Tanner, the charming soprano singer who has so enchanted the people of New York since Damrosch discovered her. She will sing here also.

The "Sub Rosa" will hold its first reading of the season at the home of Mrs George Wharton Edwards this afternoon. The club is now one year old, and is composed of sixteen young women, one of whom is married. The object, which has been faithfully followed out, is hard study. The time of meeting is 3 in the afternoon. After the readings a light refreshment is served. At all meetings the young women gather under a large bunch of roses. The officers, mode of work, and similar details, are entirely sub rosa.

WHITE ROSES FOR MISS RANDOLPH.

And the Happiness Granted Plainfield Young Women in Wellesley, of Touching the Hands of Baby McKee's Folks.

Life in Wellesley College is of increased interest to Plainfield as more and more of her ambitious young ladies seek that seat of learning for their "higher education." Last Wednesday President Harrison's wife daughter visited the college and a half-holiday was ordered. An enthusiastic reception was given by the faculty and students to the distinguished guests.

One of the students, humorously inclined, writes thus to her parents in this city: "At a formal reception given to Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee, your daughters had the happiness of touching with their plebeian digits the sacred and limp hands of Baby McKee's mother and grandmother."

Wellesley has set an example to the masculine colleges by substituting for the brutal habit of hazing a Sophomore, a reception of a friendly sort given to the Freshmen. The following description of this formal welcome is taken from the Prelude, which is the college publication, in which all that interests the seven hundred young women of Wellesley and their instructors finds place. It will be understood that the class of '94 (now Sophomores) have for class colors green and silver, for their class flower the nasturtium, and for their class tree the willow.

The college was a scene of gayety last Monday evening when the Sophomores gave their reception to the Freshmen. Every thing was hung with willow, but not of the weeping variety; the arches were draped with green or surrounded with willow instead of the usual heavy portieres. Over the south door was '94's class motto in silver, set in a back ground of willow. Piano lamps and nasturtiums everywhere brightened the scene and gave it color. Miss Shafer, Miss Caroline Fitz Randolph, Miss Edith Crapo, and Miss Helen James received the Freshmen in a bower of willow under the west centre stairs. Opposite them was another bower, formed of the same mournful tree, in which sat Miss Chapin and Miss Bateman. Miss Chapin was dressed as a gay, yellow nasturtium, while Miss Bateman was arrayed in green and silver. Here the Freshmen were first conducted by the Sophomore jailors to receive their work for the evening. This proved to be nothing less than to carry on a conversation upon the different subjects. The souvenirs were green cards in the form of dance orders, printed in silver. The topics, for which each Sophomore had already provided her Freshman with a partner, were as follows: Home, (no tears were noticed) '95's Snap, (which was read as a compliment to '95 or otherwise, according to the Sophomore) College Athletics, Domestic Work, College Fun, "Tubs," College Isolation, "Gym," Wellesley Precedents, and Alma Mater. After every two topics songs were sung by about twenty Sophomores, with solos by Miss Stanwood and Miss Foss, containing all sorts of good advice and encouragement for '95. On Monday afternoon the Freshmen established a precedent. This was due to "'95's Snap." Very secret it was and solemn, and very tantalizing to Sophomores, who enjoy Freshmen meetings, especially when they are secret. Though '95 was premature, yet we congratulate them on their graceful act. During the evening a most exquisite bunch of white roses was presented to Miss Randolph by '95. On the second floor small tables were set with green, surrounding large bunches of nasturtiums. So far did the loyalty of the class go, that the ices were green, the sandwiches were flavored with nasturtium leaves and each one contained a nasturtium flower. The cake and lemonade alone were free from the emerald hue. On the fourth floor there was also a goodly gathering gazing, not aloft, as befits a Wellesley girl, but down, and this with envy in their eye. Some one was heard to say that they were cherubs, but we know not whether this be true or not. The reception broke up at about ten and silence reigned once more supreme.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

When He Leaves His Old Employers and Joins a Rival Concern, the Charge Is Made.

Constable W. R. Mattox went to Newark yesterday and arrested J. Edwin Crater of this city on the charge of embezzlement. The complainants were Irvine & Hutchings, of Clinton street, Newark, managers of the National Custom and Clothing Merchandise Company, of which Crater was for several months an agent.

Two weeks ago, Crater left the company and joined a similar one. The National people were anxious to have him remain, and offered him a higher salary, but he held out against their inducements and was given an office in the other association.

The amount he is accused of withholding is $62.50. He says the company owes him more wages than that, and he is not anxious as to the result. Justice Nash, before whom he will be given a hearing Saturday, took from John Tier bond for Crater's appearance. Crater's friends are confident of his acquittal.

The New Jersey Republican State Convention at Trenton.

For this convention, to be held at Trenton Oct 15, the Pennsylvania Railroad company announces that from all points on its lines within the State of New Jersey excursion tickets will be sold to Trenton at one fare per capita for the round trip. These tickets will be sold Oct. 14 and 15, valid for return passage until Oct. 16, inclusive.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

Young Republicans to Go to Trenton.

The Young Men's Republican Club last night elected the following delegates to attend the State Republican convention at Trenton Oct. 15:

Robert P. R. Huntsman, Edward E. Anthony, Roger F. Murray, Herman Weber, Elias H. Bird.

Alternates—Ernest R Ackerman, C. Arthur Baynon, Fred C. Lounsberry, Edward B. Ryder, J. Fred MacDonald.

Needlework Guild Notice.

All directors who have neglected to send their contributions are requested to do so by Saturday.

More than four hundred articles have been received, and we are desirous of having as many more as possible on the October report. ANNIE A. W. MASON, Oct. 8, 1891. Secretary.

No More Big Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Tracy, in his forthcoming annual report, will oppose the construction of any more big cruisers like those of the White Squadron, and will recommend instead a fleet of small gunboats of the Petrel type. The Secretary thinks it a mistake to duplicate these big vessels when more serviceable, but less expensive ones, are what is needed.

Cases of the Suspended Bishops.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The case of Bishop Bowman, the third of the accused and suspended bishops, was taken up by the Evangelical Conference yesterday and discussed behind closed doors. The cases of Bishops Dubs and Esher have been fully discussed and sifted, and the Conference now only awaits the report of the committee.

Chief of Police in Trouble.

ROCHESTER, N.H., Oct. 8.—Chief of Police Berry was yesterday charged by ex-Police Officer Greenfield with receiving money for allowing a gambling game to be run in the city. Chief Berry was immediately arraigned before the Selectmen and pleaded not guilty to the charge. A hearing will be held next Monday.

A Mute Regains His Speech.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 8.—After being speechless for nearly 17 years, the effect of illness, Otto Wirthner, a well-known German, surprised himself and his friends yesterday by conversing fluently in both English and German. He had learned English by hearing it spoken.

Hotel Glenham.

I can attest to the efficacy of Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills—not only using them myself, but having given them to several of my friends, all of whom have been materially benefited by them. For cases of Dyspepsia and Torpid Liver I consider them invaluable. N. B. BARRY, Proprietor Hotel Glenham, N. Y.

Third Assembly Convention.

The Democratic voters of the Third Assembly District, Union county, are requested to meet in their respective wards and townships to elect delegates to a convention to be held at Force's Hotel, Plainfield, N. J., Tuesday, Oct. 13, 1891, at 2 o'clock p. m.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for every fifty Democratic votes, and one for every fraction over twenty-five cast at the last Gubernatorial election in the several townships and wards, making the total number twenty-eight, and apportioned as follows, viz:

NOBLE WOMEN'S WORK.

Annual Report of What the Plainfield Relief Association Has Done.

To the Members and Friends of the Relief Association:

The year which ended on the first of October was marked by no striking modifications or great changes in our society's work. It was a quiet and rather uneventful year, though a useful one, we trust. We seem to call forth just about the same amount of sympathy and support from the community as heretofore, and have been enabled therefore to do only about the same amount of good. If, as the population of the town grows, the number of our supporters could grow with it, our association would be able to increase its usefulness, and to make marked progress between one annual report and the next.

WORK OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

During the past year the cases of 84 families, representing 273 persons, have been treated by the society. Of these, 35 cases have never been on our books before. The other 49 are old and recurrent ones. The following nationalities are represented:

American	30
Irish	22
Negro	10
German	6
English	5
Scotch	2
Swedish	2
Unknown	6

The families may be classified as follows:

1. Needing continuous relief, as aged, incurable, orphans, etc	20
2. Needing temporary relief, because of illness, accident, or unusual trouble	29
3. Needing work rather than relief	30
4. Ineligible applicants	5

In the first class are many who receive help from the town poor-fund, but whose provision is for some reason insufficient, and is therefore supplemented by the association. The aid given to this class takes for the most part the form of an occasional gift of second-hand clothing, or a small sewing-order, by which a pair of shoes or a little fuel are earned. One or two among the number are women with families to support, whose delicate health and household cares prevent them from earning their own living.

To the second class the aid given is usually food and fuel to bridge over a period of unusual distress. In one instance the father of a family of little children was stricken with pneumonia, and ill at the hospital several weeks, and during his illness his wife earned a dollar's worth of provisions each week by sewing for the association. In another case a woman, broken down by the care of her husband during his last illness, received medicine and a quart of milk each day, besides other food, until she was able to go to work again. While A. W., a respectable, industrious colored man, was ill at the hospital, his family was receiving a dollar's worth of provisions each week, so that the money earned by his hard-working wife could be devoted to paying the rent and other expenses.

To the third class belong those whose earnings are insufficient, because they cannot get enough work to do, or who, while perfectly able-bodied, are indolent. The usual remedy applied by the executive committee in such cases, is to furnish a moderate amount of beneficiary sewing, until other employment can be obtained; and to endeavor as soon as possible to find outside work for the applicant. Occasionally to attain this end an advertisement is inserted in the paper at the expense of the association, and very often the names of men and women suitable for different kinds of domestic work can be found at the rooms.

The superintendent calls attention to the falling off of the number of ineligibles as an encouraging feature. Each year the unworthy seem to feel more hesitation about applying where they know that their cases will be subjected to a thorough examination, and she says that as a rule our beneficiaries are much more respectable, deserving people than they were a few years ago.

Besides the regulation food and clothing orders either earned by or given gratuitously to our beneficiaries, they have received help in other ways. For one poor old man who had served in the war, a pension was obtained last spring. For A. W., whose arm had to be amputated, enough money was raised from friends to buy an artificial one. One month's rent was paid for him, as also for two other families who needed to be setright with the world. During the past winter fifty cents a week have been given to pay a woman to do the washing for the family of Mrs. L., who is too ill to do it herself. Several seamstresses have been materially aided by having sewing machines loaned them, and in one case a sum of money was loaned to buy material for a carpenter's work.

A larger amount than usual was this year contributed to send the poor mothers and their babies for a day to the seashore, and seven grown persons and an indefinite number of children were thus rested and refreshed.

The other great feast of the year for our beneficiaries, Thanksgiving day, brought happiness in the shape of a good dinner to no less than eighty-two poor families. If only the generous donors could have accompanied their gifts as Scrooge did his turkey, I think their satisfaction would have been heartfelt.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

The report of the Employment Bureau is as follows:

Number of women who have received sewing	19
Number of garments made	622
Amount of sales from ordered work	$29 97
Amount of sales from beneficiary work, etc	$134 14
Total amount of sales	$164 11
Parcels of clothing given gratuitously	112

By no one is greater help afforded to the association than by those who patronize this department, and by ordering plain sewing enable us to furnish more employment to those who are able to earn their food, than would otherwise be possible. A few weeks ago this question was addressed to our president: What does the cause of charity organization most need in your neighborhood? And she said, "I am inclined to answer by one word—work!" Work to give to these poor, shiftless people, that they may be able to drop their pauper habits, and get back their self-respect, "so that"—to use the words of the Bridgeport report—"the needy may graduate from the rolls of relief, and their children be prevented from falling into need."

MOTHERS' CLASS.

The Mothers' Weekly Sewing Class was last winter carried on with the usual success. Fifteen names were enrolled, and the attendance was very regular. Twenty-nine garments were made, but the greater part of the time was spent on the cutting and sewing of thirty-seven pounds of rags to complete the carpet which now adorns the board-room of the Relief Association. The superintendent reports that the women seemed much interested in their work, and that she is greatly encouraged by the good influence which the meetings have upon them.

PROVIDENT SAVINGS COMMITTEE.

The Provident Savings Committee has had another prosperous year. Its treasurer writes: "I think the interest shown by the savers and collectors has been most encouraging. I feel that the weekly visits of the collectors are of great value, not only in aiding the savers to become more provident, but in the personal influence that may be exerted." The savers now number 155, and of these 49 have individual bank accounts. During the past year the sum of $1,890.53 has been collected, $1,330.95 of this amount belonging to the holders of private bank books. The largest individual account is $251.25. The greatest need of the committee just at present is a larger number of collectors, ladies who are willing to go once a week to the homes of the savers, and gather up the little sums that they have been able to lay by. Volunteers in this service would be very welcome, and should give their names to either the secretary or the treasurer of the committee.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD.

The only new line of work which our society has been instrumental in organizing during the past year is the Needlework Guild, which, though by no means a branch of the Relief Association, bears to it very much the relation of a child to its father. It was at the May meeting of the board of managers that Mrs. Stewart of Montclair delivered the address which led to the formation of the Plainfield Guild—greatly to the advantage, as we believe, of the poor people of Plainfield and elsewhere.

OUR HELPERS.

As our society grows older in experience we see more and more the advantage of co-operation between the various benevolent agencies of our city. The admirable arrangement by which the orders of the Overseer of the Poor are filled at our store-room gives us a complete oversight of the aid which comes from that quarter to the town paupers, and prevents any possibility of the duplication of relief. The churches and private individuals are coming to consult with us more about cases where perhaps the information contained in our registration book can supplement their knowledge. The Hospital, the Children's Home, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children lift a great load of responsibility from off our shoulders in caring for the sick, the orphaned, and the worse than orphaned.

The King's Daughters, too, are our efficient co-workers, and though our income would probably be larger if their societies did not exist, we feel that our capacity for usefulness is greatly increased by having them to "hold up the hands", as it were, of our older institution.

Outside of town, also, we are able to gain helpful ideas and methods from the exchange of reports with many charitable societies in this country and abroad, and by occasional correspondence with them. Each year the report of our progress is sent to the National Conference of Charities and Correction, and our work goes to form part of the great sum total of beneficent action which gives impulse to that meeting.

Not least among our helpers and co-workers, though in a different way, are the physicians who have visited our sick poor, the editors who have repeatedly published our notices, the expressmen who have been always ready to serve us, and the merchants who have given us a liberal discount on our bills. To them our cordial thanks are due, and also to H. P. Reynolds, who at great trouble to himself arranged a plan by which the filing and classification of our receipted bills would be facilitated. If such co-operation and support as we have received from these and other generous friends can only be continued and augmented during the coming year, who knows of how much service we can be to the community, and how many lives we can raise from pauperism to independence?

Respectfully submitted,

EDITH RICHMOND LEONARD,
Secretary.

October 6, 1891.

JUDGE CODINGTON PRESIDENT.

Annual Election and Business Meeting of the Plainfield Crescent League.

The Crescent League had a lively business meeting last night, when the annual election of officers took place. The election resulted as follows:

President—W. R. Codington.
Vice-president—Charles P. Leggett.
Secretary—George Hallock.
Board of Trustees (three years)—Charles Reed, Charles K. Moore, J. T. Fritts.

Judge Codington's only opponent for the presidency was C. C. Burnet, on whose motion, after the vote was taken giving Codington a majority, the judge's election was made unanimous.

Randolph Stelle was put up against Leggett for the vice-presidency. Leggett's election was subsequently made unanimous.

Dr. Jenkins was nominated, against his protest, for trustee. He needed only his own vote to tie with Dr. Fritts.

The treasurer's report showed a thrifty condition of the finances. The base-ball department made only $100 less than last year.

The opinion of the members was asked for concerning the project to go into a Central New Jersey base-ball league. The sense of the club was that if right terms could be agreed on the proposed league would be a desirable thing. To the proposition of the other towns that all the gate receipts of the season be pooled and divided equally, Plainfield will not agree.

His Foot Crushed by a Horse.

The VanArsdale family, of Pluckamin, and formerly of Plainfield, has met with another misfortune. Saturday afternoon a horse, which Peter VanArsdale had taken in exchange for the team which recently ran away and caused the sudden death of Mrs. VanArsdale, stepped on Master Vandey VanArsdale's foot, crushing one of his toes into a shapeless mass. The young man, who is twelve years old, stood the pain in a heroic manner and did not even take stimulants when Dr. Beekman performed an amputation of the injured member. He is getting along fairly.—Bound Brook Democrat.

A New Raritan Bridge.

New Brunswick has at last won its long and bitter fight for a much-needed improvement. The Middlesex county Board of Freeholders, yesterday, after a full discussion, ordered a stone arch bridge built at the foot of Albany street, across the Raritan river The present structure is of wood and very rotten. The cost is not to exceed $100,000. The vote was very close, being 10 to 9 in favor of the project. The county will issue bonds to pay the expense. For years the country members of the board have opposed and defeated the project.

Senator Adrain and the Farmer Orator Will Speak.

The Democratic Club of Piscataway township will have a rally at the new school-house at Dunellen next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. The Hon. Robert Adrain, who at New Brunswick, yesterday, was re-nominated for State Senator, and the Hon. James E. Martine, the farmer orator, will be the prominent speakers.

North Plainfield Democrats.

The Democratic primary in North Plainfield will be held in the Public school-house to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of naming five delegates to the county Democratic convention.

The convention will be held at Somerset Hall, Somerville, next Monday, at 10 a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Member of Assembly.

The Next Meeting at Westfield.

The delegates to the semi-annual session of the Elizabeth Presbytery concluded their labors yesterday. The subject of revision of constitution of the Presbyterian church was debated. Final action was postponed until the next meeting. It was agreed to assemble at Westfield, next April.

I HAD catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer. IT IS NOT

A LIE.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

THE proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once. 50c.

A FACT.

Weak, Tired, Nervous—Now Strong.

She suffered from debility, and nervous prostration. Entering a druggist's, she told him how weak, nervous, tired and miserable she felt.

"By all means use Dr. Greene's Nervura," was his reply. "It is the greatest of all strengthening medicines for both nerves and body. It is the best medicine—the best tonic and restorative you can possibly take, for it not only gives strength to the nerves invigorates and enriches the blood, but regulates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels."

And then he told her of a great many cases it had cured, that it was purely vegetable and harmless, and cost but $1. She purchased, and never regretted it, for it made her, and will make you, strong, vigorous and healthy.

AGAIN IN HEALTH.

"I suffered with malaria, kidney and liver complaints, nervous prostration and sleeplessness. I was so weak I was confined to my bed. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura, and feel that it has given me a new lease of life and health, and that I am cured of all my troubles.

THOROUGHBRED HORSES.

How They Endure the Fatigue of Long Journeys.

Two Views of English and American Methods—Some Point from John Mackey, Who May Well Be Called an Expert.

[COPYRIGHT, 1891.]

"Sunol is coming east this fall."

We had been talking about some big horse sales, and the great number of valuable animals that had recently come to New York to be sold. This naturally brought about the subject of their transportation.

"In this matter of horse travel," said the auctioneer, "America is two thousand years behind the time—behind England, I mean. You don't know how to treat a good horse over here when you have to take him on a journey. Strange, too; for America is getting to be a great horse country, both in the matter of breeding good animals, and in the estimation in which they are held.

"This business of carrying horses about from place to place is enormous in its magnitude. The sales in New York alone, the past winter, have amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars, and most of the horses have been brought from far away, many of them from the Pacific slope. Horses which have made the journey in private cars belonging to their owners, have arrived in good condition, but others, brought in ordinary freight cars, like horned cattle, have suffered greatly. Some of them which started from Kentucky, apparently worth about $300 a head, have arrived here looking to be worth about $50.

"Moreover, if a gentleman wants to take his horse with him on a journey, he finds no facilities offered by the railroads. And here is where England has the advantage. At every railroad station of any account one may engage what is called a horse box. This is a car, the front wall of which is divided into two sections longitudinally. The upper one is lifted and the other is lowered, forming a platform upon which the horse walks into the car. There are three padded stalls, a compartment for grooms, boxes for straw and feed—in fact, everything necessary to insure the safety and comfort of the horse. There are also flats on which carriages can be easily run.

"All these conveniences are ready at a moment's notice in England, and are not expensive. For five dollars a horse can be taken sixty miles, and when he reaches his destination he is in much better condition than if he had been jammed into a freight car, exposed to injurious varieties of heat and ventilation and knocked about generally as he would be on an American railroad."

These views were very painful to my patriotism. They were expressed by Mr. William Easton, who sells horses under the hammer for Tattersalls of New York. He is an Englishman, as the reader has probably guessed. After talking with him I met with Mr. John F. Mackey, who looks after all of Mr. Haggin's valuable horses when they go on journeys. He is an Englishman, too, but almost the first words he said to me were: "England is three hundred years behind the times in the matter of the transportation of horses."

Allowing for an auctioneer's natural tendency to exaggerate, this statement was as strong as Mr. Easton's, and amounted to a gratifying contradiction of the slur upon our country. Both knew the points of a horse, and Mr. Mackey at least is an expert on the subject under discussion.

"In the first place," said Mr. Mackey, "it would take seven trains of horse boxes to carry 140 head of horses, the number brought from Mr. Haggin's farm in California this winter. Furthermore, a horse would be exposed to far greater danger, in my opinion, in case of an accident to the train. When I am in charge of horses on the railroad I do not tie them up; I just let them go loose in their stalls. It is safer. Suppose the train gets into a collision or runs off the track. The horses are thrown off their feet, and generally they are brought up with a jerk by their halters. If the halters do not break the horses' necks are very likely to, or they may be choked to death. I've known many good horses to be killed in this way.

"Now, in those English cars they have their own halters, and I'd like to see the bull that could break one of them. Your horse is put into the box, and locked up, and you can't get at him. He may be getting hanged for all you know, until you arrive at your journey's end. If there's an accident he probably will be hanged. Now when I brought the last load of horses east we had a collision, and some of our horses were thrown around pretty lively, but not one of them was hurt. I had six car-loads. There were several car-loads belonging to another party on the same train, and they suffered much greater damage. If I remember rightly, two of their horses were killed, and half a dozen were hurt."

The six cars to which Mr. Mackey referred were the private property of Mr. Haggin. They are everything which modern ingenuity can make them. The springs are at least as well made and adjusted as those of the best Pullman car. They can be arranged in stalls of any desirable size, by means of movable partitions.

Perhaps the handsomest of these cars is the "Alta," in which the great horse Salvator made his trip to the Pacific slope last fall. Three-quarters of it are given up to stalls for horses and the remainder to a regular Pullman sleeper for the men.

Salvator, by the way, takes traveling calmly. I remember how different was his demeanor on the day when he left Jersey City from that of the filly Rosette, who was in the same car. Salvator was dignified and quiet, but Rosette beat a rousing tattoo on the side of the car. It required the combined efforts of Mr. Mackey and two other men to quiet the little filly. Such nervous horses are almost certain to get hurt if anything unusual happens in the course of a journey. If they escape broken bones, the nervous shock has a strong tendency to bring on a congestive chill. Such an accident was the death of the fine filly, Miss Ratt, a couple of years ago, while she was on her way to Washington. She wasn't hurt much, but she was crazed with fright.

There's a great difference in the way horses stand a journey. The queen of the trotting turf, Sunol, is a bad traveler.

Ten or a dozen horses in a good car warm themselves, and nothing need be done in the way of artificial heat, but the ventilation has to be carefully looked after. It cost about $100 each to bring the load of 140 horses from California last winter.

This figure is low for the distance, but then Mr. Haggin owns his cars, which reduces expenses. I have been told that in the ordinary way of engaging transportation it costs about $125 to get a horse from Kentucky to New York.

Mr. Mackey has been exceptionally fortunate in his journeys as a keeper of horses. A good many dollars have been lost in this country by the killing of valuable horses on the rail. One of Mr. E. J. Baldwin's handsome cars jumped the track a few years ago near Ash Fork, A. T., and three fine animals, Volante, Miss Ford and Wonderland, were seriously injured. The worst catastrophe was probably that in which Fred Gebhard lost Eole, Eolist and other valuable nags. This occurred in September, 1888, and Mr. Gebhard recovered heavy damages.

The security of horses in ocean travel is a matter of interest, for the tendency now is to bring racing interests nearer together in Australia, England and America.

Valuable horses on shipboard have not as a rule fared well. Last winter the stallion Ossian, valued at $10,000, died on the Atlantic. Seasickness and consequent exhaustion were the causes. Horses haven't the natural resources that men have when they're tossed on the foaming billow. They're not built that way. Their misery remains with them. Some horses get very nervous on a vessel, and this nervousness ends in a general depression and loss of vitality, ending in death. When an animal is worth $10,000 his safety becomes a matter of careful thought, leaving all considerations of mercy aside. Perhaps somebody will invent a way to convey a horse across the ocean with less risk.

Some of them are fairly good sailors. The fine three-year-old Simon Magus by St. Simon out of Wheel of Fortune, made the trip with Ossian and got through it all right. The greatest thoroughbred sire this country ever knew was imported Leamington, and in his case the ocean voyage seemed to be as beneficial as a summer vacation in Europe to an American clergyman. Leamington was not thought much of in England, where a horseman said his days of usefulness were over. He was so broken down that many thought he would not survive the voyage, and yet he lived in the Blue Grass region to sire some of the fastest horses the American turf has ever known, including Iroquois, who, after beating everything on this side of the water, went over to England and got away with the best they had to put up against him.

But his case is exceptional, and before the best horses of this country can go to Australia, for instance, as freely as some of our theatrical companies escape in that direction, something better in the way of accommodation must be devised.

THE FIRST GUN FIRED

New York Democratic Campaign Formally Opened.

CLEVELAND AND HILL SPEAK.

The Ex-President and the Governor Shake Hands on the Platform.

Mr. Cleveland Eulogizes the Democratic Nominee, and is Not Fearful for the Result—Governor Hill Gives His Views Upon the Currency Question—Why the World's Fair Went to Chicago, in His Opinion—Other Issues Discussed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The first gun of the Democratic campaign was fired last night at Cooper Union. Long before the hour set for the meeting came around, the historic Institute was filled—filled so that no more persons could be crowded in.

Outside, on a raised platform, in the centre of the square facing Cooper institute, Chairman Roger Foster, of the County Democracy, and a corps of speakers addressed a crowd of over 12,000 people. All in all there were 20,000 people in and about Cooper Institute.

Chairman Griffin introduced ex-President Cleveland as the presiding officer of the evening. Among other things Mr. Cleveland said:

"It is evident that if our opponents are permitted to choose the line of battle they will avoid all national issues. I am very far from having any fear of the result of a full discussion of the subjects which pertain to State affairs.

"In the present condition of affairs it is not to be supposed that any consistent and thoughtful member of the Democratic organization can fail to see it his duty to engage enthusiastically and zealously in support of the ticket and platform which represent our party in this campaign.

"We seek to place at the head of our State government a man of affairs, who in a long business career has earned the good opinion and respect of all his fellows, whose honesty and trustworthiness have never been impeached, and who I am sure, will administer the great office, to which he will be called, independently, fearlessly, and for the good of all the people of the State.

"If we fail to retain ascendency in the Empire State, no matter upon what issue it is lost, and no matter how much our opponents may seek to avoid great and important issues, it will be claimed as the verdict of our people against the principles and platform of the national Democracy."

The ex-President then introduced Governor Hill as follows:

"I suppose I am now about to perform a work of supererogation. I can only say to you Governor Hill is here." As the Governor came forward he shook hands with Mr. Cleveland

The Governor after briefly outlining the plan of campaign, touched upon the McKinley Bill, saying that it had neither ruined the country nor benefitted it. He then took up the currency question.

"In this campaign, the Democratic party has planted itself firmly and squarely upon the principle of bimetallism. We not only re-affirm that pithy declaration of the National platform of 1844 in favor of "honest money, the gold and silver coinage of the Constitution," but we go further and denounce the present Sherman silver law not merely as authorizing the coinage of a silver dollar whose value is constantly fluctuating, but also, "as a false pretense but artful hindrance of return to free bimetallic coinage," and as tending only to produce a change from gold to silver monometalism."

Speaking of the World's Fair, the Governor said that "the responsibility for the loss of the fair to New York is directly traceable to the Republican candidate for Governor and to the Republican leader who dictated and controlled his action. The plea of fear that the fair would be controlled by Tammany Hall, was a subterfuge and a false pretense. It was a mere excuse invented by notorious jobbers who will be greatly benefitted by the holding of the fair in Chicago."

Governor Hill took up and discussed at length the questions of excise legislation, economy in State affairs, and the direct tax fund. Part of his speech was devoted to a review of the record of the Republican party in this State for the past eight years, and more particularly the record of the Republican nominee for Governor.

Part of a Buried Treasure.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—The keg of bright silver dollars, dated from 1823 to 1830, which were sent by the Economite Society to its bank in Beaver Falls a few days ago, when rumors reflecting on the stability of that institution were circulated, is said to be a part of the immense treasure buried by Father Rapp, the founder of the society, in 1831, when Count Proli and his brother adventurers were trying to carry off the wealth of Economy.

Entwistle Committed to Jail.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 9.—Harry Entwistle was brought before the police court yesterday charged with assault with intent to kill Maria Clegg with a chisel. He pleaded guilty. The case was continued pending the result of the injuries to Miss Clegg and Entwistle, in default of $1,500 bail, was committed to jail. Miss Clegg is reported to have passed a comfortable night.

McKinley and Campbell Debate.

ADA, O., Oct. 9.—The joint debate between Major McKinley and Gov. Campbell attracted about 20,000 people here yesterday. It was an earnest, well balanced discussion. Both speakers made admirable arguments and each was considerate and courteous to the other. The Buckeyes were proud of their champions at the close.

A Minister Robbed.

NYACK, N. Y, Oct. 9.—During the night a thief entered the residence of Rev. Dr. Church, secretary of the New York State Temperance Society at Sparkill, while the family were in the sitting room. The thief secured jewelry and other valuables to the amount of several hundred dollars.

COLOR LINE DRAWN.

Some of the Negro Ministers at the Methodist Conference Complain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Some of the negro ministers who are here attending the Ecumenical Methodist Conference, complain that they are treated unfairly in public places on account of their color. Rev. J. C. Emory, of Philadelphia, in speaking of the matter said:

"Time makes a great many changes, and it pleases us to know that we sit where Gen. Grant once listened to the preaching of the Word. And yet we had a very unpleasant incident happen to us.

"We partook of the communion service with our white brethren on an equality, but when we went out to get a lunch we could not find a restaurant which would serve us and we finally had to go to a railroad depot. Our money, good United States money, was actually not current in the capital of the United States.

"If we wanted beer," said Bishop Arnett, "we would have had no difficulty in procuring it"

"That is true," said Dr. Embry, "and our experience here seems strange when we remember that in London we could dine at the table of the Lord Mayor."

The Ecumenical Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—At the afternoon session of the Methodist Ecumenical Conference the status of Methodism in the western section was discussed by Bishop Fowler of San Francisco, Rev. William Briggs of Canada and Bishop B. W. Arnett, colored, of Ohio.

TWO BISHOPS EXPELLED.

Important Action by the General Conference at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Yesterday's executive session of the General Conference of the Evangelical Association of the United States, which was held in Christ Church, was probably the most important that the body will hold.

Bishops Bowman and Escher were expelled from the church, and Bishop Dubs, who was found guilty of certain charges by the Trial Conference, came out ahead of his enemies, the General Conference having reversed the finding of the Trial Conference and ordered that he should be restored to the rights and privileges of the bishopric.

The proceedings were held with closed doors, and when the deliberations were concluded none of the delegates would give the details of what had been done.

A Young Woman Commits Suicide.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—Mary Brenner, aged 22, wife of Gustav Brenner and mother of a week-old child, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at her residence No. 37 Milk street. Police investigation shows that Mrs. Brenner bought a box of Paris green at Coles' drug store to kill cockroaches, as she said, and then went home and took a dose of it. No reason can be assigned for her act. The neighbors say the Brenners appeared to be perfectly happy, and Brenner does not know why his wife killed herself.

The Ætna a Total Wreck.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 8.—The two masted schooner Ætna, which stranded at Sandy Hook, will be a total wreck. Her keel is entirely gone and big holes have been torn in her side. Capt. Comeau and his crew of six men were brought ashore in the breeches buoy. The Ætna was built in 1875, is of 300 tons burden, and is owned by M. P. Embury, of New York. She was bound from Nova Scotia to Chester, Pa., with a cargo of latha.

Almy's Leg Broken by Transferal.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 9.—It now transpires that Almy's leg was broken while being taken to Woodville. The leg, which had been enclosed in a plaster of Paris cast, was examined before he left for the train and found to be all right. The following day, however, he complained of great pain and investigation developed the fact that the cast and leg were broken, but how the accident occurred is not known.

New York Ball Players Examined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Messrs. Talcott and Spalding, of the executive committee of the New York Baseball Club, held an investigation yesterday into the charges recently made that the club had been so weakened in the final games played with Boston that it was impossible for them to win any of them. Seven of the players were examined. The result of the investigation will be made public October 12.

Dunton the Penman Dead.

CAMDEN, Me., Oct. 9.—Alvin R. Dunton, professor of penmanship, died here yesterday, aged 79 years. Mr. Dunton was the author of the Dunton system of penmanship. He was champion of the world at middle age, and had few equals with the pen, even at an advanced age. He has taught in nearly every State in the Union.

ORLANDA, Fla., Oct. 9.—At a meeting this morning the Florida Worlds Fair Convention voted to raise $100,000 for a State exhibit at the Columbian Exposition.

HIS DYING WORDS

"My Love to My Colleagues and the Irish People."

FUNERAL OF THE DEAD LEADER.

He Will be Buried in Glasnevin Cemetery, Dublin, on Sunday.

No Autopsy Held Upon the Body, as Intended—So Far as Known Parnell Left No Will or Declaration—He Had No Thought of Death—Extensive Preparations for the Obsequies—Parnell's Last Speech—Capt. O'Shea Has His Say.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The announcement that there was to be a post-mortem on the body of Mr. Parnell created some misgivings as to the cause of death. Dr. Gowers, in response to a telegram of inquiry, said that the post-mortem had not been ordered by any public authority, but was to be held by the wish of the attending physicians, with the consent of friends of Mr. Parnell.

He stated that the death was as plain a case as he had ever attended. Parnell died of rheumatic fever.

The doctors, after examining the body of Mr. Parnell, concluded that it was not necessary to perform an autopsy, and therefore refrained from doing so. Dr. Gowers and two other physicians made the examination. The remains had undergone a rapid change, and it was found advisable to close the shell.

As far as known, Mr. Parnell did not leave a will or a political declaration. He had no perception of the gravity of his illness or any consciousness of the approach of death.

During his delirium, shortly before he died, Mr. Parnell talked about Ireland, and what he would do for her if he lived. Almost his last words were: "Let my love be conveyed to my colleagues and the Irish people."

The Messrs. Redmond & Mahony are arranging for the funeral. The body will arrive in Dublin on Sunday morning, and be taken in state to the City Hall, from which the funeral will proceed to Glasnevin cemetery, the place of interment. Extensive preparations are being made for the obsequies.

There will be no religious ceremony at Brighton. The body will be conveyed to London on Saturday in time to catch the Irish night mail.

CAPTAIN O'SHEA TALKS.

His Estimate of the Dead Leader—No Union Likely.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—In an interview at Brighton Captain O'Shea said that ultimately it would be seen that the death of Parnell would not result in a reunion of the Irish Home Rule party.

"In the last conversation, but one, that I had with Parnell he assented with obvious pleasure to my suggestion that among his political friends the most false was John Dillon, the lowest Tim Healy and T. P. O'Connor, and the most contemptible Justin McCarthy. I have nothing now to say about Parnell.

"It was in April, 1886, that I found him out for what he was. Politically he was never a man of ideas. His was not an original mind. But he was the most skillful assimilator of the ideas of others that I ever knew."

Comments on the Continent.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The views of the Continental press and public opinion as to the effect of Parnell's death are largely colored by local political interests. The general impression on the Continent is that Parnell's death will strengthen the Liberal party, and therefore have an indirectly unfavorable influence upon the foreign policy of Lord Salisbury. Hence in Germany the news is received with regret, while in France and St. Petersburg, where the return of Mr. Gladstone to power is desired, there is a disposition rather to exult over the death of the man who stood in his way.

Parnell's Last Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The last public utterance of Mr. Parnell was at Greggs, County Galway, Ireland, on Sept. 27, when he addressed a meeting of three or four thousand people. He was at that time far from well, and said, as he began his speech, that his physicians had ordered him not to leave his room, but he would not disappoint men of Galway, else the seceders would say he was beaten.

Oldest College Graduate in America.

FITZWILLIAM, N. H., Oct. 9.—A. A. Parker celebrated his 100th birthday yesterday. He graduated from the University of Vermont in 1813, and is said to be the oldest living college graduate in America. He was intimate with Daniel Webster. As a colonel in the Governor's staff in 1820, he acted as escort to Gen. Lafayette.

Sir James Ferguson Elected.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Right Hon. Sir James Fergusson, Conservative, has been elected in Northeast Manchester by a vote of 4,058, to a vote of 3,938 for C. P. Scott, the Liberal candidate.

KINGSTON BANK AFFAIRS.

A Bitter Legal Contest Probable Over the Selection of Receiver Brodhead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The agitation over the selection of a permanent receiver for the Ulster County Savings Institution continues, and evidence crops out on all sides of a bitter legal contest.

Judge Barnard of Poughkeepsie, on application of Counsellor Van Etten of this city, on behalf of Mary Proper, a depositor in the insolvent bank, has granted an order to show cause why the appointment of N. E. Brodhead should not be set aside, as also that portion of Judge Fursman's order restraining and enjoining all persons from bringing actions or proceedings against the defendant or continuing further proceedings in actions already instituted. The order will be argued at the special term here on Saturday.

It is rumored that Linsen & Van Buren have withdrawn as counsel for Ostrander and Trumpbour. As they are out of town the report cannot be verified.

Mayor John E. Kraft, in an interview, said: "I did not receive any assistance in my contest for Mayor, either directly or indirectly from the Ulster County Institution, as stated in the reported confession of Mr. Trumpbour. My opponent Col. McEntee, is a personal friend and ally of Gen. Sharpe and one of his staunchest supporters. Therefore it would be folly to expect any support from such a quarter, even if it could be given.

"That institution has never been a factor in politics. The trustees have always been divided politically and no insinuation has ever been made to the contrary. Mr. Ostrander is a Democrat and Mr. Trumpbour a Republican, and they both, as far as I know, have always been unhampered in their political views. No foundation exists for the story that the influence of the institution was ever used in politics."

HIS WIFE FOUND THE LETTER.

The Husband Couldn't Stand Her Denunciation, So He Committed Suicide.

CORTLAND, N., Y., Oct. 9.—D. H. Bosworth, a druggist of Marathon, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon, by swallowing belladona. Emetics were promptly administered by friends, who found Bosworth lying unconscious upon the floor of a room off the store. The cause of the act is attributed to domestic infelicity.

Bosworth came to Marathon two years ago from Cortland and apparently had been living happily with his wife. At noon, however, Mrs. Bosworth found a letter in her husband's coat pocket from a well known woman of the village. She went directly to the store and denounced her husband in unmeasured terms, whereupon he at once went into the back room and swallowed the poison.

Bosworth's people are prominent in Cortland county and are active church people. It is said that Bosworth was mixed up in a similar affair last spring, but the matter was hushed up. Bosworth is in a critical condition.

Appeal from a Judge's Decree.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—In the Supreme Court, yesterday, Mrs. Eliza Taylor appeared as complainant against John W. Pettingill, attorney-at-law and judge of the Malden District Court. She claims to have retained Judge Pettingill to contest the will of her uncle, who left the bulk of $30,000 to another person, and that through the alleged negligence of Judge Pettingill to attend the hearing in the case the will was allowed. She asks leave to enter an appeal against the decree of the Judge of Probate allowing the will.

A Nihilistic Agent Returning.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—L. Rosenfert, president of Section B, of the Nihilistic order, has received word from the agent of that section recently sent to Russia intrusted with important messages to the effect that he has already set sail for America, and that he has been very successful in the performance of the duties intrusted to him. On his return an important meeting will be held.

Mayor Gleason Indicted and Arraigned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The rumors of the indictment of Mayor Gleason of Long Island City were confirmed yesterday, when that official was arraigned to plead to an indictment for assault in the second degree Bail was fixed at $1,000. The court fixed next Monday as the time for hearing the pleading. Mayor Gleason attempted to speak, but was called to order.

Pickpockets in Limbo.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Cohen Barnett and Lewis Smith, the pickpockets arrested yesterday, were held for the grand jury in $1,000 each. Letters in Barnett's possession show him to be an old offender, who has served time in New York prisons. Smith alleges that Barnett was teaching him to be a pickpocket.

WILL FORGE NO MORE

Arrest of a Clever English Swindler.

VICTIMIZED A NEW YORK FIRM.

He Had No Difficulty in Getting $11,600 From Laidlaw & Bros., Bankers.

He Led the Detectives Put on His Track a Long Chase—Finally Discovered in Paris Living Like a Prince—Will Be Extradited and Brought to this Country—A Long and Successful Career of Crime.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Inspector Byrnes was yesterday notified of the capture of a clever English forger and swindler, who swindled Laidlaw & Bros., bankers, of No. 14 Wall street, to the extent of $11,600 about three weeks ago.

The firm does a large letter of credit business with foreigners visiting this country. A distinguished looking man, about 30 years of age, with flowing whiskers of the Dundreary type, entered the office Sept. 18 and presented a letter of credit for $35,000 from the New Orleans Banking Company of London.

The indorsement of the note showed that $5,000 had been already drawn on it, which allayed any suspicion that might have arisen in the minds of the bankers, and when the Englishman nonchalantly remarked that he would only take them an amount sufficient to cover his immediate needs, a paltry $11,600, and leave the remainder in their hands, the money was paid without question. Next day Laidlaw & Bros. cabled to the London banking concern that John Boyce had drawn $11,600 on his letter of credit. The reply received ten days later was not productive of pleasure at No. 14 Wall street. It was to the effect that the London firm knew nothing of any John Boyce, and that the letter of credit was a forgery.

Inspector Byrnes was notified of the case and detailed Detective Sergeants Golden and McNaughton to run down the forger. They looked over the passenger lists of the steamships that arrived here about the 18th of September and ascertained that three men, one of whom answered the discription of the forger, came to this country that date. They were traced to the Union Square Hotel, where it was ascertained that they stayed only one night. The next morning they separated, two of them going to Canada and the other, who answered the description of Boyce, going back to England on a steamship that sailed that day.

The detectives followed the two men to Canada and caught them. They claimed ignorance of any forgery, and said that they had made the acquaintance of Boyce on shipboard and knew nothing whatever about him As it could not be proven that they had any connection with the swindle they were released. In the meantime the Scotland Yard detectives had been notified and took up the trail. From the description cabled to them they recognized the forger as Henry Danarais, better known by any one of the numerous aliases he had assumed during a long and successful career of crime on the other side.

He was trailed to Paris, where he was found living like an Oriental prince in one of the best hotels. He was captured Wednesday by M. Guron, Chief of the Parisian detective force, and will be held to await the arrival of an officer from this city.

The extradition papers are now being prepared. Detective Sergeant McNaught will deliver them to the French authorities. He will sail for Paris next Wednesday.

RAN AWAY WITH A BOY.

A Sixteen-Year-Old Rhode Island Youth Who Breaks Up Homes.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Oct. 9.—Joseph and Lina Busha came to this town from Providence a few weeks ago and engaged board at the residence of Joseph Dayon. Busha was a first-class carriage painter and opened rooms in the shop of John Hickey of Jewett City. All went well with the young couple until a few days ago, when Lina visited some Rhode Island relatives.

Not returning at the time agreed upon, her husband went in quest of his bride and learned news from her relatives aroused his suspicions. Lina, who is only 16 years old and a petite blonde, returned home the day following her husband's visit to Rhode Island, and he accused her of unfaithfulness. The quarrel ended in Lina's disappearance. Joe followed her the next morning and found his wife in Providence. So enraged was he that he purchased a revolver and followed his wife and her companion, who have disappeared.

Busha is mentally affected by his wife's actions, and is roaming from place to place in search of the destroyer of his home.

Mrs. Busha's companion is Joseph Le Clair, who is only 16 years old, although he has been the cause of several family quarrels.

O'Malley Goes Free.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—The indictment against Dominick O'Malley, the detective, who obtained such notoriety from his connection with the trial of the Italians accused of the murder of Chief of Police Hennessey, was abandoned by the State yesterday, the District-Attorney entering a nolle prosequi.

Phillipsburg Bank Solvent.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Oct. 9.—Cashier Jones, of the Phillipsburg Banking Company, has issued a statement of the bank's affairs which shows assets of $459,000 and liabilities of $388,000. Mr. Jones is confident that all claims will be paid in full.

Secretary Foster to Go to Ohio.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Secretary Foster expects to go to Ohio on Thursday, October 22, to begin his speechmaking in the campaign.

ROUGH WEATHER.

The Supposed Lost La Flandre in Port, After a Perilous Passage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The long overdue steamship La Flandre got into port yesterday afternoon, not at all the worse for her perilous encounter with old ocean and three healthy hurricanes.

Captain Smuck of the steamship was seen on board of her. He said:

"We sailed from Antwerp in water ballast for New York on September 16. Three days later we ran into and sunk the German vessel Hessen Muller.

"We picked her ten men up and landed them at Plymouth. We then put to sea again. On September 25 we encountered a hurricane, and three days later another one, but they were nothing to the hurricane that struck us on the afternoon of October 5.

"The wind came out of the southeast, veered around to east by southeast, veered again to south'ard, then to west'ard, and went all the way around to northwest'ard. I have been at sea 35 years, before the mast and as an officer, but I never such a storm in my life.

"We were always under the water; the waves were like mountains. The barometer fell actually to 28.58, and that is the lowest I ever heard of. I had never seen it before below 65. We came out of it all right."

City of Paris Suffers Also.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The City of Paris also had a very stormy passage. She ran through gales during the entire voyage, and the seas were so high that even the sailors were knocked off their feet. One sailor was severely injured by a fall. No accidents to passengers are reported.

BLAIR'S RESIGNATION.

Accepted by the President—What the ex-Senator Says.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The President has accepted the resignation of ex-Senator Blair as Minister to China, the office that the Chinese government refused to allow him to occupy after his appointment to it had been confirmed by the Senate. Mr. Blair said, in speaking of the acceptance of his resignation.

"I liked the idea of going to China, but when the Chinese government, influenced by lies, refused to receive me, I was ready to retire to private life. I want no other office. The President was willing to give me an office of equal dignity to that to which I was at first appointed, but I told him I did not care for anything else."

A Lively Corpse.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Ramon I. Williams, United States Consul-General at Havana, who was reported some time ago to have died of yellow fever, returned home on the steamer Saratoga yesterday in perfect health.

L. Warren Randolph will conclude his labors as teacher of a class in the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church, next Sunday, much to the regret of the students among whom he has labored so earnestly, and will take charge of the new chapel of the church on East Third street. He will make a most efficient superintendent, and under his care the new mission ought to flourish exceedingly.

JOEL BRIANT DEAD.

He Was Stricken With Apoplexy While Driving Along the Street.

The senseless body of Joel R. Briant, general book-keeper in the Bank of the Republic in New York city, was picked up in the roadway on Park avenue at the corner of Fourth street, at 6 o'clock last evening, and at 7:45 this morning Mr. Briant died without having regained consciousness.

George Fuller was riding his bicycle down Park avenue, going homeward from the train, when he heard a crash just ahead of him, and, looking quickly up, saw a horse galloping straight towards him.

He swerved his bicycle aside just in time. The horse's flank brushed his arm as it sped by. The quick turn of the wheel brought his machine up against the curb, and he was thrown headlong to the ground.

When he picked himself up he saw a dark form lying in the roadway ahead of him. It was Mr. Briant's body. He called for assistance, and the body was carried into Williams's pharmacy, where Drs. Tomlinson, Fritts and Endicott were quickly in attendance.

The physicians found that Mr. Briant was suffering a stroke of apoplexy, and the story grew that his horse had been frightened by Fuller's bicycle headlight, that it had then thrown him out, and that the shock and concussion had caused the apoplexy.

During the night, however, it was decided by the physicians that the stroke had occurred while he still had control of the reins and that he fell to the ground when the fit seized him.

Dr. Tomlinson, the family physician, remained with the patient all night, and until the end came, doing all in his power to restore consciousness to the inanimate form, and condoling the afflicted family, who had seen their head go forth a few hours before stalwart in health, and who were almost prostrated at the sudden shock of having him brought back in such a state.

Mr. Briant's powerful horse ran on, after finding that it was its own master, up Park avenue, and down Front street. It wrecked the sulky to which it was attached, and continued on until caught at Grant avenue.

Mr. Briant had come home early in the afternoon and had taken the horse out for a long drive, as was his custom. It is considered fortunate that he was in town instead of out in the country when the apoplexy seized him, as he might have fallen on some lonely roadside and lain there some time without discovery.

Philip Giese, night watchman, found Mr. Briant's pocket-book, containing about $7 in money, in the roadway near where he fell, and through sergeant Lynch restored it to the family.

Besides the widow, Mr. Briant leaves two grown children.

The pall-bearers selected for Mr. Briant's funeral are W. R. Codington, E. C. Mulford, J. P. Homan, Stephen Beeching, W. V. Mundy and C. H. Rugg. They were all fellow-members with Mr. Briant in both the Methodist church, of which Mr. Briant was long a member, and Jerusalem Lodge.

THE TOMB.

Martha C. Brown.

All that was mortal of Mrs. Martha C. Brown was laid away to rest in Hillside Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral services, which were held from the residence of her father, William L. Smalley, 22 Craig place, at half-past 2, were conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. He spoke in tender, loving words of the departed, taking his text from David's Psalm—CXVI: 15—"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints". The attendance of mourners was very large. A quintette composed of Miss Edith Harold, Miss Gussie Runyon, W. MacClymont, B. T. Barnes and L. H. Biglow, jr., sang "Asleep in Jesus", "Blessed Assurance", and "Some Sweet Day". The services were highly impressive and deeply affecting. The pall-bearers were William jr., Jedediah, David, Al. Daniel and Newton Smalley, brothers of the deceased.

The Asylum to be Removed.

It has long been the intention of the management of Dr. Cooley's asylum on Sandford avenue to have the institution removed to another locality just as soon as possible. The removal will be made as soon as another site can be secured, especially since some of the neighbors in its present locality object to its proximity. It is not the wish of the management to give offense to anyone.

Dragged From Under the Wheels.

Expressman Charles Farlee saved a man from horrible death at the North avenue station this morning. The man was intoxicated, and fell in trying to board a moving train. He was rolling in under the wheels when Farlee ran forward and pulled him back.

Bicycle and Hack Collided.

Richard Haven, manager of the local Chicago Beef company, collided with Patrick Keely's hack on North avenue, near Peace street, last evening, and received severe and painful injuries. His bicycle was wrecked.

—The Crescent League Bowling Team will open the season for the Phœnix club in Harlem Oct. 16.

—The young people's society of the First Baptist church will hold a sociable next Thursday evening.

A CHARMING "YELLOW TEA".

The Dorcas Circle of King's Daughters Hospitably Entertain the Public.

HANDSOME though the interior of the Bicycle Club gymnasium always is, it presented last evening a scene of unusual brightness and gaiety, for the Dorcas Circle, King's Daughters, had taken possession of it, and had thrown open the doors to the public and invited everybody to a charming "Yellow Tea".

The place was tastefully decorated with draperies, portieres and curtains, and flowers were abundant. The prevailing color was of course yellow. In every detail was revealed the deft work of fair hands and feminine ingenuity.

The reception room was beautifully decorated with screens, standing lamps, pictures and other artistic effects. The good genii who welcomed guests and made them glad that they had come and reluctant to go away, presided here. They were Miss Louise Green, Miss Thorn, Miss Mary Miller, Miss Jessie Stewart, Miss May Kirkner and Miss Florence Keith.

The refreshment committee, who saw that each guest was served with chocolate and wafers, if they desired, and with other good things of the "tea", were Mrs. Saltzman, Miss Spicer and Miss Ross.

The season's bountiful harvests were represented at a booth laden with fruits, where Miss Mattie Covert and Miss Maude Saltzman exchanged the luscious products for the people's silver.

Sweet things were in abundance at the candy table. Miss Arleen Crane, Miss Della Bowers and Miss Amy Green dispensed the toothsome goodies.

The display of fancy goods was a bewildering profusion. The wares were very tempting, and sold rapidly, especially when the praise of their merits fell to the lot of Miss Brown, Miss Mary Fritts and Miss Maltby.

The inevitable lemonade well was a favorite stopping-place of the promenaders. The Rebeccas were Miss Katharean Thorne and Miss Florence Abbott, who permitted no thirsty one to pass without refreshment.

The entire affair was under the efficient general management of Mrs. John M. Crane, who was mainly responsible for the fact that it was a great success in every particular. The caterer of the evening was W. J. Stephenson.

HE SWEARS SHE'S UNFAITHFUL.

Ex-Mayor Evans's Youngest Son Asks for Divorce From His Wife.

Louis Mellville Evans, the youngest of ex-Mayor Evans's sons, formerly of this city, has entered suit in Baltimore—where he is now a most prominent society man—for divorce from his wife, Jessie Evans. The bill charges unfaithfulness. It was filed very quietly, but the fact was probably known to Mrs. Evans, for almost immediately her attorney filed an answer, and before an examination of the bill and answer could be made all the papers were withdrawn. The only explanation given was that Mr. Evans had charged his wife with unfaithfulness and named as co-respondent two Philadelphians, with whom it is claimed she had been intimate while at Beach Haven last summer.

No one saw the papers but the clerk, and he only long enough to permit him to make a record. It is also intimated in the bill that there are other men with whom Mrs. Evans has been intimate, and if there should not be sufficient proof offered to satisfy the Court more names will be added.

The sweeping charges are denied absolutely, and Mrs. Evans claims she will, at the proper time, prove her innocence. The suit was entirely unexpected, for very recently the couple lived at the Chattolanee Hotel in the Green Spring Valley, a fashionable Maryland resort, where Mrs. Evans was regarded as the leader in all social events. She is a very beautiful woman and a charming conversationalist. She claims her husband is jealous.

They have one child, a boy, whom the Rev. Dr. Ketcham of this city recently christened on board the Messrs. Evans's steam yacht Restless. The boy was named after its grandfather, John H. Evans, who was Plainfield's second Mayor during the years 1871-2. Louis Evans is now about 26 years of age and quite rich. He met his wife in Scranton several years ago. They were married on June 20, 1889. Up to last Saturday Mrs. Evans resided with her husband, but early on Sunday morning she left for Washington, where she is stopping with friends. She is about 20 years old.

Two New Voters in Dunellen.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton was made happy yesterday morning by the appearance of a bright baby boy.

A son and heir has come to Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Runyon of Dunellen. Mr. Runyon will now have an assistant in his business.

County Democratic Convention.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive committee of the county of Union held Tuesday, at Elizabeth, it was resolved to hold the county convention on Monday, the 12th inst., in the room of the county committee, Library Hall, Elizabeth, at 4 o'clock p. m., to nominate a candidate for coroner.

It was also resolved to recommend Friday evening, Oct. 9, as the time for holding primary meetings.

The city of Plainfield has called its primaries for to-morrow evening.

A member of the county committee for the ensuing year will be elected at the same primaries.

Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic electors of the City of Plainfield pursuant to the calls of the Democratic Executive Committee of the County of Union and of E. B. Silvers, Esq., chairman of the last Democratic convention of the Third Assembly District of said county, will assemble and elect delegates as follows, at the Democratic head-quarters, 28 West Front street:

	County Convention.	Assembly Convention.	Time.
1st Ward—	4	3	Saturday, 7½ p. m
2d " —	3	2	" 7½ "
3rd " —	2	1	" 7½ "
4th " —	6	5	" 8 "

HIGHEST HONORS GO TO PLAINFIELD.

The Judges Decide That This City Has the Handsomest Young Woman, and the Handsomest Hose Carriage.

There were over a thousand fine looking and handsomely uniformed men in the annual parade of the fire department at Elizabeth, yesterday, and their several steamers and hose carriages were as brilliant as polish, paint and floral decoration could make them, yet the ten thousand people that came from all over the State to view them, had eyes and admiration for only the men of Alert Hose company of Plainfield, and their $10,000 silver carriage.

Alert's line was composed of:

1ST ASST.	FOREMAN.	2D ASST.
C. C. Burnet,	J. L. Moore,	C. P. Leggett,

Assistant Chief—J. W. Murray, Jr.
Ex-Chief—A. Saltzman

H. F. Murray,	P. A. Emmons,
T. Rushmore,	S. B. Joseph,
H. W. Stover,	W. S. Lowry,
J. W. Davis,	B. H. Lowry,
E. E. Anthony,	E. J. Cooley,
J. K. Arnold,	J. M. Hawkins,
L. G. Timpson,	W. V. Stout,
W. S. Marsh,	J. W. Drayton,
F. L. C. Martin,	J. B. Kline,

TILLERMEN.

G. Lissignolo. F. O. Herring.

The other visiting companies were Humane Engine company of Morristown, Harmony of Trenton, Washington of Wilmington, Del., Neptune and Hibernia of New Brunswick, Protection of South Amboy, Franklin Hose of East Orange, Westfield Chemical Engine and a large delegation from Engine No. 20 of New York.

The streets were packed with people and the public and private buildings profusely decorated with flags and bunting, while arches of evergreen spanned the streets. At Elizabethport there were two life-size figures representing President Harrison and ex-President Cleveland, both fully equipped in firemen's costume. Harrison's figure was fixed up in the uniform of Red Jacket, a Republican fire company, and Cleveland in that of Hibernia, a Democratic organization.

The judges of award who sat on the reviewing stand, were: Mayor Rankin of Elizabeth, Chief Doane of this city, and Chief Kearsted of Newark. While they awaited the coming of the procession, Mayor Rankin said, as he gazed down on the sea of faces about them, "Gentlemen, I think it is our first duty as the judges of the day, to decide who is the prettiest young woman among those hundreds." Chief Kearsted replied, "That's so!" and after casting his eyes slowly over the acres of female loveliness around, said: "My vote goes for that young beauty in black, over there. She's my size."

Mayor Rankin let his eyes wander slowly and lingeringly from face to face in the big crowd, and then cast his vote for the young woman that Chief Kearsted had designated. The Mayor confessed she was his size, too. Then they waited to hear the verdict of Plainfield's gallant Chief who is acknowledged throughout the State as the best living judge of a handsome woman. "Gentlemen," said Mr. Doane, "I'm with you! That's undoubtedly the prettiest girl in Elizabeth to-day, and I am proud to tell you that she comes from Plainfield." It was Miss Minnie Rickert of Jackson avenue.

The other prizes were awarded as follows: To Alert Hose company of this city, a silver cake basket for the finest hose carriage in the parade. The Wilmington boys took the prize, a silver trumpet, for the best-equipped company in line. The prize for the company having the most men in line was awarded to Hibernia Engine company of New Brunswick. The water-throwing contest was not settled because one of the steamers had no coupling to fit the Elizabeth hose. It will be decided at New Brunswick to-morrow afternoon. The Elizabeth companies did not compete for any of the prizes.

DUNELLEN WINS THE CUP.

It Is the Trophy that Gives Its Holder the United States Championship.

The bowling on the green at Mr. Schepflin's home at Dunellen, yesterday, was very close and exciting. The trophy at stake was the Adams challenge cup. There were three rinks of eight men apiece, four on a side. The Dunellen club scored a total of 94, while the Middlesex club scored 82. The cup thus won will be contested for by all the bowling green clubs in the country next year. The local season will be closed with a series between Dunellen and New Brunswick players soon after Mr. Schepflin's return from the south.

Mr. Thompson's Latest Enterprise.

The purchase by Aaron D. Thompson of a large plot of land on North avenue, west of the oil-cloth works, and adjoining the railroad, was told of exclusively in THE PRESS the other day. He intends to erect thereon in the spring, large ice houses for supplying the wholesale trade and for renting cold storage to the merchants who deal in meat, fruit and other perishable goods. There will also be extensive steam elevators for unloading grain direct from the cars. There will probably be added to the premises later, large coal and wood yards.

—The Visitor, the Methodists' sprightly local paper, will resume its monthly visits the latter part of this month.

BILL ATEN WAS STAR.

He and His Family of Banjoists Helped to Make the Mechanics' Reception a Great Success.

ENGINEER BILL Aten, of locomotive 169, who has run so many fast trains over the Jersey Central road, was the star at the reception given, last evening, by the Young Men's Christian Association, to the mechanics of the city. After spending some time in social intercourse, all were invited to the hall, where the following programme was most acceptably rendered:

Piano Solo.........Miss Carrie Dewey
Recitation.........Henry L. Holt
Quartette—M. C. VanArsdale, Robert Gorton, George O. Stevens, B. T. Barnes.
Banjo Sextette—William Aten, Miss Nellie Aten, Miss Louise Leise, Miss Dora Leise, George Henry, Bishop Volk.
Baritone Solo.........Henry L. Holt

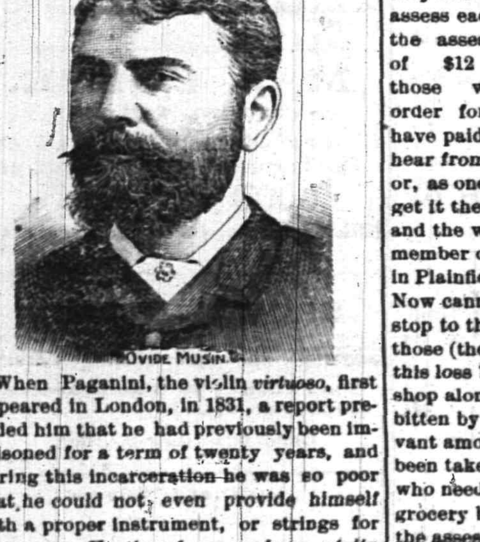
A banjo and piano duet, male quartettes, banjo duets and sextettes, and another recitation by Mr. Holt, completed the programme. Refreshments, prepared by members of the ladies' committee, were served by the reception committee. Nelson Runyon, of the board of directors, told something of the work of the association, and invited the men to visit the rooms at all times.

A. C. LaBoyteaux, chairman of the invitation committee, extended a special invitation to all to attend the men's meeting to be addressed by Anthony Comstock in the First Baptist church next Sunday at 4:15 p. m.

The reception will not soon be forgotten by the large number who were present.

Musin, the Incomparable.

A picture and a sketch of Ovide Musin will be interesting to the readers of THE PRESS because he is coming to Plainfield, Thursday, the 22d inst., accompanied by a company of eminent solo artists in a grand concert.



OVIDE MUSIN.

When Paganini, the violin virtuoso, first appeared in London, in 1831, a report preceded him that he had previously been imprisoned for a term of twenty years, and during this incarceration he was so poor that he could not even provide himself with a proper instrument, or strings for the same. He therefore made a violin out of a wooden shoe, on which he played almost constantly. At last he had but the "G" string left on his instrument. It was then that he composed the beautiful and very difficult variations on Rossini's Prayer of "Moses in Egypt". These reports resulted unfavorably to him socially, but his artistic engagements were very successful.

Mr. Musin will play this famous composition during his appearance in Plainfield, on a violin having but one string, the "G". Mr. Musin is the only violin virtuoso who plays the original Paganini variations, having secured them from a relative of the famous Paganini, and possessing now the only copy in existence.

The variations are so very intricate and deceptive as to frequently call forth doubt from violinists in the audience as to their being played on one string, yet the violin upon which this great composition will be played is open to inspection from one and all. No virtuoso who has traveled through America has received such universal ovations from the public, and such unanimous high praise from the critics, as Mr. Musin. Since Musin's first appearance in America in 1885, at which time he had the greatest possible success, his popularity has steadily increased, and is still increasing at a very rapid rate.

Twenty Boys Renounce Tobacco.

The rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union were filled to their utmost seating capacity, last evening, by an attentive and appreciative audience, who gathered to listen to Mrs. Ellis's chart talk on the use of tobacco and intoxicants. So impressive, as well as humorous and instructive did Mrs. Ellis make her discourse, that at the close of the meeting about twenty boys signed the anti-tobacco pledge.

Dr. Lewis pronounced the benediction.

This afternoon at 3:30 Mrs. Ellis will give a Bible reading at the W. C. T. U. rooms, and all "discouraged Christians", sister-members of the union, and the public generally, are invited to attend.

—Miss Herndon's great talent kept the audience in laughter, alternating with tears, the greater part of the entertainment.—New York Evening Telegram.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

SICK OF SHORT-TERM ORDERS.

The Men at Pond's Have Been Badly Bitten by Them.

Last February the shop went wild over what is termed "short-term orders", or orders agreeing to pay $100 or less in 3 months or one year, for $30 payments. Among the many was one entitled "The Earnest Workers", a 3-months order, of which the supreme officers were the earnest workers, as some 60 of the workmen can testify to. After paying from $35 to $40 each, the order collapsed, the leaders are now in jail at Philadelphia awaiting trial, and the concern is in the hands of a receiver. The boys are out. At the same time several others were started, which have all gone by the board, but the Advance Beneficial Order (giving $100 in one year) kept right on. Many of its members, although badly bitten by the others, stood by it through thick and thin. This was the order of orders, and they were safe. To-day how do they stand? They were to receive this $100 from an outlay of $35, or at the highest $40; but how was it to be done? I here quote from their circular:

"HOW WE CAN DO IT.
("FROM AN ADDRESS TO THE ORDER BY THE SUPREME PRESIDENT.)

"As this is a subject to be somewhat scientifically understood in order to see the absolute positiveness that exists, it is reasonable to expect one who does not understand the principal on which insurance and endowment orders are based, to say positively that you can not do it, and the first question they ask, is: "How in the world can they give me one hundred dollars for about forty!" The easiest way for such a man to see where his hundred dollars is to come from is by the Increase of Membership, (although we do not depend on that to run the Order) it is a fact that it would do it for several years, and easy for him to see; for as it only takes two extra certificates to pay off one, those going in this month would absolutely be paid off by those coming in the next two months, saying nothing about the eleven months that is ahead of each class."

In this circular they state that should they fall short, they reserve the right to assess each member, and so far they have, the assessments coming in at the rate of $12 per month, until now those who have stood by the order for the past seven months have paid in $72, and five months more to hear from before they can get their $100; or, as one member put it, "We may not get it then". The boys are dropping out, and the way it looks there will not be a member of the Advance Beneficial Order in Plainfield who will continue to the end. Now cannot something be done to put a stop to these swindling operations among those (the workingmen) who can ill afford this loss? I can safely say that in our shop alone over one hundred have been bitten by these orders (your humble servant among the rest); and the money has been taken from the families of those who need it, and without doubt many a grocery bill has been left unpaid so that the assessments could be met. But this has been a lesson, and I hope a lasting one; and I will close by quoting the old and true adage, "Fools are not all dead yet". LATHE HAND.

A FEMALE ROBBER AT FANWOOD.

Mrs. Darby Woke up and Saw a Woman at Her Husband's Cash Box.

Fanwood has developed a new feature in petty burglaries. Wednesday night Mrs. Levi Darby was awakened by the click of cold steel. She saw by the dim light in the room a woman trying to pick the lock of her husband's cash box. In the doorway, evidently on guard, was a strange man.

Mrs. Darby screamed for her husband, but he was so sound asleep that the burglars had vanished before he got out of bed. They secured nothing of value.

In their hasty flight the robbers overturned the table, laden with dishes, in the dining room, causing a bad smash of crockery.

Mr. and Mrs. Darby have a growing suspicion concerning the identity of the burglars. They were evidently people familiar with the interior of the house and the habits of the inmates.

Within the Reach of Plainfield Teachers.

THE PRESS has received from the New York College for the Training of Teachers an attractive circular containing an announcement of the extension class system for the coming winter. For the past three years, in order to afford opportunity to teachers who are engaged during the week to pursue professional studies, this college has carried on the system of the Saturday classes. For the present year, in order to afford special inducements to out of town teachers who have to spend not only time but car fare, the terms have been reduced one-half and special rates are offered to clubs. In this way it is hoped that the difficulties of time and space may be overcome, and New York and Plainfield be brought closer together, and the number of progressive teachers who come to New York on Saturdays largely increased.

An entirely new feature of the extension class work is the mother's classes, designed for those who desire to come more into harmony with the kindergarten movement, to study the principles of the kindergarten in their application to earliest child culture. Such classes may be held either at the college building, or, if a sufficient number unite to form a class, in Plainfield.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

An Abundance of Quinces for Jelly Making, and Apples and Pears Excellent and Cheap.

The market now offers a great variety of pears, many of them of excellent quality. The Bartletts, however, sell readiest, and for the highest price. A great crop of these pears was grown throughout New England this season, and there, and in the vicinity of Boston especially, great attention is paid to "ice-housing" pears, a process by which pears are kept in good merchantable condition for many moths longer than they would otherwise keep. Great quantities of them have this season been "ice-housed", and a liberal supply of good table pears is thereby guaranteed for the market all this winter.

One of the cheapest of the high-grade pears is the Lawrence. This is a very-close-grained, solid pear, and when not ripe is of very dark green color. It is not unlike the Bartlett in shape, but when ripe it is very yellow-skinned and very sweet. It makes a very white canned pear, and for that reason is highly esteemed by many housekeepers. An abundance of them was supplied to the markets from New Jersey this week, and they are of better quality than in several years.

During the past ten days a great many German prunes were sent in to market from Rochester, which is a city of fruit gardens. The greater part of all the cherries and plums which come from Rochester are produced within the city limits. And these fruits seem to perfect better within the city and are freer from injury by insects than those grown out in the country districts. It is thought that the smoke of the city is a protection against the natural enemies of these fruits. There are a great many German prunes from there this week, but they will soon become very scarce.

There is this season a general crop of quinces. It will not be difficult for housekeepers to procure good jelly quinces. For jelly making, the hard pear quince, which grows under the influence of ocean breezes, is the best, and this season Connecticut, Long Island, and Staten Island will furnish many excellent pear quinces. These quinces will be in the best condition for jelly making next week. For preserving and canning, the soft apple quince is best. The greater portion of the quinces which come from western New York are of this quality. There are a few from there to be had this week, but it will be a week or ten days before the best grade of quinces arrives from Wayne and Niagara counties. It is almost certain that they will be sold this year for as low as ever before, and $3 per barrel will purchase at wholesale most excellent quinces.

It is now certain that there will be a great abundance of winter apples. The warm weather which has prevailed over the apple-producing country for the past five weeks, however, is much against their keeping quality, and it is quite possible that many of these winter apples will be forced into the market early in the season, in which case it may be possible that the late winter and spring supply will be much shortened. During this week excellent fall pippins, codlings, baldwins, and greenings may be bought at wholesale for 75 cents per barrel, and only very fancy apples of any kind are sold for upward of $1.25 per barrel.

A Plainfielder's Flourishing Trade.

J. V. A. Craighead, of East Ninth street, this city, is given the following notice in "The History and Commerce of New York", that interesting and comprehensive work published by the American Publishing and Engraving company at 149 Church street, New York:

The responsible house of which J. V. A. Craighead is the proprietor has won its position in the front ranks by reason of the great variety of merchandise handled, and the consequent large number of manufacturers in numerous and very diverse branches of industry, who have been able to make it a medium for their supplies, oil for illuminating purposes, and such as is adapted to the requirements of railroad and steamship lines being included among the kinds extensively handled. Indeed, lubricants alone form a lengthy list, and the addition of sperm, whale, lard, neatsfoot and cod oil by no means exhausts the catalogue of commodites which the experienced principal is able to find unrivaled sources of supply for, on the one hand, and a ready market on the other hand. Mr. Craighead established his business in 1879, and he has a connection reaching to all parts of the United States, and including many large buyers and sellers. Located originally at No. 257 Front street, in 1881 he removed his office to No. 253 of that thoroughfare, and this is the busy centre of a still growing trade. He is of Pennsylvania birth, and came to this city a child thirty-five years ago.

Plainfield Needs No Better Lawyer Than Her Corporation Counsel.
[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

It is already rumored that John Kean, jr., will be president, and Frank Bergen city clerk, of the new Council that is to be elected in this city.—Plainfield Press.

If this is true there's one thing certain, Plainfield's Council will know how to run water-works successfully, and will have as its clerk the best authority on municipal law that New Jersey can scare up. And to judge from reports in the local papers, these are just the two things Plainfield's Council stands most in need of knowing.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

All the druggists sell the Tudor Whiskey. Some of the other dealers do not. They say it pays too small a profit. PURE whiskey never does yield a large profit. It is the adulterated stuff which makes the money. Do you want to pay your dealer an exorbitant profit on an adulterated article, or do you prefer genuine old Whiskey which is sold at a moderate profit? Decide for yourselves. The TUDOR WHISKEY is WARRANTED ABSOLUTELY PURE and TEN YEARS OLD. 9 6 tf

Witness my hand this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1891.

VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

Thorough.

Farmer—Well, Pat, I am going away to-day, and you had better trim those trees over yonder.

Pat—All right, sor.

Farmer (on his return)—Did you get the trees all trimmed, Pat?

Pat—Oi did not. Oi got them all cut down, and will thrim them out in the mornin'.—Judge.

A Living Example Generally.

"What is the easiest way to learn the habit of self-denial?" asked a husband of a philosopher, and the philosopher replied promptly:

"Watch your wife." — Somerville Journal.

Greater Than the President.

"Is that the president of the bank?"

"Which one?"

"That stylish looking fellow who says 'I and the board of directors' so much."

"No, that's the janitor."—Jury.

The Same Thing.

Bunsby—I hear the bakers are all going to strike.

Punsby—Well, what's the difference, they will only make one big loaf instead of a lot of small ones.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Seashore Love.

"That's Miss Young down there with her fiance."

"How do you know?"

"See that half-arc of purple and yellow light swinging in the darkness? That's her new engagement ring, and she's waving her arms for us to notice it."—Judge.

Matrimonial Item.

Cynical Old Bachelor—What makes you grin like an idiot?

Young Happicuss—O, I am the happiest of mortals! To-morrow I get married.

Cynical—Yes, I suppose you are the happiest man in town to-day.—Texas Siftings.

DON'T FLY A KITE

Soliciting Celestial Customers to visit your place of business.

It is equally unwise and imprudent to

with a cloud of 6x9 Dodgers. They only encumber the earth and enrage the populace.

FLYERS IN WALL STREET, or any other street, are not only unwise but wicked, and carry their own punishment.

THE NEWSPAPER is the PROPER MEDIUM in which to express your wants and proclaim the advantages of doing business with your establishment.

SHE WAS A CHARMER

He Had Been Married Twenty-two Years, and Always Stayed at Home.

He Went to Utica on an Excursion and Met His Fate—Told His Wife a Nice Story of Having to Work Nights, But in Reality Was Seeing His Charmer and Plotting an Elopement—Nothing Known of the Whereabouts of the Fair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A happier home than John Derrick's it would have been hard to find a week ago. He is an electrician and worked for the Eureka Electric Company. He has been married 23 years and lived with his wife and three children in Brooklyn. He belonged to a lodge of Free Masons and was also a Knight of Honor.

The members of Mr. Derrick's lodge attended an encampment in Utica a few weeks ago. He wrote affectionate letters to his wife daily.

Only two days had passed when Mr. Derrick came hurrying home late in the afternoon and announced that his firm had ordered him off to Boston on important business. Then followed a period when there was night work to be attended to, and Mrs. Derrick would not see her husband oftener than one or two evenings a week. That was about ten days ago. Thursday and Friday nights of last week Mr. Derrick took her to the theater. Saturday he said he was again called to Boston on business and would be away until Monday evening. She has not seen him since.

Adolph Wenzel, a plater, and an intimate friend of the family, called on Mrs. Derrick last Monday and asked to see her alone.

He then told the woman that while at the encampment at Utica her husband had met a Miss McCarn, a black-haired, black-eyed girl of 26 or 27 years. Just who Miss McCarn was Mr. Wenzell did not know, but he did know that she came to New York shortly after Derrick's return, and that Derrick became greatly infatuated with her and spent much of his spare time in her company.

A letter awaited Mr. Wenzel at his office Monday morning. It was from Derrick, who said that he was about to leave town, as he had tried in vain to withstand the charms of Miss McCarn. The writer asked Wenzel to inform Mrs. Derrick of his departure and to tell her that he would send her money before what she had was spent.

The deserted wife was at first grief stricken. Then she became angry. She called on her husband's employers and found that they had never sent him to Boston or given him night work. She has put the police on the trail of the runaways.

RUTH CLEVELAND.

That is the Name of the Baby at the ex-President's Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Ex-President Cleveland, in answer to an inquiry regarding the name of the new-comer in his house, said: "We have settled on a name and it is 'Ruth.' This was the name of Mrs. Cleveland's grandmother, and has always been especially liked by her.

"In connection with the publication of this item, which, I hope, will end much apparent curiosity on the subject, I desire especially, that mention be made of the extreme and kindly interest in us and our child shown by good people everywhere throughout the country. We have received almost innumerable congratulations and kind remembrances.

"From the President of the United States and from many a humble citizen have come heartfelt felicitations. All this has been very gratifying and has been fully appreciated, but, since it will be impossible to acknowledge all these messages separately, I hope this public recognition will be accepted as sufficient."

Testing a Law's Constitutionality.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Benjamin A. Plumley, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 for the illegal sale of oleomargarine, in the Municipal Court, and was committed to jail, was released on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Knowlton of the Supreme Judicial Court. This is a test case and involves the constitutionality of the act of the legislature which prohibits the exposure for sale of oleomargarine.

Searles Will Contest Postponed.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 10.—By agreement of counsel it was announced in court that the further hearing in the Searles will case has been postponed to October 20. This postponement, it is thought, is a preliminary movement toward a settlement of the entire matter out of court and the object is thought to be to gain time to consider negotiations which are said to be pending in the case.

Louisville All Right For Next Year.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 10.—The directors of the Louisville Baseball Club have effected a compromise with the Mechanics Trust Company of this city, which holds a mortgage on the club, and the franchise and the effects of the latter will not be sold at auction as anticipated. Louisville will, therefore, be represented in the diamond next year.

Bicycle Record Broken.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 10.—The two mile bicycle record was broken by A. B. Rich, of New York on Hampden Park. He covered the distance in 4:49 1-3. Zimmerman, Windle and several others acted as pacemakers. The first mile was covered in 2:95

BY THE TRUST METHOD.

How Broker Backer Expects to Get on His Feet Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The affairs of Abraham Backer, formerly a dealer in commercial paper at No. 235 Broadway, who made an assignment for the benefit of his numerous creditors on August 3 last, will probably be liquidated by means of a trust which is now being formed among the creditors at the instance of the assignee, Lawyer Benjamin F. Einstein.

It is expected that by means of this trust all of Mr. Backer's creditors will be paid in full, the assets preserved, and the best possible result secured out of the property and securities in the assignee's hands.

It is even possible that after all the expenses of the assignment and trust are met, and all the creditors paid in full, there may still be a surplus, which will go to Mr. Backer.

The reason for this unusual settlement is that the assets of Mr. Backer consist chiefly of bonds of southern railroads and other securities which are listed and have a limited market. If a forced sale of these securities were to be held they would have to be sold at a great sacrifice, whereas held until favorable opportunities offer themselves, they may be disposed of very advantageously, and away above their present value.

The largest number of the forty odd creditors have already signed the trust document. The rest are expected to follow suit. The trust agreement is not valid unless creditors whose claims aggregate 97 per cent. of the unsecured claims sign it.

THE KINGSTON BANK.

Receiver Brodhead Qualifies—Who Will Defend the Wreckers.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 10.—County Treasurer Nicholas E. Brodhead, who was appointed temporary receiver of the Ulster County Savings Institution, has qualified, his sureties being the American Trust Company of New York city. The amount of the bond is $250,000, which has been approved by Judge Furman of Troy. Receiver Brodhead has retained the firm of Linson & Van Buren as legal advisers, and it is the intention of the receivers and his attorneys to close up the trust as rapidly as possible and in a manner to secure for the creditors the largest possible payment.

An arrangement will be made by which the mortgages held by the bank will be sold so as to avoid foreclosure and consequent loss and injury to both the depositors and mortgagers. It is rumored that Ostrander and Trumbour will retain ex-Congressman David M. Dewitt and Frederick L. Westbrook to defend them. Messrs. Linson and Van Buren had only been retained to act for the prisoners in the preliminary examination.

The Glencarbon Miners Buried.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 10.—All the collieries in the valley were shut down during the funerals of the five unfortunate victims of the Richardson mine accident. Purcell was interred at Pottsville, and Lawler, Welsh and Clancy, at Heckscherville, a few miles from the scene of the disaster, and Shields at Mahanoy City. St. Kyran's Church, where the services were held, could not accomodate the vast numbers in attendance, men, women and children solemnly joining in the services from the outside. When the last rites had been performed at the grave the vast multitude knelt down and offered up prayers in behalf of the victims of the disaster.

The Bardsley Investigation.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 10.—Messrs. Haines and Wheelen, the experts employed by the Bardsley Investigating Committee to examine the books of the Keystone Bank, have submitted a lengthy report telling over again of the rottenness in that institution. As far back as January, 1889, the assets were $531,497.78 less than the liabilities. As to the $459,000 paid into the bank by John Bardsley, they report they are now satisfied that substantially the whole amount was used in paying off depositors who withdrew their accounts during the year 1890, culminating in the run on the bank in December of that year.

Claim the Bill is Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Steinbach & Co., of New York, and Marshall Field & Co., of Chicago, plaintiffs in two of the cases involving the constitutionality of the McKinley Tariff act, have filed briefs in the Supreme Court of the United States, basing them chiefly on the claim that the omission by the enrolling clerk of the tobacco rebate section, stricken from the original bill by the Senate, and restored in conference, makes the act void. Many similar cases are quoted, citing the decision of State courts holding that the omission of a clause in the draft of a bill makes it invalid.

Can Receive No More Assessments.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—An order has been issued by Judge Dunbar of the Superior Court, sitting in equity, enjoining the officers and agents of the Order of the Red Cross from receiving any further assessments from certificate holders. The order of Monday simply forbade the paying out of money.

HE WANTS A SLICE

Another Claimant for the Millions of A. T. Stewart.

HE HAILS FROM AUSTRALIA,

And Asserts that His Aunt Was the Mother of the Merchant Prince.

His Name is John Hunter and He Talks of Making Startling Revelations—He is Looking for a Witness Who Put a Secret Mark on Stewart's Will—The Counsel for the Estate Pooh-Hoohs the Claim, and Says New Heirs of the Millionaire Come Forward Every Day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Heirs to the Stewart estate continue to bob up with a rapidity which is pleasing to the lawyers who are engaged in the struggle for the merchant prince's money. The counsel for Alexander Stewart, who has a suit now pending, says that if he does not win it there are twenty-six other relatives, each of whom will bring suit in turn.

Another alleged relative has turned up in far-off Australia, and he shows his faith in his claims by spending several dollars in advertising for witnesses in the newspapers of this city. The new claimant is John Hunter, of Copenhurst, N. S. W.

He asserts that A. T. Stewart's mother was his aunt, his father's sister, and that he can prove the relationship by several witnesses. Mr. Hunter says that one of the witnesses to Stewart's will made a secret mark on the document so that it could be identified in future.

The mark, says Hunter, is not to be found on the will submitted for probate by Judge Hilton.

Mr. Hunter is advertising for the witness, and promises some sensational disclosures if he is found.

The mayor of the town in which Hunter resides, and Thomas H. Smith, a justice of the peace, certify that they have known him for many years and that he is a reliable citizen. Hunter proposes to bring a suit to upset the will, but it is probable that he will be induced to join his claims with those of the other 26 relatives.

The latter are represented by William H. Secor, who has associated General Benjamin F. Butler and Colonel Ingersoll with him in an attempt to eject Judge Hilton from the estate.

Mr. Secor says that Hunter may be mistaken about his aunt having been Stewart's mother. His mother's name is given in all the family records as Margaret Turney.

It is on this relationship that the alleged Irish heirs are making their fight for the estate.

The witness referred to by Hunter is said to be Dr. E. E. Marcy, of this city, who has refused to testify in the case. He is a very old man, and he was excused from testifying on the ground that he is too infirm.

Judge Horace Russell, the counsel for Judge Hilton, said that he had heard of Hunter's claim before.

"They are turning up every day," he said, "men who think they are relatives of Stewart, or who want a share of his money."

The judge said the claimants were legion, and were in all parts of the world. Some time ago he received a letter from some people in Russia of the name of Stuhrs, who claimed they were near relatives of the dead millionaire.

He had also received letters from Australia on the subject, and supposed they had come from Hunter.

Pickpocket Held for Trial.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 10.—A man giving the name of Peter Lee, and suspected of being a professional pickpocket, is held in $200 bail here. He stole a woman's pocketbook at South Norwalk while returning from the Danbury fair. When arrested he said he resided in Chicago. The name is thought to be fictitious and he is supposed to live in New York city.

The Kaiser and His Whiskers.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—The Kaiser has grown his beard to such a length that he is no longer anxious about the sale of his photographs, and everybody acknowledges that the change gives him a much more substantial and virile appearance, his cast of countenance, with the beard, being much more like that of his late father, the Kaiser Frederick.

Hostility to a Woman Mayor.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 10.—The town of Kiowa, Kan., is in a turmoil, the citizens being in open revolt against Mrs. Paxton, the lady mayor, on account of her warfare against whiskey "joints." She has been petitioned by the business men to resign and her husband's name is said to be on the petition.

New Engineer Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The president has relieved Col. Henry M. Robert from duty as engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia and detailed Capt. W. T. Rossell to fill the vacancy thus created. Colonel Robert was relieved at his own request.

SAY THERE IS A PLOT.

An Alleged Conspiracy to Assassinate Leading Anti-Parnellites.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Healyites claim to have discovered a well organized plot to assassinate leading Anti-Parnellites who may attend the funeral of the dead statesman. This will be made the excuse for absence on the part of many, and it is said that they are rather glad of so good a pretext to stay away, thus avoiding the disorders that seem inevitable in case the factions meet at the grave of the man over whom they quarreled so bitterly in life.

Alfred Webb, M. P. for Waterford, says that the fact of such a conspiracy as above described cannot be denied. He had obtained proof of its existence, and would lay the facts before the world at the proper moment. Parnell, in Webb's opinion, perished in an attempt to bend the laws of God and the conscience of men to his will. Parnell was a man, not a God, and no forced tear to please a passing sentiment was likely to wet the cheeks of those who had opposed him from motives of high principle during his lifetime.

Sensational Posters at Cork.

CORK, Oct. 10.—Large sensational posters have been placarded on walls, fences and other places throughout this city. These posters have deep mourning borders and bear in their centres the words: "Murdered to please Englismen," together with verses denouncing the McCarthyites and the United Ireland articles; declaring that Parnell was murdered and imploring the people to remain tranquil. The posters are stirring up much excitement.

Dr. Fox Here Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Dr. J. F. Fox, M. P., who comes to this country to collect funds for the Irish Parliamentary party in the ensuing campaign, arrived on the steamship Germanic, and did not hear of Parnell's death till he reached quarantine. He thinks the event is likely to result in the return of a great many of Parnell's followers to the Irish Parliamentary party, and that the others are not to be feared. Dr. Fox represents the anti-Parnellites. This is his tenth trip to America.

Sympathy for the Leader's Mother.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The story of the grief of Parnell's aged mother has excited deep sympathy, and the Parnellite leaders who are in charge of the funeral arrangements say that, if any provision could have been made to let the mother have a last look at her son, it would have been done; but that, even if she were here now, it would be difficult, owing to the rapid change in the remains.

Parnell's Mother Seriously Ill.

BORDENTOWN, N. J. Oct. 10.—Mrs. Parnell, mother of the late great Irish leader, is seriously ill. She has been prostrated by the news received of her son's death. It is feared that the blow has been too great for her, and that her mind is unbalanced. She got up from her bed and in a greatly excited manner, declared she was going to New York, where she would sail for Ireland for the purpose of seeing her beloved son. She is in a highly hysterical state.

PERMANENT CENSUS BUREAU.

An Effort For Its Establishment to Be Made When Congress Assembles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Superintendent Porter of the Census Bureau is authority for the statement that the question of the establishment of a permanent Census Bureau will be brought to the attention of both houses of Congress as soon as they assemble, in compliance with a resolution of the State.

Speaking of the matter, Mr. Porter said: "I will have prepared by that time the draught of a bill, and also a report containing an expression of opinion from leading statisticians and commercial bodies throughout the country.

"It is my hope to have ready for congress a very exhaustive report upon this subject, showing the necessity for such a permanent establishment, and that it will not only conduce to economy, but insure more accurate statistics than is possible under the present system."

Failure of Oil Operators.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 10.—A tremendous sensation was created by the report that Hart Brothers, the well-known operators had failed with liabilities to the amount of over $150,000. They commenced to operate in the field at the inception of the oil industry in Washington county. It is stated authoritatively that the firm will pay dollar for dollar. Their assets consists of good wells and valuable leases. The financial difficulties were precipitated by the filing of judgments in Armstrong county.

Indian Schools.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Dr. Dorchester, the Superintendent of Indian schools in his report to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, says that he had made 163 visits to schools located in 34 different agencies. In giving his estimate of the progress of Christianizing the Indians in the Dakotas Dr. Dorchester says that from church authorities he learns that the Roman Catholic Church Indian population in these two States is 4,740 while 10,500 to 11,000 are of other denominations.

The Big Bicycle Tournament.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The interest in the six days' international bicycle tournament, which will be held at the Madison Square Garden from Oct. 18 to 24, is more commanding than perhaps any other similar meeting ever held in this county. The entries include nearly all the best riders of this country and Europe. The majority of them are here and in active training.

Linseed Cake Exportation Forbidden.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 10.—Owing to the difficulty of providing fodder for cattle, the exportation of linseed cake from Russia is forbidden.

The Author of the White House Cook-Book
Says: "I have used baking powders for many years, and tried all kinds that have appeared in the market, but find Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder surpasses all others."
"By practical tests in the kitchen, Cleveland's Baking Powder is the most economical, less being required for the same baking."
"It makes the finest grained and lightest breads and cake—other powders are apt to make a coarse-grained cake, as if the sugar were too coarse."
"Food made with Cleveland's Baking Powder retains its natural moisture and flavor, not drying out as when made with powders containing ammonia or alum."
"For these special qualities of excellence, I use only Cleveland's Baking Powder and recommend it to my friends."

AFRAID OF BEING SHOT.

Patrolmen at Life Stations Complain of Reckless Gunnery by Officials.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 10.—The patrolmen of the United States Life Saving stations No. 1 and 2, at Spermaceti Cove, and Normandie-by-the-Sea, threaten to desert the service unless the United States Government officials at Sandy Hook testing grounds stop their reckless firing along the beach.

The patrolmen claim that they are constantly in danger of being hit by the shells from the big guns and mortars. They have complained to the government officials, but they pay no attention to them.

Last week Captain Edwards of station number 2 had a shell plough up the sand but a few feet from him. He has saved the shell as a memento. When complaints were made to the Government officials they promised the life saving men to inform them when they were going to shoot along shore, but have never done so.

Big Horseshoe Plant Sold.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—The plant of the Rhode Island Horse Shoe Company, the largest concern of the kind in this country, and one of the largest in the world, has been sold to a New York syndicate. The works are situated at Central Falls and turn out over a thousand kegs of shoes a day. Four hundred men are employed. The purchase price is not made public, but it must be in the millions.

Miss Floyd-Jones Takes the Veil.

MASSAPEQUA, L. I., Oct. 10.—Miss Henrietta Floyd-Jones, daughter of the late D. R. Floyd-Jones, of this place, who was once Lieutenant-Governor of this State, has taken the veil of sisterhood and has entered the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Baptist. Miss Floyd-Jones is a niece of Edward Floyd-Jones, the Democratic candidate for Senator in the First District.

Mrs. Dr. Bernhardt Found.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Dr. Bernhardt, the wife of the well-known oculist, who suddenly disappeared from the home of her husband, two or three days ago, has been found. She has been spending the last few days with Mrs. Rogers, an intimate friend of hers, and owing to illness was unable to let anyone know where she was.

King Karl's Funeral.

STUTTGART, Oct. 10.—At the funeral of the late King Karl, the royal family of Wurtemberg, the Emperor of Germany, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Diplomatic Corps, the Ministry, all the prominent public officials, a number of Generals and representatives of the clergy of high rank from all parts of the Empire, were present.

HIGH WATER MARK TABLET.

A Unique Gettysburg Memorial to be Dedicated in November.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—The "high water mark" tablet at the copse of trees, Gettysburg, is to be unveiled and dedicated on the 19th of November, the anniversary of the dedication of the National Cemetery.

It was designed by Colonel John B. Bachelder, government historian of the battle, who was here superintending its erection, which is now completed.

It is unique in character and entirely unlike anything on the field.

The main feature is an open bronze book, weighing 1,272 pounds, which rests on a highly finished plinth and base of richly polished Fox Island and Quincy granite.

The left page of the book contains a brief history of Pickett's assault on the third day of the battle, while the right page gives an account of the repulse.

A bronze plate on the south side of the plinth bears the name of every Southern regiment that marched in that charging column, while a corresponding plate on the north side bears the name of every Northern regiment and battery that met and repulsed it.

The superstructure is of Gettysburg granite and granolithic cement, the whole covering a space 18 feet 6 inches wide by 48 feet 6 inches high.

The indications are that its dedication will attract an attendance only equalled in quality by the famous dedication and consecration of the soldiers' cemetery on Nov. 19, 1863, when President Lincoln delivered his celebrated address.

Educational Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The Census Bureau has issued an extra bulletin on education, which shows that the total school enrollment of the United States, reported July 1, 1891, was close to 14,220,000; the total public school enrollment including about 65,000 in universities; schools for training teachers and so on, nearly 12,730,000; in private schools and in parochial schools not far from 750,000 each.

His Grandfather Was Noted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—William Schubert, 48 years old, who is dead here, was the grandson of Baron Schubert Von Klufeld, who introduced clover into Saxony in 1779. He was a graduate of the German University and received the title of T. H. D. He was a lieutenant in the Saxony army. Schubert was addicted to drink.

Miss Herndon Cannot Appear.

Agnes Herndon, who was to play at Music Hall, to-night, is lying seriously ill at Elizabeth, and her physician telephones to THE PRESS that she positively cannot appear in Plainfield this evening.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

W. E. Johnson, who has been visiting his parents at Richmond, Va., is home again.

—The hour of Sunday-school in the German church is changed from 2:30 p. m. to 9:15 a. m.

—Hear Anthony Comstock speak to men in the First Baptist church to-morrow at 4:15 p. m.

—The North Plainfield Republicans will hold their primary in the schoolhouse at 8 to-night.

—Mechanical drawing and book-keeping classes will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Monday at 8 p. m.

—The Classis of Newark will meet in regular fall session next Tuesday, in the German church, North Plainfield.

—Take Gospel Hymns No. 5 to the meeting to be addressed by Anthony Comstock in the First Baptist church tomorrow at 4:15 p. m.

—The Aldine Directory company regret that because of a delay of the printer, they will not be able to place their framed directory in the railroad station until the last of this week.

—The trial of J. E. Crater for alleged embezzlement has been on before justice Nash since 10 this morning. A great many accounts are being examined, and the case is still on as this paper is put to press.

—The new board of trustees of the Crescent League had their first meeting last night. General routine business was transacted. The appointment of committees was postponed. The base-ball managers for next season ought soon to be named.

—"The Fire Patrol", James W. Harkins's realistic comedy drama, with its vivid and sensational scenes of life in Denver and New York, will be acted next Tuesday evening at Music Hall. It has been enthusiastically received wherever produced, and is thrilling enough to satisfy the most lurid taste. A stamp mill and ore crusher in full operation and a patrol wagon drawn by spirited horses are two effects that are always certain to win loud applause. The leading roles are assumed by W. W. Bittner, J. W. Harkins, jr., George Rose, Clara Davenport and Idella Macdonnell.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

William Howett, of West Second street, returned from Scotland this morning.

Charles K. Lips and Eliza A. Hargrave were married Thursday by the Rev. E. M. Rodman.

Miss Sadie Searing, of 39 Madison avenue, is spending a vacation with friends at South Amboy.

The Rev. Mr. Skeel, father of Mrs. Weir of Washington avenue, delivered a lecture on astronomy to a few invited friends at the residence of Mrs. Rachel Day on Mercer avenue last evening.

The Rev. C. B. Mitchell has received from the Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut a letter dated The Rigi, Switzerland, Sept. 28. The traveling Plainfielder writes from his altitude of a mile above the valley that he is in good health, and higher up in the world than he ever expected to get.

Among the guests registered at River Rest these pleasant autumn days are noticed the names of Miss Marguerite Harned, Harry Vail, Miss Eleanor Heynlger, members of the Peripatetic Club, of Plainfield, and R. J. Shaw, the well-known druggist, of Plainfield.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

WALLACE VAIL'S CLOSE CALL.

He Touched Off a Stump with Dynamite, and it Almost Killed Him.

Wallace Vail narrowly escaped fatal injury at Elysium Lake this morning. Contractors Doud and Rice are using a great deal of dynamite in blasting to make improvements, and Mr. Vail touched off an old stump with some of the explosive. After he had lighted the fuse he withdrew in his buggy to what he considered a safe distance. It seemed fully half a minute after the explosion when a big chunk of the stump came whizzing down through the air just above him. He dodged just in time to escape a crushing blow on the head. The stump grazed his back and crashed through the buggy.

Secretary—Miss Lizzie Stafford.
Treasurer—Miss Maggie Shepherd.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Lillie Bird.

PLAINFIELD'S RED MEN CELEBRATE.

All the Local Braves, Their Squaws, Friends and Visitors, Make a Jolly Night of It.

THE RED MEN put on their gaudiest paint and trappings, last night, and with their friends got together in the local wigwam, where Miantonomo Tribe celebrated its second anniversary.

The braves, squaws and pappooses numbered three hundred, and crowded the wigwam so that some were squeezed out beyond the entrance hall.

Big Injun S. E. Flower presided, and after the organ had pealed forth an overture he made a speech of welcome that was bright with humor and replete with words of wisdom. Then he introduced the sweet singer of the tribe, Miss Haines, whose soprano solo was heartily applauded.

Big braves Kline and Holstein, the latter attired as a squaw, and respectively bearing the cognomens of "Backstop" and "White Lily", favored the assemblage with a duet on banjo and guitar. Miss Addie Hall then gave a charming recitation.

A feature of the programme was to have been one of the solos which B. T. Barnes sings so well, but that worthy had not returned from the hunting grounds of the day, and his voice could not be heard. A trio by the Misses Sharp, however, was very acceptable; and with an enjoyable male chorus by "Tammany Hall" Odam, "Shortstop" Kline, "Combine" Randall, and "Rapid Transit" Carney the first part of the programme was brought to an end.

After intermission, Miss Haines again gave the audience a soprano solo treat; and Mr. Leise, who rejoiced in the appellation "Big Six", delivered a recitation. "Mogul" Kline and "Mugwump" Holstein came to the front once more with banjo and guitar, and a recitation was given by Miss Hall. The Misses Sharp sang another trio, "Big Foot" Carney gave an inimitable recitation, and "McKinley" Odam, "Rogerqmills" Kline, "Wanamaker" Randall and "Ben Butler" Carney sang one of their great male choruses.

After this entertainment all the braves adjourned to the banquet room, where two hours and a half were spent in feasting, speech-making, and a general good time. Among the visiting great chiefs were Great Sachem McDonough, Great Senior Sagamore Wahl, Great Junior Sagamore Cunningham, Great Chief of Records Stephens and District Deputy Great Sachem Zimmer.

The great chiefs and others made the speeches, and everybody greatly enjoyed them.

A feature of the evening's programme was the Lone Hunter, who was Frank Storr in disguise, and who, like the Lone Fisherman on the stage, was very visible and very funny all the time. Miss Hall was very good, and quite a star of the entertainment. The final rollicking railroad song, however, was the greatest success. The swinging red lanterns and other effects were very realistic. Carney as rear brakeman calling out the stations was very funny.

The Rev. Chase From Boston.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Please allow space in your paper to introduce to the public, the above-named gentleman, if he may be called such. He is an American, born negro, short of stature, with a fair mustache, and is very quick in speech. He invariably introduces himself as "The Rev. Chase from Boston."

We wish to warn the public that acquaintance at a long distance is most profitable. In Montclair, N. J., he secured about 50 razors, from various parties, with the promise of putting them in proper trim. Well, he did it; and razors or man have not located themselves in that region since. The Rev. Wm. Perry, of the Union Baptist church, that city, was one of the unfortunates. He valued his razor at $5.

In Elizabeth, Chase left the board bill for future ages to settle. Also, other disreputable acts were done by him.

He lectures on "The Negro Problem Solved"—strange solution!

We give these items to the public, so that should he tarry in the city, officer Lynch would find for him safe quarters for lodging. Truly yours,

FRANKLIN G. WARNICK,
Pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Councilman Hetfield's Bowlers Won.

Walter Hetfield's Independent bowlers defeated five men of the regular Crescent League team last evening. The score:

INDEPENDENTS.		REGULARS.
Haynes	163	VanWinkle	136
Stelle	138	Teel	156
Arnold	134	Williams	148
Emerson	177	Doane	137
Tee Kay	131	VanEmburgh	140
	743		717

A game of six men was then rolled, and again the second team won as follows:

FIRSTS.		SECONDS.
VanWinkle	143	Haynes	145
Teel	116	Green	101
Williams	139	Barnes	137
Doane	145	Emerson	155
Vail	140	Macon	137
Jones	159	Hetfield	171
	842		846

The cracks will have to put up better games than these if they expect to win against the Elizabeths, next week.

—A young people's meeting will be held at Hope chapel Monday evening at 8.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL'S REPLY.

Its Republican Opinion of the Letter from the Democratic Executive Committee is that it Was So Abusive and Prompted by So Personal a Motive as to be Unworthy of Notice.

The Republican Borough Council of North Plainfield have framed a response to the communication which was sent to it by the Democratic Executive Committee and which was published in these columns Friday evening, Oct. 2, just previous to the meeting. At that meeting the communication was referred to the committee on laws and ordinances, who presented, through their chairman, Mr. Powell, to the Council, last evening, the following very warm retort:

To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield:

Your Committee on Laws, Ordinances and Elections, to which was referred the communication received at the last sitting of your Honorable Body from certain persons signing themselves the Executive Committee of the Democratic Party of the Borough of North Plainfield, begs leave to report as follows:

The communication in question is of so abusive a character as to indicate that its real object was not to call attention to any unwarranted action on the part of the Mayor and Council, but rather to vent the spleen of some individual whose personal, as distinguished from partisan, feelings had been injured by his failure to obtain an office which he seeks.

Viewed in its proper light the communication is not deserving, in the opinion of your Committee, of notice from this Honorable body, but as its authors mis-stated the law in reference to the question involved in such a way as to lead the public to imagine that this Honorable Body had been guilty of violating the statutes from partisan motives, we deem it but proper to state what the real facts in the matter were.

Section 20 of the Act to regulate Elections (which section has been decided by the Attorney General of the State to be the one govering elections in the Borough of North Plainfield), provides that the Mayor and Council shall appoint four persons for each election district; and in making said appointment the members of the political party in the majority, in the Council, shall appoint two of the four; and the member or members of the political party in the minority shall appoint the other two, and in case the Council shall be composed unanimously of members of one political party the whole Mayor and Council shall appoint all four, but not more than two of any one political party.

The law does not provide for the selection by the Executive Committee of either party of any of the members to be appointed under this section, and the statement to the contrary effect contained in the communication in question is entirely erroneous.

The fact is that one year ago your Honorable Body out of courtesy to the Democratic Party in North Plainfield, which had no acknowledged representative in this body, requested the Democratic Executive Committee to name the gentlemen whom they would prefer to have appointed from their party as members of the Board of Registry and Elections. Either through ignorance or design one of the persons selected by them on election day received and deposited in the ballot box a large number of tickets which were not enclosed in official envelopes and which were therefore rejected in the count as illegal ballots. It seems hardly necessary to say that if the receiving of these ballots was due to the ignorance or carelessness of the officer in question, he did not know enough to justify his reappointment, while if it resulted from design he was equally unfit for the place. It seems strange therefore that the Democratic Committee should feel like insisting upon his reappointment, and that they should demand it in the manner adopted by their communication is simply astounding.

The three other gentlemen whom this Honorable Body were this year requested to appoint as members of the Board, all reside in one district, and as it is impossible to appoint more than two from one district, your honorable body was obliged to reject the name of one of the three, and consequently they rejected the last name on the list.

Your Committee are therefore of opinion that the action taken by this Honorable Body in appointing the officers in question was entirely correct, and would recommend that a copy of this report be delivered by the Clerk to the Secretary of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of the Borough of North Plainfield.

T. W. POWELL,
H. E. NEEDHAM,
L. A. HUMMER.

On motion of Mr. Hegeman, and by unanimous vote, the report was received, and the recommendation that a copy be sent to the Democratic Executive Committee was adopted.

A Good Word for Our Sunday-schools.

The annual convention of the Union county Sunday-school association will be held in Plainfield the latter part of next month. This—remarks the Elizabeth Journal—is one of the largest and most effective agencies for good that this county possesses, and its conventions are occasions of deep interest and abiding benefit. There is little doubt that the reports this year will show a satisfactory growth in the number of schools, the number of scholars and in all that tends to make the Sunday-schools of Union county the highly important and valuable organizations they are.

Borough Democrats to Go to Somerville.

At the Democratic primary in North Plainfield, last evening, B. Luerssen was chairman and S. C. Shann was secretary. John Bodine, John Becker, W. N. Pangborn, Wm. Demler and Benjamin Gavin were elected delegates to the county Democratic convention at Somerville next Monday. They were empowered to choose their own alternates.

A Jersey Coachman in Court.

The New York Commercial Advertiser Thursday night said: "Patrick Whalen, a private coachman, of Plainfield, N. J., was in the Lee Avenue Court, Brooklyn, E. D., this morning for being drunk. He had a black eye very much inflamed, and told Justice Engle that John Gillies, a Greenpoint contractor, had jabbed him with an umbrella. The magistrate advised Whalen to go back to New Jersey."

Summit's Sewers and Rahway's Water.

Summit has adopted a new sewerage scheme, and the story reached Rahway yesterday that it contemplated emptying its sewage into the Rahway river. Mayor Chamberlain has begun an investigation, and has taken steps to procure an injunction, as the Summit sewage plan would pollute the water. Rahway's supply is now pure, and Mayor Chamberlain means to keep it so.

WATER FOR THE BOROUGH.

A Ten Years Contract Authorized with the Plainfield Supply Company.

The Borough Council has settled the local water question. At last night's meeting it listened to the following report from Mr. Hegeman:

To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield:

GENTLEMEN:—Your Special Committee, to which was referred the question of further negotiations with the Plainfield Water Supply Co., looking to the securing of a supply of water for fire purposes on more favorable terms than they offered in their original proposition, beg to state that we have conferred with the Plainfield Water Supply Co., and they express an unwillingness to alter the terms of their proposition, on the ground of the unusually low hydrant rental; they further state that, if the Council feel that ten hydrants per mile is an excessive number they are perfectly willing that we should take a fewer number, but in that case they should have to raise the rate.

In view of the urgent necessity which exists in the Borough for water for fire purposes, and from the fact that the hydrant rental offered us by the Plainfield Water Supply Co. is unquestionably low as compared with other plants, your Committee would recommend that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to enter into a contract with the Plainfield Water Supply Co., on the basis of their proposition to the Mayor and Council; that is to say, the Plainfield Water Supply Co. is to furnish us with ten hydrants to the mile for the seven miles of pipe they have or are about to lay, as shown on their map furnished Council; at a yearly rental of fifteen dollars per year per hydrant, we only to pay for twenty-eight hydrants up to April 1, 1893, at which time we are to take the full number. In case the Plainfield Water Supply Co. extend their mains beyond the seven miles shown on map, then the Council to have the right to take such a number of hydrants per mile as seems best to the judgment of the Council at the same rate per hydrant per year, the contract to run for a period of ten years from date of execution.

All of which we most respectfully submit.

B. A. HEGEMAN, JR.,
L. A. HUMMER,
J. F. BUCKLE,
Committee.

Mr. Buckle presented a resolution that the report be accepted, the recommendation adopted, and the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to execute the contract. After a brief discussion this resolution was adopted by the vote of 5 to 1. Mr. Sebring voted against it.

The only word of protest Mr. Sebring uttered was that the number of hydrants to be contracted for was more than were needed. The Water Supply Company, he said—would put in the number actually necessary provided the Council were not so disposed to give them what they asked for.

This brought forth a rebuke from Mr Hegeman. He said that the committee had gone into the matter very carefully and thoroughly, and had found no disposition on the part of the company to recede from its position. He did not like to see that spirit manifested which had cropped out. Insinuations had been cast which were not manly, not fair. The terms of the proposed contract were most liberal. Men in the water supply business had told him that such a low rate of rental was very detrimental to their business, as it was quoted wide spread as a precedent for other cities. The borough was getting at an exceedingly low figure a thorough and perfect water supply and fire protection.

Mr. Buckle said that Somerville paid $28 a hydrants and had 17 to the mile in the thickly settled portion.

Mayor Place said that at Fishkill and Matteawan, where his brother is village president, $60 each hydrant was paid each year.

Mr. Powell and Mr. Needham expressed themselves as thoroughly satisfied with the company's proposition.

THAT ASYLUM AGAIN.

A Sandford Avenue Resident Asks Some Questions of the Management.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I notice a statement in last night's issue, relative to the asylum. I would like to know if your statement that the asylum will be removed is authorized by the management; if so, why do they not make the statement over their own signature? Again, if they do not wish to give offense to anyone, why have they maintained and why do they continue to maintain a nuisance such as this lunatic asylum proves to be? They have been informed that the place is a nuisance, and if they had not been so informed can they suppose it to be anything else when the inmates of the said institution are allowed to yell enough to disturb the whole neighborhood and to make other disturbances before open windows? My observation of other asylums has been that as far as the outside indications go no one would know that the unfortunates lived there, whereas in this case it is only too apparent to the neighborhood what the institution is.

If the "management" are good citizens, let them remove the institution at once; otherwise, more of our neighbors will leave Sandford avenue for pleasanter situations.

R. F. SHAEN.

Plainfield, Oct. 10, 1891.
21 Sandford avenue.

Republican Delegates.

The First Ward Republicans held their primary last evening. J. B. Coward presided, and Richard E. Coriell was secretary. Isaiah McVoy, George W. Moore, Joseph Flack, Calvin H. Rugg and James T. McMurray were elected delegates to the assembly convention at the Clark township hotel Monday. They were empowered to select their own alternates.

MRS. JOSEPH MAILLARD'S ELOPEMENT.

She Left Her Luxurious Home to Live in a Cabin of Two Rooms.

The wife of Joseph Maillard, of California, a cousin of Mrs. D. P. Hall of Scotch Plains, has caused a sensation in San Geronimo, Marin county, across the bay from San Francisco, by disappearing from her home. At first it was thought that she had suffered foul play, but soon it was learned that she had eloped with William Ingram, a hired man on the Maillard ranch. She is now living with him in a small lumbering town in Humbolt county, California, and her husband has brought suit for divorce. The report now is that the woman who so recently had presided over a luxurious home in San Geronimo is doing her own work in a cabin of two rooms. Ingram is a cowardly fellow, who fled to the mountains when the injured husband was reported to be on his trail.

This scandal has caused great distress to the Maillards. Mrs. Maillard, mother in-law of the woman who ran away, is a sister of Julia Ward Howe and of Sam Ward, and is related to Ward McAllister. She is an aunt of Mrs. David P. Hall, who is one of the most prominent in the literary and social circles of Plainfield. Old Maillard's father was the Count Maillard, attached to the suite of Emperor Joseph Napoleon of Spain. The family has many letters of the great Napoleon, as well as his camp service. When young Joe Maillard married Miss Tompkins there was a great family row, as she was disliked because she had a strain of Jewish blood. None of the McAllisters attended the wedding, and they all predicted that this mesalliance would end disastrously, as it has. The Maillards' beautiful ranch at San Geronimo was made the scene of one of Maud Howe's novels.

A Foreign View of a Local Matter.

The Newark Advertiser has been cogitating over the Johnny Moore breach-of-promise case, and from its somewhat erroneous knowledge of the matter has evolved the following comment:

"Not often do will-contests terminate so happily and justly as that which was held over the testament of the late 'Uncle Billy' Moore, of Union county. Uncle Billy's son John loved a lass and fain would marry. His stern father opposed the match on the ground that John was too young and too unsettled in his mind to marry anybody. John vowed that he would wed the object of his choice, regardless of parental opposition. Whereupon, Uncle Billy made a will cutting off his rebellious son from his natural share in a large estate. Then the old man died, happy in the belief that John was 'fixed' beyond repair. But the devoted lover brought suit to break the will. In this, he succeeded, and now, being master of an estate worth a half-million, he has married the girl of his heart. And so, let us hope, as the story-tellers say, 'they lived happily ever after'."

A Crescent Avenue Tea.

Mrs. D. R. James, President of the Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church in the United States, was present at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon, and made an address on home missions that delighted and charmed a large audience. Mrs. I. C. Pierson introduced Mrs. James in a very happy manner, and had charge of all the exercises of the afternoon. After the address a tea was served from 5 to 6, and a delightful hour was spent in a social manner. Mrs. James expressed herself as greatly pleased with the Crescent Avenue ladies, and returned home with most pleasant impressions of Plainfield in general, and Crescent Avenue in particular. She was entertained by Mrs. W. E. Honeyman.

Plainfield Women Will Report.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Synodical Society for Home and Foreign Missions in the Synod of New Jersey will meet in the First Presbyterian church, Jersey City Heights, Wednesday, Oct. 14, at 9 a. m. The Rev. Dr. Sprining of New York, Miss Morrison of White Hall, N. C., a foreign missionery, and others, will address the meeting, and interesting reports will be made. A number of ladies from this city are expected to be present. Those desiring to go will take the Pacific avenue street cars in Jersey City near the Pennsylvania railway station.

Mrs. W. E. Honeyman of this city is president, and Mrs. Samuel Milliken is corresponding secretary, of the Home Missions, and both will make reports. The president of the Foreign Missions is Mrs. Joel Parker.

Kitchen Garden, Wide-Awake, and Cooking Classes.

The Kitchen Garden school under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. will be opened next Monday at 4 p. m. in the rooms, 73 West Front street. Girls 8 years of age, and over, who wish to become members are requested to apply or send their names that day, as the number of pupils is limited.

The Wide-Awake Circle will hold its first meeting next Tuesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Members are requested to attend and take others with them. Members of the Cooking Class will meet Saturday, Oct. 17, at 9 a. m., at the W.C.T.U. rooms, 73 West Front street.

A GREEN BROOK HORROR.

Terrible Experiences of an Amiable Gentleman at the Side of the Babbling Waters.

A man was walking hurriedly over the Washington avenue viaduct, the other evening, when he suddenly became the victim of a whole edition of circumstances. He was a law-abiding citizen; and, in proof of this, be it said, that although obviously in great haste, he had cast his eyes on the sign which forbids crossing the bridge "at a faster gait than a walk" and slowed down his pace as he wandered over the structure. He had got about half way over before the circumstances previously mentioned began to circulate. Then a cheery gust of wind came along blew off his long-haired silk hat, and sent it skurrying down into the murky, turbid waters below. The man leaped to the side of the bridge; and, leaning over the wainscoting, gave vent to a wild, weird yell as he dimly descried his truant tile floating away into the inky blackness of the night. He was unhappy for the time being, and the atmosphere was filled with black looks and blue streaks. Then determined he upon a desperate course. It was the work of an instant, as the reporters say, to fall over the fence on the west side of the street and rush to the waters' edge in pursuit. But, of course, the brook was not on a vacation; and, with the hat in its embrace, was moving right along toward the great ocean and the Raritan canal. Then did the man dash along with great, earnest dashes, through mud and bullrushes, water and weeds, shamrock and thistle, regardless of expense. Everything went, so to speak, and the hat went with the rest. It went with so much eclat that the man could only keep it in sight by the loudest kind of hustling, and when the race had progressed about a hundred yards one might have got any odds he wanted on the hat, which was well away and setting the pace. But soon the man began to gain. The hat got in shoal water somewhere back of the old Randolph mill, and stranded there. The man, who was now much interested in the chase, waded out in mid-stream, got the hat, and then waded back to land and sat down to think and comment to himself. While he sat thus, the entire neighborhood, and several dogs, gathered about, and watched the miserable picture in silence and awe. Suddenly the unfortunate arose, and, throwing the rescued hat upon the earth jumped upon it, and, with a frightful oath, trampled it into a shapeless mass. Then up spake one of the spectators, a frugal and intelligent youth:

"My dear sir,"—he remarked—"why have you spurned your hat and ruined it? Did you not rescue it after much expenditure of the vital forces?"

"Yes, young man, yes:"—snorted the hatless—"I have demolished the useless shell, the worthless frame—and"—and then his discourse became too complicated for THE PRESS stenographer.

"But why, sir, this ultra-rashness?"—cried the inquisitor, who goes to Princeton next year—"this super-hoodoo?—If I may so express myself. Did you, forsooth, lose your commutation ticket?"

"No, no!"—wailed the desperate wretch—"worse than that. I've lost the 'Dunlap' label—the one that I've been using in my $2 hats for the last ten years; now it is gone, gone, gone! Oh, how shall I ever dare to walk into the club car again!"

And he fell down in a dead faint and was carried to his home in a milk wagon.

Just So.

Bill Nye has remarked that "Woman is a great adjunct of civilization and progress" William is compact on that point, but he should have gone further and remarked that a beautifying adjunct of woman is the ornature of fine jewelry and diamonds such as are always found at Collier's, 3 Park avenue.

PARALYSIS.

First Symptoms—Watch for Them

The first symptoms of Paralysis are weak, tired feelings, exhausted sensation, trembling, nervousness, restlessness; exertion is followed by fatigue, the person wakes mornings feeling tired; has coldness and bad circulation in feet and limbs, numbness or prickling. If these symptoms are neglected, a shock of Paralysis will surely follow. Take Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great Nerve and PARALYSIS Cure. It costs but $1 of druggists, is purely vegetable and harmless, and no one should be 1 tate an instant to use this wonderful cure when perfect restoration to health is within reach. Paralysis can always be warded off by this remedy. Therefore do not neglect the first symptoms. Save yourselves while there is yet time, and so prevent Paralysis, Prostration, Death.

"I was broken down with nervous and physical prostration, and in my weakened condition was stricken with Paralysis. Was twenty-six weeks laid upon my back more dead than alive. Being a strong man, I have lived all these years in this crippled condition. I heard of Dr. Greene's Nervura and commenced using it. I got better from the first. I am a new man. I owe my life to Dr. Greene's medicine, which has completely cured me. I am now well and healthy, and have recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura to many of my friends, and they all speak well of it. ANDREW H. OLNEY,

AN APPEAL TO BURNS.

It Should Move the Scottish Bard to Grant Redress.

A Plaint on Behalf of the Sufferers from the Granting of His Fatal Wish Put in Rhyme by a Detroit Free Press Poet.

DEAR ROBBIE BURNS:
Once on a time,
You wished in smoothly flowing rhyme,
That "some kind power the giftie gie us,
To see oursels as ithers see us."
Ah! had you humbly prayed for this:
"Oh! give us ignorance and bliss,
"Help us to bear our present lot,
"Nor flee to ills that we know not,"
The coming man your name had blessed
Instead **** ***** ** **** ******
 (the explanation is suppressed),
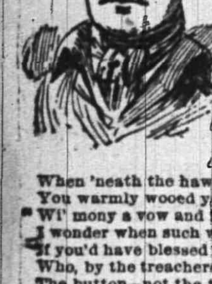
For some ill power your wish o'erheard
And you were taken at your word,
And we can see without disguise,
How we appear to others' eyes,
But 'tis no boon, as you shall see;
It brings instead, much misery.

Highwaymen bold, that in your day,
Prowled up and down the king's highway,

ONE OF "THIS MALICIOUS CREW."

Were gentlemen—aye Christians, too—
Compared to this malicious crew
That now infest each lane and street,
Whom we in walks abroad must meet.
Those simply asked for watch or purse;
These ask for nothing, which is worse.
Those sallied forth with sword or gun;
These are not armed with either one.
They "press a button," that is all,
But none escape them, great or small,
And whether we're prepared or not
We're caught by artists on the spot.

I have a portrait—old, 'tis true,
But fine—and Robert, 'tis of you.



A sweet, attractive comeliness,
Is in your face, and in your dress.
The artist—may he e'er be blessed—
Has shown you at your very best.
Suppose, instead some wretch accurst
Had caught you at at your very worst,
And "fixed" you to be handed down,
In pose, to shame a very clown.

When 'neath the hawthorn's fragrant shade,
You warmly wooed your Highland maid,
"Wi' mony a vow and fond embrace,"
I wonder when such was the case,
If you'd have blessed the wily fiend,
Who, by the treacherous birk tree screened,
The button—not the trigger—pressed,
Just as you clasped her to your breast?

Perchance you wished to slyly sip
A friendly social glass. Your lip
Had scarcely touched the beaker's rim—
Snap goes the button—"I've got him!"
And chuckling imp next day displays
"Proof" of the error of your ways.

When at your Nancy's feet you knelt,
Pray tell us how you would have felt
If you had heard that fatal snap,
Just as you whimpered on her lap,

"THE BUTTON—NOT THE TRIGGER—PRESSED."

And she—the jade—about to give
A well-developed negative?
Would you have said, then, pert and pat:
"A man's a man for all o' that?"
I fear your locks you would have torn,
And groaned: "Ah! man was made to mourn."

Yet this and more we've had to bear.
We turn to you in our despair,
And beg you, without ceasing, pray
The gods to take their gift away,
And give us back those halcyon days,
When we pursued our various ways,
Without a thought, or fear, that we Should see ourselves as others see.

More grievances I could disclose—
For these are not one-half the woes
Your fatal wish has brought to men;
But this is quite enough, I ken,
To show our plight, and why to you
Redress we look for; then, adieu,
Until we meet where are no days.
Yours,
VICTIM OF THE CAMERA CRAZE.

The Man-Faced Crab.

One of the most singular-looking creatures that ever walked the earth or "swam the waters under the earth" is the world-famous man-faced crab of Japan. Its body is hardly an inch in length, yet the head is fitted with a face which is the perfect counterpart of that of a Chinese coolie; a veritable missing link, with eyes, nose and mouth all clearly defined. This curious and uncanny creature, beside the great likeness it bears to a human being in the matter of facial features, is provided with two legs, which seem to grow from the top of its head and hang down over the sides of its face. Besides these legs, two "feelers," each about an inch in length, grow from the "chin" of the animal, looking for all the world like a colonel's forked beard. These man-faced crabs fairly swarm in the inland seas of Japan.

Two Different Kinds of Husbands.

Two females made each other's acquaintance on a Washington city street. Said one of them, whose husband was a government official:

"He is so honest and so conscientious, that if he dreams that he stole anything from anybody he runs himself over to the sheriff right off."

"That's just the way my husband does. When my husband is picked up by the sheriff for taking anything he always says he must have done it in a dream," replied the other one, whose husband was probably only a burglar.—Texas Siftings.

Goodness Its Own Reward.

Mrs. Ponsonby—Why, my dear, what has become of all the jewelry you used to wear so much?

Mrs. Popinjay—I have given them up to save the heathens.

Mrs. Ponsonby—How good of you!

Mrs. Popinjay—Yes, but I will get my reward. Harold will buy me a new set of the latest style.—Jeweler's Circular.

Heavenly Thoughts.

Johnnie (who has on his first pair of knickerbockers)—Annabel, will I wear knickerbockers like these in Heaven?

Annabel (aged six and an "observant" child)—Why, Johnnie, don't you know angels always wear night-gowns?—Jury.

A Mother's Heart.

Mrs. Brink—Mrs. Klink! Mrs. Klink! Your little boy is in our yard stoning our chickens.

Mrs. Klink—Horrors! He'll get his feet wet in your big, ugly, damp grass. I don't see why you can't keep your lawn mowed, Mrs. Brink.—Good News.

Wanted His Welcome to Last.

Spatts—Miss Elder is much older than I thought.

Hunker—Impossible!

"Well, I asked her if she had read 'Æsop's Fables,' and she said she read them when they first came out."—Truth.

At a Quiet Country Hotel.

Maid of all Work—Th' gent says as how he'd ruther have bacon an' meal cakes than chicken.

The Landlady—What made him change his mind?

Maid—He seen th' ole man goin' t' th' hen coop with a buck-saw.—Judge.

Sublime Assurance.

It was during their honeymoon that Angelo and Sophia were overtaken by a thunderstorm.

Angelo—And was his little pet afraid of the thunder?

Sophia—Oh, no, Angelo; by your side (kiss) I am afraid of nothing!—Life.

The American Sovereign.

Policeman—Here, move out of this! You can't use this here park for a lodging place.

Tramp (with dignity)—Sir, are you aware that you are a public servant and that I am one of your employers?—Judge.

It's Often So.

"Why, Jingleton, I have not seen you for twenty years. And how is that seventeen-year-old wife you had just married when we parted?"

"I have her yet. She's about twenty now."—Truth.

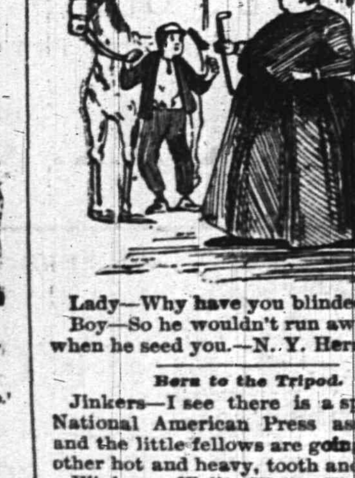
Which Was Wiser?

Fond Father—Children, if the clock struck fourteen, what time would it be?

Logical Louise—Two o'clock, papa.

Clever Charlie—Time to get the clock fixed.—Life.

HOW COULD HE DO LESS?



Lady—Why have you blinded him?

Boy—So he wouldn't run away, mem, when he seed you.—N. Y. Herald.

Born to the Tripod.

Jinkers—I see there is a split in the National American Press association, and the little fellows are going for each other hot and heavy, tooth and toenail.

Winkers—Well! Well! Those boys will be editors yet.—Good News.

The Depth of Love.

He—Did you read that article on ice cream? Five hundred persons, I believe, died from eating it, last year.

She—So I read, George; but I willingly face death at your side, dear.—Truth.

A Dangerous Rival.

"Who is that giddy young thing over there to whom all those men are paying so much attention?"

"That's the chaperon," shouted a chorus of girls.—Judge.

All's Well That Ends Well.

"I see Jack and Mollie have made up again. Why was the engagement ever broken?"

"They had a quarrel as to which loved the other the most."—Life.

Extremes and Average.

Mr. Fussy—Good gracious, Maria! that hat of yours is flat as a plate.

Mrs. Fussy—Never mind, John; I'll make up for it after the theaters open.—Judge.

The Man Who Doesn't Laugh

Spacer (to his funny friend)—You seem to be confoundedly sulky this afternoon, Joivle.

Joivle—Yes, I'm taking a rest.—Puck.

Change of Business.

De Broker (sadly)—You seem to have dropped out of speculation lately.

De Loser—Yaas, betting on hoss races now. It's safer.—N. Y. Weekly.

His Opinion of Ibsen.

Boston Girl (with enthusiasm)—What is your opinion of Ibsen, Mr. Cahokia? Isn't he grand, wonderful, sublime?

St. Louis Young Man (taken at some disadvantage, but rallying in good shape)—He's a corker, Miss Howjames. What—er—club's he pitching for now?—Chicago Tribune.

"But Don't Go Near the Water."

Maud—Let's put on our bathing-suits.

Ethel—I can't. I put mine on yesterday and got it quite wet, somehow or other, down on the beach. It's utterly ruined.—Harper's Bazar.

Parasites Somewhere.

Twynn—There are no flies on Shakespeare.

Triplett—No; but there are trichinæ in Bacon.—Jury.

IN PIKE COUNTY.

Mrs. Sassafras—Killed him, John, didn't yer?

Mr. Sassafras—You bet.

Mrs. Sassafras—Fight hard?

Mr. Sassafras—Fit like cats 'n' dogs.

Mrs. Sassafras—Git ary scratch?

Mr. Sassafras—Nope. Been livin' with you so long I've got th' 'xperience 'e dodge.—Judge.

'NEATH ERIN'S SOD

Parnell's Remains Laid in Their Resting Place.

THE FUNERAL VERY QUIET.

No Disturbances of Any Kind Interfered With the Obsequies.

Forty Thousand People Followed the Body to the Grave—Dillon, O'Brien and Sexton Watched the Cortege From Under Cover—The Remains Lay in State at Dublin City Hall Where They Were Viewed By an Enormous Concourse—A Simple Service at the Grave in Glasnevin Cemetery—Mrs. Parnell's Pitiable Condition.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Parnell funeral passed off very peacefully. That there was no disturbance was owing to the wise resolve of the Anti-Parnellites not to be present. William O'Brien, John Dillon and Sexton watched the scene from the window of a friend's house on the route of the procession. The curtain was kept closed, so that the three M. P's only had furtive glances at the great demonstration, while they themselves remained entirely hidden from view.

It is said that Mr. Dillon had expressed his intention of witnessing the funeral, whatever the result to himself, and that it was with some difficulty that he was induced to run no more risk than that of peeping Tom. In nearly all the churches in Ireland yesterday some allusion was made to the death of Parnell. In some instances the mention was charitable; in other cases it was a reflection of the language of Archbishop Walsh in the Dublin "Catholic."

Friends of Parnell claim that the bishop had given secret instructions that his memory should be attacked by the clergy, with the view of injuring the Parnellite cause as much as possible. In several instances admirers of Parnell left their seats in the churches when they heard anything of an offensive character.

The funeral and advices from all parts of Ireland show that the Parnellite cause has been strengthened by his death, and that he has left a party that will go on under a new leader.

The Obsequies.

Parnell's remains arrived at Kingston at 7 a. m. yesterday. There was no demonstration along the line from London until Chester was reached, when deputations from Liverpool, Manchester, Preston and Newcastle, all destined for Dublin, joined the train. The Parliamentary colleagues of Mr. Parnell, including John Redmond, John O'Connor, Joseph Nolan, Dr. Fitzgerald, James O'Kelly and Henry Campbell were among the people that greeted the deputations on their arrival at Holyhead, where the train got in at 2 o'clock in the morning, in wet and hazy weather, that well became the mournfulness of the scene.

Groups were collected on the quay to watch the transfer of the coffin from the train to the mailboat Ireland. It was a depressing spectacle. The coffin was deposited in an enclosure specially fitted up for it. Throughout the voyage across the stormy and dark waters that separate the two countries, some of the Parnellites were all the time on guard over the remains of their beloved leader. Among the watchers was the Lord Mayor of Dublin, High Sheriff Meade and J. H. Parnell a brother of the departed.

At the Kingston pier a multitude was gathered to receive the remains.

With the Irish members who had followed the body from England, the group at Kingston included nearly every Parliamentary adherent of Parnell. They all gathered around the coffin in absolute silence until after the remains had been transferred to the carriage of the train for Dublin.

The Westland Row station in Dublin was reached at 7:30 a. m. A vast silent crowd awaited with uncovered heads, as the train steamed into the station. Timothy Harrington, M. P., was there, and Dr. Hackett, who attended Parnell when his eyes were hurt at Kilkenny, and they joined the band of mourners. Conspicuous in front of the dense mass of people were members of the Gaelic and Athletic societies, with their hurlers used in their sports, draped black, and tied with green ribbon. The representatives of branches of the National League wore black badges, on which were the dying words of Parnell: "Give my love to my colleagues and the Irish nation."

When the remains had been removed in solemn silence from the train, the coffin was taken from the case that enveloped it and was lifted into the hearse, the glass panels of which permitted a full exposure of the coffin to public view. The case in which the coffin had been enclosed on the way to Dublin was laid aside. The crowd immediately seized upon and broke it into small pieces, to carry away as mementoes of the dead.

As the hearse moved from the station a body of police formed before the procession, which, without any design or marshaling, appeared to fall into an orderly line in purely extemporized fashion. A band and the Workingmen's Union, followed next after the police, the band playing the dead march in Saul. Then came the Gaelic and Athletic societies, with their hurlers reversed, after the manner of soldiers carrying reversed arms.

The City Hall of Dublin was reached at 8:30 a. m. The front of the hall was covered with sombre draperies, and a dense rain streamed down as the coffin was borne into the hall toward the catafalque. The rain did not diminish the vast concourse that thronged toward the hall, ignoring the elements in their anxiety to show their esteem for their beloved leader. It was an assemblage of remarkable serenity. Reverential quiet pervaded the crowd, unbroken by partisan cries or the remotest symptom to disorder.

At 10 o'clock the gates were opened and the people poured into the interior. The body lay in state in the council-chamber, a large circular room, now heavily draped in black, relieved by scrolls of white satin in looped festoons, bearing in black letters the last words of Parnell. The coffin, which rested on a raised dais in the centre of the chamber, was buried under masses of wreaths, floral crosses, Irish harps and other floral designs. Conspicuous on the coffin were three wreaths from Mrs. Parnell, a cross and anchor, and circle, with inscriptions.

From 10 o'clock until 2 a continuous stream of people poured into the City Hall. It is estimated that the people who paid their tribute of respect to the dead numbered at least forty thousand. At 2:45 the funeral cortege started for the grave in Glasnevin Cemetery. It was led by the executive of the Parnell leadership committee, and following came the bier, drawn by six black horses. Surrounding the bier were the Parliamentary colleagues of Parnell. Parnell's favorite horse followed the bier. Then came a strong body of Gaels, headed by James Stephens, the famous Fenian organizer; Parnell's brother and sister, and then the Lord Mayor Dublin, in official state, preceded by the City Marshal, and sword and macebearers. Next came the representatives of the principal Irish towns, and the various trade societies, then the Foresters, the Home Rulers, and a line of private carriages.

As the procession started the rain ceased and the sun came out. All windows and housetops were packed. The procession wended its way by a circuitous route to the cemetery, the circuit making it scarcely possible to reach the cemetery before six o'clock. Perfect order prevailed, although the vast line of mourners surpassed any spectacle ever seen in Dublin.

At Glasnevin crowds had all day been inspecting the turf-lined tomb, guarded by a small group of police. The grave was about seven feet deep, and had been cut out of an artificial mound covering the plot long used to inter the poorest of the community. The coffin was removed and placed on a platform, especially constructed in such a way that the procession could file around it and have a view of the bier. At 6 o'clock orders were given to remove the coffin to the side of the grave. A body of Gaels cleared the way to the grave and formed a circle, within which the Lord Mayor and civic dignitaries, and Parnell's colleagues and relatives stationed themselves.

The crush on all sides was terrible, and the noise of shrieking women, and of children squeezed in the throng, and the shouts of men struggling amid the crush made inaudible the voices of the clergy reciting the ritual of the church of England. Rev. Mr. Vincent, of the Rotunda Chapel, the Rev. George Fry, an Irish Protestant clergyman, of Manchester, Eng., officiated. They had to cut the service short, as the crowd broke through the protecting circle, and overwhelmed the inner group. Sometime after, in dead darkness, when the crowd had thinned away, the friends grouped again, and took a last look at the coffin. It was 7 o'clock when the mourners started to return to the city.

Apart from accidental disorder at the cemetery the day was without incident. Most of the public houses remained closed in respect for the dead.

MRS. PARNELL'S CONDITION.

It is Growing Worse Instead of Better—Grave Fears Entertained.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Advices from Brighton state that Mrs. Parnell's condition is pitiable, and grows worse instead improving. Immediately after Parnell's death she was in better condition than now; for although she fainted she recovered sufficiently to have some communication with friends, and, through their medium with the outside world. She has been growing worse every day, until now she only moans in reply to questions, and is unable or refuses to speak.

The doctors who are in constant attendance, greatly fear that her condition may grow more critical, and are doing everything possible to restore her, but apparently without effect. The only intelligible sounds that she has uttered in hours have been plaintive cries for her husband.

A MANIFESTO ISSUED.

The National League Eulogizes Parnell and Calls for a New Election.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The National League in Great Britain has issued a manifesto, which, after reciting the results accomplished for Ireland by Parnell, says:

"It has been said that we fought for a man, not for a principle. It is not true. We fought for the principle which the man embodied. The man himself was indeed a principle, the principle of self-reliance and independence which nothing could sap. To that principle we are staunch.

"It is now necessary for the members of this organization to elect a new president and a new executive committee, and we invite the branches of the National League in Great Britain to make immediate steps to this end."

A Collegian Missing.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 12.—J. W. Naramore, a senior at Wesleyan University, left here September 30th, saying he was going to New York and would return the next day. He has not since been seen or heard from. His parents live at Sing Sing, N. Y. His mother is at the point of death and his sister is at the Clifton Springs sanitarium in delicate health. Naramore is 23 years old.

COFFEE CRAZED HIM

The Sad Fate of a Once Successful Physician.

A SLAVE TO THE BEVERAGE.

He Drank From Three to Five Quarts a Day and It Was as Strong as Lye.

A Fine Fortune Expended to Satisfy His Craving for the Drink—So Addicted Had He Become to the Habit that When Deprived of Coffee He Would Try to Make Way With Himself—The Effects Much the Same as Those of Alcohol—Sad End of a Bright Career.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The death on Saturday of Dr. E. C. Fownes, caused by an inordinate slavery to strong coffee, was no surprise to his large circle of medical acquaintances in this city.

He at one time lived at 36th street and Lexington avenue, and his practice was one of the largest enjoyed by any homeopathic physician in New York.

In the course of his practice, some 20 years ago, he became addicted to the use of coffee, and the taste grew on him to such an extent that he drank from three to five quarts a day.

The coffee was made almost as strong as lye, and could not be swallowed by any one but himself.

Dr. Fownes became such a slave to the drink that he gradually lost his practice, and at the time of his death was reduced to penury, for he had became a palsied wreck.

His sister sent Dr. Fownes monthly remittances, and as soon as he got one he began a coffee spree and continued in a maudlin, semi-unconscious condition until the money was gone.

After one of these continuous periods of intoxication he became so weak, nervous and depressed that he had to be confined for fear he would make away with himself.

Dr. Fownes acquired the coffee habit through taking a cup of that beverage whenever he was called from home at night. Within five years the poor fellow had become such a slave to the coffee-drinking habit that nearly all his patients deserted him.

This, however, did not disturb him, for he had about $35,000 in bank, and his sole extravagance was coffee.

He spent hundreds of dollars in perfecting mechanical pots in which to distill coffee, and while his money lasted he imported the berries and roasted them in an air-tight iron globe he had made for that purpose.

He took the drug without sugar or milk, and it was almost strong enough to bear up an egg. Fownes would bolt it down, boiling hot, emptying cup after cupful. He would empty half a dozen cups of the coffee, and retiring to bed, sleep off its effects like an old toper made torpid with spirits.

RUSSIA'S STARVING PEOPLE.

An Example of Economy Set by a Prince During the Famine.

ST. PETERSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Senator Baranoff says that there are no fewer than 32,000,000 of peasants in Russia now destitute, and must be provided for for the next ten months. It will require 320,000,000 poods of grain to feed them.

The American Church in this city has started a subscription to relieve this mountain of misery.

Prince Korsakoff, the head of a great family, lives on Koosewort bread, as an example for his servants and others to follow during the national affliction.

Taken to Prison in Her Grave Clothes.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 12.—It is not often that a person is taken to the penitentiary in his or her grave clothes. This was the case of the colored woman, Jackson, who recently escaped the gallows in Charlotte county. Her garments were prepared for the execution, and she was attired in them when the commutation came. As soon as the announcement reached the Sheriff of the Governor's action, the woman was hurried to the prison.

Drunken Brawl Ends in Murder.

MARLBORO, Mass., Oct 12.—Lewis Jessee was shot dead yesterday afternoon by Peter Bonley in the latter's house. Both were drunk and Bonley ordered Jessee to leave. The latter refused and Bonley shot him.

Burke Heard From.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 12.—James F. Burke, official stenographer of the Treasury Investigating Committee which heard the testimony of State Treasurer Boyer and Auditor General McCamant is now at Ann Arbor, Mich, where he left for last week to study law. Mr. Burke telegraphs that he mailed 84,000 words of the report of the investigating committee to Senator George Handy Smith, chairman of the committee and a copy to W. U. Hensel, Attorney-general on Wednesday last, and the balance of the report was mailed a day or so later.

BURNED THE MISSIONS.

The Chinese Outrages at Ichang—No Attempt Made to Punish the Rioters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Further details of the outrages in China are gathered from the papers published in that country and brought here by the City of Peking. The steamer Paohua arrived at Ponkow September 6 with 20 Ichang refugees. Several bore marks of serious violence while all had lost their property excepting the clothes they wore.

The riot took place at broad noonday and came without warning or provocation. It was carried out by a handful of men, evidently acting under orders, in the presence of a number of Chinese officials who knew every one of the rioters. Their mission of destruction was carried out with the utmost speed. A house belonging to the American Episcopal Mission was the first one attacked.

The inmates fled to the river for their lives while the crowd looted and burned the building. The Roman Catholic convent was next fired and the sisters, seven in number, barely escaped to the river where they were taken in a boat to the Paohua.

It is thought a number of children in the convent were burned to death. Many other houses were looted and burned and although no one was killed several attempts were made to murder and threats were frequent. At the old Consulate the foreigners kept the rioters back with bayonets. The leaders of the mob carried gunpowder and kerosene with which to fire the buildings.

Those having stolen property from the ruined building were arrested next day, but no attempt was made to capture the real leaders. On the third day when all possible damage had been done, the military mounted guard over the blackened ruins.

A MODERN ENOCH ARDEN.

After Fifteen Years a Binghamton Man Returns and Finds His Wife Married.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The old, sad story of Enoch Arden, with its suffering and self-sacrifice, has been repeated here.

Fifteen years ago Samuel Demeree left his home to go to sea. Year after year passed, but no message came from him to the waiting wife. After five years had rolled by, she believed that he was dead, and she listened to the suit of William May. They were married, and have lived together happily ever since, Mrs. May bearing her husband two children.

The other day a bronzed and bearded man walked suddenly in the Mays' home. "I am Sam Demeree!" he said quietly.

Mrs. May nearly fainted. Then the wanderer told how he had been seeking fortune in China and Australia, and had not written, because he wished to be rich before doing so.

Then Mrs. May told, amid sob, what she had done. Demeree showed at that moment that he was the stuff of which heroes are made. He merely patted her on the head and said: "Never mind, don't cry!" and walked out the door.

And he has not returned. He has left his wife safe in her peace of mind, he might have claimed her, and caused a scandal, but he chose that she should be happy.

Another One Condemned.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—One more building of the World's Fair has been condemned by the architects as being unsafe. This is the building for the electricity display. The engineers have discovered that all the timbers have been subjected to a weight beyond their capacity, and that the foundations are not strong enough. While the engineers have not finished their work, they have gone far enough to show that $75,000 must be spent in straightening the building in order to make it absolutely safe.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Franciscan Order of St. Mary, in New York, which for the last six years has existed by special dispensation of Archbishop Corrigan, has withdrawn its religious connection from the church and is now a purely secular organization.

Two Killed by the Cars.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 12.—James R. Logan and Mattie, brother and sister, aged 28 and 30 years respectively, well known residents of this city, were crossing the railroad track last night in a buggy. They were unable to get out of the way of an approaching train which struck them, killing the young lady outright and injuring the young man so badly that he died shortly after.

MAD DOGS RAMPANT

The Plague That Has Come Upon Phillipsburg, N. J.

PEOPLE FLEEING THE PLACE.

Four Children Bitten and Sent to New York for Treatment.

Two Rabid Dogs Inoculated Many Domestic Animals in Phillipsburg and Vicinity—Horses and Cattle Go Mad in the Fields—Hundreds of Dogs Killed—Committees of Safety Organized—Trained Nurses to be Sent to the Scene.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Oct. 12.—Mad dogs have so terrorized people in and about this place, that many families have sought safety in other places.

Before the people became aware of their danger two dogs with the most virulent form of hydrophobia bit a dozen others, and they in turn inoculated cattle, horses, swine, sheep and cats.

This plague began about ten days ago, and there is scarcely a farm or home in Warren County that has not one or more domestic animals suffering from rabies.

Henry T. Snyder, of Phillipsburg, went to New York Saturday with four patients for Dr. Paul Gibier's Pasteur Hospital.

The patients are William Snyder, 12 years old; James V. Macey, 9 years old; Lena Volkmar, 12 years old, and Alice, Lena's sister, aged eight.

Mr. Snyder's son William was bitten by a cat, and the others had their arms and legs lacerated by dogs.

The four little ones were bitten on Friday and their wounds were not discovered until that night, when Mr. Snyder volunteered to take the quartet to New York for treatment.

Ten or twelve days ago a strange cur dog made its appearance in the village and took refuge in the barn of Jonathan Buckwalter, who owned a pointer, kept in a kennel in the barnyard.

The vagrant cur developed hydrophobia a week or so ago and bit the pointer. Then the pair, raving mad, roamed about the country three days, biting all kinds of domestic animals, from pigs to horses.

In all, this pair of brutes bit 12 or 14 other dogs, and people in town and country have been in a state of terror ever since. In fact, people won't go out of doors if they can avoid so doing.

Twenty or thirty families have left Phillipsburg and gone for safety to other towns. Dr. Horace Ditmus is reported as saying that Jacob Jacobus, a furrier, of Coopersburg, five miles from here, died two days ago from a cat bite, and that his son John is in convulsions from the bite of a horse that went mad in his stall between night and morning, and tore a piece out of the young man's shoulder.

Dr. Ditmus has 17 patients in whom rabies are apparent. He has no hopes of their recovery.

There are seven doctors in and about Phillipsburg, and they are all worked night and day attending to people stricken by the awful disorder.

From three to five attendants are required to control a patient in convulsions, and gloom is settled over the entire county. Horses and cattle by the dozen have gone mad in field and stable, and the roars and shrieks of the crazy animals continue night and day. Thirty odd horses and more than that number of cattle, made mad by rabies, have been shot, and scores upon scores of swine and sheep have been slaughtered for the same reason.

Hundreds of dogs in the county have been killed, whether afflicted by hydrophobia or not. In Sancon, where the first domestic animals were killed, the carcasses were at once buried. A day or so later it was discovered that the graves had been torn open and some animal had fed upon the bodies.

Watch was kept on the ensuing night, and dogs came from miles away and across the Lehigh line to feed on the carrion. Now armed men guard every pit in which the bodies of mad brutes are buried, as it was feared that dogs who are of the inoculated flesh would, in turn, go mad and carry the dread distemper into other counties.

A number of people in Warren County who have relatives suffering from the first symptoms of hydrophobia have written to Dr. Gibier, the hydrophobia expert of New York. The doctor, in response to all such applications, said it would be useless to send him patients in which rabies had developed, for he could do them no good.

Committees of safety were last week organized in Phillipsburg, Dinby, Centreville, Bleekertown, Coopersburg and Lower and Upper Sancon. They have taken charge of all the people bitten by mad dogs, no matter whether the symptoms of hydrophobia have appeared or not.

Armed men patrol the roads and streets night and day on the lookout for rabid animals.

When Mr. Snyder returns to Phillipsburg he will bring 12 trained nurses with him from New York. This was authorized by the committee of safety.

Oil Cloth Factory Burned.

WINTHROP, Me., Oct. 12.—C. M. Bailey's Sons & Co's great oil cloth factory at Burleyville was burned yesterday. The flames communicated to several residences close by and these were also destroyed. The loss will probably reach $100,000; insurance partial. The mill buildings covered the larger part of three acres of ground. The mill will be rebuilt at once.

Robbed a Girl of Sixteen.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 12.—Goldie May Hurlbut, a girl sixteen years old, was assaulted by two masked men while on her way to dancing school Saturday night. The assault occurred on a lonely road, and her purse was torn away. Thomas Foley has been arrested, but as the highwaymen were masked the identification is doubtful.

FAST GOING TO PIECES.

The U. S. Steamship Despatch will Likely be a Total Loss.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Latest despatches from Norfolk, Va., are to the effect that the United States steamship Despatch, for many years regarded as the official yacht of the President and the Secretary of the Navy, which went ashore on the Assateaque Shoals, forty miles north of Cape Charles, will be a total loss, as she is fast going to pieces.

Her commander, Lieut. Cowles, and the crew, who were rescued by the life savers, were given quarters under canvass on the beach. The rescue of the crew is said to have been extremely hazardous.

The Despatch was on her way to this city, where she was to take on board the President, Secretary Tracy, and some officers of the navy, and convey them to the naval proving grounds, down the Potomac, to witness experiments in testing some of the armor plate for use in the armament of the new vessels. She was expected to arrive on Monday, and after taking the President down the river, was to have been placed out of commission, as she is old and in much need of repairs.

It is impossible to learn here full particulars attending the vessels going ashore, but it is surmised by naval officers that in her endeavor to hug the coast closely to avoid the heavy gale she got too close in shore, and when her position was discovered it was too late to work off with a northeast wind driving her shoreward.

STORMED THE JAIL.

The Omaha Mob Attempts to Rescue Its Arrested Leaders.

OMAHA, Oct. 12.—R. G. Bloom, Captain John O'Donohue, H. H. Brandies, Ed. Fitzgerald, Ed. Netchaefer, Patrick O'Horne and John Fritz, seven of the mob that lynched Coe, were arrested Saturday evening and taken to the county jail. They are all charged with murder in the first degree and were refused bail.

At 7:30 the jail was surrounded by a mob of 500, and word was sent to County Attorney Mahoney unless the men were released on bail they would be taken from the jail by force. Mahoney replied that under no circumstances would the men be released.

The crowd at once made preparations for storming the jail. They secured a big steel rail and had started to use it as a battering ram on the east door, when a committee of citizens appeared at the jail door and made a proposition to the crowd to have a committee appointed to go through the jail and ascertain if the men wanted were inside.

This suited the crowd and when the committee reported that five of the men had been released and the other two had been taken out of town for safe keeping the mob dispersed. The city and county officials seem to be utterly paralyzed over the results of Friday night's work and the developments of Saturday night.

Seamen's Union of Atlantic Coast.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The General Executive Board of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union met in this city yesterday afternoon; representatives being present from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Wilmington, N. C., Portland and Bangor. The Board decided to increase its membership by adding a representative of each of the newly-formed fishermen's unions and to investigate as to the number of aliens employed in the fishing trade contrary to law. The matter will be called to the attention of Congress.

U. S. Supreme Court in Session.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—The Supreme Court of the United States, began its October term at noon to-day. Chief Justice Fuller, who is at the bedside of his daughter in Chicago, and Justice Gray, who is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, could not attend. The absence of a full bench will cause the postponement of several cases of importance before the court and the docket is being prepared with this view so that ordinary routine can be proceeded with.

The Grand Officers Upheld.

GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 12.—Late Saturday night the Trainmen's Convention took a vote on the Northwestern trouble, and acquitted, by a vote of 302 to 14, the Grand Officers of blame and condemned the action of the Supreme Council in expelling the Brotherhood. The Grand Officers are jubilant over so sweeping a manifestation of approval.

Summer Residence Burned.

LINCOLN, Mass., Oct. 12.—The summer residence of W. H. Jameson, of Boston, situated in Wayland, was burned yesterday. Loss $12,500; partially insured.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

A vinegar vat has been constructed at Tuckerton which will hold 1,000 barrels.

Hart Brothers, the well-known oil firm of Washington, have failed. Liabilities $75,000.

The Walnut Street Theater and the New Park Theater, Philadelphia, belonging to the estate of the late I. Fleishman, have been leased to Harris & Rich, the Boston managers.

M. B. Lowe, a prominent farmer and business man of Corry, has been arrested charged with swindling by means of the green goods scheme and using the United States mail for fraudulent purposes.

At the closing session of the East Pennsylvania United Brethren Conference at Reading, Lebanon was chosen as the next place of meeting. It was resolved that the Lebanon Valley College would still remain at Annville.

Argentine Republic Is With Us.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The Latin American Bureau of the World's Columbian Exposition has received information that the Argentine Republic has appropriated $100,000 to pay the expense of its representation at Chicago in 1893. This liberality was unexpected because of the financial depression in that country, and indeed it was feared that for motives of economy the Argentine government would decide not to take part in the Exposition at all.

Besides his father, a stepmother survives him. Arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed.

CRESCENTS WON.

John Harkins and His Team Defeated by the Plainfield Boys.

The Crescents had little difficulty in defeating John Harkins's team at New Brunswick, Saturday, although the New Brunswicks made three more base hits and got many more men to base. Jones was the only player to distinguish himself. He made the three put-outs in the last inning—two of them by catching difficult flies, and one by a clever maneuver which resulted in his catching a runner off base. Tierney was absent, and Cox, a young New Brunswick lad, was put in his place to good advantage. Cox made two hits, helped in a run, and the third time he went to the bat flew out to long right field. The New Brunswicks were in hard luck. They had 10 men left on bases. The score:

The Assailants of Old John Toms on Trial.

The case of the State against Cook and Walker came up this morning, in the court of quarter sessions, before Judge Bartine, at Somerville. The prisoners were brought to the bar and asked whether or not they wished to retract their plea. Walker did so, pleading guilty to both indictments, while Cook wanted to stand trial for assault with intent to kill. Senator Adrain was not present, but sent a telegram to Judge Bartine asking that sentence be not passed in the case of the State against Cook until he (the Judge) had received a letter which he (Adrain) would send by special messenger. Cook refused to plead guilty, and Judge Bartine asked John Frech, one of Somerville's leading criminal lawyers, to handle the case. Mr. Frech did so. Cook was in court all day, sitting beside his counsel. The case will be finished to-day.

Flower—Maude VanDyke, Gertie Tier, Lillie Zeisz, Edna Minnich.

The Park Club's Officers.

The Park Club is to be the name of the North Plainfield society that is building the handsome new club-house on Washington avenue. Its members met Friday evening at the home of Samuel Townsend, 93 Rockview avenue, and elected the following officers:

President—Samuel Townsend.
Vice-president—George T. Rogers.
Secretary—William L. Saunders.
Treasurer—George P. Dupee.
Board of Governors—William J. Roome, Samuel St. John McCutchen, Henry A. McGee, Foster Milliken, Augustus VanDeventer.

A Westfielder Wanders Away.

Harvey Humphrey, a resident of Westfield, disappeared from his home, on Westfield avenue, last Friday afternoon while laboring under a temporary aberration of mind. Some time ago he had the grip and he has not been well since, though no one suspected that his malady would take the form it has. Detective John M. C Marsh is in search of him. He is supposed to have wandered away in the woods.

To-morrow Night.

"The Fire Patrol," which will be produced at Music Hall to-morrow night, is a new melodrama full of interest and realistic and thrilling situations. In the second act it introduces a scene showing the interior of a mill where ore is crushed. In another scene the fire patrol comes tearing in and the excitement of the gallery boys is intense. The company is altogether fully equal to the demands of the play.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

KYTE AGAIN FOR ASSEMBLYMAN.

RAHWAY, N. J., Oct. 12.—The Republican Convention held here this afternoon re-nominated George Kyte for Assemblyman. Vincent W. Nash of Plainfield was chairman, and Charles Reed of Rahway secretary of the convention.

BERGEN RE-NOMINATED.

The Speaker of the Last House to be Re-Elected in Somerset.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 12.—The Democratic Convention of Somerset county was called to order at this place to-day by L. R. Blackford of North Plainfield. J. B. Betts was made chairman, and M. W. Schurley was chosen secretary. The popular Speaker of the last House was re-nominated by acclamation, amid great enthusiasm.

Wm. N. Pangborn and Abram King were made members of the County Executive Committee by acclamation.

CRATER ACQUITTED.

Now He Will Sue His Persecutors for Heavy Damages.

The trial of J. E. Crater of this city, before justice Nash Saturday, for the alleged embezzlement of $62 50 from Irvine & Hutchings, managers of the National Custom and Clothing Merchandise Company of Newark, resulted in Crater's complete vindication and discharge.

Now he will bring suit for $10,000 damages against his persecutors, whom he says have been hounding himself and other former agents of theirs for having left their employ and gone over to a rival concern.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Three Children Set Fire to a Benzine Barrel, and are Terribly Burned.

News of a terrible explosion comes from Martinville. Three little children on the Lupo farm built a bonfire near a barrel containing forty gallons of benzine. The barrel exploded, and the blazing fluid was scattered over them. Their mother heard their frantic screams, and with a woolen shawl smothered the flames that enveloped them, thereby burning her own hands and arms. Two of the children were horribly disfigured, and the other was fatally injured. Dr. R. B. Matthews, of Bound Brook, says he cannot save its life.

Master Schutt's Solo Was the Gem.

Holy Cross church was crowded to the doors, yesterday afternoon, when the choir of men and boys sang their second musical service of the season.

The choral programme was not an especially elaborate one, nor did it fully demonstrate the power of the choir, but it was nevertheless the best thing of the kind that Plainfield has listened to in many a day, and choir-master Miner is deserving of unstinted praise for the manner in which he has trained his singers.

Master Herbert Schutt's tasteful rendering of his solo in Greenish's "My Soul Thirsteth", was the gem of the service, and was the more conspicuous when compared with some of the professional work recently heard in this city.

The choir will sing a musical service the second Sunday afternoon of each month hereafter, and it will be Mr. Miner's effort to have his choir outdo next month the success of yesterday.

Yesterday's programme was as follows:

Dead From Hydrophobia.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 12.—James Steebe, the eight-year-old boy who has been an inmate of the hospital here for the past week suffering from hydrophobia, died yesterday morning at 8:40 o'clock. His nurse, who had stood at the boys's bedside for the past week, said when he had, breathed his last: "The Lord takes and the Lord gives," for at the very minute the young sufferer died word was received that his mother had given birth to a child.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

To Accomodate Out-of-towners.

Miss Marie Wainwright is continuing to meet with enormous success at Palmer's theater, New York, in her superb production of "Amy Robsart", which is emphatically the chief dramatic hit of the season. Miss Wainwright is a great favorite with matinee audiences, and in order to accomodate Plainfielders and other out-of-town visitors, her manager, Julian Magnus, has arranged to give two extra Wednesday matinees on the 14th and 21st insts. In the company are such favorites as Henry Miller, Barton Hill, Blanche Walsh, Kate Blancke, Will S. Ingersoll, etc.

A Boulevardian Honeymoon.

James Dennis, of 320 West Third street, was a prisoner in the city court this morning on complaint of his wife, to whom he had been married just two weeks. She says he choked and otherwise abused her. Judge Codington reserved his decision. The unhappy couple will separate.

—For being intoxicated, James Allen was fined $5 this morning.

A Plainfield Father Assisted.

The Rev. P. E. Smyth of this city assisted at the dedication of the handsome new organ in St. Bridget's Catholic church at Jersey City yesterday. The services attending the dedication of the instrument were very impressive. At 10:30 in the morning a pontifical mass was celebrated by the Right Rev. Bishop Wigger, assisted by the Rev. Father Smyth, and the Rev. Thomas Quinn, of Jersey City, as deacons of honor; the Rev. James P. Smith, of Cranford, and the Rev. Jerome J. Smith, of Newark, as deacon and sub-deacon of mass, and the Rev. E. J. Kelly and the Rev. D. S. Clancy as masters of ceremonies.

The organ cost $9,000, and is said to be one of the finest in the State. It is looked on as a perfect instrument in point of construction and in the quality of the voice of the various stops. The diapason stops of the organ are English in character—full, round and sonorous. The pipes are of the cathedral size. The flute and reed stops are very fine in quality and especially the vox humana, which is the most effective stop in the organ, being a perfect imitation of a male choir.

The body of sound produced by the full organ is remarkably rich, powerful, round, and church-like in character.

Good Trotting in Cool Weather.

Another exciting race was trotted at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Saturday. Dr. Herbert's Reputation again gave a surprising exhibition of speed, and came near winning the race. Fosher's Dynamite won both heats—the first in 2:38, the second in 2:35½. Reputation was in both cases a very close second, and Johnson's Colonel and Hayes's Andy came in third and fourth respectively. The drivers were: Nash for Dynamite, Brower for Reputation, Osborne for Colonel, and Hayes for Andy.

A Baptist Home Mission Meeting.

The ladies of the Home Mission Society of the First Baptist church, will hold a meeting in the Sunday-school room tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock.

The gifted Mrs. Ehlers of Chicago, formerly a missionary in the South, will give an address. There will also be fine music. All are cordially invited. Those having Home Mission jugs will please remember to bring them to this meeting.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

N. WOLVEN, Postmaster.

THE INSANE ASYLUM LOCATION.

Dr. Cooley Will Probably Change it Without Compulsion.

Legal proceedings have been begun to remove the private asylum, established by Dr. J. H. Cooley, from Sandford avenue, where it stands in the neighborhood of high-class and otherwise desirable residences. From information gathered by PRESS reporters, it is plain to be seen that the establishment is a great detriment to the prosperity of that section of the city, and its inmates are a source of terror and offense to those living in its vicinity.

One of the patients—judging of her as seen only behind a barred window—is a young woman who is wildly insane. She writes letters to herself, it is said, threatening to burn the house down, and throws them into the street. A neighbor says she appeared at one of the windows of the house the other evening in a night dress, and a male attendant was seen to lay his hands on her and drag her away. Her screams are often heard.

As already stated in these columns, it is understood that Dr. Cooley is looking for another house suitable for his purpose—which is a commendable one—of caring for unfortunate members of families who dread the incarceration of their relatives in public insane asylums where they are attended only by those who have no personal or financial interest in treating the patients with sympathy and consideration.

It serves no purpose for Dr. Cooley to maintain an establishment of the sort in a neighborhood where there are private residences. He probably would much prefer that the asylum was by itself, and, if THE PRESS is not mistaken, it was entirely by itself when first secured for the purpose. So it is reasonable to suppose that the rumor of its intended removal is founded on facts.

Everything THE PRESS has said in its effort for the interest of the city's prosperity in general and the comfort of the Sandford avenue property owners and residents in particular, towards having the very objectionable establishment removed, it has aimed to say in a way that would not reflect in any manner upon the good intentions of Dr. Cooley and his consultants—Dr. T. A. Davis and other philanthropic men of judgment as rare as their skill. They have been entirely well-meaning throughout.

More Light for Less Money, Next Year.

The people must thank Councilman Spangenberg for bringing about the lighting of the streets of the city by electricity at a lower cost, probably, than any other city in the United States. As chairman of the committee on street lights he has secured the low figure of $15 50 per lamp lighted from sunset to sunrise every night of the year.

The council can only make the street-lighting contract from year to year. But the new contract just made by Councilman Spangenberg with the Plainfield Electric Light company, contains an option clause permitting the city to renew it on the same terms year after year for nine more years.

There has been some criticism of the present council for granting to the Plainfield Electric Light company the right to erect poles and string wires for electric lighting purposes, through the streets and alleys of the city, for ten years. But it is not known to such critics that for those privileges the city is allowed the right to string its fire-alarm wires along the electric light poles, the steam to blow the fire gong is furnished free from the electric light station, and the council chamber is lighted without charge.

English as Found by a Plainfield Educator, on Top of the Rigi.

Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, one of Plainfield's board of education, and a Chautauqua teacher, is now doing Europe with Bishop Vincent. As told in THE PRESS Saturday, the doctor writes to the Rev. C. B. Mitchell that he has climbed to the top of the Rigi and was higher up in the world than he'd ever expected to get.

In the hotel there, a mile above the valley, is the following announcement, seemingly addressed directly to those of Messrs. Hurlbut and Vincent's profession, and showing English as she is wrote in the Alps: "Ministers, the venerable voyagers are advertised that when the sun him rise, a horn will be blowed." That announcement sufficiently prepares the visitor for the following entry in the wine list: "In this hotel the wines leave the traveler nothing to hope for."

Mr. Tappen Gets Back at the Rev. Comer.

George Tappen, of South Plainfield, on Saturday applied for a warrant for the Rev. George Comer, whom he charged with perjury. A short time ago the minister had Tappen arrested for assault. Tappen denied the charge and alleges that the minister swore falsely against him. The Rev. Mr. Comer is generally supposed to have robbed Mr. Tappen of Mrs. Tappen's society and affections.

June Strawberries in October.

FANWOOD'S FEMALE BURGLAR.

Mrs. Darby Thinks She Was a Servant Whom She Had Discharged.

Further Details of the attempted burglary at Levi Darby's place near Fanwood which was reported exclusively in these columns last Friday, were given by the younger Mrs. Darby to a reporter Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Darby live in an old-fashioned brick farm-house, about a mile from the station, and with them live Douglass and his wife. Douglass Darby, whose dairy wagon is a familiar sight on the Plainfield streets, was away from home at the hour of the robbery, which was 4 o'clock Thursday morning.

In a bureau drawer in his room Douglass had left considerable money which he had drawn from the bank to pay his farm hands. Mrs. Darby's gold watch and some jewelry also were in the drawer. Entrance was made by burglars through the door in the basement kitchen, which had been left unbolted. A lamp is always left burning in the upper hall. This the burglars turned almost out. Young Mrs. Darby says:

"I must have been sleeping very soundly, for I have no recollection of hearing any noise, but I awoke with a feeling that somebody was in the room. Then seeing that there was no light apparently in the hall, which I thought strange, as we always have a light burning there, I raised myself so as to look out into the hall. As I turned toward the door I was startled at seeing two heads, one on each side of the door, looking in cautiously. As soon as I could collect myself I called out:

"'What are you doing there?'

"Two figures ran to the head of the stairs and jumped. One of them was a woman with a kerchief on her head. The other was a man. He had what looked like a club under his arm. After calling my father-in-law, I went into my room to get a dress on. There I found the top bureau drawer, containing the valuables, unlocked and half open. The key had been taken from the second drawer, which also was open. The contents of the top drawer were not disturbed. I must have moved just before I awoke, and thus scared the thieves away, as the drawer was only half opened."

While Mrs. Darby was dressing the burglars had made their escape. In going through the kitchen they overturned a table covered with dishes, which were all smashed. They took the road toward Fanwood. Mrs. Darby, who is as plucky as she is pretty, caught up a revolver and started after them as soon as she could get on a pair of shoes and a dress. She was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Darby, sr., and by two of the farm hands, who had been awakened by the noise of the falling crockery. The burglars, of course, were not in sight when the pursuing party reached the road. The latter followed them by the prints of their bare feet for 200 yards. Then the footprints stopped and the marks of shoes began, showing that the fugitives had stopped to put on their shoes. A hundred yards further the tracks led into the woods, which are very thick here. The Darby did not attempt to follow any further, as it was dark and they knew that pursuit was useless in the dense woods.

The Darbys feel certain that the attempted robbery was the work of a man and a woman who had been employed by them five weeks ago, and had left on Oct. 1, very suddenly. The two had come from an employment agency in New York city. They said they were man and wife. They were Polish, and their names were Anton and Joseffa. What their other name was the Darbys could not remember. Mrs. Darby said to a reporter Saturday:

"The man was about 25 years old, very strong and quiet and he never said anything about himself. The woman was 30 years old, fair, with blue eyes, and as pretty a woman as you would wish to see. They said they were married, but a Pole, who lives up the road further, and who knew them, told me they were not. He said he had known them for some time, but he would not tell us anything of their past life. Two weeks ago Anton and Joseffa had a quarrel and he knocked her senseless with a trunk strap. She was in bed for four days. When he saw what he had done he was almost wild with grief and he nursed her until she recovered. On the 1st of October they left very suddenly, and said they were going back to New York. They gave no reason for their leaving, except that the woman said they were going into another kind of business. They were good workers. Anton was employed as a farm hand and Joseffa helped about the house. They both said they didn't know English, but they seemed to understand what was said. Joseffa knew where the money was kept and all about the house. The burglars must have been well acquainted with the house and all about it or they wouldn't have come directly to my room. I know that one of them was a woman, and that's what makes me so sure that they are Anton and Joseffa."

It is thought that the pair had been lying about for some time, awaiting a chance to get into the Darby house, and that the absence of young Mr. Darby gave them the opportunity they sought. Some of the farmers there think that the two walked to some neighboring station after the attempted robbery and took the train for this city. Others believe them to be living somewhere in the almost impenetrable woods, awaiting a chance for further robberies.

The other farm hands employed on the Darby place describe the man as large, quick, and of great strength. They say that while he could speak good enough English when he wanted to, he was silent and reserved, and refused to say anything about himself.

PARIS MOURNS HIS LOSS.

He is One of the Celebrated Artists Who Will Sing in Plainfield Next Week.

Roger Dupuy, the great French tenor who has been engaged to appear in the grand concert at Music Hall, the 22d inst, with Musin, Tanner, Parmater, and others, was born in Paris in 1860, and at the age of 22 received the first prize at the Paris Conservatory of Music. Since that time he has been the leading tenor in the grand operas of Milan, Nice and Paris. His success everywhere has been immediate and spontaneous, and a veritable ovation was accorded him wherever he made his second appearance.

This great tenor was secured at a large salary for two years, to support Mr. Musin in America and Australia. At the time the engagement was made, an agent was in Paris trying to secure him for the Italian Opera Co., but through Mr. Musin's friendship to M. Dupuy, and also offering him an engagement four times as long as any opera agent could, he succeeded, and now he can offer to the American people the greatest tenor of the day. His high C has astonished Europe, it being immensely strong and of the very first quality. Paris mourns the loss of its pet tenor.

In a recent article of a leading Parisian newspaper, speaking of the engagement of M. Dupuy with M. Ovide Musin, it says: "Ovide Musin has had such great success in America that he can come to Paris and engage its greatest tenor under the very noses of our managers, and offer more money and a longer engagement than the agents of the Grand Italian Opera—and the artist is glad to go with him. This is Paris's loss and America's gain. We wish M. Dupuy great success, which is assured in America."

Comstock Yesterday, Gen. Howard Next.

A large congregation of men listened to Anthony Comstock while for an hour he earnestly addressed them, at the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. This was the first of a special series of meetings which are to be held by the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoons, beginning at 4:15, for men only.

Mr. Comstock is known as an earnest and effective speaker who has done a remarkable work in the suppression of vice, in the course of which he has acquired an experience which gives tremendous weight to the advice he utters. His address of yesterday was an urgent plea to men to beware of the three vices of intemperance, gambling and licentiousness.

It is no sin to be tempted;—he said—the sin is in yielding to the temptation. He compared the heart to a chamber of imagery upon whose walls we were always hanging pictures which memory would keep turning for our gaze; therefore it behooved us to be careful that no pictures of evil should hang there to menace constantly our peace.

Very specially did he warn fathers to be careful for their sons, whose temptations were so great, and against whose purity such organized and powerful efforts were directed.

Preserve yourselves—he said—through the grace of God, from evil imaginations, which are our common temptation, as God, who knows man's infirmities, has prepared a way of escape from them. The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked. Who can know it? Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life. Remembrance of these things will save one from the evil imaginations which lead to evil practices, which shut out self respect, undermine spiritual aspirations, destroy reverence for holy things, and bury will power and desire to reform. Avoid evil reading, which leads to lust; it defiles the body, diseases the mind, corrupts thought, perverts imagination, sears conscience, hardens the heart, and damns the soul.

The address closed with a strong appeal to seek Him who said "blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God".

The meeting next Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist church will be addressed by Major General O. O. Howard, of the United States Army.

Mrs. Ellis Concludes Her Labors.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ellis closed with a Bible reading her evangelistic work in Plainfield.

Many "Y's" were present, to whom she addressed words of counsel and encouragement, giving them, after a brief explanation of some of the most important departments of the W. C. T. U. work, valuable plans and suggestions as to the branches they might, advantageously to themselves and others, take up.

"All the services conducted by this gifted evangelist—says an admirer—were well attended, and those who listened to her tender, loving words and exhortations for the Master must have received an inspiration and spiritual blessing.

Not, perhaps, until the day 'When He cometh to make up His jewels', shall be known all the good done by her in His dear name. The prayers of many will follow her wherever she goes."

"ABE" LINCOLN'S CABIN.

The Relic to Be Removed to the City of Chicago.

An Association Purchases the Historic Property from a Relative of the Martyr President—A Condensed History of the Place.

Lincoln's cabin is in Chicago and as soon as a suitable building can be erected the home in which Abraham Lincoln passed his boyhood will be placed therein, together with such relics of the martyr president as can be procured, and exhibited. It will, according to the Tribune, be one of the permanent attractions in Chicago.

Several months ago the existence of a cabin built by Abraham Lincoln and his father became known to a party of Chicago gentlemen, and they determined to secure the interesting relic. In the latter part of June Mrs. Norah Gridley was sent to Coles county and visited the cabin which was at the time occupied, and had for years been the home of John J. Hall, a relative of the late president. The Halls were well to do, and had become attached to the place, so long their home, but they were prevailed upon to part with it.

The cabin became the property of the Abraham Lincoln association. With the property a deed to the land on which it stood and the one-half acre garden of Grandma Lincoln passed into the possession of the association. The purchasers have secured every link in the chain of title from the patent of the government to Thomas Lincoln to the deed of conveyance to the association. Among them is a deed in Abraham Lincoln's handwriting and the only known document in existence to which the joint signatures of Abraham and Mary Lincoln are attached.

The cabin was built in 1831, and is constructed of oak logs cut by Abraham and his father in the river bottoms and hauled to the spot where the cabin was erected. It contained one room and a loft, and is sixteen feet in length by eighteen feet in depth and nineteen feet high. In 1835 an addition of the same dimensions was built of quaking aspen with a small storage-room of four feet in width between, making the entire structure thirty-six feet in length. Shortly after building the addition young Abe left home, but made it a duty to visit his parents twice a year, walking to the homestead that he might save the expense of livery bills. Then he would walk six miles from the cabin to the county seat and pay the interest on money borrowed from the school funds by his father to enter his land.

His last visit to the old home was in December, 1861, after his election to the presidency. He cut a log, split it, and carved his father's name upon the two boards, which he placed at the head and foot of Thomas Lincoln's grave in the Gorton cemetery. These humble monuments are gone, and the resting-place of the great president's father is now marked by a handsome granite monument. It was on this occasion that his stepmother, to whom Abraham was devotedly attached, said: "They'll kill you, my boy, and I won't see you again." She never did.

The ground on which the cabin stood will be encircled by a neat fence and the spot memorialized by a monument. The association will endeavor to preserve the garden, with its wreath of sage and hollyhocks to remind mankind of the humble origin of a great man.

Necessity of Having Confidence.

"You can't be too careful about buying bedclothes, ma'am," said the accommodating salesman. "Now, in selecting comforts, for instance, you've got to depend on the judgment of the firm that bought them in the first place. You can't open 'em, you know, to see what kind of material they're stuffed with. You've got to take our word for that. Now, here's one of our best comforts, ma'am. We know just where these come from and what they're filled with. If there was any way to show—put that one back, Rogers!" he exclaimed in a hurried whisper to his fellow salesman. Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same. J. B. COWARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 6, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To widen, lay out, and open Peace street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Peace street in the city of Plainfield, from the railroad to the southeasterly side of Front street, be widened and laid out so that said street shall be of the uniform width of thirty feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which said centre line is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron monument in the centre line of said Peace street, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence in a magnetic course of south forty-nine degrees and twenty minutes east, (s. 49 deg. 20 min. e.) a distance of seven hundred and ninety-eight and five-tenths, (798 5) feet to a point in said centre line in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as the said street is laid out on a map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street, from the C. R. R. of N. J. to Green brook, city of Plainfield, N. J., July, 1891 made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer and surveyor.

The land to be taken for the widening of Peace street on the northeasterly side of same, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all land which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for said widening on the southwesterly side of said Peace street, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all that land which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a southwesterly direction.

That a continuation of said Peace street be laid out and opened from the northwesterly line of Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and four one-hundredths (32·04) feet, in a magnetic course of north forty-six degrees and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 degrees, 17 minutes w) from an iron monument at the intersection of the centre lines of East Front Street, and Peace Street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence north forty six degrees, and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 deg. 17 min) a distance of three hundred and eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to a point in the centre line of Green Brook, said point being in the division line between the city of Plainfield, county of Union, and the borough of North Plainfield, county of Somerset, and there to end. Said street shall be sixty (60) feet in width; that is to say thirty (30) feet on each side of the above described centre line and the land to be taken includes all that land for thirty feet in width on each side of said centre line which lies between the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as at present laid out, and the said centre line of Green Brook.

That the lands and real estate, and the appurtences necessary therefore shall be taken and appropriated for the said widening, laying out and opening of Peace street as aforesaid, pursuant to the charter of the city of Plainfield, and the general statutes in such case, made and provided.

The land to be taken, and the lines of Peace street, as the same is herein before ordered to be widened laid out and opened are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "a map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street from the C R. R. of N J. to Green Brook, city of Plainfield N. J, July 1891," made by F. A. Dunham, Civil Engineer and surveyor.

FAITHLESS OFFICERS

Gov. Pattison Demands That They Be Removed.

HE ISSUES A PROCLAMATION

Many Philadelphia Magistrates and Constables Alleged to Be Dishonest.

Said to Have Paid Money to Bardsley, the Late Treasurer, to Influence His Action—A Conspiracy to Cheat the Commonwealth in the Collection of Delinquent License Taxes—The Senate Convened to Investigate.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—Gov. Pattison issued another proclamation yesterday, asking the removal of certain magistrates and constables of Philadelphia.

The paper alleges that many of the magistrates of the courts, not of record of police and civil causes, in Philadelphia, have been faithless and dishonest in the performance of their official duties; that many of said magistrates, together with the constables attached to their courts have been participants in a conspiracy to cheat the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in connection with the collection of delinquent mercantile license taxes in the city and county of Philadelphia, by which large sums of money have been lost to the Commonwealth; and that many of said magistrates and constables have been guilty of bribery by the payment of money to John Bardsley, late Treasurer of the city and county of Philadelphia, in order to influence the official action of the said John Bardsley and others for the purpose of obtaining control and jurisdiction of the suits against delinquent dealers in Philadelphia.

It is alleged and believed that the sum of $350 was paid by each magistrate before whom the suits were brought in the year 1889, and that in the year 1890 to the said John Bardsley, for the personal use and private gain of himself and others.

The document further alleges that in the year 1889 the sum of $31,811.85 was paid to Israel W. Durham, Horatio F. Hackett, William H. Lisle, James F. Neall, Johnson Roney, Benton O. Severn, Robert W. Smith, Thomas W. South and John T. Thompson, magistrates of Philadelphia, as magistrates and constables, in suits against delinquent dealers in Philadelphia, from which suits no collections whatever were made for the use of the Commonwealth.

In the year 1890 the sum of $31,194.20 was paid to William B. Ahern, Israel W. Durham, Horatio B. Hackett, James F. Neal, Ambrose P. Pullinger, Thomas Randall, Johnson Roney, Robert R. Smith and Thomas W. South, magistrates of Philadelphia, as magistrates and constables' costs in suits against delinquent dealers in Philadelphia, from which suits no collections whatever were made for the use of the Commonwealth.

The Governor convenes the Senate to meet for the purpose of considering whether reasonable cause exists for the removal of any of the magistrates and constables of Philadelphia.

An Eight Million Dollar Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—In the U. S. Circuit Court yesterday the suit of Lizzie F. Ralston against the trustees of the estate of William Sharon was taken up. The action referred to asks for an accounting of the estate of Ralston, which, it is claimed, was in the hands of Sharon, and which has passed into the hands of the defendants. The amount involved is about $8,000,000. The complaint sets forth that at the time the Bank of California was forced to close its doors, Ralston made a deed of trust to Sharon of all his property, and that Sharon failed to return the deed or make proper restitution.

An Important Arrest.

CORRY, Pa., Oct. 13.—The arrest of U. B. Lowe here yesterday by United States Marshal Baring, proves an important one. The authorities declare that Lowe has been acting as a "fence" in the green goods and saw dust deals of notorious Barney McGuire, one of the slickest crooks in the country. Lowe's immediate superior in the crooked work is said to be a man named Brown, alias Wilson, who is now in custody at Scranton, where Lowe has been taken.

In Baby Cleveland's Honor.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The young daughter of ex-President Cleveland is to be the object of special attention at the dinner of the Clover Club next Thursday night. It is expected that the young lady will be represented by her father's old and time-tried friend, Daniel Lamont, who will accept congratulations of the club members for the entire Cleveland family. Baby Ruth is to be presented with a gold spoon, which is to be something unusually elaborate.

Received Back Their Assessments.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Five hundred members of the Order of the Wonder of the World yesterday received back their assessments, as the order voted to wind up its affairs. The total returned so far to the members is $12,000. There are some 2,000 certificate holders, and $24,000 is ready to meet their demands in full.

Curtis Held for Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—In the Superior Court, yesterday, Maurice R. Strelinger (M. B. Curtis) was held for the grand jury to answer the charge of murder, in killing Policeman Grant. Henry Gardner, a former employe of Strelinger, testified that the latter habitually carried a pistol.

RECIPROCITY WITH GERMANY.

A Proposed Treaty That Will Secure a Special Rate for American Cereals.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The negotiations have been completed in regard to the proposed commercial treaty between the United States and Germany, but under the law they cannot go into effect until January 1, 1892. The proviso under which President Harrison has been acting is contained in the Tariff Act of 1890, Section B, Schedule N.

Under this section the President, about Jan. 1, can impose the duty on German beet sugar, which finds an extensive market here. Germany has been especially anxious to make a treaty, since one has been made with Spain, to allow Cuban sugars and other products to come in.

Up to Jan. 1, the United States can do nothing in the matter, but Germany at once saw its advantage in making a treaty now, so that it can go into effect on the first of the year. Count Von Mumm began negotiations with the State Department, and through Secretary Rusk and Gen. J. M. Foster, acting for the State Department, the treaty has been brought to successful completion.

It was signed last month at Saratoga, when General Foster and Count Von Mumm paid an unexpected and hurried visit to that place when President Harrison was there as the guest of Mr. Arkell.

One proviso in the treaty, which has prevented the publication of the treaty, and which will perhaps delay the promulgation of the full contents, is that Germany claims the right to first announce the signing and promulgation of the treaty. At present German beet sugar comes into the country free under the new tariff law, and nothing can prevent it until January 1, when the President is given the power to shut it off, on the ground that Germany imposed duties on agricultural and other products of the United States, which, in view of free introduction of such sugar, etc., into the United States, he deems to be reciprocally unequal and unreasonable.

The treaty will not allow the free entry of American cereals, because to do that would give America a monopoly, and, besides, Germany could not discriminate against other countries and make the United States a most favored nation.

What the treaty will accomplish, however, is the securing of a special rate for American cereals—flour, rye, etc.

Messenger Moore Not Suspected.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Superintendent White, of the American Express Company, makes the positive statement that Messenger Moore is not suspected of the recent robbery near Utica, and is not under surveillance. "We have got a pretty good clue to the robber," said Superintendent White, "and we are going to get him. It may take time, but we will run him down if we have to follow him to Kingdom Come. We followed that Canadian robber for three years, but we got him at last. No, I will not tell the amount stolen. We are paying up the losses and will have them all adjusted soon. Watch us while we nab the robber."

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—Park Bros., Black Diamond Steel Works, at 30th and Smallman streets was the scene of a terrific explosion yesterday. The large "triple" valve, used to inject steam from the main boiler into fifty-four smaller boilers, exploded by reason of the presence of condensed steam. Huge pieces of boiler plate and debris were scattered in all directions. F. C. Ebling, an employe, was fatally crushed. Several other employes were badly hurt and were removed to the West Pennsylvania Hospital. Sixteen hundred men will be thrown out of employment until necessary repairs are made.

A Princess Who Won't Pay.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A case of scandal in high life that is attracting some attention is the failure of the Princess Mary Rohan to pay a debt due to a Dublin tradesman. She married, in 1888, Prince Raoul Rohan, a family that holds a high place among the princely houses of Europe. She has gone to the castle of her husband's father in Bohemia, and a Dublin tradesman, named Manning, is vainly trying to recover $1,160 he claims she owes him.

The Umbria's Rough Passage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—During the recent voyage of the Umbria several of the passengers were injured. The weather during the entire trip was very squally. Henry Harrison, ex-Mayor of Sheffield, Eng., was thrown from a settee in the smoking room and badly injured about the head. Mrs. Moorman, of Louisville, Ky., was seized with apoplexy during the voyage and died. Charles Roate, of Buffalo, was knocked down and received a severe scalp wound.

A Murderer Surrenders.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 13.—Jockey Anderson, who shot and killed Wm. Robinson in a drunken row in a Gloucester dive, some time in September last, surrendered himself to the authorities at Gloucester yesterday, and was taken to the Camden county jail and was locked up

HIS DOUBLE IS TIRED

The Man Who Resembles Jay Gould Disgusted.

HE CHANGES HIS APPEARANCE.

Says Being Taken for the Great Financier Has Become a Burden to Him.

How Sam Leopold, Gould's Exact Counterpart, Refused $20,000 to Personate the Speculator—A Great Scheme to Demoralize the Market by Having Leopold Represent Gould and Feign a Fatal Injury—Might Have Consented, but Feared Being Mobbed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Sam Leopold of No. 84 Broadway, the broker who for 15 years has enjoyed the distinction of being Jay Gould's double, has altered his whiskers in order to partially remove the resemblance.

Mr. Leopold has long been in doubt whether this strong resemblance to the millionaire has been a benefit or a disadvantage to him. It has come to be a great bore. Now Mr. Leopold is tired, and his determination to escape the difficulty of the situation has taken form in prompt action.

In 1884 he had a hard struggle in refusing $20,000 to personate Mr. Gould. A party of speculators cooked up a scheme to knock the stock market into smithereens. Prices were extremely sensitive at that time, and it was pretty well understood that only a strain or two would be necessary to turn the balance and produce a financial crash which might echo over the world.

The conspiring brokers proposed to Leopold that he smear some blood on his face and roll on the sidewalk near the corner of Wall and Broad streets, pretending to be dangerously hurt. An ambulance was to have been summoned two minutes ahead of the "accident," so that the vehicle could dash up to the scene soon after a crowd gathered.

A dozen confederates were to be on the scene to keep the crown back, to partially shield the "injured man" and to repeat occasionally, "That's Jay Gould; he is fatally hurt."

Further details of the plan were to have a carriage near Chambers Street Hospital for the purpose of taking "Mr. Gould" to his house. Of course, Leopold's remarkably close resemblance to Gould would be sufficient to make the scheme work well.

Then the telegraph wires were to be "grounded" for a few hours. The tremendous excitement would naturally depress the Gould stocks, and, in sympathy, about everything would go down with a rush. The schemers were to take advantage of this by selling short, and they expected to have at least from 10 to 2 o'clock in which to work this peculiarly daring manipulation of the market.

By the time the truth would be known the bold plotters would turn and go long of the market, on the recovery from the temporary shock, and at least two or three good-sized fortunes were expected to be realized by the double deal. Sam reluctantly declined the tempting offer. Although he wanted the $20,000 awfully bad, he feared that he might be mobbed after the fright was over, and so the scheme fell through.

At length Leopold has concluded that notoriety as Jay Gould's double is not altogether pleasant. For years he has been the target for correspondents of rival newspapers. Now he will have a rest.

DESERTED HIS FAMILY.

Williams, the African Explorer, Left His Wife in Poverty.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13.—Information has just been received here that George Williams the well-known African explorer who died in England on August 1, abandoned his wife and child here. When the wife heard of her husband's death, she wrote to England concerning his estate, but the only reply received was a lot of unpaid bills.

Williams met a handsome English girl, Alice Fryar, in Egypt, who, knowing him to be married, became engaged to him. They went to London, and Williams is said to have died in her arms at Hartport of pneumonia, leaving her all his effects. Miss Fryar then disappeared.

Mrs. Williams is in destitute circumstances.

Testing a Rapid Firing Gun.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 13.—The Driggs-Chreede rapid firing gun was again tested at the proving grounds here yesterday. Thirteen seconds elapsed between the shots. Difficulty was experienced in extracting the empty cases after the shots were fired.

The Student Seen at Hartford.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 13.—The Wesleyan University student, Narramour, whose disappearance September 30 created a sensation at the college, was seen at Hartford, it is reported, on October 4, by college students. The faculty have sent parties to Hartford to see if anything can be learned of his whereabouts.

ARE OPINIONS CONDEMNED.

Much Indignation Felt Over the Autopsy Upon Little James Steebe.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 13.—The physicians at the Elizabeth Hospital and the County Physician, who ordered the autopsy on the body of little James Steebe, the supposed hydrophobia patient who died at the hospital, have laid themselves open to grave censure.

When Undertaker Michael Durning, who had been engaged by the boy's father to get the body and bring it home, sent his assistants to the hospital they found the remains still lying on the dissecting table, the body cut open from the throat to the waist, back and front, and the intestines scattered.

No attempt had been made to restore the condition it was in before the autopsy.

The hospital surgeons said it was none of their funeral, as the County Physician had taken the matter entirely out of the hospital's hands when he ordered the autopsy.

There is great indignation at Elizabethport over the matter, and the people are loud in their condemnation of the doctors and surgeons concerned.

It is now thought that young Steebe did not die of hydrophobia at all but, of spinal meningitis.

THE DEAD ALIVE.

A Cortland Miss Who Has the Pleasure of Reading Her Own Obituary.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Mrs. D. J. Bostwick died here Friday of malignant diphtheria. Her daughter Carrie was also sick at the time with the same disease and Saturday it was reported that she was also dead.

On Sunday her death was announced from the church pulpits and yesterday morning Dr. Cheney, of the State Normal School where Carrie attended, eulogized her memory in an eloquent address, which brought the class to tears. The papers yesterday also contained her obituary.

It now appears that she is not dead at all, but in a fair way to entire recovery. How the report of her death was spread cannot be learned. Many of the girl's classmates sent funeral flowers.

ATTEMPT AT REVOLUTION.

Troops Fired Upon in Montevideo—Several Insurgents Killed.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 13.—There was a serious attempt at revolution here Sunday evening. The members of a revolutionary club in the suburbs of the city fired upon the troops stationed near at hand. The latter returned the volley with deadly effect.

Several persons were killed outright and many wounded. Many of the ringleaders of the assault, including a priest, have been apprehended.

Attempts were made to assassinate President Obes and to capture members of the Junta, but they were unsuccessful. Subsequently, the insurgents were dispersed and the city became quiet. The troops in the neighborhood number about 8,000.

Trying to Stop All Sunday Work.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—Rev. Wilbur F. C. Crafts, D. D., of New York, who is at the head of the Sabbath Reform Association, is in this city in the interests of the work. He states that a movement will be started at an early day that will startle the citizens of the United States. The movement has not yet been fully outlined. Enough is known, however, that an effort will be made to stop Sunday work of all kinds except works of necessity. Pittsburg has been selected as the starting point for the reform wave, which is to sweep the country. It is now proposed to stop street cars, Sunday trains, Sunday newspapers, etc.

Vice-President Morton's Action Dismissed

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—An action which Levi P. Morton, Vice-President of the United States brought to enjoin the city from the maintenance of a high pressure pumping engine on Ninety-eight street, was yesterday dismissed by Judge Truax of the Supreme Court. Mr. Morton owns twelve houses in Ninety-eight street, near the engine house, and claimed that its viabration interfered with the quiet enjoyment of his houses by his tenants. He asked for $20,000 damages. The complaint was dismissed on the ground that the engine station was maintained under an act of the Legislature.

Rev. Dr. Rooker Arrives.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Among the passengers arriving from Havre by the steamer Le Bretagne was the Rev. Dr. Rooker, Vice-Rector of the American College, Rome, who was commissioned by the Pope to bring over a present from him to the venerable Archbishop of St. Louis, who will celebrate his golden jubilee in November next. The gift will be consigned to Cardinal Gibbons, who will make the presentation when the event takes place.

The Clerk a Defaulter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Henry Best, clerk of the Circuit Court, stated that Joseph L. Wilson, the fugitive clerk of Judge Tuley's court was a defaulter to the extent of $18,000 at least. All along it has been the opinion of Wilson's friends that he had gone on a protracted spree and that he would return shortly. Mr. Best, however, is convinced that his trusted clerk is gone, never to return, unless compelled to do so by due process of law.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

The cotton storage sheds of Raspin & Co. at Camden, were destroyed. Loss, $15,000.

John Perkins, janitor of Public School No. 3, of Jersey City, died suddenly in the school building of apoplexy yesterday.

E. T. McLaughlin, the Democratic nominee for Assemly in the Second Hudson county, N. J., district has declined the nomination.

The officials of the New Jersey and New York Railroad, who were arrested Sunday morning, while removing the old depot at Oradell, were discharged yesterday.

HEIR TO A MILLION

A Pennsylvania Convict the Owner of a Great Estate.

A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

The Strange Story of Edwin St. Rayn, Formerly an Actor, Now in Prison.

He Rescued a Beautiful Girl and Her Father from Ruffians in New Orleans—Eloped With the Maiden, the Father Not Consenting to the Union—A Separation Ensues, and St. Rayn Becomes a Rover—Arrested and Convicted, Though Innocent—Left a Fortune by the Repentant Father of His Wife.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The good luck of Edwin St. Rayn, formerly an actor of this city, is just now much talked of among theatrical folks.

St. Rayn is said to be the heir to a fortune of over $1,000,000, and a firm of New York lawyers, acting for the estate which he has inherited, have located him after a long search.

He is an inmate of the Western Penitentiary in Allegheny City, Pa. He alleges that he is an innocent man and did not commit the crime for which he is serving a sentence of one year and a half.

Several professionals who were seen had no difficulty in recalling St. Rayn. They said that five or six years ago he was a fair actor in traveling companies starting out of New York. Bob Hilliard said that he had known St. Rayn, and Fred Bond also recollected as actor whom he believed to be identical with the alleged heir to a great estate.

The story is a romantic one and has been investigated by a reporter of a Pittsburg newspaper, who vouches for its accuracy. He also interviewed St. Rayn in the Western Penitentiary and was furnished by the prisoner with facts, dates and documents corroborating it in its entirety.

Some months ago Louis De Amboise, a wealthy Cuban planter, died in Havana, leaving his fortune of over a million dollars to one Edwin St. Rayn, an American actor.

The trustees of the estate have since been searching for the legatee and believe that at last he has been discovered.

St. Rayn says that he is a native of New York City, and that his real name is J. Edwin Rayn. Six years ago the company of which he was a member was playing in New Orleans.

One night after the performance, St. Rayn was going home to his lodgings when he cames pon three roughs who had attacked an elderly gentleman and a young lady who accompanied him.

It was in a dark and unfrequented street, and the assailants were rapidly overcoming the gentleman.

Fortunately St. Rayn carried a heavy walking-stick, and he rushed to the rescue. His blows caused the roughs to rush off, but not before one of them had severely stabbed the actor with a pocket-knife. The gentleman proved to be Louis De Amboise, and the lady was his only daughter, Edith.

They loaded St. Rayn with protestations of their gratitude, and insisted upon conveying him to their hotel, where his injury was attended to. Miss Edith promptly fell in love with the actor, but her father said nay.

He desired the girl to marry Horace Leigh, her cousin, whom she disliked. When St. Rayn had recovered he eloped with Miss De Amboise and they were married.

St. Rayn lived in Cuba for a year or two and then went off with a theatrical company. He says that in his absence Horace Leigh convinced Mrs. St. Rayn that her husband was unfaithful to his marriage vows, and she secured a divorce.

St. Rayn travelled all over this country and finally turned up in Westmoreland County, Pa., two years ago. There he was charged with committing an offence of which he asserts he was entirely innocent, claiming to have been the victim of a conspiracy.

While in prison De Amboise and Mrs. St. Rayn both died in Cuba. In his will De Amboise states that he did St. Rayn a great wrong in helping to separate his wife from him, and he desires to make all the reparation in his power. He therefore left the estate to the adventurous actor, whose whereabouts have just been ascertained.

It is said that St. Rayn has secured counsel, who are making efforts to have him set free on habeas corpus proceedings.

St. Rayn's strange story is corroborated by some people at Jeanette, Pa., to whom he related the circumstances some time before the death of his wealthy father-in-law.

Upon his release St. Rayn promises to produce papers which will prove his identity without a doubt.

No Union to Be Effected.

DUBLIN, Oct. 13.—At an informal meeting of the Parnellite members of the House of Commons it was decided not to accept any overtures for a coalition with the McCarthyites, but to continue the struggle for the leadership of the Irish Parliamentary party on the lines laid down by Mr. Parnell in his efforts to regain the position from which he had been deposed by a majority of his former followers.

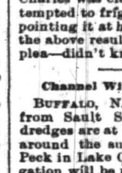
Doughnuts.

BY MRS. D. A. LINCOLN,
Author Boston Cook Book.

Beat 1 egg, add 1 cup fine granulated sugar, and beat till very light and white. Add 1 cup new milk, without stirring. Then sift in 1 pint pastry flour to which has been added 3 level tea sp. Cleveland's baking powder, 1 level tea sp. of salt and half a nutmeg grated. Beat this thoroughly, then add, quickly, enough more flour to make a firm but soft dough. Roll out ½ inch thick, cut into rings with an open cutter, or into narrow strips and twist them into shape. Fry in half lard and half suet or beef drippings, and have the fat hot enough for the dough to rise to the top instantly. Turn them over as soon as the underside is a golden brown, and when done on the other side, drain them carefully.—(Copyright, 1891.)

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.



"Cleveland's Superior is absolutely the best and most desirable baking powder manufactured."

TRAIN ROBBERS AGAIN.

They Wreck a Central Pacific Express—New Jersey Man Among the Injured.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 13.—The fast Westbound express on the Central Pacific due here yesterday morning was wrecked when midway between Calfax and New England mills. The train passed through a deep cut and out on an embankment which had been thrown up to preserve the grade. Four Pullmans and a caboose left the track, but the baggage car and two day coaches remained on the track.

The Pullman sleeper Santa Cruz turned on its side and rolled down the embankment for 50 feet before it stopped. In the sleeper were ten passengers, all asleep at the time of the accident. They all received a lively shaking up, but the only person injured in the car was the colored porter. An investigation showed that spikes had been drawn on the outer edge of the track where it makes a curve, and there is no doubt that an attempt was made to wreck the train.

The Dalton gang is supposed to have had a hand in the attempted wrecking. It is believed that the robbers hoped that the engineer, fireman and baggagemaster would be killed when the train struck the loosened rails, and then they could loot the train.

The passengers were transferred to another train and brought to Sacramento. It is a miracle that no lives were lost. Among those injured were J. C. Coggswell of Newark, N. J., contusion of the back.

The Southern Pacific Company has offered $5,000 reward for the conviction of those causing the derailment.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

READING, Pa., Oct. 13.—Alvin Betz, 6 years old, was accidentally shot and instantly killed yesterday by his brother Charles, who is 18 years old. Charles was cleaning a revolver and attempted to frighten his little brother by pointing it at him, when it exploded with the above result. Charles gives the usual plea—didn't know it was loaded.

British Schooner Sunk.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The British schooner Daphne, of St. Johns, N. B., struck a rock in Broad Sound early in the morning during a gale, and soon after sunk. The vessel had a cargo of lime and lathe. Captain Gavan and his crew of four men barely escaped with their lives. They were obliged to cut away the boat from the davits as volumes of smoke kept pouring out of the vessel as she was sinking, the lime having taken fire.

S. E. FLOWER FOR ASSEMBLY.

Plainfield Honored with the Democratic Nomination.

The Third Assembly district Democratic convention of Union county, held in Force's Hotel this afternoon, was very harmonious and enthusiastic.

Vincent L. Frazee of Plainfield was unanimously chosen chairman, and John M. C. Marsh of Westfield secretary.

Sidney E. Flower of this city was the only nominee for Assembly, and his nomination was made by acclamation. He was brought before the convention and in a brief speech testified his appreciation for the honor and accepted the nomination.

Next year's convention will be held at Scotch Plains.

EXCITEMENT AT A CONVENTION.

After Nominating a Coroner, the Two Factions Struggle Over Rival Resolutions.

At the Union county Democratic convention held at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, quite an exciting contest occurred between the Abbett and anti-Abbett factions.

Dr. Alfred Q. Donovan was renominated for coroner, and then the fight began over the adoption of resolutions. Ex-Prosecutor Wilson offered one denouncing one-man power in New Jersey and praising Grover Cleveland and Senator McPherson. The Abbett men of course protested, and pitched into Wilson in a most savage manner. After considerable debate the Wilson resolutions were voted down, and a series of resolutions warmly indorsing Abbett was carried.

Alfred Bedlow's Will Forecasts a Family Contest.

Alfred Bedlow, for years a well-known resident of this city, where his sons and daughters grew up, died last May, as told in THE PRESS at the time. He was then boarding with Miss Sarah A. Stillwell and her mother, at 42 West Ninety-second street, New York city.

In his will he left almost all his property to Miss Stillwell. He willed $1 each to his wife, Fanny, Mr. Stillwell, his son, Alfred, and his daughters, Mrs. Florence Townsend and Mrs. Julia A. Frothingham.

In the document he stated explicitly that he did this because his family was not entitled to any consideration from him, owing to "their gross disrespect and ingratitude, and their endeavors to prevent him enjoying his property." He added that his wife had unjustly commenced and prosecuted a suit against him for limited divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedlow separated about a year ago. He at once went to live with the Stillwells. His wife began an action for a limited divorce and was granted alimony. The case had not come to trial when Mr. Bedlow died.

Charles C. Keeler, a lawyer, is an uncle of Miss Stillwell. He also boards in the West Ninety-second street house in New York. He filed the will for probate in the Surrogate's office.

Lawyers Deyo, Duer & Bauerdorff have filed objections to its probate on behalf of Mrs. Bedlow. They allege mental incapacity and undue influence.

They have also brought an action to set aside several transfers of real estate made by Mr. Bedlow to Miss Stillwell.

Mr. Bedlow used to spend most of his time at the Union League Club. He was a member of the family from whom Bedloe's Island was named, and at the time the Government was meditating taking the island and converting it into a landing place for imigrants he used to write letters to the papers protesting against what he called the misspelling of the name Bedlow. The home of the family for years in this city was at the corner of East Fifth street and Park avenue in the house that now stands on Park avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets.

Piscataway's Nominee for Assembly.

The Democrats of the First Assembly district of Middlesex county met at Dunellen yesterday and nominated John Woodhull Beekman, city attorney of Perth Amboy, for Assembly.

The Hon. James E. Martine of this city, Senator Robert Adrain, Mr. Beekman, and others, made stirring addresses at the convention. There was great enthusiasm.

In the evening a Democratic Tariff Reform club was organized. It is to be made permanent. The Hon. Mr. Martine, one of the organizers, made another characteristic and rousing speech.

—Opening of the new billiard parlors at Laing's Hotel, to-night.

—The handsome silver carriage that took the beauty prize at Elizabeth will be on exhibition at Alert hose house this and to-morrow evenings. All the people are invited to call and see it.

—The big signboard, 40 feet long, and 4 feet high that bore the legend "People's Market" over Clifton's store, on Park avenue at the head North, blew over at 2 o'clock this afternoon, crashed to the sidewalk, and narrowly escaped crushing a number of children.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

DILTS AGAINST BERGEN.

(SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.)

SOMERVILLE, OCT. 13—George A. Dilts, of Raritan, was nominated by the Republican convention here to-day, for assemblyman. He is a very popular young man, but even his most enthusiastic political friends do not think he can defeat James J. Bergen.

THAT SANDFORD AVENUE RETREAT.

It is to be Re-Established Elsewhere as a Credit to the City and the State.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—As one who takes a deep interest in the subject of mental abberration, I have read closely the various communications to THE PRESS concerning the Sandford avenue institution and your comments thereon. The latter, especially those in yesterday's issue, are written in such a fair and rational spirit that it is evident that your own head is still clear and level and that you stand in no need of this particular medical treatment.

You are quite right (as usual) in supposing that the Retreat "stood entirely by itself" when the house was secured and first occupied. I am informed that this occupancy was never intended to be other than temporary and that negotiations are now pending which, if consummated, will result in the establishment of an institution which will be a credit to Plainfield and to the State.

The demand, made by one of the complaining neighbors, that the present place be broken up "at once", seems to me to be, not only irrational in itself, but unjust, also, to the reputable and efficient physicians who are interested in its management. There are some things which cannot be done "at once."

There are some things, also, which need not be done at all. For instance, no neighboring residents are compelled to look at the windows. It they will turn their eyes in another direction, (which would seem to be the humane course,) their nerves will not be rasped by the things which they see, or think they see, behind the seemingly cruel, but really kind, bars. It is impossible, at times, to close our ears to unpleasant sounds, but it is quite practicable, by the exercise of a little will power, to avoid unpleasant sights.

The arrival of winter and the season of closed doors and windows will give relief to the residents of Sandford avenue; and the arrival of spring, "when the robins nest again", will bring other sights and sounds to Brookside.

I will smile, just a little, if the family which shall occupy the house in question, next year, shall be one possessing some "terrible infants", a few Peck's Bad Boys, a number of wandering chickens, a clanging piano and a chaotic corneti-t! Then will I expect to see Dr. Cooley petitioned to return and bring back his mysterious patients. I have lived next to such a family as I have depicted, and residence adjoining, yea, an asylum were preferable.

By the way, I am informed that since the publication of the complaints in THE PRESS, applications have been received from parties outside of the city who only learned of the existence of the institution through the complaints. Hence the complainants and THE PRESS were, unwittingly, doing a good work. It shows the far-reaching lines of THE PRESS, and demonstrates its worth as an advertising medium. I suggest that you send a bill to the management for services rendered!

This communication is written "with malice toward none and with charity to all." I sympathize, to an extent, with the unfortunate fellow-beings whose illness has taken the special form of those who are under treatment at Brookside. "The cure of the human mind", says Grotius, "is the noblest branch of medicine", and I bespeak for the physicians who are devoting themselves to this cure, (and I ask it without their knowledge) the kindly consideration of the community.

FAIR PLAY.

Union County Political Gossip.

[From The New York World.]

Ex-Assemblyman Ulrich, of Plainfield, said that the Republicans would, he thought, fully hold their own in Union county this year. The Democrats would probably get two members of the Assembly, and the Republicans one. The district lines were built that way by the last Legislature.

Ex-Assemblyman Foster M. Voorhees, who has been somewhat talked of for Freeholder-at-Large in Union county, said a day or two ago that he would on no account consent to be a candidate for the place. It was another Elizabeth man who told that Mr. Voorhees would almost certainly be the next Republican candidate for Senator from Union county. When asked about this, Mr. Voorhees looked over and under his glasses and said that he had an appointment at court in a case in which he was deeply interested.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

—The first session of the Bible normal class was held last evening in the parlors of the First Baptist church. It was an interesting sight to see forty persons grouped about the tables, with note books and Bibles, engaged in the study of God's Word. This class will meet every Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and every one in the city interested in Bible study will be welcome.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

STATE PRISON THEIR LOT.

For Tricing up Old John Toms These Two Villians Soon Will Suffer—The Case So Much Against Them They Both Plead Guilty.

A bleak, dreary, October day. The wind sighs and whistles around the grim old building known as the Somerset county court-house, where so many criminals have been placed before the bar to answer the question Guilty or Not Guilty. In the same old cheerless building, murderers have received the sentence that compels them to pass the remainder of their days in durance vile, as an atonement for most atrocious crimes. The same old smoke-dimmed walls have looked down upon crooks of every degree; and on every court day, as the noon hour approaches the same old delightful odors assail the nostrils of the court attaches and lawyers, telling them of the delicious brands being cooked below for the gratification of the individuals kept there against their will. This old place has been wisely termed by the wits of the town "The Castle", and truly it is such; but in name only, as the walls do not offer the resistance as did castles of ye olden time, and scarcely a year passes, that some well-kept, well-fed prisioner does not attempt to break through; attempt, I say, because very seldom does such an attempt prove successful, owing to the vigilance displayed by the most efficient Deputy.

It is a bleak and chilly October day, this 12th of October. An unusually large number of loungers have left their warm homes to see and hear the proceeding's in the case of the State against Cook and Walker, the robbers and assaulters of old man Toms. Precisely as the hands of the big clock points to the hour of ten, the pompous and sleek court-crier arises from his position of dignity, and opens the court with "Hear ye, Hear ye". The Sheriff brings in the two prisoners. W. V. Steel of Plainfield, takes the prosecutor's chair, and the greatest and most interesting trial in the September term has begun.

John Walker is called to the bar; and being asked if he has anything to say, retracts his plea of a month ago, and pleads guilty to both indictments—that of robbery and that of assault with intent to kill. He is at once taken below, and his accomplice in crime, Francis Cook, is asked the same question.

Cook, who pleaded guilty to the indictment for robbery at the same time that Walker did, is still of his old mind in regard to the second count. Therefore Judge Bartine asks him who is his counsel; Cook replies that last Friday he received a letter from Senator Adrain, who promised surely to be present. While he is talking a messenger comes in and hands the Court a telegram, which the Judge reads in a slow and impressive manner to the prisoner.

"In matter of the State against Cook, do not sentence him until you receive a letter which I have sent by special messenger and which will reach you at about 11 o'clock. Robert Adrain."

So even Mr. Adrain thinks that Cook will plead guilty to both indictments, and the Judge tells him so, but the prisoner is obdurate and demands a trial. He is ready—he says.—All he wants is counsel, and on Judge Bartine appointing John French, whose knowlege of and ability in criminal cases, is well-known, the wheels of justice begin to grind. The jury of "true and tried" men being drawn, the prosecutor arises and addresses the jury to the effect that the State had but one thing to prove, and that is that the intent was within the breast of Cook to kill old man Toms when he bound him and gagged him, and then told him he would give him a pillow so he could die easy.

Mr. Steel's address was short, but to the point. The first witness called for the State was John Toms, who is a little, dried up, wizzled old man, with an impediment in his speech. He told the harrowing story of his torture in a brief but touching manner. The story has been told in these columns before, but to recall it fully the statement of Toms is given in his own words:

"On January 17, last, I was working for Mrs. Kilpatrick, who was living on Harrison street, New Brunswick, while I lived at the country house about two miles outside the city, taking care of it. On that day Cook and Walker came into the house; after talking with me a few minutes, Cook grabbed me by the throat and threw me over backwards, while Walker tied my feet with a rope they had brought with them. I knew what they were after; and taking all the money I had out of my pocket, I laid it on the table. They counted it. The amount was $57.80. I told then I had no more Then Cook carried me upstairs; and, taking me into an inner room or closet, bound as I was, pointed a pistol at my head and said: 'John' if you have anything to say, say it, for I am going to blow out your brains.' He then threw me on a mattress; and, tying my hands behind me, drew the rope over some hooks in the wall, then he gagged me, and went out and fastened the door. I remained there fifty-one hours without food or drink, until I was found by Mr. Stevenson and Miss Kilpatrick. I was laid up five months, and have not recovered yet."

The two witnesses, Mr. Stevenson and Miss Kilpatrick, next testified to the finding of Toms and the condition he was in at the time. Miss Kilpatrick is a vivacious, pretty girl of eighteen summers, and plainly showed her vexation when Mr. Frech told her, to answer his questions, and not surmise anything.

Dr. Baldwin testified to his treatment of Toms at the time, and the condition he was in. Detective Charles Oliver, a New Brunswick Hawkshaw, told of the manner of the men's capture; and the case was closed for the State by James Carlton testifying to the time Cook and Walker left New Brunswick that day, it having been on the 1:48 train.

While the wheels of justice grind exceeding fine, still they grind exceeding slow. Therefore a recess was taken for dinner.

When court was again opened, Mr. Frech arose and on the part of the defendant said that he had talked with Cook during the noon hour, and that he was willing to plead guilty to atrocious assault if the court would accept that plea.

The State and the Court both being willing, Cook retracted his former plea, and pleaded guilty to both indictments. The Jury was discharged, and Cook was taken again to his cell.

So endeth the second act in this melodrama of life. The third act will be presented Friday, when both Cook and Walker will receive their sentences. The most severe sentence in this State for robbery of person is fifteen years, and it is reasonable to suppose that these men will receive the full penalty on both counts.

DUNELLEN DOINGS.

Interesting Items from a Thriving Borough, by Our Own Correspondent.

Dunellen has a new paper called The Record. It is published by the Rev. Mr. Kinsey, and is confined mostly to church news.

A harvest-home praise service was held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, and the edifice was beautifully decorated with the fruits of the season. The singing by the choir was especially creditable.

The meetings held by the temperance people Sunday afternoons have been suspended for an indefinite length of time. The good people propose holding a union meeting in one of the four churches hereafter. Next Sunday night it will be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

The electric light company purpose putting in steam power to run their dynamo. It is to be hoped that they will soon do so, as the lights are on some nights quite below the standard. Doctor Brakely has had several lights put in his drug store which seem to be much better than the street lamps, and add greatly to the appearance of his well-equipped establishment.

Wm. M. Rider has purchased a number of vacant lots adjoining his residence on Prospect avenue, and has finished laying a stone sidewalk in front of them. This makes the walk on that avenue the best in Dunellen. Mr. Rider is also rebuilding his handsome residence, and when finished it will rank among the finest in the town.

At the recent annual business meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term.

President—Rev. Mr. Martine.
Vice-president—Miss Ella Boice.
Secretary—Miss Maud Benton.
Treasurer—W. J. Hamilton, jr.

The society will hold their fifth anniversary next Thursday evening at the Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. Preston Searle will address the meeting. Many other societies have been invited, and a large company is expected to be present.

No Boys Around the Engine Houses.

The attention of officers and members of the various companies of the Plainfield department has been called to section 31 of an ordinance to establish, regulate and control a fire department in the city of Plainfield as follows:

No person or persons except officers and members of the department shall at any time enter the houses of the department, except the Mayor of the city, members of the Common Council and visitors accompanied by members, or any police officer in the proper discharge of his duty, and no boys shall be permitted in any house of the department, or to have any access whatever to the apparatus.

By order of the board of engineers, chief Doane has enjoined the foremen and assistant foremen to enforce strictly the provisions of this section.

Tappen Loves Her and Wants Her Back.

George Tappen, who mourns the absence of a wife, of whom the Rev. Comer is popularly supposed to be enamoured, is quoted as saying that he still loves his fickle consort, and that he desires to forgive her and have her return to him, but that she refuses to do so. All of his family troubles—he says—have been caused by Comer, who is at last to be arrested on complaint of the injured husband to-day.

Ex-Assessor Chamberlain Drops Dead.

A REPLY TO THE COUNCIL.

Secretary Neal Makes a Dignified Response to the Report of the Borough Committee.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The reply of the Borough Council to the protest submitted by "certain persons signing themselves the Executive Committee of the Democratic Party of North Plainfield" seeks to evade the issue already presented.

Notwithstanding the Council's assertion to the contrary, the communication addressed to "this Honorable Body", the Borough Council, was submitted solely for the purpose of protesting against its action in assuming a function belonging by universal and time-honored practice to each of the great political parties; and the writer distinctly repudiates as absolutely unfounded the insinuation that this protest emanated from or was instigated by any "individual" seeking to "vent his spleen by his failure to obtain an office which he seeks".

Under the law, and as the Borough Council is at present constituted, the Democrats of North Plainfield are well aware that they can make no legal demand on the Council to appoint their nominees to the Board of Registry and Elections. But in accordance with the spirit and manifest intent of the law, common political courtesy and universal party practice should have led the Council either to accept and appoint the persons selected, or, when in the opinion of the Council there were found to be legal or other substantial reasons for rejecting any of such nominees, to request the submission of other names from which appointments could be made. The persons recommended by the Democratic Executive Committee of North Plainfield were believed to be entirely acceptable to the party generally, and were selected two from each election district as the same were at the time supposed to exist or to have been determined on by the Council. The present fantastic boundary line between the districts was then unknown, and was not defined until after the Board of Registry and Elections had been appointed. The Democratic party everywhere advocates the principle of home rule: and the Democrats of North Plainfield certainly agree with the Council that the members of the Elections Board should be chosen from their respective districts. Had the Council informed the Democratic Executive Committee of the Borough that three of its nominees were from one district, the error would gladly have been corrected; and had the Council also made known its righteous indignation at the selection of a Democrat who had guarded the rights of his party too faithfully at a former election not soon to be forgotten by "this Honorable Body", the Borough Council, the aforesaid Democrat would undoubtedly have given place to any other gentleman satisfactory to the party generally. Had the Council taken this course, they would have acted with some regard for the rights of their opponents. But instead of doing so, they, a strictly partisan body, took upon themselves to say who were members in good standing of the Democratic party of the Borough, and proceeded forthwith to appoint candidates of their own selection, without, as the writer is informed, even the knowledge or consent of those so appointed.

Right here is presented the issue which the Council seeks to evade. Let it be distinctly understood that the Democratic party of North Plainfield, either directly or through its duly accredited representatives, claims the right to say who shall be qualified to guard its rights at the ballot box, and most emphatically declines to alienate this inherent right to its political adversaries. The question at issue is not so much the question as to who shall be selected as the representatives of the Democratic party at the polls, but by whom those representatives shall be selected: whether they shall be selected by those whose interests they are to guard, or whether they shall be selected by their party's political antagonists. The principle here involved is of vital importance to each political party; and it is to be hoped that no Democrat of North Plainfield will so far forget his political teachings as to aid and abet the injury perpetrated upon his party by "this Honorable Body", the truly Republican Council of North Plainfield.

GEO. H. NEAL,
Secretary of the Democratic Executive Committee of North Plainfield.
North Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 12, 1891.

TWO OF THE CHILDREN DEAD.

Fatal Result of the Petroleum Explosion at Martinville.

Further details have just been received of the shocking casualty at the Lupo farm at Martinville, which was reported exclusively in these columns yesterday.

It seems that Angelo Lupo's thirteen-year-old son Joseph was out whitewashing the grain house. The edge of his brush was uneven, and he singed it off with a lighted match. He threw the blazing bit of wood aside, and it fell into an open barrel of petroleum. The explosion that instantly followed scattered the blazing fluid over two-year old James Lupo and eleven-year-old Samuel, who were standing some distance away. They were so terribly burned that they died last night in great agony. Joseph, though he inhaled the flames, still lives, and may recover.

A CRASH ON THE JERSEY CENTRAL.

Two Trains Brought to a Sudden Stop by a Mass of Lumber on the Track at Bound Brook.

A terrible accident, with wholesale loss of life, was narrowly averted on the Jersey Central railway a half-mile west of Bound Brook at about 6 o'clock last evening.

Peter Cramer was hauling big 60-foot timbers for the construction of the New Port Reading railway. His wagon got stuck on the crossing, and he saw the headlight of an approaching train he unhitched his horses and led them away. Train No. 92, engineered by Bill Aten, which leaves Plainfield for Somerville at 5:32, crashed into the heavy mass of lumber with force sufficient to throw it over to the next track, directly in the path of the fast-flying Blue Line Washington express, drawn by lomotive 882. The Blue Line locomotive struck the timbers endwise, and had it been going at full speed must have been forced to turn a complete somersault. But the engineer saw the obstruction in time to reduce his speed one-half, else the entire train must have been piled up in a mass of wreckage, and many passengers injured and killed. The fact that the train had had to stop at Bound Brook and had not yet gained full headway is why it was under such excellent control. As it was, the locomotive was badly wrecked, and could not go on. Another was substituted. The locomotive of the Somerville train also was considerably damaged, but was able to proceed. Everybody was given a wretched shaking-up, but no one was seriously hurt.

Plainfield's Sorrow for Erin's Loss.

The resolution adopted by the Democrats of the Fourth ward at their primary, Saturday evening, and referred to in these columns last evening, was crowded out of yesterday's issue. It is given below:

Resolved, That the sad intelligence brought to us of the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, fills our hearts with grief and sympathy. Grief that he has been stricken down in his career of usefulness and earnest and honest endeavor to establish the true Democratic principle of Home Rule as relates to struggling and suffering Ireland, which for long years has been dominated over and oppressed by British tyranny and exaction. Sympathy for a gallant people who in his death have lost a true patriot, an honest counselor, a glorious leader. Sympathy and sorrow are ours that he should be overtaken by death's summons at a time when the fruits of his well-directed efforts were about to be gathered.

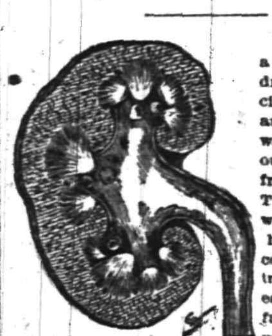
While the black pall hangs heavily, and while the clouds are black and sorrowful, yet the pleasant memory of his self-sacrifice and devotion to the cause of humanity, form a golden lining that lightens our affliction and dries our tears.

The Army Wants a Winter Barracks.

The local branch of the Salvation Army are looking for new headquarters. The Reform Club people have given them notice to get out. The club has for nine months given the army shelter at a very nominal rental, and as it wants its hall for other purposes is forced to get rid of its tenants. It heartily indorses the work of the army, and is sure that another barracks may easily be found.

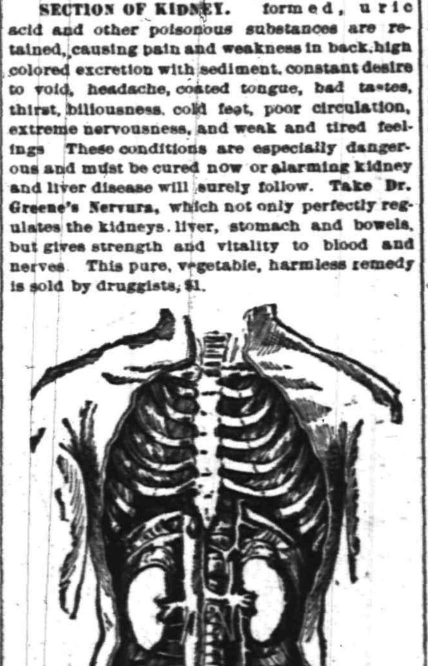
OUR KIDNEYS.

All Ought to Know These Facts.



SECTION OF KIDNEY.

Our kidneys act like the drains under cities, to collect and carry away waste or poisonous materials from the body. The nerves which control them often become weakened, irritated, diseased. Then the function is imperfectly performed, uric acid and other poisonous substances are retained, causing pain and weakness in back, high colored excretion with sediment, constant desire to void, headache, coated tongue, bad tastes, thirst, biliousness, cold feet, poor circulation, extreme nervousness, and weak and tired feelings These conditions are especially dangerous and must be cured now or alarming kidney and liver disease will surely follow. Take Dr. Greene's Nervura, which not only perfectly regulates the kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels, but gives strength and vitality to blood and nerves This pure, vegetable, harmless remedy is sold by druggists, $1.



THE KIDNEYS IN POSITION.

"I have had considerable trouble for the last six years with my kidneys. At times I could do no work. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura. To my surprise, it gave me great relief. I have used two bottles and am now at work the same as ever. HENRY BROWN,

IN THE FAR NORTH.

How the Boundary of Alaska Has Been Marked.

The Dividing Line Between American and British Possessions—Tall Grasses and Berries Found Far North of the Arctic Circle.

In their long stay among the wilds of Alaska and on their long journeys through a practically unknown land, the members of the boundary survey party saw and heard many things of interest which are yet to be related. Dr. Harry N. Kierulff, the young surgeon of the party, made the country, its people and their customs his particular study, and took many photographic views of what he observed.

"We began the building of our main camp about August 12, 1889," said Dr. Kierulff to a San Francisco Chronicle reporter, "and we soon had a comfortable house for the winter built of stout logs, tightly roofed and partitioned into five rooms. We called it Camp Colonna. It was located about half a mile over the boundary line on British territory. When we started home on July 14, 1890, we turned the camp over to the English missionary, Wallace, who had moved with the traders. He occupies the camp as a dwelling house, and has put up a school building near by and begun work on a chapel.

"When the work of tracing and establishing the boundary was completed the party set up a monument of rough stones, about twelve feet high, as a visible mark of the dividing line between American and British possessions. Of course there is a check on this in the shape of a securely concealed stone, properly marked, at the head of the base line, near the main station. When we were about to break camp it occurred to me that no photograph of the monument had been taken, so I took a camera up and sighted it and then climbed on top of the rocks and had a curious native 'shoot' the machine.

"My experience with Alaskan winters was rather disappointing. The greatest degree of cold we experienced was 50 degrees below zero, and that was when Mr. Turner extended his trip north along the boundary line to the Arctic sea. From what traders and missionaries told us of previous years it would seem that the winters of 1889, 1890 and 1891 were exceptionally mild.

"Even at the low temperature of this region the growth of vegetation is surprisingly rapid, but as there are only three months of growing weather this can be easily accounted for. I found grasses six feet high along the Yukon and Porcupine lowlands, a more remarkable fact when you consider that the Porcupine extends many miles above the Arctic circle. There were also salmon berries, blueberries, currants and raspberries in profusion and hundreds of acres of cranberries. Of the latter fruit the Indians store large quantities for winter food.

"Up the great Yukon I found a 'calor' of gold at nearly every spot I examined, but nowhere was there any indication of the metal in paying quantities. There may be plenty of gold there, but it will take much capital and labor to mine it. I was reliably informed that the season among the miners had been unusually profitable.

"Of what was known as Fort Yukon we could find only a part of what seemed to have been the foundation of a fireplace. I found among the ruins the weather vane which was placed in the old fort at the time of its erection, two hundred years ago. It is in the shape of a rooster and is carved out of oak.

"The country seems to be inexhaustibly supplied with timber. The tremendous freshets of early spring carry down to the coast millions upon millions of feet of timber, most of it consisting of sound, straight trunks. Last spring the Yukon was not navigable for some time because of the vast quantities of driftwood that it carried. For several days the river was solidly blocked."

The Human Family.

Of the entire human race, 500,000,000 are well clothed, that is, they wear garments of some kind; 250,000,000 habitually go naked, and 700,000,000 only cover parts of the body; 500,000,000 live in houses, 700,000,000 in huts and caves and 250,000,000 virtually have no shelter.

The Latest Fashion.

Young Lady (familiar with museum collections)—What are those South Sea Island slaughter clubs for?

Dealer (blandly)—Those are parasol handles.—N. Y. Weekly.

The Missis Was Wrong.

Mary—The missis says that you were drunk last night.

Pat—She's wrong. Sure it's whisky that was drunk.—Jury.

A Little Bit Broad.

May—What would you do if you had a complexion like mine?

Blanche—Take the black veil.—Truth.

The Difference.

Miss Post—I suppose you find our society very different from that in the west.

Mr. Rancher—I have noticed one difference. Out there we shoot our enemies, and here you cut your acquaintances.—Truth.

Wanted Amusement.

Fat Lady (in the park)—I am going to ride on one of the donkeys, and I'll pay for one for you if you like to accompany me.

Small Boy—Thankee, mum, but I'd rather sit here an' laugh.—Good News.

Good Reason.

Tramp—Please, sir, give me a quarter?

Lawyer Howe—A quarter? Why do you ask me for a quarter?

Tramp—Because I didn't like to ask you for half a dollar, for fear you wouldn't give it to me.—N. Y. Heardld.

THE ROSE AND THE THORN.

'Tis sweet, indeed, to bask in fragrant shades,
Or flirt with Doris gayly in the sun;
But, oh! how tough to turn to work again
On that blue day when the vacation's done!
—Puck.

They Can't See the Reason.

Clara—I don't see why children couldn't be born ten years old.

Maud—It would be agreeable, and I don't see why girls couldn't be born married.—Jury.

An Expensive Recreation.

Jinks—Going to camp out this year?

Winks—No. Costs too much.

Jinks—Where's the cost?

Winks—Doctors' bills.—N. Y. Weekly.

Put to the Test.

He—By Jove, I wish I could prove the depth of my affection for you!

She—You might break your engagement with Miss Brown as a start.—Life.

Fair Warning.

Poet (in newspaper office)—Have you an efficient staff?

Editor—Perhaps not; but I have a very effective club.—Puck.

Reasoning from Analogy.

Mother—Now, child, what makes you think Susan steals the sugar?

Son—Cos I heard pa tell her that her lips tasted awful sweet.—Once a Week.

HOEY'S SUCCESSOR

Henry Sanford Now President of the Adams Express Co.

THE CORPORATION IS SOLVENT.

Frederick Lovejoy of New York Made Vice-President in Spooner's Place.

A Public Statement to be Made by the Company—The Deposed Officers Will Not be Prosecuted Criminally—Hoey's Remarkable Career—Connected With the Company for Over 40 Years—His Unique Home at Hollywood, N. J.—His Eccentricity of Dress.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Wall street is fairly sizzling over the disclosures made yesterday in the cases of President Hoey and Vice-President Spooner, the deposed officers of the Adams Express Company.

At a meeting of the directors yesterday afternoon Henry Sanford, of Bridgeport, Conn., who has been largely instrumental in ferreting out the charges against Mr. Hoey and Mr. Spooner, was elected president in place of Mr. Hoey, and Frederick Lovejoy, of this city, was chosen vice-president in place of Clapp Spooner.

President Hoey had been with the company for 40 years, and for three years had been its president. Vice-President Spooner had also been with the company for many years. He is a millionaire and lives in Bridgeport, Conn. So far as the public knew, there had never been a shadow of suspicion against the management of the Adams Express Company, which has long been regarded as one of the most powerful and best managed corporations in existence.

The alleged malfeasance in office for which President Hoey was removed and Vice-President Spooner allowed to resign was the sale by the two officers and others of the Boston Despatch Express Company and also of the Kinsley Express Company to the Adams Express Company for $800,000.

Of this amount $200,000 is said to have been the actual value of the property transferred, and the other $600,000 was profit, which, it is alleged, was divided among the men who made the deal. President Hoey's share of the profits, it is said, was $110,000.

He is also charged with making the purchase of the property of the two minor companies against the advice and without the consent of the manager and directors of the Adams Express Company.

The dethroned officers will not be prosecuted criminally, but the company will bring civil action against them to recover the money they received as profit on the alleged deal.

Hoey's History.

John Hoey was born in Ireland sixty-six years ago, and came to this country when but a small boy. He knocked about New York for several years, and when a newsboy conceived the bright idea of adding to his sales by rowing out to the steamers before they landed.

His enterprise attracted the attention of William B. Dinsmore, who was then in charge of the New York office of the Adams Express. Alvin Adams, of Boston, had started the concern two years before, and their only line ran from Boston to New York.

Hoey was employed as porter at the princely compensation of $1.50 per week.

Gradually, as the time passed on, Hoey came steadily to the front. He ran a branch of his own from Washington south, which he called Hoey's Charleston Express. This was consolidated with the Adams Company in 1854, and Mr. Hoey received a number of shares of stock and the post of general manager in the company.

Adams, Dinsmore, Sanford and Hoey remained cordial friends and business associates from that time on. Hoey is the only one now living, the others having died in harness. Adams was the first president of the company, and continued so until his death in 1857, when Dinsmore, the vice-president, succeeded him, Sanford coming on from Washington to take Dinsmore's place. Sanford died in 1882, and Mr. Hoey was chosen in his stead, becoming president in 1888, a month after the death of Mr. Dinsmore.

The name of John Hoey will always be associated with that of two enterprises, the Adams Express Company and Hollywood. Both of these he has seen grow to great proportions.

His Home at Hollywood.

Just after the war Mr. Hoey went to Hollywood, which lies just west of Long Branch, and built himself a plain, substantial house there. At Hollywood he enjoyed his leisure hours, and was never so happy as when roaming around the place looking after the flowers and plants. Although he had been a poor boy, with no educational advantages, Mr. Hoey soon developed into a landscape gardener and architect whose work was well worth seeing.

In 1879 he sold his house in New York and made Hollywood his permanent home. As soon as he did so, Mr. Hoey put into practice what had been his dream for years, the project of turning Hollywood into the most beautiful park along the coast. For the time being his greenhouses were neglected, and he devoted himself to drawing designs for a dozen houses. When they were completed, it was the unanimous opinion that they were finer than any others in New Jersey, but people wondered where the money came from. An army of men was working there all through one summer, laying out roads, grading, etc., and it is said by those in a position to know that his expenses frequently reached $1,000 a day.

It was what he claimed it to be, the most unique place in America. Every summer he introduced some original feature. For example, five seasons ago he kept the cottages open all winter. A swimming tank was built 300 yards from the sea and supplied with fresh sea water through pipes. In addition to this he had sun parlors, supplied with divans, Turkish rugs, and all the accessories that could be thought of that would tend to make life pleasant.

It was a matter of remark at Hollywood that the worst dressed and most disreputable man about the place was the owner of all this magnificence. He was frequently taken for a servant, but never resented it, only smiling grimly and passing on. Mr. Hoey's family consists of three sons and a daughter, the latter being the wife of Charles R. Hone. William Hoey is general superintendent of the Adams Express Company, Frederick Hoey manages Hollywood Park, and the third son, John S., was formerly an actor, but at present is doing nothing.

The directors, after a full investigation of the affairs of the company, claim that its solvency is in no way impaired, despite its heavy losses. The directors have taken the most vigorous action in the interest of the stockholders, and are now preparing to make a public statement, which will disclose the actual financial condition of the company.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

A GIRL INCENDIARY.

She Tried to Burn a House Because of Separation from a Friend.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Elizabeth Darby, a trained nurse, aged 21 years, is under arrest at Media, Pa., charged with setting fire to the residence of Mrs. Catherine S. Latham at Rosemont, Pa. Miss Darby, who is connected with one of the Philadelphia hospitals, was on Friday last sent to Rosemont to nurse an invalid sister of Mrs. Latham.

On Saturday afternoon and night, several attempts were made to set the house on fire. In each case the fire was extinguished before any material damage had been done. Suspicion rested on Miss Darby, and she was arrested.

Yesterday she confessed her guilt. She said she could not bear separation from a very dear friend who was also a nurse in Philadelphia, and she hoped by destroying Mrs. Latham's house she would secure her return to Philadelphia.

The lives of half a dozen people were endangered by her attempted crime.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION.

An Infant Sent to Prison With Its Mother—Can the Keeper Receive It?

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Oct. 14.—At Sandy Hill yesterday, Mrs. Alice Harvey, of this city, was sentenced to the Albany Penitentiary for three years on her plea of guilty of assault in the first degree on Patrick Garrigan, whom she accused of drowning her husband in Lake Champlain about three weeks ago.

A feature of this case is that Mrs. Harvey has an infant under one year of age. The Court directed the Sheriff to take the child with the mother to the penitentiary.

That raises an interesting question. Can the keeper of a prison receive within its walls a person not under sentence, even if that person is the infant child of a convict mother born in freedom and innocent of any crime?

The Bank Wreckers in Court.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 14.—During the examination of grand jurors before Judge Fursman, yesterday, touching their qualifications to sit upon the cases of James E. Ostrander and Matthew T. Trumpbour, the bank wreckers, the prisoners were brought into court, and seated beside their counsel. The courtroom was crowded with people anxious to get a look at the prisoners. No great change was noticeable in their appearance and, the excitement having died away, the prisoners do not now fear violence. Out of 20 jurors all but three were accepted and sworn. Sands Haviland, a prominent fruit grower of Ulster County, was made foreman.

Secretary Tracy at Bethlehem.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 14.—Secretary Tracy and Commodore Filger, of the Bureau of Ordnance, made an official visit to the Ordnance Department of the Bethlehem Iron Company yesterday. They witnessed the pouring of a hundred and eighty ton casting which is the largest ever made in this country. They also witnessed the forging of the first thirteen inch gun made by the Bethlehem Iron Company. Armor plates were also forged. The visitors expressed themselves highly gratified with the progress made on the four million dollar contract.

New Jersey and the World's Fair.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 14.—The New Jersey National World's Fair Commissioners met the State Commissioners yesterday. It was decided that the New Jersey Commissioners shall go to Chicago in three weeks to arrange for space. In the interval the Commissioners will sit in Paterson, Jersey City and Newark, to confer with the manufacturers as to the exhibits of their products and the amount of space that they will require, so that the Commissioners will secure enough space for the proper presentation of the New Jersey industries.

Secretary Halford No Better.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The condition of private Secretary Halford does not show the improvement hoped for by his friends and it is causing them some anxiety.

ON LAND AND SEA

Great Damage Done by the Heavy Gales.

MANY STEAMSHIPS OVERDUE.

Numerous Wrecks Along the New Jersey and New England Coasts.

Fears Entertained for Several Vessels—The Atlanta Thought to Have Weathered the Storm—Washouts at Asbury Park—The Camden & Atlantic Railroad Submerged—Heavy Damage at Seabright—Sufferings of Passengers on Recently Arrived Steamers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The storm of the past three days has caused widespread damage. Reports are coming in hourly of disasters on sea and land caused by wind and rain. The severest sufferers by the hurricane are the transatlantic steamships. The Alaska from Liverpool; Polynesia, from Stettin, and the City of Para, from Colon, arrived yesterday after rough and tempestuous voyages.

There are nearly a dozen ocean liners overdue, among them being the Ethiopia, from Glasgow and Moville; Alsatia from Gibraltar; City of Washington, from Havana; Normandie, from Liverpool; Saale, from Bremen; Finance, from St Thomas; Persian Monarch, from London; and Spain from London. They should have arrived yesterday.

The Alaska reported meeting the cyclone in all its fury, but no damage was done to the vessel except the breaking of a coupling of the machinery while off the banks of Newfoundland, which compelled a delay of four hours. The assistant purser had two ribs broken by being knocked down by a wave which struck the ship. Half a dozen of the passengers sustained severe bruises about the heads by being thrown against settees, tables and bunks, while the storm raged.

The steamship Polynesia, from Stettin, carried only steerage passengers, and their sufferings affected even the stony-hearted officers. The ship's surgeon worked hard to give them relief.

The Stonington line's sidewheel steamer Connecticut is disabled at City Island. She will be towed to New York to-day by four tugs, which were sent to her assistance yesterday afternoon by the company. The steamboat left this city at 5 o'clock on Monday night, carrying 300 passengers. While off City Island the piston rod snapped. The vessel could not proceed, and anchors were dropped to prevent here from drifting. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning the Massachusetts of the same line passed in on her way to this city. She was signaled, and went alongside the Connecticut and took off her passengers. They were forwarded to their destinations last night by the Massachusetts.

IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The Great Storm Causes Many Wrecks—Damage Along the Coast.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Oct. 14.—The Northeast gale continues and is raging furiously to-day. No mail has reached this place since Saturday, steamers being unable to make the run. A large number of vessels are anchored here. further disasters are reported.

Schooner Mary E. Oliver, Kimball, of and from Georgetown, Me., for New York sprung aleak while off Nausett, Cape Cod, on the 11th inst., but by keeping the pumps going constantly she was able to reach here where she sank. The captain and crew escaped. The Oliver lies in six fathoms of water in the middle of the harbor.

Schooner Magnolia, Greenlaw, of and from Booths Bay, for New York, with a cargo of pickled herring anchored Monday night, but yesterday morning both chains parted during the gale and she was beached on the east side of the harbor. She was afterwards floated and appeared to be all right.

Schooner Montezuma, of Beverlym Gott, Bangor, for New York, with a cargo of slate, encountered the gale on Nantucket Shoals. Lost anchors, severed sails and boat. She ran ashore at Edgarton, where she now lies. She will probably be floated without much difficulty.

ALONG THE JERSEY COAST.

Great Damage by the Storm—Many Cottages Ruined and Traffic Delayed.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 14.—The storm has done great damage along the Northern New Jersey coast. At Asbury-port the surf swept up under the board walk and tore out some piles and washed away parts of the beach. Between Long Branch and Seabright the surf made several breaks over into Ocean avenue, carrying all sorts of debris over into the roadway.

At Seabright the most damage was done. Several cottages and many bathing houses were badly torn and undermined by the strong surf. The railroad tracks at the depot were under water and traffic was more or less delayed.

Damage at Pleasantville, N. J.

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., Oct. 14.—Since daylight yesterday morning a furious northeast storm has been raging with unabated force. Considerable damage has been done to sailing crafts at anchor in the bay. Several thousand marsh hens have been killed during the high tides the last two days. The Camden & Atlantic Railroad ran a good part of their trains over the West Jersey yesterday, as the Camden & Atlantic tracks, about a mile and a half this side of Atlantic City, have been under water during the high tides. Exposed property has suffered considerably around the bay front.

The Atlanta All Right, Probably.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Captain Erben, Commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, has received a telegram from Delaware Breakwater to the effect that the U. S. cruiser Atlanta, for which grave fears had been entertained had been seen. He is of the opinion that the Atlanta had kept well out to sea owing to rough weather, and has no fears for her safety.

The Postmaster-General a Sufferer.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Oct. 14.—Heavy northeast storm tides yesterday carried away the front brick wall of Postmaster-General Wanamaker's Cape May Point cottage yard, and with it three feet of beach front. There is some loss of shore line at other places between jetties.

ITALIANS DOING FOR THEMSELVES.

Having No Minister in This Country, the New York Commerce Chamber Acts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The recall of Baron Fava, the Italian Minister to this country, on account of the New Orleans affair, has left the interests of Italy in the United States in a peculiar condition, the present Charge d'Affairs in Washington not being invested with the powers of a Minister, and the Italian citizens resident of this country, feeling the necessity for representation of their interests, have taken matters in their own hands.

Yesterday the president of the Italian Chamber of Commerce in New York called on Secretary Rusk, and it is reported that his visit was in connection with negotiations looking to the raising of the Italian embargo on American pork. It is understood that these negotiations have been in progress for some time, and that they are in such a state that promulgation of the raising of the embargo will be announced shortly.

Central American War Probable.

PANAMA, Oct. 14.—Advices received here from San Jose de Costa Rica report that war is likely to break out in the near future between Salvador and Guatemala on the one hand, and Nicaragua and Honduras on the other. It is also said that Guatemala has sent troops to the Salvadorian frontier. The official relations between Guatemala and Salvador have been very unsatisfactory during the last twelve months. The two countries find it difficult to maintain peace, although the two governments are on friendly terms with each other, owing to their despotic policy towards their people.

The Louisiana Lottery in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 14.—The Louisiana State Lottery Company has established a branch office in Montreal, and will use the Canadian mails for purposes denied it by the United States postal authorities. The agent here has issued a circular, which has been sent through Canada. The first paragraph of the circular reads: "Recent changes in the United States postal regulations have rendered it preferable to more closely consult the interest of our Canadian patrons by establishing a branch office in Canada." The officials are powerless to stop this until the government passes a law similar to that now in vogue in the States.

Claims to be the Queen's Daughter.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Edward Charpiot of this city claims to have proof of her origin, and that she is the daughter of Queen Victoria. In an interview she gives the record of her life, and traces, to a great extent, her life for the past 35 years. She also claims the Prince of Wales visited her when he came to this country. Mrs. Charpiot speaks good English with a slight French accent, and from all appearances is very intelligent.

New York Club Vindicated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Board of Directors of the New York Baseball Club yesterday adopted a resolution to the effect that there was no deliberate intention on the part of the management to in any wise weaken the team for the purpose of losing the games with Boston, it being shown that the team was in a great measure handicapped by the illness and disability of several of its most reliable players.

Noted Horses Sold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—There was some spirited bidding at the weeding out sale held by Walcott & Campbell in the paddock at Jerome Park yesterday. Castaway II, the winner of last year's handicap, brought the highest price paid at the sale. He was purchased by Orlando Jones for $3,100. Among other well known horses disposed of were Worth, Snowball, Once Again, Polly S. and Bertha Campbell.

Prison Congress Officers.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—The following officers were elected at the session of the National Prison Congress yesterday: President, Joseph Nicholson, Michigan; vice-presidents, J. M. Patterson, New Jersey; James Massie, Ontario; R. H. Dawson, Alabama; E. S. Wright, Pennsylvania; secretary, R. W. McCloughrey, Illinois; treasurer, John C. Whiton, Massachusetts.

A Defenseless Harbor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Gen. A. McD. McCook, commanding the Department of Arizona, in his annual report to the War Department says that the defenseless condition of the magnificent harbor at San Diego has been and is now a disgrace to the country.

UNCOVERED BY A DOG

A Murdered Man's Body Discovered By Accident.

THE BODY CUT UP INTO BITS.

Fate of John Whalen, Who Was Killed By William Coy in Jealous Rage.

Whalen Had Intended to Elope With Mrs. Coy, But Her Husband Suspected and the Crime Resulted—Whalen's Skull Crushed and His Body Cut Up and Buried in the Woods—A Dog Unearths the Murder.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 14.—Murdered at midnight, cut to pieces, and buried in the woods on a lonely mountain side was the fate of John Whalen, whose mangled and dismembered body was recovered last night. William Coy is in Pittsfield jail charged with the murder, which was committed on the night of August 29 last, in Coy's tumble-down little farm house on a lonely road a mile and a half from Washington depot, 17 miles east of Pittsfield.

Whalen lived in West Becket, a few miles from Washington. He worked on the Boston & Albany Railroad and boarded with Coy. Coy's wife, who came from Feeding Hills and whose maiden name was Frances Veits, favored the attentions of Whalen and he became intimate with her. Whalen boasted of this to Coy and Whalen and Mrs. Coy finally arranged an elopement, the time set being the Friday before the murder.

On Saturday morning Whalen went to Lee and Pittsfield. At Pittsfield he met Coy, and together they went to Westfield and took the evening train there, reaching Washington about 8 o'clock in the evening. Whalen had got off the train and Coy came on to Pittsfield, returning to Washington on the 11 o'clock train. Whalen had gone home and was probably asleep when Coy arrived. To Coy's jealously had been added a desire to obtain the money in Whalen's possession. He stole home it appears, and about midnight crushed in the skull of the sleeping man. Saturday night was spent in cutting up the body and carrying it into the woods.

On Sunday Coy went to Albany and found his wife. That night Coy and his wife went to Mrs. Geer's house, near by, Mrs. Coy saying that she could not sleep in her home. They stayed at Mrs. Geer's two weeks and then went to Westfield, where Coy drove a street car until he was arrested last Monday morning by State Detective Pease and Sheriff Cutting. Coy was brought to this city and in court yesterday morning was charged with murder. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded without bail for a hearing on November 2.

The fact that Mrs. Coy could not sleep at home aroused suspicion, and an effort was made to find the missing man.

Selectman Pomeroy started the search, accompanied by his dog. In a thick growth of young maples and beeches on the mountain side, sixty rods south of Coy's house, his dog began scratching the ground. There was nothing on the surface to indicate anything wrong.

The dog kept on digging, and soon brought to light a suspender, which was fastened to something still under the ground. Word was at once telegraphed to Medical Examiner Paddock of this city and to Detective Pease. They went to Washington, and with several citizens of the town began to dig at the spot on the mountain side where the dog had found the suspender. About two feet below the surface the remains were found. They were most horribly mutilated.

Coy is about 35 years old, short, of rather stout build, and unintelligent looking. He has always resided in the vicinity of Washington.

Investigating Sam and Eva's Story.

PABLO BEACH, Fla., Oct. 14.—The pastor of the Brooklyn, N. Y. church, of which Samuel Thornton is elder, and Miss Eva Jewell is an attendant, has been in this neighborhood for several days, looking up the facts in connection with the story told by Thornton of his being carried out to sea with Miss Jewel, while bathing at Coney Island, several weeks ago. He has talked the matter over with newspaper men and others familiar with the case, but refuses to say a word as to whether he still believes in the story told by Thornton or not.

A Postmistress Shoots at an Officer.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Francis C. Hoffman, postmistress at Coalbury, Ala., met Deputy Marshal Schoenfield in the street in this city yesterday morning and fired three shots at him from a revolver, none, however, taking effect. Mrs. Hoffman claims to have heard that Schoenfield had circulated disparaging stories about her. The origin of the trouble was in Mrs. Hoffman causing the arrest of the officers of the Sloss Mining Company for interference in her official duties.

A Somnambulist Killed.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Oct. 14.—A girl named Mary McLaughlin walked to the rear platform of a sleeper on the Central Hudson Railroad, near here, yesterday morning, while asleep, and fell off, sustaining injuries from which she died soon after. She was going to Michigan.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

The Sebatis House, at Sebatis, Me., was burned yesterday.

The 82d annual meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions is in session at Pittsfield, Mass.

Thompson, Fowler & Co., pork packers of Portland, Me., are financially embarrassed and some of their paper has gone to protest.

Arthur Woodward, a tramp, is under arrest at Woburn, Mass., charged with placing the obstructions on the track of the Boston & Maine railroad.

HE WAS HEAVILY INSURED.

Levi M. Bates Carried $130,000 in Policies, and Had Applied for $80,000 More.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—William G. Bates, son of Levi M. Bates, the well-known dry goods merchant, who was drowned in the Sound near College Point last Sunday, has notified four accident insurance companies of his father's death. In each case Mr. Bates stated that death was caused by accident and asked for payment on the policies.

Mr. Bates carried $65,000 of accident insurance, besides $67,000 in other policies of life insurance, and the fact that within three months he had applied for $80,000 of additional insurance when he already held policies for $130,000, has caused a great deal of talk in insurance circles.

The intimation in some quarters that Mr. Bates' death was not accidental has caused much indignation among his family and friends.

Buffalo Broker Disappears.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Broker L. Allgewahr of the Board of Trade has disappeared. The curtains are drawn and everything about his office bears evidence of desertion. The nature of the gentleman's trouble has not yet been made public, but it is understood the fluctuations of stocks are responsible for them. A large number of the members of the Board are on the anxious seat. It is rumored that he has gone to Florida.

The Powder Ignited and Killed Six.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 14.—During the night six laborers on a construction train at Ensley City went to sleep in a car where a red hot stove was close to two kegs of powder. The powder ignited and exploded, blowing the car to fragments, killing Sam. Williams, John Jones, Orange P. Plumb, and Frank Miller, also fatally injuring Sandy Norway and Henry Bradford.

Fatality in the Niagara Tunnel.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Two colored men were instantly killed and several white men badly injured at shaft No. 2 on the tunnel at Niagara Falls yesterday afternoon by the dropping of the cage, which the top men lost control of. The top men narrowly escaped being lynched by the angry friends of the dead men, and they are now in the police station.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

At the opening of the October term of the Camden county Court, yesterday, Judge Garrison devoted most of his charge to an arraignment of Gloucester lawlessness.

The eldest of the Lupse boys, who were terribly burned by an exploding kerosene barrel Saturday near Martinville, died yesterday. The other two are not expected to live.

In Newark yesterday Joseph E. Haynes, Democrat, was re-elected Mayor for a fifth term by 500 plurality over ex-Congressman Herman Lehlbach, Republican, and Tyler Parmly, Independent.

Edward Kemp, of Boston, who last week tried to steal a satchel containing $945 from the buggy of Leather Manufacturer Hugh Smith of Newark, was yesterday sentenced to five years in State prison. Kemp is in the last stages of consumption and will doubtless die in prison.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A smallpox epidemic is feared in Montreal.

Boulanger's daughters are to contest his will.

The office of the Nashville (Tenn.) "American" was destroyed by fire last night.

In her race against time, at Stockton, Cal., yesterday, Sunol lowered her own time to 2:10, but failed to beat the world's record.

Comptroller Lacey has expressed himself in favor of establishing a training school for bank examiners and bank receivers, and he may make such a recommendation in his annual report.

The wreck of the Despatch is attributed to Lieut. Milligan, who mistook Assateague light for Winter Quarter Shoals light, and ordered the ship to be put close to land.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—For New England: Light rain; slightly warmer; northwesterly winds.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware: Fair; slightly warmer; northerly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Generally fair; slightly warmer; southeasterly winds.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Prince and the Pauper next.

—Elsie Leslie will delight the children.

—Get your seats for Musin before they all are gone.

—Ripe blackberries were picked along Green brook this morning.

—If in search of a dressmaker, call on Mrs. E. M. Hull, 34 Central avenue. Her styles will suit, and her work will be done promptly and satisfactorily.

—The Bedford Wheelmen, of Brooklyn, will hold a five-mile road race on the Elizabeth-Plainfield course, election day. Seven prizes have been donated.

—"The Fire Patrol" was enthusiastically received at Music Hall last night, by a house that was much larger than was expected on such an unpleasant evening.

—Major-General O. O. Howard will speak to men, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., in the First Baptist church, next Sunday afternoon at 4:15. All men are invited.

—An adjourned meeting of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company will be held in the parlors to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. All the members are requested to be present, as important business will be transacted.

—The fine new billiard parlors at Laing's Hotel were opened last night. The number who enjoyed the evening's programme was large, and the efforts of Boniface Wallace V. Miller to please and entertain the public were fully appreciated.

—A mending department is the latest novelty in connection with the Woman's Exchange at 73 Park avenue, where, in addition to the furnishing of home-made bread, pies, rusks, and other wholesome foods, individual and family mending will be done quickly and at reasonable rates.

—In the nomination of Sidney E. Flower for Assemblyman the Democrats of the Third district of Union county did themselves credit, Tuesday. While the district is Republican by a large majority, there is no reason why Mr. Flower should not be elected. He is a capable and honest man, bound by no rings or cliques, and therefore not subservient to their wishes. The Third Assembly District would be ably represented by such a man as Sidney E Flower. It is hoped that the Third District will be represented by him.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Harry Maxson is attending the New York Law School.

An afternoon tea will be held in the rooms of the Hillside Tennis Club, Saturday afternoon, October 17.

Mrs. A. Hummer, of Annandale, is visiting her son, Councilman L. A. Hummer, of Somerset street.

Chandler White Riker, secretary of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, and one of the foremost projectors of the plan to provide rapid transit for this city, was married Monday night at Newark. His bride was Miss Mallie Blair Snyder.

The wedding of Herman Keller and Miss Annie Erickson, both of North Plainfield, is set for this afternoon at 4:30. The Rev. Cornelius Schenck is to perform the ceremony. The happy young people will begin housekeeping in a handsome new home in the borough.

All that was mortal of the late Joel R. Briant was laid away to rest forever, in the Methodist cemetery, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Charles B. Mitchell conducted the funeral services. Among the mourners were Messrs. Thomas Bishop, W. M. Smith, M. R. Berry, F. R. Maytery and H. M. Hawkins, former associates of the deceased at the National Bank of the Republic in New York city.

Good for Newark.

At the charter election, yesterday, the Democrats re-elected their efficient mayor, Joseph B. Haynes, by a handsome majority. The Common Council will remain a tie. Mayor Haynes has a host of warm friends in this city who congratulate him upon his succession to the high position he has so ably and successfully filled the past years. "As goes Newark, so goes the State" is an old saying and a true one. The result of Newark's election is another indorsement of Governor Leon Abbett.

The Holly Lake Mystery.

In the following the New Brunswick Home News gets in a fling at the way the Middlesex county authorities dealt with the Holly lake mystery of South Plainfield:

Some New York papers say that there is an agitation in New Jersey in favor of the abolition of the coroner system. New Jersey does n't seem to have heard of it yet; but it might be well enough to abolish that part of the system that enables a coroner's jury to tell a poor girl that they will accept, without evidence, her identification of a body as that of her brother, if she will pay for the funeral.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

OBITUARY.

Emeline M. Demarest.

The brief illness came to an end last evening, and there passed gently away from earth the spirit of Emeline M., beloved wife of William P. Demarest, of 7 East Fifth street. She quietly slept her life away.

"They thought her dying while she slept,
And sleeping when she died."

Her maiden name was Ryckman. She was in her 67th year. All her life she had been a sincere Christian, and she and her two unmarried daughters were active members of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and were especially prominent in its work.

Surviving her, besides her husband, are an only son, James Alfred, and four daughters, one of whom is the wife of James B. Weaver of New Rochelle, and one the wife of the Rev. Charles E. Dunn of the First Presbyterian church of Albany.

She had been ill only a few days, but the attack was so serious that all her children were early summoned to her bedside. She died surrounded by her loved ones, whose only solace in their anguish of heart is the sublime faith of an immortal reunion. She was one of the jewels of the earth, and has departed from these scenes only to become a gem in His crown.

A UNION OF CHURCHES PROPOSED.

This and Other Matters Considered at the Meeting in the Borough.

The Classis of Newark had a very interesting and important fall session in the German Reformed church in North Plainfield, yesterday. The president was the Rev. Mr. Jones of Woodside, Newark; and the Rev. Dr. Veslage of Irvington was secretary.

A very interesting and satisfactory report was given by the Mission Agent of the Classis, the Rev. Mr. Jensen, of Newark, showing that the Mission work of the denomination as well at home as in the foreign field is in a very prosperous condition.

An important question which lay before the house concerned the proposed federal union of the two Reformed churches in America, the Dutch and the German. This question was unsettled, but will come up again at the spring session.

The Classis was admirably entertained by the ladies of the German church, at noon and in the evening. The ladies deserve great credit for the superior course dinner they provided. The dining room and table were beautifuly decorated with flowers by P. Doeringer. Elder Alex. Willett and pastor Schenck of the Trinity Reformed church, this city, were present as delegates.

FUN AHEAD.

First a Racket to which the Clergy Will Be Invited, Then Other Frolicsome Events.

The boys of the Bicycle Club, headed by the Patriarch, are scheming for a little fun. They intend to have a private, select, and, of course, strictly moral "racket". It will eventuate at the clubhouse Saturday night, the 24th. The fact that it is called a "racket" and that ladies will not be admitted may look suspicious to some of the dear mothers of the younger boys and to some of the dear wives of the older ones, but to down these suspicions invitations will be sent to all the dominies of the town. Of course these good men will be too busy, on Saturday night, polishing up the points of their Sunday sermons, to put in an appearance, so the boys will have a free foot, after all.

The special attractions of the evening will be Brooks and Denton, banjoists to the 400 and to Baby Ruth. In their profession they stand supreme. The banjo becomes a new instrument and a soulful one under their deft fingering. To hear them is to appreciate them; but few Plainfielders can hear them on this occasion, as entrance may be obtained only by card of invitation, and but a limited number will be issued.

Late in November, or early in December, a tournament will be given at the Crescent rink, unless that building shall have been metamorphosed into some one of the many shapes with which it is threatened—a livery stable, a market-house, a silk factory, an apartment house, or a church. There will be a plenty of open events, and all the athletes will have an opportunity to cover themselves with medals.

Following the plan laid down last winter, an instructor in gymnastics has been secured to give club members lessons in physical development, during the coming season. The classes will begin early in November. All these various things tend to make the life of a Bicycle Club man a particularly happy one.

$57.25 for Home Missions.

The members and friends of the Home Mission Society of the First Baptist church had a very pleasant meeting last evening. Mrs. Ehlers of Chicago, formerly a missionary in the South, made a highly interesting address. From the jugs that were broken $44.75 was extracted, and a collection was taken amounting to $12.50.

—A meeting of the representatives of the Firemen's Relief Association will be held to-night.

—All people interested in the Peace street ordinance may be heard by the Common Council at the regular November meeting, when it is to be brought up for final discussion.

THROWN FROM THE CARS AND KILLED.

Young Matthew McLernon Fatally Injured While Stealing Coal from a Train.

Matthew McLernon, an eleven-year-old lad who lived in the neighborhood of the Scott Press Works, and whose father is an employe of the carpet factory, was killed on the railroad near the Richmond street bridge this morning. He was abstracting coal from a train of cars. While he was standing on the bumpers the train suddenly started, and he was thrown to the ground with such force as to cut open his scalp at the temple and fracture his skull. The cars tumbled him over and over as he lay underneath their trucks, but he did not get under the wheels, and his body was not at all mangled. He was dead when picked up. He was a member of the Boys' Club. He and his brother have both given their father a great deal of anxiety by their waywardness. The surviving brother is to be sent to the State Reform School.

McLernon's father's name is David. He lives at 18 Kensington avenue.

HYMENEAL.

Baynon—Fowler.

A charming home wedding is that which is to take place at East Orange this evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Elizabeth Clarke Fowler will become the wife of Frank Freeman Baynon of this city.

The ceremony is to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Fowler, "The Pines", 51 South Grove street.

The bride's costume is a rich gown of white faille, cut princess, with court train; the front is of embroidered chiffon, with v-shape corsage, edged with orange blossoms and chiffon. Her veil, which is of tulle, is caught up with pearl pins and orange blossoms.

The bride will be escorted by her father, and met at the head of the parlors by the groom and his "best man", Arthur H. Mulford of this city.

The witnesses at the ceremony will be limited strictly to the relatives of the contracting parties.

The Rev. Dr. A. Nelson Hollifield, of the Third Presbyterian church, Newark, is to be the officiating clergyman.

After the ceremony a general reception will be given from 7:30 to 9:30.

The house has been beautifully decorated for the occasion, being hung throughout with greens, gracefully festooned with white ribbons.

The ushers, as has already been stated in these columns, are to be Charles R. Fowler, jr., of East Orange, brother of the bride, George C. Olmstead and F. Halsey Otis of Orange, and Clarence L. Murphy of Plainfield.

The bride and groom have been the recipients of many beautiful remembrances. They will be gone on their wedding trip until Nov. 1. They will be at home Wednesdays after Nov. 4, at 51 South Grove street.

NOTES OF THE G. A. R.

Matters of Interest to All Comrades and Citizens Generally.

Major W. D. W. Miller, an aid on the staff of General Hancock, was mustered into membership in Winfield Scott Post, last evening.

The post accepted an invitation extended by the Y. M. C. A to attend the service in the First Baptist church next Sunday afternoon. Members will meet at the post rooms at 3 o'clock, wearing uniform hats, regulation badges, and white gloves. Major-General O. O. Howard, formerly Commander of the 11th Corps, and at present commanding the Division of the Atlantic, will be the speaker.

Senior Vice-Commander Reese announced to the Post the death of Comrade E. D. Chamberlain, of Westfield, which occurred in that town Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock, as told in these columns. He was formerly a member of Co. A, 1st Mass. Vol. Infantry.

For the sake of large profit some dealers offer substitutes when Hires's Root Beer Packages are called for. If you care to have true goods, and a most delicious drink, run no risk, and insist on getting Hires's.

New York's Governor at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Oct. 14.—Gov. Hill addressed a large gathering in Music Hall last evening. He spoke on State taxes, the World's Fair and other matters entering into the campaign and then took up tariff reform, dealing with it at considerable length. He closed with a eulogy of the Democratic candidate for Governor and Lieut.-Governor.

Probably Fatally Injured.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 14.—Richard Bellfontain was probably fatally injured at South Windham yesterday by Fred Nadeau, during a quarrel. Bellfontain accused Nadeau of being too intimate with Mrs. Bellfontain and a row ensued, during which Bellfontain was struck on the head with a club. Nadeau has fled.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

The 17th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Directors of the Poor is in session at Reading.

The Lebanon postoffice was entered Monday by burglars, who broke open the office safe and stole about $100 worth of stamps, small coin amounting to about $100 and 20 registered letters.

The Rev. Joseph M. Saylor, who was the oldest living evangelical clergyman both in length of service and age in the United States, commonly known as Father Saylor, died at Reading yesterday in his 89th year. He was a minister of the Gospel over 60 years.

Getting Along Nicely.

There is a bright Bohemian in this city whose appearance has for some time made his friends anxious about his health.

"How are you getting along, Smithson?" asked one of his acquaintances.

"First rate; better than I have expected," he answered in a tone of enthusiasm.

"Gaining in weight?"

"No, but I've got sixty dollars saved toward my funeral expenses."—Washington Post.

A Sad Mistake.

"Buckle my shoe, Egbert," said a Chicago belle to her nearsighted fiance.

Egbert went down on his knee like a true knight, but, as he had lost his eyeglass his vision was a little uncertain.

"Is this your foot, darling," he inquired.

"Yes."

"Aw, pawdon—I—thought it was the lounge."

Egbert is now disengaged.—Texas Siftings.

A New Point.

Chicago Girl (to stranger who has taken her in to dinner)—I am going abroad soon and I want to get some points. Do you know anything about English law?

Stranger—I am an English barrister myself.

Chicago Girl—Oh, how nice! Now, suppose a lord's wife gets a divorce, does she still have the title?—Life.

A Blower's Explanation.

Jones—Say, Brown, I thought you were wounded in the shoulder in the late war?

Brown—So I was.

Jones—I don't see any evidence of it.

Brown—'Course not; ain't everything healed up between the north and the south?—Lippincott's Magazine.

Good Ground for Unbelief.

Father—Come, Johnny, do as I bade you! Take off your coat this instant.

Johnny—You ain't goin' to lick me are you?

Father—Certainly I am. Didn't I tell you this morning that I would pay you off for your behavior?

Johnny—Yes, but I didn't think you'd do it. You told the grocer and the butcher you'd pay 'em off last week and I know you let up on them.—Boston Courier.

Power from Niagara Falls.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 14.—A contract has been concluded between the Niagara Power Company and Buffalo parties by which the latter acquire exclusive right to the use of electricity generated at the new tunnel, so far as this city is concerned. The new company expect to be able to supply at least 200,000 horse power within a year and at such rates as to supplant steam power to that extent.

IN SPECIAL SESSION.

The Senate of Pennsylvania Considering the Bardsley Case.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—The John Bardsley extraordinary session of the State Senate, convened by Governor Pattison, was called to order at noon yesterday, by Lieutenant-Governor Watres. At that hour the scene in the Senate chamber was a brilliant one. The seats of the Senators were occupied by their owners, with the exception of three.

The Governor, in his message, which occupied nearly an hour in its reading, reviewed the arrest and conviction of John Bardsley, for the unlawful use of city and State funds, and dwelt particularly on the evidence to the effect that on certain dates Bardsley received large sums of money for interest from banks and individuals to whom he had loaned funds of the State with the connivance of State Treasurer Boyer, Cashier Livesy and Auditor-General McCamant. The Governor mentioned several other cases where it appeared as though Auditor-General McCamant, State Treasurer Boyer and Casher Livesy had connived with Bardsley to defraud the State out of large sums of money.

After the adoption of a resolution for the appointment of a committee to formulate rules of procedure, the Senate adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE ASYLUM CONTROVERSY.

A Sandford Avenue Resident Makes Further Remarks About the Institution.

To THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS—I notice an article in last night's issue regarding the asylum signed "Fair Play". It may be unjust to draw the conclusion that the reading of the said article appears to warrant, but the natural conclusion is that the writer is either the proprietor or one of the unfortunate inmates. No doubt the editor of THE PRESS is to be congratulated on the fact that he does not stand in need of any particular medical treatment, but that is rather foreign to the question. Allow me to state that it is not a fact that the house stood entirely by itself when first occupied in its present position as a retreat, unless the writer means that it stood by itself in the centre of a sixty-foot lot. Although I became a resident of Sandford avenue only about the last of January of this year, I certainly occupied my house before the "retreat" was occupied, and there were other houses built and occupied long before my own. I am glad to learn that negotiations are pending which "if consummated" will result in the establishment of an institution which will be a credit to Plainfield. Let us hope that the "if" preceding the word consummated will not prove to be that everlasting big "if". The parties who own the house and the parties who occupy it knew as long ago as last February that the place was considered a nuisance, and I was then given to understand that it would be conducted in such a manner that it would not be a nuisance, or it would be removed. It is a nuisance; it has always been a nuisance; it has not been removed; and a plenty of time has elapsed to consummate arrangements for its removal. It is not irrational to ask that it be broken up at once. In New York city such an institution under its present conditions would not be tolerated forty-eight hours, and if an injunction were procured it would be found that "something can be done at once". It is perfect rubbish to suggest that no one is "compelled" to look at the windows of the institution. No person would imagine that there was compulsion in any such matter. At the same time there have been exhibitions at the front windows of the said institution which, were they to take place in New York, would probably result in an arrest for indecent exposure. It is a new principle in law to suggest that anyone can maintain a nuisance in a neighborhood and then calmly suggest "If you don't like it look elsewhere". It's a principle that does not and will not work. As for the "Peck's bad boys" paragraph, let them come along. We have some of our own, and can stand a few more. And as the writer seems to appreciate the far-reaching lines of THE PRESS, ask him for an "ad" or two on his own account.

We appreciate the work of the physicians who are devoting themselves to the cure of the afflicted in any direction, but we don't appreciate surgical operations or other disagreeable things when performed under our noses.

Remove the retreat to a situation less public: that is what we all want at once.

ROBERT F. SHAEN.

Plainfield, Oct. 14, 1891.

Pharmacist Williams Bet Against His Pets.

The New Brunswick Home News says that Saturday's game between John Harkins's local nine and the Plainfield Crescents was "neither wildly exciting, nor absorbingly interesting. Neither side was free from errors, and none of the players was specially brilliant.

"The Crescents had only eight men with them, and Cox, of this city, played right field in an excellent manner. He made two hits and some good catches.

"There was quite a crowd of Plainfield enthusiasts in the stand, and they scooped in a few dollars on the result. Pharmacist George Williams, of Plainfield, was the only member of the coterie who backed the New Brunswick aggregation, and he was rather willing to part with his dollar just to see the 'pets' win.

"Plainfield scored five runs in the third inning and thus secured a good lead. Bowman was responsible for some of these by a costly error he made when there was one man out. The next man struck out, and had he played without this error, the third man would have been out before all five runs were made."

Wetumpka's Dramatics.

The Brooklyn Comedy Company, composed of leading members of the Amaranth Dramatic Society of Brooklyn, will appear in "Our Boys", Monday evening, October 26, under the auspices of Wetumpka Lodge, Knights of Honor, with the following cast: E. O. Jacobsen, W. P. Macfarlane, Albert Meafoy, Fred Boune, Alice Butcher, Lizzie Wallace, Annie L. Hyde, Ida Leonard, Geoffrey Champneys, Talbot Champneys, Perkyn Middlewick, Chas. Middlewick, Violet Mehose, May Mehose, Clarissa Champneys, Belinda.

Seats are on sale at 75 and 50 cents for the whole house at R. J. Shaw's, Doane & VanArsdale's, and J. C. Allen's.

DUNELLEN'S CLUB BOOMING.

It Will Be an Important Local Factor in the Presidential Campaign.

The regular business meeting of the Democratic Club of Piscataway Township was held Monday night at the Park Hotel, Dunellen, and several measures were passed which tend to perfect the organization, and to render more effective the efforts of the club in advancing the principles of the Democratic party throughout the township. The executive committee was increased from three members to five, and Howard Bird and J. Y. Wilson were elected members of the committee.

During the evening J. E. Martine of Plainfield made a stirring speech. He spoke briefly on the formation of political clubs, their government and effectiveness; and then drifted into a talk on the tariff, which last over an hour, and was received with great applause.

There was a good attendance Monday evening, and several new names were added to the club roll. The large increase in membership since Oct. 1 is gratifying, but the roll ought to contain the name of every Democratic voter in the township, and steps were taken to further that end. The sentiment is strongly in favor of making the club a permanent organization, or at least to continue it until the campaign of 1892. At the next meeting, due notice of which will be given, all good Democrats are earnestly and urgently invited to attend, and join the club. There are no dues or assessments, and subscriptions are entirely voluntary.

Notes from the Pond Works.

Wm. Gray, a machinist formerly employed at Pond's, but later at the Potter Press Works, and who was married to Miss Maggie Hangliter, a daughter of Robert P. Hangliter, last Thursday evening, has gone to Springfield, Mass., which will be his home in the future.

Monday morning, while Henry VanMiddlesworth, better known in the shops as "Tippecanoe", or "Tip", was pushing his truck in front of him, he came near meeting with a fatal mishap. The tongue of the truck is of iron, and it snapped in two at the centre, precipitating "Tip" over the truck; but luckily he caught himself a few inches from the tongue, which, if he had fallen on it, would have impaled him with fatal results.

In a few short weeks more the blustering wind will perforate the new set of whiskers now being raised by our indefatigable contract clerk, Wm. Ahlgreen.

The second Government lathe is nearly finished, and will be shipped this week to the Watervliet Arsenal at Troy, N. Y. No. 3, which is also at an advanced stage of completion, will take its place. Then good-bye, Hugh Smith: it will be a long time ere we see your smiling face again in our midst.

LATHE HAND.

D. H. Lenox for Plainfield.

The nominating committee of the New Jersey Division, League of American Wheelmen, which met in Trenton Sept. 28, has announced the following nominations:

Chief Consul—G. Carleton Brown, Elizabeth.
Vice Consul—Leonard Mulford, Vineland; Chas. K. Berdan, Paterson.
Secretary-Treasurer—George C. Pennell, Elizabeth.
Representatives—Gardner H. Cain, Trenton; Frank W. Cramer, Camden; John B. Dodd, East Orange; W. H. Stauffer, Asbury Park; H. S. Fulper, Flemington; John H. Hinners, Edgewater; Theo. F. Merseles, jr., Jersey City; W. Scott Calkins, Millville; W. A. Drabble, Newark; Harvey H. Ball, Paterson; T. N. Gray, Orange; David H. Lenox, Plainfield; W. E. Shuit, Passaic; Henry D. Leavitt, Trenton.

The tickets bearing the above names will be mailed to the various League members by Secretary-Treasurer Pennell on the 15th instant, and have to be signed and returned before Nov. 15 to count as votes in the election.

New Jersey Christian Endeavorers.

The annual State Convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the First Presbyterian church, 820 Broad street, Newark, Oct. 23, 24 and 25. It will be the most notable gathering of the kind yet held in the State. Delegates representing about four hundred societies will be present, including a large number from this city. The Christian Endeavor Society has branches in every city, village and hamlet. The opening session will be held Friday evening, Oct. 23. Saturday will be given to the transaction of general business. Clergymen and others will address the convention in the evening. At 3:50 Saturday afternoon Miss Alice B. Spangenberg of Netherwood will conduct a conference of the missionary committee.

Worthy Work of Women for Their Church.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Trinity Reformed church are about to begin their winter's work towards extinguishing the debt on their church, and will give a tea at the residence of Mrs. J. F. MacDonald, East Front street, corner of Peace, to-morrow evening, from 5 to 9. An offering of 25 cents will be acceptable from all who attend. The gross amount thus received will be given towards the church debt. These teas have been very enjoyable in the past, and this one promises to be one of much pleasure and profit to all who attend.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

IT IS NOT

A LIE.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same at its regular meeting to be held at the Council room on Monday evening, November 2, next, at which time and place all persons interested therein may be heard before the Common Council.

J B COWARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 14, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To widen, lay out, and open Peace street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Peace street in the city of Plainfield, from the railroad to the southeasterly side of Front street, be widened and laid out so that said street shall be of the uniform width of thirty feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which said centre line is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron monument in the centre line of said Peace street, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence in a magnetic course of south forty-nine degrees and twenty minutes east, (s. 49 deg. 20 min. e.) a distance of seven hundred and ninety-eight and five-tenths, (798 5/10) feet to a point in said centre line in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as the said street is laid out on a map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street, from the C. R. R. of N. J. to Green brook, city of Plainfield, N. J., July, 1891 made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer and surveyor.

The land to be taken for the widening of Peace street on the northeasterly side of same, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all land which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for said widening on the southwesterly side of said Peace street from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all that land which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a southwesterly direction

That a continuation of said Peace street be laid out and opened from the northwesterly line of Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street to Green brook in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and four one hundredths (32.04) feet, in a magnetic course of north forty-six degrees and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 degrees, 17 minutes w.) from an iron monument at the intersection of the centre lines of East Front Street, and Peace Street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence north forty-six degrees, and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 deg. 17 min.) a distance of three hundred and eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to a point in the centre line of Green Brook, said point being in the division line between the city of Plainfield, county of Union, and the borough of North Plainfield, county of Somerset, and there to end. Said street shall be sixty (60) feet in width; that is to say thirty (30) feet on each side of the above described centre line and the land to be taken includes all that land for thirty feet in width on each side of said centre line which lies between the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as at present laid out, and the said centre line of Green Brook.

That the lands and real estate, and the appurtenances necessary therefore shall be taken and appropriated for the said widening, laying out and opening of Peace street as aforesaid, pursuant to the charter of the city of Plainfield, and the general statutes in such case, made and provided.

The land to be taken, and the lines of Peace street, as the same is herein before ordered to be widened laid out, and opened are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street from the C R R. of N J. to Green Brook, city of Plainfield, N. J, July 1891," made by F. A. Dunham, Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

ROYAL RED CROSS.

A Decoration Granted for Services to the Sick and Suffering.

In the cut is depicted the decoration lately bestowed by Queen Victoria on Mrs. Grimwood, the Manipur heroine. The Royal Red Cross was instituted by royal warrant, April 23, 1883, for the purpose of rewarding services rendered by certain persons in nursing the sick and wounded of the army and navy. It consists of a cross enameled crimson, edged with gold, having on the arms thereof the words "Faith, Hope and Charity" and the date of the institution, with the queen's effigy in the center. On the reverse side the royal and imperial cipher and crown in relief are placed in the center.

THE RED CROSS.

The cross is to be attached to a dark blue ribbon edged with red, tied in a bow, and worn on the left shoulder. The decoration is to be worn by the queen and by any of the royal family on whom it may be conferred.

The decoration is intended for any ladies and nursing sisters, whether subjects or foreign persons, who may be recommended to the queen's notice by special exertions in providing for the nursing or for attending to sick and wounded soldiers and sailors, and, in the case of nursing sisters, for special devotion and competency which they may have displayed in their nursing duties with the army in the field or in the naval and military hospitals. Prominent among those who have received this decoration is Florence Nightingale.

The Devil's Table.

Many readers have heard learned friends or travelers allude to the Teufelstisch and the Glass palace without the least idea of the interesting objects referred to. To quickly come to the point we will say that the Teufelstisch is the name given a large, flat rock lying near Graefenberg, Bavaria. Translated into English the meaning of the word is Devil's table. Regularly at midnight on the night of May 1 the ghosts of the ancient kings of France used to assemble around the Teufelstisch and hold a fantastic banquet. Later on some folk-lore writers claim that a glass palace, invisible to mortal eyes, sprang up at that point with the Devil's table in the center. From midnight until daylight on the date mentioned above, Gambrinus, the inventor of beer, sported around the big flat rock with others of the shadowy crew.

Millions in Postage.

The bulletin de statistiques et de legislation compare, of the French ministry of finance, contains an interesting account of the postage expenses in the large governments of the world excepting China. From the account it appears that civilized humanity spends 1,500,000,000 francs every year on postage. Of this amount the United States of America come in for the largest share, 323,000,000 francs postage, without telegraph communication. Next comes Germany, spending on postage and telegraph communications 282,000,000 francs. Great Britain spends 257,000,000 on postage alone. France spends 143,000,000 on postage and telegraph. Russia spends 97,000,000, and Austria-Hungary 86,000,000 francs on postage and telegraph. The smaller governments spend from 40,000,000 downward.

The Dunkite Snake.

Australia is the home of the famous Dunkite snake, which is said to always feed and hunt in pairs. The bite of the "dunker," as it is generally called, is more fatal than that of any other known species of serpent, but the most singular thing concerning its habits (which smacks rather highly of the marvelous, although attested by many standard writers), is its custom of following and finally killing the person who slays or even injures its mate. One species of East India snake is said to act very similarly in its mode of wreaking vengeance.

How to Fold an Umbrella.

Many umbrellas are broken by the careless manner in which they are folded and put aside after using in the rain. When folding an umbrella the cover should first be shaken out until all the folds lie free from the ribs. Then catch the ends of the ribs near the handle in the right hand and closing the left hand firmly around the cover near the point, push the umbrella through it, gently turning the entire structure from left to right until all is neatly folded. After using an umbrella in the rain it should be allowed to dry, handle downward.

How to Treat a Beggar.

Chateaubriand was once asked: "Would you recommend me to apprentice my son to so and so?" and he replied: "Learn how this merchant treats the poor and then use your own judgment." There was a wisdom in this reply that should sink deep into people's hearts. Our treatment of the poor and unfortunate is the truest indication of our character. All that can be added to this excellent parable is, when one who is in want applies to you for assistance, imagine yourself in his place and "do as you would be done by."

He Misjudged Him.

"No," said the stern father, "I shall not permit you to marry young Funster. In the first place he is too careless of the future—"

"Why, pa! He is not a bit careless of the future. He has nearly three hundred oyster jokes written up for the winter market."—Indianapolis Journal.

And He Got It.

"I have been particular in giving you my meat order," said the guest, "because I have a good deal at steak."

"Your remarks, sir," replied the dignified waiter, moving leisurely away to give the order, "are entitled to a great deal of wait."—Chicago Tribune.

Bright Prospects.

"Doctor, how am I coming on? Do you think there is any hope?" said a very sick man to Dr. Blister.

"Your chances are the best in the world. The statistics show that one person in ten recovers," replied the doctor.

"Then there is not much hope for me?"

"Oh, yes there is. You are the tenth case that I have treated, and the other nine are dead. I don't see how you can help getting well if the statistics are to be relied on."—Texas Siftings.

CITY OF ROME SAFE

False Reports that the Anchor Liner Had Sunk.

GREAT EXCITEMENT CREATED.

The Maudlin Story of a Sailor Which Caused Much Anxiety.

SEVERAL CONFLICTING REPORTS.

There is Strong Reason to Believe There Was No Wreck at All.

At First It Was Thought that the Big Passenger Ship Had Gone to the Bottom With 400 Souls--Then Came the Story that the Foundered Vessel Was a Cattle Steamship from Montreal and that 42 Lives Had Been Lost--This Was Also Contradicted, and the Wrecked Ship is Believed to be the Durham City.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Telegraphic dispatches received from St. Johns, N. F., late yesterday afternoon, reported the big Anchor Line steamer City of Rome as lost. It was stated that the vessel had foundered off St. Shotts, the scene of many shipwrecks. Later dispatches were contradictory, several stating the City of Rome, which had gone down, hailed from Montreal. These were denied late last night, it being stated that no vessel bearing that name had cleared from Montreal.

Telegraphic inquiries sent out by the agents of the Anchor Line in this city resulted in a denial from St. Johns that the Anchor boat had been lost. The agents were assured by this dispatch, and announced that they had no fear for the safety of their vessel.

The first dispatch, which created intense excitement, read as follows:

ST JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 15.—It is supposed that the Anchor Line steamer City of Rome, Capt. Young, which sailed from New York Oct. 10 for Liverpool, has been lost off St. Shotts.

St. Shotts is a hamlet four miles from Cape Pine, and is a place which has been the scene of many shipwrecks.

St. Shotts is 85 miles in a direct line southwest of St. Johns. The nearest point of importance is Trepassey, which is at the head of the bay running between Cape Race and Pine, and about 20 miles from where the City of Rome is said to be lost.

Then came a contradictory dispatch which stated that the City of Rome which was lost was a cattle steamer bound to Dundee from Montreal; that a sailor named John Brennan had arrived at Trepassy, N. F., and stated that he was the only survivor of the foundered vessel; that the officers and crew of the vessel had all been drunk, and were unable to help themselves when the vessel struck and that 42 men had perished.

Probably the Durham City.

Another contradiction followed, with this dispatch:

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Inquiries made here with regard to the sensational stories, that the cattle ship which left left here on the 7th inst., was wrecked at Marine Cove, St. Mary's Bay, Newfoundland, and a cattleman named Jas. Brennan of the crew of forty-three souls alone escaped, revealed the fact that no such ship as the City of Rome left Montreal last Wednesday.

The names of the boats sailing from here were, Sarmatian, Rosarian, Lake Nepigon, Alcides, Thames, Sarnia and Ontario.

It is believed here that the wrecked steamer is the Durham City, which sailed from Boston last Wednesday for London. She had on board 514 head of cattle for the latter port, and they were shipped by E. Bickerdike of Montreal. The foreman in charge is named Reilly, and the Durham City carried a crew of fifty hands.

Further inquiries have revealed the fact that no such cattle ship as the City of Rome exists. It is just possible that the wrecked vessel may be the City of Lincoln, which is expected here in the course of a few days.

Another dispatch from New Orleans said that the vessel might be the Citta de Roma, bound for Bordeaux, but what the vessel could have been doing so far north could not be explained.

It is now believed that there was no wreck at all, but that the story was merely the yarn of a drunken sailor.

The Atlanta Safe.

LEWES, Del., Oct. 15.—The United States steamer Atlanta arrived here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after having been out in the gale for fifty-four hours. At 11:30 o'clock Monday night she broke her hawser pipe, which caused he forward compartments to fill with water. While lowering a lamp into the compartments to examine their condition an explosion occurred and six of the crew were severely burned. Two of them are not expected to live.

Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 14.—The Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association held its twenty-second annual meeting yesterday. The old board of officers was re-elected as follows: President, Dr. Elwood H. Stokes; Vice-President, Aaron E. Ballard; Treasurer, David R. Brown; Secretary, George W. Evans. The various reports showed a very healthful condition of affairs. A floating indebtedness of $20,000 has been paid off during the year.

The Boston Oleomargarine Case.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—In the Supreme Court the case of Benjamin Plumley, who was released on a writ of habeas corpus, after having been convicted of selling oleomargarine, was called, but was postponed for two weeks. Plumley is agent for a Chicago firm, and sold oleomargarine only in original packages. Large business interests are involved in the case as well as the constitutionality of the recent acts of the Legislature.

Clerk Stout and the Way He Beat the Firm of Kennett, Hopkins & Co.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—An investigation of the methods of Mr. T. H. Stout, the employe of Kennett, Hopkins & Co., who disappeared last month, has resulted in the discovery of some interesting facts.

The firm had a customer of the name of Thomas J. Briggs, who deposited cash and stocks with them. Mr. Briggs, thinking he had $60,000 with the firm, called for that amount and was told that there was but $20,000 placed to his credit.

He was much surprised, and produced statements which he had received from Stout showing that he had $60,000. Mr. Briggs concluded to investigate and placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys.

It is said that the investigation shows that Stout sent Briggs false statements and kept back the regular statements sent out by his employers. He took the checks deposited to Briggs' credit and also forged indorsements.

The checks sent from the firm to Mr. Briggs were also appropriated.

The firm name, with Mr. Stout's signature beneath it, was affixed to the checks, and the trusted employe then negotiated them at the Holland Trust Company.

He manipulated checks of both Kennett, Hopkins & Co., and their customers, Mr. Briggs, for months in the most reckless way to the amount of $15,000 or $20,000.

It is said that Mr. Stout also took stocks and bonds deposited to Mr. Brigg's credit, thus swelling the total amount of his stealings to about $40,000.

THINKS THE STORY FALSE.

No Credence Placed in Mrs. Ordway's Statement About Snell's Murderers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—A. J. Stone, son-in-law of the murdered millionaire, A. J. Snell, has this to say in regard to the story from Baltimore to the effect that Mrs. Ordway's husband was concerned in the murder, and that W. B. Tascott, the supposed murderer, was strangled to death by his pals.

"This is the first time," he said, "that the name of Al Ordway has been mentioned in connection with the case. I knew him quite well and was surprised when I learned of his death. I used to have my clothes made at his father's shop, on Madison street, and the worst thing I ever heard of him was that he was addicted to drink.

"Perhaps if I knew something of the woman's character and reputation for veracity I might consider the matter. But as the story now stands, unsubstantiated, I would say that it is false and without foundation."

TWO KILLED, MANY INJURED.

Fatal Accident on the Baltimore & Ohio, at Hicksville, O.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 15.—The Baltimore & Ohio fast mail train No. 8, from Chicago to New York, jumped the track at Hicksville, O., at 4 p. m., yesterday, killing two passengers, wounding one other fatally and a dozen others less seriously.

The wreck occurred on a sharp curve, the express, mail, baggage and smoking cars passing the curve safely, but the sleepers jumped the track and were piled up in a mass of ruins.

Vice-President King of the Baltimore & Ohio was in the wreck, and was badly injured.

The private car of Emmons Blaine was also in the wreck. The young man was slightly hurt.

Union Veteran Legion.

READING, Pa., Oct. 15.—The National Encampment of the Union Veteran Legion opened here yesterday. The parade was participated in by about 1,800 members of the order. The national convention of the order met in annual session in the afternoon with National Commander G. J. R. Miller of Philadelphia presiding. Over 250 delegates were present. The reports submitted showed that 27 encampments had been organized during the year, and there had been a gain in membership in that time of over 3,500. The order is distributed through 18 States.

Indiana Officials Accused of Arson.

WASHINTON, Ind., Oct. 15.—Samuel Harbine, a laborer, was arrested Tuesday night charged with complicity in the burning of the court house records here. After being arrested Harbine confessed the crime and implicated several prominent persons in it, and as a result Auditor James C. Lavelle and A. B. Hawes, a resident of Steele Township, were arrested yesterday and placed in jail Lavelle has been auditor of the county for eight years. It is supposed he is short in his accounts.

Restored to Membership.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—At yesterday's session of the Evangelical Council Rev. George Hann, of the Wisconsin Conference, who was deposed from the ministry and expelled from the Church for having been a member of the Trial Conference that suspended Bishop Bowman, was restored to the full functions of the Christian ministry in the relation of an elder in any church.

HAMILTON IS DEAD

No Longer Any Doubt on the Subject.

THE REMAINS DISINTERRED.

A Coroner's Jury Pronounces Them to Be Robert Ray's.

The Rumors that He Had Been Seen Alive and Only Feigned Death Dispelled--Identified by the Teeth, a Fracture of the Leg, and Other Evidence--Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

MARKET LAKE, Idaho, Oct. 15.—Coroner Henry Code, of Evanston, Uintah County, Wy., arrived here yesterday after a journey of two weeks' duration to Jackson's Lake, in what is known as Jackson Hole in the northwest corner of Wyoming, where he held an inquest over the body of the late Robert Ray Hamilton, of New York, who was drowned in Snake River more than a year ago. The story of the last days of Mr. Hamilton, already partly known to the public, is now complete.

The story of Hamilton's liason with Eva Mann; the latter's attempt to murder a nurse; the trial, and the disappearance of Hamilton from public view, are all too well know to need repetition.

Sept. 15, 1890, a dispatch from Helena, Mont., conveyed the startling intelligence that Robert Ray Hamilton had been accidently drowned in Snake River, in Jackson's Hole, some three weeks before.

The story seemed so vague and incomplete that people soon commenced to doubt it, for several reasons, among them the brief announcement of his death; that his father did not seem much worried over the account; and because of the statement of Henry Strong, of Greene, Chenango county, N. Y., who had been in the Yellowstone Park, came East and declared that he had seen Hamilton alive in the park, having recognized him by his voice as well as his features.

The Hamilton family tried to keep the matter quiet, but it would not down. On the contrary, as time passed the belief that Robert Ray Hamilton was alive grew stronger in those who thought most about the facts. Tourists returning from the region brought strange stories. The men who conducted the search were, with one or two exceptions, not acquainted with him in his lifetime, and not willing to swear the body was his.

Thursday, Oct. 1, to set all doubts at rest, Coroner Code left Market Lake Station with a party to disinter the body and hold an inquest. The body was exhumed, and certain marks upon it agreed so exactly with the description that had been taken along that all further doubt that Hamilton was dead was forever settled.

The distinguishing marks were the front teeth and a fracture of the leg.

The witnesses were all reputable citizens. The jurors in the inquest were Robert E. Miller, Andrew Mattson, and C. F. Hamm. They render the following verdict:

State of Wyoming, County of Utah:

We, the Coroner's jury, empannelled to inquire into the cause, time and manner of the death of the person whose body lies before us, do find that the name of the deceased was Robert Ray Hamilton, a native of the United States, aged about 29 years, and that he came to his death in the State and county aforesaid, by being accidentally drowned while attempting to cross Snake River, below Jackson's Lake. According to the evidence furnished by his watch, which had stopped when he entered the water, and by a note which he left on a tag at the south end of the lake, Robert Ray Hamilton was drowned at 9:30 o'clock on Saturday night, August 23, 1890.

A Defaulter Gets Seven Years.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 15.—Marshall O. Percival, the defaulting cashier of the Shoe and Leather Bank at Auburn, was arraigned in the United States Circuit Court yesterday on two indictments, charging him with misappropriation of funds and false entry. He pleaded guilty to both, and was sentenced to seven years in the State prison.

Western Union Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The old Board of Directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company was re-elected at the annual meeting yesterday. The report for the year ended June 30 last shows: Gross earnings, $23,034,326; operating expenses, $16,428,741; net earnings, $6,605,584. The plant, etc., is valued at $96,745,391.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

Fire damaged St. Ignatius' Catholic Church at Kingston to the amount of $6,000.

Peter Sherwick, of Pottsville, the Hungarian who killed his cousin in Mahanoy City a few months ago, was taken to the Eastern Penitentiary yesterday to serve 12 years.

Col. Charles G. McCawley, who died at Rosemont, was, recently placed on the retired list while holding the office of Colonel Commandant of the United States Marine Corps.

THEY HAD SOLD OUT.

Hoey & Spooner Now Own No Stock in the Adams Express Co.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—President Sanford and Vice-President Lovejoy and most of the directors of the Adams Express Company are making a thorough investigation into the company's affairs. They will be unable to tell exactly how matters stand for several days to come. Examination thus far, it is said, has revealed irregularities, though to no great extent.

Mr. Lovejoy says that misappropriations, other than those already known, have been found. He refused to give any information as to their extent, but says there is no telling what the future will develop, and it will be some time next week before it can be told how much the ex-president has taken from the company.

Mr. Lovejoy says that, though the company is out a large amount of money, it will in no way effect the value of the company's stock.

Mr. Sandford says: "There is no inclination on the part of the directors to relax any effort in prosecuting to the extent of the law, for the malfeasance against this company by its officers, and in securing all that has been wrongfully taken by these officers."

He refuses to say whether Messrs. Hoey and Spooner will be arrested but says it will be left to the counsel of the company to take the most effective means of securing the misappropriated funds.

It was learned late yesterday that John Hoey, the deposed President, had sold out every dollars worth of his stock in the corporation just before the Boston Dispatch and Kingsley Express negotiations. Clapp Spooner, the ex-Vice-President, also disposed of his holdings at the same time.

The investigating committee and the friends of the deposed officials were thunderstruck at this discovery, and much unfavorable comment is heard because the men retained their positions of trust and drew salary long after their other financial interest in the company had ceased. It is said that Mr. Hoey will shortly make a statement that will explain his side of the case.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

An Old Engine in a Repair Shop at St. Paul Makes Terrible Havoc.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 15.—Shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a terrible explosion rent the air at the shops of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railroad Company at South Park.

The employes in the shops had been repairing an old engine, and having completed the work, decided to test the boiler. Doubtless, too much steam was put on, for the boiler exploded with terrible effect.

Eleven persons were injured, three of them fatally. Five of the victims were terribly mutilated.

The three who are badly injured are John Clowry, Charles Neuman and John May.

A Clergyman's Son Missing.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—No trace has yet been found of Arthur D. Mayo, the son of Rev. A. D. Mayo of this city, who has been missing from his home since Sunday last. He was a lecturer on educational topics. He has been ill recently and it is believed that he has gone West while suffering from mental aberration.

Funeral of a Bicyclist.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Gus Hudson, who was prominent in bicycling circles throughout the State, was buried yesterday. The remains were escorted from his late home to the depot by the members of the Cortland Wheel Club. His own wheel, heavily draped, was led behind the hearse. This was done in compliance with the dying request of the dead wheelman.

Capt. Blazier on Trial.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 15.—Captain Herman Blazier, who shot and killed Thomas Wilson May 11 last, was put on trial yesterday. Wilson was a bystander during a quarrel between Blazier and a neighbor, and was hit by a bullet intended for the other man. Owing to the prisoner's ill health the trial was adjourned till January.

Light House Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The estimates of the Light-house establishment for the coming year, to be presented to Congress at its meeting in December, call for the appropriation of $2,233,900. The estimates last session called for about $2,000,000.

Red Cross Can't Collect Assessments.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—The officers of the Order of the Red Cross were yesterday enjoined from collecting assessments and from interfering with the assets of the order until further orders of the court by Justice Dunbar in the Supreme Court.

Chemical Company Burned Out.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 15.—The main building of the Hampden Paint and Chemical Company on Armory street was destroyed by fire last evening. Loss $60,000; fully insured. The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp.

Parochial and Public Schools to Unite.

STILLWATER, Minn., Oct. 14.—At the regular meeting of the school board last evening it was decided to accept the proposition of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Parish to turn over the parochial schools to the city. The buildings will be leased for one year for the nominal rental of $1. The present teachers will be retained if found competent.

The Pennsylvania Investigation.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—The Senate has resolved that the investigation of the charges against the late Treasurer, the Auditor-General and other officials shall be conducted in open session. Daily sessions will be held beginning at 10 a. m.

SHE IS PERSECUTED

The Strange Case of Mrs. Dominick Enderlitz.

ABDUCTED WHEN AN INFANT.

Taken to Switzerland and Put in Care of Cruel Peasants.

Money Sent From New York for Her Support--Told She Was the Daughter of a Wealthy American--Marries, and Determines to Seek Her Parents--Her Efforts Bring Persecution Upon Her and Frequent Attempts are Made to Steal Her Children--A Romantic and Mysterious Story.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A romantic story of the alleged abduction of a child of supposedly wealthy New Yorkers, of her isolation in a lonely spot in the wild mountains of Switzerland, of her subsequent escape from her cruel keepers, of her return to this city and persecution here by mysterious personages, came to light yesterday, through the following advertisement which appeared in one of the local German newspapers:

A LADY WHO WAS ABDUCTED WHEN a child, about 20 years ago, from New York City or vicinity, and taken to Switzerland, seeks her parents. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Enderlitz, No. 409 East 16th St.

A reporter found Mrs. Enderlitz in a small, neatly kept room on the second floor at that number, with two pretty, dark-eyed and swarthy looking children tugging at her skirts and gazing at the intruder with awed astonishment.

Mrs. Enderlitz said that she was the heroine of the story vaguely revealed in the advertisement, and then narrated her romantic history as she had gathered it here and there by bits and woven into a coherent and plausible whole.

She says that she has a vague remembrance of having been carried away from her parents by strangers and taken across a wide expanse of restless waters. She was a child at the time, perhaps 2 years of age. When she had grown up so that she could appreciate her surroundings she found herself in the hands of cruel and rough peasants away down in the dale of an isolated mountain in Switzerland. The nearest village was about five miles off, and could be reached only by a primitive, dangerous path along a steep mountain peak. Thither the young girl had often to wander in winter time through deep snows with a basket full of butter and eggs to take to a merchant.

While on these errands she picked up from the villagers now and then slender threads relating to her sudden and mysterious appearance in the household of her keeper and of occasional visits to the village of a well-dressed foreigner, supposedly an American, who would hold conferences with her mountain keeper and give him money. It was common gossip among the villagers that the Durrs (that was the supposed name of her supposed parents) were not her parents at all, as they had given out to the village pastor when he was called upon to christian her Annie. Besides this, Annie heard snatches of conversation now and then regarding her and the money that the foreign gentleman was sending at intervals from New York and other points in the vicinity for keeping Annie.

There came a time when this board money ceased to come and the peasants' treatment of Annie became more and more cruel. One day Durr told her that he would not keep her any longer, and came out with the story that she was the daughter of some wealthy American.

Annie was 15 years old when she left her bondage and started out in the world with the hope of finding her real parents.

She worked for a while in hotels where American tourists sojourn, hoping against hope that she might learn something of her parents through them. About ten years ago she met an honest, industrious young painter by the name of Dominick Enderlitz who was ambitious to pursue his luck in "the promised land" of America. Annie encouraged Dominick's attention to her and eventually accepted his offer of marriage.

They came to this city, but lack of money prevented Mrs. Enderlitz from at once instituting the search for her supposedly wealthy parents. About two years ago she inserted the first advertisement in a newspaper.

To the amazement of the honest couple, instead of getting an inkling of the identity and whereabouts of the sought-for parents, they found themselves persecuted by mysterious persons who seemed to be intent upon stealing one of their pretty, dark-eyed children.

Late one evening, upon leaving the Atlantic Garden on the Bowery, where they had gone with their two children to spend a pleasant evening, Mrs. Enderlitz found herself followed by a well-dressed, closely veiled woman. Her husband was a few paces ahead of her, carrying the younger of the two children, when the veiled woman rushed silently up to her and tried to snatch from her little Annie, who was walking at her side, holding her hand. After that similar attempts to steal one of the children were made several times at their home.

Mrs. Enderlitz in her despair finally went to Inspector Byrnes for protection. The Inspector advised her to move and never to allow her children to run around in the street. The advice was implicitly followed.

Mrs. Enderlitz believes that these attempts to abduct one of her children have some mysterious relation to her efforts in finding her parents, but she fondly entertains the vague hope that she will be in the end successful, and that a big fortune will yet come to her.

She tells her romantic story in an intelligent, coherent and thoroughly plausible fashion. Neighbors corroborate the story of the attempted abduction of her children, and fully believe in Mrs. Enderlitz's other tale of her own

One quart sifted flour, one heaping teaspoonful Cleveland's baking powder, one tablespoonful powdered sugar, half teaspoonful salt, sifted together; rub in one large tablespoonful butter. Beat an egg, add to it half a pint of sweet milk, stir quickly into the dry ingredients, roll half an inch thick, cut in three inch squares, turn the corners to the centre, crowd close together in a shallow pan and bake in a hot oven.

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

The difference between a teaspoonful and a heaping teaspoonful makes a large saving in a year's bakings. There is that much economy in using Cleveland's baking powder.

ORDER OF THE LOYAL LEGION.

Annual Session at Philadelphia--Ex-President Hayes Made Commander.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—The Commandery-in-Chief of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States began its annual session here yesterday afternoon and elected officers as follows: Commander-in-Chief, Rutherford B. Hayes; Senior Vice-Commander, Rear Admiral J. J. Almy; Recorder, Col. John P. Nicholson; Register, Col. Albert Ordway.

A reception was tendered the commandery in the evening by the Union League Club, during which a beautiful banner was presented to the order by George W. Childs, on behalf of the Comte de Paris. The banner was presented by the Count in recognition of the hospitality tendered him by the commandery during his visit here last October.

It is expected that the question of the establishment of the Loyal Legion library and museum of war relics will be settled at the present meeting of the commandery-in-chief. It is proposed to erect the library and museum in this city at a cost of between $250,000 and $300,000. Of this amount $150,000 has already been raised, and it is proposed to secure the balance by popular subscription.

WHEAT CROP RUINED.

The Yield Almost Destroyed by the Recent Storms.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—A special from Minneapolis, Minn., regarding the reported damage of the wheat crop, says:

The suspense over the wheat crop of North Dakota and the northern counties of Minnesota has grown into positive alarm. Up to Tuesday it was conceded that the grain would be threshed. During Monday night, however, heavy rains set in all over the northern country, which changed to snow and kept falling steadily.

The storm extends as far south as Minneapolis, and all threshing operations are suspended, and will not be resumed until next week, even if there be no more rain or snow. Mill and elevator men declare that from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels of wheat will be utterly ruined.

Col. P. B. Walker said of the situation yesterday: "I have just returned from a trip through that section. It made my heart ache to witness the ruin. In order to appreciate it one must actually see it. There are thousands of simply wonderful wheatfields almost utterly destroyed by the rains. The reports published do not cover half the devastation."

PRONOUNCED DEAD.

But Negro Brown Surprises Everyone by Suddenly Coming to Life.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 15.—A colored man, named Beverly Brown, who has been confined in the Hudson County jail awaiting examination as to his sanity, was taken suddenly ill on Tuesday evening. Yesterday morning he was found in his cell motionless and, apparently, inanimate.

After a hasty examination the County Physician pronounced the man dead. The body was removed to the Morgue, and was being prepared for the coffin when signs of life were detected by the Morgue keeper.

A physician was called who pronounced the man alive and ordered his removal to a hospital. Up to a late hour last night Brown had not recovered consciousness, although undoubtedly alive.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—For Eastern New York: Fair, stationary temperature, southerly winds.

For New England: Generally fair; slightly warmer; southerly winds.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland: Generally fair; stationary temperature; southerly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Light rain; slightly cooler; southerly winds, becoming westerly.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The oyster dredging season begins today.

Relatives of President Polk will contest the will of the late Mrs. Polk.

From all that can be learned the German concessions on American meat and farm products will be about 30 per cent.

Sir Edwin Arnold sailed from Liverpool for the United States yesterday on the City of New York.

It is said that a cut of wages, averaging 10 per cent. for the entrie force of men, will soon be made at the Carnegie Steel Works at Pittsburg.

—The annual convention of the fourth Y. M. C. A. district of New Jersey will be held at Rahway Nov. 20-22. E. L. Suffern of this city is one of the committee arrangements, and will give information to all interested.

—Yesterday was the first day of the sale of seats for the Musin concert, and the advance was something unprecedented in this city. There are still a number of the best in the house to be had at 50 and 75 cents, but they won't last long.

—The Plainfield Local Christian Endeavor Union will hold a business meeting the evening of Oct. 22, at the Trinity Reformed church. A large attendance from all the societies in the Union is requested, as the election of officers will take place.

—The borough now has "city" water. Doud & Rice turned a pure and powerful stream into the Water Supply Company's completed mains, at 3 o'clock this afternoon; and now as soon as the hydrants are all in, North Plainfield will have a perfect fire protection.

—Young men with a good common-school education who want to better their condition in life ought seriously to consider the opportunity offered by the Young Men's Christian Association in the short-hand class that will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms to-morrow at 8 p. m.

—Several thousand dollars has been expended in grading and improving the land out Central avenue; and in to-day's PRESS a plot of ground 330 by 600 feet, facing on avenues each of which is 60 feet wide, and opposite the extensive improvements referred to, is advertised for sale at a bargain.

—The Y. P. S. C. E. of Hope chapel will give an entertainment at the chapel this evening. The programme will be varied and interesting, and will consist of vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitation, and exercises by the children, after which supper will be served. A good time is promised to all who attend.

—Are you interested in temperance? Then be sure to attend the State convention, for I. K. Funk, editor of The Voice, is to make an address on that subject. Our own district secretary, Miss A. B Spangenberg, of Netherwood, will have something to say about missionary work. Do not miss the reception to delegates to be tendered by the several Newark churches Saturday afternoon, at which a light lunch will be served, so that all may stay to the evening service without inconvenience.—Y. P. S. C. E. Union.

—An example of quick stoppage of a train was witnessed in this city this afternoon. Flagman Bird at the North avenue station was signaling the 2:16 westbound express not to stop. Just as the train reached Peace street bridge the signal came from the ticket office to stop. The flagman had just time enough to drop the white flag and grab up the green and white one and give it one wave as the train whizzed by. The engineer stopped it at Central avenue without jarring a single passenger, and then backed up and took one passenger aboard.

Dan'l Boone Is Coming.

"Dan'l Boone", the well-known and popular melo-drama which appears at Music Hall, Wednesday, Oct. 21, is an American play in every sense of the word. It was written by an American author, depicting scenes in the career of an American hero, written for American audiences, and for the past four seasons has proved its worth by playing to uniform big houses all over the United States.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

HERE'S A HERO!

He Risks His Life to Save the Life of Another.

Gideon Hunt Macon, manager of the Crescent pharmacy, corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, seized a blazing lamp in the cellar of the building Tuesday evening, carried it up the narrow stairway and through the store, set it down in the middle of the street, and sprang back on the sidewalk just as the lamp exploded and threw the burning oil for many feet in all directions.

The lamp was blazing inside and out as Mr. Macon carried it along. When he stopped at the head of the cellar stairs to open the door, the burning oil was running over and dropping along the wooden floor patches of flame that he stamped out as he walked along. He expected an explosion every moment, and if it had been only the question of the loss of the building Mr. Macon would have left the lamp where it was. But he remembered that in apartments overhead Andrew M. Vanderbeek was lying very low from fever. If the building burned it might be impossible to get the sick man out; and if he was taken out into such a night air as was then blowing, he would surely die. So Mr. Macon risked his own life to save another's.

The cellar of the pharmacy is piled full of empty pine boxes and inflammable packing. It is lighted with a lamp that under all ordinary circumstances does not endanger anything. Tuesday evening, however, Mr. Macon, who happened to be standing behind the soda-water counter, noticed, through the aperture in the floor where the pipes run up from the syphons, that there was more glare in the cellar than the lamp ever gave before. He hurried down stairs to find flames shooting high out of the top of the lamp chimney, and blazing oil running down its sides.

He knew there would be an explosion in a few seconds, and his first intention was to set the lamp as far from the boxes as possible and then run for his own life. But when he remembered the sick man, that grand old courage that comes with his Southern blood swelled every vein in his body with determination. He seized the lamp and started on his perilous journey without a moment's delay. Had he been twenty seconds later the lamp would have exploded in his hands and he would undoubtedly have been burned to death.

A PROSPEROUS CHURCH.

Favorable Reports on the Reduction of Trinity's Debt, and New Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Trinity Reformed church was held last evening. Clerk D. Van Winkle, who is a member of the finance committee, had prepared a statement of the financial condition of the church for the six months ending Oct. 1. The report showed a gradual decrease of the bonded debt, and that every department of the church is in a healthy condition.

The election of three elders and three deacons, for the term of two years each, resulted as follows:

Elders—R. B. Field, O. W. Dunham, G. Q. Dolliver.

Deacons—E. E. Anthony, T. E. Hazell, F. C. Adams.

Pastor Schenck and his consistory and congregation have much to be grateful for to their Father for the glorious results of the year's labor; and their hearts are greatly cheered by the prospects of the coming year's labors, which promises to be one of increased earnest endeavor and fruitful results.

HE HAD A FLOWER IN HIS BUTTON.

But He Was a Kid-Gloved Rogue, and He Robbed a Fifth Street House.

A jauntily dressed young fellow, with a brown derby hat on his head, and kid gloves on his hands, and a flower in his button-hole, sauntered up to the house of William C. Strong at Fifth and Washington streets, opposite the Bethel chapel, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Strong was out, and the house was locked up. She was gone only an hour—from 1:30 to 2:30—but when she came back she found the house rummaged from top to bottom, and a valuable gold watch and $30 in cash were missing.

The thief had tried first to force open the back door, but though he broke the lock the bolt was too strong. He obtained entrance, however, by ripping open a pair of shutters and bursting open an inner door. He then searched the house to his heart's content. Thus far he has escaped arrest, but the police think they can get him.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Judges Jamison and TenEyck of the Somerset circuit court paid a visit to friends in the borough this afternoon.

Popular Jeremiah Garretson is a grandpop. Mrs. H. E. Gayle, his daughter, presented her husband with a son, last Sunday, and Mr. Gayle and his father-in-law are as proud as pigeons.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Clark Fowler of Orange to Frank Freeman Bayon of this city took place last evening as described in these columns yesterday. It was conceded by all present that never had bride looked more charming, nor groom more happy and devoted, than on this occasion. The host of friends of the young people wish them unbounded happiness. A very pretty incident of the wedding was the fact that the ushers and "best man" wore as souvenirs four-in-hand scarfs made by the bride from her wedding dress.

SOON OUT OF HIS NEW JOB.

Crawford Had Been a Fugitive from Plainfield Till He Thought He Was Forgotten, But the Lynx-Eyed Police Were Watching for His Return.

John Crawford trembled like an aspen leaf, before Judge Codington this morning. He was arrested way back in July, 1890, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and he was paroled by Captain Grant on the promise that he would pay within a few days the $8 fine imposed. He never paid it, however, and this morning when sergeant Lynch spied him on the street he proceeded speedily to gobble him up.

Crawford was greatly surprised, but despite sergeant Lynch's "I know better" he insisted that he had been in town all the time and had not skipped to avoid payment.

"He's been months away, judge"—said the sergeant.—"He just got back, thinking, I s'pose, 'twas all serene and safe for him again."

Crawford went to jail for 10 days, and left for the sergeant to deliver the paper of tacks, postage stamp and one-cent piece that when arrested he was conveying to Dr. Utter, who had just given him a job at laying carpets.

POLICEMAN FLANAGAN FOUND IT.

Some Joker Had Hidden It Away Under the Stoop, and It Was Not Stolen.

West Third street was in an uproar last evening, and all of policeman Flanagan's judgment and gallantry was required to quell the storm and restore the calm customary to that thoroughfare.

In adjoining houses in the same yard dwell Mrs. Thomas Fahye and family, and Mrs. Fahye's landlord, Mr Michael Conway. Mrs. Fahye had set a basket of clothes out in the rear of her house, and when she went to get it it was gone. She accused all the neighbors of having taken it, and sent for Mr. Flanagan and ordered him to search every house, including her landlord's. In a few minutes all the women of the locality were squabbling, but Mr. Flanagan pacified them, prodded around with his night-stick in all the dark corners, and settled all the trouble by producing the basket of clothes from under the back stoop, where some practical joker had hidden it.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

A HERMIT'S ROMANCE.

On Her Death Bed a Recluse Reveals Her Life's Secret.

LINCOLN, Mass., Oct. 15.—Katherine Kelley, Lincoln's old hermit, is dying, and yesterday she told the secret of her life. She was born in New Orleans in 1829, and in the years before the war she was the belle of the city. Her father's name was Samuel F. Gibbons. At the age of 18 she met a young man named Hiram Kelley, and clandestinely married him. The couple went to New York. Hiram was unfortunate in business ventures and went to sea. The ship was wrecked, and all but Hiram and one other were lost.

Among the wreckage that drifted ashore was a large box of gold. They saved this, and in 1856 reached New York again. At the beginning of the war Kelley enlisted and sailed under Admiral Farragut. He was killed in the bombardment of New Orleans. His wife returned to her native city after the war, but found her family almost blotted out of existence. She then returned North, came to this town, and has since lived a hermit's life.

She has requested that the trunk and its contents be sent to her brother, Samuel F. Gibbons, Jr., in New Orleans. Because of her miserly habits it is believed it contains a goodly share of the $128,000 which she claims she possessed at the close of the war.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Clarendon Lord, aged 40 of Deering, Me., hanged himself, early yesterday morning.

Rev. Phillips Brooks was consecrated Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts yesterday.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed and Hon. Chas. B. Allen spoke at the Republican mass meeting in Boston last night.

A brakeman named Corcoran was killed at East Cambridge, Mass., yesterday, on the Boston & Maine Railroad.

There is a rumor that the Searles will case has been compromised, and that Timothy Hopkins gets between eight and ten millions.

A Valuable Dog Now.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Clara Louise Kellogg-Strakosch, who is living at her summer home at New Hartford, was petting a strange dog two days ago, when he seized a diamond ring she had removed from one hand and was holding in the other. The dog swallowed the jewel, which had cost the owner $350, and the prima donna began negotiating for the purchase of the dog. The owner agreed to part with the dog for 50 cents, which Mrs. Strakosch gladly paid. The animal's value has now risen to $350.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

THAT SANDFORD AVENUE RETREAT.

Dr. Cooley Accused of False Promises and the Maintenance of Horrible Sights and Sounds.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In the communication from Mr. Shaen in your issue of last night, are fully expressed the sentiments of all the residents and property-holders of Sandford avenue, with possibly the exception of one family who are near relatives of the proprietor of the nuisance. Dr. Cooley has no excuse for maintaining such an institution, and did he value the truth it would not now exist in its present neighborhood, for he assured the writer—after the disgusting exhibition of last spring—that he would remove the patient and that it should never happen again.

He has kept his promise by increasing his practice, which grows more revolting and disgusting. Is he aware that the neighbors have made inquiries to know if there is a society for the prevention of cruelty to children in Plainfield? For there is a young infant in the "Retreat" who might require the attention of that society. Is he also aware of the fact that a lady residing in the vicinity has been ordered by her physician away from the place on account of the horrible scenes and noises emanating from the "Retreat exclusively for nervous patients"?

Dr. Cooley must not think that he can keep quiet, and that this is simply a newspaper excitement which will soon cease, for the property-holders have become determined to have the nuisance removed. Let him take it to his own handsome "Villa", and then he can enjoy the sweet music to his heart's content.

New Market Seventh-day Baptists.

[From The Y. P. S. C. E. Union]

A very pleasant social of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the New Market Seventy-day Baptist church was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Burdick the evening of Oct. 10. The occasion was enlivened by a dish of Scripture salad, consisting of broad green leaves of tissue paper, attached to each of which was a passage of Scripture. Each person in turn read his passage and was then required to state the book in the Bible from which the Scripture was taken. Most of the C. E's were able to locate their passage. After this and some other pastimes, refreshments were served and the social closed at 10 o'clock.

The semi-annual election of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Seventh-day Baptist church took place the evening of Oct. 3. The officers were: W. R. Larkin, president; Miss Corinne Livermore, vice-president; Ralph B. Titsworth, recording secretary; Miss Mary Titsworth, corresponding secretary and organist; Miss Maud Titsworth, treasurer; the Rev. L. E. Livermore, critic.

Five of the eight young people baptized by the Rev. L. E. Livermore last Sabbath were members of the Y. P. S. C. E.

A Gifted Little Actress in a Beautiful Little Story.

The first appearance here of Elsie Leslie and the entire New York cast in the production of Mark Twain's "Prince and Pauper", should cause great interest among the patrons of Music Hall. Elsie Leslie is undoubtedly the most gifted of all the young actresses, and the play is one calling for unusually strong dramatic work. Its characters stand out vividly like figures in a painting, and its scenes have a strong realism. Tenderness, pathos, and most exquisite humor, permeate it. The story is beautifully told by its gifted author and is well preserved in the dramatization. This is the first of Mark Twain's stories which has been successfully dramatized, both in a financial and literary sense.

The Word "Papist" Dropped.

The Presbytery of New Brunswick has just closed its session in Trenton. A spirited discussion took place on the dropping of the word "Papist" from the list of those whom it was unlawful to marry. Elder Hageman, of Princeton, thought the time had come when the animosity of men to the Roman Catholic church should be hushed. Others thought the word expressive and proper. Still others advocated the term "idolator", as applied to those who worshiped Christ through images. The word "Papist" was, however, dropped.

Coming Games of Crescent League Bowlers.

The Elizabeth game is postponed until next week.

The Crescent team who will open the Phœnix club-house with a match game to-morrow evening will be VanWinkle, Thiers, Teel, Doane, Vail, Allis, Hetfield; with Williams, Bill Emerson, Arnold, Codington and VanEmburgh as substitutes. The game will begin at 8 o'clock. The train will leave Plainfield at 3:51, to catch a train from the Grand Central at 42d street to Mott Haven. The alleys are at the corner of 138th street and Mott avenue.

New York's Mayor Gets a Plainfield Mare.

Dr. Monroe B. Long of this city exchanged, yesterday, with William H. Clark, corporation counsel of New York city, his trotting mare "Lady Allen" for a stylish road mare suitable to the doctor in his practice.

Mr. Clark had been in Plainfield several times recently, speeding the mare, with which he was greatly pleased. It is understood that he made the exchange for New York's Mayor, and that "Lady Allen" is to have a place of honor in the private stables of Hugh J. Grant.

NEW HOME FOR THE "Y'S".

Then Will Come Renewed Efforts, and a Winter of Zealous Work.

The "Y's" are again to have a home of their own. This was decided at a meeting of the union yesterday afternoon. The meeting was to be held in Bethel chapel, but at the appointed hour the sexton did not appear, and refuge was taken in the parlors kindly offered by a neighbor. Those present numbered twenty, with five new members. The chair was occupied by Miss Amy Green, president.

After the customary Scriptural reading and prayers, and the adoption of the minutes of Sept. 16, the subject of new rooms came up. Considerable discussion ensued, the result of which was the adoption of the motion that after Nov. 1 the "Y's" have rooms of their own, as in former days. Miss Grace Lewis, Miss Mabel Potter, Miss Kittie Glen and Miss Augusta Holmes were appointed a committee to make the choice of rooms.

The proposition to give an entertainment before the holidays was discussed, and Miss Louise Green was authorized to select her own committees in deciding the matter.

The necessary arrangements for the talk that Mrs. Barnes is to give to the "Y's" about the first of November were left to Miss Amy Green.

The precise date for the cake and candy sale which the "Y's" intend to give some time before Thanksgiving will be decided on at their next business meeting, which will be held Nov. 3.

HARVEY HUMPHREY RETURNS.

He Lived in the Woods on Apples During the Week He Was Gone.

Harvey Humphrey, the man who had been missing from Westfield nearly a week, brought joy to his aged father and mother by walking into their house again yesterday morning. His mother had given him up for dead since the detectives and searching parties had been unable to find him, and her joy on seeing him alive was beyond expression.

From appearances it would seem that Humphrey had been walking aimlessly about ever since he left home in a fit of mental aberration, the result of an attack of the grip, last Friday. His clothing gave most evidence of his continued outdoor life. As for himself, he could tell but little, and that not very satisfactory. He denies having been in any house, and says that when hungry he ate apples. If he has any reasonable recollections of where he has been wandering and what he did, he may be able to tell them in a few days, but it is more than probable that he will never recall the story sufficiently well to give any satisfactory account of his tramping. His mind now seems to be clear and settled.

Another Star of the Galaxy.

Not the least of the eminent solo artists who have been engaged to appear in the grand concert at Music Hall, Thursday evening of next week, is Inez Parmater, the gifted, cultured, and handsome mezzo-soprano. As an English ballad singer, she certainly has very few superiors, and surely none in America. It is even doubtful if she has an equal. She possesses a heavy dramatic soprano voice of richness and sympathy, with notes as clear as a bell. There is a peculiar charm in her ballad singing which has tremendous effect.

INEZ PARMATER.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

The Judge Not Circle of King's Daughters will give another of their charming cake sales in the choir room of the Holy Cross church to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, for sweet charity's sake. Besides the cakes themselves, and their pretty bakers, which would seem sufficient attraction, there will be given to the one holding the winning ticket a handsome picture painted expressly for the occasion.

Every housewife who remembers the Judge Not's former artistic triumphs in the cake line will be on hand early in order to have first choice, and there can be no doubt that to-morrow's sale will prove as great a conquest financially as artistically.

Delegates of the Grant Club.

At a meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican club of North Plainfield, held last evening, the following delegates to the State Convention of Republican clubs to be held at Trenton to-day were elected: T. W. Morrison, Charles P. Sebring, H. Newton Spencer, Caleb Dickinson, Charles A. Reed.

Speeches were made by Mayor Place, councilman Hegeman, T. W. Morrison, councilman Buckle, ex-councilman Emmons, and Messrs. Fountain, Winckler, Martin, Spencer, Higgins, Duck, Goodwin, and others.

About 75 were in attendance. B. A. Hegeman presided, and H. Newton Spencer was secretary. Eight new names were proposed for membership.

His Dog Saved His Life.

The story comes from South Plainfield that a train was stopped, Tuesday night, on the Lehigh Valley railroad by the engineer, who saw an object ahead on the track. A bull-dog, standing guard over his drunken master, was facing the engine defiantly. The man was removed only when the growling dog saw that no harm was meant.

SUMPTUOUS QUARTERS AT THE CAPITOL.

A Luxurious Home Preparing for the Jersey Legislature Next Winter.

The bids for the new furniture of the Assembly Chamber were opened Tuesday, and the Governor made the following awards: New Jersey School Church Furniture Company of Trenton, seventy members' desks, $2,240; seventy chairs, $980; A. B. Dock & Co., Chicago, clerk's desk, $300; Speaker's desk, $250; Convery & Walker, Trenton, fourteen compartment lockers and wardrobes, $1,688. Total cost of furniture, $5,450.

The furniture will be in keeping with the other luxurious surroundings of the interior of the new State House. The speaker will sit on a marble platform. His desk will be of antique oak, finely carved. It will be six feet wide, with polished top. There will be a high-back Gothic chair, elaborately carved and with leather covering.

The Clerk's desk is even more elaborate than that of the Speaker. It will be carved in panels and fluted columns, and will be ten feet long. The back will be divided into numerous pigeonholes. This, as well as all of the furniture, is to be of kiln-dried, quartered oak, and highly polished. There will be seventy desks, sixty for the members and ten for the reporters. These desks are to be of the same size as those now in use in the Senate. The lids are to be covered with the first quality of blue billiard cloth, to have a small railing around the top, and have the proper compartments for stationery. The name plates are to be of silver.

The new members will have the use of a locked wardrobe. Heretofore coats and hats were hung anywhere, and most of the time they were on the floor. Medicine and cigars were hid under the lounges, and occasionally a sly pickpocket would work the cloakroom with considerable profit. There are to be fourteen sets of compartment lockers. They will be wide enough for half a dozen men to use. They will have drawers and can always be locked. This will insure ample protection for the clothing. There are seventy chairs of oak, leather-finished, and to be of the same revolving character as the chairs used before. The cloak-rooms are large and well lighted. There has been nothing said yet about the furnishing of the officers' rooms and the committee-rooms. There will be a separate contract for that and stock goods can be used.

The ladies' gallery is circular, and it will be furnished with cushioned benches. There will be new rules for the ladies' gallery. A part will be set aside for the relatives and friends of the members and wives and relatives of the State officers. Admission to this part will be made by ticket.

The specifications require that all the furniture must be ready for delivery Dec. 1. All the furniture dealers declare that it will be impossible to do so. The Governor is willing to extend the time until the middle of the month, but no longer.

RAILROADS AT WAR.

The Jersey Central Takes a Hand in Fighting the New Port Reading.

The Port Reading Railroad Company is being fought by the Jersey Central where the two roads run together in northern Middlesex, and the latter is laying many obstacles in the way of its road.

Last spring Messrs. Job C. Kinyon, James M. Thompson and Lewis T. Howell were appointed commissioners to condemn some lands near Bound Brook, for the use of the Port Reading Railroad company. Among other tracts was a little piece of ground lying between the Raritan river and the Lehigh Valley railroad, near the turn-table of the Central road, and belonging to the Central company.

It consists of less than an acre and a half. The commissioners made an award of $450 for this land. From this decision the Central company appealed, claiming for it a valuation of $10,000, as a manufacturing site. It is low land, covered with water by every freshet in the river, and inaccessible from the Central road.

A struck jury last week awarded $375 for the land and $28.12½ damages.

Brave Jersey Soldiers Again to Meet.

The annual reunion of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, will be held at Washington, Warren county, Thursday, Oct. 22. General William H. Penrose, U. S. A., the last commander of Kearny's Old First New Jersey Brigade, and colonel of the Fifteenth, has promised to be present.

This regiment was attached to Kearny's Old Brigade (First Brigade, First Division, Sixth Army Corps), and made a record second to none. The citizens of Washington will give a reception to the regiment, which will be followed by a banquet and business meeting in the afternoon.

New Bible Training Class at Trinity.

The quarterly meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday-school of the Trinity Reformed church will be held in the lecture room of the church to-morrow evening, at 7:45. After the regular business has been transacted, a normal class, or Bible training class, for the purpose of meeting weekly and studying the Sunday-school lessons, will be formed. Members of the church and Sunday-school, and friends of the movement, are invited to attend.

DOES THIS MEAN YOU?

Better Read It at Any Rate.

Many a man who formerly possessed a powerful physique and strong, steady nerves, wonders at his feeling of weakness, dullness, exhaustion. There is an extremely nervous condition, a dull, cloudy sensation, disagreeable feelings in head and eyes, bad taste in mouth mornings, the vision becomes dim, memory is impaired, and there is frequent dizziness, despondency and depression of mind. The nerves become so weakened that the least shock will flush the face or bring on a trembling with palpitation.

Luckily there is the great and wonderful restorative, Dr. Greene's Nervura, which will give back to the weakened and exhausted system the strength it has lost, imparts vigor to brain and nerves, vitalizes and invigorates the physical powers, dispels despondency and restores again that grand degree of lusty strength and power which in ignorance or folly we have exhausted. Druggists sell it, $1. Purely vegetable and harmless. Try it and you will never regret it!

"I deem it my duty to the public to state the wonderful effects of Dr. Greene's Nervura, in my case My improvement has been most gratifying, and language cannot describe the change in my feelings and prospects. Where all was gloom and despondency, there is now light and hope. I gained 13 pounds, and am still gaining. Not alone myself but I know many others who can testify to the merits of Dr. Greene's Nervura. CHARLES H. HODGON, 35 Dana St., Somerville, Mass."

N. B. ☞ Dr. Greene, the successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th St., New York, can be consulted, free, personally, or by letter. THE WORLD'S HIGHEST.

New York to Have a Mammoth Business Block.

The Building Will Have One Thousand Offices and an Immense Tower—To Be Constructed of Steel with a Terra Cotta Skin.

New York is to have a new business building on the Chicago model. The Sun gives the following description of the structure:

It is proposed to put up in this city the largest business building in the world. The site selected is the vacant ground on the west side of lower Broadway opposite Bowling Green, extending from Broadway to Greenwich street, and between the Washington building and the Stevens house. Charles W. Dayton owns the property, and is trying to get together the capital necessary to carry the project through. The plans were drawn for him by Architect F. P. Dinkelberg. The building will cost about $4,000,000.

The plot of ground upon which it is proposed to put this building is slightly irregular in shape. It has a Broadway frontage of 162 feet and about the same on Greenwich street. Its depth from street to street is about 200 feet. The building will consist virtually of two structures fronting respectively on each street and connected in the middle by a central structure which will become the tower above the twentieth floor. The floor plan of the building, therefore, will be shaped like the letter H. It will cover about 32,000 feet of surface area. There will be six stories in the tower above the main roof, making twenty-six in all.

On Broadway and Greenwich street the fronts of the main building will rise perpendicularly to a height of 290 feet. The first five floors will be faced with massive granite blocks, giving the whole structure an appearance of great solidity. From there up the fronts will be terra cotta, incasing the steel construction and laid on for effect, but from the street seeming to be a substantial brickwork to the roof. The terra cotta will be pale yellow and mottled. The architectural effect of the front may be seen in the accompanying picture. The great tower also will have a terra cotta skin. It will rise 260 feet from the roof of the main structure and will be topped by copper pillars and a dome. The apex of the dome will be 550 feet above the surface of Broadway. The tower will have from the street the same appearance of solidity as the building proper and will seem to depend for its support upon the walls.

There will be 1,000 offices on the twenty-six floors, all of which will be open to light and air. The average floor space for each office will be 300 square feet. The tower is not a mere ornamental adjunct. It will contain offices on six floors. The plans provide for an arcade on the main floor similar to that of the Equitable building, only not so long. The Equitable arcade is 300 feet. This will cover the 200 feet between Broadway and Greenwich street. It will be 20 feet wide. Costly decorations, booths, telegraph, telephone and messenger offices, and a room where speaking-tube communication may be had with every office in the building will be the features of the arcade. On this floor also will be fireproof storage vaults for the larger offices of the building. The ground story will be 22 feet high, the second story 17 feet, the third story 15 feet, the fourth story 13 feet, the fifth story 12 feet and the upper stories 11 feet each. The first, second, third, fourth and fifth stories on the Broadway side will be given up to large offices for the use of big companies with many employes.

A SAN FRANCISCO RELIC.

One Red-Tiled Adobe Structure to Recall Mission Days.

San Francisco is singularly lacking in any of the mementos of the old mission days, says the Chronicle. While there are still many structures in Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Luis Obispo, Monterey and other places that date back to the coming of the founders of the missions, San Francisco has preserved almost nothing of the sort. The hand of the iconoclast has not been stayed, and the craze for "improvement" has swept away almost the last vestige of the founders of the mistress of the Golden Gate. For many years there were in the vicinity of the old mission a number of adobe buildings whose crumbling walls and red-tiled roofs were objects of curiosity to thousands of visitors, although their very existence was unknown to many who had been born and brought up in the city. But within a recent period these have all disappeared save one little building which stands on Sixteenth street, just around the corner from the old Mission church. The adobe walls have become so weakened by the storms of a century that they have been nearly covered with boards, but the old tile roof remains, and this, with the occasional glimpses of the gray, crumbling walls seen through the interstices of the outer sheathing, stands out in sharp contrast with the latter-day effects of our unartistic buildings which surround it on every side.

FOND OF EXERCISE.

Favorite Pastimes of the Lovely Queen of the Belgians.

The queen of the Belgians, who is recovering from the severe attack of illness which seemed to threaten her life a few weeks ago, is one of the most active among the active lady sovereigns of Europe. It is said of her that she never sits down except when she is playing at the piano or the harp, both of which instruments she plays with "the touch of the master hand." Altogether her majesty is passionately fond of music, and one of her chief amusements is a visit to the theater or opera, where, however, she is content to sit all alone in her box rather than weary even a single lady-in-waiting with taking part in an entertainment for which she may possibly have no taste. Another of the queen's amusements is horsemanship. She has not only a splendid manege of her own, but she takes a special pride in breaking in her own saddle horses, and in teaching and perfecting her daughter, Princess Clementine, in the art of equitation. At Laeken and Ostend, her favorite country seats, the queen delights in long walks, and spends long hours, together with her daughter, in fishing expeditions.

THE QUEEN OF THE BELGIANS.

Marvelous Fecundity.

The reproductive powers of many bacteria is so marvelous as to be almost beyond belief. Prof. Law has experimented with several different forms which were capable of doubling their number every hour. When in the best condition a single bacterium will give 16,777,200 individuals in the short space of twenty-four hours. In forty-eight hours the offspring from a germ not measuring more than the one-fifteen-thousandth of an inch will have increased until the bulk cannot be put in a half-pint measure, the total number of individuals then exceeding 281,500,000,000! If these deductions are correct (and scientists have proved that they are, as near as such figures can possibly be from the very nature of the experiment,) is it any wonder that bacterial diseases are so difficult to control?

Can Animals Talk?

Sir Thomas Brown, in dealing with "Vulgar Errors," not only maintains that animals may be made to talk, but gravely cites instances to prove that elephants, at least, have been actually taught to speak. One of these knowing creatures in Portuguese, India, according to Mr. Brown, stubbornly refused to do what he was bid until it had been commanded solemnly in the name of the king of Portugal, upon which the beast answered: "I will, I will!" very distinctly in the Malabar language. Sir Thomas is also at great pains to point out the fact that the oral conformation of apes indicates their capacity for reasonable articulation. We know that birds of no intelligence whatever have shown remarkable powers in the acquisition of language.

The Ruling Passion.

A woman in a telegraph office is almost as much out of her element as she is at a teller's window in a bank, or as a man is in a dry goods store. A young lady of Buffalo tried to send a telegram to a friend whom she expected to visit her, and on the blank wrote: "Come this week sure, and stay as long as you can." She carefully underscored the words she wanted emphasized and complacently handed in the message to the operator.

JOSIE A BRIDE AGAIN

The Woman Responsible for Fisk's Murder Married.

NEW YORK LAWYER THE GROOM

He Believed Josie Mansfield Alone Could Save Him from Drunkenness.

He Has More Money than Briefs—History of the Woman Who Once Was the Most Talked of Person in the Country—Her Intrigue With the Erie King Recalled. How She Came to Marry Lawyer Reade —Now the Sister-in-Law of a Lord.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Josie Mansfield is married. The woman who was more discussed 20 years ago than any other person in the western hemisphere—the woman who inspired Edward S. Stokes to kill James Fisk, jr.—has again become staid and demure.

Mrs. Lawlor, formerly Miss Josie Mansfield, was married last Friday at St. George's Church, Hanover square, London, to Mr. Robert L. Reade, of New York. Mr. Lawlor, brother of Lady Falkland; his mother, and three members of the bride's family were present. The couple are spending the honeymoon at Brighton.

Robert L. Reade, her husband, is a lawyer, but has always enjoyed too much money and too merry associates to become remarkably celebrated at the Bar. He is a short, thickset man with a rich red Burgundian complexion. He looks like a man who has seen forty-five years or more, but his oldest friends in this city say he is much younger than that.

Mrs. Reade spent last summer at Carlsbad with her cousin, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, and her daughters. Lawyer Robert L. Reade went over to visit his mother in July. There he met Josie Mansfield, who, in spite of her years, was as much of a belle as ever. She called herself Mrs. Frank Lawler and the number of her devoted admirers was legion. Lawyer Reade was fascinated. He urged the fair Josie to marry him, but she was coy. She told him to take ample time and consider well what he was about to do. How well he considered is told by the marriage Friday.

Josie Mansfield's History.

It is not fair even to guess at Mrs. Robert L. Reade's age. She is as charming to-day as she was when she ensnared the gallant Col. Jim Fisk, jr., more than a score of years ago. Her fame went abroad, too. Her name was as well known in every backwoods hamlet as John L. Sullivan's is to-day. Bonnets and gowns and a certain mode of dressing the hair were claimed for her.

Then Josie Mansfield and Jim Fisk quarrelled and parted. The King of Erie was jealous because his handsome friend and ex-partner Ned Stokes, was too attentive to Josie and spent too many days and nights in the house Jim Fisk's money had furnished for her. Then came bickerings, a threat of publishing all of Fisk's letters and telegrams to Josie, an injunction by which Fisk prevented Stokes from publishing them or any of them, and finally the shooting of Fisk by Stokes on the main stairway of the Grand Central Hotel on Broadway.

Josie sued Col. Fisk's widow for $200,000 she claimed the dead man owed her, but she did not win the suit. Josie went to Boston, but she found that city to hot to live in. Crowds followed her and hooted her in the streets. Soon she fled to Paris. There she made her home, and there very likely she will carry on the good work of saving her husband from drinking himself to death.

Josie Mansfield was married in 1864 to Frank Lawlor, an actor of some note. She was then living in San Francisco with her parents. Lawlor and Josie led a happy life until 1868, when he found that he could no longer live with her.

HE WAS JEALOUS.

A Scranton Pattern Maker Shoots His Wife and Badly Hurts Her Father.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 16. — Stephen D'Ayala, a pattern maker at the Wightman Motor Works, shot his wife twice through the head last evening at the May House, where the couple resided with the wife's father. The woman fell dead over her child which she was stooping to pick up.

The husband, it is stated, called from a bath room to his wife to come and care for the child, and as she entered the room he shot her.

The father of Mrs. D'Ayala and several other persons who were at the supper table, rushed into the hallway at the sound of the weapon.

The murderer attempted to escape and a scuffle followed, in which the father was badly injured. D'Ayala then got away, but was captured in the cellar of another hotel and lodged in jail.

Jealousy is the alleged cause of the tragedy.

More Victims of the Green-Eyed Monster.

CANTON, O., Oct. 16.—A 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lottie Loey was shot and killed here yesterday by Charles Hawkins. Hawkins then tried to kill himself by slashing three gashes across his throat with a razor and cutting four holes in his head with a hatchet. He will hardly recover. Jealousy of a man named White led to the tragedy.

Gov. Hill to Go to Atlanta.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Gov. Hill will start on Sunday next for Atlanta, Ga., where he is to deliver the address at the dedication of the Grady monument on the 21st inst. The committee of arrangements from Atlanta will convey the Governor and his party thither in two private cars which have been secured for the purpose. The Governor's party will consist of Gen. Slocum of Brooklyn, A. McCall of New York, Gen. Austin Lathrop, Assistant Adjutant-General McEwen, Gen. Ferdinand P. Earle, of the Governor's staff and one or two others.

THE FLY WHEEL BURST.

Three Killed and Many Hurt in a New Hampshire Mill.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 16.—A 68-ton fly wheel in the Amoskeag Mills burst yesterday morning, demolishing that part of the structure in which it was located and causing the death of at least three persons.

The dead are: Samuel Bunker, engineer, Ada L. Cram and Mamie Kean. The following were injured: Mary McNabb, internally; Susie Brookhouse; Lina M. French, Nellie Boardman, Melvina Martel, Louisa Martel, Lemuel Davitt and Emil Duane.

The engineer was killed instantly, and Ada L. Cram and Mamie Kean died during the day of their injuries. Miss Cram had an arm and a leg broken, and Miss Kean was injured about the head. Two or three others of the injured may die. Workmen are busily engaged in removing the debris, two or three others being missing.

The Amoskeag Mills employ 8,000 operatives, but the only victims were those employed in the one story above the engine room. The fly-wheel made 60 revolutions per minute, but the speed increased suddenly about 9 o'clock, when the break came.

The cause of the explosion is attributed to the governor of the engines.

The explosion shook the city and the report was like that of a cannon.

It being "merchants' week" thousands of strangers were in the city and crowds flocked to the mill gates, but few were allowed to pass in except surgeons and those with ambulances.

The Amoskeag corporation, which is one of the richest cotton manufacturing concerns in this country, is looking after the wounded and their families.

KILLED THREE REPORTERS.

Horrible Accident to a Party Who Were Writing Up a Railroad Ride.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A horrible accident, resulting in the death of three members of the "Inter-Ocean" staff, occurred on the Chicago & Illinois road yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, near Crete, Ill. The dead are Leonard Washburn, sporting reporter for the "Inter-Ocean;" Fred W. Henry, reporter, and J. A. McAfferty, artist for the same paper; James Clark, engineer.

The train left Evansville early in the morning and proceeded safely to Crete, where it ran into an open switch. The three men who were killed were on the engine, Henry and McAfferty having gone out for the purpose of writing up and illustrating a midnight ride on the fast train, and Washburne, who was returning to Chicago from an Indiana trip, having joined his friends on the engine. The accident came without warning, and as the locomotive plunged from the track the four men were caught and completely buried beneath the wreck.

New Wheat Tariff With Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Mr. Thomas Ryan, United States Minister to Mexico, has sent a dispotch to the State Department enclosing a decree by President Diaz, amending the existing toll tariff on wheat and wheat tariff. As amended the tariff law reads: "Wheat flour or wheat grain for threshing one hundred kilograms, $1.34; wheat flour in granule, all classes, one hundred kilograms, $1.10; wheat, that which is introduced into the city of Mexico, gross weight, 100 kilograms, 90 cents. This new tariff went into effect Sept. 22.

He Has Killed Five.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 16.—Noah Adair, one of the mysterious moonshiners of West Virginia and who has a record of having killed five men, was lodged in jail here yesterday. Adair was the leader of the famous Millens gang and a year ago the gang routed no fewer than three posses of deputy marshals who attempted their arrest. Two of the Millens gang were captured three months ago and two others were shot. Adair fled to Virginia, where he was captured after a week's chase over the mountains.

Suit by the Travelers' Insurance Co.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—The Travelers' Insurance Company yesterday entered a bill in equity in the United States Circuit Court, against Ellen P. Hatch, of North Brookfield, Mass., to obtain certain securities which the company alleges were turned over to her by her husband, Charles W. Hatch, with intent to defraud his creditors, among whom is the insurance company. The Travelers' Insurance Company alleges that Hatch is indebted to them to the extent of $23,608 on account of frauds alleged to have been practiced upon the company by Hatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The Treasury Department has decided that a marble bust of the Prince of Wales, imported by a Masonic society of Iowa, is entitled to free entry.

ATLANTA IN PORT

Her Rough Experience in the Late Storm.

AT MERCY OF WIND AND WAVES

Two of Her Crew Were Killed By an Explosion and Others Hurt.

Sent Out in Aid of the Wrecked Despatch, She Came Back Almost a Wreck Herself—The Worst Blow in the Captain's Experience—The Engines Disabled and a Leak Sprung—Waves Dashed Over Her Smokestacks, But She Weathered All Safely.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—With her port hawse hole smashed, her main deck sheathing cracked and six men severely injured, two probably fatally, the United States steamship Atlanta came to anchor off Bedloe's Island last night, after the severest struggle with the elements that any ship of the new navy has experienced.

The Atlanta left the navy yard at 3 o'clock Sunday morning for Assateague Shoals, to help the wrecked Despatch. Off Absecam Light, near the Delaware Breakwater, she encountered a terrible gale from the northeast and drifted at the mercy of the wind and sea only 20 miles from the coast until daybreak Wednesday morning.

On Monday night her decks were swept by terrific seas, which smashed the port hawse hole, cracked the sheathing of the main deck and flooded the berth deck. An enormous wave breaking on her quarter flooded the double compartment between the hold and the berth deck.

This deck is divided by a partition, the forward being the collision compartment and the aft the storeroom. In the collision compartment was stored a quantity of Japan dryer, the basis of which is naphtha. The pumps were rigged to relieve the vessel of the water, and a light was lowered, when the naphtha gas exploded.

Frank Craven James, seaman apprentice, and James Monahan, blacksmith, were badly burned about the hands, necks and arms, and are fatally injured by breathing the ignited vapor. The others injured are Henry Helja, seaman, badly burned and wounded in the head; Aloic Nowac, landsman, just shipped; John Edward Eli, marine, and Joseph Merriam, seaman, head and hands badly burned.

On Wednesday at daybreak the storm abated, the officers got their bearings and put into the Delaware Breakwater, leaving there after coaling yesterday morning. She will go to the navy yard early to-day and will be dry docked for repairs.

In speaking of the vessel Captain John W. Phillips said that in a storm such as he had witnessed for severity the ship behaved splendidly, and that the white squadron, as represented by the Atlanta, is a fleet of thoroughly seaworthy vessels, capable of weathering any storm and of standing a gale which would send many inferior ships to the bottom.

HE ROBBED HIMSELF.

A Station Agent's Story Exploded, and He is Arrested.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Station Agent Southwick, who stated last Thursday that he had been waylaid and robbed the previous night, of $350 belonging to the Stoney Clove & Catskill Railroad Company, and the American Express Company, has been arrested, suspected of having committed the deed himself to hide the robbery.

At the time he told the story Southwick exhibited his clothing covered with mud, and a wounded finger, the top of which he claimed, had been shot off, while he had been struggling with the highwaymen.

His story was believed by the people of Tannerville, where he had been agent for four years. Investigation by the officials of the company, however, revealed, it is said, conclusive evidence of Southwick's guilt and he was accordingly placed under arrest.

In Favor of Political Union.

BELLE RIVER, Ont., Oct. 16.—At the meeting on behalf of political union with the United States the chair was occupied by Patrick Strong, ex-Reeve of the township of Rochester, and a life-long Conservative. A resolution was passed in favor of political union, every person present rising to his feet to show his sympathy for the movement. Before the meeting adjoured a Continental Union Club was formed with a large membership.

Baccarat Cumming Coming Over.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—An entry was made in the Baltimore Custom House, yesterday, of personal property of Sir William Gordon-Cumming. The goods came by steamship to Baltimore, and were consigned to Washington, D. C. This is taken as an indication that the famous Englishman will shortly visit this country. He will be remembered as being concerned in the Tranby Croft scandal.

THE SENATE INVESTIGATING.

Inquiry Into the Conduct of Pennsylvania's Officers—Bitter Contest Likely.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16.—The Senate's investigation into the alleged misconduct in office of State Treasurer Boyer and Auditor-General McCamant began in real earnest yesterday morning.

Auditor-General McCamant, through his counsel, first made answer to the proclamation of the Governor. The answer protested that the Governor had no authority under the constitution to convene the Senate, and that the Senate had no warrant under the constitution for addressing the Governor asking for his removal. Then came a general and specific denial of all the charges against the Auditor-General.

It was expected that State Treasurer Boyer would be examined but he was compelled to leave for Baltimore on account of the illness of his mother.

After a short recess the Attorney-General stated that at the invitation of the Senate he appeared to assist the body in the investigation at such time, in such manner and for such purposes as the Senate might indicate, provided that such assistance be not involved in such a manner as would be inconsistent with his relations to the Governor as his legal and constitutional adviser. He said that he did not propose to appear in the nature of prosecutor, but simply to assist the Senate.

The Attorney-General having asked for an adjournment until Monday afternoon in the interest of expeditious inquiry, the Senate acceded to his suggestion.

Rufus E. Shapely, counsel for Auditor-General McCamant, says that in any event the struggle for possession of the Auditor-General's office will be prolonged and bitter. Even should the Senate present a a finding to the Governor sufficient to remove McCamant the latter would refuse to recognize the Governor's authority to remove, and would decline to recognize any appointee and not turn over the Department keys. In this event the matter would go to court, and in the end would get to the Supreme Court, and by the time the latter body had passed judgment McCamant's time would have expired.

STILL A MYSTERY.

No Clue to the Murderer of Mrs. Gregory at Middletown.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The murder of Mrs. Noah Gregory is the only thing talked about here. No clue of the murderer has yet been obtained.

It is thought that Mrs. Gregory was in the kitchen when the robber entered the sitting room. Hearing a noise she hurried into the sitting room, when the robber fired into her face and ear. Another bullet was embedded in the head. The face was filled with powder. Her left hip was fractured and the nose crushed in. Her hands were also torn and scratched in the struggle.

The murderer left bloody stains all about the room, and on the hitching post were traces of his horrible deed.

Mrs. Gregory was a woman about 45 years old; tall, graceful and with a pleasant face. She was the mother of two sons. Her husband and children are much prostrated by the murder.

No pains will be spared to discover the murderer, and a large reward will be offered. Sheriff Johnson is on the ground endeavoring to ferret out a clew.

A Murderer Lynched.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 16.—Early Tuesday morning Mrs. Fannie Fadden, of Cape Charles City, aged 70, was murdered by a servant named George Dyer for her money. Dyer was subsequently arrested and lodged in the Eastville jail, where a mob of 75 men went early yesterday morning, secured the prisoner, who had confessed to the crime, and lynched him. Dyer was about 22 years old, white, and the instrument used in the murder was a huge knife. The money Mrs. Fadden had in her possession amounts to between $300 and $400.

G. A. R. Monument to Gen. Grant.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—The Grand Army of the Republic intends to erect in Washington, D. C., a monument to General Grant and the necessary money to pay for the monument is being raised by popular subscription among the G. A. R. posts of the country. It is estimated that the sum of $10,000 will be required to erect the monument. A committee, consisting of Generals Burdette, Conner and Alger, and Cols. Heath and Grant, which has charge of the matter, is in session here for the purpose of organization.

Despondency Drove Him to Suicide.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 16.—Jacob L. Sutpin, aged 50 years, a well-known resident of this place, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the head. He had just returned from a visit to the grave of his wife when he committed the act. Mr. Sutphin had been subject to spells of despondency for a year past, caused by financial troubles, brought about by the peculations of a clerk in his employ.

He Cleaned a Gun—Usual Result.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The wife of Capt. Powell, of New York, who is staying at a noted American boarding house on Keppel street, Russell Square, went to the theatre last night, and during her absence, her son, aged 16, was engaged in cleaning a rifle, when the weapon exploded and shot a daughter aged 14, above the left breast. She is severely injured.

Beats the Machine Composition Record.

TOLEDO, Oct. 16. — F. J. Smith, who operates a Mergenthaler linotype type-setting machine on the "Commercial," beat the world's record for machine composition, setting 47,900 ems corrected matter in exactly eight hours. His previous record was 35,900, made in Brooklyn.

Boston Sued for $700,000.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—W. A. Bricknell and others, yesterday, began a suit against the city of Boston for $700,000 damages for the alleged infringement of a patent granted to Bricknel, for an improvement in feed water heaters for fire engines.

WANTS NO DIVORCE

So Says the Wife of Canada's Postmaster-General.

SHE IS NOW IN NEW YORK CITY.

Denies the Story that She Came to This Country for a Separation.

Mrs. John Haggart Tells of the Thirty Years of Her Married Life—Persecution by Her Husband—He Attempts to Take Away Her Child—Efforts to Blacken Her Good Name—How She Saved Haggart's Property—An Interesting Story.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—In East New York on Stewart street there is a little two-story wooden cottage which, in spite of its modest appearance, is at present the home of the wife of John Haggart, the Postmaster-General of Canada.

Mrs. Haggart is a woman with beautiful hair, white as it is possible for hair to become. Her face still has a youthful look and in spite of the fact that she is well on toward 50 years of age. Mrs. Haggart is still a beautiful woman. Thirty years ago she was Catherine Douglas, the belle of the little inland village of Perth, about 60 miles from Ottawa.

As is well known, Mrs. Haggart's life has been a stormy one ever since she married Canada's present Postmaster-General. When she left Ottawa a few days ago and it became known that she was coming to New York or Brooklyn it was immediately surmised that the object of her trip was to secure a divorce from her husband, with whom she has not lived for nearly 30 years.

When a reporter broached the subject of divorce to her yesterday, Mrs. Haggart laughed a little bitterly and said:

"Why should I want a divorce from 'Jack' Haggart, I'd like to know? I have got along without one for twenty-nine years, and I think I can do so a little longer.

"Besides, if I wanted a divorce I wouldn't come over into the States to get one. I was married in Canada, too. The present wife of Mr. Foster, one of my husband's associate officials in the Canadian Government, was divorced here and married again there, and now she is not admitted to Rideau Hall.

"Besides, what good would a divorce do me anyway? I don't think enough of men to care to marry again, and I have by my father to my sister and myself. Then I have money, too, from the estate and nearly two years ago I began an action against my husband which never came to trial, as he agreed to pay me $1,000 a year. I was satisfied with that, though I could have had $3,000 had I pressed the suit.

"When I married 'Jack' Taggart nearly 30 years ago I was only 19 and could have married whom I liked in Perth. He owned a grist mill there and other property that him made rich. I went to live at his mother's house. It was not very long before I found that other women interested him more than I did and that he preferred hotels and barrooms to his own home.

"It has been said that I used to frequent places of amusement more than I ought after my marriage.

"The only place I ever went to was the skating rink, and then I always went with Mina Haggart, my husband's sister. The tickets he gave us for the rink represented all the money he ever spent on us.

"One day after my child was born he struck me. Then I left him and went home to my father. Then when my boy was a year old my husband came and tore him from me and hid him. He had the child brought up on an island and educated there by private tutors. He was 10 years old when he came home, and although everything had been done to alienate him from me, he used to steal away at times to see his mother. He died seven years ago.

"Everything has been done to catch me in some indiscretion, but never has one word been alleged against me either when I have been abroad or at home. Everything that has been said about my having made trouble for my husband or having stood in the way of his advancement is wholly untrue.

"Years ago I saved his property from his creditors by refusing to sign away my right of dower. In fact, the whole story of my life with John Haggart would fill a book; but again I say I do not want divorce."

Mrs. Haggart, however, gives no plausible reason for her presence here in New York just now when divorce proceedings would be so detrimental to her husband's interest.

Denies the Killing.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—The Woburn Chief of Police now holds the opinion that of the four men said to have been in the Callahan house when Mrs. Grace Callahan met a violent death, only one, Thos. Marrin, was present. Marrin says that he was on the lower floor with two other men when Mrs Callahan was killed by falling down stairs. He denies the story that he pushed the woman down the stairs.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

Hon. Wm. F. Sheehan spoke at Albany last night.

Yesterday firemen from Sing Sing, Mount Vernon, Peekskill, Tarrytown and Haverstraw took part in the firemen's parade at Yonkers.

SEARLES CASE TO GO ON.

Rumors that the Famous Will Contest Had Been Compromised Denied.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 16.—Denials follow quickly upon assertions that a compromise has been effected in the suit of Timothy Hopkins, the adopted son of Millionaire Mark Hopkins, of San Francisco, who contests the will of his foster mother, which conveys all the accumulated millions to her second husband, Edward S. Searles.

It was reported on apparently good authority that Mr. Searles had offered young Hopkins the round sum of $3,000,000 to discontinue his suit, and that the offer was refused.

It is now denied that any such settlement has been proposed, and the lawyers say the fight will go on Oct. 20, in the Massachusetts Court.

Gen. Hubbard, of Butler, Stillwell & Hubbard, Searles' attorneys, says: "The case will go on next Tuesday. We offer no compromise. We are ready for the fight."

Gen. Hubbard is an executor of Mrs. Searle' will also.

Joseph H. Choate, of counsel for Hopkins, also denies that any compromise has been reached.

EVA DOESN'T BELIEVE IT.

She Places No Reliance in the Verification of Ray Hamilton's Death.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Eva Mann, or Miss Eva Hamilton as she prefers to be called, who is here with the City Club Vaudeville and Burlesque Company, was asked if she still doubted the death of Robert Ray Hay Hamilton in the face of the verdict of the Market Lake, Idaho, coroner's jury. She said:

"I have always doubted it. I did not believe the former stories and I do not believe this one. I am quite confident that Mr. Hamilton is alive. Is it not proof enough that it is not Ray's body that they make no endeavor to have it brought here to rest with the others of his family? Is it not proof, I say, when they let him lie there buried like a dog? They say they cannot bring the body on without my consent, yet they have never asked my consent."

Eva declared her belief that Ray was still alive and that she would yet see him.

An Actress Pestered by a Crank.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Miss Marie Wainwright, the actress, has made a complaint against a mysterious person who seems to follow her about wherever she goes, and is continually annoying her with love letters. His persecution has been kept up ever since she began her last engagement in New York, and the man once or twice, as he has tried to attract her attention in the theatre and elsewhere. She believes that he is some crank who has an infatuation for her, just as in the case of Mary Anderson's cowboy lover, and she wants these gratuitous attentions stopped.

Affairs in Guatemala.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The steamer San Juan, which arrived at this port from Panama, had Dr. Maliano, of Nicaragua, among the passengers. He says there was no truth in the report that the Salvadorian army was moved to the frontier during the recent trouble in Guatemala. That country, he said, is quite prepared for war should one occur, but will not bring on a conflict by any overt act. The election, which occurs shortly, is now attracting the attention of the people of Guatemala.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Don't leave the selecting of your seats for the Musin concert until too late. The best are going fast.

—Get your church notices and advertisements in before 11 a.m. to-morrow, to be sure of their insertion.

—The Plainfield delegates report having had a fine time at the Jr. O. U. A. M. State convention at Trenton yesterday.

—Mrs. F. A. VanName is still agent for the Wilcox & Gibbs sewing machine, and all orders left at 10 Grove street will be promptly attended to.

—Half the house for the Musin concert is already sold. There are, however, a lot of good seats at 50 and 75 cents still to be had if you speak quick.

—The Borough Commission of Dunellen has employed Sam VanArsdale to trim up the shade trees on the streets. North avenue has just been completed and looks 100 per cent. better.

—Major Anderson Post 109, G. A. R., has accepted an invitation to attend the meeting to be addressed by Major-Gen. O. O. Howard in the First Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 4 15.

—L. W. Serrell will deliver the next of the series of popular talks, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Thursday evening, Oct. 22 at 8 o'clock, on the subject "The Relation of Inventions and Patents to Civilization".

—Adjutant Leyh and Lieutenant Watkins are about to leave the Plainfield corps of the Salvation Army, and will recuperate from their long labors at the Army home of rest at the seashore. Other officers will take their places here.

—By their advertisement to-day the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association endeavor to convince the public that they are the headquarters for fine butter, strictly pure country sausage, fresh roasted coffees, new crop teas, and similar goods.

—Now that everybody is putting in the new water supply, householders are looking for a first-class man to look after their plumbing and make superior connection with the mains. Such a man is I. L. McVoy, who receives orders at 95 East Front street.

—The Epworth League will have an "educational evening" at the M. E. church to-night. "The Three R's—Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic" will be considered, and three experts will conduct the discussion. The meeting will be both amusing and in[illegible]

—Hope chapel was crowded to overflowing, last evening, when the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. favored the audience with some very pretty tableaux and enjoyable musical selections. There were nineteen numbers on the programme, and every one of them was a treat. The refreshments served were greatly relished.

A Plainfielder's Tribute to His Old Commander.

Major W. D. W. Miller fought the battle of Gettysburg over again at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last night, and a large audience paid close attention to his graphic description of the greatest battle of the Civil War. As a member of General Hancock's staff, he had exceptional opportunities for knowing the exact truth concerning certain matters of historic dispute. He was present when the commander of the Second Corps received his instructions from Meade; and whoever else may have doubts in what capacity Hancock appeared at the front to call order out of the rout and confusion which marked the close of the first bloody day, he evidently has none. His eloquent tribute to the memory of his old commander and friend, and his glowing eulogy of the magnificent services rendered at Gettysburg by the unfortunate Warren, will long be remembered by his listeners.

Women Assist Their Church.

A very pleasant tea was given by the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Trinity Reformed church last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McDonald threw open their handsome residence for the purpose and made everybody feel thoroughly at home. The hours had been advertised from 5 to 9, but time passed so pleasantly that it was 11 before all left. Those who did not attend (and it is to be regretted that quite a number of the church members did not) missed an evening of much enjoyment. The offerings left by those who attended made a fair sum and will be contributed to the church debt.

Honeymoon and Divorce.

A. Frank, the West Third street German who was arrested last week for beating his bride of two weeks, was fined $10 for the offence, by Judge Codington, yesterday. Mrs. Frank has consulted a lawyer, and will sue at once for divorce.

To pay his fine, Frank drew on the Potter Press Works, where he has been employed. All of his pay was sent to him, with a message that wife beaters were not wanted and that he need never seek work there again.

COOK AND WALKER SENTENCED.

The Assailants of Old John Toms Go to Prison for Many Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 16.—Sentence day! That ominous word conveys to the mind of every prisoner of greater or less degree an awful feeling. There is in his mind a sense of doubt and uneasiness as to what he is to expect—perhaps that he may be incarcerated for a long term of years, or perhaps that he may get off with a light sentence.

This morning was the time set down for the sentencing of the prisoners in the Somerset county circuit, judges Bartine, TenEyck and Jamison sitting on the bench.

After a few prisoners had been sentenced for minor offenses, Cook and Walker were brought from their cells.

Cook was the first one called to the bar to receive his sentence, as the leader in robbing and assaulting old man Toms.

Judge Bartine spoke of this as the most atrocious and brutal crime that had ever come to his knowledge, and said that although Cook had pleaded guilty, thus saving expense to the State, still he would impose the severest sentence which was possible.

On the indictment for robbery he sentenced Cook to 15 years at hard labor in State Prison, and $1,000 fine. On the second indictment he sent him to prison for two years, making seventeen years in all, the sentences not to be concurrent.

John Walker, Cook's partner in crime, was sent to Trenton for twelve years—eleven years for robbery, and one for assault.

Charles Manaet, indicted for stealing horses in Central New Jersey, was sent to Trenton for seven years.

Senator Robert Adrain was present in the court room during the sentencing of Cook and Walker, but made no defence or plea for leniency. He said afterwards that he thought the sentence was rather heavy, as both the boys were young. He added that they had no defence, and that he had never been employed on the case, but that what he had done was simply out of respect to their families and merely as a favor.

The people of the town seem to be very well satisfied with the sentence.

AN EVENING OF SOCIABILITY.

First Baptist Young People Handsomely Entertain Their Friends.

That wide-awake organization of the First Baptist church, the Young People's League, gave their first sociable of the season last evening [illegible] audience that well-filled the lecture room. The enjoyable programme was as follows:

Piano solo—"Earl King"..............Schubert
Wm. E. MacClymont.
Address of welcome—
L. H. Biglow, jr.
Banjo duet—
Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins.
Vocal solo—"Tell Her I Love Her So".
Mrs. Martin I. Cooley.
Recitation—
Miss Eleanor Morrison.
Piano solo—"Au Prempts"..............Gounod
Wm. E. MacClymont.
Banjo duet—
Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins.
Vocal duet—
Messrs. B. T. Barnes and G. O. Stevens.
Recitation—
Miss Morrison.

An interlude was afforded for sociability, and at the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served.

All of those present felt that many thanks were due to the members of the social committee, under the direction of L. Warren Randolph, who so well entertained the audience.

M. M. DUNHAM PRESENTS A TOKEN.

Other Interesting Exercises Held Upon the Fifth Anniversary of a Flourishing Young Society.

The fifth anniversary of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church, Dunellen, was held last evening. An interesting entertainment, of which the following is the programme, was given in the church:

Organ Voluntary....Miss Maggie Swackhamer
Invocation..............Rev. J. A. Cubberley
Singing—"Onward Go!"..............Society
Scriptural Reading..........Rev. W. C. Kinsey
Prayer..................Rev. L. E. Livermore
Singing—"Work"...................Society
Reports of Treasurer and of Secretary.
Singing—"Showers of Blessing"........Society
Address....................Rev. J. P. Searle
Singing—"Speed Away"..........Male Quartette
Singing—Parting Hymn..............Society
Benediction.

After the entertainment a reception was given to the visiting societies in the Sabbath-school room, and after numerous hand-shakings the company were served with refreshments. A token of remembrance in the shape of a large crystalized monogram was presented to the Dunellen society by M. M. Dunham, representing the Warren Mission of Plainfield.

The Rev. A. I. Martine, the newly elected president of the society, responded in thanking Warren Mission for their remembrance and all the visiting societies for their presence. A large company was present, including representatives from the Epworth League of Dunellen, and the Y. P. S. C. E. of New Market.

A Pertinent Query.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—By what authority does the Street Commissioner permit the property of the city to be used in digging trenches for Water Supply pipes on private property?

TAX-PAYER.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George E. Vincent is visiting in town for a day or two.

Gen. Howard will be the guest of Major W. D. W. Miller, Saturday evening and Sunday.

Miss Nettie L. Hoyt, of Bridgeport, Conn., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. T. Vegiard, at 252 West Third street, during her vacation.

J. N. Reubin died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fliet, of Dunellen, last Monday, and was interred at Lebanon cemetery Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter G. Runyon died at her home on North avenue, Dunellen, last evening. Mrs. Runyon was well known in this city, and leaves many friends, besides a husband and infant son a week old.

At the funeral services over the remains of Willie M. Demarest, Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck officiated, using the Episcopal service. The remains were interred in the family plot at Hillside.

Frank L. C. Martin will act as umpire at the grand amateur bicycle tournament at Madison Square Garden, to-morrow evening. The tournament will be the greatest event of its kind ever seen in this country. All of the champions will race.

At the tea to be given by the Hillside Tennis Club, Saturday afternoon, Mrs Robert L. Burnett will receive, assisted by Miss Wetherspoon, Miss Miller, Miss Lawrence, Miss Ginna, and Miss Bain. This is to be the last afternoon for the season.

Miss Lilian A. Wright, of 64 West Fifth street, has returned home from a delightful visit to friends in New London, Conn. She made many warm acquaintances by her lovely qualities, while enjoying her vacation, and has been freely offered the hospitality of their homes.

The Plainfield Republicans who went to the State convention at Trenton, yesterday, had a "rousing big time". Judge Ulrich was a prominent figure. H. Newton Spencer of the borough was made executive committeeman for Somerset county, and Frank E. Marsh for Union.

Miss Anna Marsh gave a progressive whist party at her residence, East Second street, last evening. There were four tables, and the prizes were very handsome. After refreshments an "auction" took place, which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. W. E. Honeyman of North Plainfield was re-elected president, for her seventh consecutive term, at yesterday's annual meeting of the Woman's Synodical [illegible] New Jersey, and Mrs. Samuel Milliken of this city was re-elected corresponding secretary.

The tea and musicale given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Finch, last evening, by the Altar Society of Grace church, was a very pleasant event, and besides was a gratifying success financially. The decorations and costumes, all in yellow, were very handsome, and the sunflower concert by the choir boys was highly appreciated.

The Rev. Hobart Clark, pastor of Plainfield's Unitarian church, told "How to Make a Sunday-school Useful to the Community", at yesterday's session of the New Jersey Universalist Convention at Newark. The convention was in favor of a union with the Unitarian church, and by unanimous vote it was resolved that the two denominations be united.

Miss Lizzie Apgar of Dunellen and J. A. Cooley of Flemington were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, yesterday afternoon, at the home of the bride, by the Rev. W. C. Kinsey. A number of guests from out of town were present, and a collation served by a prominent New York caterer. The wedding party took the 6:26 p. m. train for Flemington.

The Revs. K. P. Ketcham, W. R. Richards and W. E. Honeyman will attend the session of the Synod of the State of New Jersey, at Long Branch, next Tuesday. There will be 500 delegates, 300 of them clergymen, and the others laymen. The Rev. Dr. D. R. Frazee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newark, and late moderator, will preach the Synodical sermon.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at her late home, 7 East Fifth street, over the remains of Emeline M., wife of William P. Demarest. The Rev. William R. Richards, her pastor, and the Rev. Charles E. Dunn, her son-in-law, officiated. The pall-bearers were J. A. Demarest, her son; James B Weaver and Charles E. Dunn, her sons-in-law; Charles Simms, a nephew, and Messrs. J. W. Gavett and J. G. Miller. The body was interred in the family plot at Hillside cemetery.

TWINS AND TRIPLETS.

Gratifying Increase in Plainfield's Population.

Andrew Muir of West Fourth street is a very happy man to-day. Last evening his wife presented him with a fine pair of twins—one boy and one girl.

Prouder yet, however, if possible, is John Benson, of the corner of Fourth and Liberty streets. To his home, last night at 11 o'clock, three welcome little strangers came. One was a girl, weighing five pounds; and two were boys, weighing six and seven pounds respectively. Dr. Hedges said they were all healthy and vigorous youngsters, and as the mother also is doing well Mr. Benson smiles broadly and is looking for the congratulations of his political party on the gratifying increase of the voting population.

For the sake of large profit some dealers offer substitutes when Hires's Root Beer Packages are called for. If you care to have true goods, and a most delicious drink, run no risk, and insist on getting Hires's.

American Gold Coming Back.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The steamship Spree, which arrived from Southampton yesterday, brought $240,000 in gold, the steamship Teutonic $300,000 and the steamship Saale $6,000. Total arrivals this week, $4,439,000, and total since Sept 12, $15,803,695.

To Contest Her Father's Will.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Anna S. Rowe, daughter of the late Edward A. White, will contest the will of her father, who left nearly the whole of $350,000 to his widow, a second wife, and cutting Mrs. Rowe off with "an umbrella," by reason of his dislike to her husband. Mr. White was a Boston Fire Commissioner.

American Shipping League.

BATH, Me., Oct. 16.—A council of the Bath Branch of the American Shipping and Industrial League will convene in this city next Wednesday. Reports received from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other places indicate that the meeting will reach large and important proportions.

Hoey Will Be Prosecuted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The directors of the Adams Express Company had a consultation yesterday with their counsel and decided to bring suit against ex-President Hoey for the money they believe to be due the company from him on account of his connection with the purchase of the minor New England companies.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

George Allgan's hotel and barn at South River were burned yesterday. Loss $3,000.

The cranberry crop in New Jersey, which is just being harvested, will be the largest crop gathered for years.

The condition of Monsignor Doane, who has been lying seriously ill at his home in Newark, is greatly improved.

Daniel Brady, of Newark, was yesterday sent to State prison for three years for wife beating. His wife tried in vain to save him.

William Croucher, aged 19, of Lancashire, England, hanged himself in a barn at New Brunswick yesterday, having grown despondent from continued attacks of malaria.

The City of Rome Hoax.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A dispatch from St. Johns shows that there was no wreck at St. Mary's Bay, and that the story of the foundering of the City of Rome was the hoax of a half-witted cowboy.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Thirteen horses were burned to death in John B. Gifford's barn, Worcester, Mass.

Dr. R. S. Storrs was re-elected president of the American Board of Foreign Missions, at Pittsfield, Mass.

A SON OF THE OLD BAY STATE

HAIL TO SIDNEY ELMER FLOWER, THE TRUE-BLUE CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLYMAN!

As a Boy He Was Given the Best of Breeding Among the Rare Old Hills of Massachusetts—As a Man He Was Loyal to His Country in Her Hour of Need, and Shed His Blood in Her Defense—His Life Record Is One of Which All Honest Men Might Well Be Proud, and Others Envious—As a Valiant Soldier, a Competent and Trustworthy Citizen, a Stalwart Patriot, He Richly Deserves the Legislative Honors His Party Have Offered Him.

In nominating Sidney Elmer Flower of Plainfield for member of Assembly from the Third district of Union county, the Democrats have chosen a man who when elected will fill the office capably, honestly, and satisfactorily to every citizen who has the general welfare of the people truly at heart. Mr. Flower is a man who can be trusted implicitly to represent his constituents faithfully, to work ardently for any cause which will bring them benefit, to aid materially in accomplishing reform where it is needed, to achieve by straightforward methods and energetic and untiring efforts deeds of legislation which will win the confidence of every doubting partisan heart and the applause and indorsement of every patriotic citizen.

To be a gallant son of Massachusetts is to be a man of stanch integrity; and the mere matter of birthplace therefore has stamped on Mr. Flower the impress "true metal"; for in the cultured city of Boston of the old Bay State he first saw the light of day, Dec. 8, 1843.

He was a child in arms when he left his native place, and his boyhood was spent in Ashfield, up in the Hampshire Hills, in the northwestern part of the State. Ashfield is famous throughout New England for its schools, and there it was that young Sidney received the rudiments of his education. He was eleven years of age when his father took him to the great West, into a new country in Michigan. Here, amid the wilds, lived Sidney till he reached his eighteenth year, when the war broke out and he enlisted and went to the front.

As a valiant soldier in the 1st Michigan Volunteer Cavalry he saw much hard fighting. His service was continuous throughout the whole Rebellion. He was not off duty a single day during the entire period of the war. Although twice he was severely wounded—once at the second battle of Winchester, and once in a cavalry skirmish at Brentzville—he pluckily kept in the ranks, and held bravely out to the end against bitter pain and weakness and fatigue. He still carries with him the honorable scars that testify to the valor with which he defended his country.

At the close of the war, in 1865, he went with his regiment to the frontier, in the campaign against the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians; and, as in the Rebellion, did excellent service. He was finally given his honorable discharge at Salt Lake City, Utah, in March, 1866, when he received a certificate signed by Captain Frank Hattan and Brigadier-General Peter Stagg, one of New Jersey's heroes, testifying that Mr. Flower had participated in 42 general engagements, and at least 200 minor engagements and skirmishes.

During his service, Mr. Flower was captured by Mosby's Guerillas and robbed of all his money and very nearly all his clothing. He escaped barefoot during the night, and rejoined his detachment. He took part in many thrilling events of those bloody years, but never has he been heard to boast of the deeds of heroism which were his and which would make the pages of an historian's chronicles glow and tingle with their record of vigorous and stalwart patriotism.

Settling down to a life of peace again, Mr. Flower lived several years in New York city, and some time in Buffalo, where he helped by his vote to elect Grover Cleveland sheriff. While in Buffalo he was nominated for the same office for which he is now running, on the Democratic ticket, in a district that had for years been a Republican stronghold. He made a highly creditable run, and cut down considerably the Republican majority that so long had prevailed. Last year, in Plainfield, on the local ticket, he was the nominee for city treasurer, and ran 90 votes ahead of his associate nominees.

Mr. Flower was married Oct. 10, 1881 His bride was Mrs. L. M. Pinkham, daughter of a famous New England family. Her father was a celebrated statesman, and served forty years in the Legislature of New Hampshire.

Mr. Flower has been well-known to Plainfield the past nine years. In his daily life he has always been modest and unobtrusive; in all business transactions with men he has acquired an enviable reputation for honorable dealing and true manliness. Not the slightest breath of suspicion has ever tarnished his fair name. With his estimable wife he has established a flourishing business and the most peaceful and happy of homes. His qualities of head and heart have won the respect and esteem of all who have come in contact with him. This sketch would be incomplete without a tribute, hearty and sincere, to his integrity of character and principle, his sterling worth as a man, his dignity and fidelity as a citizen.

During his residence in this city Mr. Flower has become prominently identified with various of its societies. He is a member of the Royal Arch Masons, the Free and Accepted Masons, the Knights of Honor, the Improved Order of Red Men, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Order of the Iron Hall, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Of the Knights of Honor he is a past dictator; of the Iron Hall order he is past chief justice; and of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Honor, he is commander.

Altogether he is a man deserving of any citizen's vote. He will ever be found loyal to right principle; he will ever be found on the side of honesty, truth, and justice. A vote cast for Sidney Elmer Flower will be an honorable ballot—a credit to the man who made it. A vote for such a man as Mr. Flower can never be a vote thrown away.

THE TOOL WORKS' SPICY BUDGET.

Down at Pond's They Have Big-Hearted Workmen, and a Planer Table Weighing 27 Tons.

The table for the large planer now being built was brought into the machine shop Wednesday. It weighs 27 tons, and is a fine casting, reflecting great credit on the foreman of the foundry and the workmen engaged upon it.

The shop raised nearly $100 for Mrs. Henry Anderson, the wife of the laborer who was so badly hurt recently by the fall of a pulley. The shop men are always ready to subscribe towards charitable objects.

J. Heffern had his foot injured Wednesday by a piece of steel, and will no doubt be laid up for a few days.

A small scrap took place at noon, Wednesday, between Adolf Thomas and Joseph La Fleur, in the shop. Although La Fleur was thought by the workmen to be the least to blame, he was laid off. It seems to be an unwritten law, as it ought, that there shall be no quarreling inside the works.

Wm. Connors, a former employe, was bidding good-bye to friends through the shop, prior to his departure for the East. He was dressed in his store clothes, and carried a new and valuable umbrella. He stopped to talk to John Clifton, who was cutting what is called a worm, in his lathe. Connors had his back toward the lathe, and the screw caught the umbrella and reduced it to smithereens. Thus are the ungodly rebuked. LATHE HAND.

A Real Little Actress.

Three years ago Boston and New York were both set wild with enthusiasm over the marvelous ability of a little girl named Elsie Leslie in a play called "Little Lord Fauntelroy". Soon there were many imitators in the field, but they were never more than "smart children", and those who had seen Elsie in the part did not care for any other. The reason was that she was in reality an actress, and originator, while the others were only copies. During the four months she played at the Boston Museum thousands witnessed her performance. She never traveled in that play but afterward had made for herself a dramatization of Mark Twain's pretty story "The Prince and the Pauper", which she will produce at Music Hall next Monday night. It has been fully as successful as "Fauntleroy" and will give the Plainfield people their first opportunity to behold the clever little artist of whom they have read so much.

Esteem for Their Retiring President.

At the meeting of the Managers of the Relief Association, Wednesday morning the following resolution was adopted, apropos of the resignation of Mrs. Goddard, who had been president for seven years:

Resolved, That we, the officers and members of the Plainfield Relief Association, have accepted with regret the resignation of our President, Mrs. Goddard, and with thanks for her constant sympathy and help we desire hereby to express our appreciation of her faithful and efficient care of the interests of our society during the period of her administration.

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Goddard, and have it printed in the report for this year.

Now the Boys Will Save Their Pennies, and Draw Interest on Them.

The Plainfield Relief Association have been requested by the management of the Boys' Club to introduce into the Boys' Club the saving system of their Benefit Society. This society is the new name of the former Provident Savings Committee. The Board of Managers resolved to do as requested, and have authorized the treasurer to appoint two collectors for the work in the club.

The Democratic Candidate for Coroner.

The committee appointed at the recent Union county Democratic convention to fill any vacancy that might arise, met Wednesday afternoon and nominated for coroner Morris Hetfield, the present police justice of Elizabeth, in place of Dr. Alfred Q. Donovan, who was found to be ineligible. The committee waited on the justice and notified him of his nomination, which he accepted.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

A MANLY LETTER FROM DR. COOLEY.

He Has Been Trying for Months to Find Another Locality for His Retreat, and Now Makes Public His Plans.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—As both friends and foes have been active in bringing my name and private business into prominence through the columns of THE PRESS, I must ask you to grant me space to reply, in part. Neither time nor circumstances will enable me to cover the entire ground.

I took the Sandford avenue property for a term of years. After obtaining possession, I told Mr. Loomis that I would move at the expiration of the first term of the lease if objections were made to the institution. The first term expires the beginning of April; and as objections have been made, and as I find the house unsuited to my purpose, I have worked diligently, for months, to effect the promised and necessary change.

I am ready to announce that I have purchased the old Wadleigh place, on Somerset street, and that I will begin building immediately and will finish by the first of April.

The grounds cover seventy acres; they are, as you are aware, beautiful as they stand, but they are capable of, and will receive, further development.

The building, planned by architect A. L. C. Marsh, will be of brick, heated by hot water, and lighted by electricity. The exterior will be attractive; the interior will be equally so, and filled with every modern appliance which will enhance the comfort and assist in the cure of the inmates.

While the latter object is the first end I have in view, and while my patients will come from many States, I do not forget that I owe much to my fellow-citizens, and I will endeavor to discharge that indebtedness, in part, by the erection and maintenance of an institution of which they will be proud.

JUSTUS H. COOLEY.

The Equine Exhibit of Senator Keys at Waverly Fair.

The award for the largest and best display of horses at the Waverly State Fair went to Senator William J. Keys, of the Ellis Stock Farm, South Branch, Somerset county. His stock, consisting of a fine array of stallions, brood mares and colts, met with the plaudits they so richly deserved as they filed up and down the quarter stretch of the track in full view of the grand stand and judges' bower. At the head of the grand procession marched the celebrated stallion Dutch Jim, with a record of 2:34. His dam was Lady, and his sire Col. Mott.

Next came Luke Fleet, a beautiful stallion from the celebrated Smuggler, who had a record of 2:15½ to his credit. His dam was Fanny Goldsmith, and she was a daughter of Edward Everett.

Then came the beautiful daughter of the noted Bayonne Prince and Anna M., with a record of 2:34.

Next in this file of beauties in horse flesh march was Fidler Ford, a son of Volunteer Clay (600) and Knickerbocker (200).

Prancing after came Charlie Ellis, whose sire was the great Kernwood and dam Anna M., by Brockley's Hamiltonian.

A tremendous cheer went up when the two noble equines came into view which their owner has honored with the names of Governor Abbett and H. T. Barrett, the first a son of Jay Gould and Fanny Whitney, with a record of 2:23.

Then came Ellis Bayonne, sired by Bayonne Prince, with a record of 2:21¼, and having the blood of Lenore, Niagara Chief, Kentucky, Dictator, and the flyer Cannette, with a record of 2:22, the half in 1:08, coursing through his veins. Close up came Prince Bayonne with a record to his proud relation of 2:21¼. Bringing up the rear of this wonderful procession were several very promising looking colts and their proud mammas.

Beside those exhibited the Senator has many more beauties in all the grades of horse flesh, many of them very promising.

A visitor to this noted stock farm, where these fine animals make their home, would well repay any lover of the horse. One thing is certain: a cordial reception from the great big hearted Senator, who presides.

It is little wonder that the Senator should win at Waverly, since he won the tightest political race ever run in old Somerset last fall, and then beat the combined strength of the opposition, who thought they had him in a "pocket" to prevent his getting under the wire in time to take his seat.

Matthew McLernon's Funeral.

The funeral of Matthew McLernon, the boy who was killed, Wednesday, by the cars, will be held at the residence of his parents, 18 Kensington avenue, to-morrow morning at 8:15. All members of the Boys' Club are invited to attend the services. The pall-bearers will be selected from the club members. The burial will take place at Philadelphia. Superintendent Miner of the Boys' Club will have charge of the services at the house.

—The Republican convention of Union county, at Elizabeth, Wednesday, consisted of three persons. Dr. John H. Pickett of Elizabeth was nominated for coroner.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Sadly Neglected.

A little three-year-old who has been summering up in the country fell into an old well where the water was only six inches deep and remained there some time before he was discovered. When he was finally rescued his pent-up indignation knew no bounds.

"You fink I kin stay in a well wizout nuffin to eat, like a fwog? Fy wasn't no better fadder 'n' mudder 'n you I'd go wifout children."—Texas Siftings.

His Specialty.

"Oh, yes! He's quite a remarkable man. Able to concentrate his mind on one particular subject, no matter how great the crowd and confusion around him. His power of abstraction is simply wonderful."

"What is his special branch of science?"

"Kleptomania, I think they call it."—Washington Post.

Ruined His Business.

Mrs. Dogood—Even if you are just out of prison, that does not prevent you from going to work.

Dusty Rhodes—It do, mum; they cut my hair and my business is ruined.

Mrs. Dogood—What business were you in?

Dusty Rhodes — The Circassian beauty line, mum.—Kansas City Times.

An Elevating Institution.

It was in the far west, and some of the citizens were giving their attention to a man who had been stealing horses.

"What organization is that?" asked an eastern man, as the crowd passed. "Some sort of a secret society?"

"Not exactly," was the reply. "That, stranger, is our village string band."—Washington Post.

An Agreement of Opinion.

"What do you think of married life?" asked the henpecked man, addressing the youthful bridegroom.

"Bliss is no name for it," said the young husband, enthusiastically.

"You are right," said the henpecked man, gloomily, "bliss is no name for it."—N. Y. Press.

The Public Sets the Gait.

Winks—Don't you think editors and reporters ought to be required to sign their names to their articles?

Jinks—No. Editors and reporters are not responsible for what they write.

"Who are, then?"

"The people who buy the papers."—N. Y. Weekly.

Slightly Improbable.

Judge—You say you are innocent. What, then, were you doing with the watch if you did not intend to steal it?

Sam Johnson—I jess wanted ter wind it up for him, boss. Dat's de solem' troof. I can't tell a lie ef I wus ter try for a week.—Texas Siftings.

The most beautiful woman in New York said that she "ascribed her good health and rosy cheeks to the occasional use of a tablespoonful of pure whiskey before meals. It increased the circulation, sent a warm glow through the system, and gave her a hearty appetite." That is the experience of all who drink pure whiskey moderately. A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old.

Witness my hand this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1891.

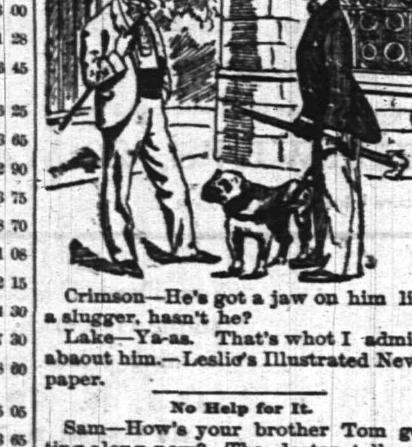
VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

No Kind of a Girl.

"I was kicked by a horse when I was little and knocked senseless," said Chappie.

"How soon do you expect to recover?" asked the cynical Maude.—Judge.

"LIKE MASTER, (UN) LIKE DOG."



Crimson—He's got a jaw on him like a slugger, haan't he?

Lake—Ya-as. That's whot I admiah abaout him.—Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

No Help for It.

Sam—How's your brother Tom getting along now? The doctor tells me he has the consumption.

Dick—He's getting along fairly well; but you know that Tom's got to take them lungs of his'n with him wherever he goes.—Judge.

A Change for the Worst.

"He is awfully nice," she sobbed, "but I can't—I can't."

"Can't what?" queries her mother.

"Give up my name of Willoughby for his of Smith," was the tearful answer.—Jury.

A Street Scene.

Trotter—What are those men standing there in a bunch for?

Barlow—They're looking at the thermometer. They want to find out how hot they are.—Life.

SHUT UP IN A PEN

A Mad Girl Confined for Years in a Cage.

CHAINED DOWN TO THE FLOOR.

Her Parents Too Poor to Send Her to an Asylum.

The Health Authorities Refused to Attend to the Case—Her Cries Heard By a Hunter, Who Reports the Horrible Affair—She is Strong and Healthy—The Overseer of the Poor Knew the Girl's Condition, But Would Do Nothing.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Oct. 17.—One of the most amazing cases of cruelty to a child that has ever come to the notice of the public has been perpetrated near here. A girl, nearly 15 years of age, has been shut up in a cage, 5 feet 9 inches in length by 2 feet 7 inches in width, and has lived in this prison for the last three years. Her parents have tried to get the health authorities of the township to take charge of her, but the authorities have turned a deaf ear to their appeal.

The girl's name is Emma Kimball. Her father's name is Edward Kimball. He is a mason's laborer, and scarcely earns enough to support himself. He lives just on the boundaries of Montclair Township, between Essex and Passaic Counties. His house is a two-story frame cottage. He was married seventeen years ago, and his first child, a boy died two months since. He was a bright boy, but the sister—she was an imbecile from her birth—she has never spoken a word. When she was a child she used to tear her clothes off. Neither her father nor mother knew what to do with her. They applied to the authorities to have her put in an insane asylum, but their request was not heeded. Dr. Chas. Smith was Overseer of the Poor, but he could not or would not do anything for the Kimballs.

Meantime the girl was growing stronger and more dangerous. When she was allowed to go through the house she smashed the pottery and broke windows. Her father built a pen for her in the kitchen. It was boarded up in the northeast side of the house and was hardly big enough for her to turn around in. It was less than six feet in height. The prison was just beside the kitchen window, which was protected by wooden bars, so that the girl could not break the glass. Kimball was in poor circumstances, and his wife was compelled to do washing for the neighbors. When she went out the girl was alone. She was enclosed in the pen, and chained to the floor. People looking through the window saw the miserable creature pulling on her chain. They pitied her; they spoke to her parents, but what could they do? The saw her tear the clothes off her back; she dug her nails into her flesh. She spent day after day and night after night in her cell.

One day the mother let her out and she smashed three windows. Overseer of the Poor Charles Smith was appealed to by the broken-hearted father and mother, as well as by the neighbors. He promised to attend to the case, but he never did so. He died, and then his brother, Mr. M. M. Smith, took his position. The case of the imbecile girl was called to his attention. He paid no more heed to it than his brother did. Kimball went on with his work, earning $1.50 a day, and his wife did washing for her wealthier neighbors. Their son died. They were too poor to bury him, and raised a collection among the residents of the place. Meantime the girl grew worse.

She was living all this time in the narrow pen, a shocking spectacle.

Two weeks ago James Kane, an officer of the Newark Court Squad who lives in Montclair, was hunting through the woods when he heard cries coming from the Kimball house. He looked through the window and was horrified to see the girl chained to the floor. He waited until her mother came home and she explained that the girl was a dangerous imbecile.

"Then, why don't you put her in an insane asylum?" the officer asked.

"We can't, sir; the authorities will do nothing with her."

Officer Kane went to Mr. Smith, and that gentleman told him there was nothing in the case that warranted his interference.

"I am Overseer of the Poor here," he said, "and know my own business."

Kane appealed to Mr. Smith to go and see the girl. He did so. He told Kimball that he would endeavor to have her put in the Essex County Insane Asylum. The poor man was thankful. To get rid of his daughter who had been such a burden for more then 14 years, was a relief to him. On Thursday night he saw Overseer Smith and Dr. Brown of Montclair. They agreed to have the girl removed on Monday next.

The girl is strong and muscular. Her mother pointed out the three windows which she had broken since she had got out of her pen. She had torn her feet and legs with her fingernails.

The residents of the neighborhood are very indignant at Mr. Smith's dilatory methods. They say he would not have acted at all if he hadn't been driven to it.

England Will Protest.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—A sensation has been caused by the publication of a letter in the "Samaracand Gazette," to the effect that the Kahn of Khokand having instigated England to menace Russian authority in the provinces of Ferghana, Russia had found it necessary, as a measure of protection, to annex the adjacent Khanates. It is known that England will protest against the annexation.

Another Cashier Gone Wrong.

MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 17.—Hugo Crocker, cashier at the Meriden Woolen Mill, who left the city very suddenly, is said to be about $2,000 short in his accounts. Crocker's downfall is said to be largely due to gambling. It is said also that there is a woman in the case.

HE DEFIED AUSTRIA.

Death of Commodore Ingraham, the Hero of the Famous Koszta Case.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 17.—In the death of Commodore Nathaniel Ingraham, formerly of the United States Navy, a man who came near causing an American complication with Austria has passed away.

Commodore Ingraham entered the service of the United States Navy in 1812, and reached the rank of captain in 1855. While he was in command of the St. Louis in the Mediterranean he interfered in behalf of Martin Koszta, a Hungarian who had lived for two years in the United States and had declared his intention of becoming an American citizen, and who was confined on board the Austrian frigate Huzzar.

He demanded the release of Koszta before 4 o'clock in the afternoon and prepared to take him by force in case of refusal. A compromise was reached, however, and Koszta was handed over to the French Consul, being finally released after a long diplomatic correspondence.

Captain Ingraham's action was commended by the United States Government, and he was presented a medal by the President at the suggestion of Congress.

In 1856 he was appointed Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance and Hydrography of the Navy Department.

When the Civil War broke out he resigned his commission and entered the Confederate service, rising to the rank of Commodore.

He was 89 years of age.

ROBBED HER SCHOOLMATES.

Detected, and Overcome With Shame, She Drowned Herself.

NORTH HAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 17.—The recovery of the body of Miss Laura S. Presbrey, who drowned herself after being detected in the act of robbing one of her schoolmates, is the ending of a queer and sad case.

Miss Presbrey was one of the wealthiest and brightest students of Smith College. For some time her schoolmates had been missing small sums. On Monday she was detected taking money from the pocketbook of a classmate. She was summoned before the president and finally broke down and acknowledged the theft. She said she did not know why she did it, as she had plenty of money of her own, and her father never stinted her in anything. Then she was requested to meet the president that afternoon at 5 o'clock, when it was supposed her father would be on hand.

When he came she had disappeared. In her room was found a note addressed to her father saying she could not live to bear her disgrace. She intimated that she would drown herself in the river in Paradise, a favorite spot, where the girls were in the habit of sitting by a deep sheltered pool, and where but a short distance below there is a strong current. Here her body was found during the afternoon.

The Delegates Were Poisoned.

BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 17.—Nearly all the delegates to the Women's Christian Temperance Union State Convention, who were poisoned Friday afternoon by something they ate or drank at a dinner in Armory Hall, tendered the delegates by the McKean County organization, are out of danger. Shortly after the afternoon session was called to order a large number of delegates fell violently ill, and in half an hour at least 75 were lying limp in their seats or on the floor, all vomiting and extremely sick. Medical aid was summoned and all the physicians in the city had a dozen or more patients on their hands.

Chinamen Entering in Droves.

ST. VINCENT, Minn., Oct. 17.—Within the past few weeks, on account of the strict enforcement of the United States customs regulations in New York State, the tide of Chinese immigration is diverted to the northern frontier of Minnesota and North Dakota. Minnesota, between Lake Superior and Red River, 400 miles, is guarded by only three customs officers, and North Dakota is not in much better plight, consequently the Celestials are coming in in droves in spite of the best efforts of the officers.

A Big Horse Sale.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—What will probably prove to be the most important sale of thoroughbred stock that has ever taken place in this or any other country is in progress at Tattersall's Hunt Point paddock. The entire stud of stallions, brood mares and weanlings, the property of the late Hon. August Belmont is being disposed of.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

The annual Christian International Convention is being held in Allegheny City.

James Little, aged 19 years, was literally ground to death by a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Point House Road.

Louis Schodt was killed and John Young and Michael Farley seriously injured by an explosion of gas in the Merriam Colliery near Ashland.

Deavala, the Scranton wife murderer, has made a statement declaring that he killed his wife because she admitted having been unfaithful to him.

ANXIETY AT AN END

Lieutenant Russell and His Party Are Safe.

FEARED THAT THEY WERE LOST

A Letter Received by the Explorer's Wife Settles All Doubts.

Russell and His Men Were to Have Met a Revenue Cutter, But Did Not Show Up, and a Search Failed to Find Them—The Party is Expected in Washington Within a Fortnight.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The apprehension felt for the safety of Israel C. Russell and party, who were sent out by the National Geographical Society to explore Mt. St. Elias, has just been allayed by a note from Mr. Russell to his wife, dated Yakutat Bay on September 23, and said that he had had difficulty in obtaining passage back to Sitka and thence to the United States. A passenger steamer had touched there, but it was so crowded that the captain would not give him a berth. He was, therefore, waiting for another steamer, possibly a cruiser of the navy, which would get there in a few more days.

This is the first note of any sort that Mrs. Russell has had from her husband for over four months, and, though brief, it was welcome beyond any degree of expression, especially in view of the gloomy reports that have been received from time to time, and more so on account of the unfortunate circumstances attending the landing of the party at Yakutat Bay on their arrival in Alaska. According to the dates on the note, Mrs. Russell thinks that her husband is now at Sitka, and, as he said that he would lose no time in getting home, she expects that he may be in Washington in a fortnight. There was no mention of any further casualties attending the expedition.

The party was to have met the cutter Corwin at Yakutat Bay on Sept. 1, but when the Corwin went there Russell did not appear, and a searching party sent out failed to find any trace of him.

Russell and his party landed at Icy Bay in July last. This is the nearest approach by sea to St. Elias, and two or three attempts have been made without success to ascend the mountain from the west side. It was Russell's intention to make a geographical and topographical survey on that side of the mountain. It was expected that after this work was accomplished he would wind around the northern or southern base of St Elias and attempt the ascent on the east side, which seems to be the most favorable point of attack.

Mr. Russell is one of the ablest and most experienced geologists in our National Geological Survey. He has spent much time making surveys and studying the glaciers in the Rocky Mountains. This time, however, he is heading a private enterprise. He was sent out by the National Geological Society of Washington to complete the work he did last year of studying the geology and glaciers of the Mt. St. Elias region, and incidentally to ascend the mountain if the opportunity presented and the feat were possible of acchievement.

Russell's report of last year's work was published about the time he started for St. Elias this year. It is a graphic and interesting narrative as well as a scientific report.

The exploration of Mount St. Elias was not so much the object of the expedition as geological research throughout that section.

The Astle Woman Found Guilty.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 17.—The jury in the Madame Astle case, after being out 14 hours, brought in a verdict of "guilty as charged." Sentence was reserved to give attorneys time to file a petition for a new trial. Madame Astle, it will be remembered, is the woman whose revolting crimes so shocked Denver society a short time ago.

Reported Confession in a Murder Case.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 17.—The inquest into the death of John Whalen has been held, but Judge Tucker will not report his findings in the case until Monday. It is reported that George N. Kelly, the alleged accomplice of William Coy, the murderer, has made a clean breast of the whole affair.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

The libel suit of Lawyer Swift against the Boston "Advertiser" for $10,000 damages was won by the paper.

Andrew J. Butterfield, aged 56, a lumber dealer and farmer, is dead at Hooksett, N. H., of injuries inflicted upon him by saloon-keeper Charles Colby.

Irving A. Evans, who committed suicide Friday by shooting himself in Allenstown, N. H., was one of the best known stock brokers in New York city.

A suit for criminal libel has been begun by Samuel M. Gray, late city engineer of Providence, against the "Evening Telegram" of that city, which charged that during his term of office he was a "boodler."

O'BRIEN'S STATEMENT.

He Refutes Certain Charges Parnell's Letter to Him.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Hon. William O'Brien's statement, refuting the charges made by some of Parnell's followers, that he and Dillon had hounded the Irish leader to death, states that the unalterable basis of all communication with Mr. Parnell at Boulogne was, first and last, his retirement from the leadership.

Mr. O'Brien states that he and his colleagues kept three objects in view: First, that it was impossible that Mr. Parnell continue as chairman of the Parliamentary party Committee; secondly, to soften the memory of Mr. Parnell's fault by every possible palliative and evidence of good will that his devoted colleagues could suggest; thirdly, to avert the calamity which they keenly felt to be irreparable from any disruption of the forces.

"We are fully persuaded," says the statement, "that these objects have been covered. Had the terms we suggested been loyally accepted, the party would have been reunited under the leadership of Mr. McCarthy, leaving Mr. Parnell an honorable place in Irish public life."

In addition a letter is published in which Mr. Parnell's feelings in regard to O'Brien's treatment of him are set forth. Parnell wrote that he appreciated intensely the difficulties which surrounded O'Brien during the negotiations, the constant daily anxiety which would have been overwhelming to anybody possessed of less courage and devotion. He hoped and believed that the prospects of Ireland were not so dark as O'Brien feared, and that after a little time, having passed through clouds of darkness, they should again stand on their former footing, when in happier days they were comrades in arms in behalf of a United Ireland.

WAS IT FOR BONNER?

Report that He Had a Hand in the Purchase of Nancy Hanks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Trotting men are very much interested in the sudden sale of Nancy Hanks to Mr. J. Malcolm Forbes, of Boston. There is a flavor of mystery about the whole affair which leads shrewd men to believe that Mr. Forbes is only acting as the agent for some one else. Indeed, many suspect that the purchase was made for Mr. Robert Bonner, and to whom Mr. Forbes has sold trotters before.

It will be remembered that the same mystery which surrounds the sale of Nancy Hanks also attended the sale of Sunol to Mr. Bonner. It is a matter of wonder also that Hart Boswell, the owner of Nancy Hanks, should have parted with so grand a mare. There was every chance that next year Nancy Hanks would have lowered all existing records, and would be worth thousands of dollars more to her owner. Her own record is now 2.09.

The price paid by Mr. Forbes is said to be $45,000. This may not be accepted as a fact. Budd Doble will keep Nancy until she gets over her present sickness. She will not be sent against the record again this year.

Balfour's Selection as Leader.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The selection of Mr. Balfour as Parliamentary leader is generally hailed with satisfaction by the Conservatives, especially those who believe in an aggressive policy, which Mr. Balfour eminently represents. Mr. Goschen himself is strongly pleased with Balfour's promotion, as Goschen was very reluctant to undertake the task when it was suggested to him. Balfour is described as the only government speaker who has successfully met every attempt of the Liberals to entrap or involve him, and the Liberals are not at all pleased that he has been named.

Twelve Clubs in the Association.

LOUISVILLE, Oct 17.—There are to be 12 clubs in the American Association next year. This is almost certain, and is the scheme which Chris Von der Ahe, Zack Phelps and the other magnates have been working on of late. The following cities are those which will next year make up the Association circuit: Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati and Milwaukee in the West, and Boston, Baltimore, New York, Brooklyn, Washington and Philadelphia in the East.

History of Coinage Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The Treasury Department, in response to numerous requests from various sections of the country, has just issued a pamphlet containing a brief history of the coinage legislation in the United States. It embodies an epitome of coinage legislation from the time of the passage of the law in April, 1792, establishing the United States Mint, up to and including the silver bullion certificate act of July 14, 1890.

American and Chilian Sailors Fight.

VALPARAISO, via Galveston, Tex., Oct. 17.—Three American man-of-war's men were killed and several others wounded in a desperate street fight here in the afternoon with Chilian sailors. The Chilian sailors did not do all the fighting, for a number of them were found to be pretty badly hurt. The American bluejackets who were engaged in the battle were from the United States cruiser Baltimore, and the Chilians were from the various war vessels now in the harbor.

Another World's Record Smashed.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—P. J. Finneran, of the Boston Athletic Association, has made a successful atttempt to beat the world's record for a 440 yards hurdle race. The record was 59 4-5 seconds. Finneran's run was over ten hurdles, each two feet and six inches high, and was made in 57 2-4 second.

Suicide of a Lay Preacher.

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Oct. 17.—Francis E. Church, who ended his life here, by cutting his throat with a razor, was a lay preacher and well known citizen. It is learned that Church had been suffering from severe pains in the head for some time past, and it is thought in a fit of temporary insanity he did the rash act.

"How is it your cake is always fine grained and so fresh?"

"It is the baking powder. I use Cleveland's altogether, and I always have the same 'good luck.'"

RIGNEY BEAT HOEY

How the Adams Express Company Came to Investigate.

A BITTER FEUD AND ITS END.

The President Tried Hard to Ruin Agent Rigney, but Was Himself Worsted.

The Arbitrary Discharge of Several Men Under the Philadelphia Agent Opened the Directors' Eyes and Finally Led to Hoey's Dethronement—Rigney Forced to Resign, Although Possessing Great Influence—Will Probably be the Chief Witness in the Suit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—It is a remarkable fact that the arbitrary discharge of half a dozen truckmen in the Philadelphia branch of the great Adams Express Company, earning perhaps not more than from $12 to $18 a week, was the means of overthrowing in disgrace John Hoey, who was, until his dismissal last Wednesday, president of the company, receiving $30,000 a year.

These are the facts of the case:

Mr. John H. Rigney, the trusted agent of the Adams Express Company in Philadelphia and its district branches in Delaware and Maryland, has been in the service of the company for the past 30 years. He has been intimately associated with the growth and development of the business.

During the war Mr. Rigney was in charge of the express company's deliveries on the battle fields, and represented the company with great skill as carrier and transport agent for the Union army. He has been a lifelong friend of the present president, Mr. Sanford, and was associated in intimate business relations with the late president, William Dinsmore, Mr. Lovejoy and Mr. Waldo Adams.

For some years past John Hoey has been aware that Mr. Rigney and the Philadelphia branch was not in accord with his schemes, Hoey was determined to strike a deadly blow at Rigney, but was afraid of the Philadelpnian's influence over all the employes and servants of the great Philadelphia branch, second only to the central office in the amount of the business it handled. And Mr. Rigney was so thoroughly master of the great business he had himself built up and fostered; and was such a general favorite with the directors, employes and with the leading business and railroad men of the Quaker City, that Mr. Hoey with almost absolute power still feared him.

He was probably also aware that Mr. Rigney was cognizant of many if not all of his inner dealings during his management.

While Mr. Rigney was absent on a vacation in September, 1890, Mr. Hoey unwarrantably discharged a number of Mr. Rigney's trusted employes, men who had been 15 and 20 years in the business. Economy was the motive and reason given by President Hoey. The force, he said, had to be reduced in dull times. On Mr. Rigney's return, on Oct. 2, he found his force at sixes and sevens, the work hampered, errors of daily occurrence, and all because Mr. Hoey had removed his best men and put in their places men ignorant of the business.

Mr. Rigney expostulated and pointed out the danger to their common interests, especially since powerful rival concerns were in the market for a share of the patronage. Mr. Hoey ridiculed and belittled Rigney's warnings and took every opportunity to snub him.

Mr. Rigney determined to fight and vindicate his position, although, he said, he knew he would be defeated. His complaints to the directors met with no recognition; they refused to interfere, of course, and the unequal fight ended in the resignation of Mr. Rigney in January of this year. But the controversy had opened the eyes of the directors, and the disclosures and impeachments of Mr. Rigney were the death knell of John Hoey's power.

It is well known that Mr. Rigney's knowledge of the inner dealings of Messrs. Hoey & Spooner will as testimony, it is thought, lead to some of the most sensational developments yet to be brought out in this important case. It will not be any matter of surprise in Philadelphia if John H. Rigney is asked by the company to assume the position that he relinquished only to declare war on President Hoey and bring about his complete overthrow.

It is asserted that Rigney will be one of the chief witnesses in the suit against Hoey.

Suit Begun Against Hoey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Judge Patterson of the Supreme Court, has, upon the application of Henry Sanford, president of the Adams Express Company, granted an attachment against the property of John Hoey, the deposed president of the company, in a suit to recover over half a million dollars. The attachment is granted on the ground of non-residence, Mr. Hoey's home being at Hollywood, N. J. The summons attached to the papers announce to Mr. Hoey that if he defaults in appearing to answer to the suit judgment will be taken against him for $712,950.27 with interest, together with the costs.

Rain Manufacturers Baffled.

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Oct. 17.—The government rainfall expedition has been prevented from proceeding with the experiments at this point by unfavorable weather during the last two weeks. The party arrived in the midst of a series of rain storms, and waited for fair weather before operating, but the rains have been followed by a cold norther, which has prevented further progress in the experiments.

DOLLY WAS JEALOUS.

The Plainfield, Conn. Poisoning Mystery Believed to Be Solved.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Oct. 17.—Popular indignation has grown rather than diminished in this town ever since so many of its residents were poisoned at a social gathering, by the admixture of croton oil with their coffee. Although the local officials have been vexatiously tardy in their investigations, evidence is gradually accumulating which promises to fix the responsibility for the crime.

The theory now generally accepted is that the croton oil was put in the coffee by Thos. C. Dooley, Caterer Pickett's assistant, whose behavior has been described as suspicious on the evening the event occurred. The fact seems to be pretty clearly established that the noxious drug was purchased by one of Dooley's friends at James' pharmacy, in Danielsonville, and in quantity sufficient to kill a score of people.

Dooley's motive is a mystery. He was paying earnest attention to a young lady from Newport, R. I., who was visiting here, and it is alleged that he threatened to "fix" some other young men, especially one named Douglass, of whom he was jealous. Possibly he expected that they would be arrested on suspicion, as he himself partook of the first cup of the coffee. It is only fair to state that Dooley professes to be able to establish his innocence.

Restoration of Alsace-Lorraine.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—The proposal to discuss the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine by Germany to France at the forthcoming Peace Congress has decided the National Liberal members of the Reichstag to decline to attend the Congress unless Signor Borghi, who suggested this discussion, should vacate the presidency of the Congress.

The Pilot Getting a Free Ride.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 17.—The Inman Line steamer City of New York, which touched at Queenstown on October 15, took the Irish pilot on board. The weather was so stormy that she was unable to return the pilot to his boat, and he is now enjoying a free passage to America.

He Left a Family and Creditors.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Theron Lawrence, who decamped from Jewett in the Catskills for unknown parts, left a family behind and numerous creditors. Before going he forged the name of H. A. Towner, his father-in-law, for a considerable amount.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

The new Methodist home for Aged Persons at Collingswood will be opened next week.

Phillip Kochler, a German laborer, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head on the Carlstadt ball grounds.

Health Inspector Miller of Newark condemned 1,020 crates of Concord grapes which had been sprayed with the Bordeaux mixture.

The Mercer County Grand Jury in Trenton indicted William Bunby, colored, for the murder of Mary Lynn, with whom he had been living, on August 23 last.

A test suit for damages brought against ex-Assemblyman Lawrence Fagan of Hoboken by a labor union, for having a walking delegate arrested as he was inducing some workmen to strike, was decided in Fagan's favor.

—George H. McVey and Frank P. Haffner bought in the stock of Rogers Bros, the shoe dealers, at the constable's sale to-day. They bid $2,636 to cover the chattel mortgage they held. The mortgage was first the property of D F. Randolph whom the Rogers Bros. succeeded. When he closed them up, McVey and Haffner stepped forward and, it is said, advanced $1,000 each, and bought Randolph's claim.

—The eyes of the populace were dazzled this morning by a fine new wagon just put on the streets by VanEmburgh & White. Driver David King is very proud of it, as well he may be, for in its beautiful white and gold and variegated trimmings it is a veritable thing of beauty. Homan built it, and Vroom lettered it. Its appearance is another testimonial to the prosperity which attends the popular house of VanEmburgh & White.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Altar Society sunflower tea and musicale at Mrs. Finch's, Thursday, netted more than $200 for Grace church.

The Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook of Elizabeth, with Mrs. Glazebrook, will celebrate his silver wedding anniversary to-night.

A very pleasant evening was afforded by the educational meeting of the Epworth League at the M. E. church last night. "The Three R's" were very ably considered. James B Joy had the subject of Reading, Ezra Loomis had 'Ritin', and George B. Cornwell had 'Rithmetic. All handled their subjects excellently, and much amusement and instruction resulted.

A Surprise Party.

A large and enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Percival Davis, Thursday evening. Games and dancing were among the many pleasant things. Refreshments were served in abundance at 12 o'clock. Among those present were the Misses Gertie Kitchen, Ida Mobring, Grace DeForrest, May Thompson, Annie and Louise Baker and Lavina Gerhold, and Messrs. Wm. Gerhold, James Vail, John Hoagland, Gilbert Apgar, Thomas Randall, Daniel Force and Harry DeHart.

ALMOST KILLED HIS WIFE.

But He Gave the Police the Slip, and Is Now in Hiding.

Tom Fahye of West Third street is to-day a fugitive from justice. Last night he beat his wife so brutally that the neighbors and police had to interfere. Mrs Fahye was heard to shriek "Murder!" and "Police!" and the neighbors were all aroused, and, with policemen Cooney and Flanagan, ran into the house. Fahye had his wife on the floor and was pounding her with his fists and wounding her with his teeth. The police dragged him off When outside he pleaded to be permitted "to walk along like a gentleman", and the officers took their hands off him. Then he made a break and got safely away. He will be arrested on sight.

Defending the Dead Lad.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In your paper of the 14th inst., you published an account of the sad accident which caused the death of Matthew McLernon, one of the members of our Boys' Club. Your statements were wrong in many particulars, and very unjust. He was not a bad boy, and had never given his parents any trouble in any way. He was not stealing coal as you stated, but was playing with his brother in a detached car. The unexpected coupling of the engine caused a violent jerking of the car, in this way throwing him to the ground and breaking his neck. It is but just to his memory as a good boy that you should make this correction in your paper. By so doing you will oblige

W. B. WADSWORTH,
50 West Eighth street.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 16, 1891.

[THE PRESS is very glad to find so valiant and excellent a defender of the dead lad, but in justice to itself it must state that the details of the accident as related in these columns were furnished by eye-witnesses and were well corroborated. Concerning McLernon's character, THE PRESS never said he was bad. What it did say was: "He and his brother have both given their father a great deal of anxiety by their waywardness. The surviving brother is to be sent to the State Reform School." This statement, like all the others in the article, was made on excellent authority, and THE PRESS has the direct assurance of those who ought to know all about it that it was entirely correct in all it stated. It may be added that all of the accounts of the accident agreed, including those printed in each of the newspapers, on the point that the unfortunate lad was abstracting coal from a car when the accident happened.]

An Opportunity to Become Good Singers.

A singing class is to be organized at the Unitarian rooms, 4 Second place, next Wednesday evening. T. E. Hazell, who is teacher of music in the public schools, will be the instructor. The rudiments of music will be taught, and singers will be taught to read music at sight. As a number have already joined, and as twenty voices from the chorus choir of the church have become members, the number of membership vacancies is only twenty. It is therefore very important that those desiring to join apply at once or be present at Wednesday's meeting. This class will afford excellent preparation for membership in the Melopoia or Choral Society. Any who have been rejected from those societies because they could not read sufficiently well may find here just the preparation they need. The terms will be explained Wednesday night, and a name for the society will be chosen.

Remorse Drove Him to Suicide.

It has been learned that William Croucher, who hanged himself in Mettler's barn at Piscataway, Thursday, made a confession the previous night to James Smith, a watchman at Landing Bridge, that he set fire to the barn of his employer, Clinton Randolph, last winter.

Croucher said that he could not get his pay from farmer Randolph, and that one evening after hitching up the team for Randolph and his wife they drove away, when Croucher slipped into the barn and set fire to the hay. He then closed the doors and went into the house. Soon afterwards flames burst through the barn and Croucher then ran out and helped to save the live stock. The loss by fire was about $4,000.

It is thought that Croucher was in fear all the time of being arrested, and that the matter weighed so heavily on his mind that he became deranged, and while in this condition killed himself.

Mr. Venino's Work.

The Musical Courier, the authority of the country in such matters, speaks as follows regarding a recent work of Mr. Venino, of this city, who has thus evidenced his thorough knowledge of perfect harmony and correct melody, and his talent to write and express them.

Albert Venino, who is a talented pianist with a refined style all his own, has composed a set of variations for the piano which for an Op. I, display a facility in writing, a happy gift of invention and a sound knowledge of harmony. Mr. Venino has taken the Tschaikowsky variations in F, for a model, but not in any literal slavish sense. His variations are spiritually related to those of the great Russian. Mr. Venino has arranged his variations for the organ, and both will soon be published.

Another Opportunity for Young Men.

Every man should have enough knowledge of book-keeping to keep accurately his own accounts with debit and credit. This knowledge if strictly observed might change many a failure to a success. Accurate business knowledge, mixed with honesty, never results in disastrous failure. Book-keepers writing a good hand are in demand; when indorsed with honesty, they are at a premium. Go to the Y. M. C. A. rooms and enroll your name in the book-keeping class, Monday night.

PERHAPS A TENEMENT NEXT.

That's the Alternative Now Suggested in Place of the Retreat on Sandford Avenue.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—On Tuesday you were kind enough to give space to my modest screed in regard to the asylum controversy. I intended it to be conservative in its view. I expected it to be pacific in its effect. My intentions and my expectations seem to have gone astray in the case of at least one individual, for in your issue of Wednesday Mr. Robert F. Shaen, in the language of the world, "jumps on me with both feet".

His article is vigorous, the reading is interesting, and the whole process is highly entertaining to the jumpee

Mr. Shaen possesses a facile pen, a ready wit, and is, withal, evidently a man of war. On the contrary, my quill is a halting one; I am not "one of them lite'ry fellers", and I am, above all, a man of peace. Evidently we are not well matched, and I must beg Mr. Shaen to look elsewhere for "a foeman worthy of his steel" pen, especially as my aim is not, and has not been, controversy.

With this view of the case I did not at first intend, and do not now intend, to answer his communication; but justice to others demands that I refer to one paragraph. It is not right that the innocent proprietor—which I am not—should suffer for the guilty scribe—which I am.

Mr. Shaen says: "The natural conclusion is that the writer is either the proprietor or one of the inmates." Now, I was very careful to state (I forget in what words) that neither the proprietor nor his brother physicians were aware that my article was being penned. If it be necessary, in order to relieve the gentlemen of any obloquy attaching to the authorship of these communications, I am quite sure that you, Mr. Editor, will testify that I am neither Dr. Cooley, the proprietor, nor Dr. Davis, nor Dr. Rushmore, the consulting physicians.

In regard to my being "one of the inmates", Mr. Shaen is again in error, and (if he will excuse me for adopting his line of personal pleasantry), I must kindly warn him, on the authority of Dryden, that he is in much greater danger of becoming an inmate than I am: for Mr. Shaen is a great wit, and

"Great wits are sure to madness near allied,
And thin partitions do their bounds divide."

But, I repeat, I do not speak for Dr. Cooley. All who know the doctor are aware that he is quite capable of speaking for himself if he so desires.

May I encroach a little further on your space to quote a Plainfield correspondent of a New York paper?—"Plainfield people alarmed—residents up in arms—their wives and children in absolute terror—property steadily decreasing in value—the list of empty houses grows larger", etc., etc.

Ye Gods! Mr. Editor, does not this hyperbole carry you and me, and all the other "oldest inhabitants" back to the far-away time just succeeding the deluge—the Feltville deluge, I mean—when, "torn through its heart by a raging flood of waters, Plainfield became but a ragged and dishevelled likeness of its former self"?

"Depreciated value!" I would like to receive a list with former and present prices attached: prices at which the holders will absolutely agree to sell. I may take advantage of the "depreciation"—if I can find it.

"Empty houses!" A stroll through Sandford avenue last night showed twenty-two out of twenty-five houses to be occupied, judging from the lights within, lights which did not "burn blue" because of the baleful Retreat! The brightly burning lights, however, may have been misleading, for it is possible that the "terror-stricken inhabitants" may have fled with such precipitancy that like the fleeing people of Pompeii, they neither stopped nor stayed to "douse the glim"!

And do you know, Mr. Editor—will you believe—that I really have seen, within twenty-four hours, little boys and girls playing merrily and fearlessly in Sandford avenue? And mine own eyes have beheld the "wives and children of property-holders" passing from house to house, or watering their plants and flowers, gaily chatting the while, just as though no such terrible place as the Retreat were within a thousand miles, and as though there were no such bete noir as good Dr. Cooley!

FAIR PLAY.

P. S.—I have just learned that a party is negotiating for the now celebrated Retreat, in case Dr. Cooley should vacate, who intends to alter it to a tenement house. Perhaps my dear Mr. Shaen will yet have the opportunity of carrying into effect his somewhat defiant welcome to "more of Peck's Bad Boys"!

Said He Was from Plainfield.

The following dispatch was received in this city last evening:

LONDON, October 16—William Balkwell of Plainfield, N. J., was charged to-day at Oxford with obtaining ten shillings by false pretenses from the Warden of Merton College, Oxford University. Balkwell represented himself to the Warden to be "Philip Brooks", a novelist, of Cambridge, Mass., and a son of Bishop Phillips Brooks. He asked the Warden to tell him whether any one at Oxford was acquainted with his grandfather, Oliver Wendell Holmes. Balkwell also declared himself to be the author of "Mr. Barnes of New York", and said that he had recently been to Australia, where he was swindled out of a considerable sum of money. The prisoner was remanded in order to enable the police authorities to make further inquiries.

It is very transparent that Balkwell is either not a Plainfielder or else is giving an assumed name. No such name appears in any local directory. The nearest to it is William Blackwell, who went away in 1876.

Matinee Clubs from the Suburbs.

The latest "fad" among the women of New York, and of such adjacent cities and towns as Plainfield, is the forming of matinee parties, consisting of from two to ten pairs, who on any Wednesday or Saturday may be seen in considerable numbers occupying themselves in shopping or other duties during the morning hours, discussing a luncheon at 1 o'clock, and at 2 they may be found in their seats at the theatre, which have been previously engaged by one of the party, who is dignified with the appellation of Bursar.

These matinee parties have been particularly noticeable at Proctor's Theatre, 23rd street, since the opening of the present season, where many of them are booked for orchestra or sofa chairs as far ahead as six weeks. In fact, Proctor's seems to be getting the cream of them, probably as much because of its admirable location in the very heart of the retail dry goods district, being but a few doors west of Sixth avenue, on 23rd street, as because of the certainty always to find there an attraction of more than ordinary importance.

At the present time, at Proctor's, there is being presented Sardou's latest and undeniably greatest play, "Thermidor", regarding which there has been little else written in the dramatic columns of this country's leading newspapers during the past six months, and not to have seen and be able to talk about "Thermidor" is considered to be one of the unpardonable sins of omission among the more intelligent classes of humanity. But really, apart from the unusually interesting nature of the play, which holds one's absolute attention during its enactment the entr' actes are made pleasurable in watching the independent manners of the ladies who belong to the many "matinee clubs" present at that particular performance. What an air of importance they assume as they snap their fingers to attract the attention of an usher, whom they dispatch for a glass of water, a programme, or on some other really needless commission! But they have seen their brothers do it—or more likely somebody else's brother, and as it is "ladies' day" at Proctor's they assert their rights accordingly, and they are very happy withal.

As with the Saturday afternoon performances, the Wednesday matinees will henceforth be a permanent affair throughout the season.

Good Eye, Old Man!

"Good eye, old man!" will be heard on the ball ground no more this season, but the good artificial eyes to be obtained at Collier's, 3 Park avenue, will retain their old excellence, and customers may there rely on having them adjusted to the sight by a practical optician.

—Gen Howard—First Baptist church—Sunday, 4:15 p. m.—All men welcome.

A GRAND DISCOVERY.

Something for Weak, Tired Women.

You women, salesgirls, and you who are confined in offices, mills and factories, how heavy is your drudgery, how wearing upon your nerves, how exhausting to your strength, how blighting to your beauty. You are often nervous, generally weak and always tired. You feel languid, low-spirited, lifeless and miserable, experience a faintness, sense of fullness or bloating after meals, irregular appetite headache, wake unrefreshed from sleep, have weak back backache, etc., etc.

The great nerve invigorant and female restorative is Dr. Greene's Nervura. No remedy in the world is so sure to restore strength to the weakened and wornout nerves. It is the greatest of all uterine tonics and regulators, and perfectly and completely cures all female weakness. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists sell it, $1.

"I AM SO WEAK AND NERVOUS."

"I have been a sufferer from weakness, nervousness, etc. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura. It acted like magic. Why do women suffer when Dr. Greene's Nervura will surely cure them?

PAULINE KAYSER,

THE MANLY ART OF SELF-DEFENSE.

An Interesting Friendly Contest Between Local Devotees of the Sport.

The manly art of self-defense has many enthusiastic students in Plainfield, and a number of the young men of the city have made considerable advance in the study of the science. Interesting friendly bouts are a frequent occurrence, in secluded fields and retired nooks on private lawns. At some educational institutions boxing has become a recognized part of the boys' daily sports. These fistic meetings are not the ruffianly affairs some over-sensitive people might imagine, but are conducted in a gentlemanly way, and are entirely friendly contests. Such an one may be seen every week at the Harned Academy on Park avenue, and such an one was witnessed Thursday morning. It was a sparring match between two warm friends, who enjoyed it and obtained instruction and benefit from it, as did the other students of the academy.

The hand coverings used were 4-oz gloves. Five rounds were fought, and Marquis of Queensbury rules governed. The contestants were M. Briggs and W. Meehan. S. B. Pearson was time-keeper and F. G. Sinzheimer was judge.

The contestants toed the mark at 8:10 o'clock. After an excellent battle the match ended in a draw, through the inability of the contestants to continue longer.

The story by rounds:

Round 1—Meehan leads with a side cut, but is parried, and in return gets an undercut on the nose. Then follows some sharp in-fighting, in which the honors were about evenly divided. The round was ended by Meehan knocking Briggs down, and the round was awarded to Meehan.

Round 2—Briggs leads carefully for Meehan's nose, but falls short, and gets in return a heavy left-hander on the right eye. Then follows more close in-fighting, in which Meehan gets slightly the worst of it. The round was ended by Meehan being driven to his corner. The round was given to Briggs.

Round 3—This round began with heavy hitting by both men. The round closed by Briggs landing on Meehan's wind. Meehan returned the blow by a side sweep on Briggs's left ear. The round was called a draw.

Round 4—Opened with easy fighting, both men seeking rest. Towards the close of the round some heavy hitting was done. The round closed by Briggs striking Meehan on the chin. The round was declared a draw. At the end of this round it was hard to persuade either man to continue.

Round 5—Round opened by Meehan landing on Briggs's chest, making Briggs stagger; but, quickly recovering, Briggs gave Meehan severe punishment on the shoulders and back. The round closed by Meehan striking Briggs on the neck. The round was declared a draw. At the end of this round both contestants were physically exhausted and unable to continue the battle. They were warmly applauded for the skill and science they exhibited.

CRESCENT BOWLERS ABROAD.

They Drop a Victory up in Mott Haven, to the Crack Phoenix Team.

The bowlers of the Plainfield Crescent League who went to Mott Haven yesterday to help open the new club-house of the Phoenix Club met with a somewhat disappointing reception. There had been a misunderstanding about the Crescents coming, and the Phoenix boys were hardly prepared to receive them, but the best of the matter was made, and the visitors were made heartily welcome and given a first-rate time. The bowling contest resulted in a victory for the home team. The Phoenix players got a big lead at the start, lost it through the Crescents' spurt in the fourth frame, regained it in the sixth, and kept it to the end. C. Emerson was high man of the evening, with a record of 186. The score:

Frank Hunter Potter.

A rare treat is offered to the Plainfield public, in the recital lecture to be given by Frank Hunter Potter, next Monday afternoon, at the Casino.

Mr. Potter will treat the subject of English, Irish, and Scotch Folk songs, and the high tributes of praise which have been awarded to him in many other places give an idea of what may be expected from him here. His success is assured beforehand, and many will embrace the opportunity for entertainment and instruction combined.

Further information concerning the lecture may be found in the advertisement in another column.

Baptist Convention in Plainfield.

The East New Jersey Baptist Sunday-school Association will this year hold its convention in the First Baptist church of Plainfield. Sessions will be held Tuesday, Oct. 20, at 10 a. m. and 2 and 7:30 p. m. An attractive programme has been arranged, and several eminent speakers have been secured. A cordial invitation is extended to all the teachers and Christian workers of the city to be present.

A PLAINFIELDER'S PLAN.

How to Prevent the Long Delays that Vex Commuters on the Jersey Central.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Bridge-building franchises are granted with the understanding that such structures are for the purpose of facilitating land traffic, but not to impede navigation. By a clause in the River and Harbor Appropriation Act of 1882, it is provided that where any obstruction to navigation exists on or over any navigable waters of the United States, the Secretary of War may make such reasonable regulations as he may think fit to clear away the obstruction. The act applies to all parts of the country, as it should. It provides for the unobstructed passage not only of steamers and sailing vessels, but even of rafts. The latter provision was made in order to make the statute applicable to some Western rivers.

There should be no discrimination between railroads and inland water commerce—they are both a public necessity—but when one encroaches upon the rights of the other, it is time for the Federal Government to intercede. Last year Col. G. L. Gillespie, U. S. A., held an informal inquiry on the subject of obstructions to navigation on the Harlem river. The Commission sat for several months and heard evidence on all sides of the question. There were two powerful sides represented at the inquiry. One was the property owners interested in the development of the Harlem river frontage for wharfage purposes. The other side was the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad corporation. An attempt was made during the hearing to reconcile conflicting interests. The said railroad corporation wanted to have the draw of its Fourth avenue bridge closed to navigation during commission hours. The property owners demanded that the New York Central should either tunnel under the Harlem river or alter its present drawbridge so that there would be twenty-four feet clear at the highest spring tides. The result of the inquiry was that the New York Central people were not only defeated in their scheme of closing the draws, but they were ordered to alter their bridges so as to comply with the law.

Railroad draw-bridges over such important navigable waterways as Harlem river and Newark bay should be of the most modern design and made to be opened and closed in the shortest possible time. If this plan were adopted there would be fewer delays and better satisfaction on the part of railroad passengers and vessel captains.

For instance, take the Central Railroad of New Jersey's bridge over Newark Bay; while its present draw is an improvement over the former antiquated structure, it is inadequate for the demands of the traveling public, and said draws are accountable for numerous delays and many accidents to vessel property. The flood tide takes an oblique course toward the bridge, and it is quite necessary when a steamer (especially if she has a tow) is bound up the bay that the draw be opened quickly to avoid accident. It is more difficult and hazardous for sailing vessels to pass through this draw, and they cause much longer detention of trains. To obviate this inconvenience a railroad draw-bridge over a thoroughfare like Newark Bay should have a tug for the special purpose of towing sailing vessels through. If we remember correctly the Central Railroad of New Jersey did, at one time, have a tug for that purpose, and it is said that their charter requires it. If that is the case why did said railroad withdraw the tug and thus cease to avoid delays and annoyance to its many patrons?

The vessel traffic through Newark Bay and the Hackensack River is increasing, and there should be some legislation taken to facilitate both railroad and water transportation. On Thursday last the 6:30 p. m. train from New York was detained at the draw for at least twenty minutes. The detention was caused first by a freight propeller passing through the draw followed by a schooner beating at a snail's pace to the windward in order to reach the open draw and pass through. Unlike a steamer, a sailing vessel has to do a great deal of manœuvring ere she gets in the right position safely to enter a draw, hence it is quite necessary that the Central Railroad of New Jersey should continue its tug service.

Kisses As They Are Stolen.

The Railroad Employe, the bright, newsy and popular organ of New Jersey railroad men, published at Newark, has been diagnosing the varied emotions excited in young women along the lines of different local roads as kisses are caught or stolen from their rosy lips. It says:

The Jersey Central girl ejaculates, with marked positiveness of manner, but with equally marked insincerity: "Wretch, thief, put that right back; I would n't lose it for the world." She not only does n't lose it, but, gets (as she wants) double principal and interest.

The Lehigh Valley girl remarks: "You 've been and gone and done it: have you? Now cipher out how much better you feel, and calculate when you get another chance."

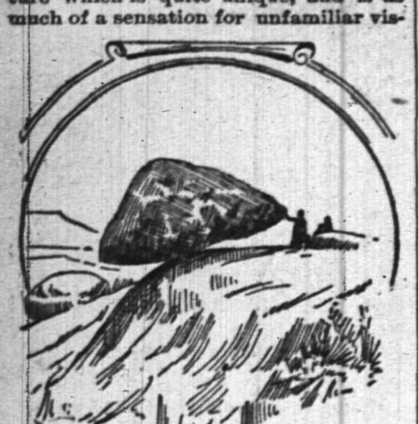
THE BALANCE ROCK.

Argentina's Wonderful Freak of Nature at Tandil.

It Is Poised on the Sloping Side of an Enormous Rock and Maintains Its Equilibrium to Perfection—A Fanatic's Mad Act.

When European tourists visit the United States they turn towards the falls of Niagara as the greatest natural wonder of the land.

Argentina, with its grassy plains and bare foot-hills presents few great works of nature to interest the stranger save at this quiet village in the southwestern portion of the province of Buenos Ayres, writes a correspondent of the New York World from Tandil, Argentina. English travelers especially take a run down to Tandil from the capital to see the moving rock, a freak of nature which is quite unique, and is as much of a sensation for unfamiliar visitors as the great cataract of the Niagara river.



BALANCE ROCK.

Tandil is located 160 miles from Buenos Ayres. It is a parochial town, named after a famous Indian chieftain who waged incessant war with the Spanish colonists. I came to Tandil over the Ferro Came del Sud, and after breakfast on pachero, the invariable native dish, mounted a Spanish horse and rode a league up the hills to the moving rock.

The scenery along the path was picturesque. The river Tandileofle, flowing down from the Sierras and winding among the hills, irrigates the adjacent country and waters the numerous herds and flocks. The huts of the peasantry, shabby but quaint and attractive in their squalor, lay on the slopes, and the ragged children, with eager, gleaming black eyes, ran along the road begging for dinero.

The rock is of granite formation and weighs, according to the estimate of scientific authority, about 800 tons. It is poised on the sloping side of an enormous rock which is several hundred feet long and which rises high above the ground. The surface of the latter is smooth; in the vicinity there are signs of the passage of a glacier.

The illustration affords a good idea of the appearance of the moving rock. The point on which it rests is about eighteen inches in diameter, and the stone was poised so exactly by the flood on the ice which left it in position that by a pressure of the hand I was enabled to stir it with a swaying motion amounting to at least four inches. The wind was calm and insufficient to move the heavy mass, but when the blasts sweep down the Sierras and impinge on the bowlder it rolls to and fro.

Notwithstanding the ease with which the rock is swayed, there is a limit beyond which it will not go by any power which has been applied. Gen. Rosas, during his dictatorship of Argentina, made a wager that he could pull the rock from its position by attaching 100 horses. The attempt failed, and Rosas, becoming incensed, swore he would overthrow the monster anyway. The number of horses was increased to 500; the rock, however, went to the limit of its motion and no further. The supply of available horses being exhausted, Rosas was on the point of using gunpowder to accomplish his purpose, when his attention was drawn elsewhere by political events, and the rock of Tandil remained unmolested.

A terrible tragedy occurred beside the moving rock in 1873. A fanatic named Sala Dios collected nearly 150 deluded followers for the purpose, as he claimed, of making an important revelation. Suddenly he commenced a massacre and killed forty-one persons before he was overpowered. He had hidden firearms in a crevice of rock and shot women and children indiscriminately.

A Curious Name Combination.

"What is in a name?" has been a question sufficiently unanswered to still remain a subject for discussion, but what is in two names should have a double interest. If you don't think so, take two names as well known as any in American history and look at them. They are the names Lincoln and Hamlin. Of course, there is nothing peculiar about them as they stand, but set them differently and observe the result. For an instance, place them thiswise:

HAM LIN
LIN COLN

Read up and down and then across. There is something in that, isn't there? Now again:

ABRA—HAMLIN—COLN.

Can you find two other names of two other men whose official lives and names combine as these do?

They Are All in It.

The Centralia (Mo.) Fireside Guard prints this curious announcement: "The editor and his entire family now comprise the working force on the Guard. Mr. Rodemyre does the editing and sticks type on the local page; Mrs. Rodemyre is local reporter and gathers the local items; Edgar, the oldest son, attends to the job department, and the youngest son, Homer, aged fourteen, makes himself generally useful. The whole family stick type and that is why we are enabled to get out a nine-column paper and do job work cheaper than any print-shop in the county."

A Slave to System.

Chippen Clarke (to his employer, leaving the office)—Oh, Mr. System, haven't you forgotten your umbrella? It's raining.

Mr. System—Can't help it. I've made a resolution to have one here and one at home, to provide for emergencies. Now, if I take this, they'll both be at home.—Puck.

Applicant—No, I am a single man.

Business Manager—That's awkward. You see the boss told me not to hire any unmarried man as cashier.

Cashier—Then to get the place I've got to marry?

Business Manager—That's about the size of it. You have got to marry some girl at once. Come around and take dinner with me and my daughter. I think this thing can be arranged.—Texas Siftings.

Contrary to Rule.

Husband—You are surely not going out shopping in the rain? You'll be sick.

Wife (firmly)—I never allow the weather to interfere with my shopping.

JOSIE'S MANY DUPES

Some of the Men Ruined by "The Mansfield."

SHE TRIED TO ENSNARE GOULD,

But the Financier Was Too Wary, as Was Also Tweed.

Intrigues and Amours of the Woman Who Had Millionaires at Her Feet—Fate of Two of Her Victims—Her Relations With Fisk and Stokes Only Episodes in Her Career—Her Letter to Cornelius Vanderbilt—She Has a Double.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The recent marriage of "Josie" Mansfield, perhaps the most wonderful achievement of her most wonderful career, brings to light the fact that New Yorkers and the world at large have really learned comparatively little of this notorious woman. Her relations with Fisk and Stokes are all that she is remembered by and yet these were only episodes in her life.

How many, even old New Yorkers, know that the woman lived a Bohemian existence in a humble way in Fourth street? Yet she was a finer looking woman while on Fourth street than she was later in her mansion on Twenty-third street. Among her early or Fourth street lovers was one "Al" Wallace.

He was a dapper individual of medium height, with a carefully curled mustache and a pair of expressive eyes. Rather good-looking, he was a "popular" man in his day of prosperity and enjoyed a widely miscellaneous acquaintance.

He "knew everybody" and had "a pull" in politics. Tweed used him in several transactions and he was a chum of "Billy" Cook, one of the most efficient of "the Slaves of the Ring." As a faro player he for years "bucked the tiger" and came out ahead, and had a quiet, cool way about him that rendered him a favorite with women and specially endeared him to "Josie," who fell "head over ears" in love with him—for a while.

She doted on Wallace for some months and kept a boy in her neighborhood busy carrying messages to and fro. Wallace did not care specially for the woman at first, but she gradually fascinated him till he fell, like Fisk later on, a captive to the siren's wiles. But by this time she had tired of her conquest and soon sought and found higher game.

Wallace had met his fate. He had really learned to love the woman and he never fully recovered from her desertion. He lost his head as well as his heart. His nerve deserted him. He became unlucky at play, bungled some political jobs intrusted to his care, incurred the displeasure of the "Boss" and was deserted by his old cronies. He took to drink and soon became a total physical and mental wreck and finally drifted over to the "island," and one night, when Josie was with Fisk at an Academy ball, "Al" Wallace died in the poorhouse.

A similar fate befell another of Josie's lovers. This was a young broker well known down town as "Matt" Bowen, a little fellow full of dash and vim, with curly hair and a pleasing "off-hand" manner. The Mansfield took one of her "crazes" for him. She was then in the height of her prosperity, the acknowledged mistress of Fisk and the friend of Stokes. And yet she was willing to "throw over" both of these men for Matt Bowen. But Bowen had sense enough to see that it would never do to antagonize openly the woman's two potential admirers, so he contented himself with being, in the background, the favored third. He curried favor with Fisk and for a space all was well. But the woman became imprudent and demonstrative, spite of Bowen's warnings, and Fisk's suspicions were excited. He set detectives to work and soon learned that he had ample cause for his suspicions. Fisk kept his temper and bided his time, meanwhile proceeding systematically towards his revenge.

He bought out Bowen and pretended to have taken a fancy to him. The unsuspecting Bowen, flattered at the preference of the great financier, lived in a fool's paradise awhile. At Fisk's suggestion he had borrowed all the money he could and hypothecated every share of stock and invested every cent he had in the world in a certain speculation which Fisk assured him would make him and his friends' fortune. Then Fisk put on the thumbscrews. The speculation proved disastrous and Matt Bowen was ruined. He took to drink, then to the island—like his predecessor, Wallace. But even before he died in disgrace, destitution and despair, "Josie" had already forgotten him.

But one thing she never forgot—her own self-interest. The real cleverness of Jay Gould was never shown more conspicuously than in his determined resistance to the persistent allurement of Fisk's mistress. He carefully avoided her so far as he could without positively offending Fisk. Her charms were wasted upon Gould.

Once when Fisk was called away from New York to Boston on business connected with the steamboats, Mansfield took the opportunity to importune Gould to dine with her.

To her surprise and delight Gould accepted her pressing invitation. Every preparation was made for that dinner and Josie arrayed herself in the most bewitching of toilets and probably saw herself in her fond imaginings the mistress of Fisk's master.

But about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of the day appointed for the dinner, a special messenger came from Jay Gould, bearing his regrets that business of the utmost importance prevented him from keeping his engagement.

From that day she detested the very name of Gould and endeavored to sow dissension between him and his colleague, Fisk.

"The Mansfield" likewise endeavored to impress herself favorably on Tweed. One bitterly cold morning Mansfield, in her seal-skin sacque, rode in her well-appointed sleigh from Fisk's house, down Twenty-third street to Fifth avenue, and then up the avenue to the residence of the Tammany Boss, where she was received by the Boss himself.

Her errand at this time was doubly congenial. She wooed, on her own account, to meet Tweed, and, on Fisk's account, to sound Tweed on a matter concerning which Fisk had recently differed with Jay Gould, a difference which she herself had done her utmost to widen. But Tweed, spite of his susceptibility, had a wise head on his shoulders and, despite the woman's fascinations, positively refused to aid Fisk in his attempt to antagonize Gould. On the contrary, he counselled conciliation, and the woman left him frowning.

When the famous, or infamous, "Erie corner" took place in March, 1868, and the whole Erie directory fled to Jersey City, Josie Mansfield accompanied Fisk to "Fort Taylor," as they then dubbed Taylor's Hotel. Fisk himself looked after her baggage.

Seized with one of her sudden impulses, while at Taylor's Hotel, Josie wrote a letter to Cornelius Vanderbilt requesting him to appoint some time and place when she could have a strictly private and confidential interview with him, having matters of the utmost importance to reveal to him.

The letter was mislaid in transit and was accidently found a few years ago by a party who still holds it as a "curiosity of literature."

Josie was always opposed to Fisk having any theatrical schemes on hand. She did not favor his having to do with actresses or actors. But this was one of the very few points in which Fisk would have his way, despite of "Cleopatra," as he was wont to call her.

Since the death of Fisk, Josie Mansfield, the indirect cause of his death, has resided chiefly abroad. For awhile she was the attraction at a private gaming club at Paris. For a spell, goaded by remorse, she was a religieuse. Then returning to the butterfly world once more she formed a liaison with a ci-devant Marquis. All sorts of contradictory rumors have been circulated regarding her, many of which have had their origin in a fact not generally known.

Josephine Mansfield has a "double." There is a woman who looks like her and has assumed her name, and who has been often mistaken for her. This woman was born in Ulster County, this State; married a blacksmith, lived awhile in several of the Hudson River towns in succession, finally struck New York and on a small scale imitated the career of Helen Josephine Lawlor Mansfield. This "double" has been the astral figure of various escapades in this city, London, Paris and Nice. And consequently a deal of contradiction and confusion has arisen concerning the whereabouts and adventures of "the Mansfield woman."

It was at one time widely published that Josie Mansfield was living in retirement in New York city. So she was, but that was "the double." Then it was reported that she had been arrested in London. So she was, but she was "the double." Some have even hinted that it is "the double" and not the original Mansfield woman who has lately been married to the well known club man. But the latest advices serve to demonstrate that the bride was the former wife of Frank Lawlor, the actor, and the idol of James Fisk.

Terrible Vengeance of a Mob Upon Four Negroes.

HANGED AND BULLET-RIDDLED.

The Men Had Resisted a Sheriff's Posse and Killed Two.

So Furious Was the Mob That it Went Back to the Jail, Took Out a Badly Wounded Negro and Lynched Him Also—The Mayor and Sheriff Powerless to Restrain the Excited Crowd—Terrible Scenes.

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., Oct. 19.—After the fight here on Saturday, between officers and colored men, in which P. A. Bowling and Fred Wilkinson, members of the Sheriff's posse, were killed, the excitement in the town became intense. The negroes had come down from the Hill mine with the avowed purpose of creating a disturbance.

The news of the fracas spread like wildfire, and in a short time 50 men were scouring the mountains near by where the colored gang took refuge, hunting them down.

In a few hours all of the colored men were brought here and placed in jail, after a desperate struggle for their lives, and after receiving several wounds.

The prisoners were Charles Miller, a notorious character from Bedford County, shot three times before being captured; William Martin from Madison County, shot twice; Bob Burton, shot in the leg in the first fight and a boy.

Great excitement prevailed all the afternoon, and there was talk of lynching Miller, who was the ringleader, and who is supposed to have shot Bowling.

The excitement grew as evening came on and by dark the streets were full of men crying for revenge.

About 11 p. m. a mob of 300 surrounded the jail.

The Mayor and town officers urged the men to let the law take its course, pointing out the danger of mistakes and the bad name a lynching would give the place, but the mob would not listen and made an attack on the prison, a frail structure, easily entered.

Once in possession of the prisoners the mob released the boy and attempted to secure from the other three a confession, but the men stoutly denied having committed any crime.

The lynching was a terrible affair. Three of the colored men were taken to a desolate place known as 'Slaughter House Hollow,' about a quarter of a mile from the Chesapeake and Ohio depot.

The mob tied them to the same rope and swung them up to the tree.

Before their heels were two feet from the ground the firing began and their bodies were riddled with bullets, the foot of one of them falling off.

The excited crowd now thirsting for blood returned to the jail and took the wounded man to the same place and dispatched him in the same manner.

The boy they held to the spot, and after showing him how a colored man is treated for killing a white they and let him go.

THEY HAD A FREE FIGHT.

Women Prisoners in Pittsburg Settle Differences in their Own Peculiar Way.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—It has just leaked out that a free for all fight occurred among the female prisoners of the Claremont Workhouse, two nights ago. Two women in the knitting department had a quarrel, which resulted in an incipient riot, friends of both women interfering and taking opposite sides.

For about half an hour the twenty-five infuriated prisoners fought each other fiercely, scratching one another's eyes, tearing each others' clothes nearly off, and pounding an adversary whenever an opening occurred. The three matrons in charge could do nothing with the women, who acted like wild animals.

Half a dozen officers of the prison were finally summoned by the matron who succeeded in escaping from the room and the belligerents were placed in dungeons. During the fight two of the worst prisoners, Maud Hutchinson and Mamie White, escaped from their cell, their door being carelessly left unlocked. They scaled a 20-foot wall to liberty and have not yet been apprehended.

A Peddler Fatally Assaulted.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Joseph Blum, a Hebrew peddler, 23 years old, is lying at the point of death at Rosendale, ten miles from here, suffering from injuries inflicted by two canal boatmen. They assaulted Plum for the purpose of robbing him and escaped. Detectives went in pursuit and succeeded in capturing one at Port Jervis.

The Restrictions Will be Removed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—President Louis Certencin, of the Italian Chamber of Commerce, received yesterday a cablegram from Rome, stating that the government had agreed to abolish the decree against American pork. A proclamation to that effect will shortly be issued by the Italian authorities.

THIEVES HAD NO SHOW.

How the Well-Concocted Robbery in Scranton, Pa., was Frustrated.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—The arrest of the robbers of the pay office of A. D. & F. M. Spencer, of the Potts colliery in Dunmore, on Saturday, was in accordance with a plan formed two weeks ago, when the police first heard of the scheme. There were five men concerned in the robbery, four of whom were arrested. Charles Engle and Wallace Snow did the actual work.

H. N. Hollister first proposed the scheme. Engle had been long in the employ of the Spencers and was familiar with the premises. He informed Hollister that about this time of the month the Spencers usually had from $13,000 to $14,000 in their office. Chief of Police Simpson had prepared thoroughly for the robbery, and everything was in readiness to catch the robbers.

Charles Bowen was arrested in a barnyard with Engle and Wallace as they were dividing the little booty they had obtained. Hollister was arrested soon after. The $13,000 was so well concealed that the robbers could not have found it without a great deal of trouble.

The Mexican Rebellion.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 19.—Catarino E. Garza, the Mexican revolutionary leader, is in the neighborhood of Piedras Negras, Mexico, at the head of an armed force of 500 men. He is committing many outrages on the citizens who will not join his standard. The Mexican government is sending regiment after regiment of soldiers to that section, and will make every effort to quell the uprising.

Four Prisoners Escape.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—William Madden, Herbert Chase, Thomas F. Murphy and Leonard Spry, four prisoners at the Concord Reformatory, escaped from that institution Saturday night. The manner of their escape is unknown.

FOUND IN A TREE.

How a Long-Missing Man Came to His Death.

HAMBURG, Conn., Oct. 19.—William Hart and George Hunt, two young men, while hunting in Otter Swamp made a ghastly find that solves the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Myron Nolan of this place 13 months ago. A year ago in September Nolan went into the woods for the purpose of gathering hazel nuts, and from that time until yesterday nothing was seen or heard of him. For several days searching parties scoured the woods where he was supposed to be, but no trace of him could be found, and public opinion was about evenly divided as to whether he had killed himself or deserted his family.

Otter Swamp is a vast stretch of low land that is not very frequently visited, and many portions of it are not crossed as often as once a year. In the afternoon Hart and Hunt were called into a dismal part of the swamp by the barking of their dogs, which they supposed to be on the trail of a mink. When they came upon the animals they were at the foot of a tall tree scratching at a human skull. The hunters began to search for the other parts of the skeleton, but could not find them. Leaning against a rock near by they found a gun, much rusted with rotten stock. There were also remnants of a leather game bag.

While searching about the tree one of the men looked up into the branches and saw portions of a skeleton hanging from between the trunk of the tree and a large limb that grew up from it and very closely to it. Among the rib bones of the skeleton squirrels had built a nest. Hunt went up and dislodged the skeleton, and with the gun and game bag it was brought to town, where the two latter were easily recognized as Nolan's.

How Nolan came to his death there is no way of proving, but it is supposed that he climbed the tree to examine a squirrel's nest that he had shot into, and losing his foothold had fallen in such a way as to strike in the crotch of the tree, from which position he was unable to extricate himself, even if he had the strength after falling. In this position he must have died from hunger and thirst or possibly from his injuries. Both charges had been fired from the gun and the caps on the tubes were exploded.

SHE MAY WRITE A BOOK.

Mrs. Parnell Intends, if Health Permits, to Vindicate Her Husband.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—It is said that Mrs. Parnell, if she recovers her health, will write a memoir of the great leader, to relieve him from much of the blame cast upon him on her account. There are two sides to the O'Shea divorce, of which the public has heard only one. Parnell would never condescend to defend himself, especially after he was assailed by Mr. Gladstone. He held that the Irish people ought to have seen that a dead set was made at him because he was England's most formidable antagonist, but Mrs. Parnell is determined that the whole truth shall come out. It will then be seen that though Parnell was not free from guilt, he was nothing like so guilty as the world has been led to believe.

Rumors of this kind were afloat before the trial; some of Parnell's friends who afterward deserted him put implicit faith in them.

Mrs. Parnell will never play into the hands of her husband's enemies. She is a woman of great ability and determination. She did her utmost to provide her husband with a happy home during the last few harassed months of his life. He fled to it as a refuge from the storm, but nothing could restrain his eagerness to set himself right with the Irish people. His wife's name was never mentioned, but his thoughts were never long away from her. His only defence of his conduct was that he had not acted treacherously or broken up a home.

If Mrs. Parnell carries out her present purpose this position will be established by facts and documents which do not admit of challenge or disproof.

Compelled to Apologize to Powderly.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—The Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, which has been sitting here for the past three days, has compelled District Master Workman D. J. Campbell and Dr. Haggerty to make public apologies to Master Workman Powderly. Campbell and Haggerty were the largest stockholders in the "Times," which recently assailed Mr. Powderly for accepting the nomination for Constitutioal Delegate. Campbell and Haggerty are out in cards disclaiming any intention to injure Mr. Powderly, and say they were not responsible for the article.

Took Carbolic Acid by Mistake.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 19.—Emmett S. Miller, aged 30, a farmer living near Pottersville, died Saturday night from the effects of carbolic acid taken by mistake. He purchased the acid in the village drug store after consulting a physician. It is believed he misunderstood the doctor's prescription.

$100,000 for a Horse.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—At the sale of the stallions and yearlings belonging to the Nursery stud of the late August Belmont, the amount realized was $603,500. St. Blaise, son of Hermit, was sold to Charles Reed of Gallatin, Tenn., for $100,000. One yearling sold for $30,000, while several commanded $10,000.

Astounding the Surgeons.

PATTERSON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Three-year-old Jane Smith, of this place, is an object of wonder. A couple of days ago a horse kicked her in the head, making a hole, from which the brain matter oozed in considerable quantity. Nevertheless, she is believed to be recovering.

Pomp on Frederick's Birthday.

HAMBURG, Oct. 19.—The 60th birthday of the late Emperor Frederick was celebrated with flags, and by special sermons and church services, and by appropriate exhibitions at the public theatres.

MINUS HER FORTUNE

How a Pennsylvania Widow Was Victimized.

A CLEVER CONFIDENCE GAME.

Wheedled Into Believing She Was Her Former Sweetheart's Heiress.

Mrs. Ann Woods Took Stock in a Clairvoyant's Game, and Now Mourns an Imaginary Fortune, Besides $500 and a Gold Watch—She Had the "Deeds" in Her Possession—A Slick Swindle.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Ann R. Woods, a respectable widow of this town, recently astonished her friends by telling them that she had come into a fortune of over $240,000 in a very unexpected and romantic manner.

She has been considered a woman of more than ordinary good sense, and when she told the story of her good luck the neighbors believed her, especially as she exhibited documents which appeared to sustain her statement.

Mrs. Woods's story was that William H. Jasper of Lewiston, Idaho, was her benefactor. Years ago, she said, before her marriage to Woods, Jasper had been her sweetheart.

When she became a widow he renewed his attentions, sent her handsome presents, came East to see her and then capped the climax by sending his attorney here with deeds and checks purporting to convey to Mrs. Woods real estate and cash to the amount of $240,000.

It has now been discovered that Mrs. Woods never got a cent of the big fortune, and never will. There is not an atom of truth in it all from start to finish. And yet, Mrs. Woods did not lie. She has been made the victim of one of the sharpest confidence games that has been played in Washington County in years.

It appears that she corresponded with a clairvoyant, and who promised her a large fortune from "some one" within a specified time. She began by sending $10 to a designated place, when her correspondent promised she should receive $20 in return.

This went all right, for the correspondence resulted in bringing, in return for letters sent in various directions, numerous sums of money and various pieces of jewelry. Finally a man purporting to be the attorney for William H. Jasper came to town with the checks, deeds, etc., and, after leaving the papers with Mrs. Woods and receiving generous treatment at her hands, succeeded in getting $500 and a gold watch from her.

She had been so successful with the clairvoyant and had so often had money sent her and had seen the promised fortune materializing so much quicker than she expected that she was an easy victim when the demand was made upon her bank account, which by the way, was a very comfortable one.

Mrs. Woods is unable to give a very correct description of the fellow who called upon her, but she says he took the deeds back to Lewistown for record. When she deposited the checks and drafts the bank reported that they were worthless.

NEW ELECTRIC DEVICE.

Incorporation of a Company to Use One of Edison's Inventions.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Articles of incorporation have been recorded in the office of the Secretary of State by the Edison Illuminating and Power Company with a capital of $500,000. It is understood that the capital will be increased to $1,000,000 at an early date.

The ostensible object of the new corporation is the introduction of an electric light system in the city of Newark. According to the projectors it is proposed to erect an entirely new plant to conduct electricity underground and to furnish incandescent lights and power for small manufacturing plants. It is believed, however, that the company is formed to eventually put on the market a system of electric motion for street and other railroad cars without trolley, invented by Thomas A. Edison.

Gov. Hill Off for Atlanta.

ALBANY, Oct. 19.—Gov. Hill left this city at 2:38 p. m. yesterday for Atlanta, Ga., where he delivers an address at the unveiling of the monument to Henry W. Grady, on Wednesday of this week. The governor was accompanied by a delegation from Georgia, headed by Governor Gordon. Those accompanying the governor are Col. McEwen, Col. Judson, Hon. John A. McCall, Superintendent of State prisons; Austin F. Lathrop, Gen. Ferdinand F. Earl, Gen. Henry W. Slocum, and Dr. Henry Pierce.

Shot in a Quarrel.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 19.—Frank Butler and William G. Jones were shot early yesterday morning near a notorious resort in the town of Hamden, by Elmer A. Thombs, who has recently been employed as a liquor spotter. Thombs claimed that he was set upon by two of the men, and that in self-defense he shot them. Butler's wounds are of a serious nature, but Jones is only slightly wounded. Thombs is under arrest.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

The two most noted works of James Parton, who is dead at Newburyport, Mass., are "Life and Defense of Aaron Burr," and "Life of Andrew Jackson."

Gen. Alexander Harbison, of Hartford, Conn., has brought a slander suit for $5,000 against County Commissioner John Crilly.

Edward F. Searles is to present to the town of Methuen, Mass., a fine statue of Gen. George Washington.

The building of John A. Morgan & Son, coal and lumber dealers at Norwich, Conn., was gutted by fire. Loss, $30,000; insured.

WAS LINCOLN A SPIRITUALIST?

Claim of a Medium that the Late President Was a Believer.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In a work entitled "Was Abraham Lincoln a Spiritualist?" Mrs. Nettie Colburn Maynard of this city makes some startling declarations in regard to Mr. Lincoln's belief in supernatural communications.

She states that in the latter part of 1862, when she was a young girl, and already gaining a reputation as a medium, she was in Washington, and became acquainted with Mrs. Lincoln and a number of other persons of prominence, who were attendants upon her seances, and through this means she came in contact with the President.

Mrs. Lincoln induced her husband to attend one of Miss Colburn's seances, and on that occasion he was warned through the unconscious medium not to postpone his issuance of the emancipation proclamation. Those present were surprised, and asked Mr. Lincoln if any pressure had been brought to bear to secure the determent of the proclamation, and he replied that there had been pressure of the strongest kind. He was much impressed by the incident, and the proclamation was shortly issued.

Lincoln obtained Miss Colburn a clerkship, and she remained in Washington, frequently giving seances, the President attending several of them, and being seemingly much impressed with the manifestations.

In the winter of 1863-4 Mr. Lincoln was present at a seance, and the terrible condition of the freedmen was made the subject of spiritual communication, the president being urged to appoint a committee to investigate the question, which he soon did. General Daniel E. Sickles was present at this seance. Mrs. Maynard states that during this winter she held seances attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, at the president's appointment, but as they were private, and she was unconscious when the spirit was communicating through her, she does not know what was communicated, neither Mr. nor Mrs. Lincoln having told her afterward what had occurred.

During the winter of 1864-5 Charles Colchester and Charles Foster, well-known mediums, held seances for the President, and through them, as well as through Miss Colburn, the President was warned of his approaching fate. He did not admit, however, that he placed any reliance upon these prophecies.

ECHOES OF THE STORM.

Incoming Vessels Report Trying Times at Sea.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Steamers and sailing craft arriving here and at other eastern ports all report having experienced terrible storms at sea. The steamer Rossbire reached port from Matanzas yesterday and reports a very tempt uous voyage. She managed to ride out the several gales and hurricanes which she encountered, but in a badly battered condition. Two seamen were severely hurt during a squall by being knocked against the rail by a huge sea which the vessel shipped.

The schooner Minnie Lewis which arrived from Ragged Island also met several severe gales and received some damage to rigging and hull.

The Portuguese bark Rapoza which arrived in New Bedford was thrown on her beam ends off Fire Island last Tuesday and her fore and main masts had to be cut away before the vessel would again ride on an even keel. The vessel carried a number of passengers who were greatly alarmed at the mishap.

Hypnotized and Then Murdered.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The brothers of young William V. Harrison, who was found dead in his room at the Wellington Hotel last Monday, are now satisfied that the young man was either hypnotized into committing suicide or murdered by a Mexican, who has been living in this city under the name of William Ellis and with whom young Harrison was supposed to be associated in some business enterprises. Ellis was Harrison's constant companion and seemed to possess great influence over him. They are looking for the Mexican, who has disappeared.

Long Branch Boulevard Gone.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 19.—The Long Branch Commissioners were yesterday forced to barricade Ocean avenue, the once beautiful ocean driveway, as it was dangerous to allow vehicles or pedestrians to use the road. Since the severe storms of last week, old Neptune has been steadily forcing a way into the famous ocean boulevard, until now, from the Mansion House on the north to Bath avenue on the south, fully three-quarters of the roadway is entirely gone.

Sam Small Arrested.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Rev. Sam Small has been arrested on a civil action brought by Rev. Mr. Munroe, of Newton, who sent Sam $1,000 a year ago to invest in Utah. Sam did not make satisfactory returns, hence the arrest.

Working Women Want the Ballot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It is just made public that the "Working Women's Society," the central body representing the organized working women of New York, last week pronounced for the first time in favor of suffrage for women, passing unanimously and heartily resolutions suggested by Mr. Hamilton Wilcox of New York making this demand. The society also endorsed Mr. Wilcox's bill enabling all self-supporting women to vote, which has heretofore been approved by several central labor organizations.

An Heir to $9,000,000 in a Poorhouse.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Ann A. Dodge, an inmate of the poorhouse of of this city, and who is 80 years of age, received notice yesterday that she is the heir to an estate worth $9,000,000 in England. The story dates back two centuries, at which time her great-grandfather on her mother's side owned a vast estate near London. Mrs. Dodge has received letters confirming her right to the estate and has forwarded documents to prove her claim.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—There are a few of the best boxes in Music Hall still for sale for the Musin concert, Thursday evening.

—A very interesting talk was given at Monroe Avenue chapel last evening by the Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D.

—Walter Scott of this city has been granted another patent on mechanism for stopping and reversing printing presses.

—The locomotive on a Blue Line train broke down in this city yesterday noon, and the train was considerably delayed.

—Three men indulged in the liveliest kind of a street fight on Craig place, Saturday night, and of course the police were far, far away.

—A funny man about town says that it is eminently proper that the local clergymen should ride bicycles, as it is a sole-saving occupation.

—The Charity Circle of King's Daughters will hold a cake and candy sale in the Crescent Avenue church parlors from 3 until 6, Thursday, Oct. 22.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan directors will be held in Jackson & Codington's office this evening at 8 o'clock.

—A new lodge of I. O. O. F's. will be instituted in the Knights of Pythias rooms, this evening, at 8 o'clock. All desiring to join are cordially invited.

—There will be live bird and inanimate target shooting at Campbell's Club House grounds, Thursday, Oct. 22. Live birds 20 cents each. Shooting commences at 10 a. m.

—Easter Lodge, Knights of Honor, will hold a regular meeting in the Music Hall building, this evening at eight o'clock. There will be initiations and important business matters.

—Roy Cox, of West Seventh street, had his knee-cap knocked an inch or two above its proper place, during a foot-ball game Saturday. He will travel on crutches now for some days to come.

—County physician Westcott of Scotch Plains was called on to examine the body of James Hooker, Pennsylvania railway baggage master on the early morning paper train, who fell dead in his car, Saturday, and gave burial permit.

—Elsie Leslie, who will be seen at Music Hall, this evening, is the only actress who has ever received complimentary notice in St. Nicholas, Harper's Young Folks, and the Christian Advocate. Mention in those journals is an honor indeed.

—The Courier—edited by those of the Central Times who insist that "ice cream", "steam pudding", "corn beef" and "clock jaw" are proper English—speaking of a dead man's obsequies the other day, said: "There was no music, no obsequious display."

—Ivanhoe Council, American Legion of Honor, will entertain the grand officers of New Jersey in their rooms in Music Hall building to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The regular meeting will be followed by a collation, and a full attendance of members is desired.

—Superintendent John Brooks and Thomas Buckley, of the Potter press works, are putting a new folder in the Jersey City Journal's press room. The folder was built at the press works here from the designs of the inventor, who is foreman in the Journal establishment.

—The book-keeping and mechanical drawing classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 8 to-night. Garret Q. Packer will instruct in book-keeping; and A. J. Gavett, civil engineer, and Frank Leland of the Pond Machine Tool Works, will teach the classes in mechanical drawing.

—All those interested in the study of the Bible are cordially invited to join the Bible normal class which is to meet in the class room of the First Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "An Introductory study in the Book of Genesis". Over forty have already joined this class, and as to-night is the first session it will be a good opportunity for anyone to become a member.

—Doud & Rice, the water-works contractors, prevented a threatened violent outbreak among the Italians Saturday night. Some Italians who had been discharged were around furnishing beer to the men at work in the trenches, and generating trouble. The contractors came along, smashed the beer bottles, and drove the idlers away. Then, seeing that a big spree was intended, they refused to pay the men off until this morning, so that they could not get drink over Sunday.

—The C. L. S. C. of the Congregational church will hold its first meeting of the year in the church parlors at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening. The lesson will cover paragraphs 1-32 in American History, and chapters 1-III in Social Institutions of the United States. The programme will include a contest for the ownership of America, a sketch of colonial life, and a talk on law terms. Anyone who wishes to be present is invited, and anyone, whether member of the church or not, would be welcomed into the membership of the Circle.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

HYMENEAL.

Crawford—Gay.

The wedding of Miss Alice Gay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew T. Gay of Rahway, to Harry T. Crawford, took place in the Rahway First Presbyterian church last Thursday evening. Miss Gay, now Mrs. Crawford, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beach, and a niece of Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, of 45 East Second street, and has many warm friends in this city, who will be interested in the following account of the nuptials, from the Elizabeth Herald:

A beautiful church wedding took place at the First Presbyterian church at 6:30 o'clock last evening, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Alice Gay, daughter of ex-Councilman Matthew T. Gay, to Henry T. Crawford of the firm of J. W. Crawford & Son, leather merchants of Williamsport, Pa.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns, potted plants and smilax.

The bridal party entered the church in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. Joseph Gay, Frank Woodruff, brother and cousin of the bride, George Daily of Woodbridge and Frank Halliday of this city; Miss Minnie Gay, the maid of honor, dressed in pale green silk and diamond ornaments, then the bride, who looked lovely in a rich costume of white brocade and faille, with diamond ornaments, being enveloped by a beautiful veil. She was resting on the arm of her father. The bride's manly little stepbrother, Master Herbert S. Gay, brought up the rear with the bride's bouquet of bridal roses.

The moment the bridal party reached the entrance to the church the great organ, under the masterly skill of Prof. George E. Oliver, sent forth Lohengrin's wedding march, and when the wedding party reached the chancel they were met by the groom and best man, J. Plumner McGarrah of Wilksbarre, Pa., and the Rev. George Hibbard Payson, pastor of the church, who immediately commenced the ceremony, which was impressively done.

The moment that the bride's father had given her away, he stepped back to the first pew nearest the bridal party and rested his hand on the shoulder of Mrs. Gay, the bride's step-mother, who wore an elegant costume of black velvet and pink faille, with pink feather trimmings and diamond ornaments.

Master Herbert Gay did his part so well as page and handed the bride her bouquet with such polished grace that he was rewarded with a complimentary smile from the several hundred guests present.

As soon as the ceremony was completed the happy pair returned to their carriage, each step being timed by Prof. Oliver's rendition of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

They returned to the residence of the bride's father on Seminary street, where an elegant wedding supper awaited. When this had been enjoyed to the utmost, VanSycle and VanDyke of Newark furnished excellent music, and dancing was indulged in until 10:30 o'clock, when the bride and groom took a train for New York en route for points in the south.

Among the notable guests were noticed the mother and sister of the groom, Miss VanKirk of Princeton, Mrs. Maxwell and Miss Louisa Voorhees both of Elizabeth, Dr. and Mrs. Randolph of Brooklyn, Fred Cutter of Plainfield and George Hunt of Newark.

The presents were rare, unique and numerous.

Rousing Meetings for Men.

General O. O. Howard addressed, yesterday afternoon, a vast audience of men in the First Baptist church. After some good singing by a choir of male voices, Gen. Howard spoke from a warm heart, to the large number of veterans and others present of the love of God and of deliverance from the wrath of God through faith in the blood of Christ. He spoke eloquently of the happiness of the Christian life and contrasted with this the unrest of a life of sin.

Incidents from his war experience were given in a most interesting and impressive manner. At the close of the meeting the speaker had the pleasure of talking with young men who desired to become Christians.

At the meeting to be held in the Methodist church at 4:15 p. m. next Sunday a quartette from Princeton college will sing, and a short address will be delivered by A. C. LaBoyteaux of this city. All men are invited to be present.

Equally Interesting to Young and Old.

"The Prince and the Pauper", with Elsie Leslie in the dual roles, will be the attraction at Music Hall, this evening. The girl is a wonder. Her part in the play is larger than that of Hamlet and calls for such genuine acting as to put it far beyond the power of merely precocious children. The play is one of the imagination, it is true, but it possesses the true poetic spirit, and such a semblance of reality that it never seems unnatural. It is equally interesting to grown people who are tired of conventional dramas, and children who have never witnessed a play of any kind.

The League in Good Hands.

The Crescent League's house committee for the coming year, is a good one—Messrs Charles A. Reed, Howard L. Emerson and Charles P. Leggett. Thomas Hazelwood Keller has been urgently solicited to accept the management of next year's ball team. He has not yet signified his willingness. If he does, Plainfield will beat the world next season on the ball field.

SUPT. M'CUTCHEN WILL WELCOME THEM.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Miller spent Sunday with friends in Newark.

C. W. McCutchen and family, of Washington Park, have returned from a Southern trip.

S. C. Pound, of Central avenue, entertained his friend, P. Lappen, of Elizabeth, yesterday.

Mr. Venino is building a handsome house on Stelle avenue, A. L. C. Marsh is the architect.

Mrs. Irving Maxson, of Westerly, R. I., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Thomas Randolph, of Central avenue.

Joseph Wilkins, who is now one of Philadelphia's business men, is visiting his old home in this city.

Mrs. M. M. Walker, of North avenue, and son, will sail for Glasgow on the steamer Teutonic, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, jr., of Crescent avenue, have been enjoying a visit from Mr. Wharton's mother.

B. Callman, one of the most hustling of New York salesmen, yesterday visited friends in this city and North Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Acton, of Norwalk, Conn., have returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. MacClymont of Washington Park.

Commander Asa Collier and Adjutant N. C. Mague of Major Anderson post, and Commander W. C. Smith and Adjutant George W. Morse of Winfield Scott post, G. A. R. of this city, called on General O. O. Howard, Saturday evening, at the home of W. D. W. Miller, where the visiting hero was a guest over Sunday.

Elsie Leslie, who appears in the double role of Tom Canty and Edward, Prince of Wales at Music Hall, this evening, is a guest with her mother at The Albion. She commands the modest salary of $300 a week. She is a bit of genuine histrionic genius, and her performance of the role was one of the clean-cut successes of last season.

Street Commissioner Robert A. Meeker and Mrs. Meeker have the deep sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their youngest son, Charles Osborne, six years old. He had been ill nine weeks, but was thought to be on the road to recovery, when a turn for the worst came, and he passed gently away. He was the flower of the flock, and the bereavement is a great blow to his parents. Charlie was a member of the Trinity Reformed Sunday-school, and had no fear of death.

The Ackermans' Cement Works Burned.

A dispatch from Kingston, N. Y., dated Oct. 17, says: "The cement-mill, warehouses, cooper-shop, and other buildings of the Lawrence Cement Company at Binnewater were burned last night. The loss is $300,000; insurance $100,000."

This is one of the establishments of which Warren Ackerman of Scotch Plains is chief owner, and for which Ernest R. Ackerman of this city is general salesagent. Oliver B. Leonard is also responsibly connected with the house.

A Cigar Stump Did It.

The office of the Asbestos Company Limited, on North avenue, opposite the railway station, was threatened with destruction by fire Saturday night. A smouldering cigar stump is suspected of having set fire to the sawdust in a cuspidore. The volume of smoke issuing from the building resulted in the alarm from box 13 being sounded. A number of papers were consumed, but the fire was out before the department arrived.

NOTES OF THE BOYS' CLUB.

Steady Growth in Membership, and Fine Entertainments Coming.

The average attendance per evening last week was 48. The largest was 58, and the smallest 39. The number of visitors during the week was 27.

All members wishing to join the class in scroll sawing are requested to hand in their names to the superintendent as soon as possible, as the class is limited to 30. Five boys will be allowed to work one evening a week.

Five boys joined during the last week, making the membership of the club to date 400.

An entertainment will be given next Monday evening beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be instrumental and vocal music and a short talk by E. C. Pease of North Plainfield. Mr. Pease has addressed the boys before, and all are well acquainted with him. Both the boys and their parents are invited to the entertainment.

The entertainment to be given the boys, on either the evening preceding Thanksgiving or Thanksgiving evening, will surpass any that have been given before to the boys. A small stage will be put up, and all will be treated to a short theatrical performance by talent from North Plainfield and New York city.

A Wife Beater Gets His Deserts.

Thomas Fayhe, the West Third street man who was wanted for brutally beating his wife, was found by the police Saturday afternoon, and was given 40 days in jail by judge Codington.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

A Bicycle Record Twice Broken.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The bicycle record between Buffalo and Rochester was broken on Saturday afternoon by William Le Messurier of the West End Club. The best previous record was 5 hours and 45 minutes. Le Messurier's time was 4 hours and 56 minutes. Yesterday P. J. Dukelow rode over the same road to beat the record, accomplishing the 74 miles in 4 hours and 51 minutes, being average per mile of 3 minutes and 56 seconds.

A French Official's Strange Death.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—A great sensation has been caused by the peculiar circumstances of the death of Inspector-General Acollas, of the French Home Office. The General was a married man, and supposed to be above reproach. While visiting a woman of who he was enamoured he was in some way, not yet clearly understood, overdosed with some drug or stimulant, and died suddenly. An investigation is being held.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

Charles B. Hendrickson, a well-known merchant of Red Bank, died of heart failure yesterday morning at his home.

Dominico Morrune, of New York, was run down by a train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey yesterday at Newark and will die.

Charles Vallman, who has been jailed at New Brunswick, is accused of embezzling $1,000 of the funds of the Ceramic Company.

Joseph Donberger, of Jersey City, was struck by a New Jersey Central Railroad train at Greenville Saturday evening while lighting the signal lamps along the tracks, and fatally injured.

John Meyer, German, of Hackensack, got into a quarrel at the railroad station at that place yesterday with some New Yorkers one of whom knocked him unconscious with a spade and escaped. Meyer is badly hurt.

DRS. YERKES AND RODMAN

And Others of the Citizen's League, Open the Race Track Fight Again.

The following appeal from the Citizens' League of New Jersey to the moral and religious people of the State, is being thus early and widely circulated:

That the people of New Jersey can suppress gambling upon race-tracks with in the state has been made apparent by what has already been accomplished. Four out of the six race-tracks in New Jersey have been closed this year, as it is acknowledged that racing without bookmaking on the track will not pay. Bills were introduced in the last legislature which had for their object legalizing pool-selling and bookmaking upon race-tracks in New Jersey.

Against the passage of these bills the moral and religious people of the state entered their protest in no uncertain voice. Remonstrances poured in upon members of the senate and assembly from every county in the state. The signature to these remonstrances numbered many thousands. A committee of citizens from different parts of the state entered earnest protest before the assembly's committee against the passage of the bills, and a distinguished committee of ladies waited upon the Governor, and were heard before the assembly in opposition to these measures. Influences which before have been successfully brought to bear to secure legislation in the interest of the few against the many, in this instance signally failed. The tide of popular sentiment against the iniquitous scheme embodied in these bills was too strong to be resisted, and they remained in the hands of the committee to which they were referred.

It is, however, by no means safe to infer that final and complete victory has been won. Encouraged by past success we must be prepared to put forth renewed efforts.

Notwithstanding this uprising of the people, and in open and scornful defiance of law and of courts of justice, gambling has been openly and persistently carried on at Guttenburg and Gloucester. It is for the people of this state to answer the question which is thus forced upon them; shall this open insult to the majesty of the law, with its consequent disgrace, and the fearfully demoralizing and blighting influence of race-track gambling be perpetuated?

That renewed effort will be made in the next legislature to break down the barrier of the existing crimes-act, admits of little doubt. The silence as to their purpose of those who have the largest pecuniary interest involved is, in itself, ominous.

The intimation has been given that control of the coming legislature will be sought by endeavoring to secure the election of those candidates, irrespective of party, who will pledge themselves to support measures in the interest of the race-tracks. The hope of success in this effort is predicated largely upon the imagined present indifference of the people.

Hence the object of this circular, namely, to make renewed and earnest appeal to the people of New Jersey to make every proper effort to secure the choice in the approaching election of "men who can be relied upon to oppose legalizing pool-selling, bookmaking and all other forms of gambling in connection with race-tracks in New Jersey, whenever and wherever opportunity offers."

If, by reason of apathy, or a false sense of security, the people of this State, who have been thoroughly aroused to a recognition of the unmeasured evils of race-track gambling, and have had complete deliverance within their grasp, are finally beaten, and laws are passed sustaining an evil which is now justly declared a crime, the blame and future vain regret will be at their own door.

FANWOOD'S FAIRY.

Little Lilly Fancher Has a Birthday Party.

"That was an awful pretty party papa" Such was the remark of one of the guests of Lilly Fancher last Saturday, after attending her birthday celebration. The games provided and improvised engaged the attention of the youngsters from 3 o'clock until supper was announced at 6. The procession to the dining room was led by Master Victor Downer, escorting the little hostess. Following was the Crescent League mascot with Gracie McKee, the others in order, with Teddy Fancher and Lulu Bates on the extreme left. The table arranged by Mrs Fancher was a marvel of beauty, and the six candles burning in the cake, which was of course the center-piece, represented the years the little fairy had been in existence. Many and pretty were the birthday gifts, prominent among them being a magnificent doll house presented by the parents, and a unique cup and saucer from Isabel Lane. At about 7 o'clock, the children reluctantly took their leave, all saluting and congratulating "the fairy" on the success of her party.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

MR. SHAEN REPLIES.

Some Further Remarks in the Sandford Avenue Controversy.

To the Editor of The Press—In reply to the "great unknown" signing himself "Fair Play", I would say that his communication would be more highly appreciated were he to sign his name in full. Any man who for any reason withholds his name from the public when he appears before that public as the champion of an institution which is obnoxious to the majority of the property-owners and residents in its immediate vicinity, is not, in my estimation, of much consequence. If he will inform us who he is we can then give his views the consideration they may or may not be entitled to. I appreciate the gentleman's modesty evinced in his description of himself, but before he disclaimed any literary ability he might have waited until he had been accused of the possession of the same.

Should it ever become my misfortune to occupy an insane asylum as the gentleman suggests, I now, that I am not in that unfortunate state, hope I may not be inflicted upon people who are not by reason of their profession as medical men, or otherwise, called upon to sacrifice themselves.

Dr. Cooley has shown his capability of speaking for himself to an extent that the residents of Sandford avenue appreciate, as far as it goes. What we now would like to know is for whom may "Fair Play" be speaking, and what his interest in Sandford avenue may be; and, furthermore, if "Fair Play" wishes to purchase property in Sandford avenue let him come and see me, and perhaps he may be accommodated.

A CATASTROPHE AVERTED.

Presence of Mind and Quick Action Save a Residence from Destruction.

Last evening, while Col. Moore of Fanwood was reading to his son in the parlor, Mrs. Moore being upstairs, a sound was heard as of a rushing wind. On investigation the hanging lamp in the dining room was found to be ablaze and about to explode. Quick as thought a rug was grasped from the floor with one hand while Jimmy, who is always at his father's heels, was lifted with the other and thrown from the room. The next instant the room was in flames, the lamp having burst and the burning oil scattered in all directions. Hastily moving the dining table aside, an attempt was made to smother the fire, but it gained in intensity. One chance alone remained to save the house, and it was accepted. With fire all around him, the large floor rug was torn up by Mr. Moore, and, by repeated rolling and stamping, the flames were subdued but not extinguished. Help at last arrived in the presence of H. P. Robinson, and, by the combined efforts of the two men, the rugs, curtains and other furniture were thrown out the window to the lawn and left to their fate. It was a close call, but the damage will not exceed $300.

Will Present the Trophy Thursday.

Genial Nat Astfalk, chief engineer of the Elizabeth fire department, accompanied by his brother, Lewis S., and Joseph McCandless, foreman of Rolla Engine company, No. 2, also John Reitemeyer, of the same company, visited this city yesterday and made a pleasant call on chief T. O. Doane of the Plainfield fire department. Next Thursday evening chief Astfalk and a committee will visit this city for the purpose of presenting to Alert Hose company, No. 1, the beautiful trophy won by that company at the Elizabeth firemen's parade recently for having the handsomest hose carriage in line on that occasion.

She Sings It in the Original Key.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean said of Miss Tanner, who is to appear at Music Hall, Thursday evening: "Dr. Damrosch introduced to the large audience that greeted him a new singer, who won instant admiration and applause. She deserved it. Her voice was a rare soprano of magnificent power and compass. She sang the aria from the 'Magic Flute,' in the original key of F, with the utmost ease and vivacity. This air is usually lowered a tone even for such singers as Gerster and Nilsson. She is Annie Louise Tanner, a young lady of fine stage presence."

A Westfield Woman Injured.

Mrs. Thomas Love, of Westfield, was severely injured Saturday morning by being thrown from her carriage. She was driving on Mountain avenue when a team attempted to pass her. Her horse shied and the carriage was upset. Mrs. Love was thrown out, her head striking a stone. Her forehead was badly cut, as was also her lower lip, and she was otherwise bruised. She was taken into a neighboring house, where Dr. Harrison attended her. She was afterwards taken to her home, where she is now suffering from nervous prostration.—New York World.

GLACIAL DEPOSITS.

The Drift Formations of This Vicinity Are Being Studied.

Baron de Geer, Director of the Swedish Geological Survey, and Messrs. Holst and Lundbom, also of the Swedish Survey, have been in attendance on the International Geological Congress, recently held in Washington, and are now, with R. D. Salisbury, of the New Jersey Survey, studying the glacial deposits of New Jersey for the sake of comparison with the corresponding formations of Scandinavia. They are among the leading glaciologists of Europe, and will spend some weeks in America, devoting most of their time to the drift formations. New Jersey is the first State to be honored by their presence. With Mr. Salisbury they will examine the terminal moraine in the northern part of the State, and the older moraine glacial drift of the Watchung Mountains and Netherwood heights lying around this city.

An Ancient Clock.

A clock said to have been the property of the great reformer, John Knox, is now in the possession of a lawyer in Huntingdon, Pa., W. H. Woods. This venerable relic, made in 1560 at Paisley, Scotland, was handed down in the Knox family for one hundred and fifty years, the Philadelphia Press says, and finally came into the hands of John Witherspoon, father of one of the signers of the declaration of independence. When John Witherspoon, the son, left Scotland in 1768 to take charge of Princeton college he brought the old heirloom with him across the broad Atlantic, and when he was elected to the continental congress the old timepiece was ticking in his parlor and indicated the hour of his departure to transact his patriotic duties. Mr. Woods' mother was the daughter of the younger Witherspoon.

SUSAN GALE COOKE.

Sketch and Portrait of Miss Phoebe Couzins' Successor.

Mrs. Susan Gale Cooke, the new secretary of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition, lives at Knoxville, Tenn., and is a very rapid worker, clear-headed and expeditious. In addition to these excellent qualities she is exceedingly patient and sweet-tempered. Mrs. Cooke was born in New York. Her father was Dr. George Spaulding Gale, one of the most prominent surgeons of Vermont, and her grandfather, also a native of Vermont, was one of the heroes of 1812. Mrs. Cooke was educated in New York city, and shortly after graduation married

MRS. SUSAN GALE COOKE.

Sidney E. Cooke, a member of the stock exchange. They moved to Knoxville, Tenn., and Mr. Cooke died there in 1883. Mrs. Cooke has for years taken an active interest in charitable work. She was one of the managers of the Brooklyn orphan asylum. A person who knew her well summed up a number of her strong points thus: "She is a woman of wide culture and with a winning gentleness. She has a quick sense of humor and is an interesting conversationalist. She has also the faculty of adjusting difficulties without resorting to heroic methods and promoting the ends of peace and harmony."

EVEN SO IN DEATH.

The Skeleton of a Cat Discovered Over That of a Rat.

While extending and repairing the old buildings of the late Royal navy school at New Cross, London, which is shortly to be opened by the Goldsmiths Company as their technical and recreative institute, it became necessary to remove the floor of the old gymnasium. In doing so the workmen discovered the skeleton of a cat in close juxtaposition to that of a rat, exactly as shown in the picture. The bodies of the animals were not quite two inches apart in a sort of wedge-shaped cul-de-sac, which was wider at the top than at the bottom, and so preventing the cat from quite reaching the rat. When found the entrance to the hole or passage was filled up with dust and rubbish, and there was nothing to prevent egress of the animals by the way they had entered except the disinclination of the cat to leave its prey. The skeletons when found were more than half covered with dust from the floor above them, and have probably been many years in the position they were found, in which position Mr. Redmayne, secretary of the Goldsmiths' institute, has had them carefully mounted and photographed. A curious coincidence is that exactly the same discovery of the skeletons of a cat and a rat together under a floor occurred while pulling down some old buildings to construct the People's palace, which is the immediate predecessor of the Goldsmiths' institute.

A MIGHTY HAMMER.

Built to Forge Armor Plates for Uncle Sam.

It Drops a Ram of 125 Tons Weight a Distance of 16 1-2 Feet, and There Is None to Equal It in the Whole World.

The capacity of the ordnance department of the Bethlehem iron works to produce armor plates and other heavy forgings will be greatly increased within a few days by the starting of the gigantic 125-ton steam hammer which it has taken almost two years to construct.

Begun in 1886, the Bethlehem plant is now said to be the largest and best equipped in the world, outrivaling even the establishments of Whitworth, Schneider and Krupp.

The hammer building, says the New York Sun, is situated at the extreme eastern end of the works, and covers ground that was formerly an island and the southern channel of the Lehigh river, the river having been turned from its course to make a site for the structure. It is 500 feet long, lighted by windows at the sides and a lantern in the roof, and besides the hammer contains a 6,000-ton hydraulic bending press and an armor-plate rolling mill.

The hammer and anvil foundations are elaborate specimens of masonry. A pit 58 by 62 feet large was excavated deep down below water level. Then heavy walls, 30 feet high, were erected on a pile foundation along the northern and southern sides for the hammer frame to rest on.

In the space between these walls is the foundation for the anvil. It consists of piles driven to bed rock, with a timber frame on top, and on that steel and iron slabs arranged in longitudinal and transverse layers. On this the anvil was built. It consists of 22 blocks of solid cast iron, of an average individual weight of 70 tons, arranged one above the other in pyramidal shape. The topmost one, on which the material to be forged will rest, is faced with steel.

The space between the anvil, the frame supporting the hammer, was closed with cribbing, which presents a surface even with the floor line, the only visible portion of the entire mass of oak and iron forming the anvil, which weighs 1,800 tons, being the steel-faced anvil block capping the pyramid. This block is wedge-shaped, being 11 feet long, 6 feet wide at the bottom and 2 at the top, and 4½ feet high. The hammer and anvil foundations are in no way interlaced; the danger of the anvil foundation giving way is slight, but should it be displaced by the powerful blows, the hammer and its foundation will remain secure.

Superimposed over this cyclopean mass of masonry and iron work is the hammer—huge, substantial and powerful, rising to the height of 90 feet.

In building the frame which supports the hammer there are first two castings weighing 120 tons each which rise somewhat in the form of a quarter-circle on the inside, but almost perpendicular on the outside, to form an arch curving gracefully over the anvil. The two castings are known technically as housings. The longitudinal width of the hammer frame is 42 feet, and the distance from housing to housing is 22 feet on the floor line inside of the arch. The housings, whose bases are 10 feet by 8, are clamped to the foundation walls.

Exactly in the center of the arch formed by the housings is the trip or ram, an enormous mass of metal 19½ feet long, 10 feet wide and 4 feet thick, the weight of which is almost 100 tons. It is composed of three single pieces, the lowest of which, a large block of iron faced with steel, is called the die. It is the die that will strike the metal being forged. The ram works in slides arranged along the inside of the housings, the castings of the section above the housings.

Connecting the ram with the piston inside of the cylinder is the piston rod, a splendid specimen of perfectly wrought steel, 40 feet long and 16 inches in diameter. The piston has a stroke of 16½ feet, which is the height that the die can be raised above the anvil. The weight of die, ram, piston rod, and piston together amounts to 125 tons. The cylinder is single acting, the steam only lifts the hammer and allows it to fall of its own weight. It is when this mass of 125 tons is dropped from the height of 16½ feet that the hammer exerts its greatest power.

The weight of the entire mass of iron and steel used in the construction of the hammer and its frame amounts to more than 800 tons.

How to Clean Chandeliers.

The smoked and dusty globes of chandeliers may be nicely cleaned by soaking them in hot water to which a little sal soda has been added. Then put some ammonia into hot water, immerse the globes and scrub briskly with a stiff brush. Rinse thoroughly and wipe dry.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same at its regular meeting to be held at the Council room on Monday evening, November 2, next, at which time and place all persons interested therein may be heard before the Common Council. J B COWARD, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., October 14, 1891.

AN ORDINANCE

To widen, lay out, and open Peace street.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1 That Peace street in the city of Plainfield, from the railroad to the southeasterly side of Front street, be widened and laid out so that said street shall be of the uniform width of thirty feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which said centre line is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron monument in the centre line of said Peace street, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence in a magnetic course of south forty-nine degrees and twenty minutes east, (s. 49 deg. 20 min. e) a distance of seven hundred and ninety-eight and five-tenths, (798.5) feet to a point in said centre line in the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as the said street is laid out on a map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street, from the C. R. R. of N. J. to Green brook, city of Plainfield, N. J., July, 1891 made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer and surveyor.

The land to be taken for the widening of Peace street on the northeasterly side of same, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all land which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for said widening on the southwesterly side of said Peace street, from the southeasterly side line of Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, includes all that land which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street, and distant therefrom thirty (30) feet in a southwesterly direction.

That a continuation of said Peace street be laid out and opened from the northwesterly line of Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street to Green brook, in accordance with the following description, that is to say:

The centre line begins at an iron monument in the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as now laid out and opened, said point being distant thirty-two and four one-hundredths (32.04) feet, in a magnetic course of north forty-six degrees and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 degrees, 17 minutes w) from an iron monument at the intersection of the centre lines of East Front Street, and Peace Street, as now laid out and opened, and running thence north forty six degrees, and seventeen minutes west (n. 46 deg. 17 min.) a distance of three hundred and eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to a point in the centre line of Green Brook, said point being in the division line between the city of Plainfield, county of Union, and the borough of North Plainfield, county of Somerset, and there to end. Said street shall be sixty (60) feet in width; that is to say, thirty (30) feet on each side of the above described centre line and the land to be taken includes all that land for thirty feet in width on each side of said centre line which lies between the northwesterly side line of East Front street, as at present laid out, and the said centre line of Green Brook.

That the lands and real estate, and the appurtenances necessary therefore shall be taken and appropriated for the said widening, laying out and opening of Peace Street as aforesaid, pursuant to the charter of the city of Plainfield, and the general statutes in such case, made and provided.

The land to be taken, and the lines of Peace street, as the same is herein before ordered to be widened laid out, and opened, are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled "Map showing proposed widening and extension of Peace street from the C R. R. of N. J., to Green Brook, city of Plainfield, N. J., July 1891," made by F. A. Dunham, Civil Engineer and Surveyor.

WILL FIGHT IN COURT

Hoey Claims He Has Been Misrepresented.

SAYS HE HAS A GOOD DEFENSE.

If He Owes the Adams Express Company Anything He Will Pay It.

Likely that the Differences May be Adjusted Without Resorting to Extreme Measures—Hoey's Letter Resigning the Office of Manager—He Has Mortgaged All His Property in and Around Long Branch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—All indications point at present to an adjustment of the differences between Mr. John Hoey and the management of the Adams Express Company without recourse to extreme measures. Mr. Hoey returned yesterday from his country seat at Hollywood to his rooms at Delmonico's, where he will remain for the present with his son, Frederick Hoey. All the parties to the affair maintain a discreet silence.

Mr. Hoey's counsel, Mr. Elihu Root, gave out for publication Mr. Hoey's letter of resignation as manager of the company, which is as follows:

NEW YORK, Oct. 16, 1891.

To the Adams Express Company and Clarence A. Steward, Esq., Secretary of the Adams Express Company.

SIRS: After more than forty years of faithful service to the Adams Express Company I have been removed from office as president by a majority of the Board of Managers, and I am informed that large claims are about to be made against me on behalf of the company based upon several alleged transactions. I have been grossly misrepresented as to these transactions, and I am prepared to maintain, and shall maintain at the proper time and in the proper way, the entire propriety and fairness of my conduct in regard to all of them. I invite a judicial determination of any claims that may be asserted against me in behalf of the company. If the proper tribunals shall say that I owe anything to the Adams Express Company I shall most cheerfully pay it.

I find myself in the meantime placed in a position of antagonism to a majority of the board and to the official management of the company. It is manifest, under these circumstances and during such a controversy, that I cannot properly take part in the deliberations of the board, and I herewith tender my resignation of the office of manager. Very respectfully. JOHN HOEY.

Hoey Makes Two Mortgages.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Oct. 20.—One development in the fight which the Adams Express Company is making to recover the money of which, it is alleged, its stockholders were defrauded, was the filing of two heavy mortgages and a lease signed by John Hoey in County Clerk Haight's office yesterday.

All three instruments are dated Saturday, Oct. 17, and were executed and sworn to before Wilbur A. Heisley, ex-Mayor of Long Branch, who is one of Hoey's lawyers. They cover all of Mr. Hoey's property in and around Long Branch. The most important is a mortgage for $48,000 to Michael Quirk and Frederick C. Hoey as trustees. It is meant to secure to the Long Branch Banking Company the payment of money which Mr. Hoey may hereafter borrow upon his promissory notes.

Frederick C. Hoey is John Hoey's youngest son, who has managed the Hollywood Hotel for three seasons past. Michael Quirk is superintendent of Mr. Hoey's Long Branch property.

The second mortgage is to William M. Thiess for $36,000. Mr. Thiess is a trustee of something or another not mentioned. The lease puts Frederick C. Hoey in possession of the Hollywood Hotel and the 17 cottages attached to it for a term of 12 years.

Trenton Grocer Assigns.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Jonathan Steward, a wholesale grocer, who was a heavy endorser of the Star Rubber Company and Central Rubber Trust, made an assignment yesterday. The report to the appraisers shows his assets to be worth $186,000 and his liabilities $339,000. He was making an effort to secure an extension of two years, but the First National Bank of South Amboy, holding about $2,500 worth of paper endorsed by him, was about to enter judgment and this forced the assignment.

Davis Will Case to Be Compromised.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 20.—News has been received here from parties interested in the Davis will case that in all probability it will be compromised and the property divided between the claimants without further litigation. The estate has been estimated at various sums, ranging from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000, and conservative men who have devoted much time to the study of the properties place it at $10,000,000.

American Industrial League.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The National Society of the American Industrial and Shipping League met here for the purpose of endorsing the presentation of a memorial to Congress to be generally signed by farmers, manufacturers and laboring men of all kinds. It was represented that $250,000,000 is the sum which Americans are paying to foreign freight and shipping interests, or a tax per capita amounting to $3.85.

A Long Litigation Ended.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Oct. 20.—The long contested case of Jordan, Marsh & Co., against the Bertram Manufacturing Company, in regard to the foreclosure of a $30,000 mortgage on the Windermere Mill property, was settled outside of court yesterday. Jordan, Marsh & Co., are allowed the full amount of judgment claimed. The mill property can now be disposed of.

THE INVESTIGATING SENATE.

The State Treasurer to be Examined First—Letters of Boyer and Livesey.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—At the session of the Senate last Thursday it was decided that Auditor General McCamant should be the first witness put on the stand, but yesterday Senator Flinn moved that the State Treasurer be first examined, owing to the probability of his being called out of the city at almost any time by the serious illness of his mother. This was agreed to.

Senator Ross was granted permission to present a resolution authorizing the attorney general to summon John Bardsley as a witness. The proposition was adopted with an amendment empowering the attorney general to take similar action with regard to another witness whom he might desire to examine in connection with the case before the Senate.

All the original letters written by Boyer and the missing cashier, Livesey, to John Bardsley, which, together with those written by McCamant, were mainly responsible for the calling of the extra session, were submitted in evidence, and were followed by the submission of other documentary evidence, to which counsel for the State Treasurer and Auditor-General raised no objection.

At the night session of the Senate Francis B. Reeves, and experts Volimer and Faunce, were examined to show the interest received by John Bardsley. It was shown that $202,000 was received in one year, of which $90,000 was for city moneys. The object of Attorney-General Hensel in introducing this testimony is to show that about the time of monthly payment of interest Bardsley's stubs indicate that he regularly sent checks for different amounts to the Auditor-General.

This line of examination is to convince the Senate that McCamant allowed Bardsley to hold State monies beyond the legal requirement in consideration of a share of the interest money received by the late city treasurer of Philadelphia.

The Senate adjourned at a late hour last night to meet to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

THE BOILER EXPLODED.

Three Killed and One Fatally Hurt on the P. & R. R. R.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 20.—At 6:45 o'clock last evening a terrible accident occurred at Tucker's Watch Box, a short distance below St. Clair, in which three men were killed and one fatally injured. Mountain engine 955 on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, was drawing a train of empty cars up the grade when the boiler exploded, completely demolishing the engine, tearing up the tracks and doing great damage to telegraph lines and surroundings. The names of the killed are:

CHARLES WARNICKER, brakeman, of St. Clair.

HARRY WAGNER, engineer, of Port Carbon.

MAHLON KEESE, fireman, of St. Clair.

Charles Bauer, brakeman, of St. Clair, is fatally injured. The men were in the engine cab when the explosion took place. No cause is assigned for the explosion, the engine being just out of the shops.

Coy Knows Who Killed Whalen.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 20.—At the inquest in the murder of John Whalen, strong evidence was adduced tending strongly to show that Coy, the man under arrest, was the murderer. Coy still asserts his innocence and says it is of no avail for him to say anything. If he tells who killed Whalen the man will kill him. If not he will hang and he says he may as well die one way as another. This statement of Coy is significant as showing his knowledge of the murder.

Blaine Will Not Decline.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A gentleman who recently had a talk with Mr. Blaine at Augusta, Me., quotes that gentleman as saying the Maine delegation would not present the name of Mr. Blaine as a candidate before the Republican National Convention, Mr. Blaine having expressed a desire that the Maine delegation should not make him a candidate, and that it, however, his name was presented by some other delegation and he were nominated he would not decline.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Joel Benedict Harris, President of the Harris Manufacturing Company, of Rutland, Vt., is dead.

The noted telescope makers, Alvin G. and George B. Clark, of Cambridge, Mass., are to dissolve partnership.

The report that Clapp Spooner, ex-vice-president of the Adams Express Company, had left Bridgeport, Conn., is untrue.

Stephens, Dunning & Co., hat manufacturers of South Norwalk, Conn., have failed. No assets; liabilities not yet estimated.

Secretary Blaine and family will leave Augusta for Washington to-morrow. Mr. Blaine has enjoyed his month's visit at his home and is a better man physically for it.

George E. B. Jackson, who is dead at Portland, Me., was the ex-president of the Maine Central Railroad, and a man who had been honored with many positions of trust in this city.

IS HE A BIGAMIST?

Trouble Brewing for a Prominent Brooklyn Man.

HIS WIFE SAYS HE IS GUILTY.

William C. Bolton Accused of Marrying in Violation of the Law.

The Couple Now Spending the Honeymoon in Massachusetts—Mrs. Bolton, Besides this Grievance, Alleges Brutal Treatment—Her Husband Deserted Her a Year Ago—He May Have Procured a Divorce in Dakota.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 20.—When William C. Bolton, president of the Bolton Drug Company of Brooklyn, returns to town he will be tendered an exceedingly warm reception if the story told by his wife is true. She says that Mr. Bolton married a Newark lady without going through the formality of securing a divorce from her. She married him 17 years ago, and has never been released from that contract so far as she knows.

Mrs. Bolton says that on September 26 Mr. Bolton went to Newark and married Miss Lillian V. C. Shuler, who lived with a married sister. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. D. R. Frazer of the First Presbyterian Church in the presence of the doctor's daughter and a servant. After duly receiving congratulations, the newly married couple left for South Hadley, Mass., on a bridal tour.

Mrs. Bolton No. 1 went to Newark on Friday and visited the City Clerk's office. She asked if a Mr. Bolton had been married in that city lately, and Assistant Clerk Patterson soon found the marriage recorded in his books.

"Her's will be another life ruined!" exclaimed Mrs. Bolton dramatically. "William C. Bolton is my husband. I married him in the city of Brooklyn 17 years ago and the Rev. Dr. Burchard of New York performed the ceremony. My husband is 45 years old, not 35 as recorded here. I propose to have my husband arrested for bigamy as soon as he returns."

Mrs Bolton was seen at the Clarendon Hotel, Brooklyn, last night. She said that her husband had deserted her in April, 1890. Since that time she had resided at the hotel. Bolton was ordered by Judge Pearsall to pay her $20 a week. She said she knew that her husband had gone to Dakota some time ago; but that he had not remained in that State more than 90 days, which was certainly not long enough to secure a divorce.

"I am sorry that the facts in this case should be made public," said Mrs. Bolton, "but I suppose they had to come out. I have concealed as far as possible my husband's ill-treatment of me, and few knew anything of our troubles.

"I have still another grievance against my husband," said Mrs. Bolton. "Although he left me some shares of stock in the company, I have not received a penny, for the reason that when I applied to the office they declared that the company was about to erect a new building uptown and no dividend would be paid. Detectives are now upon Mr. Bolton's track, and he will be arrested for bigamy."

STABBED IN THE NECK.

A Young Man Murdered in Cold Blood at Utica, N. Y.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Clarence Ballou, aged 22, was walking along the street last evening, when he was met by Mrs. Samuel Newell and another woman, an acquaintance existing between Ballou and Mrs. Newell. The trio walked along a few feet when the husband of Mrs. Newell came along whittling a stick. Without a word of warning he plunged a knife into Ballou's neck, inflicting a wound that will prove fatal.

Mrs. Newel is 28 years of age, while her husband is 50, and a veteran of the war.

Ballou was removed to the hospital and the other interested parties were arrested.

Aged Couple Killed by the Cars.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 20.—William Huyler and his wife, an aged couple of this town, were killed at the West Shore crossing near Bergen Fields, yesterday. Mr. Huyler was driving across the track and did not see the approaching train, which struck his vehicle, smashed it to atoms and killed its occupants. It is believed that Huyler and his wife were deaf, as the track for a mile each way is perfectly straight, and the train must have been seen had they heard it.

Hanlan Beats McLean.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 20.—Edward Hanlan defeated Alex. McLean in a three-mile race in outrigged skiffs here yesterday by 200 yards. Hanlan gave McLean a start of 30 feet, but caught and passed his opponent before 100 yards had been rowed. Thereafter he was never hard pressed and won as he pleased. The water was in splendid condition for racing. The time was 21 minutes, 21 1-3 seconds.

HER AFFECTIONS COME HIGH.

A Breach of Promise Suit in Which Plaintiff Claims $100,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—One hundred thousand American dollars is the measure of the damage claimed by Miss Margaret Della Brennan as having been done to her affections by the refusal of Percival David Griffiths, a public accountant of Wall street, to keep an alleged promise to marry her. She has brought a breach of promise suit for that amount in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Griffiths denies that he ever proposed marriage to Miss Brennan. "When I first met this woman on the Etruria on a voyage to Europe in 1888," said he, "she was pointed out to me by a friend.

"I formed her acquaintance and after passing two days with her in Liverpool she went on to Ireland on private business, while I, shortly afterwards, returned to New York.

"I saw her here afterwards frequently, but never proposed marriage or thought of such a thing.

"I have done everything in my power for the woman, but lately my energies have been severely taxed to get rid of her. Of course it was foolish for me to have gotten into her power, but now that it is all out I can do nothing but face the music."

Lawyer O'Neill, Miss Brennan's attorney, says that his client is a most estimable and accomplished young woman of Irish parentage, who numbers among her friends and acquaintances such people as Lady Florence Maxwell, of Airley Cottage, Mount Nugent, Dublin, and Dr. John Burton of the Royal College of Surgeons, as well as many others on this side of the water.

Although Mr. Griffiths denies that he ever spoke or wrote to Miss Brennan of marriage, Lawyer O'Neill exhibits a letter addressed "My Darling Della" and signed "Percy," in which the writer speaks of "my little wife that is to be" and returns "four pounds (sterling) which you lent me."

THE ENGLAND STORM.

It Shows no Sign of Abating—The River Thames Over Its Banks.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Despatches from Holyhead state that 200 vessels, many of them much damaged, have sought refuge at that port from the storm. At Sandgate, a small town on the English Channel, situated about two miles from Folkestone, grave apprehensions are felt by the inhabitants.

An abnormally high tide has been caused at that place by the storms, and this combined with the hurricane is beating down the sea wall. The angry waters have already washed over many of the houses situated near the shore, and the highroad leading to Hythe and Folkestone is in many places submerged and destroyed.

At Eton, Windsor and other points the Thames is overflowing its banks. The lower parts of the houses in those vicinities have been inundated.

Loring Failure and the Government.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—It is stated at the Navy department that the government will lose nothing by the failure of Harrison Loring & Co., the Boston shipbuilding firm which is engaged in building a cruiser and half a dozen tugs for the new navy. The statement made that the assignment was caused by the failure of the government to pay for work done on the vessels, is denied at the department, where it is stated that the government has given full payment for work already performed. The building of the vessels will not be delayed in consequence of the failure. Either the Navy Department or the assignee will take charge of their construction and complete them without loss of time.

Report on Earnest Workers' Affairs.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Yesterday J. Alexander Simpson, jr., completed his report on the bill filed by Samuel E. Mairs, representing the certificate holders of the defunct Benevolent Order of Earnest Workers, asking for an accounting by the supreme officers in favor of Mr. Mairs' petition, and recommends a decree of the court, surcharging Edwin W. Harris, the ex-supreme president, and Harry G. Gurk, the ex-supreme secretary, with from $110,000 to $116,000, which he finds was illegally used or paid out by those officers.

A New Trust Company.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A new trust company is soon to begin business in this city as an off-shoot of, and adjunct to, the Mutual Life Insurance Company. It will, it is understood, have a capital of $1,000,000, and its stock will be mainly held by the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, which will, of course, control it. One of the objects of the new company is to advance money on life insurance policies.

Presented to the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A. S. Cleghorn, Collector-General of the Hawaiian Islands, and father of Princess Kaiulani, heir apparent of Hawaii, yesterday was presented to the President by Acting Secretary Wharton of the State Department. Mr. Cleghorn is now on his return to Hawaii. His daughter, Princess Kaiulani, is a niece of the present Queen.

Attached Property of the Officers.

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 20.—In the office of the Register of Deeds an attachment for $50,000 was filed yesterday upon the estates of Frank E. Steadman of Needham, and others, officers of the Golden Grail, by the receiver of the Order, pending action in tort or contract.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

Col. Joseph Stewart Lowery, aged 49 years is dead at Utica.

T. Condon is appointed a fourth class postmaster at Wyandance.

The Mount McGregor Railroad has been sold to W. J. Arkell for $26,500.

Candidates Flower and Fassett both addressed meetings in New York last night.

SHE BIDED HER TIME

A Woman Who Had Waited Years for Revenge.

SHE WAS A NEGLECTED WIFE.

And She Rudely Interrupted Her Husband's Dream of Bliss.

Nathaniel Newcombe and His Wife of Long Ago—He Did Not Live With Her Openly, and Soon Left Her—After a Score of Years He Became Engaged to a Young Lady, and When the Wife Heard of It She Had Her Say—His Typewriter Defends Him.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A strange story in which Nathaniel L. Newcombe, the general manager of the New York Shipping Company, the offices of which are at No. 63 Broadway, is a prominent figure, came to light yesterday.

Mr. Newcombe is a prosperous business man, but his early history is an interesting and romantic one. It seems that 23 years ago he played with fire, and is only now being burned.

In the quiet little town of Taunton, Mass., there is a woman who is respected by her neighbors and her children are allowed to associate with others without hindrance. She lives in a pretty little cottage and goes by the name of Mrs. Nathaniel L. Newcombe; her children are also Newcombes.

Mrs. Newcombe, it is alleged, was married to Newcombe 23 years ago, but, on account of pressure, it is said, on the part of his parents, he never lived with her openly and proudly as he should have done, but visited her two or three days at a time extending over a period of four or five years. She had four children by him, but he left her, it is claimed, and came to New York.

Matters went on in an unbroken way until about three months ago, when the woman learned that Newcombe was engaged to be married to Miss Belle Killian, the daughter of a wealthy merchant of Yarmouth, N. S., and sent a letter of warning to the young woman, inclosing at the same time a photograph of the man she calls her husband.

Mrs. Killian, the mother of the girl, is determined to make an investigation. She visited Taunton with her daughter, and as a result the engagement was indefinitely postponed.

This story came out yesterday, and while Mr. Newcombe refused to speak on the subject, his typewriter acted as his mouthpiece. She said that both Mr. Newcombe and Miss Killian are heartbroken over the affair, and then told the following story:

"In his early days, when he was a green country boy, Mr. Newcombe made the acquaintance of a woman 10 years older than himself, who fell in love with him. His parents, with whom he lived in Taunton, Mass., hearing of the matter, brought him to New York, but the woman's brother had some magnetic influence over him and took him to Providence, R. I., where a ceremony was gone through. It was not a marriage and was never consummated.

"Mr. Newcombe was only eighteen years of age at that time," continued the typewriter, "and when he found the position he was in, left the woman. The alleged marriage was in 1868.

"Since that time he has not lived with her and she made no claim on him. Although she knew he held a good position in Boston and New York, she did not importune him for money."

The typewriter, who expressed herself as being very sorry for Mr. Newcombe, talked in a harsh way of the woman and held that, after 23 years' silence, she took the present opportunity of blighting the hopes of her former youthful lover.

Miss Killian's parents always objected to their daughter's marriage with Newcombe on account of the latter's age.

A Despondent Woman Cuts Her Throat.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Samuel Williams, the wife of a prominent farmer at Willetts, disappeared yesterday. A search was made and resulted in the finding of her body in an ice house. Her throat was cut from ear to ear. A razor was found by her side which she had taken from her home. Mrs. Williams was 75 years old. The cause of her rash act was probably despondency. She was ill and almost helpless, and imagined she was in the way of her family and friends.

Both Partners Speculated.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Chas. W. Scranton, surviving member of the defunct brokerage firm of Bunnell & Scranton, of this city, was examined in the Probate Court in regard to the disposal of a certain lot of railroad stock belonging to a customer of the firm. Mr. Scranton's testimony showed that both parties speculated, and he admitted, in answer to a question as to whether the deposits were used in speculation, that they were used in their general business.

Bull Fighting for Charity.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 20.—The revival of bull fighting in the City of Mexico Sunday was in the name of charity. A committee of ladies of this capital, with Mrs. Diaz, the wife of the President, at their head, organized it for the benefit of the sufferers from the floods in Spain. It was one of the greatest spectacles of the Mexican national sport ever witnessed on the North American continent. Nine bulls were killed.

Thanks for Rescuing Eight Chinamen.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—United States Consul-General Leonard at Shanghai has forwarded to the State Department the thanks of Mr. Niche, the Taotai of Shanghai, to the officers and crew of the United States steamer Alliance for rescuing eight Chinese sailors from a wreck in the Yellow Sea on the 6th of September.

ORIGINAL. No. 64.

5 O'Clock Cake.

BY NELLIE CAMPBELL BEDFORD.

Four cups flour,
Two-thirds cup sugar,
One egg,
Two scant cups milk,
One tablespoonful butter,
One-half teaspoonful salt,
Two teaspoonfuls Cleveland's Baking Powder.

Mix, turn in two shallow pans and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven.

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

There is a difference. With some baking powders, breads and cakes are coarse grained, as if the sugar was too coarse; with Cleveland's they are fine grained and spongy. With others, cake gets huskyandcrumbly; with Cleveland's it keeps moist and fresh.

Try it, Cleveland's.

SHE STRUGGLED FOR LIFE.

Early Reports of the White Plains Murder Disproved.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The murder of Mrs. Johanna Fussel, for no one now doubts that her death was other than a murder, at her house, two miles south of this place, continues to cause great excitement. The circumstances connected with her death are of the most mysterious character. The woman was found by her little boy, Willie, lying stark dead upon a lounge. Her limbs were drawn up under her, and her face disfigured with a severe bruise about the region of the eye.

Her husband had gone out for a walk with two children, and when he returned he gave the alarm. By order of Coroner Drew, James Roberts, a white laborer who lives in the vicinity, and Thomas Robinson, a colored laborer, have been placed under arrest.

Robinson's room was searched yesterday and a pistol from which one bullet had been discharged was found concealed in a trunk. A little after this a physician arrived, by Coroner Drew's order, and set about to examine the body. A pistol bullet was discovered in the skull of the dead woman.

Further examination showed that there had been at attempt to assault her criminally. These facts have disproved the lame theories of death from alcoholism or epilepsy before prevalent, and there is no question in the minds of the police here that she died in a struggle with her murderers.

Both prisoners deny all knowledge of the murder.

SENOR MARDI RESIGNS.

The Argentine, Uruguay and Paraguay Consul Steps Out.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Senor Mardi, consul-general of the Argentine Republic and a prominent merchant of the city, has resigned his official positions, and the consulships of the Republics of Uraguay and Paraguay, which he also held.

Senor Mardi, who is a Cuban by birth, presided at the exercises recently held by the Cuban residents of this city in commemoration of their declaration of independence.

This, it seems, roused the ire of the Spanish Minister at Washington, and he protested to the Argentine Minister at Washington against Senor Mardi's actions. Senor Mardi heard of this and immediately resigned so as to remove all embarassment from the Republics which he represents.

Parnell's Mother Better.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Delia T. S. Parnell, mother of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, has so far recovered from her nervous prostration that she has undertaken a journey to Philadelphia, where she will remain with friends. Later she will go to Atlantic City for rest.

Chinamen Driven from a Town.

DELANO, Cal., Oct. 20.—Fifteen Chinamen, who arrived here to take the places of a white crew working in a section gang on the Southern Pacific Railroad, were driven out of town, shortly after their arrival, by a mob of white men.

Vermont University Remembered.

MASON CITY, Oct. 20.—The will of the late Judge Edwin Flint, among other liberal educational bequests, gives $50,000 to the State University of Vermont, from which he graduated.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Canadian Ministry is said to have resigned.

Isaac Russell, the explorer, has reached Vancouver, B. C.

The sensational story that Balmaceda of Chili is not dead, is generally discredited.

Sir Henry Parkes, Premier of New South Wales, has resigned, as a result of the defeat of the government on Thursday last.

Mrs. F. A. Kuns of Chicago, upon whom nitric acid was thrown Sunday night by an unknown man, is in a precarious condition. She is horribly disfigured.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. For New England: Light rain; stationary temperature; variable winds.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware: Rain; stationary temperature; easterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Rain; cooler, except stationary temperature in Western Pennsylvania; variable winds.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

I. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A regular meeting of the Camera club will be held this evening at eight o'clock.

—Jerusalem lodge, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

—All young men interested in joining the bowling section of the Y. M. C. A. are invited to the Olympia alleys to-night.

—The Sunday enjoyment of New York and Brooklyn wheelmen, nowadays, is a trip over the Union county roads and a dinner at The Albion.

—The Baptists are having a very enjoyable convention at the First Baptist church to-day. Full particulars will be published to-morrow.

—The regular quarterly meeting of the Sunday-school teachers of the Crescent Avenue church, will be held after the prayer meeting to-morrow evening.

—L. W. Serrell will talk to young men about patents and inventions, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Thursday evening. The admission is free, and all men are invited.

—The Anneka Jans heirs are to meet in Kansas City this week and organize to find out whether their claims to the Trinity church property in New York amount to anything.

—There was some high bowling at the Crescent League club-house, last evening. One five-men team rolled 820, as follows: Williams 171, Teel 169, Rogers 167, Thiers 160, Reed 153.

—Contracts were signed yesterday for a new bridge over the county line brook at Sandford avenue. W. Kirk of this city, acting for Milliken Bros., secured the contract for the iron work.

—The next meeting of the Central New Jersey Base-ball league will be held at the club-house of the Elizabeth Athletic club Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. It is understood that Plainfield will be represented.

—The regular meetings of the Unitarian singing-school are to be held Friday evenings. Only the preparatory meeting for organization are on Wednesdays. Those who want to join must be on hand to-morrow night.

—Rogers Bros., selling agents for Haffner and McVey, on commission, are selling off their entire stock at 33 1-3 per cent. discount. This makes some wonderful bargains, as may be seen by consulting the price list in another column.

—All young men interested in shorthand ought to apply at the Y. M. C. A rooms this evening. It is expected that the announcement will be made to-night by which the younger members of the class at least can begin their work at 7 instead of 8 o'clock.

—Over $3,000 has been paid for tickets for to-morrow evening at the Brooklyn Academy of Music when the Musin concert company will open their season. The next night they appear here at Music Hall and it seems probable that there will not be a vacant seat.

—The company of eminent solo artists who are to appear in a grand concert at Music Hall, Thursday evening, receive $700 for the concert that opens their season in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, the night before. Reserved seats to hear them here are 50 and 75 cents, but there are very few of the better ones left.

—Burglars attempted a raid on the house of Andrew Muir on West Fourth street, Sunday evening. They tried to enter through a broken window above the cellar door, but Mrs. Muir was awake, heard the noise, and aroused her husband, who got up and ran down stairs. But too late—the burglars heard him coming and ran.

—A beautiful collection of that hand-painted china from Worcester, Mass., that was so eagerly sought after at their similar entertainment last year, will be on sale at the tea to be given at the Unitarian rooms Friday. This is to be one of those genuinely old-fashioned affairs that afford so much delight to the people attending, and tea is to be served in china 150 years old.

—Van Emburgh & White are offering special inducements to buyers throughout every department. This firm have made many improvements in their large store. They have enlarged their cloak department to twice it former size, and they claim as fine an assortment of ladies' and children's jackets as many New York houses show. Another improvement is their house-furnishing goods department. There they have added many new lines of goods, that housekeepers will be interested in. They keep most everything from a hair pin to a clothes horse. From the amount of business they are doing they must be selling goods at prices that are popular with the people.

He'll Sweep the State With His Team.

Here's good news for the people! At a meeting of the trustees of the Crescent League, last evening, Thomas H. Keller, after earnest solicitation, agreed to accept the position of base-ball manager for next season. He's already got his eye on some phenoms for Plainfield's champion team of '92.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gentle stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

THE SEWER ORDINANCE ADOPTED.

This and Other Business Before the Common Council.

The City Common Council delighted the hearts of the reporters last night by getting down to business at 8:10 and adjourning at 8:45. All of the councilmen were present except Mr. Ginna.

The committee on buildings was given power to grant to Dr. G. W. Endicott the privilege of erecting a frame barn on his land at Park avenue and Seventh street.

William Messerschmidt was appointed inspector of election in the second ward, vice Charles Van Winkle resigned.

Councilman Spangenberg introduced a resolution empowering the Mayor and City Clerk to execute for the city a street lighting contract with the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light company, each lamp to be 25-candle power, and the price for each lamp one year to be $15 50. The proposed contract was read, and all voted aye. Mr. Ackerman gave Mr. Spangenberg due credit by stating that Mr. Pope of the company had told him that Mr. Spangenberg had tried hard to get a lower rate even than this, which, thanks to his efforts, is lower than last year. Mr. Pope had said that this was the lowest possible rate. The profit of it to the company was just $1 each lamp a year. The new contract will begin Nov. 1, for 12 months.

Mr. Spangenberg introduced an ordinance fixing a fine of $50 and 30 days' imprisonment for malicious injury to street lamps or fire-alarm boxes. It was tabled so that a minor correction might be made.

On motion of Mr. Moffett the application of Edward Allen for another hackman's license was reconsidered and unanimously granted.

The ordinance giving to J. M. Low and his associates a sewerage franchise was adopted on third reading and final passage by the following vote:

Ayes — Councilmen Gallup, Hetfield, Moffett, Roberts, Smith and Spangenberg—6.

Noes—Councilmen Ackerman, Johnston, Rushmore and See—4.

Mr. Ackerman tried to have it tabled, but was unsuccessful.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Alice Jenkins of East Sixth street was given a charming surprise party by a number of friends last evening.

The Rev. C. B Mitchell was greatly disappointed in not being able to attend the Ecumenical Conference at Washington.

The Rev. E. M Rodman was a prominent guest at the silver wedding of Dr. and Mrs Glazebrook at Elizabeth Saturday evening.

Leonard, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schlick, of West Fourth street, died this afternoon at one o'clock with inflammation of the bowels.

The first theater party of the season to occupy a box at Music Hall, was that composed of the younger members of William Palmer Smith's family and their guests, last evening.

Miss Pentz of Fanwood gave a dramatic entertainment to a select society gathering last evening, at the Fanwood club-house, which was thrown open at her disposal. After the theatricals, dancing was indulged in. It was a gay and merry time.

H. Griffiths Parker, paying teller of the First National Bank of New Jersey at New Brunswick, took a spin with Plainfield friends over the Union county roads yesterday. He is an enthusiast for good roads, and hopes to see the system adopted soon in Middlesex.

At the reception tendered to General Secretary Hillman, of the Rahway Y. M. C. A., Thursday evening of last week, President S. D. Mershon made a brief speech of welcome to the two hundred visitors present, and addresses were made by State Secretary Moore, Chas. Kissam of this city, and the pastors of the different churches.

After a long illness the death occurred this morning of James Wilson, at his home corner of West Seventh and Division streets. He was in the 85th year of his age, and had been a resident of this city for some time. He was a devout member of the M. E. church. It is said that he leaves a large fortune to be eventually shared by his grandsons, Louis and Harry McIntosh. Funeral services will be held at the house, 49 West Seventh street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment at Paterson.

Looking for Her Faithless Husband.

A sad-faced little woman from Brooklyn, enlisted the sympathies of police sergeant Lynch this morning. She was in search of her husband, Frank Adams, who had deserted her after a honeymoon of seven weeks. He had left her to find employment, and had promised faithfully to write to her no matter where he was. Not having heard from him, she set out in search. Mr Lynch found out that Adams had been working at Pond's, but left a week ago. The sad-faced bride is still on his track.

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c, 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. J. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

CRESCENTS DID THEM 28 TO 0.

But After That the North Sides Lost Only Two Games and Won an Amateur Championship.

The following is from the manager of the North Side Athletic club's base-ball team that the Crescents, with Taylor in the box, defeated by the score of 28 to 0:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—As the base-ball season is over, I wish to inform the ladies and gentlemen of Plainfield and the Crescent League, who so kindly attended that game of ball on June 27, between the Crescent League and the North Side Athletic Club, that the latter continued to play after that game and only lost two games since then. Your readers may be surprised to read such startling news, but such is the fact. Also that they finished the season with a percentage of 864, having won 19 out of 22 games—also winning the amateur championship of the 23rd and 24th wards of New York city. The standing of the clubs in the amateur championship race is:

	Won.	Lost.	Per cent.
North Side A. C.	4	2	667
Suburbans	4	3	571
Volunteers	3	3	500
Irvings	2	5	286

Next year if we visit Plainfield, it will be with a team that no one need be ashamed of, as it will contain players who know how to bat and run. Also a few men that can pitch a ball across the plate. Lamer, who caught and played so well for the North Sides at Plainfield, leads his club in batting and runs scored.

A Great Play With a Fine Band.

To-morrow night, the much talked of performance of "On the Trail, or Dan'l Boone," will be given at Music Hall. The company numbers twenty-five people, and carries a special car of scenery, horses and properties. The play is produced in much better shape than it ever has been before. It has been entirely rewritten, only the first act of the old version remaining, and the company is a particularly strong one. Messrs Peck & Fursman claim for the new "On the Trail, or Dan'l Boone" that it is the only melodrama on the stage free from the objectionable "blood and thunder" incidents. They have spared no expense to present the play in the proper manner, and everywhere they are being given great credit for one of the most complete productions of the season, and their business has been phenomenally large. Their famous Challenge brass band, which has been praised by the press in other cities so much, will give a parade to-morrow, starting from the theater at 12 o'clock. At 7 o'clock to-morrow evening they will give an open-air concert in front of the theater, with solos by their principal players.

Lawyer James D Hoffman Dead.

Lawyer James D. Hoffman of Elizabeth, son of Judge Hoffman of Clinton, Hunterdon county, died rather suddenly of typhoid fever and nervous prostration at his father's home in Clinton at midnight Saturday. Mr. Hoffman was one of the counsel for the defense in the Blasier murder case, and was stricken with his fatal illness last Wednesday in the Union county court just as the case was called. His client, Blasier, was too ill to have the case proceed, and is now dying of cirrhosis of the liver in the Union county jail. Lawyer Hoffman was 26 years old and leaves a young wife, whom he only married about eight months ago.

An Orphan Asylum Closed.

St. Mary's Orphan Asylum, a Catholic institution at New Brunswick, has been closed and the sisters have gone back to the mother house at Madison. The cause is the presence of a contagious disease which is believed to be seven years itch. The trouble commenced about fifteen months ago, when two children were received from the Trenton Almshouse. They were very dirty and soon developed a virulent skin disease, which was communicated to others. The doctors, finding the disease could not be stamped out, ordered the house closed. A course of fumigation will be pursued, and it will be some months before it is re-opened.

The Central Asks Heavy Damages.

The case of the Central Railroad company against the Port Reading company is occupying the attention of Chief Justice Beasley and a struck jury at New Brunswick. The Reading wants to cross the Central's tracks near Carteret, and the commissioners appointed to award damages gave the Central $400. The company was not satisfied, and brought suit, alleging that the expense and trouble of having the Reading cross their four tracks will cause a damage of $99,600. The reading denies this, and offers to bear all the expense. The case has not been concluded.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

N. WOLVEN, Postmaster.

Examining Railroad Men.

The Central Railway of New Jersey has tried the experiment of an examining board at the station in Jersey City. The board consisted of G. H. Frech, trainmaster of the road, W. E. Bailey, assistant trainmaster, and John Cassidy, general traveling despatcher. Inquiries were made into the capabilities and knowledge of the engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen employed in the passenger service of the road. The company expects to reap much benefit from these examinations, and it is proposed in time to extend the investigations to the freight and coal departments.

The careful mother always keeps Salvation Oil handy. 25c a bottle.

"It's all over town"! "What"? "The cold wind, this morning". "So it is, but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is all over town, too; you can buy it everywhere for 25c a bottle".

The Statue to Gen. Logan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Logan Monument Committee—Secretary Proctor, Gen. Alger, Capt. Lemon, Pension Commissioner Raum, Gen. Burdette and Gen. Casey—met at the War Department yesterday and appointed Gen. Alger and Capt. Lemon a committee to visit the studio of St. Gaudens in New York and make, if they thought proper, a selection from several models of Gen. Logan there. Mrs. Logan will accompany the committee. It is stated that the committee have the necessary funds—$65,000—to erect the monument, which will be placed in Iowa Circle, Washington. The committee represents the G. A. R., the Army of the Tennessee and the government, which made an appropriation of $50,000 for the monument.

A Schooner's Rough Passage.

LEWES, Del., Oct. 20.—The schooner Rebecca J. Evans, Captain M. B. Fernandez, from Brava, Cape Verde Island, for Boston, put in to the Breakwater for provisions and repairs yesterday. She encountered a severe gale on October 2, which blew with great force for 13 days from southeast to northeast, blowing away sails, tearing away sheathing from the stern, stern-boat, anchor and sixty fathoms of hawser. The cabin and forecastle are filled with water, the ballast shifted and considerable of the vessel's material was washed off deck.

Italy and American Pork.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Acting Secretary Wharton states that he has received no communication from either the American Minister at Rome or from the Italian Ministry that the Italian government has decided to rescind the decree prohibiting the importation of American pork into Italy.

Yale-Harvard Football Game.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Nothing definite has yet been done in regard to the Yale-Harvard football game. It is understood that a conference will be held at Springfield this week at which some definite arrangements for the game will be made.

Publisher Dead from Suffocation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Edward R. Young, a publisher, and a prominent member of the Manhattan Athletic Club, was found dead in his bedroom at the club house last night, having died from suffocation.

Raum Has Not Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A rumor was current here yesterday that the President had accepted the resignation of Pension Commissioner Raum and would appoint ex-Governor Steele of Indiana to the vacancy. Mr. Raum, when asked concerning the rumor, said that he had not resigned or been asked to resign.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

The defunct Order of Active Workers of Philadelphia will pay 23 cents on the dollar to investors.

The Gondola Tanning Company's Works at Grapeville were partially destroyed by fire. Loss $50,000; fully insured.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

Gustave Razare, a baker of Hoboken, dropped dead Sunday evening.

Jacob Minos, of Summit, committed suicide on Sunday afternoon, by hanging himself on the front stoop of his home.

Thomas E. Smith, an indicted Hudson County ballot box stuffer, imprisoned in the county jail for having forfeited his bail, was discharged on new bail.

St. Mary's Roman Catholic parish of Jersey City is about to erect a magnificent club house on Jersey avenue for the use of the young men of the parish.

Policeman John McNamara, of Hoboken, dropped dead yesterday morning. He had just returned from his night tour and was taking off his uniform when he fell.

Christian Groetsch, an influential saloon keeper of Paterson, was convicted in Paterson yesterday of atrocious assault on Rev. Dean McNulty, "apostle of temperance."

IT IS NOT

A LIE.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

THE WEST END JANITOR INSANE.

He Held a Brief Reign of Terror in Somerville, and Is in the Asylum Now.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 20.—Robert Chambers, an odd character about town, was taken violently insane last Saturday evening. He was extremely violent all day Sunday, imagining himself to be very wealthy and that someone was trying to rob him. He was removed to the Trenton asylum Monday morning. He told some of his friends that he was going to Trenton to preach in the largest church there. Chambers was janitor of the West End club-house, besides making a living by doing odd jobs all over the town. All last week he showed symptoms of insanity, and on Friday morning the people living in the vicinity of the club-house were awakened about 4 o'clock by hearing the most awful yells. On investigation, he was found cleaning up the club-house, with all the windows open, and the house brilliantly lighted, while he himself was shouting and praying at the top of his voice. Then on Saturday morning he went to shake a carpet on South street. After beating the carpet for five minutes he demanded a dollar and a half for the work, and on being refused he made all sorts of threats. He also threatened to shoot two of the police officers, and it was thought best to take care of him Monday morning. His wife and children are much to be pitied, as they are hard working people.

Again, the Institute Fair.

As each year goes around, and the American Institute announces its annual exhibition, those who are familiar with the Institute affairs are reminded that there is something of great importance to be seen, and that a popular place of amusement and instruction will be open to the public of New York and vicinity. The exhibition now open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night, at the Exhibition Hall on Third avenue, between 63rd and 64th streets, is the 60th in the history of the Institute, and the long record of usefulness and popularity, which years have strengthened, is still deserved, and tenaciously held, by the American Institute, and the exhibitors who take space in the building. The exhibition has mechanical exhibits, household goods, articles of delicate construction and fine manufacture, and a display of food products which is especially interesting to the thrifty and practical housekeeper, to say nothing of the generosity of the exhibitors who freely feed the hungry and show how their products may be most successfully utilized.

The admission to the fair is only 25 cents, and this popular price, together with the inducement of good music, and a building filled with exhibits where a day or evening visit is most enjoyable, are the claims to favor which will keep the exhibition successfully open until November 28.

Of Interest to Insurance Agents.

The Prudential Insurance company has brought a suit, the first of its kind, against Henry Rothmann, an agent of theirs in Elizabeth, to recover $104, of which he is short in his accounts. The suit is really to determine whether agents can be held responsible for lapsed policies on which they have already received premiums for securing. The company's rule is that when weekly payments on insurance policies run four weeks in arrears the agent shall declare the policy lapsed, and refund the company the premium he originally was paid for obtaining the new member. Rothmann had about forty lapsed names on his books, and the company, discovering this, discharged him from their employ, and are suing him for the amount of premiums he obtained on these worthless policies.

As many of the agents follow similar tactics, they are deeply interested in the outcome of the suit.

Artists Who Are Coming Here.

The Musical Courier has the following to say of the New York Philharmonic club that H. O. Newman has secured to give three concerts in this city during the coming season:

"The New York Philharmonic club started last week for the West and California and return December 6. The concerts in New York and vicinity will be given with the following soloists: Emil Fischer (basso), Campanini, De Vere, Marion S. Weed, Aus der Ohe and Richard Hoffmann. Some of the novelties are sextettes composed and dedicated to the club by Henrich Zoellner and Theo. Gouvy; nocturne by Asger Hamerik, of Baltimore, for solo, flute and string quintet.

Plainfield's Amateur Stars.

(From The New York Commercial Advertiser.)

The Four Leaf Clover quartettee—amateur comedians of Plainfield, N. J.—are at work on some new sketches for this season. The quartette consists of the Spencer brothers—Howard, Will and Tiffany—and George Taggart. It did some excellent work last year in sketches by George Taggart.

NEW JERSEY'S CRANBERRY CROP.

The Yield Will be the Largest in the State for Years.

The cranberry crop in New Jersey, which is just being harvested, will be the largest gathered for years. While all over the country there is a marked decrease in the yield as compared with last year, the Jersey crop will come to the rescue with an increase of over 10,000 bushels. The crop in this State has been estimated at 220,000 bushels, but a prominent grower of Atlantic county, who is well acquainted with the capacity of the bogs all over the State, stated a few days ago that the yield will easily reach 250,000 bushels. Despite the ravages made by the frosts and insect pests, the crop in New Jersey will show an increase of 10 per cent. over last year, which was considered very large. New Jersey is the only cranberry-growing section in the United States that will produce an average crop. Owing to the heavy frosts last year, in May, which did great damage to cranberry plants, the crop in the East and West will show a marked decrease, while the crop in New England will also fall below that of last year.

The berries that are now being harvested are large and fine. After the Cape Cod berries, the Jersey reds are the finest in the country and command the highest price. As soon as the Cape Cod berries are gone the Jersey berries are placed on the market, and surpass all other berries and are in the greatest demand, commanding much higher prices than the Western berries.

The largest cranberry-growing counties in the State are Monmouth, Ocean, and Atlantic. In Ocean county are the largest bogs in the country. In Ocean and Monmouth counties the yield will be over 75,000 bushels. Atlantic county will have an unusually heavy crop, and it is estimated that not less than 40,000 bushels will be gathered. The low-lands of New Jersey are well adapted to cranberry growing, and it is very seldom that there is a crop failure. The big frosts which occurred during last Spring, and which created sad havoc with the crop in New England and all through the West, did little or no damage to the New Jersey bogs except in Ocean county, where several bogs were ravaged by the frost and the year's crop ruined.

The peculiar situation of the bogs in this State rendered them less liable to the ravages of frosts. The bogs are situated in the lowlands and entirely surrounded by a thick growth of pines, which furnish protection for the vines and prevent the frost from injuring the bogs. In proportion to its area Atlantic county has more cranberry bogs than any county in the State. Bogs are constantly being cleared and set out, and in a few years Atlantic county will be the principal cranberry-growing county in the State. It is estimated that if the bogs in the State that are now set out were in full bearing, 350,000 bushels would be yielded every year. Burlington and Cape May counties each have several large bogs, which yield several thousand bushels. One of the largest bog owners in Burlington county is J. C. Hinchman of Taunton, whose bogs extend a distance of five or six miles through the pines of that county and yield a crop of over 10,000 bushels. The immense profit that is made in cranberry-growing is inducing capitalists to invest in some of the largest bogs in the country in this State. New Jersey lands being the best adapted to cranberry-growing and the large prices realized for Jersey berries are rapidly promoting interest in this industry in this State.

About two years ago an English syndicate purchased 25,000 acres of bog land near Mount Holly, with the purpose of setting it out in cranberries and growing them on a large scale. The work is slowly progressing, but will not be completed for several years. There is an immense profit in cranberry raising. To plant a bog and equip it in a first-class manner costs, as near as can be estimated, not more than $500 per acre. The plants are gathered in swamps and marshes, where they grow wild, and are replanted on the cultivated bogs, where they do not bear for five years. Oftentimes the first bearing year pays the entire cost of the bog, and after that the crop is clear profit. The finest equipped cranberry bog in South Jersey is that of L. B. Corson of May's Landing, which is situated near a small stream four miles from May's Landing. This bog contains several hundred acres, and is laid out in the most improved manner. The floodgates are so arranged that they can be flooded or drained at a moment's notice. The bog has not yet been planted four years, and the success of the new system cannot yet be determined.

The bogs of the Atlantic Cranberry Association at Weymouth contain 1,200 acres, but, owing to grasshoppers and frosts, the yield this year will not exceed 3,000 bushels. These bogs are owned by a syndicate, and have already cost nearly $200,000 to build and plant the bog. The work of picking the berries has been going on at a rapid rate for about six weeks and is now nearly finished. The work is done by Italians, who early in the fall arrive in the cranberry districts by the hundreds. They are paid 50 cents a bushel for picking the berries, and live on the bogs in little huts and shanties rudely erected for their use. The picking can be carried on but a few hours each day, owing to the dew, which is on the berries until late in the morning, and which again settles over the bogs early in the afternoon.

When picked the berries are placed in machines, which separate the large and small and firm and soft berries and remove all dirt. They are then placed in cool cellars, where they are kept in dark places until shipment.

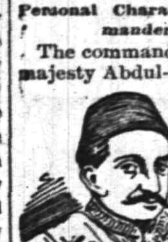
Very few Jersey berries are shipped before Christmas, after which time they command higher prices. The Cape Cod berries, which are considered to be the finest berries placed in the market, are all consumed by that time and Jersey reds are in great demand. On account of the heavy fruit crop, it is said cranberries will not command such high prices as during the past few years. But this is discredited by the growers, who expect to receive good prices after the Cape Cod berries are out of the market. The cost of picking, crating, and getting the berries to market is averaged at $1 per bushel, and the market prices of the berries range from $2.50 to $3.25 per bushel for prime berries. The wild cranberry crop of this State reaches, it is estimated, nearly a thousand bushels yearly. These berries grow wild in the swamps and marshes and are picked by the farmers and woodsmen long before they are ripe. They keep fairly well and command good prices before the cultivated berries are in the market. A prominent grower stated a few days ago that the growers of the lower part of the State are endeavoring to form a combine and hold their berries back late into the winter for higher prices.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—WM. H. HAMILTON, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

ABDUL-HAMID-KHAN.

Personal Characteristics of the Commander of the Faithful.

The commander of the Faithful, his majesty Abdul-Hamid-Khan II., is now in his forty-ninth year. He succeeded his brother, Mourad V., dethroned in 1876. Physically, says the New York Sun, Abdul-Hamid resembles neither his father, Abdul-Medzid, nor his uncle, Abdul-Azis. He is not so tall or so slender as his father, and is of the Armeno-Arab rather than of the Turkish type. His mother was a Georgian. The sultan's general appearance is characterized by a sort of tired dignity, mingled with an expression of melancholic sadness, which is not without charm. His black beard, now slightly tinged with gray, is short, thick, and trimmed almost to a point. The forehead is broad, lightly bulged above the eyebrows, hollow at the temples, and wrinkled all over. The lines running down to the base of the nose, which indicate profound and meditative thought, are accentuated. The eye is dark gray, large, well formed, pensive, slightly veiled, penetrating, kindly, very changeable and anxious; it is deepest in its orbit, although the ocular globe is prominent. The eyelids with their thick lashes are more or less stumped. The eye is that of a thinker, of a suspicious meditator, with a subjective will power. The nose is long and thin at its base, bony and strong at the nostrils. The mouth is large, and the teeth, rather yellow than white, are widely separated. The lower lip is stronger and thicker than the upper one. The expression is energetic and reveals a mixture of pronounced sensualism and real kindness. The sultan's hair is black and cut short. The skull recedes toward the top; the little brain is strongly marked. The ears are long and vigorously cut. The complexion is a darkish brown. The hands are fine and nervous; the finger nails rosy and cut short. The feet are arched and slender. Abdul-Hamid's voice is sympathetic and sonorous. He speaks lower than his subjects, and smiles but little in the presence of strangers. He has an excellent memory for faces, but recalls names with difficulty.



SULTAN OF TURKEY.

A VERY OLD COIN.

It Is a Shekel Struck by the Hebrews to Commemorate a Victory.

There is in this city a relic of the days when the Hebrews were oppressed in Palestine by the Romans. It is a shekel struck in the year 131 A. D.—nearly 1,800 years ago—in honor of the taking of Jerusalem and other places from the Romans by the Hebrews under the leader Simon Bar-Cochebas, who was then proclaimed ruler of the Hebrews.

THE SHEKEL.

The New York Coin and Stamp Company is the owner of this interesting antiquity. Manager Proskey interpreted its curious characters and symbols to a World reporter.

"On the obverse," he said, "is a conventional representation of the beautiful gate of Solomon's temple. It is, perhaps, the only picture of that edifice extant. The Hebrew characters signify Simon or Simeon. Above is a star, alluding to Simon's surname, Bar-Cochebas or Cochab, which signifies 'the son of a star.'

"The reverse bears the inscription: 'Second year of the deliverance of Israel.' The two emblems are the ethrog and lulab. The ethrog is a species of citron. The lulab, or bunch of palm branches, in olden times was used in the temple, in the house of prayer when the Hallel psalms were recited, and was seldom out of people's hands in the day-time. About the base of the lulab is a basket. It is the golden basket with which wealthy Israelites used to adorn their lulab much as rich church-goers now ornament their prayer-books. Of the four or five coins like this now known no two are exactly alike. Perhaps a separate die was used for each. No satisfactory explanation of the fact has yet been offered. This shekel was the last coin struck by the Hebrews as a nation."

On looking at the shekel closely a series of half effaced devices were found.

"That's another chapter of the coin's history," Mr. Proskey said. "These coins were struck to carry the news of victory. Here is a proof of the fact. Under the palm branches and Hebrew letters you will find the device of Antioch plainly outlined. The Israelites evidently had the money in their possession, but recoined it to spread the news. It was really the first type of the newspaper, bearing the tidings of victory and deliverance to the oppressed."

A Human Footprint in a Stone.

On May 13, 1882, Mr. John B. Wiggins, of Waverly, N. J., while searching for ethnological specimens on top of Blue mountain, Perry county, Pa., discovered what is now believed to be the earliest trace of man in America. It is a piece of stone composed of metamorphic lime, about 9¼ inches thick, 9 inches long, 4 inches wide and weighs six pounds. In this solid rock is the perfect impression of the right foot of a man. The footprint is 7½ inches long, 2¾ inches wide across the ball of the foot and 3 inches wide one-half the distance from the small toe to the heel. The print is about a half inch deep and distinctly shows the toes, five in number, the whole being a perfect impression of a shapely foot. Who was this early American, and in what age of the world did he step on that piece of soft clay which has now been transformed into a solid rock?

NOVEL BATH TUB.

It Is Said to Give a Complete Illusion of a Sea Bath.

An Englishman has patented a novel bath tub, which he has named the Niagara wave and rocking bath, and he also speaks in highest praise of its virtues as the seaside at home. This is a picture of the bath tub made so as to show the bather inside:

The inventor says it gives the fullest illusion of a sea bath, that no water splashes out, that only three pails of water are necessary, that it keeps the blood in active circulation, and that invalids, delicate persons and children fairly gloat over its joys.

INVALIDS AND CONVALESCENTS.

Restored to Health and Strength

You invalids and convalescents who remain weak, tired, nervous and exhausted, there is a marvelous restorative, an unfailing strengthener of brain, nerve, blood and body—Dr. Greene's Nervura—which will give you more strength of nerve, vitality of blood and vigor of body than anything else under the sun. This wonderful giver of renewed health and strength is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and may be taken by the most delicate invalid with absolute certainty of quick and speedy benefit. Dr. Greene, its discoverer, is the well-known physician, and guarantees the healthful, strengthening and invigorating effects of this marvelous remedy.

Use it invalid or convalescent, and watch the strength return to your limbs, the power and vigor to your nerves, the warm, rich color to your cheek, and feel the glow of health throb gain in your veins.

HOW SHALL I GET STRONG?

"I was so weak I could not raise myself in bed, and doctors said I could be no better. Hearing of Dr. Greene's Nervura, I commenced taking it, and in a week I began to feel better. I am now able to walk and ride out, have gained 40 pounds in weight, so that I consider that Dr. Greene's Nervura saved my life!

ROGER DUPUY, The Great FRENCH TENOR, from the Grand Opera of Paris. (1st Season in America.)

EMIL SENGER, BASSO. For Two Seasons with German Opera Co at the Metropolitan Opera House, N. Y. City.

EDUARD SCHARF, A SUPERIOR SOLO PIANIST. Receiver of the GREAT MOSCHELES PRIZE at the Leipzig Conservatory of Music.

Such an array of talent has never been brought together on one programme in this city, and may never again. Yet in spite of the cost of these artists, the whole house will be sold at 75 and 50 cents for reserved seats. Seats now on sale at the Central Pharmacy, Front St. and Park Ave.

A WATER CLOCK.

It Is a Beautiful Piece of Work and Requires no Winding.

One of the attractions of the beautiful Monte Pincio gardens, at Rome, is a really unique clock, which is usually an object of interest to groups of passersby. A general view and description of this curious and artistic piece of mechanism is given in the Horological Review:

The case is composed of three branches in rustic work. It stands upon a square stone block, surrounded on its four sides by beautiful leaf plants, ivy and grasses. The stone foot stands within a water basin. The upper part of the case contains a dial covered with glass on each of its four sides. Upon the cupola stands a staff, which carries the two bells for the full hour and the quarters. At its upper end is a small vane in the shape of a battle-ax.

The frame for the wheel and the levers of the striking work, in which a small centrifugal pendulum takes the place of the fly, is close underneath the dial. At the back of the clock frame oscillates the second pendulum, and before this is located a mass of rustic work, similar to a large coral growth, from which issue small jets of water at regular intervals. Two of the uppermost coral branches are water conduit pipes, from which flows alternately, at each swing of the pendulum, a small quantity of water into two leaf-like spoons underneath, imparting to them an up and down motion.

The peculiar motive power furnished by the water keeps the clock in motion by a very remarkable escapement, so that it never requires winding. The construction of the clock is due to a monk, as is the case with so many old pieces of art work.

A WOMAN'S PATENT.

Simple Means of Elevating a Skirt Whenever Necessary.

Of all the patents taken out in this country yearly, but a very small percentage are taken by women. Why this is we do not pretend to know. That women have inventive genius, and that the world would be enriched were she to exercise it more, there is no gainsaying. Women, says the Mechanical News, are of a more observing nature than they are usually given credit for, and many things are evolved in the mind of the practical woman, that would cause her to be a leader, among her immediate friends at least, were she to make them known. Annie Lange, of Leicester, England, invented, and, moreover, has actually patented, both in that and this country, a simple means of elevating the skirt whenever it may become necessary. Our illustration perhaps shows the idea even better than we can describe it—not being of the feminine gender. In the skirt are attached two or more transverse bands substantially parallel with the waist-band, each provided with suitable fastening devices for connecting the bands together, the fastenings on each band being constructed to interlock with the fastenings of the adjacent bands. Inclined upwardly-extending arms, D, that end within convenient reaching distance of the wearer are introduced, and a simple tug or pull upon them elevates the skirt neatly and evenly all around.

Teaching Girls Business.

It is quite a fad now for very well-to-do parents to send their girls to a business college for a course of three or six months' training as a touch-off for the rest of their education. A score of New York girls, whose fathers are men of means, who graduated regularly last June are to enter a business college for a course of typewriting and stenography. To be sure, they do not intend to make a livelihood by these arts, but their parents very sensibly argue that knowledge of this kind is mighty good to have in these uncertain days and in this somewhat uncertain country.

Progress in Japan.

Another evidence of Japan's rapid advance in western civilization is the fact that the women of that country have taken to journalism. An English woman, Mrs. Barnett, while in Kioto was visited by a member of the Japanese fair sex, who wished to interview her. The caller introduced herself by saying: "My husband he make the paper and I do the part of visiting the outside country to help forward him." The Kioto Journal on the following morning contained a long account of Mrs. Barnett.

A TIRELESS SERVANT.

He Bore a Large Part in the Labor of Building Up the West.

The patient, tireless, hardy beast of burden forming the subject of our illustration has borne an extremely important if not always duly credited portion of the labor of opening up our new western country, both on the great plains and in the mountain regions. In a recent description of the building of the Pike's Peak railroad, in the Scientific American, it was stated that "all provisions, tools and camping outfits were transported by trail to the various camps along the line on the backs of mules and burros," but, in addition to this general credit, we now present a view, from a photograph, of one of the animals so employed. Odd as the view must seem to most of our readers, it is by no means an uncommon one to those familiar with life at mining camps in the mountains and in many other places distant from the railroad lines. And, with variations in the character of the burdens, these same sturdy, diminutive equines, which would generally be classed as donkeys at the east, or as bronchos, burros, or Indian ponies at the west, have borne a large part of the labor attendant upon the advancing settlement of the plains.

A HELPER ON THE PIKE'S PEAK RAILROAD,

How to Stop a Hiccough.

A good authority gives a simple remedy for hiccough—a lump of sugar saturated with vinegar. In ten cases, tried as an experiment, it stopped hiccough in nine.

Sadly Neglected.

A little three-year-old who has been summering up in the country fell into an old well where the water was only six inches deep and remained there some time before he was discovered. When he was finally rescued his pent-up indignation knew no bounds.

"You fink I kin tay in a well wizout nuffin to eat, like a fwog? Fy wasn't no better fadder 'n' mudder 'n you I'd go wifout children."—Texas Siftings.

HOEY'S STATEMENT

He Refutes Certain Charges Against Him.

THE THREE NEW MORTGAGES.

The Hollywood Property Has Not Been Additionally Encumbered.

The Ex-President Says that the New Management of the Adams Express Company is Trying to Demean Him—He is Not Afraid of Any Action the Company May Take—New Developements Expected Shortly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—All the truth in the matter of the Adams Express Company against John Hoey has not yet come to light. As yet but one side of the story has been heard, that of the express company. Rumors have been afloat that Mr. Hoey's magnificent property has been mortgaged up to the last penny it can stand; that all the property is in Mrs. Hoey's name, and that what little is left has been made over to Mr. Hoey's son, Frederick C. Hoey. The latter has been his father's right hand man for several years past, and has for six years managed Hollywood Hotel with its 17 cottages.

Yesterday, for the first time since the beginning of the trouble, Mr. Hoey consented to talk to a reporter. He appeared very much annoyed at the statements which have been made regarding the mortgages on his property.

"I wish to state most emphatically that my property at Hollywood is not mortgaged. It is as intact to-day as it ever was, and if things go as I feel sure they will, it will always remain so."

"But there are mortgages on file at the County Clerk's office in Freehold, N. J., are there not?"

"Yes; but they are not on my grounds at Hollywood. The mortgage for $48,000 is on a very valuable strip of land near Monmouth Beach, fronting the ocean. It has 1,300 feet on the water front, and has always been appraised at being worth $100 a running foot. That makes the value of the property $130,000, which is very ample security for a mortgage of $48,000."

"What is the $48,000 mortgage for?" Mr. Hoey was asked.

"Seeing that I may be involved in a long litigation with the Adams Express Company, I have taken this step, after advice from counsel, in order to protect any persons to whom I may owe bills in Long Branch. They have always been my best friends, and now when all my property may be tied up, pending a long and tedious lawsuit, I want to see that they are protected."

"What about the mortgage to Wm. F. Fliess?"

"That is one for $30,000. It is secured by a valuable tract of land situated on the other side of the lake from Hollywood. I have been charged with adding both of these new mortgages to the one for $100,000 now held by the Adams Express Company. This is a lie made out of the whole cloth."

"What is this $100,000 mortgage?"

"An old story. Over five years ago I borrowed $100,000 from the Guarantee Trust & Safe Deposit Company of Philadelphia, giving them as security a mortgage on Hollywood. The mortgage ran out and the Adams Express Company took it up."

"Was this on your own recommendation?"

"No; it was done at my request by the Finance Committee of the company. It looked into the matter and reported that the property was in every way satisfactory, and that the security was ample."

"Does this mortgage cover all of Hollywood?"

"No; I own over 400 acres there; but the mortgage represents the most valuable part of Hollywood."

"Is it true that you made out a lease for the Hollywood Hotel and cottages for twelve years to your son Frederick?"

"Yes. My son has had the operation and full charge of the hotel for the past six years, and he holds a verbal contract from me to that effect. To secure him I have had a lease drawn up and recorded. With the exception of this lease and the $100,000 mortgage, my property at Hollywood is free and clear, and in my own name."

Mr. Hoey did not wish to talk about his trouble with the Adams Express Company, but his son gave a brief outline of his father's position.

"If the Adams Express Company says that the security it holds is not sufficient for the amount of the loan, all it has to do is take off the attachment, and we have parties ready to take it up immediately. As to the $100,000 loan, my father is already making arrangements to have that taken up.

"I, too, want to emphasize the fact that none of the new mortgages are on the Hollywood property. There has been no desire to transfer the property or evade payment. Anything judicially declared to be due to the Adams Express Company will be promptly and gladly paid. Mr. Hoey is not afraid of any action the company may take, and when the time comes he will take care of his interests.

"My father's attorneys are Messrs. Root & Clark and Burrell, Zabriskie & Burrell. The latter firm is well acquainted with the ways of both the Adams Express Company and the Southern Express Company. There is evidently a desire on the part of the new management of the Adams Express Company to do everything possible to demean Mr. Spooner and my father."

"When will the forthcoming statement be made public?"

"That I cannot now say; possibly my father may not issue one at all, but be content to wait till the case comes up in court.

"I, too, wish to reiterate my father's statement that there have been no new mortgages on Hollywood, and that not a dollar of the property is in my mother's name. I am satisfied that if the attachments were withdrawn friends of ours would step forward immediately to take up these mortgages, as they regard the security as more than ample.

New developments are expected in a few days.

THEIR WIRES CUT OUT.

Statement of the Trouble Between the Western Union and Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Much interest has been excited in journalistic circles by the announcement of a misunderstanding between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Associated Press and many wild rumors are in circulation.

The following statement from Mr. W. B. Somerville, Press Agent of the Western Union Telegraph Company tells the situation:

"The difficulty is about alleged obligations to the Western Union Co. for leased wires and the wires about which difficulty arose are leased by the New York Associated Press. The wires leased for the use of the Western Associated Press have been paid for, those for the New York Associated Press have not been settled for and the obligation counts from June last to the present time, the amount being about $25,000.

"The joint committee of the New York and Western Associated Press first took the matter in hand. That committee consists of representatives of the New York "Herald," New York "Tribune," New York "Sun," Louisville "Courier-Journal" and the Cincinnati "Commercial-Gazette." The question at issuance was by them referred to the members of the joint committee representing the New York Associated Press. The latter concluded not to pay the Western Union Company on the ground that it was offset by overcharges.

"The Western Union accordingly notified the New York Associated Press Monday, that its leased wires would be cut off at once and it was done.

The wires in question are one wire from New York to Chicago, two wires from New York to Washington, one wire from Washington to Richmond and Norfolk and one wire from Memphis to New Orleans.

The New York "Sun" and the New York "Tribune" yesterday withdrew from the Associated Press, and, with the co-operation of other newspapers and news agencies, have formed the National Associated Press.

The new service has arranged with the Western Union Telegraph Company for an ample service, covering all parts of the country. It will include also, special cable news.

Found Their Four Children Burned.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 21.—Near Lime Rock, Ala., John Long, a farmer, and his wife went to visit a sick neighbor, leaving their four children at home asleep. The hall lamp was left burning. Returning at 2 o'clock yesterday morning the Longs found the house in ruins and three of the children, aged 12, 6 and 2 years, burned to death. The other child, a boy aged 14 years, is fatally burned. It is supposed that the lamp exploded.

They Had Outside Aid.

READING, Pa., Oct. 21.—Beatrice Collins, the mysterious New York beauty in the penitentiary here serving a two year's sentence for passing counterfeit money, and John Rush, alias John Miller, a well-known thief, both of whom escaped from jail Monday night, evidently received assistance from the outside, as the doors were unlocked by some one in the corridor. Officers have searched everywhere for the fugitives but as yet no trace of them has been found.

Harvard Players Selected.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The following players are stated to have been elected this season for the Harvard football team for the match games: Bangs, centre rush; Vail and Rantoul, guards; Newell and D. Shea, tackles; Emmons, Miller and Hallowell, rushers; Gage and Burgess, quarter backs; Lake, Corbett, Gray and Stafford, half backs, Corbett has not yet, however, been decided on, owing to his suspension, but it is believed he will play.

The Disabled Edam.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The steamer Edam, reported to be in tow of the Scythia, was sighted 900 miles west of Queenstown. The Scythia will tow her to the latter port. Arrangements have been made whereby the steamer Rotterdam, belonging to the same company as the Edam, will leave Amsterdam, Oct. 23, for Queenstown and there take on the passengers now on the Edam and carry them to New York.

Confirmed By Egan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Acting Secretary Wharton has received a dispatch from U. S. Minister Egan confirming the official report of the street fight between Chilian and United States sailors in Valparaiso, Chili, but giving no particulars of it.

Murdered His Employer.

TEMPLEVILLE, Md., Oct. 21.—A negro stable hand named Wilson yesterday shot and mortally wounded his employer, James Shoebrooks, one of the most prominent turfmen in this portion of the State, because of a stinging rebuke administered to him by Mr. Shoebrooks. The negro is in jail.

THE RECORD BROKEN

Sunol is Now the Queen of the Turf.

SHE TROTTED A MILE IN 2.08 1-4.

The Time of Maud S. Beaten By Half a Second at Stockton.

The Feat Performed on a Kite-Shaped Track—Thousands Witnessed the Trial—The Record Has Stood Unbroken Since 1885—The Conditions Favorable for Good Time—History of the Wonderful Mare.

STOCKTON, Cal., Oct. 21.—Sunol is queen of the turf. Ten thousand people, frantic with excitement, crowned her yesterday, after an exhibition such as the world had never seen before, and such as few outside her owner, Robert Bonner of New York, and her trainer, Charles Marvin, had hoped to see.

She made the mile without a break in 2.08 1-4, lowering the world's record, previously held by Maud S., by a half second.

Sunol's career has ever been indicative of imperial greatness. As a two-year-old she made the then record of 2:18, and as a three-year-old reduced it to 2:10 1-2, which was the world's record for that age. Robert Bonner was one of the first to appreciate her worth.

He was in thorough accord with the theory of her breeder, Leland Stanford, that a dash of thoroughbred blood was of exceeding virtue in maintaining the highest flight of speed, and as Maud S was growing old he was anxious that the world's record should be held in his stable.

He had paid $40,000 for Maud S., and, in his opinion, the trotter who could equal it would be worth as much. He approached the old ex-Governor with an offer of $41,000, and in a moment of haste it was accepted. From that day Mr. Bonner has never ceased to proclaim his faith in the filly's ability to beat the record, and from that day never has Mr. Sanford ceased to wonder what made him sell the peerless filly that has brought so much fame to Palo Alto, where she had been foaled.

After the sale Mr. Bonner gave the filly to the charge of Charles Marvin, who had developed and driven her, with full power to do with her what seemed best. In her four-year-old form she added nothing special to her reputation.

Mr. Bonner was not discouraged, however, and allowed Mr. Marvin to keep her another year. Last week she essayed a mile over the same track which made her famous yesterday, but she failed because of strong wind and cuppy going. Yesterday she asserted her right to the sovereignty with nonenow to dispute her.

Last year, when some doubted Sunol's ability to capture the record, Mr. Bonner intimated that he might send Maud S. to further remove her own record from danger, but after consultation with Marvin he decided that Sunol was fit to care for it, and he mated Maud S. to Ansel, the son of the phenomenal Electioneer.

This was a happy thought of Mr. Bonner's and a considerate to the reputation of the grand old mare, whose mile in 2:08 3-4, made in Cleveland on July 30, 1885, had stood the test of years so well. Maud S. was retired with her record undimmed and now her stable mate brings in the new one, 2:08 1-4.

Sunol was bred by Leland Stanford at the Palo Alto farm in Santa Clara County, California, 32 miles from San Francisco. She was foaled April 14, 1886.

Her sire was Electioneer and her dam was Waxana, by Gen. Benton. Her grand dam was Waxy, a thoroughbred out of a mare bred by Philip Swigert, the father of the present owner of the Elmendorf stud.

It is through her dam that she inherits the thoroughbred blood, the potency of which has all along been championed by both Mr. Stanford and Mr. Bonner, and illustrated by successes of Maud S., the queen who was, and Sunol, the queen who is.

Sails for His Bride.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—United States Minister to Spain, Gen. E. Burd Grubb, sailed for Europe yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamship Spree. Before his return to America, Gen. Grubb will marry Miss Violet Sopwith, of Lismore Island, England.

Thomas Lefavour, who was contemporary with Samuel Slater in the manufacture of cotton, at Providence, R. I., died at Pawtucket yesterday, aged 93 years.

THE DETROIT TO BE RAISED.

A Gun Boat Sunk By Perry—For Exhibition at the World's Fair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The gun boat Detroit, of the British Navy, which was was sunk in Lake Erie during the war of 1812, when Capt. O. H. Perry won his famous victory, is soon to be raised by Capt. Michael Carr, of Buffalo, one of the best known pilots on the lake and an experienced diver. The boat will be exhibited at the Chicago World's Fair.

The Detroit now lies off Squaw Island where she was sunk and her whereabouts are known to but few. She has been no hindrance to navigation and probably for that reason has not been touched. As soon as the boat is put on dry land she will be overhauled and put in presentable condition.

The Detroit was captained by Capt. Barclay, and was built solely for war. She was pierced for 18 guns and measured 305 tons. When completed her captain said she was one of the best boats on the lakes.

The Detroit was pitted against the strongest of Capt. Perry's ships—the Lawrence—on Sept. 12, 1812, and only went down after four hours of awful fighting. It was on that day that Perry's name became famous. Every commanding officer of the Detroit and their seconds were either killed or wounded so severely as to be unable to keep the deck. The Detroit had guns of four different calibers.

WHERE IS LIVESEY?

He is Wanted to Testify at the Harrisburg Legislative Inquiry.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—Sergeant-at Arms Hutchinson of the State Senate was in the city looking for William Livesey, the missing ex-cashier of the State Treasury, who is wanted in Harrisburg to testify in the Legislative investigation into the affairs of the Auditor-General's and State Treasurer's office.

Sergeant Hutchinson called upon Mrs. Livesey, the wife of the missing man, but was unable to learn anything concerning his whereabouts.

Curious Discovery of Smuggled Opium.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—An important seizure of contraband opium was made yesterday on the coasting steamer Lakme, which had just arrived in port from Seattle. The discovery of the cantraband article was made in a curious way. The customs officers had searched the vessel without finding anything out of the ordinary, when one of the officers was much struck with a picture which hung upon the wall of the cabin. He thought he would take it. He removed it from the wall and was greatly surprised to find a large cavity in the wall from which he extracted 172 boxes of the choicest Chinese opium.

Attempted Train Wrecking.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 21.—An attempt was made to wreck the McKeesport and Belle Vernon passenger train on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad between McMahan and Charleroi Monday night. As the train was rounding a curve the engineer noticed an obstruction on the track, but stopped before reaching it. Half a dozen large planks were found across the track. Had the train been running at a high rate of speed a bad accident would probably have resulted. Detectives are searching for the miscreants who placed the planks on the track.

Winston to Coach the Williams Team.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 21.—Robert Winston, who so successfully trained the Williams College football eleven last year, has arrived here and will again have charge of the team this season. Curtis, the champion walker of England and Canada, is with him and is in training for his attempt to break the one-mile amateur champion record of the world, which will occur next Saturday.

Long Drawn Out Will Suit.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Oct. 21.—The will of Eunice R. Heap is again in litigation. This is the third trial of the case. The will is contested by nephews and nieces on the ground of incapacity and undue influence alleged to have been exercised by E. McCall Cushman, a beneficiary under the will. At the first trial the will was sustained, but the Supreme Court of Errors ordered a new trial. In the second trial the jury disagreed.

Supposed Murdered Man Turns Up.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 21.—Chester Wood, a young wood-chopper. was lynched here in 1889 for the supposed murder of "Handsome Smuggler," a hunter and trapper. The latter, who is over 90 years old, has just reappeared. He was greatly overcome when he heard of Wood's fate. The sweetheart of Wood went mad when he was lynched and his father starved to death.

Blaskovits is a Cheat.

BUDAPESTH, Oct. 21.—Blaskovits is the greatest owner of race horses in Hungary. A great sensation has been caused by the statement that he has made vast sums of money by fraudulent betting. Suspicion had been excited by the fact that Blaskovits invariably won. It now appears that the jockey was in collusion with the owner to swindle the public.

AVENGED HER HONOR

A Faithless Lover Shot By a Wronged Girl.

VOWED SHE WOULD KILL HIM.

Tragic Fate of Walter Foster at the Hands of Carrie Bowers.

Waylaid in Front of His Home—His Refusal to Marry Her Led the Young Woman to Commit the Crime—She Had Brought Suit Against Him, but the Case Was Dismissed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Carrie Bowers, a pretty blonde of 18, living with her parents in Greenpoint, shot and mortally wounded Walter Foster, aged 20, last night. The shooting was the result of the young man's refusing to right the wrong he had committed.

The young couple became acquainted about six months ago. A month ago she secured a warrant for his arrest, claiming he had refused to marry her. The case was dismissed, owing to the preponderance of evidence produced by the defendant.

The two met on leaving the court, when the girl told the young man she would yet vindicate her honor.

A week ago she met him on the street and pleaded for him to marry her. He refused. Since then she has been growing despondent.

About 5 o'clock last evening she left her home. She knew Foster, who was employed as a clerk in Sone & Fleming's oil refinery, returned home at about 6 o'clock.

She proceeded as far as Colyer street, where she waited for him. Foster finally came along. He had reached within a few doors of his home when a young woman came walking rapidly toward him. Her features were hidden behind a shawl drawn about her head.

As she neared him she threw aside her shawl and disclosed the features of Carrie Bowers. She drew a revolver from beneath the folds of the shawl, pointed it at Foster's heart and pulled the trigger.

The first shot grazed the young man's shoulder. A second one struck him in the right breast, just above the nipple. He wheeled about and started on a run toward Lorimer street. The girl fired a third shot at him, but failed.

The young man continued through Lorimer street to Meserole avenue, then to Manhattan avenue. Here he met Policeman Clark of the Seventh precinct, to whom he gasped that he had been shot by a woman.

The officer at once summoned Ambulance Surgeon Gifford. The wounded man was removed to the Eastern District Hospital. Dr. Blaisdell, the house physician, gave it as his opinion that the lung had been penetrated and the young man could not possibly live.

Foster gave a clear statement of the shooting and fully identified the young woman as his assailant.

Directly after the shooting the girl walked hurriedly away from the scene toward Franklin street thence to Greenpoint avenue. The police arrested the father of the girl and sent out a general alarm for her.

Later she was captured and taken to the station house.

She was very calm and admitted the shooting. She was locked up and then broke down, weeping bitterly. She stated positively that Foster alone was responsible for her condition.

At a late hour last night Foster made an ante-mortem statement, and afterward sank into a comatose condition.

Run on a Bank.

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 21.—A run began on the Yonkers Savings Bank yesterday, caused, it was stated, by a rumor that the institution was to go into bankruptcy. At the close of business nearly 2,000 depositors had drawn out their money, amounting to $200,000. The officers of the bank say the concern is perfectly solvent and will promptly pay all demands.

Football Accidents.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—R. H. Miller, class of '93, had his skull fractured yesterday while playing football at Cambridge. His injuries are not fatal. Simons, '95, another of Harvard's players, had his leg broken during the play. These are the first serious accidents that have occurred at Harvard this year.

Elopers Held for Trial.

Amherst Admission Prize.

AMHERST, Mass., Oct. 21.—Wm. J. Boardman, of the class of '95, whose home in in Barnet Vt., has been awarded the Porter Admission Prize of $50 offered for the best entrance examination to Amherst College. R. H. Mainzer of New York city stood second.

BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS.

Could Not Catch His Wife and Her Paramour, So He Killed Himself.

PLYMOUTH, Pa., Oct. 21.—Jacob Masterman, an aged and wealthy farmer of Fairmount Township, 16 miles from here, who had been a widower for nearly 20 years, became infatuated with Ida Dimmick, a pretty 19-year-old servant girl on an adjoining farm. He courted the girl and made her numerous presents, but she refused to marry him owing to the disparity of nearly 50 years in their ages. Last December she succumbed to the pressure brought upon her by relatives and married the old man.

Masterman withdrew from active work on the farm for the purpose of enjoying the society of his wife. A short time ago he hired William Belas as a field hand. Belas was a good looking young man. Within a week after Belas was employed Masterman charged his wife with being too familiar with his employe.

On Friday morning Masterman awoke to find that his wife was not by his side, that his best carriage and team were missing and that Belas was absent from his accustomed work. Seven hundred dollars were abstracted from a drawer.

Masterman started in search of the elopers, and at Hemlock Creek found that they had purchased tickets for Philadelphia. He returned to his farm, where he sat moodily Saturday and Sunday. Monday one of the farm hands heard a pistol shot, and discovered Masterman dead with a bullet wound in his forehead.

TWO WERE KILLED.

A New Jersey Powder Mill Blows Up With Fatal Result.

FARMINGDALE, N. J., Oct. 21.—One of the mills of the Columbia Powder Manufacturing Company, located about three miles from here, blew up at noon yesterday. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Granden L. Van Note and George Woolley, who were in the mill at the time were instantly killed by the explosion.

There were about 700 pounds of powder in the mill at the time. The detonation was heard for miles over the country and all the buildings in the neighborhood were shaken to their foundations.

Jersey Farmers to Organize.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President L. L. Polk, of the National Farmers' Alliance, has issued an official announcement to the effect that a sufficient number of county alliances has been formed in the State of New Jersey to warrant the formation of a State Alliance. He therefore calls a meeting for the purpose of forming that organization to be held at New Brunswick, N. J., November 12.

Bardsley Will Not Testify.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—Ex-City Treasurer John Bardsley was interviewed in the penitentiary, and declared that no power on earth could unseal his lips. He says he never said anything on which the rumor that he was going to testify before the Senate could be based.

—The New York Tribune said: "The season of German Opera closed yesterday with a brilliant performance of Siegfried, the house being filled to its utmost capacity. The performance was very satisfactory, with the same cast as before except the part of Pfaffner, which was taken by Emil Senger, and most ably sustained. His voice rang out beautiful and strong through every part of the great house, and was, despite the difficulties of the score, perfectly true in intonation." Mr. Senger will sing in the grand concert at Music Hall, to-morrow evening. A few reserved seats are still for sale at 50 and 75 cents, at the pharmacy corner of Front street and Park avenue.

A Newsboy's Awful Death.

A fourteen-year-old newsboy named Hegele, who lived on Third street, near the railway station, at Elizabethport, was horribly killed at 6 o'clock last evening. He attempted to jump on a horse car, but slipped and fell under the wheels. Half of his head was cut off.

No Borough for Westfield.

The electors of Westfield who reside within the limits of the proposed borough district voted yesterday on the question of borough government. The total vote was 381. The borough project was defeated by 93 majority.

HYMENEAL.

McNally—Quinn.

A notable wedding—the most brilliant that ever took place in the sacred edifice—was celebrated in St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon at 4:30.

The contracting parties were all of Plainfield. The bride was Mary J., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quinn. The groom was John McNally. The Rev. P. E. Smyth officiated.

The bride's costume was a handsome one of white silk, with court train, veil, and orange blossoms. She carried an ivory-covered prayer-book, gold bound. Her ornaments were pearls and diamonds.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Garrity of New York, whose costumes were of cream-white silk. They carried bouquets of chrysanthemums.

The "best man" was Frank McNally, of Jersey City, brother of the groom.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given away by her father. She was preceded in the bridal procession by the groom and his brother and bridesmaids.

The wedding march was beautifully played by the organist of St. Mary's.

After the marriage a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. The guests were numerous, and the gifts were very handsome. The father's gift was a deed for an acre of land at Grant avenue.

The happy couple went to Philadelphia this morning, on their wedding trip.

NOTES FROM THE POND WORKS.

Tonti Funds Alleged to Have Gone, and Other Money Lost in a Wild-Cat Scheme.

Again the boys have been bitten, and this time by their financial secretary, who got away with $200. The man was formerly employed in these shops, but left some time ago to take the position of organizer of lodges for an Ohio concern. He was also financial secretary for the Order of Tonti, and left some weeks ago taking with him two assessments amounting to the sum named above. The first the lodge knew of the matter here, was when they received a notice of suspension for non-payment of assessments. I hope the boys are now through with wild-cat concerns.

A good joke on Justice Nash is being told. Last Friday he took some 11 Englishmen to Elizabeth to get their naturalization papers for them, and now five of the above say they will vote the Democratic ticket. That's right "jedge", help us out.

The shops are lively. Three large Government lathes are on the floor and in course of erection, all at the same time.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Cornelius Bristol is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lowry.

Miss Leonie A. Martin, of 135 Park avenue, has returned from Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks, where she has been for the past year.

Thomas N. Soper, father of Fred. Soper of Arlington avenue, died at Chicopee Falls, Mass., in the sixtieth year of his age, Monday. Funeral services will be held in this city to-morrow afternoon.

Deputy-sheriff G. W. Peterson, of New York city, was a guest, to-day of W. F. Trust, of Plainfield. Mr. Peterson was impressed by the people he came in contact with, and seriously contemplates investing in Plainfield property.

Good Streams From the Hydrants.

Big steamer No. 2 and the Water Supply company had a water throwing contest last evening. The hydrant at the corner of North avenue and Richmond street was used. The steamer had a pressure as high as 180, and used a hose with a 1¼-inch nozzle. From the other side of the hydrant a stream was directed through a 1¼-inch nozzle. The hydrant stream was of course considerably greater in volume than that of the engine, but even then the engine threw only 20 feet farther. This demonstrates the practical utility of the water company's hydrants in case of fire.

End of the VanZandt Will Contest.

The proposed contest over the will of the late Thaddeus Avery VanZandt is at an end. The matter came up before the orphans court at Elizabeth this morning, and after the examination of the witnesses to the will the will was offered for probate without protest on the part of the contestants. The decree therefore stands admitting it to probate, and its provision will be carried out without litigation.

Threw Herself from a Monument.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 21.—The mangled remains of a young woman were found at the base of the Washington monument on Mt. Vernon place in the afternoon. She had thrown herself from the top of the shaft which towered 155 feet above her dead body. The woman had evidently meditated suicide. The remains, were recognized as those of Miss Alice Hecht of this city.

THE JOB MALE WILL CASE.

The Dead Man's Sister-in-Law Describes the Scene in the Dying Man's Room.

Testimony in the matter of the application for the probate of the alleged nuncupative will of Job Male, of Plainfield, was taken in this city, Monday, by Herbert W. Knight, Master in Chancery. The history of the case has already been published at length. After Mr. Male's death a will was produced by Craig A. Marsh, in which his property was disposed of just about as Plainfield people had always supposed it would be. It was alleged that after Mr. Male had instructed the lawyer how to make the will he became unable to sign it. The lawyer, it was held, took the dying man's hand, and, placing the pen in it, signed his name. Mr. Male nodding his assent to the action taken. When the will was produced for probate it was promptly contested by the dead ex-Mayor's relatives.

Mr. Knight, Monday, took the evidence of Sarah Stout, a very old lady, the sister-in-law of Job Male. The witness is 85 years of age and so rheumatic that the evidence had to be taken at her home, 18 Crescent avenue. She testified that she lived with Job Male six years before his death and was in the room at the time he attempted to make a will. She heard him give instructions to Mr. Marsh how to draw the document. She was about six feet away from Mr. Male, and heard all that he said. When questioned as to particulars the old lady became very confused and said she could not remember. Mr. Male had told her, she said, that he would be so thankful to live a few moments longer, and she supposed he meant till he had completed the will. They were alone in the room at that time.

"I am sure"—witness said—"that he told me this before Mr. Marsh was writing up the will, for then he was very cool—cold, his face was." Afterwards witness admitted she was not sure whether Mr. Marsh had arrived or not when the remark was made. The old lady could not say whether she was interested in the will or not, but said that Job had told her that she should have the house he lived in then as long as she lived, and at her death Job Male, jr., nephew of the deceased, should have it. He told her that on his death-bed. The witness also said that she remembered hearing Marsh ask him whether that was his will, and Male replied "Yes".

A large number of lawyers were present, among them being Joseph D. Bedle and Craig A. Marsh for the proponents of the will; Theodore Runyon on behalf of Robert A. Male; R. V. Lindabury for Charles H. Male, and Charles A. Reed for Sarah A. Delaney.

The importance of the testimony of this witness is due to the fact that the disputants of the will are striving to show that the contents of the will were dictated by Job Male, jr., who is largely benefited by it, and not by the dead man

In the Interest of Negro Education.

There will be a public meeting in the interest of negro education as represented by the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, at Tuskegee, Ala., in the Crescent Avenue church Tuesday evening of next week, at 8 o'clock.

A quartette of students will sing negro songs peculiar to the "Black belt of the South".

Two of the students will speak; one will tell how he is getting his education and at the same time learning the printer's trade, and the other will tell how he is succeeding in learning blacksmithing while studying. Remarks will also be made by Booker T. Washington, principal of the Tuskegee school, and others.

Mrs. Rarick's Narrow Escape.

Just as the Flemington express arrived at Plainfield, last evening, a large stone came crashing through one of the car windows. A Mrs. Rarick sat in the seat opposite, and the stone just grazed her face. Shattered glass was strewn all over and about her. Another woman near her, also barely escaped injury. It is not known who threw the stone or whether it was thrown maliciously. In all probability it was the act of some thoughtless person.

Mrs. Rarick stood the shock bravely, and, unlike most women, was not at all excited when interviewed by a PRESS reporter a few minutes after the occurrence

FANWOOD'S FLAMES.

Plainfield's Fire Chief Summoned to the Rescue.

At about 7 o'clock last evening flames were discovered in the residence of Charles Richardson at Fanwood.

The fire department being in session at the club building, it was quickly on the ground. On its arrival, and while hunting for a hydrant to which the hose might be attached, a bucket brigade headed by Baron Ewing was organized for the purpose of protecting the next residence, that of Wm. Pentz.

It being obvious that Mr. Richardson's house could not be saved, attention was directed to that of Mr. Pentz, as it was known that should he burn out, with the strong westerly wind blowing, nothing could save Clarence Smith's or E. L. Kieb's properties. The entire building of Mr. Richardson was consumed, and but for the active and effective work of "The Baron", assisted by Messrs. Frank Quereau, Harry Robinson, Judge George Bates, Mr. Lawrence and "Charley" from the Homestead, the Pentzes would also have been homeless.

Water was passed in any available vessel from the kitchen faucet to a man at the window of the dining room, who passed it to the man on the outside. The water being dashed against the building, extinguished the flames and saved it. Chief Doane was summoned by wire, and, appearing on the scene, said that all was being done that was possible, considering the scarcity of water, and added that the workers should be congratulated in saving the adjoining property. Mrs. John Simpson hospitably entertained three of the foremost workers at the fire, and she has their thanks for virtually saving their healths, if not lives; for, being thoroughly drenched, pneumonia would undoubtedly have been the result but for her ministrations.

David P. Hall arrived at the fire after all danger was over, belted and piped, much to the amusement of the younger generation. Frank Anderson was also conspicuous, astride of the ridge pole on Mr. Pentz's house, ready to extinguish any sparks that might alight. Chief Doane was heartily thanked for his prompt appearance, and was assured that in the event of Plainfield requiring extra assistance, it would be furnished from Fanwood.

Mr. Richardson and family, having lost their all, were invited by the gentlemen present to accept the accommodations of their homes, and they accepted that of Mr. Kieb, where they are now temporarily located.

The fire companies from Scotch Plains hurried to the burning dwelling and did all in their power to save it from total destruction.

In emergencies there is always a hero. At this fire there were three, and too much cannot be said in their praise. Frank Quereau, station agent Seymour, and Charles Richardson, worked like Trojans. The latter gentleman, seeing his own home in ruins, turned to save that of his neighbor.

The men had the garments on their backs ruined, and their flesh terribly blistered by the awful heat. Any community may feel justly proud of such self-sacrificing men, and Fanwood is made up of that class.

The extent of Mr. Richardson's loss, and amount of insurance, have not as yet been determined.

The reflection of the flames was seen in this city, and an alarm was sent in from Box 15, but a recall was immediately sounded, as the fire was far beyond the city limits. One of the hose cars, however, was permitted to go to Fanwood's assistance.

BAPTISTS' BIG CONVENTION.

In Spite of the Storm, the Worthy People Have a Time of Much Pleasure and Profit.

The Baptists were of course not exactly elated over the deluge of rain that fell, yesterday, but nevertheless they were not dismayed, and the convention of the East New Jersey Baptist Sunday-school Association held in the First Baptist church was in every particular a glowing success.

The devotional services of the morning were in charge of L. H. Biglow, jr., of this city. After singing and prayer Rufus K. Case, assistant superintendent of the First Baptist school, made a happy speech, welcoming the delegates in a most cordial manner. He spoke in touching words of the tender ties which bound them together as co-laborers in the Master's vineyard, and urged all to more efficiency in winning souls to Christ. He spoke of the political conventions, which nominated candidates; but we—he said—have no candidates to nominate—but Jesus Christ is Our King, to whom we owe allegience. The political conventions—he concluded—have platforms of human frailty; but we have a grand platform, with a thousand planks, strong enough to bear up all mankind.

George Vaughn, president of the convention, responded in a most able manner, and reviewed the work of the past year and the opportunities that had been lost never to return. He spoke of the great responsibilities resting on the teachers. They must lead gently and earnestly the ones in their charge, to the Master's feet; must depend more on the Heavenly Father for guidance and strength.

After the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds", the regular order of business was taken up. The reading of letters from the different schools was first on the programme. Reports were received from 27 schools, showing a most promising and healthy growth, both as to numbers and in a spiritual sense.

"Bringing in the Sheaves" was sung, and the Rev. Dr. Luther of Newark, delivered an address on "Conversions in the Sunday-school", which was very helpful. He gave a number of practical suggestions as to how conversions were to be accomplished, after which the subject was discussed by several present.

The appointment of committees resulted in the following selections:

On Place of Next Meeting—C. Hann, Westfield; T. S. Smith, South Church, Newark; the Rev. W. A. Bronson, Perth Amboy.

On Finance—C. W. McCutchen, Plainfield; J. C. Blackford, Newark.

On Enrollment—Fred. Speer, South Church, Newark; Albert Closson, Plainfield.

On Nominations—Rufus K. Case, Plainfield; G. W. Lawrence, Newark; H. R. Goodchild, Roselle.

On Resolutions—The Rev. R. M. Luther, D. D., the Rev. M. Rollinson.

On Digest of Letters—A. K. DeLemos, Newark; S. D. Turton, Newark; J. M. Hough, Jersey City.

A very excellent dinner filled in the recess, and in the afternoon the several committees reported.

The nominating committee suggested these re-elections, which were unanimously adopted:

President—Geo. Vaughn.
Vice-president—L. H. Biglow, jr.
Secretary—S. D. Thurton.

The committee on finance reported that the sum of $29 50 had been contributed by 24 schools, for the convention. Five schools had not contributed. From them $11 was due. For the various departments of the year's work $16,860.14 had been subscribed.

The enrollment committee reported that the delegates numbered about 50.

The digest of letters gave the following statistics:

Total number of schools in association, 38; total represented, 28; total number of teachers and officers, 604; total number of scholars, 5,165; total number of church members, 1,655; total number of scholars baptized last year, 147; average attendance of teachers and officers, 444; average attendance of scholars, 3,228.

The report of Plainfield's First Baptist Sunday-school was as follows:

Total number of scholars, 500; number of superintendents, 3; main superintendent, C. W. McCutchen; superintendent primary department, with 100 scholars, L. H. Biglow; assistant superintendent, Rufus K. Case; scholars baptized last year, 60; amount contributed each year for convention expenses, $11; teachers in school, 57; percentage of Sunday-school scholars members of church, ¾.

Stelton was chosen as the place of the next meeting.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are most heartily due to the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church of Plainfield—and especially to the ladies of the church and school—for the generous entertainment of the delegates and friends in attendance upon this meeting of the Convention. Since the present is pre-eminently the missionary age of the church,

Resolved, That we earnestly advise each school connected with this union to put into practice at once some method of regular contributions by the school to missions at home and abroad. We advise schools where it is possible to appoint one of their number a Missionary Secretary whose duty it shall be occasionally to correspond with missionaries on the field and thus awaken sympathy and establish communication with those who are carrying out the Lord's last command.

By these means until our scholars be prepared to take their places as the supporters of missionary work many of them will be led to inquire as to their personal duty in regard to missionary work at home and abroad.

Resolved, That the dreadful ravages of strong drink, resulting in desolated homes, broken hearts, and ruined souls, demand of us that we use every proper method of counteracting the effects of intemperance.

Among these methods we recommend that frequently the teaching of Scripture on this subject be brought to the notice of the scholars, and that as frequently as may be deemed advisable a portion of the review Sunday be devoted to Bible temperance instruction.

Resolved, That we record our grateful thanks to God for the number of scholars brought to Christ during the past year (so far as reported 147). We bless God for their conversion and we most heartily recommend to our schools one Lord's day session as a day of special prayer for the conversion of these scholars who are yet out of Christ.

We would recommend for this day the first Lord's day in December.

The Rev. H. R. Goodchild gave a very interesting address on the "Use of the Blackboard", and discussion of the subject followed.

The Rev. Asa Reed Dilts of this city treated the subject of "The Teacher and Her Class". He spoke of the teacher being adapted to the scholars—first, as a friend, as which she must interest herself in the peculiar circumstances of her scholars in every phase of life, learn what they are interested in, and study their life; second, as a leader, as which she must get the scholars interested in themselves and acquainted with each other—have an object; for instance, a certain class are supporting a boy in school in India; another class of girls raised $125 towards the church debt; thus the scholars get into each others' hearts. The teacher's example must be the best. She must refrain from all questionable amusement. Third, she must adapt herself as a saviour. There is one great Saviour, and she must participate in His work as a saviour of her class. When new scholars come into the class, she must find out their spiritual condition, and feed them as they need. She must pray earnestly and unceasingly for the aid of the Spirit.

Under the head of discussion of the subject several delegates took part, among them a number of ladies. The discussion proved to be very profitable to all present.

In the evening a service of song was conducted by L. H. Biglow, jr., and this was followed by prayer by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes.

The first address of the evening was given by the Rev. B. D. Hahn, of Newark, on the "Progress of the Sunday-school". It was very interesting and helpful, the speaker showing that he was master of his subject. He showed how the Sunday-school was making rapid strides towards improvement and held it up as the grandest school in the world as an educational institution.

"Enthusiasm in Our Work" was the subject assigned to the Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd, of Newark. Serious defects—he said—were apparent in every phase of the work; there are spots on the sun, and spots in Sunday-school work. Enthusiasm means "God in us", a possession and mastery of that in us. "'I must work the works of Him while it is day; the night cometh when no man can work.' Apart from Christ we can do nothing. If we receive life from Christ we receive also work. Life is the root of works. Christ told the Apostles to tarry at Jerusalem, and they were filled with the Holy Ghost, and ready for service. Whoever is touched by this fire becomes an irresistible force, and a very mouth of the Holy Spirit. The supreme end of the Sunday-school is the conversion of the soul and a feeder to it. And it is for the conversion of the children. What was needed in each heart was an indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit. In our closets with God alone is the place to get enthusiasm. God help us to rely only on Him for our enthusiasm."

The Rev. Dr. Lewis led in prayer, and the hymn "Work for the Night is Coming" was sung.

Dr. Yerkes closed the convention with the benediction, and thus ended one of the most helpful gatherings the First church has ever had. Too much cannot be said in praise of the ladies who, in charge of Miss Florence Marsh, provided so efficiently for the delegates.

Information for Plainfield Travelers.

F. G. Barry, one of the brainiest and most indefatigable workers in the newspaper field, has developed a new and admirable scheme, in connection with his summer resort publications, which be calls The Travelers' Bureaus of the New Series. Offices will be opened immediately at Herkimer, N. Y., Richfield Springs, Saratoga Springs, The Thousand Islands and St. Augustine. The business of the bureaus will be to furnish, absolutely free of charge, detailed and accurate information concerning any summer or winter resort, any hotel, or any steamship or railway line in America. There is a great demand, every summer and winter, for just such information as these bureaus intend to furnish. It will be the purpose of Mr. Barry's bureaus to increase travel for pleasure by disseminating trustworthy information pertaining to the best resorts of the country and the best routes of reaching them. The service is to be entirely free to the public, and there are doubtless many Plainfielders who will gladly avail themselves of the valuable privilege. It is proposed to send the pamphlet of any high-class hotel, and similar literature, to anyone who writes for it, to any post-office in the world, without charge. This service is one that the traveling and pleasure-loving public has been waiting for—one that will be eagerly patronized. Those interested have but to drop a line to Mr. Barry at his Herkimer office, and he will explain all particulars. He has carefully planned every detail, until the system is a most perfect one. When you next plan a business or vacation trip, or an extended pleasure tour, consult his bureaus about it, and you will receive assistance for which you will be very grateful.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

THE HONOR LEGION ENTERTAIN.

Grand Officers Visit Plainfield, and the Evening is Delightfully Spent.

Ivanhoe Council, 1074, American Legion of Honor, met last evening, with a large membership present, and entertained the following grand officers of the State: Grand Commander Tildon, Deputy Grand Commander Raheff, Grand Secretary Clinton, and Grand Treasurer Dummer.

Rousing addresses were made. Each of the visitors was enthusiastic over the advancement the order had made in the last few years. It was shown by statistical report that it was one of the most solid fraternal insurance orders in the United States, having a membership of 65,000, and not one dollar of debt. It had a reserve fund of over $500,000, and had paid to widows and orphans over $18,000,000. This year it had paid a dividend to all members who have been in the order for 5 years. So satisfactory were these reports that the speakers were repeatedly interrupted with applause from the members of the order.

Music and recitations were given in the course of the evening. Robert Gorton appeared as soloist, and Arthur Titsworth as organist. Mr. Gorton sang "Anchored," by Watson. The piece was beautifully rendered, and received a hearty response. Then the order's old-time friend and companion Carney gave his side-splitting Dutch conversation with Mother Liberty, and Old Jersey at her back.

At the close of the "good and welfare" part of the programme, and with the last stroke of the gavel, the entire company retired to the supper room, where a fine collation was served by the popular caterer, Stephenson, of North avenue. Adjournment was had at 11, each smoking the pipe of peace and good-will, and allowing the foreign friends time to catch the 11:30 train for home. All were heartily satisfied that the evening had been profitably spent.

OLD ENGLISH FOLK MUSIC.

Mr. Potter Favors a Cultured Plainfield Audience With Some of the Most Ancient Compositions.

The recital lecture of Frank Hunter Potter, at the Casino, Monday afternoon, was a delightful rendering of well-chosen specimens of English, Irish, and Scotch Folk Songs of various periods, combined with a lecture describing the origin and development of English popular music, from the time of the Norman Conquest down to the end of the last century.

The mastery of the whole subject, which Mr. Potter undoubtedly holds, enables him to convey abundant information to his hearers concerning the history of Folk Music. To this qualification he adds the skill of a musician, and with his sweet and powerful voice greatly enhances the attractiveness of his somewhat novel subject.

Mr. Potter sang a number of typical ballads, in illustration of various points in his lecture, and is much to be congratulated on his exceptional ability to make use of this happy method. He sang the earliest English Folk Song extant, "Summer is Icumen In", which claims the date of 1250, and several others of later origin, selected from the most characteristic and famous of ancient popular ballads of the English, Irish, and Scotch peoples; pointed out their peculiarities, musical and literary; and showed wherein they corresponded with the history, and expressed the temperament, of those who composed and sang them.

It is difficult to describe in print the elements which contribute to make this so profitable and pleasurable an entertainment. The merry old English Folk Songs are very different, when we listen to them as sung by a voice highly cultivated and of great natural sweetness, from anything we imagine when we listlessly read over the words of such quaint old specimens of composition as "Barbara Allen", "Chevy Chace", "The Hunt is Up", or even "Oh! Willow, Willow, Willow!" of the Shakespearean epoch.

A Favor Beyond Price.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS—Will you kindly allow me space in which to announce that no amount of money, tendered at the door on Saturday night, can gain for the tenderer admittance to the Bicycle club-house.

The club would like to open its doors to its fifteen thousand friends, but that is manifestly impossible. It will be compelled to take them on the installment plan, and the first installment can obtain cards of admission by making early application to individual members.

THE PATRIARCH.

Musin the Incomparable.

M. Musin received an ovation at every appearance. He is a masterful performer, more brilliant and vigorous than Sarasate. His execution is perfect. He gave as his opening number "Variations on Haydn's Theme", which brought forth a storm of applause. The "Moise Prayer and Bravoura Variations", produced on a single string, was an exquisite rendering that was also enthusiastically recognized.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mr. Musin will play at the concert to be given in Music Hall, to-morrow evening. A few reserved seats are still for sale at 50 and 75 cents, at the pharmacy corner of Front street and Park avenue.

"Come to my arms", he said. "Can't", says she, "I've rheumatis". "Get Salvation Oil". She went immediately and bought a bottle. 25 cents.

Many a home has been robbed of sunshine and happiness by the loss of some dear child, when Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup would have saved it.

THAT CLEVER ENGLISH SWINDLER.

When in Plainfield He Was from Oxford, and When in Oxford He Was from Plainfield.

A young fellow of very plausible address came to Plainfield last March and told a pitiful tale about taking a theatrical company to New South Wales or Africa or some such place, stranding there, and trying to make his way home without money. He claimed to be a brother of Walter Besant, the English novelist, and he managed to fleece a number of citizens out of small sums of money.

Later his rascalities were exposed in this country, and he went to England. A few days ago an Associated Press dispatch stating that a man claiming to belong to Plainfield, N. J., and giving his name as Balkwell, was arrested for swindling. The sequel proves that this man Balkwell is the same shrewd scoundrel who posed here as Alfred Herbert Besant. The story of his schemes possesses a peculiar interest. He came to grief in London, and from there the following summary of his swindles is sent:

The William Balkwell who was arrested in England last week for obtaining ten shillings under false pretences, is the clever swindler who victimized professional and literary people in several parts of the United States, under the alias of Alfred Herbert Besant, a reputed nephew of Mrs. Annie Besant. On March 24 last "Besant" appeared in New Brunswick and other New Jersey towns, and told a pitiful story. He victimized several Rutgers College students, and had a purse made up for him by the members of the English organization, the Sons of St. George, of New Brunswick. He drifted to Princeton, where, as a graduate of Oxford University, he impressed many professors, who aided him because he appeared to be what he said. The swindler spoke familiarly of Oliver Wendell Holmes, whom he said he had met at Oxford, and had the names of all the leading authors at his tongue's end. Princeton students entertained him for twenty-four hours. "Besant" next appeared in Philadelphia, were a collection was taken up for him by theatrical people. He boasted there of being well known by friends of George W. Childs, and this furnished a passport to the affections of the liberal people of Philadelphia. He went to Baltimore next. There he became a relative of Walter Besant, the English novelist. In another part of Maryland he passed as a cousin of Sir William Gordon Cumming, of baccarat fame. In New York he became a nephew of Sir Morell McKenzie, and swindled several people, some of them well known.

"On the Trail; Or Dan'l Boone", To-night.

Messrs. Peck & Fursman's large company that appears in "On the Trail, or Dan'l Boone", at Music Hall to-night, arrived this morning, and with them came their special car, containing trick horses, scenery and properties.

It is not at all surprising the great success this company has met with, considering the thorough manner in which this play is staged. Everything necessary for the proper presentation of the piece is carried, even to the old-fashioned chairs and spinning-wheel. The present company is said to be the best that ever appeared in the piece, which is, this season, virtually a new one.

The Challenge brass band and orchestra, of which so much has been said, is an especial feature with this company. The band numbers fifteen men—each man a picked musician—and will give a grand solo concert in front of the hall to-night, at seven o'clock. The orchestra has a special operatic programme, arranged for this evening, closing with the "Star Spangled Banner".

"Recalled Her Again and Again."

And of Annie Louise Tanner, the phenomenal nightingale, who has received the praise of so many thousands! Her personal charms have lost none of their brilliancy, or her sparkling voice none of its sweetness. She held her audience spell-bound as her soft notes filled the hall with tones of inspiring beauty. Her audience liked her, and recalled her again and again.—Baltimore Sun.

Miss Tanner will sing in the concert to be given at Music Hall, to-morrow evening. A few reserved seats are still for sale at 50 and 75 cents, at the pharmacy corner of Front street and Park avenue.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

—The Charity Circle of King's Daughters will hold a cake and candy sale in the Crescent Avenue church parlors to-morrow.

All the druggists sell the Tudor Whiskey. Some of the other dealers do not. They say it pays too small a profit. PURE whiskey never does yield a large profit. It is the adulterated stuff which makes the money. Do you want to pay your dealer an exorbitant profit on an adulterated article, or do you prefer genuine old Whiskey which is sold at a moderate profit? Decide for yourselves. The TUDOR WHISKEY IS WARRANTED ABSOLUTELY PURE AND TEN YEARS OLD.

The Musical Event of the Season.

The above assembly of eminent solo artists has been engaged by the Managers of Music Hall to appear in a grand concert on the evening of THURSDAY, OCT. 22.

OVIDE MUSIN, THE Violinist.

ANNIE LOUISE TANNER, The AMERICAN NIGHTINGALE, Possessing the most Phenomenal Range of any Soprano now before the American Public.

INEZ PARMATER, The EMINENT MEZZO SOPRANO.

ROGER DUPUY, The Great FRENCH TENOR, from the Grand Opera of Paris. (1st Season in America.)

EMIL SENGER, BASSO. For Two Seasons with German Opera Co. at the Metropolitan Opera House, N. Y. City.

EDUARD SCHARF, A SUPERIOR SOLO PIANIST. Receiver of the GREAT MOSCHELES PRIZE at the Leipzig Conservatory of Music.

Such an array of talent has never been brought together on one programme in this city, and may never again. Yet in spite of the cost of these artists, the whole house will be sold at 75 and 50 cents for reserved seats. Seats now on sale at the Central Pharmacy, Front St. and Park Ave.

THE WAY TO WALK.

A Few Words About Heel and Toe Pedestrians.

Fair Striding Compared with Some Unfair Methods of Getting Over the Ground—Good Judges of the Game Scarce.

There is no branch of athletics in which eminence is so difficult to attain as in the heel-and-toe walking. A man, to excel at this game, says the New York Recorder, must be remarkably strong in legs, loins, back and lungs, and he must be as game as the traditional pebble. He must practice long and steadily to master a style suited to his physique, and even when that is accomplished his gain in speed is remarkably slow. A natural sprint runner will, with practice, get to the limit of his speed in one season under advantageous circumstances, while under the same conditions a walker's speed increases by a very small ratio. This is due to many causes chiefly, however, to the lack of encouragement a tyro gets. If in a race he is momentarily carried away by excitement and breaks or skips, the enterprising judge of walking yells: "One caution?" rattles the youngster and with the result that the latter is disqualified. In the meanwhile the old campaigner, with his eyes on the judge, deliberately breaks into a trot and overtakes the leaders. The deliberate "runner" uses his knowledge of how to skip and when and secures a prize; the youthful but honest "ped" is rattled by the judges and loses a trophy.

A FAIR STRIDE.

What is needed, both in this country and in England, is a judge of walking who knows a fair stride from an unfair one, and who can attend all meetings and officiate in all races. He should be paid, as the official handicapper is, and should be responsible to the A. A. U. Such a man would do more to promote interest in the game than all the valuable prizes ever offered. Such a man would, I know, be hard to get. There are very few I can now call to mind who are capable of filling the position, and fewer still who would accept it. Tom McEwan would fill the bill, but he would not take it, and the only man available is Sam Austin. Sam knows what walking is, and I believe he would act in the capacity I suggest.

AN UNFAIR STRIDE—GOING WITH BENT KNEES.

I have often been amused by the comments of alleged critics during walking competitions. Men who have attended athletic games for years, and men who have competed in field sports, display surprising ignorance of what is a fair style of going. I have heard loud praises for men who were going with knees bent, in a style suggestive of hurdle racing, and I have seen fair walkers laughed at by the wiseacres.

The true method of walking fair as well as fast cannot be told in type. The novice must learn by watching experienced men. Only by example can the style be acquired. The accompanying cuts, however, give good representations of various gaits. No. 1 shows a man walking fairly. It will be seen that the right heel is on the ground at the same time as the toes of the left foot. The knees are straightened out and there is, an almost imperceptible sinking of the left hip. This is due to the hip acting as a pivot from which the leg swings. It is a true stride. No.

A CLIMBER.

2 shows a pedestrian also with his heel and toes on the ground, but with his knees bent. This is unfair and the alleged walker could top small hurdles. This was the gait adopted by Billy O'Keefe when at top speed. No. 3 shows a stilty walker, one who has little or no hip movement, but who walks from the knees alone. It is almost impossible for a man to move fast and fairly who has this style. No. 4 portrays a "climber." Such a walker can cover the ground at a remarkable pace, but, as he is in the air half the time, he seldom goes far before the judge gives him permission to retire.

CURIOUS PHENOMENON.

How Lightning Bleached a Strip Upon a Stone Monument.

During one of the recent storms that raged through the country a remarkable freak was played by electricity. The lightning struck a tall monument of granite and, following the shaft to the second base, or plinth, decolorized a portion of the stone in a stripe about three-quarters of an inch in width.

The monument stands upon an eminence in Woodward Hill cemetery, Lancaster, Pa., and is one of the most striking features of that beautiful spot. Formed of Barry granite, it rose to the majestic height of forty-five feet. The shaft, a single stone of granite, is thirty feet in length, and is probably the largest single-stone shaft in the state. The total weight of the monument is sixty tons, and the shaft alone weighs twenty tons.

It was erected upon a plot of ground belonging to the Grubb family and on the polished die is the inscription. The cap is ornamented with a graceful monogram of the family. The lightning struck the arras, or angle, within a foot of the pyramidal top and then passed down the monument in a zigzag line, bleaching the stone as it went, till it reached the plinth, or second base, where it stopped and all vestige of it ceased. The decolorized stripe is about three-quarters of an inch in width and is extremely regular from end to end. In passing through the cap it deviated slightly from its course and passed the monogram very closely, but leaving it uninjured.

The most peculiar part of this electrical freak is that the stone is perfectly sound, and no sign of crack or burn exists anywhere upon its surface. Though the black mica distributed through the rock is entirely bleached, there is no sign of fusion having taken place, and the quartz and feldspar (the other ingredients of the granite) are in their natural condition.

First Woman Physician in Alabama.

Mrs. Halle T. Dillon, M. D. (colored), daughter of Bishop B. T. Tanner, is not only the first colored woman physician, but the first woman of any race to pass the Alabama state medical examination. It was a written examination and an unusually severe one, occupying ten days. Dr. Dillon, after passing with a high average, now occupies the position of resident physician at the Tuskegee institute.

Idle Wealth.

It is estimated that the treasure lying idle in India in the shape of hoards of ornaments amounts to £250,000,000. A competent authority calculates that "in Amrista City alone there are jewels to the value of £2,000,000."

-S A Y:-

HAVE you seen the Bannockburn Flannels? Nice they are; just the thing for Children's wear, and for Ladies' House Wrappers. Price 12½c.—Special attention is called to our stock of Comfortables. We handle nothing but White Cotton filled Quilts, and have them made in town, and are made of the best quality.—'Tis the general verdict of all who have seen our display of Fall and Winter Jackets, that our styles are the newest, that our garments are better made, and that our prices are the lowest.—We have many improvements in our House-Furnishing Goods Department, and you will find many articles that will interest you. We have the largest assortment, and sell at a closer figure than all others.—There are a few more of those Decorated English Porcelain Toilet Sets left at $2 40 each, and if you want Hall, Parlor and Hanging Lamps, we are rock bottom on them.—Gentlemen, we have received another case of those 48c night shirts. Look at them.—Another good thing that we won't have long is, 100 genuine Hand-made Turkish Rugs, that cost to import, $9 each—our price $3.75.—How about Underwear? We have every thing for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children, in White, Red and Natural Wool, in all qualities and sizes, and our prices are way below the lowest.—We commence this week another sale of Granite Ironwear, at about half the regular price.

HOPKINS WILL CASE

The Great Suit Once More in Progress at Salem.

SEARLES AGAIN ON THE STAND

He Didn't Want People to Think He Was Bought for a Husband.

His Reasons for Objecting to the Marriage Settlement—When He Stated That He Never Did Business on Sunday Even Tim Hopkins Smiled—Value of Mrs. Hopkins' Property—Standing Room Only at the Trial.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 22.—Standing room was at premium in the Probate Court yesterday, the occasion being the resumption of the Hopkins-Searles will contest. Edward F. Searles was called to the stand, and Mr. Burley after calling attention to numerous transfers of personal property from Mrs. Searles to Stillman and subsequently to Searles, began a rigid cross-examination.

Searles, in reply to a question as to the time of the marriage agreement, stated it was in October, 1888.

Searles was unable to tell why Timothy Hopkins was not informed of the marriage day, as the matter was left entirely with Mrs. Hopkins.

Witness testified he did not suggest to Mrs. Hopkins that it would be well to notify Timothy.

So far as the marriage settlement was concerned the proposition came from Mrs. Hopkins, it being her wish, before she married witness, that he have an equal share in the estate.

Mrs. Hopkins made the proposition about ten days prior to the marriage. Witness was at Great Barrington at the time. When witness said he objected to a marriage settlement, she asked witness if he would release her from the contract at any time she wished, and he told her he would.

The marriage settlement was executed through the agency of Mr. Stillman.

Witness did not remember whether Mrs. Hopkins asked Timothy to give her a schedule of the property in California.

Mr. Searles said he frequently signed documents without reading the contents, he trusting entirely to the information submitted verbally by his counsel.

Witness said he had no knowledge of the marriage settlement contract, but he had reason to believe that his wife knew all of the provisions named.

He was certain the contract was in his favor, as he had nothing to give her.

So far as witness knew, Stillman and Hubbard never submitted a written statement of the account of the copartnership, all information regarding the property being submitted verbally. Never knew of Mrs. Searles keeping a diary except during the wedding tour.

Mr. Burley called for those diaries and the Court ruled them admissible. Mr. Burley next produced the will of Edward F. Searles, of July 16, 1888, leaving all his property to his wife, the terms being the same as in her will to him.

Witness had recollection of but one codicil to his wife's will between the time of her marriage and death.

In regard to the business affairs of the estate, they were suggested by his wife and the transactions executed by Stillman.

Just previous to the marriage of Mrs. Hopkins to witness she suggested that Mr. Stillman visit California to investigate her affairs.

At this stage of the hearing a letter written by Mr. Stillman was read, giving reasons for not recording the deeds of land in Mr. Searles' name, also the reasons why the marriage settlement contract should not be recorded, as it would prompt too much gossip.

The letter also explained in detail Stillman's dealings with Cyrus W. Field, in relation to the Washington building, costing over $2,000,000 and the "Mail and Express," and concluded with the statement that Searles' income would amount to $600,000.

Mr. Stillman reported both to Mrs. Searles and to witness that the California property was in good condition, thus allaying any fears that witness and his wife entertained.

Witness was at Mr. Stillman's house on a Sunday evening to return a social call.

Burley—You didn't go to see him on business?

Searles—I don't go to see people on business Sunday—never did and never will.

Mr. Searles' reply caused a ripple of laughter throughout the court room. Even Timothy Hopkins' fact brightened into a broad smile.

Mr. Burley asked the witness at the afternoon session if he was aware that Stillman & Hubbard had a voice in the kind of securities they could withdraw, and he replied that he only knew that they could draw that amount. Witness said that when he signed the supplemental agreement he understood that the Great Barrington property was exempt from the copartnership assets, and was put in his name to protect it in case of accident.

A will of Edward F. Searles, dated November 22, 1887, was introduced. It left the income of a sum sufficient to yield $10,000 a year for the support of his mother and the residue to his wife.

The letters from Stillman and Hibbard to Mr. and Mrs. Searles were offered and occupied the remainder of the afternoon. Most of them were of no particular interest. The first dated February 11, 1882, from Mr. Stillman when in California, estimated Mrs. Searles' property, exclusive of the Great Barrington estate at $50,000,000. Referring to her desire to give Tim Sherwood Hall and money enough to run it, he says it will require the income of $500,000 yearly. Tim had honestly endeavored to do his best for her, and any mistakes had been due to youth.

On November 18, 1887, he wrote that he had drawn a new will for Mrs. Searles, which had been rendered necessary by a changed condition of affairs. On April 1, 1888, Stillman wrote that the property was of more value than he first thought. He had to get rid of her interest in the "Mail and Express," and they ought to thank Providence that it raised up men with more money than brains to relieve them of their bad investments.

THE GRADY MONUMENT.

Unveiled in the Presence of Thousands—Gov. Hill the Orator.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—The ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Grady monument attracted an immense crowd of strangers to the city yesterday.

The city bore a holiday attire and business was to a large extent suspended. One of the principal features of the unveiling ceremonies was the procession which formed on Mitchell and Washington streets and moved to the statue.

Gov. Hill and the other guests, with the members of the Moument Committee, took seats on the stand. Gov. Hill was greeted with loud applause by the crowd which had assembled about the monument and which filled Marietta street in both directions.

It was shortly after noon when the Mexican Band, having rendered a selection, President Northen called the assemblage to order. Miss Gussie Grady, the only daughter of Henry Grady, then stepped forward and drew the cord which held the canvas in place about the figure on the monument. The cloth slipped from the statue, leaving the bronze figure revealed.

The monument was designed by Alexander Doyle and is of heroic size. It represents Mr. Grady with uncovered head standing in an easy attitude with the left foot somewhat advanced.

The general pose is that of an orator engaged in delivering a speech, the left arm hanging by the side and the right crossing the breast and clasping between the forefinger and the thumb the lapel of a full frock coat.

On the right and left of the statue are allegorical figures of Memory and History, and the figures surmount a great stone pedestal, the polished sides of which bear inscriptions.

The oration of Governor Hill was a masterpiece, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the assembled thousands.

Last evening a banquet was given to Governor Hill by the Young Men's Democratic League. The Governor responded to the toast "Democracy."

THE TRAIN JUMPED THE TRACK.

Fatal Accident on the B. & O.—Two Men Killed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The east bound limited express from Chicago jumped the track a few miles west of Sir John's Run, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, yesterday afternoon.

The engine, after leaving the track, turned over, and Engineer Ruckles and Fireman Richards were killed. Postal Clerks Lippincott, Craig and Lavey were injured, but the passengers in the two coaches and sleeper, which, besides the postal and baggage car, made up the train, were only slightly shaken up.

The train was running 40 miles an hour when it was derailed. The accident was caused by the breaking of one of the rear driving wheels of the engine.

Four Killed By a Misplaced Switch.

GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 22.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy fast passenger train, ran into an open switch near Galesburg, Ill., shortly before midnight Tuesday, killing Mrs. George Allen, Somond, Ill.; F. L. Johnson, Avon, Ill.; George Courtney, the traveling engineer of Galesburg, Ill., and A. A. Emerson, engineer, of Galesburg, Ill. It is thought the switch was opened with the intention of wrecking the train.

Yale Will Not Be Represented.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—The President of the Yale Navy has been informed by the Commodore of the Cornell Navy, that Cornell, Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania, have decided to form an intercollegiate rowing association, which will hold its annual regatta somewhere on the Hudson, and asking Yale to send representatives to a meeting of colleges interested, to be held in New York on Saturday next. It is n t believed that Yale will be represented, as the matter is looked upon as a ruse of Cornell to bring about a race with Yale.

The Duschel Murder.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The arrest of George Duschel, husband of the woman who was found murdered Sunday afternoon, is regarded by officials here as an important step towards the detection of the murderer. Blood stains have been found on Duschel's shirt sleeves, and they will be submitted to experts for analysis. The impression grows that Robinson is the victim of a conspiracy to fasten the crime upon him.

Claim it is a Conspiracy.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 22.—William Jones, one of the leading officials of Marshall County, has been arrested at Moundsville, charged with making an indecent assault upon a bride of three weeks. Jones is a leading church member and active politician. Jones' friends deny the charge and claim that it is the result of a conspiracy.

THAT FAIRY STORY

Editor Carter Comes Up to Annihilate It.

SAM AND EVA ON NETTLES.

They Are Visibly Agitated When Confronted by Their Nemesis.

Mr. Carter Couldn't Stand the Whitewashing Given Thornton and Miss Jewell by the Mount Olivet Church, and He is Going to Vindicate Himself—He Has an Affidavit from the Car Conductor Who Saw the Pair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—W. R. Carter, of the Jacksonville, Fla., "Metropolis," arrived in this city yesterday on the steamship Algonquin.

When Samuel N. Thornton and Eva Jewell, of Brooklyn, arrived in Jacksonville and told the thrilling story of their big drift and subsequent rescue and landing upon Florida shores, Mr. Carter was sent to interview them. Mr. Carter announced that Sam and Eva were romancing, and brought proof to show that he traveled with them in a railroad car from Pensacola to Milton, a little, way station between Pensacola and Jacksonville.

Sam and Eva vigorously denied Mr. Carter's story. They said that it was a case of mistaken identity. When they arrived at their Brooklyn home the deacons of Mount Olivet Church, to which they belong, sent an emissary to Jacksonville to investigate Mr. Carter's story. It resulted in the vindication of Sam and Eva.

Mr. Carter now comes to prove to Sam and Eva's fellow church members that his story is true.

"When I called at the St. John's Hotel," said Mr. Carter yesterday, "and sent up my card, Thornton was not in. Eva stepped out into the parlor to see me. The moment I saw her I recognized her. In fact the recognition was mutual. She uttered an exclamation, became ashy white, and, with a gasp, fell into a chair. For a moment she could not speak. She simply held her hands over her face.

"This is a remarkable story you and Mr. Thornton tell," I said: "You are the same woman that came with me from Pensacola to Milton.

"Eva became indignant, and refused to say a word. She then left me hurriedly. I then looked up Thornton and identified him at once. His manner, too, indicated that he recognized me.

"After the couple arrived home a gentleman from their church came down to investigate their story. We gave him all the information we had. I personally told him how impossible was their story. I obtained for him a sworn affidavit from the car conductor, who also identified Sam and Eva as the same who had traveled in his car, and he left convinced, we thought, that Sam and Eva were lying. To my surprise when he returned he cast doubt upon my story, and had the church vindicate the man and woman. This placed me in an embarrassing position. I was tryed to come here to expose the whitewashed vindication. I propose to do so."

Mr. Carter is a guest at the Hotel Marlborough. He will communicate to-day with the authorites of Sam and Eva's church.

Libbie Sunderland's Father in Jail.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 22.—William Sunderland, father of Libbie Sunderland, the girl abducted by Wilson, the Female Baseball manager, who has just been sentenced to five years' imprisonment for the crime, though living separate from his wife, has on several occasions created a disturbance at her house. Two nights ago he visited the place for the purpose of talking over Libbie's case, and the result was a family fracas, in which the furniture was broken and Sunderland was arrested. Yesterday he was sentenced by Justice Downs to three months' imprisonment in the Albany penitentiary.

Governor Jones Is Reticent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Lieutenant Governor Jones, who is at the Park Avenue Hotel, said yesterday that he would, according to the constitution of the State, assume the duties of Governor while Governor Hill was absent in Georgia. He declined to say what his specific intentions were. Governor Hill is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow.

Anxiety for Two Schooners.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 22.—The schooners Percy and City Point, which sailed on codfishing voyage August 25, have not been heard from since and it is thought they have been lost with all hands. The Percy carried a crew of 12 men and the City Point one of 14.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Cassius Morey, an ex-newspaper reporter, who for the past year has been suffering from a mild form of insanity, shot Annie M. Ward and then himself last night. Neither is seriously wounded.

THE SENATE INQUISITION.

Treasurer Boyer and Deputy Superintendent Stewart Give Testimony.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 22.—State Treasurer Boyer was subjected to a rigid examination yesterday afternoon, and largely on his connection with the drawing of the Philadelphia school warrants for $420,000 and the delivery of his check for that amount to John Bardsley, who used $200,000 of it in paying an old debt to the school district of Philadelphia, but still owed it $445,000, all of which was lost. William Livesey, his chief clerk, whose whereabouts is at present unknown, was the first to suggest to him the payment of the money in order to prevent it from going into the Sinking Fund.

In pursuance of a conference between them, he said, Livesey visited the Department of Public Instruction and asked for the necessary warrants. Anything done by Livesey, he declared, was within the scope of his authority and he (the witness) was responsible for it. He deferred greatly to his chief clerk, who had much experience in the office. In view of this fact he intimated that he was left in ignorance of $150,000 paid to John Bardsley on December 31, 1890, in addition to the drawing of warrants of $420,000 for the same party. He was also much annoyed about that time by the failure of the Jamison bankers and Delamater & Co., involving a loss to the State of $125,000.

Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Stewart testified that the State Treasurer made personal application for the Bardsley warrants, and H. Hollowell, secretary of the Public School Board, testified that he had prepared the certificates on which the warrants were issued at the instance of Bardsley.

The State Treasurer, by advice of his counsel, claimed that the money paid to Bardsley was for the year 1890, and not for the year ended on the first Monday in June, 1891, as contended by the Attorney-General, and that, consequently, the Philadelphia school district was entitled to over $400,000.

RUNCOED OUT OF $8,000.

A Bank Director Who is Considerably Sadder and Wiser.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 22.—It has just leaked out that George Fitts, a farmer at McLean, and a stockholder in the Second National Bank of Cortland, was bunced out of $8,000. It had been known for weeks that he had been victimized by sharpers representing themselves to be nephews of the late Judge Boardman of Ithaca.

Mr. Fitts is very reticent and refuses to discuss the matter. How the bunco men got the money is not known.

The sharpers went to Groton, hired a horse and wagon, drove to Dewyter, where they left the horse and took the cars for Little Falls. They sent back $20 to the livery-stable keeper, telling him where the horse was.

A nephew of Mr. Fitts said last evening that the amount lost by his uncle was $8,000, and it was secured by giving him an interest in a bogus land deal.

Post Office Department Finances.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—The annual report of the Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department showing the receipts and expenditures of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, has been submitted to the Postmaster-General. It shows that the postal revenues during the year were $65,931,785. The expenditures to September 30, 1891, were $71,662,463, leaving an excess of expenditures over all revenues of $5,730,677.

Candidate Sherwood Is Ineligible.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Attorney-General Tabor has rendered an opinion on the question of eligibility of Franklin D. Sherwood, Republican candidate for Senator in the 27th District. He holds that Mr. Sherwood, being Park Commissioner of Hornellsville and duly qualified as such, is ineligible according to Section 3, Article 8, of the Constitution. Ex-Judge Danforth, of the Court of Appeals of Rochester, recently wrote an opinion to the contrary.

The Carriers Played the Races.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—It has been found, upon inquiry by the Postoffice Department, that the Philadelphia letter carriers, who were removed recently by Postmaster Field, were in the habit of "playing the races" at Gloucester, a sporting resort. They were recommended for removal by Gen. Edgarton, Inspector in charge at Philadelphia, as persons liable to be untrustworthy for the honest delivery and collection of valuable mail.

Backer's Schedule Filed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The schedule in the assignment of Abraham Backer, the note broker, was filed yesterday. The liabilities are $1,628,946. The nominal assets are $1,841,707, and the actual assets applicable to unsecured debts are $414,769. The liabilities as stated may be further increased by $1,019,180 of contingent liabilities.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

Henry Q. Stanley and Thomas Reilly, the Glenwood postoffice robbers, will be tried at Pittsburg.

H. C. Wintermeyer and John Longenecker, were arrested at Hatrisburg charged with counterfeiting. Wintermeyer admits his guilt.

The next meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society, of the West Pennsylvania Synod, will be held at Chambersburg.

Dr. Banks, a prominent physician and politician, was arrested in Wilkesbarre yesterday and held in $5,000 bail, charged with committing a criminal operation upon Nellie Bellas, who died on Monday.

The Pennsylvania Catholic Total Abstinence Union at Williamsport elected J. P. Considine, of Williamsport, president; James Grant, of Shenandoah, general vice-president, and W. M. Burke, of Shenandoah, secretary.

A SURPRISED WIFE

Mrs. Yorke Astounded When Told She Was Divorced.

THE HUSBAND AGAIN MARRIED.

How Capt. Yorke, Ex-Assistant U. S. Navy Paymaster, Got Rid of His Wife.

The Complaint Published in an Obscure Dakota Paper—It Alleges Unfaithfulness, Which Charge Is Indignantly Denied by Mrs. Yorke—The Captain Married the Widow of a Russian Count—The Divorce to be Contested.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Oct. 22.—The report that a divorce had been granted by the Dakota courts to Captain Lewis A. Yorke created intense surprise here, where Mrs. Yorke has a handsome summer cottage and is well known. She was the most astonished person of all, for she was not aware that her husband was seeking a divorce.

About a week ago Captain Yorke, who for 30 years has been Assistant Paymaster of the United States Navy, was married at Bismarck, N. D., to Evelyn, Countess Deszchlinska, of Russia. The Countess had lived for several months at Dawson, N. D., and met Captain Yorke at Bismarck by appointment.

The Fargo divorce records show that a decree of separation was granted to Captain Yorke on September 16. The papers prove that an affidavit was made that Mrs. Emma Yorke could not be found in this country.

The summons was published in an obscure weekly paper in Fargo. The complaint charges her with improper intimacy with E. Despinville Picot.

The charges made by the ex-Paymaster that his wife was intimate with E. Despinville Picot Mrs. Yorke characterizes as false and slanderous. Mr. Picot has for years been a friend of Mrs. Yorke's family, who are well-known in Pennsylvania and have a beautiful country seat at Bryan Mawr.

Mrs. Yorke avers that the charges made by her husband that she had been in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Florida with Picot are cruelly and maliciously false. She has employed George Northrop, a prominent Philadelphia lawyer, who has known her since childhood, to begin proceedings against the ex-Paymaster to have his alleged divorce declared fraudulent.

Mrs. Yorke declares that the alleged new wife of Capt. Yorke is not the widow of a Russian count, as she claims, but is still the legal wife of a subordinate officer in the United States Army. Mrs. Yorke says that she has met the alleged countess and knows all about her.

The friends of Mrs. Yorke's family say that her husband's conduct caused the separation of the couple two years ago. After the separation the Captain went West and secured the divorce, which is claimed to be bogus.

Mrs. Yorke's family say that when the suit being now instituted by her comes into court her good character will be proven beyond question, and both Captain Yorke's so-called divorce and second marriage will be shown to be illegal.

Hymeneal: Washburn-Hedges.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The marriage of General Ira M. Hedges' daughter, Margaret Knapp Hedges, at the Central Presbyterian Church, last night, to Mort F. Washburn, of Stony Point, was the most brilliant wedding ever held in Rockland County. Two thousand invitations were issued, and prominent guests from all over the State were present. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock, Rev. Dr. A. S. Freeman and Rev. J. B. Faulks officiating.

Claimed Bolton is No Bigamist.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 22.—It is reported that William C. Bolton, who married Miss Lillian V. C. Shuler of Newark, N. J., four weeks ago, while at the same time he has a wife living here, was divorced from Mrs. Bolton in Dakota. It is said he went there in February and acquired a legal residence by remaining six months. Mrs. Bolton, however, awaits his return to prosecute him for bigamy. She denies that he has a legal divorce.

Rate Cutting Must Be Stopped.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Executive Committee of the Trunk Lines Association met yesterday to consider Western bound freight rates. Charges were also made at the meeting that some of the lines were cutting rates. It was decided to maintain the present tariff, and a resolution was passed to the effect that if any of the lines connected with the association are cutting rates it must cease at once.

Marble Firms to Consolidate.

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 22.—The two great marble concerns of this place, the Vermont Marble Company and the Sheldon Marble Company, are to be consolidated in the near future. The Vermont Marble Company, of which Secretary Proctor is the head, will take the management of all the quarries. The new arrangement will put all but a few small companies in the State under one management.

American Shipping League.

BATH, Me., Oct. 22.—The North Atlantic branch of the American Shipping League met last night and organized by electing Hon. F. H. Twitchell, President, and a long list of well-known public men and others vice-presidents. Hon. Nelson Dingley delivered an address and ringing letters were read from Senators Frye and Hale and ex-Senator Chandler.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

The Monmouth County grand jury have indicted Samuel B. McIntyre, proprietor of the Hotel Tremont at Asbury Park for selling liquors in his drug store under the hotel.

ORIGINAL. No. 35.

Apple Koker.

BY MRS. D. A. LINCOLN,

Author Boston Cook Book.

Mix well 1½ tea sp. salt and 2 level tea sp. Cleveland's baking powder with two cups sifted flour. Rub in ¼ cup cold butter. Beat 1 egg light, add ¾ cup milk, and stir it into the flour. Use more milk if needed to make the dough soft enough to spread half an inch thick on a shallow baking pan. Quarter, pare and core four large sour apples, and divide each quarter lengthwise. Lay them in parallel rows on top of the dough, core edge down, and press them into the dough slightly. Sprinkle a table sp. sugar over the apple, but do not let it touch the pan. Bake in a hot oven 20 min. Turn it out, apple side up, on a platter, and serve with Lemon Sauce: Mix well three heaping tea sp. corn starch with one cup of sugar, in a granite sauce pan. Add 2 cups boiling water, stir well, and cook 10 min. Add the grated rind and juice of 1 lemon and 1 table sp. butter. If the sauce be too thick to pour easily add more boiling water.—(Copyright, 1891, by Cleveland Baking Powder Co.)

Follow the receipt. It calls for Cleveland's baking powder, the best leavener.

Well worth while to remember that there is no ammonia, no alum, no adulteration in Cleveland's Baking Powder, and not to forget that everything used in it is printed on every label.

THE MISSING LAWYER.

Monaghan's Whereabouts Still a Mystery—The Insurance on His Life.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 22.—There is still no clue to the whereabouts of Lawyer R. Jones Monaghan, who left his home here several weeks ago for New York, where he mysteriously disappeared.

No claim has been made upon the insurance companies by his family for the insurance on his life, and probably none will be, unless positive proof of Monaghan's death is found. The family can not receive the $22,000 insurance on his life for seven years unless his death is proven before that.

The law of Pennsylvania provides that when a man whose life is insured disappears, no claim for the insurance money can be made for seven years, and that during that time the premiums on the policy must be kept up. If, however, proof of the man's death is found, then the premiums so paid are returned with the principal.

No reason can be assigned for Monaghan's disappearance, but that he at one time contemplated leaving this State is shown by the fact that in May, 1893, he wrote the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, stating that his health was failing; that he was offered a position with a mining company at Tucson, Arizona, and with the consent of the company, he would accept it. Monaghan's idea at the time was that his removal would affect his life insurance.

Contract Labor Law Violated.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Jacob Dick was arrested yesterday charged with violating the contract labor law in importing musicians to this country. It was alleged that the musicians brought over by Dick are all minors, and that the contract for their services are made with their parents in Germany. Dick organizes them into bands and leases their services. He claims that the young men are "artists" and therefore not amenable to the law.

Thinks $25,000 Will Heal the Injury.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 22.—Miss Margaret Hoffman has brought suit against Harry Barnhart for $25,000 for breach of promise of marriage. She is 23 years of age; met Barnhart at Braddock in 1889; was engaged to be married to him in November, 1890, but he has refused to keep his promise.

This Rarely Happens.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Justin M. Pierce, of Homer, who died yesterday was 94 years old. She was married 70 years ago, and during that time she and her husband have never been parted even by a single day's absence. Mrs. Pierce was widely known throughout the county for her charitable deeds.

—The Music Hall association, last evening, attached Peck & Fursman's share of the receipts in the box office to satisfy a claim of $100 for rent of the hall in 1889 when the firm rented it but did not appear. Secretary Marsh of the association was sent for by Mr. Peck, and he agreed to accept $100 in settlement.

—The Rev. Mr. Arthur Cushing Dill caused the arrest last Friday of eight or ten young men of Stirling for painting his horse red-white-and-blue, some months ago, as told exclusively in THE PRESS at the time. It is said that a detective disguised as a clergyman secured the evidence under which the arrests were made.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Ex-Councilman B. O. Bowers and Mrs. Bowers, ex-Councilman William Thompson and wife and Miss Thompson, are noted by the New York papers as present at the wedding of Miss Maud Prendergast and William Methven Leslie, at the bride's home, Clinton street, Brooklyn, Wednesday evening.

Grand Fruit From the Bouchelle Orchards.

There was sent to this sanctum to-day some specimens of that magnificent apple known as the "Priest", from the orchards of William T. Bouchelle, near Greenwich, Conn. The grand rose colored fruit averaged from 12 to 16 ounces each, and was of the most delicious flavor.

The entire bench of the appellate court concur in the decision that handsomer or more luscious fruit never reached Plainfield, and unite in wishing the grower many golden returns from his valuable groves.

Mr. Bouchelle is private secretary to C. F. Cutler, president of the Metropolitan Telephone and Telegraph company, New York city.

The New Singing Class a Success from the Start.

A very satisfactory meeting of the new singing school was held in the Unitarian rooms last evening. Many members joined, so that now there are only seven vacancies. The first lesson will be given Friday evening, Oct 30. All applications for membership must be made before that time, either to T. E. Hazell, instructor of the class, or to F. G. Wieland at 8 First place.

The class is open to both sexes, and a reception room for escorts will be provided, adjoining the class room. Books and papers will be provided in the reception room.

HYMENEAL.

Bullman—Meyer.

Yesterday afternoon, at the home of the groom, 4 Third place, this city, took place the wedding of Miss Louise Meyer of San Francisco, and Charles Bullman, B. A., C. E. The Rev. Asa Reed Dilts performed the ceremony according to the Episcopal ritual, while the couple stood in the recess of a bay window, under a floral bell and surrounded by palms. Daylight was shut out and candles shed a soft and impressive radiance over the scene.

The bride was dressed in a traveling gown of gray cloth. A little page in velvet attended her. He was Master Kempton Lesher of Buffalo, a cousin of the groom. The Rev. George Pease, the bride's brother-in-law, gave her away. Because of the near approach of another daughter's wedding, the bride's mother was unable to be present. Miss Meyer was chaperoned by Mrs. Ferrer of San Francisco, whose nephew was the member from Central America in the Pan-American congress. Mr. Bullman's professional engagements would not permit his leaving New York, so the bride took the journey to this city from San Francisco with friends who were on their way to Europe.

Apart from the immediate relatives of both parties, there was no one present except President Lewis and director A. K. Johnson of the S. S. White M'f'g company of Philadelphia, whose consulting engineer Mr. Bullman has been for some years. Among those who sent congratulations was Sir Henry A. Herbert of Muckross, the owner of the lakes of Killarney, in county Kerry, Ireland. He is one of Mr. Bullman's closest friends and consults him in many of his enterprises.

The numerous presents received were displayed in the library. Among them were many specimens of the latest costly creations of the Tiffany and Gorham companies. A wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bullman departed to take the 2:15 p. m., train for Washington and the South. They will be at home in this city, Thursday, November 5.

Mr. Bullman has been almost all his life a resident of Plainfield. He passed through the public schools here, and was subsequently graduated from the Columbia college, School of Mines, New York. He is to-day probably the equal of any of his profession as a mining expert. It was while on his way to South America some time ago, to locate platinum mines for the S. S. White company that he met Miss Meyer.

Edgar—Potter.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C Potter, at Mt. Pleasant, at 7 o'clock this evening, will take place the wedding of Miss Sara Kate Potter to Harry T. Edgar of New York city.

The wedding is to be a very pretty one. The bride, whose many charming qualities are known to a host of former schoolmates and friends in this city, cannot but present a loveliness of appearance that will make radiant with beauty the entire bridal picture. Her costume is a notably handsome one of white faille, en train, with tulle veil. She will carry a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The near friends who have been permitted the gracious privilege of a glimpse at the arrangements for the prospective ceremony are enthusiastic over the grace and beauty of the bride and the perfection of her costume, the deserving popularity of the groom, and the dainty sweetness of the bridesmaid. She who is to attend the bride is Miss Florence M. Titsworth of Plainfield. Her costume is to be of yellow faille, trimmed with beaded chiffon; and she is to carry a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

The "best man" is T. Edgar Wood of New York. The ushers are Seaton MacKenzie Scott of Montreal, Canada, and Charles O. Lenz of Providence, R. I.

The officiating clergyman is the Rev. Dr. Kneeland Platt Ketcham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city. The bridal procession will enter the parlors and approach the waiting clergyman to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin", beautifully played by Miss Emma West of Haverstraw, N. Y. The bride will be given away by her father. The ceremony will be Episcopal.

The house has been tastefully decorated for the occasion, with late fall flowers, dahlias, chrysanthemums, and ferns.

The bridal party and guests will be accommodated to and from New York with a special train on the Lehigh Valley railroad, stopping at the house.

After the ceremony a reception is to be held, and supper will be served. Guests are expected from New York, Boston, Oxford, N. Y., New Haven, Conn., Haverstraw, N. Y., Montreal, Providence, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Rahway, Metuchen, Plainfield, Orange, Roselle, and Beloit, Wisconsin.

The wedding trip will be to Cincinnati, Ohio, and afterwards to Chicago and points west, until Jan. 1. After New Year's Day Mr. and Mrs. Edgar will be at home at Brooklyn.

Shirley—Rinefield.

At the Church of the Holy Cross, this evening at seven o'clock, will take place the marriage of Miss Fanny Rinefield and Henry Shirley. A reception with dancing, will follow at the home of the bride, corner of Eighth street and Plainfield avenue.

"FAIR PLAY'S" LAST WORDS.

He Talks Prose, Talks Poetry, and Announces That He Talks No More.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I am "crushed again"; utterly annihilated;

Lifeless; defunct; without any doubt,
The lamp of my being decidedly out, or feebly flickering under the fierce onslaught of Mr. Shaen, to whom I cry "Miserere!"

And of you, indulgent Mr. Editor, while I am yet in articulo mortis, and before I am quite swept away, I crave for a few "last words".

I must congratulate Mr. Shaen on the light he is gathering as to my personality. His former communication, wherein I was supposed to be the proprietor or one of the inmates, evinced a state of darkness, in toto; but his present letter shows more light, and in it he enunciates a whole truth and a half truth.

The "half truth" consists in his speaking of me as the "great unknown". Unknown, yes; but "great", no—or, at least, only so far as greatness has been thrust upon me by Mr. Shaen.

The "whole truth" lies in the fact that he says I "am not of much consequence". I could have told him that in the beginning, but had I done so, perhaps he would have punctured me as ruthlessly for disclaiming literary ability, by suggesting that I wait until someone accuse me of "being of any consequence".

He says: "If he will inform us who he is we can then give his views the consideration which they may or may not be entitled to."

Now, Mr. Editor, I would mildly suggest that this is a new "view". Does a man's name give weight to his views, or do his views give weight to his name? The letters of Junius, (a "great unknown", indeed,) contain some of the most effective specimens of invective to be found in literature. Their condensed and lucid diction, studied and epigrammatic sarcasm, dazzling metaphors, and fierce and haughty personal attacks, arrested the attention of the government and the public.

Now, are we to understand, Mr. Editor, that such letters would gain an added lustre, a greater brilliancy, a more effective invective, were they written in the present century on kindred subjects, and published over some known name—the name, let us say, of—well, for instance, Shaen?

No, I cannot agree with Mr. Shaen's "view" of this matter of the influence of the knowledge of name and personality. At least, I am not governed by it I know Mr Shaen to be a "Briton bold", an estimable gentleman, and an exceedingly handsome man; but, I am quite sure that this knowledge of his birth, his worth, and of his personal pulchritude have not influenced my "consideration of his views."

I must decline to be drawn from my incognito into "the keen, bright sunlight of publicity." My modesty forbids. I am one of those

Flowers that are born to blush unseen,
And waste their sweetness on the desert air,

and the "sweetness" that I have lavished on Mr. Shaen seems to have been not only "wasted", but to have caused my death! Unlike Junius, my concealment has not saved me In one of his letters to a public character Junius gave, as a reason for his concealment: "Though you would fight, there are others who would assassinate."

Mr. Shaen has fought, and has killed "Fair Play", (although fair play is a thing that Britons claim to love most;) and all that "Fair Play" now asks at Mr. Shaen's hands is decent interment.

Lightly they'll speak of the spirit that's gone,
And o'er his cold ashes upbraid him;
Little he'll reck if they let him sleep on
In the grave where a BRITON has laid him!

One thing more, "Fair Play" would beseech of Mr. Shaen: although, to quote further:

The carved not a line, they raised not a stone,

I would humbly crave a simple slab, and engraved thereon, Sacred to the memory of FAIR PLAY.

P. S.—Persiflage aside, Mr. Editor, I assume that since Dr. Cooley's "manly letter", the asylum controversy has become history: it is a "back number", a past issue, and "Fair Play" no longer has any raison d'etre. "LET US HAVE PEACE!"

Her Nineteenth Birthday Anniversary.

A sociable gathering was held at the home of Miss Lizzie Mattis, 16 Spooner avenue, last evening, in celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of her birth. Many young friends, as well as those of mature age, were there and united in making the event one of pleasure to all. A number of handsome presents were received and gracefully acknowledged by the fair recipient.

After singing, dancing, and games had been indulged in, the guests were served with a generous collation. After further entertainment they dispersed to their several homes, carrying with them the kindly remembrances of a genial hostess.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

The Grand Jury Through.

The grand jury came into court at Elizabeth, this afternoon, with 33 bills of indictment and one presentment. The jury was discharged with the thanks of the court.

The presentment was against the oil tanks at Elizabethport. The indictments will not be known until capiases are issued and the accused are brought before the court to plead.

We cannot excuse people for being cross when they suffer from colds. They are often too mean to buy a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which would restore their good nature.

Important! Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain, is only 25 cents.

George Newlife, a Paterson Barber, married a girl from New York city about a week ago. She has disappeared with considerable money and property belonging to her husband.

The Trenton police have arrested Daniel Ryan, suspected of having murdered on Monday his wife of one day. He was unable to give a clear idea of his movements that night, as he was intoxicated.

Ernst Nuppan of Guttenburg, treasurer of a local benevolent society, has disappeared. His accounts were short $200. His wife has turned over to the association $133, and she and her children are destitute.

The most beautiful woman in New York said that she "ascribed her good health and rosy cheeks to the occasional use of a tablespoonful of pure whiskey before meals. It increased the circulation, sent a warm glow through the system, and gave her a hearty appetite." That is the experience of all who drink pure whiskey moderately. A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old.

ILLSLEY vs. MANNION.

The Woman Says He Could Have Paid Her More Money.

The case of John Mannion, formerly a New Brunswick policeman, but now of Bound Brook, for insolvency, was opened in the Common Pleas Court at New Brunswick, Monday.

Silas D. Grimstead appeared for Mannion, who is the appellant and desires to take advantage of the insolvency act, while the firm of Woodbridge Strong & Sons appeared for Mrs. Harry Illsley formerly of Scotch Plains, who claims that Mannion did not pay all that he was able on the property that is in question, and that he has fraudulently taken advantage of the insolvency law.

The case was laid over until to-day.

Who Shall Be Guardian of the Duckworth Children?

The latest development of the legal contest over the guardianship of the three minor children of John Duckworth, deceased, records another success for Mrs. James Keating of Elizabeth, the sister of Mrs. Duckworth. It will be remembered that the first move was made by Amos Andrews, who, through his counsel, Jackson & Codington, procured Mr. Andrews appointment by the Somerset county surrogate. Mrs. Keating, by her counsel, Craig A. Marsh, took an appeal, and succeeded in reversing the surrogate and setting the appointment aside. Next Mr. Andrews counsel got an order from the chancellor requiring Mrs. Keating and others to show cause why Mr Andrews should not be appointed by the Ordinary. This rule was argued at Trenton, yesterday, and again Mrs. Keating was successful, the chancellor dismissing Mr. Andrews's rule with costs. Yesterday morning the matter came up before the Orphans' court at Elizabeth, where Mrs. Keating demanded that the case should be tried in the first instance. An effort was made to have Mrs Keating appointed guardian, which Messrs. Jackson & Codington opposed, and the court referred the matter to the surrogate to take testimony, as they requested.

$400 from the Fair, and Thanks to Outside Friends.

At the recent quarterly meeting of the Scotch Plains Public Library the librarian reported a total attendance for the quarter of 775, and the number of books drawn as 226. The treasurer reported a considerable balance on hand, and informally stated the financial result to date of the fair and bazar recently held for the benefit of the library, which he thought after payment of all bills would amount to not less than $400.

On motion it was resolved that the thanks of the trustees be extended to the board of managers of the libraries in Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield and elsewhere for the kind and cordial co-operation by means of which such a gratifying result had been attained.

If the Women Could Vote the Assemblyman Would be Governor.

Master Bertie Kyte, son of the Hon. George Kyte, gave a children's party at his home in Fanwood, yesterday afternoon. Owing to the serious illness of Miss Kyte, his aunt, the invitations were restricted. Those present included Victor Downer and Lillie Fancher, Buddy Miller and Ethel Kyte, Jimmie Moore and Madeline Robinson. A feature of the refreshments served, was a cake elaborately decorated with the little host's initials.

Master Kyte who is a perfect image of his father, is unanimously pronounced by the women of taste in Fanwood and it vicinity, to be the handsomest boy they know.

Funeral of C. O. Meeker.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Charles Osborne Meeker, youngest son of Robert A. Meeker, street commissioner, were held yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Cornelius Schenck officiated. He read appropriate passages from the Scriptures, spoke comforting words to the family, and offered heartfelt prayer.

The remains lay in a white casket, showing at full length the lifeless form, which was inwreathed in flowers and smilax from head to foot. Floral emblems were abundant and beautiful. There were a pillow bearing the word brother, a star bearing the word Charlie, an anchor from the primary department of the Trinity Reformed Sunday-school, a large bouquet of roses from F. A. Dunham, and several smaller pieces.

Interment was made in Evergreen Cemetery.

HOW A WRECK IS HANDLED.

An Eye Witness Tells All About the Clearing of the Blocked Tracks Near Bound Brook Last Evening.

Last evening about 5:15 o'clock, there occurred one of the worst wrecks just west of the Bound Brook station that has ever happened on the New Jersey Central. A heavily loaded coal train going east parted near the center and as there is a heavy grade where it occurred, when the engineer slowed up the two parts smashed together wrecking the whole train, tearing up the rails and ties and making kindling wood out of thirty of the cars. For nearly a quarter of a mile the road bed was covered knee-deep with fine coal, and at the place where the wreck occurred all three tracks were blocked—two of the New Jersey Central and one of the Philadelphia and Reading. Travel was delayed for some time, but passengers were transferred around to trains as near each side the wreck as possible. To see a wreck of the kind is one of the most interesting sights. A description of what they do in such a case and how they do it, is as follows:

When the first knowledge of a bad wreck is received, the operator at the nearest telegraph station wires at once to the train dispatcher. He in turn sends the order to the roadmaster—who has sole charge of the track—"Go there at once and repair all damage to track." The roadmaster obeys immediately to find out what is wanted. Last evening he took the engine of the express train which was stalled at Somerville, and ran as near the wreck as possible. With him there is always sent a telegraph operator and a lineman. When they reach the scene of the accident the lineman climbs a pole and cuts the telegraph wires. Then fastening to each end a piece of copper wire he brings them down to the ground and, connecting them with a small portable battery and key, he thus has a telegraph station all complete and ready for use. It frequently happens that there is no place to put the key and battery but on the ground. So Mr. Operator must lie down flat on his stomach; and in this position, with his pad and pencil before him, send and receive messages for perhaps hours. Thus in cases of all severe wrecks, direct communication is made between the scene of the accident and the general offices.

In the mean time the roadmaster has looked over the damage and knows just what is needed to make the repairs. If a great many cars are piled up, he sends for the "wreck train", as he knows it will require a derrick to lift the heavy cars and engine off the track. He also sends for as many men as he can use to advantage and what materials he needs. These orders are flashed over the wire. While waiting the arrival of help, the section men (and there are always some near) pick up all the pieces of broken cars and, if it be in the night, build huge bon-fires to light them in their work. The time passes slowly, all the while the strings of blocked trains are becoming longer on both sides of the wreck, and the passengers, some of whom leave the cars and walk to the scene, are kicking and swearing at the "uncalled for delay" as they term it. But it is just to say right here that it is not the regular full-fare passengers that do the most kicking, but it is the "commuter", that wise and pompous individual who while riding over the road year in and year out, at about one tenth part the fare any other person pays, firmly believes that the road is run for no other purpose than to accomodate him. He is the one that does the forcible kicking. He raves, he swears, (in an undertone), he walks nervously up and down the car, he calls the road all the vile and viscious names he can think of, and why? simply because once in a year, perhaps, he is kept two or three hours from a warm dinner that he knows is awaiting him.

But to return to the story of how a wreck is handled. At last help arrives. The men are put to work clearing one track. Everything is thrown down the embankment, or if it happens to be in a cut, over on the other track. The wreck-car is placed as near as possible; the derrick is hitched to the cars one by one and they are lifted up bodily and tossed out of the way. New ties are laid, the rails are spiked temporarily, and in an incredible short space of time the track is again in condition for the slow passage of trains. While the men are engaged in the work, the sight is a most bewildering one. The bright fires burn weirdly, and as they are sometimes insufficiently large, gasoline torches are used. Then each of the trainmen carry a lantern, and, taken as a whole, the sight is unlike any other. But 'tis only for a short time, and the trains are again running; the "commuter" is once more happy and the scene of so much life is but a remembrance.

Such is the story of last night's wreck near Bound Brook as told by an eye witness, and while it was fortunate no one was injured, still the body may oftentimes be hurt through the mind—or as one woman passenger put it as she came into the New York train after being transferred around the wreck—"I don't know whether I am alive or not. This is my first experience in a wreck and I hope it will be the last."

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. A PRESSURE GAUGE.

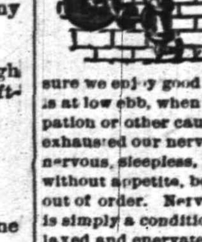
Persons Ought to Understand It.



A gauge registers the pressure. An engine requiring pressure of 160 will not work at pressure of 40. So with the human body and the nerves We live, move and work by nerve-force. When the nerve-force and power are at full pressure we enjoy good health. When this life force is at low ebb, when by over-work, strain, dissipation or other cause, we have weakened and exhausted our nerve-power, we are weak, tired, nervous, sleepless, wake mornings exhausted, without appetite, bowels not regular, kidneys out of order. Nervous debility and exhaustion is simply a condition of low nerve-force—a relaxed and enervated state. In other words, the pressure of steam—nerve force—has run low in our bodies, and it is necessary to take Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great Nerve Brain and Blood Invigorator.

To restore strength, it is the best tonic and invigorator ever discovered. Purely vegetable, harmless. Sold by all druggists, $1.

A NEW DYNAMITE GUN.

The Latest Invention of Gathmann, the Rain Producer.

Dynamite Projectiles Thrown a Distance of Six Miles—New Era in Coast Defense—Ironclads Will Stand No Show in Battle.

Louis Gathmann, the discoverer of the Chicago process of producing rain, has, according to the Chicago News, also invented a new method of throwing dynamite shells from an ordinary cannon. If Mr. Gathmann's scheme proves to be what he claims the naval battle of the future will be a very brief affair, but full of results.

The destructive agent in wars of the coming century will be dynamite, nitroglycerine and gun-cotton, unless in the meantime a more powerful explosive shall be discovered. It is a well-known fact that a shell containing two hundred pounds of dynamite will blow the biggest ironclad afloat out of the water if projected against its side or on deck. The trouble has been in discovering a means of throwing the treacherous explosive that would be effective and at the same time safe for the manipulators of the gun. Fired from an ordinary cannon the dynamite shell explodes in the barrel of the arm, carrying death and destruction in its path. The pneumatic gun, throwing a projectile filled with nitro-glycerine or dynamite by means of compressed air, has proved successful, except in the matter of range, the gun not being effective at a greater distance than one mile. This gun is intended principally for coast defenses, but a toy cannon would be just as serviceable if the limit of the pneumatic gun is one or even two miles. The great gunboats of any European country would lie four or five miles from shore and shell our coast cities and our pneumatic guns would be powerless to retaliate.

The accompanying illustration will serve to make plain Mr. Gathmann's method of throwing dynamite shells from a cannon, ordinary gunpowder being employed. The powder chamber is of much larger caliber than that through which the projectile is thrown. Back of the powder charge are two capsules or brass cylinders, containing carbonic-acid gas at a pressure of 800 pounds to the square inch. Each is fitted with two plugs, the larger end being inside. Upon firing the gun the force of the explosion drives the plugs inward, releasing the gas, which, being at a temperature of about 70 degrees below zero, absorbs the heat produced by the exploded powder, thus preventing heating of the ordnance and at the same time destroying none of the propelling force. This keeps the barrel of the gun cool, permits rapid and continuous firing and greatly prolongs the life of the ordnance.

The cut represents a longitudinal section of the gun charged with its dynamite projectile, which is marked S. The powder is indicated by P, and the globe and two capsules of carbonic-acid by the letter C.

Only a comparatively small amount of powder to the size of the chamber is used. While the force of the explosion is less severe at the instant of firing, the chamber acts as a reservoir for a prolonged supply of power. The passage leading from the powder chamber is somewhat smaller than that of the bore occupied by the projectile, which also prevents the full force of the powder being expended at once upon the base of the shell, but, on the other hand, it is more continuous and lasting. A hollow globe filled with carbonic acid gas and provided with plugs, the same as the capsules behind the powder charge, acts as a further cushion to the dynamite-laden shell and starts it with comparatively little jar. By means of this process the walls of the shell can be made much thinner, permitting the charging of the projectile with a greater mass of high explosive and yet the shell thrown with perfect safety.

Mr. Gathmann has experimented with a gun of 8½-inch bore, using the method described above, and he says the tests were entirely successful. The range was that of an ordinary cannon of that caliber, and full charges of dynamite were thrown without accident. The inventor says: "The present ship of war will be comparatively powerless against a battery of 8-inch guns of this make throwing shells containing 100 pounds of dynamite a distance of six miles. No armor plating, though of steel alloyed with nickel and thickened out to the utmost carrying capacity of a ship, could withstand a blow from a bomb of this kind exploding on the side or deck. The building of heavy-armored, expensive ships may as well be dropped. The warship of the future will be the light, speedy cruiser."

An Intelligent Pony.

Stone Mountain, Ga., has a remarkable pony. He has not only almost human intelligence, the power of knowing to the minute his feeding hour, and an ability to distinguish persons he has met before, but can run errands. His owner has a small bag, which he hangs on the pony's neck, and on being told to "bring the mail" the pony marches off with much dignity to the post office, where the genial postmaster receives the bag, and, upon depositing the mail, tells him to "take it home," which he does without a mistake.

PROF. HARRINGTON.

Meteorological Journal. He is forty-three years old, and an authority on meteorological and climatic problems. He has had considerable correspondence with the department relative to climatic matters in relation to agriculture, having prepared a bulletin on the subject, which is about to be published through the forestry division of the department. He graduated in 1868 at the university of Michigan. In 1871 he was acting as astronomical aid of the United States coast survey on the coast of Alaska. After this he returned to the university of Michigan, acting as instructor in the biological department. In 1876 Prof. Harrington went to Germany to pursue his studies, remaining in Europe about two years. It was while he was in Europe that he was offered the position of professor of astronomy and mathematics in the school of the Chinese foreign office at Pekin, and as director of the observatory there he introduced into China the first large telescope which had been seen in that country. In 1878 he accepted the professorship of biological science in the Louisiana state university. He returned to Ann Arbor in 1879, taking the position which he has held up to the present date. He has published several papers and pamphlets on scientific subjects and compiled an almanac for the Chinese government.

A JEWISH DIGNITARY.

M. Jacques H. Dreyfuss, the New Grand Rabbi of Paris.

M. Jacques H. Dreyfuss, the new grand rabbi of Paris, has no easy task before him, for he succeeds the brilliant orator, profound scholar and thorough man of the world, M. Zadoc Kahn, who was last year promoted to the higher office of grand rabbi of France. M. Dreyfuss is, however, no novice in the rabbinate. Born in Alsace forty-six years ago, he was appointed rabbi at Sedan in 1873, and seven years later he was elected grand rabbi of Belgium, an office he has held until his recent call to Paris. In Brussels he was extremely popular, and his fitness for his new office is proved by his having been selected in preference to men his seniors in age and in service, such as the grand rabbis of Bordeaux and Lyons. M. Zadoc Kahn, as grand rabbi of the Consistoire Central des Israelites de France, naturally has a more important status than his successor in the Parisian rabbinate, but in the capital itself Grand Rabbi Dreyfuss will wield greater power. The former is attached to no particular synagogue; the latter, however, has a stall at the Cathedral Synagogue in the Rue de la Victoire. It was the sermon he preached there last March that gained him the much coveted post of head of the Jewish clergy in la ville lumiere.

M. J. H. DREYFUSS.

Romance of a Shirt.

A young workingman in Dubuque, Ia., bought a colored shirt. In tearing off the tag he discovered a note therein requesting the purchaser to correspond with the maker of the shirt in a New Jersey manufacturing town. She said she was working for starvation wages, and hoped to find a home and a husband, when she would be happy. He wrote to her, was pleased with her replies, went to New Jersey and married her. Three weeks after they were united for life she received a letter from England, the home of her ancestors, containing a draft for £1,000 and a notification of the fact that she was sole heir to a fortune of over £150,000.

MUST PAY OR FIGHT

Indemnity to Be Demanded From Chili.

THE PRESIDENT'S BLOOD UP.

He Wants Reparation for the Assault on American Seamen.

THE SITUATION LOOKS SERIOUS

Capt. Schley of the Baltimore Reports the Attack Was Planned.

Boatswain's Mate Regaan Was Shot By a Policeman—American Officers Cannot Go Ashore Without Being Insulted—Bitter Feeling Between English and United States Officers—Secretary Tracy's Advice—The Matter to Be Considered at a Cabinet Meeting To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—There is likely to be an interesting international difference between the United States and Chili.

The Navy Department has received a cable report from Captain Schley of the U. S. Ship Baltimore, which gives the particulars concerning the attack made by Chilians on two boat crews of American sailors. The names of the injured Americans are Hamilton Talbot, Turnbull, Anderson, Davidson and Painter.

Capt. Schley cables that the mob was composed of Chilian sailors and that the attack was planned. It is also stated that boatswain mate Regan was shot by a policeman.

The American sailors were assaulted at various places throughout the city.

In view of the imminence of trouble Capt. Schley advises that Rear-Admiral Brown be directed to come at once to Valparaiso to aid by his presence in seeing full justice done to the victims of the cowardly, bloodthirsty ruffians who tried to murder unoffending Americans.

The report of Capt. Schley, which Secretary Tracy laid before the President yesterday, will be considered at to-day's cabinet meeting.

To Demand Indemnity.

The opinion is that Minister Egan will be instructed to demand immediate reparation and indemnity from the Chilian government.

"I mean to have no more of this business from any nation," said the President, "and the demand upon Chili must be immediate and peremptory."

There will be four of the most powerful ships of the United States Navy at Valparaiso when the demand is made, enough to enforce it if necessary, which is what the President means to do.

There is much bitter feeling against English officials in Chili on the part of American officers there, and a collision between the two is sure to occur if any more provocation is offered by Englishmen.

A Serious Aspect.

For the first time since this difference between the United States and Chili has arisen the matter really looks serious.

Capt. Schley is one of the best and most plucky officers who wears the American uniform, and he has informed Secretary Tracy that it has become impossible for American officers to go ashore without being insulted, and that hereafter they mean to go armed, and resent insults in the proper way.

"We are losing our self-respect by permitting these things," says Schley, "and the younger officers are wild with rage, and cannot be much longer restrained."

"I do not want them to be further restrained," said Secretary Tracy to one of the commodores on duty at the head of a great supply department, "and I have told Schley so. Therefore any day may bring news of a serious emeute between the Americans and the Chilian mob, instigated and secretly encouraged, it is believed here, by persons high in authority there."

Submitted to the Presbyteries.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The New York Synod yesterday decided to submit to the Presbyteries the proposition as to whether the synodical aid work shall be separated from that of the Home Mission Board and conducted by the synod alone. Final action is therefore deferred until next year. The synod decided to meet in the Fourth Presbyterian Church at Albany next year. The resolution passed in 1890 against opening the World's Fair on Sundays was reaffirmed.

The Heap Will Affirmed.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Oct. 23.—Counsel in the Eunice R. Heap will contest agreed to take the case from the jury and give it to Judge Hall to decide, who then passed a decree affirming the will and codicil. By the settlement F. McCall Cushman pays $10,000 to the Richmond heirs. Other legacies amount to about $4,400, and Cushman will receive about $15,000 after expenses are paid.

Wants the Fair Open Sundays.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 23.—At the Universalist Conference, Rev. F. A. Winkleman, of Illinois, submitted a resolution favoring the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday, on the ground that the working people would be benefited.

ASSAULTED BY A TRAMP.

A Girl Found Wounded on the Roadside By Her Father.

CHESHIRE, Conn., Oct. 23.—Susie Carver, aged 20, a handsome girl of this village, had an adventure Wednesday night which may cost her her life. She was walking from a neighbor's house to her home when she was accosted by a tramp. She started to run. The tramp seized her about the waist and threw her to the ground. She managed to escape but was caught again. This time the tramp made a vicious lunge at her with a knife, cutting a slight gash in her cheek. Her cries alarmed the tramp, and catching her with one arm, he struck her again with the knife. Miss Carver fainted. The tramp, fearing that he had killed her, ran away.

She was found later by her father. There was a fearful gash in her abdomen. Physicians were summoned and the neighbors aroused by the father. Searching parties scoured the road with fast horses, while others set off into the woods. It is thought the tramp made his escape from the town by means of a freight train, which passed through here on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad soon after the assault.

HE EMBEZZLED $190,000.

The Aged Teller of a New Orleans Bank a Defaulter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—A special dispatch from New Orleans says: Eugene F. Garcin, paying teller of the Louisiana State Bank, this city, is a defaulter for $190,000. His peculations have been going on for fifteen years.

When the bank examiner came around he simply counted the sealed packages of notes, according to the amounts ticketed thereon. Some of these bogus packages recently got into possession of local banks.

Garcin, who is a member of an old Creole family, is about 70 years old and has been connected with the bank for many years.

It is suspected that he lost the money at private games of cards. The bank is entirely solvent, and the loss is simply charged up to profit and loss. Mr. Garcin is at his home and has not yet been arrested. He says the defalcation is due to errors.

THE BICYCLE CONTEST.

The Leaders Bunched Together—Nobody's Race as Yet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Now that the bicyclists in the great race in Madison Square Garden are on the home stretch, interest in the contest is redoubled. It is still anybody's race.

Martin, Ashinger, Lamb and Schock, the four leaders, are all well past the 1,000-mile mark and will all finish closely together. Martin still leads by a few miles, but so close are the others behind him, that should he rest, but an hour more than his rivals they would approach dangerously near.

Lamb, the Englishman, seems to be the freshest man in the race, and by many is regarded as the dangerous dark horse. The race closes to-morrow night.

An Old Baseball Player Dead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Edward M Dailey, formerly Captain of the National Basball Club is dead. Dailey formerly resided in Providence, R. I., and was prominently known as a professional ball player. He began the season just closed with the Louisville Club as pitcher, but his arm failed him and he joined the Nationals as Captain and right-fielder. His health, however, was not good, and he retired from the diamond and opened a saloon, which he managed until his death.

The Boss Was an Extortioner.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 23.—Serious trouble is looked for among the Italian laborers on the water works here. Fifty of them struck Tuesday against the extortionate charges of the Italian boss for food. Twenty-seven of them were won over by the boss and desire to return to work, but the others will not allow it and threaten vengeance.

THE BIG WILL SUIT

It Goes Merrily On at Salem, Mass.

TIMMY AS A BUSINESS MAN.

The Diary of Mrs. Searles Offered and Read in Evidence.

Searles Was Worth $150,000 Before He Married Mrs. Hopkins—The European Trip Cost $100,000—Tim Was Offered More Than $5,000,000 if He Would Discontinue the Suit—Interesting Evidence in the Big Fight for Millions.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 23.—In the second day's trial in the renewal of the Hopkins-Searles will contest several letters were read by Mr. Wilson, one under date of Oct. 11, 1887, from Mrs. Hopkins to Huntington, to the effect that she must repudiate the agreement signed by Tim, as she was not aware of its purport.

Other letters followed, giving in detail other business relations existing between Mrs. Hopkins, Cyrus Field, Huntington and others.

Numerous telegrams relating to Tim's business transactions on the Pacific slope were to the effect that Lawyer T. E. Stillman was jealous of what was being done, and urging Edward F. Searles to adopt different business arrangements.

Timothy Hopkins, at that time was vested with the power of attorney to look after Mrs. Hopkins' financial interests in California, and, according to Stillman and his advisers, Tim was working against Searles and in the interest of the Pacific slope railroad kings.

Mr. Wilson read telegrams and letters from Mr. Searles to Mr. Stillman, requesting that he deposit to his account $100,000, $60,000 and various sums at various times.

One of the letters developed the fact that Searles called his residence in Methuen "Pine Lodge."

Next followed the reading of letters pertaining to the marriage of Searles to Mrs. Hopkins and the drawing of $100,000 to defray the expenses of the wedding trip to Europe

July 22, 1890, Searles notified Stillman to send Tim Hopkins $5,000, as the latter was running the estate at Menlo Park, California, at great loss, and Mrs. Searles thought he should give it up if he couldn't escape running in debt.

Mrs. Searles' diary, which the lady kept during her two trips abroad in 1887 and 1888, was then introduced and read. The first entry was dated November 8 and read: "Married at Trinity Chapel at 11." The book contained mostly personal matters and descriptions of the trip. Under date of January 17, 1888, this entry occurs: "I thought myself of secondary consideration and, expressing it, found it so. This is my experience No. 1."

William W. Dodge was called, when the reading of the diary had been completed, and said the phraseology of the will was his own and was not suggested by anyone else.

Mr. Searles was then called by Mr. Lincoln in rebuttal. He testified that when he left Herter Bros. in 1882 he was worth from $100,000 to $150,000. He had left business on account of his health. The firm had done work on the Hopkins mansion in California and as he was going West he got a letter of introduction so that he could inspect the house. He visited the place and presented the letter and was invited by Timothy Hopkins to dine with the family that evening.

The next day he went and inspected the house. He met the family subsequently several times and again dined with them.

Mr. Searles said he had known Mr. Stillman fifteen years previous to this, but had seen very little of him for a few years past. He had never, up to October, 1887, mentioned Mrs. Hopkins' affairs to him.

Continuing, Mr. Searles said he went to Great Barrington in 1883 to meet Mrs. Hopkins. He registered at the Berkshire House. Soon after a servant came and said Mrs. Hopkins expected him at the house. He told the servant he would remain where he was, but while he was at supper the servant took his luggage to her house without his knowledge. The servant was Carlyle Dennis.

Mr. Burley remarked: "That is the man who committed suicide." Mr. Searles said that Mrs. Hopkins decided to have him build a house for her. He supposed he would be paid as usual, but learned later that he was not. "I thought I would be paid in the end some way," said the witness.

Now that it is definitely known that the case will not be settled outside of the courts, all efforts at a compromise having failed, it is interesting to know that the amount offered to Timothy Hopkins to withdraw his claim upon the estate of Mrs. Searles was more than $5,000,000. The amount at stake in the contest, instead of being from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000, as has been stated, is more than $60,000,000.

Mr. Searles is determined to sustain his part of the battle with all the power that a practically unlimited amount of money and the skill it can purchase can furnish him.

On the other hand, Timothy Hopkins will do all that he can to break the will. And to this end he has received offers from numerous friends of the financial means he may need to successfully conduct the case.

AN UNWILLING BRIDEGROOM.

He Wants to be Rid of a Wife He Claims Was Forced Upon Him.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Charles Van Leuven, an Albany lad, about 18 years of age, according to his own story just made public, claims that he was forced to marry Bertha Winnie, also of Albany, last November. She is 24 years old. Van Leuven's mother, who keeps a hotel, began suit for the annulment of the marriage last July, and the referee who heard the case reports in favor of annulling it.

Van Leuven says he first met Bertha at a dancing school in this city. They often danced together, but finally she made her intentions to him so evident that the members of the class began to make fun of him. Then he tried to get rid of her, but she would not be cast aside. About the middle of last November, according to the lad's narrative, he visited Bertha's home upon her invitation, and there, under threat, he was compelled to marry her.

Miss Winnie's story is to the effect that the young man made violent love to her, and that he practically compromised her by his marked attentions. He asked her to marry him and she consented. Afterward he tried to break the engagement, but the entreaties of herself and mother prevailed and the wedding took place. Charles has seen his wife only twice since that fateful November night, almost a year ago. Bertha says the reason is that his mother keeps such a close watch upon him.

A SUIT AGAINST SPOONER.

President Sanford of the Adams Suing the Former Vice-President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Henry Sanford, the new President of the Adams Express Company, has begun a suit against Clapp Spooner of Bridgeport, late Vice-President of the Company. The summons informs Spooner that if he does not answer judgment for $696,905 will be taken by default. In that suit, Judge Patterson of the Supreme Court, has granted an attachment against Mr. Spooner's property in this State on the ground of non-residence. Mr. Sanford made the affidavit upon which the writ was issued.

He makes the same charges against Spooner that he did against John Hoey. It is charged that Spooner, Hoey and others bought an interest in the New York & Boston Despatch Company, the Kinsley Express Company, and Union Express Company on March 25, 1882, for $73,095, and sold it to the Adams for $350,000. They acquired the remaining interest in the three companies on March 12, 1888, for $80,000 and sold it to the Adams for $500,000. Mr. Sanford alleges that Spooner and his associates, in fraud of the rights of the Adams Company, appropriated $696,905 of its funds.

Connecticut's Treasuryship Fight.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—Marvin H. Sawyer filed his replication in the Superior Court yesterday in his case against E. Stevens Henry for the State Treasuryship. In it he denies the defendant's allegation that no one "has been found by the General Assembly to have been legally chosen as his (said Henry's) successor in office, and no person has been qualified to enter upon the execution of the duties of the office as his successor." The plaintiff, though, admits that he has filed no bond with Morgan G. Bulkeley. Mr. Sawyer concludes by calling E. Stevens Henry a usurper, and asks to have him ousted from the office.

The Bridge Gave Way.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 23.—A span of the bridge now in course of construction over the Potomac River at Hancock, Md., gave way in the evening and precipitated two representatives of the Groton Bridge Company of Ohio, named Smith and Stone, and a Mr. Blakeall of this city, 90 feet into the river below. The water in the river was comparatively shallow and Mr. Stone, who came down head first, was instantly killed. Mr. Smith fell on his side and received probably fatal injuries. Mr. Blakeall was lucky enough to strike the water feet first and received only severe bruises about the legs.

Gift to the Smithsonian Institute.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The board of directors of the Smithsonian Institution yesterday accepted a gift of $200,000 to the institution from Thomas C. Hodgkins of Seatauket, N. Y. Half of the amount is to be used without restriction, the income of the other half to be applied to the increase and diffusion of knowledge in regard to the properties of atmospheric air and its relation to the physical and intellectual welfare of mankind.

Will Shut Off Gas December 1.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 23.—The National Gas Company, which has for two years been furnishing this city with gas, have notified their patrons to be prepared to have gas shut off December 1. This action is because citizens insist that the company shall continue to furnish gas at the contract price of 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The company demands an advance to 25 cents. Much litigation will be the immediate result.

Cracked His Head With a Bolt.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 23.—Ed. Donohoe, a machinist, struck John Kelly on the head with a heavy iron bolt, during a quarrel yesterday morning, fracturing his skull. Kelly's recovery is doubtful. Donohue has escaped.

Ordnance Company Chartered.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 23.—The Hurst Ordnance Company, organized to manufacture rapid-firing guns, reinforced cartridges, etc., was chartered here yesterday, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

FORGERY THIS TIME

Another of John Bardsley's Crimes Unearthed.

HE MADE A FRAUDULENT NOTE.

Signed the Name of a Firm Which Was Not in Existence.

The Pennsylvania Senate Continues Its Investigation—The Testimony Cannot All Be Printed, Else the Session Would Last Several Months—Determination of the Attorney-General.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Another one of John Bardsley's forgeries came to light yesterday. It is a note for $5,500 held by the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank, dated January 21, 1891, showing that Bardsley carried on his villainy as long as he possibly could. It would seem that he had been in the habit of forging notes, endorsing and then discounting them, and then redeeming or extending them when due.

This note is signed with the name of F. J. Clamer & Co., and indorsed John Bardsley. The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank discounted it, and now Bardsley being believed insolvent and a convict, the supposed makers of the note have been sued.

Several years ago there was such a firm as F. J. Clamer & Co., John Bardsley being the company. Ten years ago it dissolved, selling all its good will to the Elkins Manufacturing Company, Bardsley dropping out entirely and Clamer going with the new company. The old firm name was the one selected for use by Bardsley as being unknown and less likely to cause trouble. Mr. Clamer has already pronounced several notes found as forgeries. The right to sign that firm name ceased when the Elkins Company came into existence.

THE INVESTIGATING SENATE.

Not All the Testimony is to be Printed—The Evidence Read.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 23.—The Senate discussed yesterday for several hours a proposition to admit all the testimony taken by the State Treasury and the Philadelphia Councilmanic Investigating Committees, which has not before been accepted as evidence.

The Attorney-General stated, as the result of a conference with the State Printer and Superintendent of Public Printing, that if all the testimony was ordered to be printed the extra session would not end for several months. A number of Senators insisted that unless they knew the character of the evidence given by Auditor-General McCamant and other witnesses in connection with the charges made against that official, they would not be in a position to properly pass on it.

Finally the proposition to admit the large volume of testimony was modified so as to admit a portion of it, exclusive of all the remarks made by the members of the investigating committees, and in this shape it was adopted.

At the afternoon and night sessions the time of the Senate was occupied in having the testimony read for the information of the Senators who were unprepared to decide on the truthfulness of the charges against the Auditor-General, unless supplied with the statements made by him and others.

The original motion to have all this testimony admitted was made by one of McCamant's counsel, and the Attorney-General is of the opinion that its purpose was to shut off a further examination of the Auditor-General, or at least to prevent a repetition of his evidence, which has been given three or four times, without material variation. The Attorney-General is determined, notwithstanding the action of the Senate, to conduct the examination without regard to the character of much of the evidence.

Defaulting Clerks Arrested.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 23.—Indictments against three clerks in the Treasurer's office were found yesterday by the grand jury. Chief Clerk J. H. Schone is charged with embezzlement and forgery, and Oscar Johnson and George Tracy are charged with embezzlement. Schone was at one time County Treasurer and the other two are sons of prominent citizens. All three were arrested, but secured bail promptly.

Secretary Blaine in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Secretary Blaine, accompanied by his wife and his private secretary, arrived in this city last evening. The party took a carriage and drove to the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Mr. Blaine will remain here for two days before proceeding to Washington. Mr. Blaine walked with a firm step from the train to his carriage and seemed to be in as good health as any ordinary person.

Trying Hard For a Divorce.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 23.—For several years the wife of John B. Herreshoff, the famous yacht builder has been trying to get a divorce from her husband. She has worked for it in different States, but has not succeeded. Now she tries the same thing in Rhode Island, having filed a bill in which he files a cross bill. Sensational developments are expected when the case comes up.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

News comes from Granada, Spain, of fresh and disastrous floods in that province.

Philip Herbert Carpenter, M. A., F. R. S., the distinguished scientist is dead at London.

Fire in T. S. Elkins' meat packing establishment at Lancaster, Ky., did $40,000 damage.

LAST OF THE BUFFALO.

Bought at a Fabulous Price by a Millionaire Banker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—America has lost ten of the few remaining old-time prairie buffalo.

They were bought at a fabulous price by Mr. Leland, the millionaire banker of Liverpool, Eng., and are now in this city, whence they sail next Tuesday.

The animals are to be placed in Mr. Leland's private park. They are accompanied by "Buffalo" Jones.

"When Mr. Leland came to ask what he would take for ten of the buffalo," said Mr. Jones: "I answered by naming a price which I thought he would not think of paying, for I was not anxious to sell. But he wanted buffalo in his park, and that was all there was about it. Money was no object.

"There will never be another buffalo captured. I doubt if 100 still exist uncaptured, and these keep in parts of the mountains where no living man could reach them."

LABOR NOTES.

Over 1,000 men are members of the building trades unions of Paris, and yet they have no strike fund.

The Mozart Musical Orchestra, of New Jersey, has withdrawn from the Central Labor Federation of Hudson County.

The bakers of Lowell, Mass., have organized, and their new local union has received charter No. 129, of the Journeymen Bakers' International Union.

The strongest labor organization in Holland is that of the railroad employes. It has over 40,000 members. Next to it is the Cigarmakers' Union, with a membership of about 25,000, of whom 2,000 are women.

President Gompers has issued a circular letter to the officers and members of the Bricklayers and Masons' International Union, calling upon them to vote for the proposition of joining the American Federation of Labor.

The General Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor has decided to take steps to compel the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to comply with the provisions of the Weekly Pay law recently adopted by the State.

To the striking tailors of Philadelphia the Executive Board of the Journeymen Tailors' Benevolent and Protective Union granted $500 as a loan, but the money is not to be paid over until the matter has been submitted to a vote by the members to-morrow.

New German Army Uniforms.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Kaiser has given his sanction to the changes proposed by the War Office in the appearance and equipment of the German army. The chief object sought to be achieved is the exchange of bright colors that attract the aim of an enemy for hues that will make the soldier a less conspicuous target. White leather accoutrements are abolished, and the heavy spiked helmet is discarded for lighter head-gear. The changes, when effected, will almost entirely transform the appearance of the German troops.

Casket Factory to Remove.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 23.—It is reported on seemingly good athority that the Stein Manufacturing Company of this city are about to move their large burial casket and show case works to New York city and that the firm of Chappell, Chase, Maxwell & Co., of this city, Oneida and Hoboken, N. J., will occupy the Stein plant here. It is stated that neither firm will do business in its own name after the change, but each will act as a branch of the National Casket Company.

American Missionary Association.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—At the meeting of the American Missionary Association, the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Wm. M. Taylor, New York; Vice-Presidents, A. F. Behrends, of New York; Rev. F. A. Noble, of Illinois; Rev. Alex. McKenzie, of Massachusetts; Rev. D. O. Meers, of Massachusetts; Rev. Henry Hopkins, of Missouri; Corresponding Secretary, the Rev. M. E. Strieby, of New York.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—For New England: Generally fair; cooler weather; northwesterly gales.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware: Fair, except rain on New Jersey coast; slightly cooler; northwesterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair; slightly cooler; northwesterly winds.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - Managing Editor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Y. M. C. A. class in short-hand will meet to-night.

—Our Boys, Monday evening, a decided success. Secure seats at once. Admission, 75 and 50 cents.

—Try B.T. Barnes's horehound, licorice & wild-cherry cough drops and his flaxseed & lemon cough drops.

—Get your church notices and advertisements in before 11 a. m., to-morrow, to be sure of their insertion.

—Don't miss the extraordinary inducements offered to-day by the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association.

—Is it chocolates or bon-bons you want? The best are at Stephenson's, 26 North avenue, where they are made fresh every day.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association advertise to-day seven different grades of butter. Theirs is the place to buy it.

—On account of the rain the expected union meeting, at Trinity church, of the local Christian Endeavor societies, was not held last evening. President Dilts will set another early date.

—To-morrow night, the Crescents will play the Elizabeth bowlers on the Crescent alleys. They expect a hot contest, as the Elizabeths claim to have a rusty charge against the Plainfielders.

—The Salvation Army being compelled to leave Reform Hall after next week, have cast their eyes on the old council rooms on Front street. Seats are being placed there for their accommodation.

—The State convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. commences its session in Newark to-night. Quite a delegation from Plainfield are in attendance. The address to-night by the Rev. Dr. Cuyler of Brooklyn, will no doubt be one of power and eloquence.

—D. L. Hulick, the carpenter, of 30 Somerset street, has just finished the fitting up of Thompson Park's new music store, No. 4 East 125th street, Harlem. Mr. Hulick does the best of work, and fully deserves the liberal patronage he is getting.

—The Greenop Philharmonic orchestra of Brooklyn, whose music was a feature at The Netherwood last season, has been engaged to play at the Albion dances to be given every alternate Saturday hereafter. Their first appearance will be to-morrow evening.

—The goods of Joseph C. Randall, whose departure from this city under a cloud was first recorded in these columns, will be sold at auction to-morrow, at his former residence, 49 Liberty street, to satisfy a chattel mortgage. Randall's wife and children have gone to Westerly, R. I., to be cared for by a brother.

—There will be short talks by the Princeton delegation and by A. C. LaBoyteaux of this city at the men's meeting to be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday afternoon. Singing by the quartette from Princeton college. The male choir will begin at 4 o'clock, and the meeting will close at 5:15 sharp.

—Miss Marie Wainwright has met with such brilliant success at Palmer's theater, New York, in her presentation of "Amy Robsart", that her engagement has been twice prolonged. It will end on the 31st inst. The matinees have been so crowded that extra performances have been necessitated for Wednesday afternoons. The last of these will be given on Wednesday of next week.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Miller, late of Chicago, is visiting her son, Daniel Miller, at 247 West Third street.

Max O'Bell will lecture, under the auspices of the Hillside Tennis Club, at the Casino, Nov. 5, on "America as Seen Through French Spectacles".

Funeral services over the remains of the late James Wilson were held at his late residence on West Seventh street yesterday afternoon. The officiating clergymen were the Rev. Dr. Yerkes and the Rev. Wm. Day.

Mrs. W. H. Sprague, of Muhlenberg place, has received a message announcing the death of her father, which occurred yesterday at Towanda, Pa. She will leave to-night to attend the funeral, which will take place to morrow.

After a short residence in Westfield, and an enjoyable vacation at Belmar, ex-Assemblyman John Ulrich has returned to Plainfield and is again at home in his old ward, the second, where he had lived for twenty years. He has leased the house at 62 LaGrande avenue, and his hosts of friends in this city will sincerely welcome him back.

A Good Selection.

The records of the surrogate's office of Union county show that at the request of the heirs of Joel R. Briant, deceased, city judge W. R. Codington has been appointed administrator of Mr. Briant's estate. Mr. Codington has had considerable experience, having settled a number of estates. The heirs have made a good selection.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

DEATH OF CORNELIUS W. L. MARTINE.

As this issue goes to press, the sad news arrives of the sudden death of Cornelius Martine, of Fanwood. He is a cousin of James E. Martine of this city, and one of the most widely and favorably known of the public men in this vicinity. For many years he was director of the Union county board of Freeholders.

His death was very sudden. About 12 o'clock he was seized with a bad attack and Dr. Westcott was sent for. It is said that he was dead within an hour. The cause is not yet given.

NEITHER ASHAMED NOR FRIGHTENED.

THE PRESS Has Been Indicted but is Proud of it and Will Insist Upon a Speedy Trial.

The grand jury of Union county has rewarded THE PRESS for its fight against the second street concert saloon, by indicting the editor and publishers of the paper.

The common council of the city joined their powers to the efforts of THE PRESS and passed an ordinance that wiped out the concert saloon, and the people of Plainfield united in thanking THE PRESS for its struggle in favor of public decency.

But the grand jury arrays itself on the other side, and indicts THE PRESS for saying one day that some man came out from New York to take his "sister" away from the saloon—the principal claim in denial of the story being that it was the man's wife.

It is necessary for THE PRESS to state right here that it has every reason to believe that the Plainfield members of the grand jury fought hard against the indictment. So far as the secrets of the jury room are known, it seems assured that Messrs. Beguelin, Slevin and Hogan proved themselves in favor of propriety and justice. So the people must not exclaim against them because the keeper of a concert saloon in this city whose business has been stopped by the council, is given an indictment against a paper that opposed that business, for the city's credit and the people's welfare.

The indicted will insist on a speedy trial of the case. They have engaged Corporation Counsel Marsh as their counsel. The prosecution will be in the hands of Prosecutor Marsh who is already on record regarding the case. When it came up before Justice Nash for a preliminary examination, the Prosecutor wrote:

I cannot see why my presence is needed in so simple a case as this.

Now the grand jury at the solicitation of the saloon keeper, has placed upon the county the cost, and upon the Prosecutor the task, of prosecuting "so simple a case as this". The trial of the case will be of unusual interest, as it will probably bring into unenviable prominence in court a number of men of more or less standing in Plainfield, to show the true inwardness of the granting of the indictment and to prove the character of the concert saloon business, which THE PRESS is accused of injuring.

FIRE ON THE MOUNTAIN-SIDE.

The Stone-Crushing Works of Smalley Brothers Totally Destroyed.

The stone-crushing works of A. I. and N. B. Smalley on the mountain-side back of North Plainfield were destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning.

Incendiarism is expected. The engine and boiler in the engine house were utterly ruined, and the boiler rolled twenty feet down the hill.

The buildings were burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $2,500, insured for $1,000.

The Grand Jury Presents the Jail Warden.

The following speaks for itself, and THE PRESS can indorse its every word from personal observation:

I hereby certify that the following is a true copy of a resolution passed by the Grand Jury of the county of Union for the October term.

Resolved, That the Grand Jury of the county of Union heartily commend the warden of the jail, Charles W. Dodd, for the capable manner in which he discharges his duty as such warden, and also commend him for the tidy and neat appearance of the jail of the county over which he has charge.

Dated Oct. 22, 1891.

FRANK H. DUNN,
Clerk of Union County Grand Jury.

A Lunatic Attacks Elsie Leslie.

Crazy Clarence Woodward, an escaped lunatic, suddenly appeared on the opera house stage at Wilmington, Del., Wednesday night, while the "Prince and Pauper" company, which appeared in Plainfield Monday, was rehearsing, previous to the rise of the curtain.

He was armed with a sword, with which he struck out right and left, and the members precipitately fled. He attacked Elsie Leslie, but she was rescued.

Woodward was seized by police officers and locked up before he hurt anybody.

Has Dr. Ransford Been Indicted?

It is rumored that among the indictments brought in yesterday by the Union county grand jury is one against the Rev. Edward Ransford, late assistant at Christ church, Elizabeth, for alleged immoral practices. The Rev. Ransford left for parts unknown when the charges were made.

Salvation Oil, the people's liniment, is guaranteed to be the best. Only 25 cents a bottle.

HYMENEAL.

Neal—Bird.

On Wednesday afternoon, of this week, James R. Neal, of Plainfield, was married to Miss Sadie Bird, of Clinton. The Rev. J. G. Williamson, of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, officiated. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. L. Bird, on West Main street, Clinton, at 4 o'clock. The parlor was handsomely decorated with flowers and evergreens, and the ceremony took place beneath a floral horseshoe. The window blinds were closed and the room lighted by wax candles. A large number of guests were present and at the close of the pretty service there was a hearty greeting extended by all to the newly-married couple. The Misses Carrie Bird and Emily Gerhart were maids of honor. The bridal gifts were many, pretty and very useful. A reception followed, which all highly enjoyed, and Mr. and Mrs. Neal left Clinton for Philadelphia on the 7:29 train over the Lehigh Valley railroad, taking with them the best wishes of their many friends amid a shower of rice. They will make their future home in Plainfield and will at once begin housekeeping.

Forster—Dewey.

Miss Jessie Howell Dewey, daughter of Mrs. Albert J. Dewey, of Westfield, was married to Charles Forster, of Jersey City, last evening at 6 o'clock in Trinity church, New York. Mr. Forster is one of the tenor soloists of the church. The service was read by the Rev. Joseph M. Hill, assistant priest at Trinity, and was entirely choral, the full choir singing Crow's "Deus Miserearur", and the hymn "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden". Dr. A. H. Messiter, the organist and choirmaster, directed the singing. Victor Baier, the assistant organist, played Mendelssohn's famous "Wedding March".

ALERT GETS ITS PRIZE.

Elizabeth's Chiefs Present the Silver Trophy to the Dandy Company.

Chief Astfalk and ex-chief New, of the Elizabeth fire department, came to Plainfield last night and presented to Alert hose company the silver trophy it won for having the handsomest hose carriage in line at the Elizabeth firemen's parade.

Ex-Chief New made the presentation speech, and foreman Joseph Moore fittingly responded for the company. Speeches followed by chief Astfalk, chief Doane of Plainfield, Charles Burnet, E. E. Anthony, and others. The visitors and Alerts were then escorted through the Crescent League club-house, and sat down to a fine collation. The Elizabethans left on the 11:28 train.

WANTS PROTECTION FOR HIS STOCK.

O. E. Runyon Begins Proceedings Against a New York Concern.

Orrin E. Runyon, son of the late J. Calvin Runyon of this city, and brother of manager Charles W. Runyon of the Telephone company, has brought suit in the New York Supreme court against the Consolidated Chemical company of New York city. He charges the officers and directors with being implicated in an attempt to control the revenue and stock of the company to the detriment of its creditors, and also with failing to pay $1,135 due him as general manager.

Three years ago the company was formed out of three other organizations which had for years contested the letters patent of the Babcock Fire Extinguisher company. Mr. Runyon was the endorser of a $5,000 note of the company to Warren N. Trusdell. It matured July 8, 1890.

Mr. Runyon paid the amount of the note and then brought suit. Before the day of trial William Schwind, sr., a director of the company, took the assignment from Runyon, accepting 400 shares of treasury stock as security for two years. He agreed not to press the suit against the company but broke faith, so Runyon claims, and took judgment by default and then moved all the company's effects to his own house.

Charles Pritzel, the president of the company, then resigned, and was appointed attorney at a salary of $10 000 a year to be paid in treasury stock. In this way it is claimed a majority of the stock was secured. The officers pooled their shares and then proposed to execute a general mortgage to William Schwind. Runyon owns fifty-five shares of the stock and sixty other shares are controlled by him. He says the scheme will defraud the company's creditors and prays a receiver be appointed.

A Happy Golden Wedding.

An interesting event took place in South Plainfield the evening of the 21-t inst., being the celebration of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Chamberlain of that place. About fifty guests were assembled at the residence of Mr. Chamberlain. Many valuable and useful presents were received by the aged couple, and hearty congratulations were showered on them. The evening was passed in feasting and merriment by the younger portion of the assembly, and by reminiscences of old times by the elder guests. The occasion was one of unusual interest to all, as it was the first golden wedding that many of them had attended; it was greatly enjoyed by every one present, and will long be remembered by them. Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain have resided in South Plainfield over twenty-five years, and are well known and highly respected by the community.

FORMING A BASE-BALL LEAGUE.

Plainfield, Elizabeth, Somerville and Westfield to Play for the Central New Jersey Championship Next Season.

At Elizabeth, last evening, another meeting was held for the formation of a New Jersey Central Base-Ball League. Representatives were present from this city, Somerville and Westfield. An organization was formed by the election of the following officers:

President—William A. Codding of Westfield.
Vice-president—Charles A. Reed of Plainfield.
Secretary and Treasurer—Louis C. Mack of Somerville.

There was expressed at the meeting by the representatives of the Elizabeth Athletic club, a doubt of their being able to secure inclosed grounds. However, even if the Athletic club cannot join the league, Elizabeth will be represented by a strong team under the management of the Young Men's Catholic Literary Union of that city.

It was decided that each club should play six games with each other club in the league, but that in making up the schedule holidays should be left open. Not more than eleven men are to be under contract and reserve by a club at any one time. The reserve lists are to be submitted to the secretary of the league by the first of January.

The question of disposition of receipts was settled by a vote that each club should receive all the moneys taken on its own grounds, and should pay all its own expenses.

A fat man in Washington, who used to be an invalid, took to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and now he walks right over the slenderest dudes, and don't care at all. This remedy costs 25 cents.

Sir Edwin Arnold Here.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Sir Edwin Arnold, the well-known English writer, was one of the passengers on the City of New York, which arrived yesterday. He has come over to deliver a course of lectures in America, the first of which will be given at Carnegie Music Hall on Nov. 4.

Rain Makers Off for Mexico.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Oct. 23.—The members of the Government Rainfall Expedition, headed by John T. Ellis, left for the City of Mexico this morning. The party intends to confer with Mexican officials in regard to rain-making experiments in that country.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

James Van Havenberg found a male infant wrapped in a blanket on his doorstep in Paterson last night.

Barnum Wetherhold, a sailor on the steamship St. Oswald, at Jersey City, fell overboard yesterday morning and was drowned.

Further testimony was taken at Camden yesterday in the case of the appeal of the negro Lingo, accused of the murder of Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Annie Eizner of Newark committed suicide yesterday by swallowing paris green. Quarrels with her husband made her despondent.

The Union County grand jury yesterday brought in a presentment against the Standard Oil Company, directing them to remove the 25,000 gallon tank erected in Elizabethport.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

J. W. Fitzpatrick, an old newspaper man, is dead at Birmingham, Conn.

The trouble with the prisoners at Deer Island, Mass., is settled, and all have returned to work.

Rev. S. Williams, of Chaplin, Conn., the oldest pastor in that State in point of service, celebrated his golden wedding yesterday.

Ansel Carpenter of Pawtucket, a contemporary of Samuel Slater, and an early manufacturer of print goods, is dead at Providence, R. I.

The schooner Albert Woodbury, of Beverly, Mass., Mass., which sailed the latter part of August for the Cape shore, codfishing, has not returned and is believed to have been lost.

There is a great rush for tickets to the joint debate in Music Hall, Boston, to-night, between Henry Cabot Lodge and Gov. Russell on the administration of the latter. Ten dollars a seat was repeatedly offered yesterday, but none was to be had.

Secretary of the Treasury Foster made his first speech in the Ohio campaign last night, at Findlay.

By the explosion of a steam thresher on the farm of Franklin Bros., near Mayville, N. D., four men were killed and two seriously injured.

W. A. Pollock, a traveling man, shot and fatally wounded James Andrews and then sent a ball through his own lungs at Burlington, Ia.

Dispatches from every part of Great Britain tell of vastly increasing floods. For a distance of thirty miles the Thames has overflowed its banks.

Manhattan field, New York city, has been selected as the place for the great Yale-Princeton football game on Thanksgiving.

Palmer Reden, a brakeman in the employ of the Central Hudson Railroad Company, was killed by the cars at West Albany, yesterday.

Miss Lily O'Keefe, who is accused of poisoning Mrs. Josie Elliott, Miss Florence Adams and Hattie Jackson of New York, is still at large.

The German Rifle.

The new German rifle carries but 228 grains and has an initial velocity nearly twice as great as ours. The bullet is of lead 1.06 inches in length, and the casing of German silver.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

IOWA CORN PALACE.

What Sioux City's Famous Structure Will Look Like This Year.

The fifth annual Sioux City (Ia.) corn palace to be completed and thrown open to the visitors from October 1 to 17, is larger and more elaborate than any of its predecessors. It is 380 feet long and is surmounted by a dome 200 feet high. It is beautifully planned and decorated with pinnacles, buttresses, bridges, gables, ornamental windows, etc., and has many curved and broken lines. All these designs are worked out in corn and other cereals—in ear, stalk and leaf, in all shades of natural color. They are sewed lengthwise, crosswise or used whole and arranged in numerous designs in which the different colors produce most beautiful effects. The interior is even more richly decorated, and the kernels are here used to form tapestries, flags and allegorical scenes, mottoes, etc. On the right is the auditorium, capable of seating 1,500. Around this and in the spacious gallery above are arranged booths, stalls, etc., for the display of the agricultural products of the various counties and of about a dozen states which will be represented. The left wing will be given to a South American exhibit, comprising fruits, flowers, tropical plants and all agricultural products, besides manufactured articles, curiosities, illustrations of the mode of living in those countries, etc. The palace will be properly lighted day and night by electricity.

Portrait of an Englishman.

Not meaning the least disrespect to the famous woodchopper of Hawarden it is submitted that the accompanying illustration, which is taken from a recent issue of Judy, is as neat a bit of ingenious portraiture as has been shown for some time. There have always been great possibilities in the name of Gladstone, but not even his most enthusiastic admirer would ever have foreseen the possibility shown herewith.

A Military Novelty.

A vegetable cartridge shell, which is entirely consumed in firing, is now coming into general use in the French army. The cartridge has scarcely half the weight of one with a metal shell; the cost is considerably less, besides the inconvenience of removing the shell after each shot is avoided. At present the composition of this military novelty is kept a secret.

Shiloh's Cough Cure

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c, 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N J

GET IN LINE!

AND GET ONE BEFORE THEY ARE GONE! $1 39 buys a handsome Parlor Lamp, cheap at $2. You can't afford to pass us by when you are in want of a lamp, for our assortment is the most complete in town, and to say that our prices are the lowest, would be putting it mild. We have just received a fine line of Jardiniers, fancy Flower Vases, Toilet Sets, Dinner and Tea Sets, and fancy Crockery. We bought these at a closing out sale at bargain prices, so come while the assortment is good and select what you want and have them laid aside till needed; a small deposit secures them. We are in business to handle goods, and we will do it if we have to give them away; and no matter what others' prices are, ours will be under. Look at our $10 Dinner Set; it's worth $15 anywhere. Our $3 75 Tea Sets sells all over for $5. Ordinary Table Crockery we lead the World on, and our prices astonish even the makers. House-furnishings of every description, way down! Common Lamp Chimneys, all sizes, 5 cents; don't pay eight again for them. Those who do not throw money away will do well, and are invited to visit constantly, whether they wish to buy or not, that they may be posted as to the novelties and bargains coming in daily. THE REV. MR. DILL'S CASE.

He Has Had His Persecutors Indicted for Assault and Conspiracy.

The Grand Jury of Morris county have been occupied some days with the case of the complaint of the Rev. Arthur C. Dill against Herbert Gray Torrey (who is in the United States Assay office in New York city), the latter's son, Gray Torrey, Richard Thomas, Fred Taff, and others, for an assault last July upon the Rev. Mr. Dill at Stirling. Certain men were charged with having stopped Dill on the highway at midnight, they being in disguise and having weapons. The Grand Jury was occupied with the case the better part of the week, and a large number of witnesses were called on both sides. The case was contested more bitterly before the Grand Jury than any case which has come up before the Grand Jury of Morris county for years, Senator Werts having been retained by the defendants, and the complainant being represented by John B. Vreeland of Morristown, and George E. Conkin of Basking Ridge. There were other counsel engaged on both sides, and the Grand Jury indicted the men complained against, and found an additional indictment against Herbert Gray Torrey for conspiracy and against Clarkson B. Moffett, one of the Justices of the Peace of Stirling, for conspiracy. Among the witnesses for the complainant before the Grand Jury were the Rev. Dr. White of Summit and the Rev. Dr. Erdman of Morristown.

The common sentiment in the neighborhood is that this is one of the most important cases involving social disturbance that has ever come up before a grand jury in New Jersey, especially in view of the prominence of the defendants in the case. The facts, as alleged, out of which the complaint arose, were that on July 4 1891, certain men planned to take the Rev. Mr. Dill, tie him in a sack, and carry him over the mountains in the woods. There was some talk of tarring and feathering him. At midnight on July 4 a number of men, with masks over their faces and otherwise disguised, stopped Mr. Dill in front of his house, presented one or more pistols, and ordered him to halt or they would fire. Mr. Dill, however, escaped into his house. Since that time he has been subjected to petty annoyances, his horse being carried off into the woods and painted, his house being covered with filthy placards, etc. The matter was taken in hand by a well-known law firm of New York, and carefully investigated. It was brought so closely home that four of the men involved in the affair made full confessions under oath giving details of the entire transaction. The indictments against Herbert Gray Torrey and Clarkson B. Moffett are upon the ground that they were privy to and assisted in the conspiracy.

A sample instance of how Dill's detectives gained evidence for him is the following:

While the detectives were hunting evidence it was noised around that the Presbyterian chapel was to have a new pastor, and the members of the church who had been anxious for a good old-fashioned revival, were overjoyed. The new incumbent appeared at the appointed time. He preached acceptably for three consecutive Sundays, and then his store of Biblical knowledge suddenly gave out. Some one heard him use a profane word, and then it was discovered that the congregation had experienced the novelty of hearing Scripture propounded by a full-fledged detective.

The Musin Concert.

Last night was one of the stormiest and most uncomfortable out of doors since winter, yet the best people of the city and borough filled Music Hall. There were not a dozen empty seats in orchestra or dress circle, the gallery was more than half occupied, and the private boxes down stairs held large parties in evening dress.

The occasion was the appearance of Ovide Musin and his company of solo artists in a most enjoyable programme of music. Of Musin himself there is nothing to say—he is incomparable. The audience heartily encored his solo, and actually warmed into enthusiasm over his duett with Annie Louise Tanner. The latter was also much admired, judging from the applause she received. She certainly possesses a most phenomenal voice in its upper register, and undoubtedly has no equal as a coloratura singer.

She also was encored and so was Eduard Scharf, the pianist, although some of his runs were faulty. But all that seems necessary with the Plainfield audience, is a striking climax. No matter how poorly the vocal or instrumental selection may be rendered as a whole, if it winds up with a picking of the violin strings, or a flashy run, or an easy slide to a specially high or low vocal note, the encore follows. Miss Parmater's solo had none of these devices, so she was awarded scanty applause though she deserved much. She has a rich mezzo-soprano voice of great sympathy, and sang Mattei's "Dear Heart", in a way that must have charmed intensely every one present who could appreciate sweet music. That she was not recalled, evidenced the fact that the majority of her hearers knew little about it.

Emil Senger, the basso, is a distinct addition to the Musin company, but Dupuy, the tenor, is not so satisfactory. The former possesses the purest bass voice ever heard in this city, but the latter is only fitted for more dramatic singing than is acceptable in a concert.

NOT THE DRIVER'S FAULT.

County Physician Westcott Gives a Certificate for the Burial of the Newsboy.

County physician Westcott, of Scotch Plains heard the testimony, Wednesday, of the witnesses in the case of the death of Henry H. Haegle, the newsboy who was run over by a horse car at Elizabethport Tuesday evening.

Chief Tenney had made an investigation, and submitted the result to Dr. Westcott. John Clarke, the driver, and Henry Haegle, the father of the dead boy, were examined by Dr. Westcott.

The testimony showed that the little fellow was playing tag with three other boys, stumbled when tagged, and fell under the car. Half of his head was torn away.

Dr. Westcott concluded that it was an accidental death and relieved the driver of any responsibility by giving a certificate for burial.

The Elizabeth Street Railway company will pay all expenses of the burial of the boy.

PLAINFIELD CAPITALISTS.

Telephone and Electric Light Companies Incorporated, and Big Stock Subscribed.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the clerk of Union county, at Elizabeth, yesterday, by the American Nautical Telephone company, which places its capital at $500,000. The incorporators and stockholders are Dr. Fred J. Kneuper, Dr. Ernest Huber, Wm. A. Copp, and Jacob W. Riglander of New York, James B. Davies of Brooklyn, J. P. Chapman and Charles B. Reade of Washington, D. C., and Francis T. Ketcham of Plainfield. The company's place of business in New Jersey will be at Plainfield, and its chief base of operations will be at New York city.

The Union County Electric company also filed notices of incorporation, and its plant will be situated at Roselle. The incorporators and stockholders are Hiram P. Baldwin of Roselle, Henry M. Bylesby of St. Paul, Minn., and William H. Moore of the Plainfield electric light works. The company's capital is $30 000, and it will begin business with $20,000.

Notes From the Pond Works.

I see in The Courier a statement that the men in Potter's Press Works raised some $40 for William Finnegan, a machinist, formerly employed in these and the above works, and who is now disabled from rheumatism, and that the Pond's workmen refused to aid him. I know it to be a fact that over $50 was raised at these works for Mr. Finnegan not very long ago.

I wish to state here that the workingmen employed at the Pond Works are as charitable a set of men as it has ever been my lot to come across. A paper rarely goes around the shop in behalf of a disabled brother workman that does not obtain from $50 to $100.

The new planer now in course of erection for a large manufacturing concern in Pittsburg, Pa., will be the largest ever built in this country, and will weigh, when completed, over 100 tons.

Speaking of whiskers, you ought to see the pair that Charley Burns is raising. Since he got his naturalization papers Charley has grown two inches in height.

LATHE HAND.

A Plainfielder on Patents.

L. W. Serrell spoke very interestingly of the relation of inventions and patents to civilization, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening. He spoke in part to the following effect: The origin of the patent system is in the despotism of ruling monarchs. Patents in England were originally land grants and monopolies to favored individuals and are still viewed there in that light, while in the United States they are considered an inherent right of the inventor and are constitutionally protected. An article to be patented at the patent office necessitates examining an immense literature. If not new its discription may be found in any published periodical. The thirty examiners and their assistants refer to the class and subdivision till it is ascertained that nothing has before been invented that would annul the patent applied for. A real desire to supply some want or to do it in a better manner should be the motive that actuates the inventor. Modern civilization is but the every-day use of modern inventions. While but few inventors get rich, the world is made richer by their inventions.

Boycotting the American Mechanics.

The village of Millstone, Somerset county, is in a social war. On September 12 forty-one young men, sons of tradesmen, organized a branch council of the Junior Order of American Mechanics. On the following day a pamphlet was circulated restricting the foreign born from membership, a principle of the order. This roused the many aliens employed at the Somerset distillery and an indignation meeting was held yesterday at which resolutions were passed condemning the new order, and a protection league, having for its object the boycotting of the tradesmen whose sons are members of the order, was established. The boycotting has begun in earnest and retaliatory measures have been adopted by the order of mechanics. The families of the village have taken sides.

NO CHANGE FOR THEM.

Uncle Sam's Treasury Well Protected Against Attacks by Raiders.

Some of the nervous citizens of the republic having read of the contemplated raid on the United States treasury may lie awake nights through fear that the plan may be put in operation. Let him calm himself. There is no likelihood of such a raid being made, and if it should be made the probabilities of its success are almost infinitesimal. This last plan proposed that in various parts of the city fires should be started. This was to be followed by a riot, and during the excitement the raiders calculated on being able to break into the treasury. But the scheme would have failed. There is no city in the world better protected than Washington. The plan by which the streets converge into a circle at intervals enables the authorities to plant batteries in the circles and sweep the thoroughfares of rioters. This plan, credited to the combined thought of Washington and Lafayette, was adopted in the reconstruction of Paris by Napoleon III.

Then the fire department of Washington is of a first-class order, and as for troops, they abound. Besides the large guard of men armed with Winchesters and revolvers within the capitol and the fact that many of the treasury male employes have organized a malitia company to repel raiders, several thousand troops can be brought into service here in less than an hour. The Washington militia numbers 2,000 men, and within half an hour's march is the arsenal when 500 veteran artillerymen can be summoned by telephone. Two experienced troops of cavalrymen stationed at Arlington are available for immediate service, while from the marine barracks 300 of the best drilled men living could be obtained. Gatling and Hotchkiss, to say nothing of heavier guns, are plentiful. Moreover, the mounted police are ex-cavalry men and all the patrolmen have served in the United States army.

If this force isn't enough to put a damper on the spirits of the rioters, a couple of batteries of the regular army can be obtained from Baltimore in forty minutes and a large force of marines and sailors from Annapolis in less than one hour. So that, take it all into consideration, the probabilities of a raid on the United States treasury succeeding are very small.

ALBERT B. PRESCOTT.

The President of the Association for the Advancement of Science.

Chief among the many scientific societies of this country is the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Its membership includes over two thousand persons, and anyone may become a member of it by the recommendation in writing of two members or fellows and election by the council. The selection of a candidate for president is conceded in rotation to a representative of the natural sciences, and then to one of the physical sciences. Thus, the last meeting was presided over by a botanist, who gave way to a chemist, who is Albert Benjamin Prescott, a native of New York, in his sixtieth year, and who is of the same family that has included Col. William Prescott, who commanded the American troops at Bunker hill, and William H. Prescott, the distinguished historian. He studied medicine at the University of Michigan, where he was graduated in 1864, and then served in the United States army as assistant surgeon until the close of the civil war. Returning to Ann Arbor, he was made professor of organic and applied chemistry and pharmacy, which chair he has since continued to fill, with the additional duties of the charge of the chemical laboratory since 1876, and with the title of director since 1884. He has also had charge of the school of pharmacy in the University of Michigan since its first organization, and in 1876, when the school became a distinct department, he was made dean of its faculty.

PROF. A. B. PRESCOTT.

Prof. Prescott is extensively known by his active work in the domain of what may be called pharmaceutical chemistry. He was prominent in the revision of the "United States Pharmacopœia" in 1880, holding in that connection the chairmanship of the sub-committee on descriptive chemistry. He is also known as the author of a series of text books extensively used wherever chemistry is taught. The degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred on him in recognition of his scientific attainments. He was elected a member of the American Pharmaceutical society in 1871, and has been connected with the State Pharmaceutical association of Michigan since 1883. In 1876 he was made a fellow of the London Chemical society, and in 1886 was made president of the American Chemical society.

Plea for Leniency.

A wicked western boy killed his father and mother and was duly found guilty.

"We ask for leniency in the sentence, your honor," said the lawyer for the defense.

"On what ground?" gruffly asked the judge.

"Your honor, the defendant is an orphan."—Judge.

Exequial.

"Yes, my brethren," continued the memorializer, "in a single night was our dear friend torn from the arms of his young wife. What mourning involves her at the most flourishing age! Widowed at twenty-eight years!"

"At twenty-six," interrupted the widowed, emerging for an instant from her tears and sobs.—Judge.

Miss Uptown—Sniffing at a damp umbrella!—Once a Week.

A Cloudy Joke.

"What is a weather report?" asked a small boy who was reading the papers.

"I don't know precisely, but I suppose thunder is one kind of a weather report," responded the parent.—Texas Siftings.

Stating the Case.

He (salesman)—Dear little hand (absent-mindedly). I wonder if it will wash.

She (con spirito)—No, sir, it won't—nor it won't scrub, either—but if you want it to play the piano, it's yours, George.—Life.

Field of the Forty Footsteps.

Just back of the British museum, London, Eng., there is a curiously shaped little patch of ground known in tradition as the "Field of the Forty Footsteps." The old legend concerning the place says that two brothers, in the time of the duke of Monmouth's rebellion, took different sides, and here engaged each other in deadly combat. Both were killed, and forty impressions of their feet remained on the field for many years, not a blade of grass growing in any of the indentations.

A Dialogue Abroad.

De Gush (in the doorway of an Italian cathedral)—We have nothing like this in America, Smithkins. I love these deep arched doorways; they suggest quiet, contentment and—er—repose, you know.

Smithkins—Yes; I like them first rate. Capital places in which to light a cigar.—Munsey's Weekly.

Witness my hand this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1891.

VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

THE SPARROW AND THE TOP.

Pugnacious Sparrow (to top)—What are you buzzing and going on about? If you don't stop it I'll jump on you.

(He jumps.) The Top—Buzzz, bizzz, brrr!

The Sparrow (on his head)—Great bugs! I'm dizzy!—Golden Days.

How It Was Done.

Little Kenneth, aged nine, has a younger brother, Bert, whose mischievous ways cause him much unhappiness. He keeps constant watch over his small brother's odd pranks, and reports him to headquarters whenever he finds Bert disgracing the family. The other day he rushed in greatly excited.

"Mamma, Bert's got the oil can out of your machine drawer! Mamma, he's squirting the oil all over the grass in the courtyard!"

"Over the grass, Kenneth?"

"Yes, mamma," with a twinkle in his eye, "oil over."—Harper's Young People.

The President Determined to Call Chili to Account.

BOSTON OFF FOR VALPARAISO.

Minister Egan Instructed By Cable to Demand Full Reparation.

THE ADMINISTRATION AROUSED.

The Conference to Consider Capt. Schley's Report Takes Prompt Action.

Indemnity, Apology and Punishment of Boatswain Egan's Murderers Required—The Junta Refuses to Give the Refugees in the United States Legation Safe Conducts, Alleging That They Are Criminals—The Situation Regarded as Serious.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The sailing of the steel cruiser Boston to reinforce the United States Squadron in Chilian waters, shows that the government is determined to have satisfaction for the affront recently put upon it, in the unprovoked assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore.

At the special conference between the President, Secretary Tracy, Secretary Foster and the Attorney-General, to take action regarding Capt. Schley's report, the details of which report have already been published in these dispatches, President Harrison bitterly referred to Chili's continued hostility that had culminated at last in the murder of one of our sailors, the wounding of a dozen or more and the arrest and incarceration in jail of 35 others.

He said the time had come when we must teach the Chilian people that our patience in dealing with them is exhausted.

He instanced their treatment of Minister Egan. They have subjected him to espionage and insult because he has given an asylum to certain Chilian refugees.

It was suggested at this point by one of the gentlemen present that the unfriendliness of Chili had manifested itself in still another particular. The fact was then recited that after the fall of Balmaceda the United States was the first country to recognize the new provisional government. So far from appreciating this act of international comity the Junta has yet failed to recognize it.

Attorney-General Miller, as the legal officer of the administration, furnished the needed points of international law. It was agreed before the conference closed that the attack upon our sailors was tantamount to an insult to our flag. The men assaulted were sailors of the United States. They were clothed in the uniform of the United States, and as such were supposed to represent the dignity and majesty of the United States.

Although any indignity to a party of American citizens would be resented by the government, in the present case the character of the outrage was intensified by the fact that it was committed upon the direct representatives of this country. Under these circumstances it was decided that not a moment should be lost in demanding speedy reparation.

When the conference closed a cable dispatch was sent to Minister Egan at Santiago. It instructed him at once to communicate to the Chilian Provisional government the indignation of the government at the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore.

What We Demand.

It further instructed him to demand—first, an indemnity in money to be paid to the families of the dead sailors and to the families of such of the wounded as may die; second, the arrest and punishment of the participants in the assault, and third, a suitable apology to the people of the United States.

The tone of the dispatch indicates that the administration will brook no delay in securing a settlement of the matter. Chili must do what she is asked to do, and do it speedily. The situation is regarded as one of extreme gravity.

The only war vessel representing the United States in Chilian waters at the present time is the Baltimore. The San Francisco, however, is lying at Callao, where she will remain until the pending complications are settled. She can steam to Valparaiso in four days. The Yorktown left New York for Valparaiso ten days ago, and the Boston is now on the way to the same port.

CHILI REFUSES.

Minister Egan's Demand for Safe Conducts to Refugees Not Heeded.

SANTIAGO, Chili, Oct. 24.—Minister Egan has been informed by the Chilian Government that his application for safe conducts to the refugees in the United States legation will not be granted. Mr. Egan will continue his demands.

A settlement between the two Governments appears as far off as ever. It is stated that the Chilian Government made the refusal on the ground that the refugees were criminals.

New York and Brooklyn Registration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The third day's registration in this city was 64,845, making a total for the three days of 213,191, as compared with 192,456 for the three first days of last year. The number of persons registered in Brooklyn was 31,588; making a total for the three days of 139,372, as compared with 115,866 last year.

AN ARTFUL DODGE.

Circulars to Connecticut Girls on How Not to Be an Old Maid.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 24.—For some time past a number of respectable young women in the outlying towns in this vicinity have been the recipients of circulars from Chicago which read as follows:

CHICAGO, Oct. 9, 1891.

DEAR MISS—A gentleman in your neighborhood is very anxious to keep your company. He has forwarded me your name, with the statement that he would like to pay his attentions to you, but he does not know whether you care for him or not. On the enclosed "private list" write out the names and addresses of gentlemen, not less than three nor more than ten, whose attentions would be agreeable to you. If your list contains the names of the gentleman we refer to, it will be evident that there is a mutual liking, and we will inform you at once. Otherwise your name will not be mentioned.

Perhaps this discovery will lead to a happy marriage between yourself and the gentleman. If it does, don't forget to send me a piece of the wedding cake. I charge you nothing for your service, as the gentleman has paid your fee. All you have to do is to send in your three names and see if you can guess the right one. Yours in confidence,

Miss ——.

Accompanying the letter is a private list which is merely a blank on which to write the names, and instructions to read the red circular. The latter is a very glowing inducement for the recipient to join the scheme, depicting in graphic language the troubles of a forlorn young woman who is turning into a sour old maid, because the man to whom she has given her heart unsolicited is not acquainted with her, and she has not the means of making his acquaintance.

The agent in Chicago sends an introduction card, which is to be exchanged on the street. The circulars have in a number of cases been given to the police.

SUPPOSED MURDERER HELD.

Case of Daniel Ryan, Thought to Have Killed His Bride of a Day.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 24.—The coroner's inquest in the death of Mrs. Daniel Ryan, who was found drowned in a pond on the outskirts of the city, the morning after the marriage, brought in a verdict recommending that the police authorities hold her husband, Daniel Ryan, to await the action of the grand jury.

The story told by Ryan to the effect that he had left his wife after their marriage and spent the night in St. John's Cemetery, was proved to be false by witnesses who saw him the next morning at a time when he says he was two miles from the place of the tragedy.

The detectives have found that all of his story is false and are confident that they have enough evidence to convict.

Too Much Chinese Immigration.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—Advices from British Columbia are to the effect that there is considerable excitement there over the refusal of the Government of the Dominion at the last session of Parliament to enact legislation restricting Chinese immigration. At present the poll tax is only $50, which has little or no effect in stopping the influx of Chinese. They continue to arrive by the hundreds on every steamer from Hong Kong.

Forgery and Embezzlement Alleged.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 24.—Theodore Doerflinger, of this city, a prominent druggist, president of the Dexter Spring Company, and treasurer of Seventh Ward School Board, has been arrested, charged by the school board with forgery and embezzlement of school funds. One report makes the shortage $9,000 and another $17,000. His brother-in-law, ex-Mayor McCallin, has entered executions against him for $18,000.

Immigration Figures.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—During September past 52,506 immigrants arrived in this country, against 45,478 in September, 1890. Of the arrivals last month Germany furnished 10,705, Russia, 9,777; England and Wales, 6,270; Ireland, 5,282; Sweden and Norway, 5,031; Austria-Hungary, 4,367; Poland, 3,190; Italy, 2,561, and Scotland, 1,210.

Reward Offered for Two Thieves.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Sheriff Tibbits, of this county, has offered a reward for the capture of Edward Fogarty, aged 14, and F. R. R. Bryant, aged 13. Both boys are charged with having taken $1,000 from the trunk of Fogarty's grandmother. When last seen the lads were seen in Auburn, where they purchased tickets for Buffalo.

FOR THE GREAT FAIR

The British Commissioners' Gratifying Report.

PREPARATIONS SATISFACTORY.

The Courtesy of President Harrison and Secretary Foster Commended.

The Royal Bureau Decides to Appoint Committees to Arrange for England's Exhibit—The Erection of a Handsome Building Recommended—No Doubt in the Commissioners' Minds as to the Success of the Fair.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The elaborate report of Sir Henry Wood and Mr. James Dredge, the British commissioners who recently returned to this city after visiting Chicago and making inquiries in regard to the steps which Great Britain could and might take in making a suitable exhibit at the Columbian Fair of 1893, has just been made public.

The report consists of 15 printed pages, to which is attached an appendix and several maps. It carefully reviews each step taken by the commissioners in the United States, and is full of valuable statistics as to space, transportation, etc.

Among other things the report recommends the erection of a handsome building on the site provided for Great Britain, and says it is certain that the juries intrusted with the tasks of making the awards will be international in all groups containing foreign exhibits.

The report also commends the courtesy of President Harrison and Secretary Foster and of all the exposition officials whom the British commissioners met, and who, they say, granted all the requests made on behalf of Great Britain.

The British commissioners, it appears, were much impressed with the manner in which the important work at Chicago has been undertaken, and they say there is no doubt whatever of the ultimate success of the Fair.

The commissioners, among their conclusions arrived at, say:

"We also believe that our visit was of some assistance to the executives as it was a part of our duty to place all the information which the other exhibitions had given us fully and wholly at their disposal."

Referring to the designs for the fair, the commissioners remark: "So far as we could judge great skill and boldness characterize the general engineering designs, which have all been prepared by the construction department."

Touching upon the question of decoration, they state that "it is gratifying to record that the important work of decoration is controlled by an Englisman, Mr. Pretyman."

As to local transportation the reports assert: "There is no doubt that the problem involving the transportation of passengers from the city (Chicago) to the exhibition will be successfully solved.

"The question of railways within the grounds is a very serious one. The authorities have made many arrangements in this direction, but it will be difficult to provide too liberally for the easy circulation of visitors to the vast inclosure.

The royal commission has decided to appoint committees to attend to finance, fine arts, Indian exhibits, colonial exhibits, engineering, science, education, and other branches of Great Britain's intended exhibit at Chicago.

In addition, the commission also decided to appoint a committee of ladies to correspond with and to act in conjunction with the ladies' committee of Chicago.

Finally the commission decided to invite the Chamber of Commerce to act as local committees for the purpose of assisting and advising British manufacturers and others as to their exhibits.

AN INHUMAN DAUGHTER.

With the Aid of a Fool She Beat Her Mother to Death.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 24.—Miss Lucretia Hutchins, with the aid of a half-witted man named Charles Tewsbury, brutally assaulted her aged mother because of some trifling dispute a few days since, in Atkinson, Piscataquis County.

The daughter felled her mother with a club and called upon Tewsbury to assist her. He responded by kicking the helpless victim in the body and face. Mrs. Hutchins, who is 81 years old, cannot recover.

The brutal couple were arrested and held in $2,000 bail for the grand jury. It is said that Miss Hutchins is also of unsound mind.

The Justice Dismissed the Suit.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 24.—The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, employing 3,000 men, refused to pay their hands every two weeks, according to the new law. E. H. Lawall, superintendent of the company, has been sued in the matter. A hearing in the case was had, when the justice decided that no case had been made against Lawall and dismissed the suit. The suit was considered a test case and has attracted wide attention. The decision

THORNTON'S DRIFT STORY.

Roebuck Has Found the Man Who Gave Them a Lift in His Mule Cart.

MAYPORT, Fla., Oct. 24.—A negro is in town who says he is the man who drove Sam Thornton and Eva Jewell in his mule cart from a a point near Idlewild to the South Jacksonville Ferry—a distance of 12 miles. This was during the forenoon of Sunday, Sept. 20 He also says that he he has given an affidavit to S. Roebuck, the weather strip man, attesting these facts. He was questioned closely and a good deal of information was gotten out of him.

He says that Roebuck has affidavits from three people who saw the strange-looking ship off Pablo Beach. These are F. Davis of Mandarin, Geo. E. Wilson of Jacksonville, both cottagers at Pablo, and another white man who stopped there Saturday night and arose early Sunday morning to go into the surf.

Paul Napoleon, a negro, says that he rode on his white mule for nearly a mile just behind the mule-cart with Sam and Eva seated on the floor of it, and Capt. Floyd, a towboat man, and Dr. Williams of South Jacksonville, both testify that they saw such an equipage pass their house that Sunday morning.

UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.

The Meeting at Worcester Takes No Action Regarding the World's Fair.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 24.—At the final meeting of the Universalist Convention, the fellowship of the Universalists in Japan was extended to the Unitarians in that country, but the proposition to unite with that sect was defeated. The ressolution protesting against the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday was not adopted. Resolutions recommending the settlement of international disputes, after diplomacy had failed, by arbitration, and recommending that candidates for the ministry be free from the tobacco habit were adopted.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Hon. H. B. Metcalf, of Rhode Island; vice-president, Hon. H. C. Russell, of New York; treasurer, Eben Alexander, of Massachusetts; secretary, Rev. G. L. Demorest D. D., of New Hampshire; trustees, Gen. John C. Graves, of New York; Samuel Kerr, Illinois; Rev. E. H. Cappan, of Massachusetts; E. H. Cole, of New York, Edward C. Sweetner, D. D., of Pennsylvania.

A PRINCE'S FATE.

History of Su Penn, the Corean Noble Killed By the Cars.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Su Penn, the Corean Prince, who was killed Friday by a train at College Station, near here, came to this country with the Commission sent out by Corea years ago to investigate the progress of civilization in foreign countries, and decided to make his home here. His persistent refusal to return caused the confiscation of large estates owned by him.

Becoming interested in agricultural advancement, he studied at the Maryland Agricultural College, and after being graduated last June, obtained a position in the Agricultural Department, where he devoted himself to translating and compiling data concerning agriculture in China, Japan and Corea.

Su Penn was 40 years of age. Recently he endeavored to obtain permission to return to his native country, but the request was refused.

Thought to Be Alive and Hiding.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Detectives are searching for traces of John C. Austin, the well-known ship broker, who was supposed to have been drowned July 4 last at Manhattan Beach. There was $25,000 insurance on Austin's life in two policies, one for $10,000, issued just three days before his disappearance, and the investigation instituted by the Company that issued the policy has convinced its officers that Austin is alive and in hiding.

Asking for a Receiver.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 24.—Joseph Chapman of Ohio has filed a bill in equity in the United States Circuit Court against the Haines-Worth Steel Company asking for the appointment of a receiver. The bill sets forth that Chapman is a creditor of the company to the extent of $3,000, and is accompanied by an affidavit that the plaintiff does not believe the company is able to pay its debts, asking for the appointment of a receiver and for a preliminary injunction.

The Officials May be Prosecuted.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—Governor Pattison has written to some of the signers of the York petition for the nature of the charges that have been made against the officials of that city and county, with a view of proceeding against them if the facts justify the step. The Senate has been informed of the action of the Governor.

Paymaster-General's Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—General Wm. Smith, Paymaster-General of the army, has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of War. The report says the paymasters during the year were charged with $16,611,754, and the amount expended by them was $15,106,408.

AMMONIA "By any name It smells the same" HARTSHORN

Good for scouring, cleansing, for a soap powder, for a fertilizer: Bad in any article of food, yet it is used in some baking powders palmed off as "absolutely pure." Is it in yours? Test it.

Mix one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder with one spoonful of water in a tin cup; boil thoroughly for a few moments, stir to prevent burning, and if ammonia is present you can smell it in the rising steam. As baking powder, when first thrown into the water, will effervesce, do not mistake bubbling for boiling.

The leavening power of Cleveland's Baking Powder comes from cream of tartar and soda only, not ammonia or alum. That is why Cleveland's is wholesome, leavens most and leavens best. Try a can—Cleveland's.

WICKED YALE MEN

They Entice Away the Chorus Girls of an Opera Troupe.

ONE OF THE MAIDS YET MISSING.

The College Faculty Trying Hard to Discover the Guilty Students.

The Performances of the "Ship Ahoy" Company Not of Gilt-Edged Order Because of the Lark of Eight of the Pretty Chorus Girls—Miss Proctor, of Brooklyn, an Understudy, Not Yet Back.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 24.—The "Ship Ahoy" Company has been in desperate straits since its appearance here this week, owing to the disappearance of eight of the prettiest and best chorus girls, without which the chorus was entirely disabled.

Yale students are the cause of the trouble. They enticed away the girls. Seven of them, however, became repentant and have returned to the company. Miss Proctor, of Brooklyn, an understudy, is still missing.

Every effort is being made by the students and the Yale faculty to suppress the story. They have denied the affair, but the truth of the matter is that the giddy girls of the opera company were lured away from the stage and their engagements by the wiles of the wicked collegians.

The affair first came to light through the manager of the company, who had his hands full trying to get along with half a chorus in Bridgeport, where the company played the night after leaving New Haven. The faculty of Yale have been investigating on the sly and are trying to ascertain if Miss Proctor, of Brooklyn, who is still missing is in New Haven. All efforts so far have proved fruitless.

The students set up a defence the minute the story was made public that they could all prove alibis, and that not a collegian had been absent from New Haven for a night.

That's the easiest thing to get over, however. Bridgeport is only half an hour's ride from New Haven, and trains run very frequently. As the actresses were to play two nights at Bridgeport it gave the boys no end of opportunities to keep the pretty people of "Ship Ahoy" in the immediate vicinity of Yale without much danger of their being found out.

Undoubtedly the girls were lured away directly after the performance, and the revelry which followed lasted a couple of days, during which every one entangled was within 20 miles of New Haven.

If the students who thus took part in breaking up the dramatic company temporarily are found out it will go hard with them. But the chances are they will not be discovered.

Kingston Savings Bank All Right.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The examination of the affairs of the Kingston Savings Bank, by the State Banking Department has been completed and the institution pronounced to be in a sound condition, with accounts correct and satisfactory. This bank took advantage of the law granting 60 days in which to pay depositors in case of a "run," at the time of the failure of the Ulster County Savings Institution a few weeks ago.

KIDNAPPED HIS DAUGHTER.

Dr. Barnes of New York Suspected of Abducting His Own Child.

ROUND LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The sixteen-month-old daughter of Mrs. Mattie Barnes, who was stolen from the cottage of her father, Rev. I. C. Fenton, Thursday, has not yet been found, although every possible effort has been made. The affair has created a great sensation here.

Mrs. Barnes had separated from her husband, Dr. C. A. Barnes of New York city, and as he had endeavored to retain possession of the child, he is supposed to have taken this method of obtaining her, either in person or through a confederate.

Both he and a son by a former marriage had been here a few days previous to the kidnapping, but neither of them was seen on the day the child was taken.

Mr. Fenton's cottage was entered through a rear window while the family were at tea, and the child was taken from the bed where it was sleeping.

Mrs. Barnes was taking steps to secure a dissolution of her marriage on the grounds that the doctor had six other wives living.

DISS DEBAR SPURNED.

She Assaults a Chicago Editor Who Repulsed Her Advances.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Ann O'Delia Diss Debar, now known as Vera Ava, sprung a new sensation by creating a lively scene in the office of Major J. C. Bundy, editor of the "Religious Philosophical Journal."

The obese humbug claimed to be a spiritualist and had some acquaintance with Bundy. She called at his office and in the course of a brief conversation expressed a wish to kiss him.

The Major had no desire to smack Vera's warm, red lips and told her so. She at once attacked him and scratched his face, and would have done him worse damage had she not been overpowered and ejected from the building.

Boys, do not forget the entertainment on Monday evening. All come and bring your friends with you. The entertainment begins at 8 o'clock.

—Hear the tenor solo by Mr. Bennett at the men's meeting in the M. E. church to-morrow at 4 p. m. Mr. Bennett is a Senior at Princeton, and a member of the University Glee Club.

A large number of dudes collected at an exposed corner last Sabbath, where the wind was high, and caught colds. Each little darling was speedily cured by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Look to your interest. You can buy Salvation Oil, the great pain-cure, for 25c.

A VERY PRETTY AFFAIR.

Unitarians and Their Friends Drink Tea from China-ware 150 Years Old.

The tea and parlor sale given in the Unitarian rooms last evening was a very pretty affair. The rooms were elaborately and tastefully decorated by a committee consisting of Mrs. N. D. C. Hodges, Mrs. W. J. Leonard, Miss Eva Pierce, and Mrs. Wilson Fiske.

The other committees who helped to make the affair such a glowing success were:

Tea Room—Mrs. E. W. Conklin, Mrs. N. D. C. Hodges, Mrs. R. C. Leonard, Mrs. Wilson Fiske, Mrs. W. T. Broadway, assisted by Miss Reina Lawrence, Miss Viola Conklin, Miss Mary Wells, and Miss Sandford.

Fancy Table—Miss Bessie Reynolds, Mrs. H. B. Nichols.

Domestic Table—Mrs. Joseph Osgood, Mrs. J. B. Buckle.

Art and China Table—Miss Brown, Mrs. W. J. Leonard.

Flower Room—Mrs. W. F. Adams, Miss Edith R. Leonard, Miss Annie Shaen.

Doll Table—Mrs. Hobart Clark, Miss Ellen Osgood.

Pharmaceutical Table—Mrs. D. W. Pond.

The flower room was decorated in orange color, the young lady attendants, Miss Leonard and Miss Shaen, wearing pretty costumes of the same color.

The tea room was in pink, and separated from the sale-room by bead curtains. The latter room was dressed in pink and white. The tea was well patronized. To-day it is continued with special attractions for the children.

A Great Convention.

Numbers of Plainfielders went to Newark, yesterday, to attend the opening of the State Christian Endeavor convention. It was the greatest gathering yet of the societies. Every seat and all the standing room were taken. Hundreds were turned away, unable to get into the church. It was a most enthusiastic meeting. The great choir alone was a notable feature. The Christian Endeavor motto, "For Christ and the Church", was prominent, in red letters. The word "Welcome" extended across the front of the church. There were decorations of potted plants and flowers, and numerous banners of the different societies. Over the word "Welcome" were the letters "C. E." in letters of fire, being an arrangement of gas jets. The addresses of welcome by the Rev. Drs. Frazer and French were very good. The convention sermon by the Rev. Dr. Cuyler, on "Fight the good fight of faith"—1 Tim. 6-12—was a grand and stirring sermon, and ought to enthuse all who heard it. Dr. Cuyler is advanced in years, but full of fire yet.

The convention extends over to-day and to-morrow.

Put Over Until the Next Term of Court.

The editor and publishers of THE PRESS through their counsel Craig A. Marsh, Esq., plead "not guilty" this morning before Judge McCormick at Elizabeth to an indictment for libeling the late Second street concert saloon.

Counselor Marsh stated that his clients were very anxious to try the case at once, and the prosecutor said he would be ready about November 5, but the Court said that that would be too late for this term, and the case was put over until the next term which opens the third Tuesday in January, 1892.

Freeholder Andrew Vanderbeek gave bonds for the appearance of the accused.

Not to be Tried this Year.

Ex-mayor of North Plainfield, Justus H. Cooley, M. D., was arraigned before the court at Elizabeth, this morning, upon indictment for that private asylum on Sandford avenue that THE PRESS has had so much to say about for the past few weeks. He was represented by counselor Charles A. Reed, and stood ready for trial at once. The Prosecutor, however, thought it best to have the case postponed until the next term of court.

Ex-Freeholder Martine Dropped Dead.

Further particulars of the death of C. W. L. Martine are to the effect that he came home to dinner yesterday from the train, and went up stairs to his room. Those in the house heard the sound of a heavy body falling, but paid no attention to it. A few minutes later, as he did n't come to the dining-room, he was sent for and found dead on the floor with a cut in his head where it had strck the corner of a stove. Apoplexy was the cause. He had had one or two attacks before.

A Runaway Horse Wrecks a Wagon.

During the excitement of the fire, this noon, a horse of the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association took fright and ran away. It fetched up against a tree at the corner of Fifth street and Madison avenue and wrecked the wagon, spilled all the groceries, and lamed, cut and bruised the driver considerably.

A Happy Medium.

Doctors will always disagree, of course, but there's a happy medium where they reach a satisfactory agreement. By taking the best of the two main schools of practice this is attained. This happy medium is effected perfectly at Collier's, where watches, diamonds, etc., are offered of allopathic excellence and at homeopathic prices.

The Kingston Postoffice.

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Everyone recommends them highly.

GOOD BOWLING BY PLAINFIELD.

The Elizabethans Came to Town Loaded for Bear, but They Could n't Stand the Pace that Brett Set.

The Crescent League bowlers did some great work last night, when they defeated a crack team of bowlers from the Elizabeth Athletic club by the score of 1548 to 1485. The scores were most all excellent, but Brett's was stupendous. The evening's complete record is as follows:

A Flower to Adorn the Assembly Bouquet.

The Union Democrat of Rahway prefaces with the following its reproduction from these columns of a biographical sketch of Sidney Elmer Flower:

We last week gave the result of the Democratic Assembly Convention in this the 3d district, which was the nomination of Sidney E. Flower, of Plainfield. At that time we were not sufficiently acquainted with the history of the candidate to lay it before our readers, though from all sides we heard nothing but commendation, and the highest opinions of him as a citizen, business man and neighbor, and one eminently fitted to represent the people of this district in the Legislature—certainly much more so than the Republican Kyte who must have soared so high that scarcely anyone knew there was such a person in the last House of Assembly. Let the voters rally to the support of the Democratic candidate and we will adorn the Assembly with a Flower that will emit a noticeable fragrance in that body. As to his antecedents, we cannot better state them than to quote the following article on the subject from his home paper, the Plainfield Press.

To-Day's Fire.

The wind blew sparks from a tinsmith's fire-pot left standing on the roof of adjoining house, this noon, over to the shingles of the roof at 63 West Third streeet, and caused a brisk blaze. Chief Doane saw the fire, and pulled box 34. Buckets of water yut out the flames before the department arrived. The damage was $30. The house is owned by Patrick Gavin of Newark, and occupied by Michael Carty.

Union Pacific Rumors.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—People here connected with the Union Pacific Railroad, say that they have no information in relation to the rumored consolidation of departments of that road at Denver and other points. They think it very probable, however, that expenses will be reduced wherever possible without interfering with good management.

The Ex-Mayor May be Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The name of John T. Glenn, ex-Mayor of Atlanta, Ga., has been presented to the President for appointment to one of the vacant Interstate Commerce commissionerships. He is a nephew of Howell Cobb, and is endorsed by the Senators and by the majority of the Georgia delegation.

The Omaha Mob Whitewashed.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 24.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of the negro Smith, taken from the jail and hanged by a mob, is that Smith was "frightened to death by unknown persons."

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

Thomas Stedeford, a lumber mill employe at Pittsburg, got entangled in the machinery and had his head sawed in two.

While trying to shoot a dog that had bitten him on Friday at Pittsburg, Thomas McMahon killed Xavier Seppler, the owner of the dog.

The factory of the American Cash Register Company at Philadelphia has been closed by the sheriff, upon two judgments, one of $6,200 and the other of $1,700.

A letter has been found from James Bently, lover of Annie Warner, who committed suicide at Bushkill, instructing the young girl how to take a dose of poison. Bently had refused to marry her.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

RIOT AND CONSPIRACY.

Mr. Dill's Persecutors Plead Not Guilty to the Charges.

The residents of the quiet village of Stirling are still talking of the Dill scandal. Those indicted were arraigned before judge Child yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty. They are Frank Moffett, Fred Taft, James Travis, Herbert Gray Torrey, Anthony Shumacher, Gray Torrey, Fred Moffett, Richard Thomas, Clarkson B. Moffett, Abraham Cooper and John Ferris. Herbert Gray Torrey and Clarkson B. Moffett are indicted for conspiracy and all the others for riot.

James Travis went bail for James Ferris, while Joel T. Bebout and Fred Nishwitz went bail for the others.

There was an argument concerning the affidavits. Counselor George T. Werts, for the defendants, objected to the indictment of Moffett and Torrey for conspiracy, and claimed that no charge had been made. Prosecutor Cutler admitted the error, and the court allowed the claim. Prosecutor Cutler said he would enter a nolle, and the indictment passed. Counselor Werts also objected to the riot indictment on the ground of insufficiency, but it is believed it will be ordered to stand by the court. Mr. Torrey is quoted as having said on a train this morning that he thought the case would be dropped where it is. The trial was set for Oct. 29.

The Rev. Mr. Dill has been offered a new charge, but he prefers remaining a citizen of Stirling until this case is settled. At present he is at Long Branch attending a meeting of the Presbyterian Synod.

Counselor Dill, of New York, whe was criticised by the admirers of the Rev. Mr. Dill because they thought he was not taking any interest in his brother's welfare, is now regarded as a dangerous man to deal with. No one is more thoroughly convinced of that fact than Herbert Gray Torrey, prominent among those who have so persistently persecuted the young preacher since last Winter.

The people of Stirling wonder what has become of all Mr. Pinkerton's genial and persuasive young gentlemen, who came suddenly among them, won their friendship and disappeared as suddenly, taking with them the large portfolio of evidence that has caused the unlucky number of thirteen of their stalwart young men to be at the present time under indictment by the Grand Jury of Morris county for riot. The doors of the little Presbyterian chapel at Stirling are closed. The bland young dominie in broadcloth, who preached the three masterly sermons and in the mean time found out from the members of the flock all about the scandal, has also disappeared, and for all they know is preaching elsewhere in a community where shrewd detective service is needed.

It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Herbert Gray Torrey was the innocent victim of one of the wily detectives. On arriving in Stirling he learned that she would be a fine person to sympathize with on the Dill question, so he gained entrance to her fine house on the brow of the hill under circumstances that won her immediate sympathy. He bstook himself to the hill at a time when Mrs. Torrey was out in the dooryard. When he was passing the house his frame shook and he fell, apparently fainting, to the sidewalk. Mrs. Torrey had the prostrate man carried into her house and herself applied eau de cologne to his nostrils until he revived. Then he lingered a long while in the house and spoke incidentally of the Dill affair. This led Mrs. Torrey to rehearse the details of the occurrence to him. When Mr. Torrey came home that night she told him of it.

Very little sympathy is expressed for Torrey, but it is different in the case of Squire Clarkson B. Moffett. He is an old resident, and he is looked upon as the scapegoat of the more designing persons. Counselors Geo. E. Conkling, of Basking Ridge, and John B. Vreeland, of Morristown, have been working up the case for the Dills.

Will Sue for Libel.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—It is understood that Secretary of State Chapleau intends to sue the Toronto "Globe" for criminal libel for publishing an article to the effect that Mr. Chapleau had offered to sell out to the Liberal party during the crisis which ensued on the death of the late Sir John Macdonald.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Joseph Runnell, New Hampshire's oldest member of the Grand Army, is dead at Exeter.

The gale along the Atlantic coast was one of the severest of the season. Much damage is reported.

William H. Devoy, of Boston, has been awarded $25,000 damages in his suit against the Boston & Albany Railroad.

Charles Wombell, employed in a factory at Ballardvale, Mass., has fallen heir to an estate in Australia valued at $1,000,000.

Powers & Co., grain dealers of Boston, have sued the Boston & Maine Railroad for $100,000, under the Interstate Commerce law, for charging excessive rates.

Every liquor dealer in Bar Harbor, Me., including the proprietors of summer restaurants, has been indicted by the grand jury for alleged violation of the liquor laws.

The debate in Boston between Henry Cabot Lodge and Gov. Russell was heard by 3,000 people. Both speakers received perfect ovations Each scored some telling points, and both sides claim victory.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

AND GET ONE BEFORE THEY ARE GONE! $1 39 buys a handsome Parlor Lamp, cheap at $2. You can't afford to pass us by when you are in want of a lamp, for our assortment is the most complete in town, and to say that our prices are the lowest, would be putting it mild. We have just received a fine line of Jardiniers, fancy Flower Vases, Toilet Sets, Dinner and Tea Sets, and fancy Crockery. We bought these at a closing out sale at bargain prices, so come while the assortment is good and select what you want and have them laid aside till needed; a small deposit secures them. We are in business to handle goods, and we will do it if we have to give them away; and no matter what others' prices are, ours will be under. Look at our $10 Dinner Set; it's worth $15 anywhere. Our $3.75 Tea Set sells all over for $5. Ordinary Table Crockery we lead the World on, and our prices astonish even the makers. Housefurnishings of every description, way down! Common Lamp Chimneys, all sizes, 5 cents; don't pay eight again for them. THE VISITOR.

Its Welcome Pages Once More Circulated Among Methodist Parishioners.

The Rev. C. B. Mitchell's enterprising church newspaper, The Visitor, is just out for October. From its columns THE PRESS is enabled to reproduce the following paragraphs of general interest:

Mrs. Susan Collins is again with her son, who is pursuing his studies in Leipzig.

Andrew Vanderbeek, jr., is slowly recovering from a long and serious illness.

Communion, baptism and reception of members, one week from to-morrow, Nov. 1.

The pastor will preach to-morrow morning from the text, "No man cared for my soul."

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. L. Randolph are on an extended tour through the beautiful Southland.

John Praed is putting the Monroe Avenue Sunday-school library into fine working condition.

To-morrow, Sunday night, the pastor will preach his first sermon in Monroe Avenue chapel.

Geo. W. Seivert has accepted a fine situation in Newark. We are sorry to lose this excellent young man.

Mrs. Harry French and children are home again from Chicago. We are all glad to see them again.

R. W. Mahaffee and family have removed to Newark. We had hoped they were back in Plainfield to stay.

Mrs. Sarah Day has passed through the summer in excellent health for one who has crossed the octogenarian line.

Mrs. K. G. Emerson, 42 Central avenue, has been in Iowa for some time, called there by the illness of a relative.

Mrs. A. A. Taft is home again after a five weeks' visit to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rev. William Cookman, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. S. O. Doane is recovering from a long and dangerous illness. Her many friends will be glad to hear of the signs of returning health.

The Sunday-school is gradually increasing at Monroe Avenue chapel. Much credit is due to the devotion and enthusiasm of Superintendent Walter McGee.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Monroe Avenue chapel have done a noble and beautiful thing; but The Visitor must not say just what that thing is until next month.

Mrs. P. M. French has had a long illness. She is now about again, and the good causes, to which she lends her potent influence, will feel again the aid she so freely gives.

Miss Elizabeth Waters is teaching this year in a private school at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, a more pleasant and lucrative position than the one she held in our public schools.

Miss Florence Burt is this year in that most excellent of schools, presided over by that prince of men and educators, Dr. Whitney, Centenary Collegiate Institute, Hackettstown.

The Ladies' Aid society has placed a fine new dining room set in the parsonage. This is another token of the kindly way in which our ladies see to the comfort of their pastor's family.

Albert Crane, 49 West Fourth street, is again confined to his home with his old malady, heart trouble. Thus far his pastor and physician have been the only ones allowed in the sick chamber.

Leonard S. Mulford, formerly of our church, is now president of the Young Men's Christian Association in Vineland. The pastor is on a lecture programme he has prepared for the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. James McGee are back from the autumn vacation. The former gave us some stirring words concerning the great Washington meeting, at our prayer meeting last Wednesday evening.

Dr. Hurlburt, who is in Europe with Bishop Vincent, is in excellent health and enjoying his trip as one only can who has had such a thorough preparation for it. What good talks he will give us on his return!

The Rev. William Day, pastor of our church at Dover, was at prayer meeting last Wednesday night and was warmly greeted by a host of his old friends and former parishioners. He gave us a most spiritual address.

Mr. W. W. Youngson, a Drew student, and one of the pastor's Pittsburg "boys", will preach for us to-morrow night. He will have a message, and knows unusually well how to deliver it. You ought to hear him.

That is a fine Bible class in Monroe Avenue chapel. The men and women who compose it say they have the best teacher in the country. Those who know James McGee can understand the enthusiasm of that Bible class.

The ladies of the Aid society have undertaken to furnish the chairs and fit up the platform of the North Plainfield chapel. It will cost $450. They are planning to hold a three-days' fair in Vincent chapel early in December.

A pleasant home wedding took place at New Market last Wednesday at one o'clock. Miss Carrie Schenck, one of our finest young ladies, was married to Mr. Edward G. Crowell, a worthy and well-to-do business man of Port Jervis, N. Y.

The ladies of the Home Missionary society are planning to send a barrel of clothing to a needy minister in our home missionary field this autumn. Those who have garments to donate to this good cause are requested to reserve them for this barrel.

Our North Plainfield chapel is now inclosed. Have you seen it? It is a beauty, admired of all who see it. A Methodist, yes, a Methodist, asked the pastor the other day "what new church that was on Somerset street." Have we any other members who do not know that we are building on the corner of Somerset street and Park place, the most beautiful chapel in the city? We expect to dedicate about the first of the new year.

Rev. H. Skeel, of the Northern New York Conference, father of Mrs. John Weir, very kindly gave a most admirable lecture, October 13, in Vincent chapel, entitled "Egypt, Rameses and Moses." The proceeds go to purchase a winter suit of clothes for the superintendent of our home missions in the Indian Territory. The ladies of the Home Missionary society are greatly indebted to Dr. Skeel, and so are we all who had the pleasure of listening to his most scholarly and interesting lecture.

Last Tuesday morning, after a long life spent in Christ's service, James Wilson, in his 86th year, passed peacefully to his reward. His aged wife was strongly comforted by divine grace, and waits patiently for the reunion. The funeral services were held at his late residence on last Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Wm. Day, a former pastor and dear friend, the Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., his friend and neighbor for many years, and the pastor, officiated at the funeral, which was attended by a large company of brethren and friends.

Not only delicious for the palate, but an exceedingly health-giving beverage is Hires's Root Beer. It is the thirst quencher. Not intoxicating, and yet gently stimulating in its effects. Cheap enough for anybody.

KYTE AND THE WHEELMAN.

The Other Side of the Story of the Arrest of Messrs. Nicholl and Sayre.

The Westfield Standard last week says "no man has done more in the interests of the wheelman than George Kyte." This sounds very much like sarcasm to the wheelmen in Mr. Kyte's neighborhood, in view of his attitude toward them—having two prominent wheelmen arrested and carted off to Plainfield before a justice for passing on the sidewalk while the roadway was impassible by reason of being covered with crushed stone, and after Mr. Kyte himself, who was chairman of the township committee, had told one of the gentlemen that the ordinance passed by the committee prohibiting riding on the sidewalks was considered a dead letter, and that he (Kyte) if he was a bicycler, would not hesitate to ride on the sidewalk himself.—Rahway Democrat.

The following is the statement of one of the wheelman arrested:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—As an evidence of Mr. Kyte's kindly feeling for the wheel, I will state that on Saturday, September 12, T. J. Nicholl and myself were arrested and arraigned before justice Nash of Plainfield on a complaint sworn out by George Kyte of Fanwood for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk past his house. Last July an ordinance was passed by the township committee prohibiting riding on the sidewalk. Mr. Kyte was chairman of this committee and advocated the passage of the measure. Shortly after this ordinance was passed a quantity of crushed stone was put upon the road, making it in a much worse condition for riding than before. After this stone was put upon the road, Mr. Nicholl and myself were compelled to take the sidewalk over the hill from Scotch Plains into Fanwood, because the road on this hill was at that time practically unrideable.

About a week before my arrest I had a conversation with Mr. Kyte relative to the condition of the road, when he said to me that the ordinance was practically a dead letter, that there had not been a single complaint lodged against any rider, and that he proposed to move its repeal at the next meeting. He furthermore stated that if he was a wheelman and could not ride in the road, he would take the sidewalk. But I am now thoroughly convinced he said this for the express purpose of leading us into a trap, to give him the opportunity of making the complaint, for within a few days after this conversation he caused a warrant to be served upon us at seven o'clock on Saturday night, for doing just what he said he would do under like conditions.

It might be well to ventilate these facts, particularly among the wheelmen, that they may judge how much consideration they are likely to receive at his hands. Also what reliance can be placed upon the item from the Standard.

A Guide to a Charming Resort.

Those who ever have spent a season among the Berkshire Hills do not need to be told what a charming region is that bit of paradise. But there are many who never have enjoyed the happiness of a summer among its quaint and lovely villages and towns, who have been denied glimpses of its rare landscape beauties, who have never gazed on its divine skies, never inhaled its invigorating breezes, never sailed on its gems of lakes, never delved into its sylvan treasure-houses. To all such the recent issue of The Berkshire Hills Record will be a revelation. It is the farewell number for the year, and is devoted largely to an exposition of the charms of that section of country. There is a great deal of interesting reading matter, descriptive of especial natural attractions, and chronicling the happenings of society and the interesting doings of pleasure parties. But besides all this there is a wealth of illustration which will make the issue very welcome to all. Those who have ever spent one of those most delightful of summers at the Maplewood, at Pittsfield—or whose daughters have been educated at its classic Institute—will especially value the frontispiece giving excellently executed views of the grounds and buildings; and those who never have had such blissful experience will long, on seeing the views, to spend the very next season at that lovely spot. The half-page illustration given of the Point of Pines, Pontoosuc Lake, is a glimpse at that most beautiful sheet of water that only suggests its thousand-fold attractions. The picture is not as good as it might be. Old Greylock, Massachusetts's highest peak, is fainter in the distance than it ought to be, and Bald Mountain is too blurred, and the Taghconic range have been shorn of their height and grandeur by not being brought out clearly enough. Pontoosuc is one of those Berkshire lakes of surpassing prettiness and charm over whose rippling waters one must glide to appreciate their poetry. The scene presented of the landscape around the famous Stockbridge Bowl looks very natural, and arouses many longings to be there. The scenes in Lenox, Stockbridge, and Pittsfield, are such as delight the eye to linger on. The selection of subjects in the series of illustrations of residences is very judicious. Altogether, the souvenir issue of The Berkshire Hills Record is a very attractive publication, and is well worth procuring from W. H. Chase, at Pittsfield, in return for ten cents in stamps. The Record is an excellent paper in every issue, and many Plainfielders will find it desirable to place it on their subscription list next season.

Damages for Shooting Mrs. Faulkner's Bull.

Before justice Sperry and a jury in North Plainfield, the other day, Mrs. Faulkner and James Stewart sued David Y. Moore and son, all of Warren township, for damages to Mrs. Faulkner's bull which the Moore's had shot with beans until it was sore, and thereby lamed and disabled for several weeks.

The trial took the entire day. William A. Coddington was counsel for the bull and William M. Stillman for the bean shooters. Eighteen witnesses were examined. Counselor Coddington's masterly handling of the plaintiff's case won for her a verdict of $50 and also put the costs of court on Mr. Stillman's clients.

Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest, or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield N.J.

NEW TOURS ARRANGED.

To Visit California and Mexico via Pennsylvania Railroad.

No new feature ever inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad company attracted such universal comment and attention as the series of tours run early this year to the far Pacific coast, and now that another series is announced for 1892, not only covering the Pacific coast but an individualized tour to Mexico, the land of the Aztec, is further illustration of the wonderful growth of the personally-conducted system of traveling and the progressive move of this world-famed railroad. Each tour will be limited to a certain number of passengers, who will travel in a Pullman vestibule train, furnished with the luxurious appointments of the richest home, with ladies' maid, stenographer and typewriter, library, bath and barber, and smoking and library rooms, and an observation car—in truth an exact reproduction of the famous Pennsylvania limited. The first tour leaves New York January 13, and speeds directly to the Pacific coast via St. Louis, Kansas City, Las Vegas, and Santa Fe. The second tour, the Mexican, leaves February 10, running directly to the City of Mexico via Cincinnati, Mammoth Cave, Birmingham, Montgomery, and New Orleans, with incidental stops en route. The third, February 24, runs directly to New Orleans via Cincinnati and Mammoth Cave, and thence, after the Mardi Gras festivities, to the Pacific coast. The fourth and fifth, both through California tours, will leave March 24 and April 20, respectively.

The inauguration of this service last year was the theme for universal comment, and the warmest credentials of praise bear testimony to the high standard and perfection of every detail promoting the comfort and enjoyment of the tourists.

Such an opportunity has never been presented before to the people of the East of thoroughly seeing the vast domain of the country they so valiantly boast of, as well as such an opportunity of visiting the interesting land of the Aztec, replete with ruins garlanded with mythical lore. The rates for the round trip are exceptionally low, and include not only all necessary traveling expenses en route to Pacific coast and return, but also side trips to the attractive resorts in California, and several carriage and stage rides of interest. This applies as well to the Mexican tour, where the objective point will be the city of Mexico and side trips made from there, the rate including every necessary expense as well as hotel accomodations and side trips.

Itineraries presenting the full details of the tours are in course of preparation, and will be issued at an early day. In the meantime more detailed information may be secured by addressing George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Philadelphia, Pa.

It Does Not Pay to Go to Law.

Eden Laing of Rahway yesterday obtained a verdict against the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Union county court for $3,181.63. The plaintiff owned a tract of land in Rahway which a railroad commission condemned for the use of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Laing refused to accept the award of the commission on the ground that it appraised his property too low, and he appealed to the Union county court, where a struck jury gave a decided verdict in favor of the defendant corporation. The award of the commission was $7,500, and now Laing has to accept less than half this sum.

If you require Whiskey for Family or Medicinal use buy the best. A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is not made by any "peculiar," "secret" or fairy process. PUNCHING THE BAG.

Actor Billy Crane Plays Pugilist with Some Success.

Fierce Battle Which a Tourist to Cohasset Beheld with a Beating Heart—Stray Bits of Instructive Pugilistic Small Talk.

One summer's day, when the glorious sun was shedding its warmth on the sequestered sweet-scented little village of Cohasset, there occurred on the back piazza of a tree-hidden, ivy-covered little cottage, a four-round battle.

It was about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, says the Boston Globe, when John J. Murphy, of this city, halted at the front door of Billy Crane's cottage and pulled the bell. The accomplished wife of the celebrated actor answered the silvery jingle and informed Mr. Murphy that her husband was on the back piazza taking a sun bath.

John walked through the house to the back door and was about to discover himself to his friend when he was arrested and not a little startled by an angry voice.

"TAKE DAT, DEN!"

The voice belonged to Billy Crane. Here it is—(Mr. Crane in shirt sleeves, walking gingerly around a punching bag and eyeing it with the grim resolution of a meat ax)—"What's that?"

The bag swayed gently to the pressure of the breeze, and Billy jumped lightly to one side, as if to avoid a blow.

"Now look a-here, young feller, I don't propose to take any of your back—"

"You don't give er what?"

At this point Mr. Murphy stuffed his neglige hat down his throat to prevent an explosion.

An addition of life to the breeze gave the ball a quicker motion. This happened as Mr. Crane was about turning on his heel.

As quick as a flash he was on guard—a pretty, graceful one, too, a perfect counterpart of Jack McAuliffe's.

"O, ho, so you would; you'd try to get one in on the old man while his back was turned; you're a nice duck, you are. What! !"

Bing—

"You'd knock my whiskers off and spoil future frolics of the zephyrs, would you—"

Bing, bing—

"You're dead funny, you are; you put me in mind of a friend of mine who mistook the gravy pitcher for the one containing the cream, spoiled his coffee, and told the waiter the milk was sour."

By this time the ball was flying around like a chain shot on a mission of death. The perspiration was doing a steeplechase down Billy's sunburnt face, and he was blowing like a blacksmith's bellows.

After a moment's sparring to gain rest and a supply of wind, the fun began anew.

Mr. Crane (affecting the vocabulary of the "dees, dem and dose" fraternity)—"So you'd swipe me in d' ta-roat, would you? You'd trow me down an' plant daisies on me bloomin' chest, would you? Well, Chawley, I'm in this picnic to stay, see? The last feller I hit had to have his face amputated; an' if you stay with me long, there'll be another new harp player on the other shore."

This outburst was followed by a smashing left-hander, then a right and left in quick and terrific succession. The returns of the ball were deftly dodged by the actor, who showed marvelous agility.

"A man in Oshkosh insulted me one day just as you have done, my boy, and there was a funeral in that town twelve hours after; so you—"

"His? Of course 'twas his; d'yer think he'd be bound for a wedding after I'd hit him?"

The ball swayed and twisted itself in a way that seemed to say: "I don't believe you, I don't believe you, I'd—"

"Take that, then, an' that, an' that.

"Now I'll show you a move that Harry Leslie put me on to. He once tried it on a New Hampshire man who threatened to 'swat' him.

"That so? Course that's so.

"And they offered to give him a deserted farm if he'd become a citizen of that state and fight Sullivan.

"You're on to me? Well, I'm after you," and with this Billy feinted with his left, sent the right full on the leathern face of the ball, and got away without being touched.

He next assayed an upper cut, but missed, and the bag landed flush on his mouth, with a noise like that of a bass drum.

This seemed to enrage him. He walked around the ball with a look of supreme contempt, eyed it reflectively and said:

"I'll see you later, old man; Murphy might catch me at this."

WANTS BIG DAMAGES

A Belle Who Was Hurt at the Vanderbilt Ball.

SHE SUES FOR FIFTY THOUSAND.

Claims that the Edison Electric Company is Responsible for the Injury.

An Engine Used to Furnish the Power for the Electric Lights Frightened Her Horses and They Became Unmanageable—She Was Thrown Out and Sustained Injuries from Which She Will Never Fully Recover.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A novel lawsuit which will create a sensation in the inner circles of the Four Hundred of this city has just been instituted.

It is more than probable that the hearing, when it takes place, will call for the presence on the witness stand of some of the Vanderbilts, Astors, Whitneys and other leading society lights.

The suit is the outcome of the famous ball given by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at Newport, on August 18, of last year.

It is brought by Miss Dresser, of Newport and New York, against the Edison Electric Company of Newport, of which Millionaire John Whipple is the treasurer.

Miss Dresser estimates her damages at $50,000, and the suits are for that amount. Her lawyers are Richard W. G. Welling, of Wall street, and W. D. Beelker, of Providence, R. I.

Miss Dresser is well known in society as a friend of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the Goelets and other wealthy people. She owns a cottage at Newport also, and has taken a prominent part in the social functions at that fashionable resort.

Miss Dresser was one of the guests at the great Vanderbilt ball. It was the event of the season at Newport, and no expense had been spared to make it a grand success.

A feature of the occasion was the lighting of the spacious grounds surrounding the Vanderbilt cottage by electricity. This was a very expensive matter and the contract was given to the local Edison Electric Company.

The effect fully warranted the outlay, and the grounds took on a fairy-like aspect. Scores of guests were present from New York, Boston, Providence and other cities, and the ball was acknowledged to have been the finest ever given at Newport.

A temporary engine had been locatde in a corner of the grounds to furnish the power for the electric lights. Miss Dresser on the evening of the ball hired a carriage from Stewart's stables, as her own horses and carriages were in the country. The carriage was driven by William Rafferty, who is to be an important witness in the suit.

Miss Dresser was one of the belles of the ball, and enjoyed herself hugely in the brilliant assemblage. At 1:30 o'clock a. m. she called her carriage and started to return home. The engine on the grounds is said to have been running at full speed. As the carriage was passing the engine the horses became unmanageable and dashed away.

The team ran along Ochre Point, seriously near the ocean, to Annandale Road and then turned into Narragansett avenue.

Just opposite the handsome Travers cottage the carriage upset and Miss Dresser was thrown out upon the stony ground. Miss Dresser was severely injured and did not take any active part in the social gayeties of Newport during the balance of the season.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Astor, Mrs. Clews and many other ladies called on her daily for some time after the accident, to learn how she was progressing. Nothing was said about a suit for several months after the occurrence.

It was noticed by the people a Newport this summer that Miss Dresser walked with difficulty, and that a limp was plainly perceptible. It is said that the lady has never recovered from the effects of the accident, and will be lame for life.

As time passes the effect became more serious, and Miss Dresser experiences more and more difficulty in attending to her own social duties.

The certainty that she would never fully recover from the injury finally induced Miss Dresser to begin the suit, the papers in which have been served on the Edison Electric Light Company, of Newport.

At the office of the Edison Electric Company Counsel Lewis said yesterday:

"The suit has been brought against a subsidary Edison Company, the stock of which is mostly held in Newport. We are not interested in the suit, except as minority stockholders in the Newport Company. The suit is being defended by local legal talent there."

Col. Samuel R. Haney of Newport has been engaged to defend the suit.

Miss Dresser's action has been brought in the United States Court, and the papers are made returnable Nov. 16.

Rough Passage of the Etruria.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Etruria experienced rough weather on the trip across. When three days out she ran into a violent storm and the engines were slowed up for four hours. The vessel lurched so badly that the passengers were thrown down. One woman in the cabin received an injury to her spine. On Friday an electric storm was encountered, which, beyond frightening many of the people on board, did no harm.

Fatal Bar Room Brawl.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—Jerry Buckley, a young married man, was shot through the head and instantly killed in front of Stein's Hotel, at Sparksburg, and Harry Stein, the proprietor, was shot in the thigh, about 11 o'clock Saturday night. The shooting was done by two colored men, named Akens and Morris, and was the result of a barroom dispute.

SEARLES-HOPKINS CASE.

The Decision Allowing the Will to Stand Not a Victory for Either Side.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 26.—Speaking of his judgment in the Searles-Hopkins will case on Saturday, which allows the will to stand, Judge Harmon says:

"This decision of mine is not at all on the merits of the case. Why we have had only about a third of the evidence to be put in, and the most important witnesses have not been examined. Mr. Thomas E. Stillman, Mr. Timothy Hopkins, and, in fact, none of the contestants have been examined at all. Counsel have simply been trying to get at what evidence they could from the petitioners for the will, and they have followed the very ordinary course of procedure. They have not attempted to fully prove their case here, for they have no desire to show their hand. They have reserved their evidence for the Supreme Court.

"No, this is not a victory for either side," he added. "I had only one course open to me and one decision to make. This is only a step. This case has just begun."

Timothy Hopkins, as soon as the decision was announced, gave notice of appeal, and it is apparent that this case may drag through the courts for years.

The will of Mrs. Hopkins-Searles divided her great wealth between Searles, her second husband, and her adopted son, Timothy Hopkins, and both were to serve as trustees without bonds. But shortly before her death she caused a codicil to be executed in which so much of the original document as related to Timothy was struck out and Hubbard, a lawyer and friend of Searles, put in his place. The alleged illegality of this alteration, said to be the result of undue influence, misrepresentation and fraud, was the main contention of Timothy Hopkins, when he opposed the probate of the will.

All the private papers of Mrs. Hopkins-Searles were put in evidence. There were sackloads of letters, diaries and documents of every description read, and when the private check book of Mr. Searles was called for a determined effort was made to keep it back, but the court decided it was necessary. One of the reasons given by Searles for disinheriting Timothy Hopkins was that the young man had hired detectives to spy on his mother and himself. This Hopkins denied, claiming that the detectives were hired at the request of his mother, who had doubts about the disinterested motives of Mr. Searles.

HE GOT THEM DRUNK.

The Clever Way in Which Two Philadelphia Forgers Were Captured.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Detectives Miller and Tait brought back with them from Kennebago Lake, Me., Harry McGlatchey and Charles J. Care, charged with uttering forged paper. It is charged that the prisoners changed a $50 check to $5,100 and got it cashed. In New York and Boston they robbed jewelry stores. Two weeks ago they came to Kennebago Lake. They were heavily armed and spent the time very pleasantly.

A Rangely Lake guide named Jim Smith met them in a game of poker one evening, and mistrusting something was wrong from a remark kept his eye on them. On the arrival of the detectives Smith guided them nearly to the camp. They hid in the woods. Smith went to camp, got the men drunk, pulled the cartridges from their rifles and revolvers, gave the officers the signal, and their arrest quickly followed. Nearly $4,000 in cash and diamonds was recovered.

Still No Clue to the Mystery.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The death of Horace Williams, whose body was found floating in the creek at Lafayette Mills, still remains a mystery. John Dobbins, who was last seen with Williams, has not yet turned up. It was at first supposed that he had met a similar fate to Williams, but a careful dragging of the creek revealed no body there. The authorities are searching for Dobbins in all directions, but so far have no clue whatever. The theory of foul play has many adherents, as there was no money found on Williams' body.

One Hundred and Two Years Old.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 26.—"Aunty" Baldy, Terre Haute's oldest woman, who has just reached the remarkable age of 102 years, was born October 24, 1789, at Saratoga, N. Y., and came to Terre Haute in 1819, three years after the city was founded. Her husband went down the Wabash in a flatboat for New Orleans in 1822, and he never returned. He was probably killed by the Indians, "Aunty" Baldy never married again.

Bigamist Commits Suicide.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 26.—Michael Mamle, who was in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of bigamy, was found hanging from his cell door yesterday morning, having used a towel in lieu of a rope in order to put an end to his troubles. Mamle was quite dead when discovered.

More Laws Against the Jews.

ST. PETERSBURGH, Oct. 26.—An order has been made prohibiting Jews from supplying spirituous liquors to the crown, and the Jews are also prohibited from selling liquors, except when intended for export.

GREEN GOODS GANG

Captured in New York by Inspector Byrnes.

THEY DID A BIG BUSINESS.

The Swindlers Paid Out $3,000 a Month for Postage.

The Names of 60,000 Business Men to Whom Circulars Had Been Sent Found in the Outfit, Which Was Very Complete—They Had a Printing Press of Their Own—Prominent Western Man Who Wanted Some of the "Stuff."

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Inspector Byrnes has broken up the worst green-goods gang that has operated in this city for several years. In the arrest yesterday of Frank Brooks, alias "Pretty Frank," and Terence, alias "Poodle" Murphy, two of the most dangerous swindlers men in the country were captured.

In a trunk in the room where the men were taken were found forty-six books containing 60,000 names of men from almost every city, town and hamlet in the United States. One set of books contained the right names of these parties and their addresses, while another set had a cipher entry.

Two tin boxes were among the discovered things in the trunk. In them were $6,000 letters and telegrams from victims, dated from every part of the country.

Brooks and his confederates have done during the past few months an immense business, or rather a preparation for it. They have recently mailed 500,000 circulars to various parts of the country. The postage alone has cost in one month $3,000.

Sometimein with a year Brooks purchased a printing office, and with the outfit produced his own circulars at a reduced cost. When he had finished he resold the press and material.

Replies will be coming in from the 500,000 circulars very soon, but not one cent of good will Brooks or his confederates realize from them, for without the records and the cipher number the game cannot be worked with success.

The circular which the gang has distributed so liberally holds out the usual alluring bait. Customers must come to this city and do their business personally. The goods and rates are described as follows:

"My prices are as follows: $300 by $3,000; $650 by $10,000; $1,000 by $30,000. These goods are as fine as human skill can make them. Not one of my agents have had the least difficulty in handling them, and many have acquired independent fortunes."

All communication with the "gang" is by telegraph, using a cipher furnished with the circular, and prospective customers are strongly warned not to use the mails, as discovery is the inevitable result.

Among the letters found was one from John F. Reed, who claims to be the superintendent of the Elgin Home Stock Farm, Alpine, Ind., in which the writer sends $50 for a small consignment of the "stuff" to try and see how it works. If successful, he will engage in larger transactions, he says.

MAY RUN DOWN THE GANG.

Arrest of the Clarks Likely to Reveal the Dupont Powder Mill Conspirators.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 26.—The detectives who arrested the Clark family for blowing up the Dupont powder mill claim that the information obtained from the husband will result in the speedy capture of the entire gang of conspirators and their conviction.

The Clarks, who consist of Edward Clark, Mary Clark, his wife, and Joseph Clark, their son, fifteen years old, were arrested Saturday, and were placed in the Newcastle jail on a charge of causing the explosion of Dupont's powder mill a year ago, by which explosion fifteen lives were lost, thirty people were wounded and sixty dwelling-houses were wrecked.

The detectives ingratiated themselves into the favor of the Clarks, and finally obtained the information that led to the arrest.

Actor Clarke to Spread Himself.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 26.—George Clarke, the actor, now playing at the Lyceum Theatre, London, has written to a friend here that he in intends to convert the large tract of land which he purchased in this vicinity last year into a driving park and pleasure grounds, with a half mile trotting track and quarter mile running track. He says that he will also erect a large grand stand, stables, club house, dancing pavilion and casino. Others are interested with Mr. Clarke in this venture, which will necessitate an outlay of from $100,000 to $200,000.

Queen Victoria All Right.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The wild rumor that Queen Victoria had died suddenly is believed to have originated in New York with a stock-jobbing intention. There was no truth in the story. The Queen is enjoying her usual excellent health.

PLEASED DEPOSITORS.

Superintendent Preston's Report on the Ulster County Savings Bank.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Bank Superintendent Preston's statement to the trustees and depositors of the Ulster County Savings Institution, which closed its doors a few weeks ago, has caused great rejoicing among all the parties concerned.

The superintendent announces that the examination is nearly completed, that the liabilities of the bank have been ascertained from the ledgers and there yet remains to be done the comparison of individual pass books with the depositors' ledger balances before the actual liabilities can be announced. The examiners are also engaged in examining the assets and this work will be finished in a few days.

While the deficiency is larger than was at first reported, Superintendent Preston is confident with the co-operation of depositors and citizens the bank can soon resume business. In his opinion the present assets of the bank are capable of paying at least eighty-five per cent. of deposits, providing the bank can have a reasonable time, and that ultimately the depositors will be paid in full, with due allowance for shrinkage.

When the report of the bank's condition is made he will submit a plan of resumption which, if approved by the court, will avoid the necessity of a long, tedious and expensive receivership.

It is rumored that the grand jury, which is now in session, has indicted Ostrander and Trumpbour, the defaulters. It is said that both are indicted for embezzlement, and Trumpbour also for perjury. The State Banking Department is censured, it is also said, for not having made the discovery of the bank's trouble years ago.

WHO KILLED JOHN BRIODY?

Another Mysterious Murder in Connecticut—Absolutely No Clue.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 26.—Another mysterious murder occurred on the notorious Naugatuck turnpike last Thursday night when John Briody, an aged farmer, was beaten into insensibility and left for dead in the brush by the roadside. Some persons passing heard his groans and carried him to the home of John Foley. He could tell nothing about the assault nor describe the assailant, and the police have had no clues. He rallied somewhat Saturday night and told those at his bedside that he was a good-looking stranger on the road to whom he gave a ride, and who pulled out a bottle of whiskey from which both drank. He immediately lost his senses and fell into the bottom of the wagon.

He fell back on his bed and died after telling this much of the story, and the only clue the police have is of the "good-looking stranger."

The Naugatuck turnpike, where the assault occurred, is famous for highway robberies.

METHODISTS CELEBRATE.

The 125th Anniversary of the Church in This Country Fittingly Observed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The 125th anniversary of Methodism in this country was celebrated yesterday in its original home, the first Methodist church ever built in America, known as the John Street Chapel—situated in one of the oldest and busiest sections of the city. The morning's service was conducted by Rev. William Gorman, who came from the birthplace of the church's first pastor in Ireland.

The whole day was devoted to holding anniversary meetings, participated in by many of the delegates who have been in attendance at the Ecumenical Conference at Washington, and hailing from all parts of the globe. The clock which stands in the lecture room, and which was sent to the society by John Wesley 130 years ago, was one of the chief objects of interest to those present.

Would-be Train Wrecker Arrested.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—Ellsworth Luse, of Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, was arrested at his home yesterday and lodged in jail at Greensburg, for the attempted wrecking of a passenger train on the McKeesport & Belle Vernon road near McMahon Station last Monday night and for the same offense again Saturday night. Luse, who is 30 years old, confessed to both crimes. He appears to have been actuated solely by a mischievous spirit, as he says he hid near by just to "see the thing strike." He is held in $4,000 bail for court.

Four More Bodies Found.

LEWES, Del., Oct. 26.—The bodies of four more of the crew of the schooner Red Wing, which was wrecked near Indian River Inlet, have been found near Indian River life saving station. They will be kept as long as possible for identification.

Cornell vs. Princeton Next Saturday.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 26.—Managers of the Cornell and Princeton football teams have telegraphed here for the use of grounds, and it is thought probable that the game between those clubs will be played here next Saturday.

Marie Tempest Better.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Miss Marie Tempest, the leading singer in the "Tyrolean" at the Casino, who fell Friday night, and has since been suffering from concussion of the brain, is better, and will soon be able to play again.

SHE WAS NOT CRAZY

Unjust Confinement of a Woman in a Mad House.

LOCKED UP FOR FOUR YEARS.

Shocking Cruelties on the Part of the Attendants of the Institution.

Afflicted With a Fever, When Convalescent Her Husband Had Her Incarcerated in an Insane Asylum—She Was Perfectly Rational—Had to Work for the Other Inmates, Who Occasionally Gave Her Some of Their Cast-Off Clothing.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Bella Nau, the wife of August C. Nau, a well-known furniture dealer of this city, who has just been released from the Long Island Home, a private insane asylum at Amityville, by Justice Cullen of the Supreme Court, had been confined in the asylum four years, and Lawyer Albert Bach says she was perfectly sane all this time. Mr. Bach said this morning:

"The confinement of the woman in an insane asylum is the greatest outrage that I have ever heard of. She is one of the brightest and most intelligent women I have ever met. Four years ago she had puerperal fever, which is attended almost invariably by a greater or less loss of reason. As soon as she was able to leave her bed her husband placed her in the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum. They would not keep her there long, and soon discharged her as improved. Then two physicians certified that they thought Mrs. Nau was insane, and upon that certificate, without taking her before a magistrate, she was placed in the Long Island Home.

"A few weeks ago an old blind man, a cousin of the woman, named Bernard Greiner, went to Miss Lathrop and told her that he had heard that Miss Nau was perfectly sane, and that she was subjected to the most degrading indignities in the insane asylum. Miss Lathrop went to Amityville and had a long talk with Mrs. Nau. She said that her husband paid $8 a week for her board, but did not send her any clothes. She had to work for the other inmates who occasionally gave her some of their cast-off garments.

"I obtained a writ of habeas corpus Saturday afternoon and had the woman taken before Justice Cullen. Dr. J. E. Bowman of the home, with an attendant, accompanied her, but he left the court room before the case came up, and he sent his return of the writ in the form of a letter, in which he simply said that he could not assure the woman's friends that she was perfectly sane, or that it was safe for her to be released.

"Justice Cullen said he would hold an examination on Wednesday, and advised me to send physicians to examine into the woman's mental condition. Her husband, who was in court, then consented to her release, saying her sister, who lives in Poughkeepsie, was willing to take care of her. Thereupon Justice Cullen signed an order for Mrs. Nau's release. She will never go back to her husband."

3,000 FAMILIES HOMELESS.

A Swiss Town Destroyed By Fire—The Church Miraculously Saved.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—A most disastrous fire has destroyed the flourishing town of Meiringen, in the canton of Berne, Switzerland. The fire started in a house, and owing to a prevailing high wind gained rapid headway, spreading furiously through the entire town. Despite every effort, building after building was caught and crumbled. All the population, except the children, aged and helpless, joined in fighting the flames, but the most heroic labor was vain.

The postoffice, town hall, railway station, hotels, shops and houses went down like stacks of hay. The flames curled fiercely around the church, and the devout Switzers made one more rally to save their venerated place of worship. Almost as if a miracle the fire was borne by the gale in another direction and the church escaped destruction.

Besides the church, the Hotel Sauvage and three houses are all that is left standing. The poor weavers of the town saw all their property disappear. The wind carried the flames into an adjoining wood, where the fire gradually lost its fury and died out. More than 3,000 families are homeless.

Parnellite M. P. Pelted With Mud.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Parnellites and Anti-Parnellites held numerous meetings in Cork yesterday. The most singular incident of the day was the mud-pelting which John O'Connor, the Parnellite M. P., received at the instance of priests. O'Connor was going about canvassing for Redmond, and was followed by Canon O'Mahony and two curates, each with an open prayer book in his hand. The priests urged the people to eject O'Connor from their houses. Upon O'Connor's refusal to retire he was pelted with mud. When O'Connor perceived that the excitement was growing, he concluded to retire.

Jail Breakers Not Yet Caught.

PAULDING, O., Oct. 26.—D. R. Goodwin, Eck Evick, Robert Tining, Charles McCarty, who broke jail Saturday, by sawing off the cell bars with a burglar's saw, are still at large. Sheriff Sailor has offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension of the escaped prisoners.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

The corner stone of Tufft's new Divinity building in Boston was laid yesterday.

The loss on the burned building occupied by the Union Cotton Ginning Company, Boston, is $30,000.

Major W. C. Manning, an ex-soldier, whose war record was full of excitement has died in Newport, Me., at the age of 81.

MARTIN'S GREAT FEAT.

Opinion General That He is But Poorly Paid for His Six Days Ride.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—William Martin and his phenomenal performance on the silent steed at Madison Square Garden, was the principal topic of conversation yesterday. How the lad, for he is not much more, managed to stay on the track 127 hours out of 142, giving only fifteen hours to rest and sleeping only a little over half of that time, puzzles most people. But Martin's iron constitution and his freedom from the use of stimulants of any kind solved the mystery.

The fact that Martin would receive but $2,500 or $3,000 for his work, and the others only in proportion, was very generally deplored. The managers of the affair have done themselves credit as managers, but their treatment of the men financially, even though it be by agreement, is exceedingly parsimonious. They could give Martin $7,000 or $8,000 at the very least and still have a handsome sum to their credit resulting from the race.

All the racers were about yesterday and all insisted that they felt chipper as two-year-olds. Martin got about wonderfully well and Ashinger seemed to be in splendid condition. Lamb looked smart, too, but Shock, Boyst and Albert showed the effects of their severe work plainly. The latter is a badly broken up man, but notwithstanding this he insists that he is the greatest wheelman living and announces his ability to beat Martin's record and the record of the world. He says he can get plenty of backing, too. Albert is dead game, as he showed in the race, but he will have to grow some before he can reach the notch made by Martin.

At the close of the contest Martin had 1,466 miles to his credit, Ashinger 1,441, Lamb, 1,362, Schock 1,328, Albert 1,308, Boyst 1,301. The total receipts for the week were $25,000 and the net proceeds $16,000. Of this Martin will get $2,100, Ashinger, $1,500; Lamb, $720; Shock, $600; Albert, $480; Boyst, $300.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S RELEASE.

The Movement to Secure it Not Likely to Succeed.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The attempts of American women to raise money to secure the release of Mrs. Maybrick have created much comment here.

Efforts to induce Home Secretary Matthews to express an opinion on the subject have not been successful, but from talks with people who are in Mr. Matthews' confidence in such matters and whose ideas reflect in a large measure Mr. Matthews views on the subject, the movement stands a very remote chance of success.

Mr. Matthews overhauled the evidence very thoroughly, on the petition for a reprieve soon after the trial, and he is quite convinced that he has not kept an innocent woman in prison. The opinion that Mrs. Maybrick could be released on habeas corpus proceedings does not take root with eminent British lawyers, except with those who are engaged in the civil suit about the insurance money, which is expected to be brought to trial late this year.

What is most required now is not money, but new evidence on which to support the claim for a new trial. The lawyers for the Crown say that nothing has as yet transpired in the way of new evidence which will lead any British judge for one moment to consider the question of a new trial.

Mrs. Maybrick must remain in prison for many months yet, unless the Home Office in the meanwhile gets a hint from the Queen to release her.

DIED OF HYDROPHOBIA.

An Engineer Who Was Discharged as Cured Expires in Great Agony.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 26.—On the morning of Aug. 6, Robert D. Morton, a well-known young engineer on the Richmond & Danville road, was bitten by a mad dog, and twenty-five hours later he was among the patients of the Pasteur Institute, in New York City.

He was inoculated twice daily for fifteen days, when he was discharged as cured. He returned at once to this city and resumed his duties. Last Friday night, while on his engine, he was attacked by severe pains in his side, where he was inoculated, and was at once taken home.

During Saturday morning and evening he showed every symptom of hydrophobia and a white froth fell constantly from his lips. This froth turned to a greenish color as the end appeared, and at 6 o'clock yesterday morning he died in horrible agony.

Morton was 36 years old and leaves a widow and three small children. The family severely condemn the treatment of the Pasteur Institute, and it is stated that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers intends to take official notice of the case.

Has Livsey Gone to Europe?

PITTSBURG, Oct. 26.—United States District Attorney Walter Lyon states that he thinks it possible that William Livsey, the missing ex-State Treasurer, has gone to England. Mr. Lyon says Livsey is an Englishman and his relatives live in that country. When Livsey resigned his office, he says, he thinks he went to New York and sailed without telling his people anything about his intentions.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

The engagement of Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts and Col. Vivian of London is London.

The annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of the First District, New York State, will be held in Nyack on November 20, 21 and 22.

William Gleaning went about Kensico, N. Y., yesterday with revolvers and shotgun seeking whom he might make pepper castors of. Finally he was lodged in jail.

A German suicided in Yonkers. He left this pathetic note: "I have no money. I will not steal or beg and cannot get work; so, God willig, I will bid good-by to the world."

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Look to-morrow and see that you are properly registered.

—To the entertainment at the Boys' club this evening all boys are invited.

—The Prohibitionists will hold a rally at the Martinville school-house Saturday evening.

—Strawberry blossoms were picked at the shore of Elysium Lake yesterday. Ripe strawberries are expected in a few days.

—A careless bicycler on a high wheel knocked down a woman on LaGrande avenue, yesterday, and inflicted painful injuries.

—To-morrow is the last day of registration. See that your name is correctly written on the list. The hours are from 1 p. m. to 9.

—The world-renowned colored Patti and medalist, Madame M. Sissieretta Jones, will appear in Reform Hall, Thursday evening, Dec. 10.

—Attorney William Archibald Coddington has fitted up new offices at 28 West Front street that are equaled by the quarters of few members of the bar in New Jersey.

—"The Jolly Three" will give a grand promenade sociable in Hetfield's hall, West Front street, Thursday evening, Oct. 29. It promises to be a highly enjoyable event, and will doubtless be liberally patronized.

—The bowling section of the Y. M. C. A. will meet as usual at the Olympia alleys to-morrow evening. The payment of $1 per month in addition to the $2 membership in the association entitles anyone to bowl.

—The mechanical drawing and bookkeeping classes will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. All interested in these classes or in the formation of a class in penmanship are requested to apply at the association rooms to-night.

—Ripe red raspberries were plucked by the coachman of A. B. Darby, 75 Grove street, in Mr. Darby's garden, to-day. The samples brought to the office of THE PRESS were as luscious fruit as if they had ripened under July instead of late October suns.

—The tempest which has agitated Millstone the past few days over the organization of a council of Junior American Mechanics is in a fair way to subside. The foreign-born element has apparently reached the conclusion that it became unnecessarily alarmed.

—There are a large number of guests at The Albion, and also many table boarders from the residences in the vicinity. A prosperous fall and winter season is assured. Yesterdaysdinner was served to 80, including a party of 20 cyclers from New York and Brooklyn.

—This evening, at 8 o'clock, the Bible normal class will meet in the First Baptist church. Subject—"An analysis of the book of Genesis". This class is open for anyone in the city to become a member, and full notes of all the work done up to the present time will be given to those joining.

—An evangelistic meeting will be held at Hope chapel, Fourth street, near Plainfield avenue, to-night, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. There will be good singing, and all will be welcome. Another similar meeting will be held next week Monday.

—For the second time within a few weeks some practical joker hid powder, Saturday, in the forge at Prince Brown's blacksmith shop on Emily street. The explosion caused a general scattering of everybody and everything in the building. Mr. Brown will pay $5 reward for the detection of the joker, who will be wise not to repeat the offense.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Daisy Shepard is at home for a short visit from school.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Squires returned, Saturday, from Ithaca, N. Y.

O. B. Gaston, a former well-known resident of this city, spent Sunday with Dr. C. M. Field.

J. Evarts Tracy has returned from his trip to Canada. He shot two bears during his stay.

Mrs. Edgerton of East Front street gave a beautiful luncheon in honor of her guest, Miss Miner of Louisiana.

The many friends of Rowland Cox will be glad to know that he is very much better. His accident was not so serious as at first was feared.

Judge Ulrich has been elected an honorary member of the survivors' association of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers.

Owing to a death in the family, Mrs. C. E. Brooks has withdrawn from the play to be given at the Casino Nov. 19. Mrs. W. I. Saunders has taken her part as "Esmeralda".

The wedding of Charles S. Greer and Miss Anna L. Tallant, both of this city, took place at Perth Amboy last Saturday. The Rev. W. A. Bronson officiated. It was a very pretty event. The happy couple will reside on Manning avenue.

THE PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW

How Jurors Beguelin, Slevin and Hogan Stood When the Saloon Keeper Asked for an Indictment.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In speaking of the indictment granted to Miller the concert-saloon keeper by the late grand jury, you say:

THE PRESS has every reason to believe that the Plainfield members of the jury fought hard against the indictment.

What do you mean by "every reason", and, when you come down to it, how much foundation have you for such a belief? Then again you say:

So far as the secrets of the jury room are known, it seems assured that Messrs. Beguelin, Slevin and Hogan proved themselves in favor of propriety and justice.

Now just how far are the secrets of that jury room known?

Let me tell you that the action of the late grand jury in granting an indictment on such a complaint at the solicitation of Miller, is being discussed on the cars, on the boat and among the right-minded citizens of Plainfield wherever they meet.

Not because THE PRESS is indicted, but because the people themselves feel indignant at the reproach upon them. The popular revolt against the resort kept by Miller was so great that the Council rose up and unanimously passed a law to close it up. Yet in the face of such general feeling among the people and such unanimous action of the Council, the grand jury give Miller an indictment against a newspaper for saying even by inference a word about the place.

The people feel it is their right to know for sure whether ex-Councilman T. A. Beguelin, J. L. Slevin and D. Hogan, jr., each and all voted against the indictment. Can they not make a statement that will wipe away any shadow of suspicion that may now darken them? Of course, the assurance of THE PRESS is of great weight, but that assurance is only so far as you have heard.

We are bound to find out who are responsible in this city for the indictment. Should they ever raise their heads for office or public recognition of any sort, they will be made to feel the people's wrath. It is to be hoped for their sakes that Messrs. Beguelin, Slevin and Hogan are as innocent as THE PRESS says. But there is somebody responsible, and he'll be known and loaded with shame for the dirty service he has done the saloon keeper.

ONE OF A THOUSAND INDIGNANT CITIZENS.

[The writer of the above is so prominent among the people that he deserves an answer. Whether Messrs. Beguelin, Slevin or Hogan will reply, time alone can tell. THE PRESS can only say that it was told by those supposed to be "On the inside" that the Plainfield members of the grand jury were against the granting of the indictment; and, knowing the men, THE PRESS is ready to believe such assurance. But however that may all be, a word of caution is called for. Our correspondent must know that the methods of drawing grand juries, their composition political or otherwise, and their acts, are matters the public are not allowed to inquire into, discuss or criticise. THE PRESS once said that a grand jury then in session would not indict a man who was brought before them guilty of an assault on another in the public street. That grand jury did not indict the man; and indicted THE PRESS for saying they would n't.—ED.]

A Thief Captured in Plainfield.

Two officers from Elizabeth were in town yesterday looking for a colored man who had stolen watches and jewelry from a private dwelling. To-day sergeant Lynch captured the fellow, with his booty on him, and he will be taken this afternoon to Elizabeth to await punishment.

Thought to Have Eloped.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., Oct. 26.—Miss Julia Howell and William McCracken, who have disappeared from here are believed to have eloped. The latter is the proprietor of a tobacco factory, and Miss Howell, until recently, was employed as a clerk in a store on Main street. It is known that she received the attentions of McCracken and that her parents did not favor him.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

A GREAT STAG RACKET.

The Gentler Sex Missed a Genuine Treat, in the Bi. Club Entertainment.

THE BICYCLE club gave a fine entertainment at the club-house gymnasium Saturday night. The audience was large and select, of men only. All the professions were represented. Physicians, bankers and brokers, newspaper men, school teachers, and one clergyman, were there.

All heartily enjoyed the music, the athletics, the good cigars that were smoked, and the general hospitality that prevailed. Brooks and Denton, the gilt-edged banjoists, gave the finest music those instruments have ever yet yielded to the touch of man. Thos. F. Casey, the comic singer supreme, was very very funny, and like the banjoists was recalled again and again. J. Silberberg, accompanist extraordinary, handled the piano keys with superb ability. The exhibition of some of the club members and visitors on the bars and rings was very skillful, and greatly appreciated. Some very clever and some very funny boxing was done. The bout between the dandy architect and the club's funny man was positively the most amusing thing ever witnessed in any gymnasium, and was productive of shrieks of laughter. The way the boxers pummelled the air and slugged each other with total disregard of science was ludicrous in the extreme, and when they clinched it took ten men a whole minute to get them apart.

The "show" was a clean and wholesome affair that everybody hopes will be soon repeated. Elmer Runyon, tenor triumphant, was unable to sing as had been announced.

Serious Charge by an Enraged Parent.

Charles Roughtenhausen complained to judge Codington this morning that a fellow known as "George", an attendant at the "merry-go-round" in the Crescent rink, had kept his two daughters and two other girls in the rink with him from Saturday evening to Sunday evening. Judge Codington said it was a case he had no jurisdiction over, and advised him to go to a justice of the peace. Roughtenhausen has secured judge Ulrich as his lawyer. If his statement is true, the fellow who thus takes advantage of young girls who are so unfortunate as to be somewhat beyond the bounds of home influence and restraint ought to be made an example of. Places of public amusement must not be used as a decoy, and virtue and morality must be protected.

OBSEQUIES OF CORNELIUS MARTINE.

The Last Sad Rites Over the Remains of the Lamented Freeholder.

Deeply impressive ceremonies were performed over the remains of the late C. W. L. Martine this afternoon. Funeral services were held from his late residence in Fanwood, and interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery in North Plainfield. The body was borne to its last resting place by colored porters. The escort was a notable body of men, and included Wm. C. Stansbury, James Baker, James Ritchie, and George Kyte, of Fanwood; Judge McCormick, Henry R. Cannon, Wm. Wilson, and Patrick Sheridan, of Elizabeth; John L. Crowell of Rahway; and J. Frank Hubbard and Rowland M. Stover of Plainfield. The funeral was attended by the board of freeholders in a body, the members of the Union county bar, prominent men from all over the State, and leading dignitaries from New York, including Judge Martine, a cousin of the deceased.

Among other dignitaries present were Sheriff Hicks, Prosecutor Marsh, County Clerk Crowell, Surrogate Parrott, ex-Clerk Dr. Cannon, Assemblyman Lane and ex-Assemblyman Matthews, ex-Collector Patrick Sheridan, ex-Sheriff N. K. Thompson, ex-Surrogate James Gerber, ex-Senator R. L. Livingston, ex-Assemblyman James S. Ritchie, Major Ackerman, and a large concourse of citizens and friends who sincerely mourn the loss of an estimable man and citizen.

Another Enjoyable Dance at The Albion.

Saturday evening last, the third dance of the season was given at The Albion. It was an exceedingly enjoyable event, and will be long remembered by the participants. Greenop's excellent orchestra rendered the music for the occasion. The charming selections were enjoyed by the guests.

These alternate Saturday night dances at The Albion are decidedly first among the pleasant features of the season, and proprietor Miller's efforts to afford his guests and others events of this character are surely highly commendable. The unanimous vote of those present pronounced the affair a perfect success.

MISS SPANGENBERG RE-ELECTED.

Close of a Most Interesting and Helpful Convention of Christian Endeavor Societies.

The State convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor societies just concluded at Newark was a most enjoyable and successful affair. Halsey Hammond, State secretary and treasurer, in his report, showed great growth of the order during the year. According to this report there are 432 senior societies and 40 junior societies in the State, divided among the counties as follows: Essex, 53 senior, 5 junior; Sussex, 19 senior, 1 junior; Warren, 14 senior, 1 junior; Hudson, 30 senior, 9 junior; Middlesex, 34 senior, 2 junior; Mercer, 17 senior, 2 junior; Morris, 22 senior, 6 junior; Union, 29 senior, 2 junior; Camden, 22 senior, 1 junior; Gloucester, 13 senior, 2 junior; Atlantic, 8 senior; Monmouth, 32 senior, 4 junior; Burlington, 12 senior; Ocean, 4 senior; Passaic, 20 senior, 2 junior; Bergen, 19 senior; Hunterdon, 20 senior; Somerset, 20 senior; Salem, 12 senior; Cape May, 8 senior, 1 junior; Cumberland, 24 senior, 2 junior.

The societies are divided by denominations as follows: Presbyterian, 164 senior, 15 junior; Baptist, 93 senior, 8 junior; Reformed, 77 senior, 10 junior; Methodist Episcopal, 35 senior, 2 junior; Congregational, 19 senior, 5 junior; Methodist Protestant, 13 senior; Lutheran, 3 senior; Christian, 5 senior; Seventh Day Baptist, 2 senior; African Methodist Episcopal, 2 senior; Reformed Episcopal, 1 senior; Missions and Unions, 18 senior.

The number of members in the State was given as follows: 18,612 active; 5,802 associate; total, 24,414. During the past year 2,367 members joined the church. The growth of membership in the societies the past year was 40 per cent.

The newly-elected officers are as follows:

President, the Rev. G. S. Sykes, Beverly; vice-presidents, J. L. Scudder, Jersey City; the Rev. Dr. J. Clement French, Newark; the Rev. Frank Everett, Trenton; secretary and-treasurer, Miss Caroline H. Brookford, Belvidere; executive committee, Willard S. Hamilton, Newark; Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, Netherwood; Dr. Caldwell Morrison, Orange; Edward L. Farr, Camden; George Jones, Bridgeton.

District Secretaries—Essex county, Willard S. Hamilton; Hudson county, Edgar T. Corfield, Jersey City; Morris county, George E. Jenkins, Dover; Passaic and Bergen counties, James VanWinkle, Paterson; Union county, Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, Netherwood; Middlesex county, W. L. Everett, Jamesburg; Mercer, James I. Harper, Trenton; Salem, Cumberland and Cape May counties, David S. Blew, Bridgeton; Camden, Gloucester and Atlantic, E. L. Farr, Camden; Monmouth, Burlington and Ocean, E. M. VanNole, Long Branch; Hunterdon and Somerset, Miss Minnie Wyckoff, Bedminster.

Miss Spangenberg conducted a very enjoyable conference of the missionary committee, Saturday afternoon, and read a very complete and interesting annual report.

State colors were adopted Saturday afternoon. The New Jersey colors will hereafter be orange and black. The badges will be of orange with a black bar across the centre.

The new secretary is a young woman from Belvidere, who has done great work in a quiet way. She can make a telling address.

The Rev. Mr. Jones, of Christ Reformed church, Woodside, obtained samples of all the badges worn at the National convention, and had them made into a banner. It is an oddly pretty thing, and will remain in the Essex county district this year. Next year it will be presented to the district having the biggest increase in members.

Notes of the Boys' Club.

The average attendance at the club last week was 46 boys. The largest attendance was 56, and the smallest 29. The number of visitors was 16. Four boys joined during the week, making the total membership 404.

All the parents and friends of the boys are invited to the entertainment this evening. It begins at 8 o'clock.

As was anticipated, the class in scroll-sawing has proved a great success. The class is filled, and twenty more are anxious to join and names are being received all the time, but as the club is cramped for room they will be obliged to await the dismissal of any regular member for any good reason. Not only are the boys instructed in a regular course of lessons, but they are also given to understand that they must be good boys to remain in the class. The superintendent and managers would be glad to have their friends see the boys at work. They work every evening from 7 to 9. It is hoped that other classes may be started soon.

The rooms have been draped in mourning for Matthew McLernon, the member who was killed, recently, by the cars.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

Keep your eyes open; 25 cents buys Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain.

Tourists to Yellowstone Park next season might encounter a northwestern blizzard. If they are wise men they will take along a supply of the famous Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

IN MEMORIAM.

Cornelius W. L. Martine.

From The Journal of Elizabeth is taken the following biographical sketch of the late Cornelius W. L. Martine:

There was no public man in this vicinity more widely and favorably known than Cornelius W. L. Martine, the ex-director of the board of chosen freeholders, and the announcement of his sudden death has caused a universal expression of sincere regret.

Mr. Martine died about 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at his home in Fanwood. He had been in his usual health, and in the morning went to the village post-office to mail letters of thanks to county clerk Crowell and Senator Marsh for contributions they had sent to him for the Fanwood public library, of which institution he was the treasurer.

He returned to his home between 9 and 10 o'clock, and remarked to a member of the family that it was a chilly morning. He made no complaints of illness, and went into the cellar, where he was occupied for a while in brushing down some cobwebs. When luncheon was ready it was supposed that he was in his room, and the servant went to the door and called him. He was not there, but a moment later was found lying on the floor of his sister's room. Life was extinct, and it was apparent that death had come with little warning to him. It is probable that he felt bad, and went to his sister's room to inform her. He must have fallen immediately on entering the room. His head struck the stove, and there was an abrasion on the forehead.

Dr. Westcott was immediately summoned, but it is probable that Mr. Martine had been dead half an hour before he reached the scene.

Mr. Martine was 69 years of age. He was a native of New York State, and some years ago was engaged in the hardware business in New Xork. His father was John H. Martine, and the family took up their residence in Westfield township in 1850, their home being in that section which was in 1875 set off by the act of legislature as Fanwood.

The elder Mr. Martine was a public-spirited man, and he immediately associated himself with the interests of the township, and did much for its material advancement, holding positions on the town committee and other local offices. The son imitated his father in devoting himself to the welfare of his neighbors, and was likewise always active in affairs that promoted the best interests of the place. He was also honored with local responsibilities, and was first chosen to the board of freeholders from Westfield township. He continued its representative until Fanwood was apportioned off, and he was elected from the new township. His associates in the board recognized his executive ability, and selected him as director in 1875, and continuously until 1887 he held that office, with the exception of one year, when Mr. Parse was elected by the Republicans. Mr. Martine was re-elected the next year, and remained a member of the board and its director until defeated by George Kyte.

Mr. Martine was a Democrat, and while a man of decided convictions he was a man of strict integrity and fairness, very courteous, and was greatly respected by his political opponents as well as those connected with him by party affiliations. He was a faithful public official, and while a member of the board was very attentive to the county's business. He was regular in his attendance at the county buildings, every day spending a portion of his time in this city, and closely supervised all the work of the board. A very large percentage of the personal attention to county affairs he gave gratuitously, having retired from active private engagements, and devoted himself to public business without any expectation of remuneration but with sincere interest and as a means of occupying his time. All this, however, was done with much sacrifice. His administration of affairs was frequently commended by those politically opposed to him, and his terms of office were in years of prosperity to the county.

After his defeat as a freeholder he was candidate for the legislature, and Mr. Kyte was also his opponent, defeating him in that contest likewise.

Mr. Martine was foreman of the May term of grand jurors. He was in attendance at court the opening day of the present term, and was in the city on Thursday. He seemed well, and was in his usual cheerful spirits, holding agreeable conversation with many friends.

He was a cousin of James E. Martine, of Plainfield, and a nephew of Judge Martine, of New York city.

Editorially, The Journal makes the following comment on Mr. Martine's death:

The suddden death of ex-director Martine removes from the community and from politics a man who, in all his transactions, acted with honesty of purpose and fidelity to what he believed to be the best interests of the county. As a public official his record is one of honor, integrity and economy. It is with sincere regret that his death is announced, for though a skillful and influential opponent in politics he was one of those who commanded respect by earning it, and whose character was beyond the reproach which too often inheres in politicians. It is only just to say that to his careful management and close attention to the minute details of county affairs while he was in the board of freeholders, Union county owes not a little of her excellent financial condition and reputation to-day.

In The Times of New York the following bit of eulogy is contributed to the memory of the deceased:

The sudden death of Mr. Martine has caused great sadness throughout Union county. He was the slated candidate of the Democratic leaders of Union county for Congress next year in the new district. He was a man of unimpeachable integrity, and probably the ablest member that ever sat in the freeholders' board, as he undoubtedly was the ablest director that ever filled that chair. Mr. Martine, when director, always drew up the plans and specifications for any work contracted by the board, and thus saved the taxpayers the expense of a county engineer. He was a strong tariff-reform Democrat and a great admirer of Grover Cleveland.

STERLING'S SCANDAL.

A Townsman Says the Fight Against Dill Is for Purity and Morals.

The following communication about the Torrey-Dill troubles at Sterling appears in The Tribune of New York this morning:

Permit me to say a few words about the trouble between Mr. H. G. Torrey and the Rev. A. C. Dill, at Sterling, N. J. For over fifteen years Mr. Torrey has been an elder in the Sterling church. It was partly at his suggestion that the Committee of Presbytery sent Mr. Dill to preach for that church. It was only when Mr. Dill's methods and talk were so peculiar, and his views of admission to membership of the church were so lax that, as his elder, Mr. Torrey remonstrated. Mr. Dill was forced to leave the church in July last, but still lives in the town in a house which has been given to him by an aged maiden lady, who has resided alone in said house for years, and now takes care of him.

There was nothing personal, nor is there now, in Mr. Torrey's opposition to Mr. Dill. This is not a church fight, but is a contest for purity and morals. As a father of a family, and as an elder of the church, Mr. Torrey will, with others, protest in open Presbytery, and request that Mr. Dill be deposed from the ministry, having sworn statements as the basis of the charges.

It was a mistake to say, as in to-day's Tribune, that Mr. Torrey and Mr. Moffitt were kept over night in jail, the fact being that they were promptly dismissed on their own recognizance. The story about a detective fainting in front of Mr. Torrey's house, and his reviving him and then talking to him about things that have happened in the place is without any foundation in fact.

We had hoped that all publicity in thi- matter would be avoided, trusting to the promise of Mr. Dill, a lawyer of this city and brother of the Rev. A. C. Dill. Mr. Torrey had promised to do his best to protect the latter from any unpleasant demonstration against him, on condition that he would leave the place, which his brother promised to bring about in a few days. STERLING.

WILL TRY TO DOWN DOWNER.

Rotary Whist, Significant Church Election, and Other Newsy Happenings at Fanwood.

The record of the rotary whist quintette for the October series now stands: Abner P. Downer, 20; Gen. Kyte, 19; Messrs. Gardner, Smith and Force, 17 each. Pretty close scores, these—and the final games to be played Wednesday evening next at Abner P. Downer's residence are looked forward to with nervous eagerness by all concerned. They are reported as saying that they will down Downer if possible.

Since removing to Brooklyn, Walter Force has tendered his resignation as a member of the Fanwood club. This, following immediately the resignation of Gen. Kyte, depletes the crack bowling team of the Fanwoods to an extent difficult to fill.

L. J. Briggs has just returned from a two weeks' business trip; and, as those worthies are in the best of health and spirits, the opponents of Abner P. Downer and Mr. Briggs will find it difficult to defeat them at straight whist.

R. P. Moore was in town last Wednesday evening, and was royally entertained by his many friends. He is sadly missed by this community, but what is Fanwood's loss is Westfield's gain.

At the annual meeting of the electors of All Saints' mission, Fanwood, changes were made in the board of trustees by the relegation to laymanship of Charles Kyte and the Hon. Geo. Kyte, and by the election of Messrs. Frank Quereau and Harry Robinson to fill the vacancies caused thereby. Many were the regrets expressed by Charles Kyte's failing to be re-elected, as he was one of the pioneers in the establishment of the mission, and it had been expected that the personal feeling against his son would not be exerted or used against the father.

The Merry Life of an Editor.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

Plainfield editors are a great deal like the old farmers' chickens. He moved so often that whenever a wagon came to a stop at the house the chickens all turned over on their backs and held up their legs to be tied. Whenever a grand jury in this county presents a batch of indictments the Plainfield editors run down to Elizabeth with legal counsel and a bail bond. If they are not indicted they return home somewhat disappointed.

One or Two Friends.

I have been using Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills in my own case with marked success, and upon my recommendation have induced one or two friends to try them, with pleasing results. L. E. BENEDICT, Editor Ellenville Press.

PLAINFIELD IS PROUD OF ITS ARTIST.

His Fame as an Illustrator Is Already Widespread, and He Is Fast Acquiring Recognition as One of the Foremost Painters of the Age.

The Recorder of New York yesterday contained a most artistic sketch of a North Holland peasant, drawn by George Wharton Edwards of this city, expressly for that paper, from his original painting; and in addition thereto The Recorder published the following interesting biographical sketch of Mr. Edwards from the pen of that ablest of art critics, Perriton Maxwell:

Down in Fairhaven, Connecticut, some thirty-odd years ago, there lived a bright-eyed boy who, as he grew in years, developed a remarkable aptitude for drawing. Barn doors, well curbs and dog houses were decorated by him with white chalk in the most approved style. Later on the youthful draughtsman began to make for himself a local reputation as an artist of much power. The boy was George Wharton Edwards. It was not many years afterward when there began to appear in some of the better known magazines sparkling illustrations, full of vigor, snap and originality, signed by the then unfamiliar name of Edwards. It is worthy of remark right here that one can seldom pick up any of the best periodicals to-day without finding the name of George Wharton Edwards attached to at least one fine specimen of pen and ink or monochrome work.

Coming on to New York in his early manhood, Mr. Edwards become a decorative designer, in which line he displayed an unusual feeling for form beauty, now and then giving indication of a ready and and subtle imagination. With innate artistic qualifications and a strikingly original method of composition and handling, Mr. Edwards was not the kind of man to remain for any length of time under the dictation of a publisher. He resolved to be a painter first and last. Illustrating should be his recreation, painting his real vocation. That he has kept his resolution all the art world knows. Year after year witnesses the completion of at least one masterful canvas, to say nothing of a dozen or more breezy water colors and a triple score of monochromes.

One is at a loss to decide in which of the two forms of his genius Mr. Edwards is more happy—that which deals with the realism of the sea and the robust life of its followers, or his imaginative and poetical productions. Certainly he is most pleasing in the latter when the pen point is the medium through which he translates the fantasies of his imagination. There is a dash and cunning, coupled with an individuality of handling, in all of Mr. Edwards's work in black and white, that places him quite apart from other talented illustrators. It is, however, as a painter, that this artist would be known and judged, and as a painter the country that harbored his youth may some day claim him with justifiable pride.

In sympathy with the sea and its fascinating grandeur Mr. Edwards gets much of its changing color and more of its varied action into his pictures. The surge and thunder of a breaking billow, the graceful eddying of the tide about the rocks, the sweeping curvature of the incoming surf and the rolling of the deeper sea, are each as familiar to this artist as are his palette and brushes. Always strong in drawing, he is also somewhat weak at times in his application of color. This is more true of his earlier work than of his recent productions. That one who has worked so much and so long in monochrome as Mr. Edwards has should lose much of his finer color feeling is not at all surprising. That each year his pictures are becoming more and more luminous with concordant color is a noted fact. Many of the studies made by Mr. Edwards during the past summer and which he purposes working up into finished paintings will finally establish his position as one of our foremost painters of marine.

In 1882 Mr. Edwards made a tour through Belgium, Holland, England and France, a journey that inspired some of the cleverest pen drawings and short stories (for the subject of this sketch, as most people know, is quite as facile with his writer's pen as with his artist's pencil) that have been seen hereabouts for many days. Mr. Edwards has since spent three years in Holland greatly to the enrichment of his portfolios. One of his triumphs during his stay abroad was the hanging of one of his largest canvases, the "Retour de la Perche", in the Salon of 1883. He has a charming studio and possesses personal qualities that make him the best of companions. Though still comparatively a young man, Mr. Edwards has produced much that an older artist might claim with pardonable pride. It remains for the future to reveal whether or not the indications now given of a most brilliant artistic career will be permitted to Mr. Edwards. To say that his accomplishments up to the present time have been as remarkable as they have been praiseworthy does not carry with it the implication that Mr. Edwards has not in store for us a great many new canvases that will not alone please and surprise us, but that will give to us a firmer conviction and fuller appreciation of his exuberant imagination and his abounding artistic skill.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

RIDING ON A SHARK.

Daring Feat of a California Swimming Teacher.

He Mounts a Big Sea Monster and Shows Conclusively the Harmlessness of a Gigantic Member of the Basking Shark Family.

That a man should take a ride on a live shark's back, apparently with all the delight of a wild cowboy breaking in an unruly mustang, would be difficult to believe, unless circumstances were presented to verify it.

For the past few years the fishermen in the northern part of Monterey bay, near Santa Cruz, have been greatly annoyed by basking sharks. These sharks, while in search of food, often run into the nets of fishermen, and in thrashing about and trying to escape from the meshes which enfold them, tear the nets and injure them so that the fishermen at times suffer the loss of hundreds of dollars. Sometimes a shark struggles about so much in the water as to wrap the nets around it in such a manner that escape is impossible, and the huge fish dies from the exhaustion produced by its wild efforts to get free.

A few days ago, says a writer in the San Francisco Chronicle, a huge basking shark, about thirty or forty feet long, became entangled in the nets of some fishermen off Soquel point, about four miles from Santa Cruz. The shark, still alive and enfolded in the nets, was towed by the fishermen in boats to the wharf at Capitola. Its arrival created great excitement among the visitors at that resort. No amount of assurance on the part of the proprietors of the hotels or the fishermen that basking sharks were not man-eaters, and that many had been caught with no accident happening, could entirely quiet the fears of the visitors, and bathing was almost given up.

Some ocular demonstration of the fact that a basking shark was harmless therefore became necessary. Swimming Teacher Swanson, of the Capitola baths, then determined to give an exhibition with the shark which should convince the most timid. A performance followed, the like of which no man ever participated in before. Swanson put on a bathing suit and swam to the wharf where the partially exhausted monster lay, still partly wrapped in the torn and tangled fishing nets. Slowly approaching the gasping yet enraged monster, a whale in size if not in species, Swanson swam close to his side and then clambered slowly on top, a moderately easy task to accomplish, as the shark lay almost entirely under water. Sitting astride the huge fish like a baby on an elephant, the bold swimmer shouted in triumphant derision at the several hundred people on the wharf, who had gathered to witness the strange performance.

His song of success was quickly cut short, for as soon as the lazy shark realized it had gathered something more on his back it commenced to thrash about and threw Swanson off. Women in the crowd shrieked in fear and men held their breath in excitement. It was hardly a minute, however, before Swanson appeared uninjured and laughing outside of the line of foam caused by the shark's struggles. The undaunted swimmer again went to the side of the shark and once more mounted his marine steed. The shark again showed its fear and anger by shaking him off, but not so violently as before. With great persistence Swanson again climbed on to the monster.

What seemed before to the many spectators a most foolhardy act, and but the courtship of death, now became a strangely comical sight. Swanson mounted the fish, and the shark, becoming accustomed to its queer burden, merely rolled the man off each time he got on its back, simply turning lazily in the water and shaking himself. This was repeated several times, and the large crowd of people who came expecting to see the man killed and eaten departed laughing.

A Relic of Shakespeare.

A saddler named Bryan, residing at Smitterfield, Stratford, has found in his attic an oak cupboard bearing this legend, studded in copper nails:

1585.
I BOUGHT IT.
I SAWED IT.
I NAILED IT.
I CARVED IT.
MAY, 1585.
WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.
BORN APRIL 23, 1564.

The cupboard has belonged to Bryan's family for a century. Its possession is traceable before that to relatives of the great poet living at Smitterfield, which is popularly reputed to have been the birthplace of the bard.

HERO OF THE HOUR.

General Canto, the Military Idol of the Victorious Chilian Party.

GENERAL CANTO.

Col. Canto is forty years old. He commanded a battalion in the Chilian war with Peru and greatly distinguished himself. To his military tact, bravery and ability as a leader in that war he owed his promotion to the rank of colonel. He is one of the most able officers of the army. He is short of stature and of swarthy complexion. When trouble was brewing between Balmaceda and his congress Col. Canto proposed a toast to the constitution and the three powers it established—the legislative, the executive and the judicial. Balmaceda ordered his arrest and Canto suffered several months' imprisonment and was finally sent to the north of Chili in exile.

When the revolution broke out Canto escaped and immediately joined the congressional party and was put at the head of the fast forming army. The wisdom of the choice had been apparent. He felt that he was leading one of the most righteous revolutions that ever took place in South America. He fought as he felt. He will now undoubtedly be promoted to the full rank of general. While he will not be the highest in rank, there being several veteran generals still alive, he will be the idol of the country.

YE OLDE STONE HOUSE.

A Guilford (Conn.) Residence Built Several Hundred Years Ago.

What is probably the oldest house in the United States stands in a good state of preservation in the pleasant village of Guilford, Conn., says Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper. Besides its antiquity the structure is extremely interesting from its novel construction. The house stands on Whitfield street, the approach being a wide pathway across the broad lawn. Guilford—then called Menunkatuck—was settled in 1639 by a party from England, headed by Rev. Henry Whitfield, and the stone house was built in that year, so that it is now over two hundred and fifty-two years old. The walls are of stone, some four feet in thickness, and plastered inside and out, narrow fissures being left in them through which muskets were pointed at the redskins. The timbers and floor boards are of massive oak, hewn out with primitive tools. On one side is an immense chimney, built outside the walls, the fireplace being about ten feet wide and six feet high. The rooms are small and dark, owing to the deeply recessed and small windows, and the ceilings are scarcely seven feet high. The house has been somewhat modernized, the fissures in the walls being no longer visible, and the fireplace has been boarded over, the house being the Stone House Farm headquarters, but it remains one of the most interesting relics of a past generation to be found in this country.

Sensations in Hanging.

Capt. Montagnac, who was executed in France during the religious wars, but was rescued from the gibbet by a Marshal Turrene after having hanged by the neck for nearly three minutes, said that he had lost all pain the moment the trap sprung, and even complained at being rescued and taken away from a beautiful light that defied description. Another culprit who escaped through the breaking of the rope said that after a second or two of suffering a light appeared, and across it a beautiful avenue of trees. All accounts seem to agree, in one particular, at least, that the suffering is but momentary; that a pleasurable feeling immediately succeeds; that colors of various hues start up before the eyes, and that when these have been gazed at for a limited space the rest is total oblivion.

The Devil's Knell.

Among the famous bells of Dewsburg, Yorkshire, Eng., is one known as "Black Tom of Soothill," which was presented to the church in expiation of a murder. "Black Tom" is always rung on Christmas eve. Its solemn tolling as it strikes the first tap at exactly midnight is known all over Yorkshire as the "Devil's Knell," it being the notion that when Christ was born the devil died. Legendary superstition has always invested bells with miraculous powers and strange influences, but why the so-called spirits of darkness are credited with a strong aversion to their din has never been satisfactorily explained. In many Catholic countries bells are rung during the time of great storms, "so that the devil may take flight and the tempest subside."

Valuable Tips.

The New Jersey man who secured a patent on his idea of placing rubber on the tips of pencils is said to have realized $200,000 from it.

CHILI CALLED DOWN

A Formal Demand Made by Minister Egan.

SATISFACTION MUST BE GIVEN.

The Junta Made to Understand that We Mean Business.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE MOB DEAD.

Opinion General that the Reparation Demanded Will Be Made.

Mr. Blaine Takes Charge of the Affairs of State and Has a Conference With the President Regarding Chilian Affairs—London Capitalists Hope There Will Be No War—Great Indignation at the State Department.

SANTIAGO, Oct. 27.—Acting on instructions from Washington, Minister Egan yesterday, after making a brief but pointed summary of all the facts involved in the recent trouble, formally demanded reparation from the Government of Chili.

Mr. Egan expressed in distinct terms feeling of great indignation which the State Department at Washington feels at the whole affair, and informed the Junta that this is no informal suggestion; that the United States Government expected some kind of satisfaction for the assault upon the Baltimore's crew and demanded an immediate explanation of the whole affair and reparation for the injuries inflicted.

The opinion prevails among foreign ministers that the Junta will immediately make the reparation demanded.

The sympathy of the foreign residents is entirely with Captain Schley and Minister Egan's action gives great satisfaction.

John Turnbull, another of the Baltimore's wounded men, died yesterday. He had received no less than 20 stab wounds, several of them penetrating his lungs.

Blaine Takes Charge.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Secretary Blaine has taken in hand the Chilian correspondence and devoted his entire time yesterday at the State Department to its consideration and to mastering the details of the situation.

He reached the department early, walking over from his house, and had not been long at his desk before he received a call from Secretary Tracy. The two Cabinet Ministers went together to the White House and were in conference for nearly an hour with the President.

The subject under consideration was the state of the Chilian dispute. Neither Secretary Blaine nor Secretary Tracy cared to say anything for publication in regard to the conference or the future course of the Administration.

WOULD BE FOR PEACE.

English Interests Might Suffer If the United States and Chili Should Fight.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The news of the critical relations between the United States and Chili has excited lively interest here, especially in circles interested in South American trade. As English capital virtually controls the nitrate deposits, and is established in that control more firmly than ever by the result of the war, there is a general desire on the part of those interested for peace. War between the United States and Chili would mean, sooner or later, a blockade of Chilian ports and interference with foreign trade.

The English nitrate kings, of whom Col. North is the chief, do not object to the Chilians hating the Americans and boycotting American trade, but they do object to a war that would interfere with English trade. It is thought probable that English influence will be used to induce the Chilians to give satisfaction to the Americans.

To Use the Block System.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—The New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Railroad Co. has decided to run their trains under a block system, the same as the Pennsylvania. The road is to be divided into four divisions for dispatchers from Salamanca to Corry; Corry to Meadville; Meadville to Pymatuning, and from Pymatuning to Kent. Two additional sets of train dispatchers will be required, the business being done from the Meadville office. Twenty-six additional telegraph operators will be required, and sixty-seven elevated signal towers will be built.

Gold Brick Thief in Custody.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Oct. 27.—William Mattson, who stole a gold brick, Aug. 7, from the Wells-Fargo Express Company at Mohawk, Cal., was captured yesterday. He sold the brick for $900 in Denver and was traced to this vicinity by Special Detective Campbell of Buffalo, who placed the matter before Mayor Brown. Mattson was found living with his wife, whom he married a few weeks ago. He was committed to jail to await requisition papers.

He Was Not Murdered.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The inquest into the cause of the death of Horace Williams, whose body was found in a creek near Lafayette Mills, and who, it was thought, had been murdered for some pension money which he was known have, resulted in a verdict of accidental death. John Dobbin, who was suspected of having some knowledge of Williams' death, was arrested but proved an alibi.

Col. O'Beirne All Right.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—It is authoritatively denied at the Treasury Department that Col. O'Beirne, Assistant Commissioner of Immigration has been removed or that his removal is contemplated.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

HARD ON FOREIGNERS.

Their Extermination Urged By Proclamation in a Chinese Province.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27.—The anti-foreign movement continues in the Hunan province. Among the rebel chiefs are many of the Viceroy's magistrates and generals.

The Government seems or is unable to prevent the spread of the uprising and its propaganda against foreigners. The following is the substance of an important document which has been displayed on the walls everywhere:

"We, the inhabitants who are desirous of preventing the violation of our country, let us prepare a plan of defences, so that every district may take up arms and assemble its forces. Every great district should furnish 20,000 men, every lesser district 15,000, every smaller district 10,000.

"Let us chase from the provinces the devil-mouthed European pigs. Having the power, money and men, and being brave, let us destroy the enemy.

"It will be much better to burn the dwellings, churches and mission buildings than to confiscate them for the purpose of increasing the revenues. We will extinguish fires dangerous to Chinese dwellings.

"Let us stamp out the cults of Jesus, the heavenly pig. Let us punish the converted Chinese, the traitors. Let us punish the families of the guilty on the ships of the American fleet. Germany comes flying to our aid."

The Province of Hunan, where, according to the above dispatch, foreigners are in imminent danger, is one of the most, if not the most turbulent and aggressive in China. Thence come the best fighting men of the Chinese army; indeed, the Hunanese form the backbone of the army. It is a self-contained province, 80,000 square miles in area, with a population of 20,000,000. It is a wealthy province, and the people in general are strong and well made, and have a decidedly comfortable appearance. A large number of the high officials of the empire are drawn from that province.

The riots at Ichang are attributed to the Hunanese and, in the opinion of Mr. Gardner, the British Consul, the dangerous element in the mob at Wasuch, at whose hands the two Englishmen, Messrs. Green and Argent, met their deaths, were Hunan men. This is no new phase of the provincial character; the Hunanese have invariably offered an uncompromising opposition to foreigners and all their works.

It is the only province in which the members of the China Inland Mission have been unable to establish themselves, and it is the only province in which no foreign invention of any kind was found admittance. It is the only province, also, in which opium is not produced.

Out of nineteen provinces Hunan was the only one which would not permit the introduction of the telegraph. When the telegraphists arrived a mob of 10,000 drove them back, and hence the telegraph line stops on the other side of the Yang-tse-Kiang. A Chinese official recently said that Hunanese was more powerful than the central government.

Da. Griffith John, a well-known missionary, says that the incendiary placards are always issued by the gentry and scholars with the full cognizance of the magistrates and simply fathered on the people. Strong demands have been made on the central government that Hunan shall be made safe to the foreign traveler, and that the issue from it of infamous anti-Christian literature be stopped.

The Brakeman Was Negligent.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 27.—In the Circuit Court yesterday, No. 239, Carrie A. Munson, as administrator, against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, a non-suit was granted on the ground that the deceased brakeman had violated the rules of the company in not using a coupling stick. The justice said that had Munson used the stick he would not have been between the trucks and the accident would not have happened.

Counterfeit Swedish Money.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—J. A. W. Grip, Minister for Sweden and Norway, has forwarded to his government an elaborate report of one of the most extensive counterfeiting enterprises ever undertaken. The money counterfeited was the 1,000 Swedish mark note, and the skill displayed showed that the counterfeiter was an artist of no mean ability. Great quantities of the spurious money have been spread broadcast in Europe.

Mexican Steamship Line.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—The stockholders of the Mexican steamship enterprise to be put in operation between this city, Cuba and the Gulf ports of Mexico, incorporated yesterday. The officers elected are: William F. Bement, president; George E. Bartol, secretary and treasurer; James W. Porch, general manager; Thomas A. Gummy, attorney. The first boat leaves here on January 1 and then every two weeks.

The San Francisco Needs Repairs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—An order was sent to Admiral Brown at Callao yesterday, ordering the cruiser San Francisco to return to San Francisco for repairs. The San Francisco has been at sea for some time now, and her bottom is badly in need of cleaning and painting and the department consider it unwise to delay.

HAD A GLIB TONGUE

A Russian Count Who is Wanted in Brooklyn.

HE HANDLED REALTY ON NERVE

And Took in an Agent to the Tune of $50,000.

The Count Claimed to Be Heir to Vast Estates in Russia—He Had Papers and Medals to Show He Was an Army Officer, and He Was a Smooth Talker—Numerous Victims—He Has Disappeared.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 27.—Count Roderick von Graff, a princely looking young Russian with a tongue that had the faculty of talking its way right into the pockets of those favored with his acquaintance, is wanted in Brooklyn for handling $100,000 worth of Brooklyn real estate on nerve and paper only and of leaving many worthless checks and forged notes behind. A. S. Lamphere, a real estate agent of Flatbush avenue, is particularly concerned, it is stated, about the whereabouts of the alleged Count. Mr. Lamphere is the man who introduced the affable Count to Brooklyn society and afterward became a victim of his scheming brain and tactics.

It is said that Mr. Lamphere was talked out of $50,000 during his aquaintance with the Count, who borrowed the money at intervals in sums ranging from $500 to $1,000. The amount was generally loaned on mortgage bond, and in order to meet the interest on the property bogusly bought by the Count on Carroll street, which is one of the choicest localities in Brooklyn.

By a curious chain of circumstances and good luck the Count's victims, however, were never caught to any great extent. So far as can be learned in the course of his short career in Brooklyn circles, which dates back but a year, he had held a mortgage on about fifty houses and about half that number of lots. When the Count was first introduced to the real estate owners he said that some of his relatives in Russia owned an estate valued at 1,000,000 roubles, and when conversing with any one he always mentioned the fact that he would eventually inherit much of the money.

As he was well recommended by high Russian army officials by letter, and had papers and medals to show that he had served in the Russian army with the rank of Captain, and had been banished for certain political reasons, no one thought for a moment to look into his past history.

It was during one of his earlier visits that the Count became acquainted with Mr. A. S. Dennellen, a wealthy real estate owner of Carroll street, who then owned the old Tabernacle. The Count presented himself with such flattering recommendations that when the subject of selling the old Tabernacle property for $20,000 was broached, it was at once settled with Mr. Lamphere as the broker of the Count.

The bargain was transacted on mortgage bonds at 4 per cent., the whole sum to be paid at the end of six months. The latter part of the bargain was never lived up to and the mortgage was foreclosed. Mr. Lamphere lost by the transactions the broker's fee of $1,000, and was put to no end of annoyance by the tactics of his false friend. This was only one of many similar transactions, and in most cases Lamphere, it is said, did not escape so easily. Where the Count lived during his stay in Brooklyn is not known, and whither he has gone is still a deeper mystery.

HIS SHORTAGE GROWING.

Young Doerflinger's Defalcation Will Reach $50,000.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27.—The amount of School Board Treasurer Doerflinger's shortage is growing, and will probably reach $50,000. In addition to the $18,000 first missing altered drafts aggregating $15,000 have been discovered. Besides this, deficits are reported in the accounts of the Dexter Spring Company, Modern Building and Loan Association and the estate of Archibald Wallace, of which Doerflinger was executor.

There seems to be no doubt that the young man attempted suicide when his shortage was discovered, but his life was saved by the prompt work of the physicians. Doerflinger is said to have gone to the country, but no one seems to know his exact whereabouts.

Brazil and the World's Fair.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The President of Brazil has asked from the Congress of that Republic an appropriation of $550,000 to pay the expense of its representation at the Chicago Exposition. The original estimate was $325,000, but the plans of the Brazilian Commission, as developed, contemplate so extensive an exhibit that the larger sum is required to carry them. It seems probable that Brazil will expend more money in her representation at the exposition than any nation except the United States and more than any of the States of this quarter except Illinois.

CANADA'S CRISIS.

Abbott Cannot Get Along and Mercier's Cabinet May Be Kicked Out.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—The present Premier, Abbott, is finding difficulty in constructing the Cabinet, and the general impression is that he will shortly dissolve Parliament and go before the country. There seems to be no hope for the Conservative party.

On the other hand the Liberal Quebec Provincial Parliament is also passing through a crisis. Investigation into the Baie des Chaleurs railway scandal has revealed the fact that at least $100,000 was stolen from the Provincial treasury to swell the pockets of Cabinet ministers.

The independent press is calling loudly on the Liberal party to rid itself of Premier Mercier and other Cabinet boodlers and go before the country on the tariff reform ticket. At the finish of the Baie des Chaleurs investigation nothing is so certain as that the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec will dismiss the Mercier Cabinet. Already voters' lists are preparing, and both parties are vigorously organizing.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 26.—Chaplean's private secretary has intimated that his chief may withdraw from the Cabinet at any moment, and thus precipitate a rupture in the Ministerial party. Chapleau's followers threaten to desert him unless he insists upon having a more important portfolio.

TO CONTINUE THE STRIKE.

Attitude of the Miners Firm—More Men to Go Out.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27.—Delegates representing all the railroad coal miners in the Pittsburg district now on strike met in convention here yesterday and decided to continue the miners' strike for 92 cents per ton.

Three thousand railroad miners at Latrobe, Manor and Irwin, who mine coal for the Eastern trade will be called out to-day to help win the fight, together with about 900 men working at the advance price in the Pittsburg district, making in all 13,000 railroad miners on strike.

The railroad coal operators issued a circular yesterday stating that they would not pay more than 79 cents a ton for mining coal.

The fight will now go on with much bitterness as both sides seem very determined.

The miners say now they will not compromise and will hold out for 92 cents a ton.

NINETEEN LIVES LOST.

Fatal Collision Between the British Steamer Boston and Bark Charlwood.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The British steamer Boston, from Cardiff for London, has arrived at Falmouth after having been in collision with the British bark Charlwood, 759 tons, Captain Salmon, from Antwerp for Valparaiso.

The Charlwood foundered almost immediately after the collision with a loss of 16 lives.

Three men were killed on board the Boston at the time of the collision, and the steamer's bows were badly stove in.

The captain of the Charlwood, his wife, son, a governess and the stewardess, together with bark's officers and six of the seamen, a total of 16 persons, were drowned, in spite of the desperate efforts made by the lifeboats of vessels which happened to be near the scene of the collision to rescue them.

The efforts of the would-be life savers were greatly hampered by the darkness which prevailed at the time that the accident took place—4:45 in the morning.

The spot where the two vessels met was not far from the Eddystone Rocks, 14 miles from Plymouth.

Only an apprentice and the captain's daughter were saved.

Pennsylvania's Investigating Senate.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon, the remainder of the testimony taken by the State Treasury Investigating Committee, was read and Senator Grady offered a resolution authorizing counsel for State Treasurer Boyer to proceed with their arguments in this case, before the examinations of the other officials mentioned in the proclamations of the Governor to the Senate. As the case of Auditor-General McCamant had been started the Democrats opposed the resolution. The calling of the roll showed the absence of a quorum and the Senate adjourned until 8 p. m. At the night session the resolution was adopted by a party vote.

He Taught Sunday School.

VAN BUREN, Ark., Oct. 27.—Col. J. M. Weaver, who embezzled large sums of money received by him from settlers who had bought land from the Little Rock & Fort Smith Railroad, has disappeared and there is no clue to his whereabouts. His shortage is supposed to be very heavy, but at this time no account of it can be had. Weaver was superintendent in the Methodist Sunday school, a temperance lecturer and the editor of the "Graphic." He left behind a wife and two sons.

Charged With Criminal Libel.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—City Treasurer W. Redwood Wright yesterday swore out a warrant for the arrest of L. G. Fouse, president of the Mutual Fidelity Association, charging him with criminal libel for stating in a letter that Wright was accepting official fees in violation of the law.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

Governor Hill addressed a meeting at Schenectady last night.

Rudyard Kipling and James Gordon Bennett arrived in New York yesterday.

The Erie Railroad ran a special from Buffalo to Hoboken yesterday in 9 hours and 11 minutes.

The New York Central's fast express made the run from New York to Buffalo yesterday in 8 hours and 43 minutes.

Theodore Stevenson, a real estate and insurance man of Cortland, assigned yesterday, with liabilities placed at $150,000.

BURIED HIM ALIVE

Awful Death Agony of a Farmer Near Erie, Pa.

HE GNAWED OFF HIS FINGERS.

His Flesh Torn Until He Scarcely Resembled Human Being.

He Had Lain in a Trance for Four Days—The Horrible Discovery Made in Transferring the Remains from One Plot to Another—The Body Had Turned Around in the Terrible Struggle.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 27.—Two weeks ago Farmer George Heidecker, of Greene Township, apparently died very suddenly of what was supposed to have been heart failure. The remains were buried four days later from St. John's Lutheran Church, of this city, and temporarily interred in a neighbor's lot in the Erie cemetery pending the purchase of one by his family.

The transfer was made yesterday, and when the remains were exhumed the casket was opened at the request of his family, and a horrifying spectacle was presented. The body had turned around, lying on its face, and the interior of the casket bore traces of a terrible struggle with death in its most awful shape.

The distorted and blood-covered features bore evidence of the horrible agony endured. The clothing about the head and neck had been torn to shreds, as was likewise the lining of the coffin.

Bloody marks of finger nails on the face, throat and neck told of the awful despair of the doomed man, who tore his own flesh in his terrible anguish.

Several fingers had been entirely bitten off, and the hands torn with the teeth until they scarcely resembled those of a human being.

THE FIGHTING FACTIONS.

Parnellites and Their Opponents Come to Blows.

CORK, Oct. 27.—Redmond and John O'Connor, M. P., with bands and a crowd of partisans, went to Black Rock last night answering Cannon O'Mahony's challenge. They marched boldly into the parish. The Anti-Parnellites were waiting for them with trailing coats and shillelahs.

The meeting of the two parties was attended by great excitement. The Anti-Parnellites showered sticks and stones and mud on their opponents. The Parnellites, who were armed with stout blackthorns, remained firm and steady under the volley of mud, and, after the first attack, charged and routed their opponents.

Then the victors held their meeting on the field, while their enemies skulked away with bruised and bloody heads. The meeting was very enthusiastic, and after the Parnellites returned jubilant to Cork.

A Chance for Some Strikers.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 27.—The Standard Coal Company of the Hocking Valley has written the miners officials here asking them to send 800 of the strikers in the Hocking Valley. The company agrees to advance all the money necessary for transportation, and married men are preferred. The miners who have been on strike in this district, and who are in destitute circumstances, intend availing themselves of the offer. There is no trouble in the Hocking Valley and the firm only wishes to increase its force.

Slosson Defeats Schaefer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The great billiard match between Jacob Schaefer and George F. Slosson, for $1,000 a side and the entire gate receipts, took place last night in Chickering Hall before a crowded house. Schaefer was the favorite in the betting. Slosson played a steady, painstaking game, without any remarkable brilliancy until the 23d inning. At this time he scored 173 points by careful nursing and some brilliant round-the-table shots. After this the game was never in doubt, and Slosson finally won it by a score of 800 points to 392 for his opponent.

A Great Wheat Crop in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 27.—From all parts of Manitoba come reports of a great crop yield. At Sheppardsville a fifty acre field yielded 1,706 bushels, and in another case twenty-seven acres yielded 963 bushels. At Deloraine two farmers report a yield of an average of nearly fifty bushels to the acre, while on all hands yields of from forty to forty-five bushels an acre are commonly talked about.

Newburg's Big Registration.

NEWBURGH, Oct. 27.—The registration in this city is something unprecedented on off years. Last year it was heavy, running up to 4,894. This year it was 5,363, fully as heavy as during the Cleveland-Harrison canvass. Both sides have done all in their power to bring out all the voters.

Eleven Killed in a Wreck.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Eleven persons were killed and twenty-five seriously wounded in a railroad wreck yesterday near Moirans. Eight carriages were derailed and plunged over and embankment.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

The drug store and residence of Dr. George J. Hoover, at Paradise, were completely destroyed by fire. Loss, $10,000; insurance, $4,000.

As a result of the coroner's inquest in the case of Jerry Buckley, killed in a saloon row at Sharpsburg, Saturday night, Henry Acton was committed to jail without bail, charged with murder, and George Morris was held as an accessory.

Corn Bread.

BY MARIA PARLOA.

For two sheets of corn bread use a pint of wheat flour, half a pint of corn meal, one pint of milk, half a gill of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of Cleveland's Baking Powder, two generous tablespoonfuls of butter and two eggs.

Mix all the dry ingredients and rub through a sieve. Beat the eggs till light and add the milk to them. Stir this mixture into the dry ingredients. Add the melted butter, and beat for a few seconds. Pour into two buttered pans, and bake in a moderately hot oven for half an hour; or the batter may be baked in buttered muffin pans—this quantity yielding two dozen muffins.—(Copyright, 1891, by Cleveland Baking Powder Co.)

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

Cleveland's Baking Powder leavens best because its strength is produced by pure cream of tartar and soda only, not by ammonia or alum.

THAT FLORENCE ASSAULT.

Mr. Jaques Was Not Mobbed Because of His Nationality.

BOSTON, Oct 27. — The assault on William W. Jaques and daughter, of Boston, by a mob in Florence, Italy, last May, has been investigated by the State Department at Washington, and Mr. Jaques has received a letter from Acting Secretary of State Wharton, stating that there is no evidence whatever to show that the assault was on account of Mr. Jaques's nationality.

Several carriages containing Italian subjects received like treatment at the hands of the mob, 100 of whom were arrested and fifty-six convicted and sentenced, among them probably the assailants of Mr. Jaques and daughter.

Cannot Corrupt Roger.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 27.—Roger Connor had a visitor last evening. Billy Barnie came in on a late train, saw the big first baseman and left again shortly at 6 o'clock. The manager of the Athletics vainly tried to coax Connor to go with his club, but Connor laughed at the advance offer he made. He told Barnie that he was in the game the coming year for principle, not money. "I intend to play in New York," was the way he disposed of the matter.

The Traitor's Birthplace Not For Sale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28. — The managers of the World's Fair have written to this city to ascertain if they can secure for exhibition the house where Benedict Arnold was born. The owners of the property refuse to sell it or allow it to be taken to Chicago for exhibition. The house was built in 1744, and was confiscated by the Government when Arnold's treason was discovered.

LABOR NOTES.

The strike of the London carpenters for eight hours has now entered upon its 26th week, and as yet there are no immediate signs of a settlement.

The plans for the new Labor Temple at Indianapolis, Ind., were submitted to the Central Labor Union of that city yesterday and unanimously adopted by that body.

Barbers' Union No. 6, Memphis, Tenn., has a member named Stokes who is left handed. He is well known in the South, is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and can handle the razor right and left with perfect ease.

Twenty-four boss barbers of Philadelphia, who were fined for violating the Sunday law, have appealed to a higher court, alleging that no work had been done in their shops on Sunday except cleaning and other housework.

The order of the Knights of Labor is growing again at the rapid rate of 1886, when it became necessary for Master Workman Powderly to issue an order that the initiation of new members was to be suspended for 40 days. General Secretary Hayes intimates that a similar order may be expected at an early day.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

An earthquake shock was felt in South Carolina last night.

Two more earthquake shocks have occurred in the Island of Ponteliana.

Carter Harrison will assume control of the "Chicago Times" during the week.

It is reported that Secretary Blaine will spend the winter in El Paso, Tex., for his health.

An attempt was made yesterday to blow up the office of the "National Press" in Dublin.

Direct heat Hal Pointer three straight heats at Columbia, Tenn., yesterday. Time 2:09, 2:08, 208 3-4.

A boiler explosion in the plant of the Louisville Electric Light Co. caused a $500,000 fire in the centre of that city yesterday afternoon.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee has decided that Briceville, the scene of the recent trouble between the miners and convicts, is a legal prison.

The physicians of Walt Whitman, the poet, say that he may die at any time, as the paralysis with which he is afflicted is slowly approaching his heart.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—For Eastern New York: Rain; cooler; northwesterly winds.

For New England: Rain; cooler; winds becoming northwesterly.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware: Rain and cooler; northwesterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Fair; much colder; northwesterly winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Don't forget the Democratic rally at Dunellen to-night.

—Anchor lodge, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication this evening.

—Grace church guild met at the residence of Miss Tweedy, 11 Crescent avenue, this afternoon at two o'clock.

—Those who wish to take up the study of short-hand should apply at the Y. M. C. A. rooms not later than this evening.

—In spite of the storm, 39 students attended the mechanical drawing and book-keeping classes at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, met in the public library last evening. No business of importance came up for action.

—All young men who desire information about the bowling section of the Y. M. C. A. are requested to meet C. C. Dilts at the Olympia alleys this evening.

—In the county court at Elizabeth, yesterday, Louis Fink, a Westfield boy, was charged with indecent assault. He pleaded not guilty, and was bailed for trial Nov. 6.

—The "merry-go-round" people at the rink deny that any young girls were detained in the building over night. The accused employe claims to be able to prove an alibi.

—A man from Newark who used to live at South Plainfield, reported to the police this morning that he had a pocket-book containing $20 stolen from his coat while asleep in the North avenue railway station last night.

—Capt. William B. Ostrom will give an interesting account of his experiences as a sailor, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Thursday evening. All young men, whether members of the association or not, are invited to be present.

—The Crescents will do some practice bowling to-night, to decide on the selection of a team to go to New York Thursday night, when, at the alleys at Fifty-ninth street and Ninth avenue, they will meet the invincible Ivanhoes.

—The Hillside Tennis club deserves much credit for its courage in engaging Max O'Rell to give a lecture in this city. His subject will be: "America as seen through French spectacles." He will appear at The Casino, Thursday evening of next week. Admission, one dollar. But few cities in America will have the pleasure of hearing him.

—Sunday evening a tramp stepped up to the night ticket agent at the North avenue railway station and presented a note which read as follows: "Please deliver to bearer a ticket from Plainfield to Philadelphia and oblige yours J. H. Hogan, per G. W. Smith". The agent recognized the fellow as a fakir, and told him he could have a ticket if he had the money, but not otherwise.

—One of the best managed fraternal beneficial societies of the country is the Royal Arcanum, which has a large membership in this city. The gratifying announcement was made at the semi-monthly meeting of this society last evening, that there would be only fourteen assessments called this year as against fifteen last year, and that the number for 1892 would probably not exceed fourteen.

—The oddest-looking bicycle ever seen in Plainfield was an English wheel ridden through Front street by a stranger Sunday. The wheel was of the safety variety. The saddle was extended by a bar way back so that the rider's ankles if dropped straight down brushed against the axle of the rear wheel. Yet the pedals were at the other end of a long chain just back of the front wheel, and the rider's toes, with his legs stretched far forward, barely touched them. The handles were also far forward, and when operating the machine the rider was bent like a letter C, and his treading of the pedals looked very painful. He had to do all the work with his legs. The weight of his body was not brought into play at all. Yet he was infatuated with the wheel, and scorned the idea of riding any other.

Old Comrades in Plainfield Revive War Memories.

On the occasion of Major General O. O. Howard's recent visit to Plainfield, two or three old soldiers were sitting with the general discussing some biscuit and coffee at Major Miller's hospitable home, when comrade L. V. F. Randolph mentioned to General Howard a story of Fair Oaks battle he had heard, and asked if it was true. The general confirmed it, telling, himself, the story about as follows: "My right arm had been ruined in the fight, and I was on the way to the hospital, when General Kearney rode up, and dismounted, and spoke to me. He and I had always been warm friends, and he said 'Howard, I am sorry to see you so badly hit'. He had lost his left arm in Mexico, and he took my left hand in his right hand as he spoke. The two hands rested for a moment together. They were about the same size, and I remarked 'Well, General Kearney, there's one comfort about it, we can buy our gloves together hereafter.' "

SIDNEY ELMER FLOWER.

The Popular Democratic Candidate Who is Already Causing The Republicans Much Anxiety in Their Own District.

THE PRESS herewith presents a portrait of the Democratic candidate for Assembly, from the third district. His history has already been accorded a place in these columns.

Although the district in past years has been Republican by over 300 majority, and is a hundred more so this year because of the recent addition of Linden, yet Mr. Flower will make the Republican hustle to win on election day, and has already caused the Courier much anxiety.

He is a second-cousin of Roswell P. Flower, and says the latter will be elected Governor of New York by 100,000 plurality.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Union county courts adjourned at noon yesterday out of respect to the memory of the late Cornelius W. L. Martine.

Christopher Angerbauer, station agent at Netherwood, is happy over the advent of a daughter, who brought joy to his household Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Baynon have returned from their wedding trip and are in Plainfield to attend the wedding of their old friends, Arthur Harrison Mulford and Laura Frances Baker.

Ex-Councilman W. R. Potts, formerly of this city, with his family is home from his summer residence at North Long Branch, and will spend the winter at Florence House, East 18th street, New York.

Sig. Pucci, manager of the Postal Telegragh company's offices in Plainfield, Elizabeth and New Brunswick, was the star singer at the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. VanHouten at Elizabeth, Saturday evening.

The genial, happy face of Dr. H. R. Cannon, formerly county clerk of Union, beamed in on THE PRESS yesterday. Dr. Cannon was accompanied by the present efficient county clerk, John L. Crowell. The call they made was a very pleasant one.

Relatives and friends from Metuchen, Oak Tree, Rahway and Plainfield attended the wedding of C. A. Campbell and Miss Bertha Commoss at Woodbridge last Thursday. It was a very fashionable affair. The bride wore white satin and diamond ornaments.

The many friends of Mrs. Eliza Coles, mother of Mrs. P. M. Demarest, will be pleased to know that the report is untrue that she is confined to her room most of the time. She is greatly advanced in years, having celebrated her ninety-second birthday anniversary, but her health continues excellent, and she goes freely about the house and joins the family at the table, at meal time, regulary.

George Wharton Edwards has some delightful sketches in St. Nicholas for November. His initial pieces to "Tom Paulding", the new serial by Brander Matthews, are very artistic and very appropriate, and his illustrations of the Tee-Wahn Folk story, "The First of the Rattlesnakes", and of "The Dickey Boy", are superb specimens of his skill at picture-making. With its abundance of such talent at its command, St. Nicholas cannot but continue to be a most charming magazine for not only young people but children of a larger growth as well.

Mr. Martin Says It's Spite and Blackmail.

A PRESS reporter had an interview this morning with C. B. Martin, the proprietor of the merry go-round in the Crescent building. He says the charge that his attendant, "George", harbored girls in the building from Saturday evening until Sunday night, must be false. Mr. Martin and his wife did not themselves leave the building Saturday until after midnight, and "George" went to the station with them where they all waited until the train left, with Mr. and Mrs. Martin, at 1:30 Sunday morning for Bridgeton.

Sunday morning at nine o'clock, Mr. Martin says, his daughter, eleven years old, went to the Crescent to feed her pet dog. She was there for an hour or more, but saw no girls.

He says the charge is brought partly in spite because he refuses to admit the girls to the merry-go-round, and partly to extort money from him.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Wetumpka's Entertainment at Music Hall.

The first of a series of three amateur theatrical entertainments arranged for by Wetumpka lodge, K. of H., of this city, was given at Music Hall, last evening. The weather was stormy, but the attendance was large.

C. J. Feytel, chairman of the entertainment committee, made a very ill advised speech before the rise of the curtain. He called on everyone present to join Wetumpka lodge which, he said, offered advantages that no other lodge of its kind offered. In view of the fact that Easter lodge, Knights of Honor, is a sister lodge of this city, made up of brother Knights, and offers the same advantages as Wetumpka, Mr. Feytel's statement was not only uncalled for but incorrect.

The play presented was "Our Boys", and the cast was composed of members of the Brooklyn Comedy company. To say that they did better than most amateurs, is not saying all they deserve. E. O. Jacobsen was distinctly good as Sir Geoffrey Champneys, and Miss Lizzie Wallace as Mary Melrose equally deserves particular mention.

The next entertainment will be held Monday evening, January 11, 1892, and will be "Champagne and Oysters". The series will close Monday evening, April 18, 1892, with "Young Mrs. Winthrop."

A Thorough Agriculturist.

Jeptha A. Wagener, of North Plainfield, has been awarded five first prizes at the great American Institute fair in New York—one for the best display of cattle roots (beets and similar fodder products), one for the best five named varieties of peaches, one for the best six named varieties of apples, one for the best collection of potatoes, and one for the best collection of table vegetables. Mr. Wagener took a small plot of land that three years ago would not produce an ear of corn, and by the use of his excellent fertilizer made a garden spot of what had been a barren waste. He has received $150 in first prizes for samples of the products raised in three years, has sold from $600 to $1,000 worth of the products each year, and yet has had sufficient left to keep his family well supplied each winter. He has the recipe for a valuable German remedy for human ailments. The recipe was brought over by an ancestor—the first physician in Plainfield—in 1640, and has been handed down to him.

The County Schools to Meet in Plainfield.

The twelfth annual convention of the Union county Sunday-school association will be held in the First Presbyterian church, this city, Thursday, Nov. 5. Three sessions will be held—morning, afternoon and evening. At each session helpful addresses will be made and conferences will be held, and it is hoped to make this the most instructive convention yet held in the county.

Among the speakers engaged are the Rev. Daniel H. Martin of Newark, the Rev. E. B. Cobb of Elizabeth, the Rev. S. D. Loomis of Newark, W. M. Patton of Camden, and John Y. Foster of Newark. The ladies of Plainfield will entertain the delegates.

M. M. Dunham is president of the association, and Dr. Hurlbut is on the executive committee.

The Other Side Gets $50 Too.

Last Saturday THE PRESS told how Mrs. Faulkner and James Stewart were awarded $50 damages from David Y. Moore and Isaac T. Moore as a consequence of the Moores shooting Mrs. Margaret Faulkner's bull with beans till it was sore and disabled for weeks.

Yesterday justice Crosley and a jury of twelve men had a long trial of the other side of the case, the result of which was a verdict of $50 against Mrs. Faulkner because the bull that was shot had damaged a crop of corn owned by the Moores.

The Rev. Mills at Elizabeth.

The arrangements for the visit of the Rev. B. Fay Mills, the great evangelist, to Elizabeth, are nearly completed. He will begin his engagement about Dec. 30, and will conduct a series of meetings for three weeks. The clergymen of the city will meet Thursday evening to plan the meetings. The down-town clergymen will ask that one week be given to meetings in that section of the city.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Spanish Rivers Over Their Banks.

MADRID, Oct. 27.—The principal rivers throughout the country are out of their banks. The celebrated leaning tower at Saragossa, the tower of Felipe, so well known to American sight-seers, has been undermined by the flowing waters and threatens to totally collapse. Railroads have been washed away and the streets of Gerona are miniature lakes. Valencia is practically without railroad communication.

Henry George to the Pope.

ROME, Oct. 27.—Henry George has written a letter to Pope Leo, thanking His Holiness for his labor encyclical, which encourages the discussion of labor problems and helps on the ultimate triumph of truth. The Pope has sent a reply through Cardinal Gibbons.

What is it makes George Edmonds so cool and placid, and how does he do such deep thinking? It is because he never allows himself to be harrassed with colds. He takes Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, he does. Sold everywhere for 25c.

Dealers say they can't sell any other liniment since the introduction of Salvation Oil.

THE DOGS' ORCHESTRA.

An Amusing Performance Which Delights Thousands of Londoners.

We have all seen dogs stand by bands of music—generally German bands—and howl, and most people consider they do it because they don't like the music. Of course the animal that does it frequently, that chases up to a band and sits there moaning, may be a "dog of parts," with an exquisite "ear," who thus protests against improvised discords, false notes and slipshod "time;" but few people have seen them sit mute and play on instruments themselves.

"The dogs' orchestra," with Prof. Lavater as M. le Conducteur, now performs daily at the Aquarium, says the Pall Mall Budget. Tim, a rat dog, plays on the big drum; Shnoutz, a white terrier, clashes the cymbals; Bob, an Irish spaniel, tinkles on the kettle drum. Prof. Lavater stands in the middle and leads. Then, on the other side, Jack blows the frombone; Spitz, a Pomeranian, saws on the violin; and Teachum, a fox terrier, girds at the big violon-cello. That is the full strength of the band, and they none of them howl. Both ocular and aural proof was given of this virtue of the band dogs later, for while the sketches were being made in their dressing room behind the scenes, the professor, as a complete answer to the query, took up an old violin and played three or four excruciating passages—like jagged iron torn across immense satin sheets—and nothing much occurred; some of the dogs sat down.

Seeing them on the stage at first sight it would appear that the 'cello and violin are actually played upon, but this is only a clever and amusing "make-believe;" however, the drummer dogs certainly drum, and Shnoutz with the cymbals claps them together when he remembers how to do it accurately; while it may be confidently said that, taken altogether, it is a most amus performance, and the dogs are excellently trained in their various parts. The cleverest in point of training is the handbell-ringing contest. This is carried out by three dogs who wear little brass bracelets to which the bells are attached. They play the differently toned bells in correct time, and this they do at a sign from the conductor, who is manipulating the instrument called "fairy bells" all the time. It is laughable to watch the three dogs eying him, waiting for his slight signal ere they ring the bell that dangles from their forepaws—once, or twice, or thrice, as the tune demands. "Jack," the trombone player, so his master says, gives himself more airs than the other dogs—on account of an illness of fourteen days' duration, owing to his having imprudently swallowed some walnut shells, and during which illness he was assiduously waited upon and "cockered up," with plenty of food and a fire burning in his bedroom night and day. "Owing to the indulgent treatment he received," said Mr. Lavater, "he has behaved like a spoilt child ever since." The cymbal player objected to the noise under his nose at first, but after a few months' practice he learned to make light of it. The dogs were trained in Germany, and it took two years to train them and infinity of patience and kindness. Their education has been founded upon lines that would have rejoiced Mr. Turveydrop's heart, since it comprised music, good manners and deportment; They all walk on to the stage on two legs, seat themselves on little stools, and mutely wait for the tuning up of the conductor's violin.

NECKWEAR FOR MEN.

Sultan Red Is the Latest Color in Scarfs —A Patented Knot.

As to neckwear there is little to say. Collars are of two shapes, the straight ones that meet in front, and those with the points turned back, but without space below the bend. Only the former can be worn on dress occasions. A white or very light necktie should be worn in the daytime. For informal occasions, where a cutaway coat will do, a white four-in-hand, or better an ascot scarf may be worn. By the way, a patent has been granted for an ascot scarf. This is rather an unusual achievement. The patent is, of course, in the mechanical working which is so complex that a cut of it is given here. It is easy enough after one knows it, like picking up a dove hitch or tying a Tom-fool's knot. And it's a pretty scarf.

The latest color in scarfs is called sultan red. It is deeper than the shade which has prevailed. Smooth fabrics and plain colors are correct now.

Starving Peasants Rob a Train.

ST. PETERSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Owing to the famine robberies of unheard of boldness are becoming frequent. On Thursday night last, near Rostor, on the Moscow-Caucasus railway, a band of starving peasants pursued and captured a freight train. Troops from the fortress went in pursuit, and overtook the robbers who will be summarily dealt with.

Beating the New Tariff Law.

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 27.—The rush of goods into Mexico, in order to avoid the new Mexican tariff law, continues. Horses, cattle, oil, pig iron, lumber and various other articles are going through daily by the trainload. The new tariff law goes into effect November 1.

NEW JERSEY BRIEFS.

The lawyers of Hoboken have formed a local bar association for the purpose of protecting themselves against abuses.

Fritz Beuhler attempted to swindle Patterson jewelers yesterday by buying goods on worthless checks. He was arrested.

David C. Brownlee, who last spring fired three shots at Cyrus Leamy, in Orange, and Vincenco Capoto, who stabbed a man about the same time, were each sentenced to ten years in State Prison by Judge Kirkpatrick in Newark yesterday.

Bock Lock, a Chinaman of New York, went to Jersey City yesterday, looking for "Neel" Smith, who, during a fight at Pell street and the Bowery Sunday, cut off his cue. He applied for a warrant for him from Justice Seymour, but failed to find Smith.

All the druggists sell the Tudor Whiskey. Some of the other dealers do not. They say it pays too small a profit. PURE whiskey never does yield a large profit. It is the adulterated stuff which makes the money. Do you want to pay your dealer an exorbitant profit on an adulterated article, or do you prefer genuine old Whiskey which is sold at a moderate profit? Decide for yourselves. The TUDOR WHISKEY is WARRANTED ABSOLUTELY PURE and TEN YEARS OLD.

NEW JERSEY COUNTIES.

Interesting Historical Sketch of Their Creation and Growth.

The discussions the State leaders have entered into concerning the re-arrangement of the county lines in all parts of the State have aroused inquiry as to the manner in which the State happens to be divided as it is to-day. Nineteen of the twenty-one counties in the State were in existence when the State Constitution was adopted, and Ocean, in 1850, and Union, in 1858, are the only two that have been created. Nearly all of the nineteen counties belong to a prehistoric age, and their commencement is so lost in the shades of tradidion that even their ages become a matter of speculation and dispute.

Prosecutor Winfield, an authority on New Jersey antiquities, gives some information on the subject. Burlington's history begins no one knows when. It seems to have been in existence away back to the time when the possession of "a good gun and six months' provisions" put a tramp in position to demand 150 acres of Jersey soil. It grew out around the old town of Burlington, where the original proprietors gathered to scan their grants and drink old wine. But as a county no one heard of it till East and West Jersey became distinctive proprietaries and the quintupartite deed gave James of York all of the Eastern and Middle States coast for the munificent consideration of forty beaver skins. The first came out of the mists of tradition in 1681, when it was made formally into a county. It gave birth almost immediately to Gloucester, and in 1710 to Hunterdon county. All the territory covered by Mercer, Morris, Sussex, Warren, Atlantic and Camden belonged at the time of its incorporation to Burlington.

Salem and Cape May are two others of the old West Jersey counties. Salem was John Fenwick's tenth part of the Delaware river front, and became a county in 1692. Cumberland, embracing the six towns of Greenwich, Hopewell, Stow Creek, Fairfield, Deerfield and Maurice River, was set off from Salem in 1744. Cape May was of contemporaneous creation with Salem. It was named for Cornelius Jacobse Mey, who in 1621 was sent out by the Dutch West India company to explore the coast. Originally settled by Long Islanders, Cape May was erected into a county in 1692. Ever since that time—for the last two centuries—Cape May has been allowed to remain untouched. Its territory is just what it was when Cornelius Jacobse Mey was its leading light, and in all the two centuries it has not been able to attract enough people to its soil to entitle it to a single member of Assembly as a matter of right.

Of the counties into which Burlington was split, Hunterdon, named in honor of Governor Robert Hunter, was set off in 1710; and in 1738 it gave up part of its territory to make Morris. Morris in turn divided its land with the county of Sussex in 1753, and Sussex grew into two counties when in 1824 the county of Warren was created.

Gloucester, after being split off from Burlington, covered all the section of the State which now includes Atlantic and Camden. For some inexplicable reason the Legislature was prompted to erect the county of Atlantic in 1837. Camden was meantime outstripping all her South Jersey neighbors. The flourishing city of Camden had become as populous and busy as any near county, and in 1844 the Legislature cut it off from the dead weight of the surrounding pine barrens, and made Camden county for its especial benefit. Mercer derived its territory partly from Burlington and partly from Hunterdon in 1838, and its name from the heroic Gen. Mercer, who fell at the battle of Princeton.

The original counties in East Jersey were Bergen, which covered all the region, except Sussex, north of what is now the Essex county line. Essex, called after the house of Essex, and whose central points were Newark and the old town of Elizabeth, and Monmouth. Bergen claims 1671 as the date of its birth. Essex and Monmouth were created in 1675.

Bergen gave up part of its territory in 1837 to Passaic county, which, to complete itself, took a slice of Essex, too, and gave another part to Hudson in 1840.

Essex is the mother of five counties. It gave Middlesex to the roll of counties in 1688. In 1837 it contributed its slice to Passaic; in 1838 joined with Hunterdon in making Middlesex, and in 1858 made the last gift of its territory for Union county.

Monmouth surrendered Ocean to the State in 1850, but otherwise its boundaries are practically as they were when it was created in 1675.

Thus it appears that Bergen, Essex, Middlesex, Somerset, Monmouth, Burlington, Salem, Cape May Gloucester were in existence before the year 1700. Many of them have undergone changes as to their boundaries, but Somerset and Cape May are now as they were at the start. Hunterdon, Morris, Sussex and Cumberland were all created prior to 1750. Cumberland is practically what she was in 1747. Of those made this century Warren is the same as when created in 1824, Atlantic and Passaic as created in 1837, Mercer as formed in 1838, Hudson as made in 1840, Camden as made in 1844; Ocean as created in 1850 and Union is the same as when given to the State in 1858.

"But two new counties have been made within the last half century"—said ex-Congressman Pidcock to the reporter.—"Most of them are so old that really I have no idea when they began. It's about time we made our county representation in the senate abreast with the times. The population of the State has just doubled in the thirty years, and she has now three times the number of people she had when the last county was made. In the fifties we polled less than 80,000 votes. In 1884 we polled 250,000. All these years these moss-covered Republican bailiwicks in South Jersey and Middle Jersey fall steadily behind and are yet accorded the same right they held under the Crown. An election in the State shows a Democratic popular majority of over 10,000 on one hand, with heretofore a Republican majority to represent it in the senate. The system productive of that political paradox is wrong on the face of it. Therefore I have always been in favor of reorganizing the counties, if for no other reason than that of making them more responsive to public sentiment."

In the Interest of Negro Education.

There will be a public meeting in the interest of negro education as represented by the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute at Tuskegee, Ala., in the Crescent Avenue church, this evening at 8 o'clock. There will be addresses by students and others, and singing by a quartette from the school, of negro songs peculiar to the "black belt of the south."

After visiting and thoroughly inspecting the Tuskegee school, Gen. S. C. Armstrong, of Hampton, says:

Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute, with 511 students, $125,000 worth of land and buildings, 35 teachers, of whom 16 are graduates of Hampton, and annual expenses of $50,000 so far secured, is a wonderful growth, about equal to that of this school in the same period, and is, I think, the noblest and grandest work of any colored man in the land. What compares with it in genuine value and power for good? It is on the Hampton plan, combining labor and study, commands high respect from both races, flies no denominational flag, but is thoroughly and earnestly Christian; is out of debt, well managed and organized.

I earnestly hope that it will have some fixed factors in its annual support—contributions that may be annually expected from year to year, thus helping Mr. Washington, whose time and strength are now too heavily taxed. Such a man deserves cordial assistance. Going from door to door is wearing work. Should not good people consider that he is made of flesh and blood, and unite to see him through, and fix forever a great light in the "black belt" of Alabama?

New Jersey Baptists Meet.

The annual meetings of the New Jersey Baptist State convention, the New Jersey Baptist Young People's union, and the New Jersey Education society, convened at Mt. Holly, yesterday morning. The morning was devoted to the opening session of the Young People's union. The Young People's union was organized at Newark in May last and is the first State Baptist Young People's union organized here in the East. The union is a branch of the National Baptist Young People's union.

At yesterday's convention there were addresses by many prominent speakers, including the Rev. Dr. Boyd, of the Peddie Memorial church, of Newark; John H. Chapman, president of the National union, of Chicago, and the Rev. Russell H. Conwell, of Philadelphia.

The Most Popular of Matinees.

The popular resort of matinee parties from Plainfield is the Lyceum theater, New York, where that conscientious, magnetic and very clever actor, E. H. Sothern, is just now playing in "The Dancing Girl". It has been such a thorough success that it will form the bill during his entire engagement.

It is a play of absorbing interest, and presents the young star in a new and most agreeable light. His impersonation of the Duke of Guisebury is a finished and well-rounded performance that has added to his already large following. The opening play by the regular stock company will be "Lady Bountiful", by A. W. Pinero.

Accused of Embezzlement.

Sheriff Hicks has issued a capias for the arrest of Joseph C. Ross, assessor of taxes for the Seventh ward of Elizabeth, and who is also one of the most prominent real estate agents in the place. The capias has been in the hands of constable Sault for two days, but he is unable to find Ross, and it is said that Ross has absconded. Sheriff Hicks informed a reporter that Ross has been indicted by the grand jury for embezzlement. The charge against the accused is not in connection with his city office but his real estate transactions.

Think 'Tis the Plainfield Gang.

Burglars entered the residence of George Marshalsea, a printer, at Rahway, Sunday night, but were disturbed by the dogs before they could secure any booty. The house of Sydney Johnson, president of the Johnson Railroad Signal company, was visited by burglars yesterday morning, who stole some cash and a gold watch and chain from Mr. Johnson's pockets. The police think it is the same gang of thieves who lately operated at Plainfield.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

A DRAMATIC CAREER.

Life History of the Widow of Michigan's "Boy Governor."

MRS. PAULINE MASON.

There is living in Cleveland, in seclusion and poverty, a woman who claims that in her veins runs the blood royal of Russia, who has been the wife of an American governor and the hostess of an American president. She is Mrs. Pauline Mason, widow of Stevens T. Mason, the "boy governor" of Michigan. She was born in Pennsylvania seventy years ago, of Russian parents. Her grandfather, Gen. Reauffanoff, was commander in chief of the Russian army under Alexander I. For services to the French and Russians he was granted a large estate, which later became a part of Holland. The father of Mrs. Mason, according to the story she tells, was educated at Zurich and became an associate of Alexander II. of Russia. While she was yet a child Mrs. Mason's father was killed in an accident, and an uncle cared for her. The uncle was a professor of mining engineering in a Philadelphia institution of learning, and one of his pupils was Stevens Mason, afterward governor of Michigan. After Mr. Mason became governor he employed Mrs. Mason's uncle to study the mineral deposits of the upper peninsula of Michigan. Mrs. Mason, just graduated from a convent, went with him, and in Detroit met and married the young governor. Mrs. Mason was well to do until a number of years ago she lost all her property through the failure of banks. She has since supported herself by the practice of medicine, and is reputed to be skillful. She exhibits a letter written by Emperor Paul and two from Napoleon. She retains as heirlooms articles from the Reauffanoff castle and gifts from European potentates.

HATS FOR GENTLEMEN.

The Crown Is the Same as Last Year, But the Brim Is Broader.

In hats we have a distinct change, writes a New York correspondent. As many men know to their sorrow the prevailing style in Derbys for several years has been the narrow rolled brim, very much "pitched" front and rear. This sort of hat is still put forward by some first-class hatters, and I am told that it is worn in England. But he who wants something different can have it, and feel sure that he is in the advance guard of fashion. The crown is of the same shape as last year, but the brim is much broader and flatter, and the turned edge of it is nearly horizontal at the sides instead of being tilted up at an angle. There is a change in the trimmings, too. Instead of the rather narrow band of fine ribbed cloth, a coarse ribbed band a quarter of an inch wider is worn, and in reality much handsomer.

The bell-crowned "plug" hat I have already spoken of. A new thing is a soft crowned hat which is not to be worn creased. The top is to be pressed in gently, making a symmetrical hollow that does not show except one looks down upon it. When worn this hat has the effect of a square-topped Derby.

The hats I have described are in three colors: Seal brown, coffee brown and black. Browns are coming into fashion—are in fashion, indeed—and many swells will make a soul satisfying harmony with brown hats and brown coats.

Travel in Russia.

The old-fashioned Russian wagon driver (tchoomak) who carried passengers and freight long distances in his rude self-contrived vehicle, is still competing successfully with the steam horse in the land of the white czar. A merchant of Simferopol has recently forwarded a large shipment of salted meat to Poltava by tchoomaks, paying them forty-eight kopecks per pood (thirty-six English pounds) for transportation. The same freight would cost sixty-two kopecks per pood if he had sent it by railroad. Besides the expense of fourteen kopecks per pood, the merchant saved coming into contact with the railroad officials whose manners are sometimes annoying.

An Irrigating Flume.

The farmers and others east of Fresno, Cal., have united in a project to irrigate a large area of foothill land, on which they will raise oranges. The water will be conveyed from Stevenson creek, in the Sierras, along Pine Ridge which itself is twenty miles long, thence to Dry creek and into the foothills. The water will come down into the foothills by a V-shaped flume, and will convey lumber to the farmers who need it, as well as furnish water for the soil. The flume will be about forty-five miles long, will cost from $125,000 to $150,000, and will prove of great advantage to that region.

JOHN M. SAMUELS.

Chief of the Bureau of Horticulture, Columbian Exposition.

We publish herewith an engraving of John M. Samuels, the recently appointed chief of the department of horticulture of the Columbian exposition. Mr. Samuels was born in eastern Kentucky in 1848, and in 1852 his father removed to the western part of the state, where he began the nursery business. The present chief of horticulture went from here to Kentucky university, where his education was completed. When 21 years old he established the Louisiana nurseries at Shreveport, La., remaining there until 1874, when he returned to Kentucky and secured a one-half interest in the Mississippi Valley nurseries owned by his father. This interest he still holds, and he has also established fruit orchards in the states of Mississippi, Florida, California and Tennessee, at one time having 160 acres of strawberries alone. Mr. Samuels has been a horticulturist all his life, devoting his time to growing and dealing in fruits, trees, plants and flowers. In following these pursuits, he has visited every state in the union except two, has spent some time in principal horticultural centers of Europe, and has become familiar with the details of nearly every branch of fruit growing. The firm of which he was a member exhibited extensively at the New Orleans exposition, and obtained 35 premiums, and 5 gold and silver medals. Mr. Samuels is earnestly working to advance the horticultural interests and exhibits at the fair, and has already obtained important concessions, which have increased the area to be devoted to the outdoor plants and flowers.

JOHN M. SAMUELS, CHIEF OF BUREAU OF HORTICULTURE.

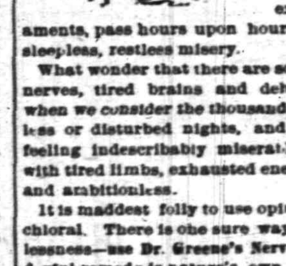
YOUR MOST DANGEROUS FOE.

And How to Surely Overcome It.



Sleeplessness is a rapid road to the insane asylum. Men allow care, anxiety or business troubles to drive sleep from their eyelids while women, with unstrung nerves and excitable temperaments, pass hours upon hours each night in sleepless, restless misery.

What wonder that there are so many shattered nerves, tired brains and debilitated bodies, when we consider the thousands who pass sleepless or disturbed nights, and rise mornings feeling indescribably miserable, dragged out, with tired limbs, exhausted energies, nerveless and ambitionless.

It is maddest folly to use opium, morphine or chloral. There is one sure way to cure sleeplessness—use Dr. Greene's Nervura. This wonderful remedy is nature's own sleep producer, and is perfectly harmless, being made from pure vegetable medicines.

It soothes, calms and quiets the weakened, irritable and over-wrought nerves, producing perfect repose and refreshing, natural sleep; at the same time it builds up the shattered nerves, and gives renewed life, strength and vigor to the system. Use it, you who are sleepless. All druggists, $1.

"I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura as being a good remedy for sleeplessness. Having been troubled in this way for three years, and objecting seriously to opiates, I have used Dr. Greene's Nervura with great benefit. I have also recommended the Nervura to many of my friends, who have been much benefited by its use. MRS. G. H. HILL.

SMOKELESS POWDER.

Samples Brought to the United States from Europe.

The Force of the New Explosive Much Greater Than That of Ordinary Gunpowder—The Varieties Used in France and Germany.

The war department sent a special agent abroad nine months ago to get samples of the different smokeless powders used by the European powers.

The United States agent, says Once a Week, found it impossible to get samples of the smokeless powders used in the armies of France, England and Germany. All he could do was to buy samples from private powder-mills.

Capt. Blunt, of Springfield, at the head of the board of army officers for testing the new magazine rifles to be introduced into our army, was assigned to thoroughly test these powders.

According to Capt. Blunt's report all the smokeless powders brought from Europe, as well as the one manufactured by the United States navy, is valueless for use in small firearms such as infantry rifles.

The force of smokeless powder is much greater than that of ordinary gunpowder, because of the high explosive character of the substances used. Its combustion is so rapid that one grain more than the normal charge of a cartridge will cause an increase of 15,000 pounds pressure to a square inch in the breech of a gun. Unfortunately the most skillful hand cannot measure a powder charge to the nicety of a grain, more or less.

The increased pressure causes an increased velocity of the missile, and as by far the largest number of cartridges will be a trifle irregular in weight, the produced pressure and the actual velocity of each bullet will differ. With such material marksmanship would become a farce, and an infantry body forced to use it might as well throw rifles away and essay to hit the enemy with a baton.

The normal charge of ordinary powder for an eight-inch rifle is 130 pounds, the shell weighing 300 pounds. Only forty-five pounds of the German smokeless powder were used and the low pressure of 30,000 pounds per square inch to the breech of the gun with the extraordinary velocity of over 2,000 feet per second were obtained. Taking into consideration that the full charge of 130 pounds ordinary powder with a pressure of at least 35,000 pounds to the square inch would not have given more than 1,750 or 1,800 feet velocity, it would seem that this smokeless powder has some good qualities.

Our government should follow the example of foreign powers and establish laboratories, placing them in charge of skilled chemists, who might study the smokeless powder question thoroughly.

The French smokeless powder has the appearance of thin sheets of glue which are cut in strips two inches long and half an inch wide. The charge is bound together with a string and thus put into the gun. The German Walsrode is cut into cubes one-third of an inch square. It is dark black and under the knife acts like soap. A thin piece cut from it is almost transparent.

Honored for Her Husband's Sake.

Not long ago Queen Victoria conferred the rank of a knight's widow upon the wife of the late C. H. De Sayre, the Bengalese philanthropist. With a heavy purse, a clear head, a heart large enough to embrace all his countrymen, he planted benefactions right and left among them. Colleges, hospitals, churches, organized charity foundations, all come from his open hand. In addition he set aside £10,000 for an experimental farm near Colombo, Ceylon, his native place, and sent a liberal donation to London hospitals and charities. For all this and many more silent, small, good deeds her majesty intended to give him the honor of knighthood. His death from hydrophobia prevented, but his wife will henceforth write herself Lady De Sayre—a privilege enjoyed by no other Bengalese woman—and now first given to one born in "the garden of the tropics."

Sorry He Spoke.

A parrot belonging to a clergyman was generally taken out of the room when the family assembled for prayers, for fear he might take it into his head to join irreverently in the responses. One evening, however, his presence happened to be unnoticed, and he was entirely forgotten. For some time he maintained a decorous silence, but at length, instead of "Amen," out he came with "Cheer, boys, cheer." On this, the butler was directed to remove him, and had got as far as the door with him, when the bird, perhaps thinking that he had committed himself, and had better apologize, called out: "Sorry I spoke." The overpowering effect on the company may be more easily imagined than described.—N. Y. Advertiser.

Pipkin—Gives the lie to these patent medicine ads, headed "Electricity is Life."—Lake Shore News.

A Common Malady.

Employer—Want to go home? Where do you feel ill?

Boy—Here, sir, in the office. I guess I'll feel better when I get the air on the baseball ground.—Golden Days.

Cause Enough.

Mamie—Isn't Mr. Turtell a strange man? He seems to live wholly within himself.

Gladys—Well, it is no wonder he is troubled with indigestion.—Puck.

A Fair Question.

He (bitterly)—Pshaw! all women are alike.

She—Then why in the world do you spend so much time trying to find the one you want to marry?—Life.

Not Desirable.

"Are you one of Van Isching Coyne's preferred creditors?"

"Yes. He seems to prefer having me for a creditor. I wish he'd come off."—Judy.

A Little Knowledge Is Dangerous.

Ponderton—The philosopher says: "Know thyself."

Miss de Muir (yawning)—How terribly bored some people would be if they knew themselves!—Puck.

THE TILDEN TRUST

Declared Void, But a Library Will Be Founded.

MRS. HAZARD COMPROMISED.

The Executors Will Have $2,000,000 to Carry Out the Governor's Wishes.

An Agreement Reached Just Before the Case Went to the Court of Appeals—Mrs. Hazard Received $1,000,000 From the Executors and Surrendered Her Entire Right in the Property—What the Other Heirs Will Receive Under the Decision.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The decision of the Court of Appeals yesterday, in the case of George H. Tilden vs. Andrew H. Green and others as executors, etc., appellants, and Laura B. Hazzard, et al., respondents, affirming the judgment which renders the Tilden trust void, ends one of the most celebrated will contests ever fought in this country.

The opinion was written by Judge Brown, and is concurred in by Chief Judge Follett and Judges Haight and Parker.

Judge Bradley wrote a dissenting opinion which is concurred in by Judges Potter and Vann.

The estate when inventoried was valued at over $6,000,000, and is now believed to be worth $8,000,000, as the valuations made in 1886 were at very conservative figures. About $700,000 will therefore fall to any one of the contestants.

Under the statute of distribution that regulates the inheritance of property, the issue of Mrs. Pelton and Henry A. Tilden, sister and brother of the late Gov. Tilden, come in for equal shares of the $8,000,000.

Mrs. William A. Hazard is the only heir on the Pelton side and she was entitled to nearly $4,000,000. She, however, made a compromise by which the executors will have over $2,000,000 to found the library which Mr. Tilden desired to establish.

The other $4,000,000 is subject to the claims of six children of Henry A. Tilden. They are: George H. Tilden, S. J. Tilden, jr., Mrs. William B. Whitlesey, Mrs. Swan, a widow, who lives in New Lebanon, Mrs. Willis S. Paine and Mrs. Schwartz of New York city.

No will contest in this country has ever been followed with more popular interest than this one, and all the briefs and arguments in the case have been read by all the lawyers with uncommon eagerness.

The interest of the New York public in the contest was due to the prospect of valuable beneficent institutions, which the statesman-philanthropist wished to have founded in his memory.

A Tilden Library After All.

Although the Court of Appeals decided in favor of the contestants, thus defeating his purpose to establish a trust, the free library which the great statesman desired to give this city at his death, which was the pet project of his declining years, is to become a fact. The executors have effected a compromise with one of the beneficiaries, by the terms of which $2,000,000 will in any event be set aside for the library, although this is not half the amount which Mr. Tilden willed should be devoted to the purpose, it is still sufficient to place the institution upon a substantial footing.

The only relatives who could legally enforce participation in Mr. Tilden's fortune, in case the will was broken, were the issue of his brother, Henry A. Tilden, on the one side, and of his sister, Mrs. Mary B. Pelton, on the other. There were six heirs on the side of his brother and only one on his sister's side. This single heir, therefore, the granddaughter of Mrs. Pelton, could by law lay claim to one-half of the fortune in case the will was broken.

This lady is Mrs. William A. Hazard, and it is she who compromised with the executors before the case went to the Court of Appeals.

Mrs. Pelton was very heartily in sympathy with her brother's project to erect a free library, and she inspired the same feeling in her granddaughter, Mrs. Hazard. By the will Mrs. Hazard received the income of $150,000 for life and the power to bequeath the principal.

When George H. Tilden, representing the children of Henry A. Tilden, contested the will Mrs. Hazard did not join them and was made a respondent.

When the case had dragged through three courts and was on the eve of final argument before the Court of Appeals, Mrs. Hazard compromised. There was then a decision of the General Term in favor of the contestants. This was on the evening of June 1 last. Her lawyers, Joseph H. Choate and Smith M. Weed, met the lawyers for the executors, Carter and Ledyard, at Albany, and drew up the terms. The executors paid her a sum slightly less than $1,000,000, and in return she deeded to them her entire rights in the property left by Mr. Tilden.

The balance to the credit of the executors by this transaction was estimated yesterday at something over $2,000,000. The executors hold this according to the terms of Mr. Tilden's will for the establishment of the trust which it was his greatest desire to found.

SAYS EGAN IS A SPY.

Envoy Montt Makes Grave Charges Against the American Minister.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Senor Montt, the Chilian Envoy here, who has been regularly appointed, but whose credentials have not arrived, called on Secretary Blaine yesterday and had a long talk concerning the murderous assault upon American sailors in Valparaiso.

Senor Montt explained the details of the affair, which had come to him in his official capacity, and he charged that Minister Egan is really responsible for the trouble existing between Chili and the United States. He said that during the revolution in Chili, when the Congressionalists endeavored to make a secret advance on Valparaiso and surprise Balmaceda's troops, the United States vessel Baltimore actually played the part of spy.

His charge is that the Baltimore discovered that the Congressional army was making a forward movement; that the vessel which should have maintained a neutral attitude steamed along the coast along the landing places, where the insurgents were located; that the Baltimore then hastened to Valparaiso and reported to Egan, who immediately laid all the facts before Balmaceda.

The victorious party claims that their plans were divulged to the enemy through Egan's interference, and that at the battle which ensued they suffered a loss of at least 1,000 soldiers, as a direct result of Egan's espionage. As it is understood that the Baltimore was active as an agent of Balmaceda and Egan, the populace is bitter toward that vessel, and that accounts for the attack upon its crew.

MARRIED A MONTH AGO.

Now Mrs. Turner Has Half the Fortune of Her Strangely Won Husband.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 28.—The marriage a month ago, of George Turner, an eccentric old bachelor, in Bristol, a small town twelve miles west of here, had an unexpected sequel this morning. Turner corresponded for some time with the woman, who lived in the West, their aquaintance having been brought about by an advertisement in a New York newspaper.

A marriage was arranged, but Turner would not go West after his bride, and insisted that she must come to her new home alone. She failed to arrived on the appointed train, and Turner was guyed unmercifuly by the people around the railroad station, where he waited all day. They insisted that the woman was only fooling him. The woman, however, arrived on the evening train. She and Turner were married that evening.

Turner died yesterday, leaving an estate estimated at $50,000. Mrs. Turner will receive half of the estate, and will thus realize a handsome sum for a month's trip to the East and a brief matrimenial experience.

A Revolting Murder.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 28.—This city is excited over the murder committed in a dive known as the Spencer Ranch. A man named Rexroad had his bowels dug out in a most revolting manner, and was brutally killed. John Smith was stabbed and cut in the back and may die. Five persons have been arrested and the police have in their possession the weapons used. When visited the place resembled a slaughter house.

Coy Tells How the Murder Was Done.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28.—Murderer Coy, when taken to the scene of his crime, pointed to out the officers where he had buried Whalen's coat and vest. The articles were unearthed by the officers and found to be covered with blood. Coy then took the officers to the house where the murder occurred and showed how the crime had been committed. No important new points were revealed by the trip to the scene of the crime.

Marriage a Failure Here.

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., Oct. 28.—Japhet Ireland, the husband of the woman who eloped with Ezra Ireland three weeks ago, ate an apple yesterday which had been filled with "rough on rats," by Mrs. Ireland before the elopement. Pin holes found in the peelings showed how the poison had been inserted. Mr. Ireland has been taken seriously ill and is not yet out of danger.

Western Union Taxes.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Treasurer Marden has received from the Attorney-General the sum of $62,669, which is the amount of taxes collected from the Western Union Telegraph Company for the past five years. The telegraph company bitterly contested the payment of these taxes, and carried the case to the Supreme Court of the United States before they would succumb.

The Banks to Be Examined.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Acting Secretary Spaulding has appointed J. P. P. Brown, Charles Shebel, W. J. Thompson and W. P. Moxey, experts to examine the Keystone and Spring Garden national banks of Philadelphia. These experts will be paid by the committee of fifty of Philadelphia and be under the direction of A. R. Barrett, chief expert of the secret service division, Treasury Department.

MANY BROKEN HEADS

Pitched Battle Between Irish Factions in Cork.

THE HOSPITALS ARE FILLED.

McCarthyites Attacked With Great Fury by the Parnell Men.

The Police Had Their Hands Full in Quelling the Fight—When the Belligerents Could Not Strike Each Other They Would Hit a Policeman—Dillon and O'Brien Powerless to Restrain the Riot.

CORK, Oct. 28.—The hospitals and many of the house in the city are filled with wounded. The police and the soldiers were prepared for a riot, and the police, at least, had their hands full.

When Dillon and O'Brien arrived they were seized upon by their enthusiastic followers, who insisted upon unhitching the horses from the carriage in which the leaders were seated.

A large body guard from Maurice Healy's quarter of the city, all armed with good, stout blackthorns, then surrounded the vehicle, which, in the midst of a terrific yell, began its progress toward the Assembly Rooms.

On the sidewalks and side by side with their opponents, half walked, half trotted a perspiring and hard swearing throng of Parnellites, while between the two bodies of marchers went the police, manfully warding off occasional vicious blows of the blackthorns.

From the Assembly Rooms, Dillon and O'Brien, escorted as before, proceeded to the Cork County Convention, where Mr. Dillon acted as presiding officer.

In addressing the delegates, Mr. Dillon complained of what he termed the "organized violence" of the Parnellites, and made other illusions to the political situation, all of which were loudly cheered.

After the convention a large body of police closed about Dillon and O'Brien to escort them to their hotel. Dillon spoke to the inspector in command, who listened condescendingly. The incident was witnessed by the Parnellites, who howled in derision.

For some distance the procession passed along without more serious demonstration, the crowds on the street, however, growing every moment more excited.

The McCarthyites, including a number of priests and the redoubtable Canon O'Mahoney, followed Dillon and O'Brien. Every now and then a Parnellite in the crowd would howl and swing a shillalah around his head and make a dash for the McCarthyites. The police would then charge and restore order for the moment.

At length the Parnellites grew uncontrollable, and yells of "Murderers!" "Murderers!" "England's lickspittles!" and other epithets saluted the McCarthyites, who came to a halt, turning on their assailants. Missiles of all kinds flew through the air, and the cries of defiance became louder.

The blood flowing from injured heads and limbs, the groans of the wounded fallen, who had the fierce energy of the combatants, and the ebb and flow of the tide of battle as the advantage shifted to either side, made a picture resembling the Communist risings in Paris.

The mounted constabulary formed for a charge. It was a dangerous duty, for deadly missles were flying on every hand. The order was given to cut right between the two parties, where the police would receive the volleys from both. Not a constable flinched. They formed as perfectly as on parade, and started on the gallop. The order was to strike only with the flat sides of their sabers. There is no reason to believe that the order was disobeyed.

As the constables spurred forward the volleys of missles grew heavier, for each side was sure that if they missed each other they would at least hit a policeman.

The police were persistent, however, and at length succeeded in breaking up the riot, the rioters becoming apalled at the number of the wounded. Many of the injured were taken to their homes, and others to the hospitals.

Boycotting a Fair.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The Iron Moulders' Union has decided to boycott the Emerald Hose Company's fair. The reason for this move was an inoffensive stove of the Red Cross patent, which was among the donations to the fair. The moulders claimed it was made by scab workmen and demanded its removal, promising to put in a union stove in its stead. The demand was refused and a boycott was declared.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

There was a heavy snow storm in Central New York yesterday.

John MacCormack, the absconding superintendent of the Metropolitan Insurance Comany of New York, has been arrested in Edinburgh.

The White Star Line steamer Teutonic made the voyage from New York to England in 5 days, 21 hours and 3 minutes, beating the record by 19 minutes.

HE WROTE THE PETITION.

How Charles Stoddard Forged His Way Out of Prison.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 28.—Governor Buchanan, of Tennessee, has made a requisition on Governor Abbett of New Jersey, for Charles B. Stoddard, the forger, now in the Hudson County Jail awaiting trial for trying to get money from a Pittsfield bank on a forged telegram sent from Jersey City on August 5. Stoddard was caught when he called for an answer to the telegram.

Stoddard was sentenced at Nashville in May, 1890, for uttering worthless checks in the name of Henry B. Davis, to six years in the Tracy City Prison. He was pardoned in last March by Gov. Buchanan, who now writes to Governor Abbett and Chief of Police Murphy that after Stoddard was released it was discovered that the petition for his pardon and all the signatures thereto were forgeries.

The petition told a long story. It stated that Stoddard's mother, a rich widow, of Welker County, Ga., had remarried one James Sherrille, a dissolute man, who was after the woman's money. To get the son out of the way Sherrill put worthless checks into his hands and laid a plot, which resulted in the son's conviction. His mother had since died and the young man was stated to be heir to $87,000. The petition purported to have been waitten by N. W. Baptist, who defended Stoddard in his trial and to have been signed by a circuit judge, nearly all the county officers and many well-known men of Tipton County, Tenn., where the trial took place.

Stoddard will be tried in the Hudson County Court next week unless it is decided to send him to Tennessee.

TOOK HIS TESTIMONY.

Editor Carter Interviewed by Sam Thornton's Pastor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Another chapter in the Sam-Eva saw-log thrilling adventures was unfolded at the Marlborough House yesterday by Pastor Junor of the Mount Olivet Church. The final chapters will be disclosed to-morrow, when the church committee, of which Mr. Junor is the only tangible member, will present its report to the church and then give it to the newspapers.

Mr. Junor called at the Marlborough House to get Editor W. K. Carter's statement of his identification of Samuel and Eva as his traveling companions from Pensacola to Milton. He got it. The statement has been made in the public prints many times by Mr. Carter, but never before reduced to writing. When written down it was decidedly emphatic.

Pastor Junor, during his stay in Jacksonville, got many statements proceeding on the assumption, he said yesterday, that Samuel Thornton was innocent until the evidence proved him guilty. Mr. Junor also took occasion while in Jacksonville to hire a cart and traverse the same road that Thornton and Miss Jewell claimed they did from the beach to Jacksonville. Mr. Junor also has a statement from Conductor Barr, wherein he says the couple kept him awake all night.

There May Be More Failures.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The assignment of Theodore Stevenson will be followed, it is thought, by other failures, as other firms are involved. Stevenson's resources are light, consisting principally of a $7,000 interest in the Howe Stove Ventilating Company, of which he is vice-president. All of Stevenson's property is mortgaged in full. His liabilities will exceed $150,000. A schedule of Mr. Stevenson's affairs has not yet been made up. There is considerable excitement in business circles.

The Fly Wheel Exploded.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 28.—A serious accident occurred yesterday in the Kimberly Rolling Mills. An enormous fly wheel exploded with terrific force, completely wrecking everything in its line of flight and probably fatally injuring five men. The names of the injured are: Michael Shoemaker, Frederick Boliver, James Clifford, Michael Spring and James Edwards. Two of the injured will surely die while the others have but a bare chance of recovery.

British Guiana and the Fair.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Lieut. Welles of the navy, special commissioner to South America for the World's Fair, reports that the Colonial government of British Guiana has appropriated five thousand punis sterling to pay the expense of its exhibit at Chicago in 1893. The Governor-General has placed the work of collecting and installing the exhibit in charge of the Royal Agricultural Society of the Colony.

Sighted The Schooner.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The schooner Frank McDonnell, which sailed from Lynn to Philadelphia on Sept. 29, and which has been given up as lost, was sighted on Oct. 17, by the schooner Bessie C. Beach. The Beach reports the McDonnell had been badly battered about but did not require assistance.

A Mystery No Longer.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 28.—A skeleton has been found in the woods near here which proves to be that of Thomas Garrity, a well known citizen of Wilkesbarre, who disappeared two years ago. His fate has been the subject of much conjecture and great mystery.

Hall Challenges Maher.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Jim Hall, of Australia, challenges Peter Maher, champion heavyweight pugilist of Ireland, to fight for the largest purse any responsible club will guarantee, and a side bet of satisfactory dimensions, to a finish, under Marquis of Queensbury rules, within a reasonable time.

Not a Bomb After All.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—A scientific investigation has been made of the explosion in the office of the "National Press," the Dublin McCarthyite paper, and experts are satisfied that it was caused by natural gas.

SHE HAD ADMIRERS

How Beatrice Collins Escaped from Reading Jail.

OFFICIALS ASSISTED HER FLIGHT

They Had Become Enamoured of the Beautiful Counterfeiter.

The Recent Investigation Causes Much Adverse Criticism—The People Don't Believe that Anything Will be Done in the Matter—Beatrice Known to be in New York—Detectives on Her Track.

READING, Pa., Oct. 28.—There is not even a little abatement of the intense interest in the mystery surrounding the sudden leave-taking from the supposed-to-be county stronghold of the slippery Beatrice Collins and "Butler" John Miller a week ago. Nor is there as yet the slightest clue as to their whereabouts. It is not that the outraged public is so extremely anxious to have either or both of them back, but there are at least a few people who would like to know just how slickly they got away.

Much adverse criticism has been heard of conducting the investigation in secret, and, in view of the many repeated instances during the past ten years where wrong-doers in Berks County failed to get their just deserts, there are few people who have any hopes of the matter ever being thoroughly investigated.

The refusal of Watchman Rhoads to appear before the committee is but natural, and it is a mooted question whether any one can be compelled to submit to examination. Of course his refusal was by the advice of his counsel.

It is known that Beatrice had a goodly number of male callers during her sojourn in our midst, and within the past few days there have been many rumors connecting her name with those of a number of well-known and more or less prominent officials and others. Some of her jewelry is still in the city, and there are people who know where to lay their hands on it. One of the rumors was that certain parties are greatly exercised over the fact that the police are on the trail of "Butler" John and they are afraid he may be captured and give the whole snap away.

Of course, Rhoads is awaiting trial on the charge of aiding the prisoners to escape, but there are not many who would bet their last dollar that anything more than talk will ever come of the whole thing. The people have lost confidence, and it will require a great deal to restore it. To hear that the whole business was cleared up would sound like a fairy tale.

Beatrice in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The reward of $1,000 offered by the authorities of Reading, Pa., for the arrest of Beatrice Collins, alias Mrs. Ada Culbertson, alias Ada Nein, the beautiful young woman who escaped from Reading jail a few days since, has excited the interest of the New York detectives, who are searching high and low for the counterfeiter.

Mrs. Beatrice Collins has been traced to this city, but the clew to her whereabouts has been lost. The police are reticent about the case, and it is likely that they have more information then they are willing to make public.

It has been definitely learned that she boarded the 5 o'clock train at the Reading depot, and went to Philadelphia, alighting in the latter city at Columbia avenue. Here she inquired as to the departure of the trains for New York and boarded one. She is undoubtedly safe in hiding in this city.

Kidnapped His Children.

ASBURY PARK, Oct. 28.—The police are looking for George Washington Redden, who kidnapped his two children, aged respectively five and ten years. Redden was married about twelve years ago, but his matrimonial experience was anything but pleasant. Finally the couple separated, Mrs. Redden retaining possession of the children. Mr. Redden tried in many ways to take the children from his wife but failed. Monday, however, his wife was away on a visit and Redden grasped the opportunity by kidnapping the children.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—In the Common Pleas Court yesterday Gov. Campbell of Ohio entered a suit for damages against the "Press" Company (limited) for libel. The alleged libel was contained in a dispatch from Columbus, O., published in the "Press" of Sept. 27, in which it was stated that Gov. Campbell owed large sums of money which he was unable to pay.

Chicago Buys a Famous Library.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Negotiations for the purchase of the renowned Calvarian Library in Berlin, Germany, have just been closed by capitalists of this city. The library has on its shelves 350,000 volumes and 100,000 dissertations. The price paid for this rare collection is not made public.

Doerflinger in Custody.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 28.—Thomas Doerflinger, defaulting treasurer of the Pittsburg, Pa., school board, was arrested here yesterday as he was stepping from a Rock Island train. He at first gave his name as Henry W. Jones, but afterward acknowledged his identity. His shortage is $25,000.

CHAPLEAU RESIGNS.

A Crisis Precipitated in Ottawa by the State Secretary's Action.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 28.—Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State has resigned and precipitated a crisis, as it is generally believed the government cannot live without him.

Chapleau demands the promotion of the portfolio of Railways and Canals as a condition of remaining in the Cabinet.

DISTRESS IN MEXICO.

The Duty on Corn May Be Removed on Account of the Famine.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—A special from the City of Mexico says there is a well-founded rumor that the duty on corn will be removed by the Mexican Government owing to the shortness of crops and the famine prevailing in several States of the Republic.

The reports from the flooded districts of Chiapas are heartrending. It is stated that hundreds of people are on the verge of starvation. The State of Guanajuata, by a special decree of Gov. Gonzales, has prohibited the export of corn from the State, and other governors will soon follow his example.

Art of Rainmaking.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28.—Eugene Fairchild, a prominent Kansan, has reached here from San Antonio, Texas, where he has been engaged in the rainmaking experiments. Mr. Fairchild says that although only $9,000 was appropriated for the work, it is proved beyond doubt that the Bowers scheme of producing rain is the only correct one. He thinks that the art of rainmaking will soon be mastered.

Clothing Smuggled from Canada.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Special Customs Inspector Sessions has informed the Treasury Department of the seizure of several lots of clothing, valued at $401, which had been smuggled into Troy, N. Y., from Canada. His report shows a systematic method of smuggling on the part of the part of Canadian tailors having customers in Troy and other cities in New York.

For a Hebrew Settlement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Bureau of American Republics announces that the Argentine Government has sold a tract of land in the Grand Chaco—the Northern part of the Republic—to Baron Hirsch for the establishment of a Jewish settlement. One million dollars in gold has been paid for 1,000 square miles of territory.

A Youthful Couple Marry.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The Rev. B. W. Chidlaw, D. D., of Cleveland, O., a prominent minister of the Presbyterian Church, was married yesterday to Mrs. Manning, a widow, 76 years old. The groom is over 80 years old. He has been a missionary the greater part of his life. The bride is said to be worth at least a million.

Big Hotel Burned.

STAUNTON, Va., Oct. 28.—The Berkeley Arms Hotel at Buchanan, Va., was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. This hotel was the laggest in the State. Loss, $100,000; insurance less than $60,000. The fire was believed to have been the work of an incendiary, as the hotel was unfinished and unoccupied.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

President Harrison will entertain the Boston Lancers to-day.

Nineteen workmen were killed by a premature blast near Butte, Montana.

Lieutenant Cowles wept when describing the loss of the U. S. S. Despatch at Assateague.

Eight passengers were injured by an Atlantic & Pacific express tumbling over an embankment in Arizona.

All hands went down on an American four-masted schooner, so reports the Canadian vessel Seraphim, at Boston.

The three-story brick building occupied by Ronemous & Co., manufacturers of tinware, Baltimore, was gutted by fire yesterday.

The Rev. Frederick Henry Ambrose Scrivener, LL.D., D. C. L., is dead at London. He was a noted Biblical scholar and writer.

A movement on is foot among German Anarchists to celebrate annually the date of the execution of the Chicago Anarchists by holding meetings.

An accident happened at Thornton Station, Minn., eight miles east of Glenwood, on the Soo Road, Monday night, by which five persons were killed and seven seriously injured.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The hydrant at Fourth street and Grant avenue was tested last night. Without the aid of the engine a stream was thrown 200 feet.

—The annual meeting of the Woman's Temperance Aid society, will be held in Reform Hall to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

—A meeting of special interest will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms, Thursday afternoon at 3:30. Reports of the State convention will be given by delegates.

—S. H. Hadley will speak to men in the M. E. church next Sunday at 4 p. m. The Rev. B. Fay Mills tried unsuccessfully to get him to Plainfield last fall.

—Capt. Ostrom, who will talk to young men at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Thursday evening, went to sea when not yet 14 years of age, and was in command of a vessel at the age of 24.

—F. F. Buckley has just sold his house and five acres of land at Netherwood, to George H. Bowen for $3,000. Also a lot 100 by 213 on Leland avenue to William H. Birge, of New York, for $500.

—All grades of imported and domestic note papers in the latest styles, gilt and school books, all kinds of ladies' pocketbooks from sealskin down, silver mounted or plain, and a thousand and one other articles in the line of a high-class stationer, are to be found at Estil's only. 19 Park avenue.

—The limit of 40 having been reached in the Unitarian singing school, that limit has now been extended to 50. The first lesson will be given Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All who consider themselves members of the class, or who want to join, must be on hand at the rooms, 4 Second place, Friday, or lose their places.

—The Woman's Branch Alliance of the Unitarian church, held its first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon. An interesting address was made by the Rev. Hobart Clark on the faults and merits of the Sunday-school system. A discussion of the subject followed, after which a short paper on the history of the Sunday-school was read by Miss Mary Browne.

—The value of chemically pure and unadulterated whisky as a remedial agent, has long been recognized by physicians of extensive practice and experience. Its use, however, has been less frequently recommended by them because of their knowledge that whisky free from all deleterious elements can rarely be obtained by the average patient. The Tudor rye whisky sold by all druggists is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old. Those who have used it as a medicine speak enthusiastically of its flavor, smoothness and excellence.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

H. E Lavelle, of Putnam avenue, has returned from Nanuet, N. Y.

Leonard S. Mulford of Vineland has been visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. Ann Walker of Vine street is visiting her sister, Mrs. Curran, at Mauch Chunk.

J. K. Arnold bowled the phenomenal score of 238 on the Crescent League alleys last night.

—The bowling game for to-morrow night between the Crescent League and the Ivanhoes has been postponed.

Mrs. Stanton Clark and Mrs. Irving Maxson, of Westerly, R I, have been visiting Plainfield friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Roy, of New York city, and Mrs. A. T. Veglard, of Yonkers, N.Y., spent Sunday with J. T. Veglard of 252 West Third street.

Mrs. Walker and son, of North avenue, were passengers on the steamship Teutonic in the record-breaking trip which she completed yesterday.

Miss Capron of Ogdensburgh, Canada, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Ernie Smith, of this city, left to-day for a visit to friends in Westerly, R. I.

The Washington Evening Star says: "Mr. and Mrs. J. VanNess Huyck have as their guests Dr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Boone and daughter, Miss Blanche Lord Boone, of Plainfield, N. J".

N. D. C. Hodges, editor of Science, had a serious fall on Sunday morning at his home in Franklin place. He sprained the ligaments about the knee of one of his legs and will be unable to use the injured limb for some time.

W. B. Arnold, who is soon to appear at Music Hall with the Blue Jeans company, made his first appearance on any stage in this city, taking the tambourine end in a small minstrel show. This happened nearly 40 years ago, when Plainfield was somewhat smaller.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnston of South Plainfield celebrated their wooden wedding last evening. Guests were present from Plainfield, Newark and Orange. There were games, dancing, and refreshments in abundance. Many pretty and useful gifts were received.

All true judges of good tobacco and smokers of fine taste, have long been in love with the "Invincibles" and "Teekays" that T. H. Keller has introduced into this city. They will therefore hail with satisfaction the news that he has just put forward a new brand, which although lower in price is still very high in its grade. It is called "The Crescent" and may be found at Miller's pharmacy and Charley Smith's restaurant as well as in the Crescent League club-house.

HYMENEAL.

Mulford—Baker.

The marriage of Miss Laura Frances Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salmon Crowell Baker, to Arthur Harrison Mulford, took place in the Methodist Episcopal church at 7 o'clock last evening. It was a very pretty event. The front of the church was artistically decorated with masses of rich autumn leaves. The church was thronged with guests. The bridal party entered to the beautiful strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, and proceeded up the central aisle to the altar. The ushers preceded the maid of honor, two and two, and the bride followed, leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The groom and his best man stood in front of the chancel awaiting the bride. The ceremony used was that of the Methodist Episcopal church. At its conclusion the entire bridal party knelt and repeated the Lord's Prayer. The responses of the bride and groom were remarkably firm and distinct, and could be heard in all parts of the church. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as a recessional.

The costume of the handsome and stately bride was of white Bengaline silk with embroidered chiffon, court train, veil, and Elizabethan collar. Her principal ornament was a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried her marriage certificate, bound in book form, in white and gold covers.

The maid of honor, Miss Jessie Marie Stewart, looked more than charming in a costume of pink China silk. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The best man was Wilbur T. Hall of New York. The ushers were Clarence L. Murphy, Warren S. Burt and Theodore J. Miller, jr., of Plainfield, and J. Clifford Woodhull of New York.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. Augustus W. Kingsley, of Taunton, Mass., an uncle of the groom.

The music was by Mrs. William A. Freeman.

After the marriage a wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 42 West Fifth street.

Mrs. Mary A. Mulford, mother of the groom, was notably handsome in a rich costume of black silk velvet, en train, with delicate pink brocade and embroidered chiffon. Her ornaments were diamonds and included a magnificent brooch.

The bride's mother looked very beautiful in an elaborate costume of garnet silk faille, en train, with diamond ornaments.

Other prominent guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman Baynon of East Orange, Mrs. Baynon wearing a rich bridal costume of white silk, court train, trimmed with embroidered chiffon and hyacinths; Mr. and Mrs. Philip McIntyre, Mrs. McIntyre wearing white silk, court train, with duchesse point-lace and diamonds; Miss Fritts, in gray and pink silk, with chiffon trimmings; Miss Mary Fritts, in pink cashmere and silk; Andrew Fritts; Miss Thorn, in pink brocaded India silk, trimmed with chiffon; Mortimer Day, Mr. Cock, Miss Kirkner, in white silk; Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, Miss Green, in blue silk; Miss Amy Green, in white silk, with gold passementerie; Mrs. Charles C. Dilts, in gray silk; the Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell in black silk and lace; Mr. and Mrs. Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. James McGee, Mrs. McGee in black silk; Frank L. C. Martin; and many friends and relatives from other places.

An excellent wedding supper was provided by caterer Stephenson.

The bride and groom left amid showers of rice in time to catch the 9:51 train for New York. They left the Plaza Hotel today for a two weeks' visit to Washington and Old Point Comfort.

The happy couple were the recipients of an extensive and beautiful array of gifts, including much gold and silver ware, cut-glass ware, royal Worcester ware, and bank checks from the parents of bride and groom.

The house decorations at the reception were tastefully arranged autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulford will be at home at 14 Sandford avenue, Tuesdays, after November 24, in the house just completed by the groom to receive his bride.

Gazelle Firemen Surprised by the Ladies.

A dime sociable was held at the residence of W. B. Grannatt, Fourth street and Grant avenue, by the ladies' society of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Evona, last evening. A pleasant evening and a financial success was the result. The surprise was tendered to the Gazelle Engine company in this way: After a test of the hydrant at the corner of Fourth street and Grant avenue, they were invited to have coffee and sandwiches. When comfortably seated enjoying hot coffee the hostess politely informed them that they were now caught in an Episcopal den, the fine for the first offense being a dime each. They were surprised, but their generous and willing response was in turn a surprise to the ladies, the dimes actually changing into quarters and half dollars, for which the ladies in return invited them to attend service at the beautiful little church on Clinton avenue, every Sunday at 11 o'clock.

ALLOW ME to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

The Promise of The Four-Leaf Clover.

"The Four-Leaf Clover"—George Taggart, Howard, Will and Tiffany Spencer—will give a dramatic entertainment in the newly-extended Holy Cross parish building, Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, for the benefit of the Sunday-school enlargement fund. The performance will comprise two plays, "The Curate", an original one-act comedietta, and "Second Sight", a farce comedy in two acts, which will be accompanied by readings, and vocal and instrumental music furnished by Messrs. William L. Saunders, W. H. Miner, G. E. Hasselmann and William Holmes, Masters Herbert Schutt and Edward Waring.

In view of the former triumph of "The Four-Leaf Clover" in George Taggart's farces "A Howling Success" and "Romeo and Juliet", and the fact that this entertainment, although more ambitious than their previous efforts, is all their own, it is almost unnecessary to predict a large, enthusiastic and thoroughly satisfied audience. The admission will be fifty cents, and tickets may be obtained of the members of Holy Cross choir, of the Sunday-school teachers, and at the store of H. P. Williams, 72 West Front street.

She'll Prove Herself a Star in the Title Role.

Three times a week the talented amateurs of this city who are to appear on the stage at The Casino, Thursday evening, November 19, meet and rehearse Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's popular drama, "Esmeralda". The entire cast is making most creditable progress, and the large audience present will be accorded a histrionic treat.

Mr. Blake of New York, one of the cleverest amateur actors and a really talented director, is coaching the company. He himself will play the Marquis. But the shining success of the event will be Mrs. Saunders's interpretation of the title role. In the last scene especially, her emotional acting as Esmeralda will be a veritable surprise and highly appreciated.

Bitten by a Frisky Dog.

The son of Mrs. Pernals, a colored woman who is employed on East Fifth street, Plainfield, but whose home is in Dunellen, was playing with a dog belonging to Abraham Henry, a day or two ago, when the animal bit him on the hand. The boy was throwing stones for the dog to run after, and both dog and boy tried to pick up a stone at the same time when the dog's teeth scratched the boy's hand, causing a wound which through inflammation has become quite serious.

A Love Feast at Vincent Chapel.

In Vincent chapel this evening, instead of the regular prayer meeting, will be held a love feast. This kind of a meeting has been peculiar to the Methodist Episcopal church since its origin, although the meeting is very much like that held by the early Christians, which they called an Agapa, or Feast of Love. All present partake of a simple meal of bread and water, after which the time is occupied in song, prayer, and Christian testimony. It is a meeting for believers only.

One or Two Friends.

I have been using Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills in my own case with marked success, and upon my recommendation have induced one or two friends to try them, with pleasing results. L. E. BENEDICT, Editor Ellenville Press.

Conspiracy is Alleged.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—George A. Fletcher, one of the owners of the Bent Cracker Company, which was disposed of last April to the New York Biscuit Company, has brought suit against Dr. James W. Bartlett to recover $70,000. Mr. Fletcher alleges that Dr. Bartlett was concerned in a conspiracy to defraud him out of a part of the proceeds of the sale of the cracker business.

L. S. L. Indictments in Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The grand jury of the United States District Court yesterday indicted the officers of the Louisiana Lottery Company for illegally using the mails. The officers indicted are: Paul Conrad, J. P. Horner, F. T. Howard, J. E. Morris, C. W. Hyams, P. F. Herwig, P. O. Fezende and J. L. Herwig. They are all attached to the home office in New Orleans and most of them live in that city.

Maher and Corbett Will Fight.

Miss Beauti—Then, for mercy's sake, tell him plainly that I'm engaged. Do it in such a way that he'll conclude to leave.

Servant—Yis, mum.

Mr. Borem (a minute later)—Is Miss Beauti at home?

Servant—Yes, sor, but she do be ingaged: an' the felly she's ingaged to do be waitin' in th' parler fur yez wid a club.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Hint to Philanthropists.

A systematic Man, observing that his Apples sometimes Froze in Winter, out of pure Kindness of Heart emptied several bottles of Hair Renewer over them, in the Hope that they might grow fine Coats of Fur to keep themselves Warm in the Cold Weather.

However, he found that the Apples remained as Bald as Before; and, Moreover, were Unfit for Eating.

Charity injudiciously Applied leaves its Object worse off than Before.—Puck.

Suitably Represented It.

"Here is my baggage, sir," said the dusty tourist in the long-frescoed linen ulster, handing a lean, consumptive valise over the counter. "I am the advance agent of a celebrated theatrical attraction."

"What is the name of the attraction?" asked the hotel clerk in a dry, hard, pay-in-advance tone.

"'Cheek,'" responded the dusty traveler, folding his arms with dignity.—Chicago Tribune.

Conversational Item.

Jones—I bought a parrot the other day, but the confounded bird don't learn how to talk.

Smith—Send him over to my house for a few days. If my wife doesn't teach him how to talk then you take him back to the bird store, for there is no hope of his ever learning.—Texas Siftings.

Crushed Again.

Dressmaker (to fashionable customer)—Oh, I am so glad you called to-day, madam, as I have a new wrinkle in waists just from Paris.

Fashionable Customer (icily)—I thought you knew that I never wore a waist with wrinkles in it?—Detroit Free Press.

Reversing It.

Mr. Lakeside—I believe it was an Englishman who called Boston the Athens of America, was it not, Mrs. Bean?

Mrs. Browning Bean—You are mistaken, sir. It was the Greeks who called Athens the Boston of Greece.—Life.

A Warning.

Trotter—Was your husband's death sudden?

Widow—Very. He was just learning to play on the violin, and—

Trotter—Ah, I see—and the neighbors objected.—Judge.

All in a Nutshell.

"You refuse me," he gasped.

"I do," replied Araminta.

"It is because I am poor and unknown. You do not understand me."

"That is just it, George. You are too obscure."—Puck.

That's Just About It.

Molly—Ned Croesus is a much better match than Charlie Bullion; his fortune is larger, and he has some intelligence.

Polly—You mean that he has not only more dollars, but more sense.—Jury.

Both Knew It.

Minnie—I heard you are engaged? Whom to?

Alice—Do you recognize this ring?

Minnie—O, yes; that's Billy Bowles.'—Jewelers' Circular.

About Wills.

"Do as I say," thundered an angry father. "My will shall be law."

"Well, then, I'll bet it wasn't drawn by a lawyer," returned his son.—Life.

NOTHING MEAN ABOUT HIM.

Servant—Goodness! Master Tommy, I'd rather have the whole family sick than you.

Sick Boy (savagely)—Well, so would I.—Golden Days.

Couldn't Have Been Fweddy.

Gus—Cholly, I think I saw your old friend Fweddy a little while ago. One of his trousers legs was creased a little further up than the other and he was in a terrible state of mind.

Cholly—In a state of mind? Then it wasn't Fweddy.—Chicago Tribune.

Equal to the Occasion.

"Now, dearest Ethel," said the ardent lover, "since you have answered yes to my proposal, I presume I shall not be too bold if I ask for a kiss."

"You want the earth."

"You mean heaven."

He got it.—Cape Cod Item.

An Heiress.

Finkle—What a lovely head of hair Miss Northerland has?

Dinkle—Yes; she inherited it from her father.

Finkle—Was he blessed likewise?

Dinkle—No; he was a wigmaker.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Brighten up; you don't have to plank down a fortune; you can get Salvation Oil for 25 cents.

Gilded five-cent pieces are going for five-dollar pieces, but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup needs no gilding to make it go. Price only 25 cents.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

GET IN LINE!

AND GET ONE BEFORE THEY ARE GONE! $1 39 buys a handsome Parlor Lamp, cheap at $2. You can't afford to pass us by when you are in want of a lamp, for our assortment is the most complete in town, and to say that our prices are the lowest, would be putting it mild. We have just received a fine line of Jardiniers, fancy Flower Vases, Toilet Sets, Dinner and Tea Sets, and fancy Crockery. We bought these at a closing out sale at bargain prices, so come while the assortment is good and select what you want and have them laid aside till needed; a small deposit secures them. We are in business to handle goods, and we will do it if we have to give them away; and no matter what others' prices are, ours will be under. Look at our $10 Dinner Set: it's worth $15 anywhere. Our $3.75 Tea Set sells all over for $5. Ordinary Table Crockery we lead the World on, and our prices astonish even the makers. Housefurnishings of every description, way down! Common Lamp Chimneys, all sizes, 5 cents; don't pay eight again for them. Those who do not throw money away will do well, and are invited to visit constantly, whether they wish to buy or not, that they may be posted as to the novelties and bargains coming in daily. A GREAT DEMONSTRATION.

Rousing Meeting of Enthusiastic Democrats Who Are Marching on to Success in Middlesex.

Yesterday at Dunellen patriotic citizens trimmed up their places of business and residences with bunting and lanterns, and it was apparent that something of a national bearing was about to happen; and sure enough, the good Democrats had been also busy trimming the school hall for the grand rally advertised. The hall was a blaze of light, and was filled with enthusiastic citizens as it had never been filled before. At the back of the speakers' platform were two immense American flags, before which sat the following prominent gentlemen—the Hon. Robert Adrain, the Hon. J. W. Beekman, Judge Daly of Hoboken, W. J. Winges and P. M. Ising.

W. J. Winges opened the meeting with an appropriate speech, and introduced the Hon. Robert Adrain.

Mr Adrain is a man of good appearance, over 6 feet tall, and of elaborate speech. He said he had been in the Senate for one term, and if the people desired and would support him by their votes he would go back another, as one term was not sufficient to put through the business that a thorough democrat had to do after ousting a Republican administration.

In reference to his opponent, Mr. Adrain said: "I believe I have an opponent, but don't know whether I have or not. However, I believe the Republican party, after several trials to get someone to accept the candidacy, got a person by the name of James Goodwin of Cranbury township to accept, on the principle that he was willing to be put on the funeral pile and willing to be burnt for the sake of the party."

At the same time Mr. Adrain related the old fable of "The hare and the tortoise", projecting the theory that he might catch his opponent sleeping in the race and thus win.

Since April, 1890, Mr. Adrain has not only been Senator for Middlesex county but public prosecutor as well, and certain political critics have argued that this was not right. But Judge Beasley saw fit to appoint him, and in the face of such objections retain him, and as a similar instance in other parts of the State he referred to Judge VanSyckle's appointment of Senator Marsh as Prosecutor in Union county.

Since his appointment in 1890, Mr. Adrain says, he has never had anyone to assist him in criminal trials and the public prosecutor's office has been run on about one-third the cost expended in the past ten years. He says he holds one other position, which is Colonel of Governor Abbett's staff, and although he is a great admirer of the Governor [applause] he would be willing to give it to anyone who could accept as it is a position which not only requires time and ability, but considerable of patience and finance.

Mr. Adrain went to the Senate in 1889, after a Republican rule of the previous year, and did many things to advance the interests of the people.

The expenses of New Jersey are—he said—small in comparison with those of other States, and just as good if not better justice is secured. For instance, we pay our Supreme Justices only $10,000 per year, where a common police justice in New York city receives the same salary. Other officers are salaried in the same careful manner.

The Republican party is making the cry "Look at what the Democratic party are doing on this salary question." See what they did!

In 1888, when the Legislature was Republican, they increased the salary of Major Anderson from $4,500 to $6,000, and State Treasurer Toffey, who received the same salary, had his raised to the same amount. This raise was entirely uncalled for, and made these officials bold in their assurance that they if not the Republican party had come to stay. But when the Hon. "Bob" was made president of the Senate he had the pleasure of ousting them both and appointing new officers in their place at a reduced salary.

Mr. Adrain said that the Republican party was composed of mostly all of the monied men of the State, such as directors of insurance companies and railroads, and presidents of large incorporations, and therefore had the power to influence and buy the working-man's vote, as well as other influential support. There they could pass any bill they wished without the great uproar that would be caused if the Democratic party should try the same schemes, because monopoly would be against them.

The Republicans have not elected a Governor since 1866, and seeing that all chances for them on that score were hopeless, they determined to deprive that latter power of all his liberties and did so by electing a Republican Senate and Legislature; and up to the year 1888 they succeeded. By this latter success they took the power from the Governor of appointing the board of trustees for the State school for boys and the State school for girls, and the board for asylums. However, in 1889, the house was now Democratic, and Mr. Adrain was one to vote to restore the stolen power assumed by the Senate to be reverted to the Governor.

The Republican party also passed the "Sunset Law", which called for the opening of the polls at 7 a. m., thus not allowing the working-man to have a vote without losing time from his work. Mr. Adrain said the first vote he ever cast was for the repeal of this law, and it was repealed, and now the working-man has from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. to cast his vote.

Mr. Adrain in reference to the Governor said: Gov. Abbett is a friend of the people and a man of the people. Why? Because he has done more for the taxpayers and citizens than any other man.

In the face of 21 large railroad corporations he fought for and defended a bill, that the taxation on railroad property and corporations was too small, and the valuation of their property should be brought on a par with other property. The State Gazette calls Gov. Abbett a Leading Anti-Monopoly Howler because he was in favor of increased taxation on railroad property and thereby lessen individual proportion of taxation. They thought he ought to let the tax bill alone.

You see—he continued—after all of Gov Abbett's trials and troubles in trying to lessen the individual taxes, the bill was lost by the Supreme Court pronouncing it unconstitutional; but fortunately this State contained a court of errors and appeals, and it is now in their hands. Mr. Adrain referred to an article in The Star-Spangled Banner, which says he is not a Democrat because he voted to repeal the "Prohibition Law". But he thought that every man had a right to use his own good judgment in that doctrine. He said the New York papers had misconstrued his meaning on that subject greatly. Mr. Adrain referred to a paper called The Reporter, which is published by one John W. Hayes in Philadelphia. Mr. Hayes through some way or another, did not receive a valuable appointment, and says it was through Mr. Adrain's influence that he was kept out of it, and now he is publishing these untruths about Mr. Adrain, through the Labor Bureau of Philadelphia. Mr. Adrain did not, however, cast the deciding vote in his case, and this Mr. Hayes was a direct enemy of labor during the strike.

Mr. Adrain referred to many labor bills that were passed during his administration and in proof thereof quoted them from the Journal, and says he has never and never will vote against anything that is an advantage to the laboring people. He also referred to Leon Abbett as a responsible party for the United States Senate, and said he should be the next United States Senator. Leon Abbett—he said—was robbed of the right of this office once before, but will never be again.

He mentioned a number of bills the Republican party tried to pass; particularly the Force Bill, and impressed upon the audience the responsibility of a State Senator, at the same time showing why Mr. Abbett was the right man.

In conclusion, he drew a very brilliant picture of the ability of the Hon. J. W. Beekman, candidate for Assembly, and recommended the party to support him as he was a man of true Democratic principle, and one who would look after his country's interests. He also said: I will stand by anything I have said, and if I am not a true Democrat go find one.

Mr. Winges, chairman of the meeting, after a few remarks introduced the Hon. Judge W. D. Daly of Hoboken. Judge Daly is a most eloquent speaker, and pleased his hearers greatly.

He said it was his intention to speak to the people of his own county that evening, but through the earnest request of his friend Mr. Winges he came here to speak to Dunellenites and was just as pleased, because he knew they were all Democrats, so whether he was at Hoboken or Dunellen it is just the same. Mr. Daly covered the working of the Democratic party, and had said that during their session no bills had been passed that would increase the taxes of the citizens, but on the other hand a more even proportion among the State board of taxation had been created to proportionate the taxes for each landholder, and thus providing that an assessor could not in his iniquity tax the people at his own will. A commissioner of banking and insurance has been created, at no expense to the State, as the salary of the position cannot exceed the fees collected from these institutions. The Republican party calls this a useless office, but the recent great failures in New York State are thus prevented in this State, and the security of the people is assured. This version of its usefulness refutes the claim of the Republican party. The boards of management of public instruction, and management of state asylums had been reduced from 29 to 8—four members of which are to be from each party, making it absolutely non-partisan, and greatly reducing expenses.

Mr. Daly said it was our duty to see that the State was kept intact, and so placed in districts that it shall be Democratic, according to its popular vote, for years to come; and he thought that had been done, and now in the face of all this it is your duty to support our distinguished friends, the Hon. Robert Adrain for Senator, and the Hon. J. W. Beekman for Assembly.

Much—he concluded—depends upon the unity in our ranks to bring about success. New Jersey always goes Democratic, and our State is always foremost in supporting the party that has done so much for us. Hoping I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again, I ask you to support the entire Democratic ticket.

Mr. Beekman was next introduced by the chairman. He is a sort of humorist, and kept his hearers in laughter most of the time. His principles were purely Democratic, and he spent most of his time in telling the faults of his opponents. During his speech he told many little stories which pleased the audience and enlivened the meeting. He assured them that if elected he would do all in his power to effect good laws and vote for any bill in favor of the working people. In conclusion he hoped to hear the same good report as a result on election as a year ago.

Mr. Winges proposed three hearty cheers for the speakers, which were given by the entire audience, and the meeting was adjourned.

The chairman, Mr. Winges, then invited the speakers and a number of the guests to a banquet, which was served at Taylor's Hotel.

This was one of the finest collations which Dunellen has ever presented, as there was nothing lacking to fill any menu of the season. Neal Taylor, master of ceremonies, made the guests feel at home, and served the collation with his usual good taste.

Dunellen has never seen a greater demonstration.

Notes from the Pond Works.

Two years ago last summer, the workmen employed at Pond's gave an excursion from which they realized quite a snug sum of money and finally concluded to use the same as a nucleus for a mutual aid society. The society was formed, and the company, being pleased by having it named after them, gave the workmen $100, which, with the excursion money, gave them quite a start, and the society boomed. But there was a screw loose somewhere, for although they had gained a membership of over 250 it did not seem to work right; jealousies crept in; bad management followed; and finally it dwindled down to nearly a cipher. An appeal was made to our superintendent, A. C. Stebbins, through Messrs. Fred. Wharton, Daniel Miller and Donald McInnes, as a committee, and a notice was posted Saturday, telling the men that they ought to have such a society and saying that it was for their interest to belong to this one or kindred ones; the announcement also notified them that no more papers should be allowed circulation asking for alms for needy ones. A vote was to be taken to-day as to the forming of such a society having for its basis the payment of $5 per week in case of sickness, and $100 in case of death. In order to have a proper income, each member was to give Mr. Morgan authority to deduct 10 cents per week from his wages. The vote was taken as agreed, and resulted in a decided majority for the new society which will arise Phœnix-like from the ashes of the old. We can only say that it is a desirable thing for any shop as large as the Pond Machine company's, and in their new plan they have a winning card. But they should go further and do as other shops do: require every workman to become a member; it is for their own good.

We must now chronicle a failure. Some of our apprentices, self styled the dirty dozen, started a club and hired the empty store room next to Eddy's meat market and owned by Dr. Fritts. But alas, a-lack-a-day!—internal dissensions crept in, and the club "busted" without a meeting. Henry says he would n't have cared so much but he had gone to the trouble of cleaning the room out. Never mind, my boy, it will be in shape for election day.

Another large planer bed was cast Monday, and as foreman Andrew McArdle has been successful in the past with his big work no doubt this one will come out of the sand in fine shape. It takes several days to cool such large castings.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

COLUMBUS MONUMENT.

The Work of Art to Be Presented to New York by Its Italian Citizens.

It is said that "all things come to those who wait." That saying, if true, is very comforting. Perhaps, if we wait long enough, we shall see New York a model city in all respects, with clean streets, perfect buildings, lovely public gardens, and a statue or fountain in every public square. We have a number of statues now which are more or less monstrosities in their way. Then there are some fine ones, notably the one of La Fayette in Union square, which was presented to our city by the countrymen of the great soldier and patriot whom the statue represents. We will soon be indebted to the Italians living in this city, says New York Truth, for the finest monument yet erected here. This will be a statue of Columbus. The movement to erect a monument to Christopher Columbus in New York was started by Chevalier Carlo Barsotti, editor and proprietor of Il Progresso Italo-Americo, of this city, and through his efforts about $20,000 have been raised toward the necessary fund. So great has been the interest taken in the movement, not only in this country but abroad, that the list of subscribers contains the names of many of the leading men of Italy, among whom are ministers of state, diplomats, professors and journalists, ex-Premier Crispi being a subscriber to large amount. The monument is to be the work of Gaetano Russo, of Messina (Sicily,) he being selected by a royal commission appointed for that express purpose, composed of the leading artists and sculptors of Italy.

The complete height of the monument will be seventy-five feet. The statue of Columbus, which will surmount the shaft, will be twelve and one-fourth feet high, cut from the finest Carara marble. The pedestal will be very ornate; on one side there is to be a figure nine and a half feet in height of Carara marble, representing the "genius of geography" in the act of tracing on a globe the position of America. On the reverse side will be a group representing an eagle, bearing in its claws the flags of America and Genoa. This will also be of the same fine marble.

On account of the sentiments surrounding it, if for no other reason, this statue is sure to awaken much interest and attract a great deal of attention. New York should not forget that to the generosity and patriotism of her Italian citizens she will be indebted for her first statue of Christopher Columbus, and, from the descriptions and pictures of it, one of which she may be justly proud.

The most beautiful woman in New York said that she "ascribed her good health and rosy cheeks to the occasional use of a tablespoonful of pure whiskey before meals. It increased the circulation, sent a warm glow through the system, and gave her a hearty appetite." That is the experience of all who drink pure whiskey moderately. A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old.

HIGHER THAN OTHERS.

Chicago Odd Fellows to Erect a Thirty-Four Story Building.

It Will Be as Tall as the Washington Monument—New Architectural Devices for Making the Huge Structure Safe.

The odd fellows' hall to be erected in Chicago will be the highest building in the world. The architects are Adler & Sullivan, who made the plans for the Auditorium. It will be seen by the elevation shown herewith that the plan of construction is an original one. The structure is cruciform in shape. This form, symbolic in expression, is made one of the most important principles of the construction, as by it the wings of the building are utilized to buttress the great tower on every side, making the wonderful height of thirty-four stories absolutely secure. The central part, from which the tower rises, is flanked by twenty-two stories on each side. As the central part goes up twelve stories higher than the roof of these wings, and as the tower above the height will be a gigantic office building in itself, one can comprehend what a stupendous undertaking the building is.

In the superstructure riveted steel pillars and steel girders will be immovably knit together at all joints, vertical as well as horizontal, by steel or iron rivets, and a system of diagonal windbraces of steel, so far-reaching that, reinforced by the masses of masonry which will surround the pillars in the lower parts of the structure, a perfect resistance of all wind strains is assured. The building will cover 43,000 square feet of ground. The dimensions are 177x210. The whole of the interior—8,000,000 cubic feet of contents—will cover an aggregate area of 350,000 square feet. The total cost of the building will be about $3,500,000. The cost of both the building and ground will be about $6,000,000.

The first and second stories of the building are planned for stores. The dimensions of the largest stores will be 60x16; those facing the court on the inside, 42x19; on the corner, 42x42, for banking purposes. The stores in the second story will be similarly arranged, the hall being laid out like a street. The third, fourth, fifth, sixth and tenth stories will be devoted to lodge rooms and public halls, the largest of which will be 60x45 and the smallest 39x22. While the twenty-four lodge rooms are intended, first of all, for the use of the odd fellows—and it is expected that the grand lodge of the United States will make its headquarters there—a number will be rented to other orders, and any fraternity may thus avail itself of the advantages the building offers.

On the northeast corner of the ground floor will be a hall 110x45 for conventions. In the tenth story will be a great drill hall, 170x45, for the order, measuring 8,000 square feet. This hall can also be utilized for a banquet or ball-room. The other stories are planned for offices, of which there will be 1,110. One hundred and ninety-two of these are up in the tower, in a space seventy feet square. One set of elevators will run to the tenth story, another set to the twenty-second, others to twenty-fourth, others to the thirtieth and four all the way to the thirty-forth. The space above from where the different elevators stop their run will be utilized by offices. This is on the thirty-fourth story and 556 feet from the sidewalk.

The Herb of Prophecy.

Another remarkable plant has recently been added to the long list of botanical curiosities. M. Carrera, deputy of Oaxaca, having taken to the City of Mexico a plant which is known to grow only in Misteca, called the "herb of prophecy" by the natives. Devotees of this weed take it much in the same manner that cocoa leaves are taken by those addicted to the habit. In a few moments after a dose of it has been taken a sleep is produced similar in all respects to, and, it might be said, identical with, the hypnotic state. When under its influence the sleeper is completely insensible, but will answer with closed eyes all questions put to him. It is further said of this wonderful plant that the pathologic state induced on whomsoever partakes of the herb brings with it a kind of prophetic gift and second-sight. One who has taken this herb loses his will even more completely than does the person who is in the hypnotic state, and is so thoroughly under the control of any voice that he would shoot or stab himself at any moment if commanded to do so. When one regains his senses after being under the influence of the "prophetic herb" he remembers nothing of what he has done when in the trance.

THE CHILIAN CAPITAL.

Life in Santiago centers in the Plaza de Armas. This is the principal square in the city. In its center is a garden filled with rare and beautiful trees and shrubs from various regions of South America. These surround a large and very ornate fountain decorated with statues of Indian youths and maidens. On the north side of the square is the intendencia, the seat of local government. Fronting this is a large building originally intended for a grand hotel. But the upper part was burnt out, and it has since remained patched up and vacant. Arcades at its base shelter between their supporting piers stalls for the sale of fruit, cakes, pretty haberdashery, trinkets, tobacco, etc. The block is further pierced by passages akin to those of Paris. The most important, the passage Matte, running parallel to the facade, is the Burlington arcade of Santiago. On the eastern side is a similar block. The front presents a number of shops, mostly drapers, milliners, mercers and the like, and there are passages here as well, one bearing the name of Macclure. On the western side of the square is the cathedral. Externally it is a plain, brick-faced building. As to its interior it can only be qualified as hideous. The proportions of the nave and isles would not be so bad, but they are smothered by the tawdry decorations. In rear of the cathedral is a block containing the congressional palace. It is a very imposing structure, in the classic style, with two imposing porticos. They are imposing because the columns supporting them profess to be stone, and are only stuccoed brick. Santiago abounds in such deceptions.

The Plaza is an excellent spot for noting the life and movements of the city. In the forenoon it is thronged with women passing to and from the cathedral, carrying books of devotion and the little square praying-carpets which possibly the Spaniard borrowed from the Moor.

No one in a bonnet is admitted into a Santiago church; so rich and poor alike are closely swathed in their mantas—large squares of fine black cashmere, often richly embroidered round the borders with silk of the same hue. The best of these come from China. The young Santiaguenas have good complexions and slim, upright figures, and are in many eyes more personable than the plump and pasty-faced Limenas about whom many travelers have been wont to rave. During the afternoon many of the wealthier of these dames and damsels re-appear in fashionable walking dresses, erring on the side of rich material and bright coloring, and shop in the passages. Professional men affect the chimney-pot hat and frock coat. The throng of clerks, shopmen and the like are mostly clad in close clothes, approximating in cut and style to those of their compeers in southern Europe. Local color, however, is imparted by "rotos" in Panama hats and striped ponchos, "huasos" in stiff gray felt mushrooms and many-buckled leather leggins, and soldiers in blue uniforms of French pattern, and kepis adorned with the silver star of Chili.

THE RHESUS MONKEY.

A Half Dozen of the Red-Headed Apes in New York.

There is a new cage in the monkey house, and its half dozen inmates, says the New York Sun, are about the most curious seekers after peanuts and popcorn that the Central park monkey house has yet sheltered. They are neither large nor pretty. They are no cleverer or stupider than other monkeys. But in their skins are reflected most of the tints that make glorious the autumn landscape. They are Rhesus monkeys from far-away India.

THE RHESUS MONKEY.

They are not beloved by the natives of India, because they are thievish, and furthermore, so stupid that the ordinary devices against monkeys fail utterly. In youth they are fairly good-natured, but as age advances they get crabbed, and at ten years old they snap and bite when disturbed from their moody reflections.

Those now on exhibition are about two years old, and will not get their full growth for four years yet. Superintendent Conklin does not think well of them, despite their odd coloring. He likes bright, good-natured animals about him. The Rhesus monkeys, by the way, can endure more cold than any other sort and just about as much heat as can be turned on.

ALL RESPONSIBILITY REFUSED.

American Sailors Are Not Permitted to Land at Valparaiso.

OFFICIALS NOT SAFE ON SHORE.

A Practical Boycott Upon the Crew of the Baltimore.

Minister Egan Has Notified the State Department at Washington—Decisive Action Looked For at Once—Santiago Excited Over a Report that the Chilian Legation at Washington Had Been Attacked—Senor Montt's Interview With Secretary Blaine.

SANTIAGO, Chili, Oct. 29.—The Chilian government has replied to Minister Egan's demand for an explanation of the recent attack upon American sailors.

The reply is couched in very strong language, and it is understood that it amounts to a refusal to accept responsibility for the affair. The State Department as Washington has been notified.

Minister Egan, Capt. Schley and Consul McCreery are consulting together, and it is thought that decisive action will be taken soon. The State Department's orders in reference to the matter are very strong.

The Intendente of Valparaiso has refused to guarantee the safety of market boats coming to that city early in the morning from the United States war ship Baltimore, or the safety of the officers of that vessel coming ashore at night. There is a practical boycott on the Baltimore. No American sailors are allowed ashore.

Great excitement has been caused here by a report that the Chilian legation in Washington has been attacked.

THE NEW CHILIAN MINISTER.

Senor Montt Accorded the Same Recognition as Mr. Egan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Senor Montt, who is not known except in a technical diplomatic way as the Minister to the United States from the provisional government of Chili, has been accorded by the State Department of this goverment precisely the same recognition as has been given to the United States Minister Egan by the provisional government in Chili.

This recognition was accorded yesterday for the first time.

Senor Montt was received by Mr. Blaine in person, after having been kept waiting for fully an hour. Mr. Julio Foster, whose diplomatic standing appears to admit of no exact definition, accompanied Senor Montt, but was not admitted with him and Senor Asta-Burnoga to the conference with Secretary Blaine. The conference occupied less than half an hour. At its conclusion Senor Montt declined to state what had been said by either himself or Secretary Blaine, and Mr. Blaine was equally reticent.

It is understood, however that Senor Montt has been informally recognized as the representative of the New Government in Chili, but that he has not been admitted to the standing of an Envoy Plenipotentiary. That cannot be done until his credentials have arrived by mail. Only telegraphic notice of his appointment as Minister from Chili to this country has been received as yet in Washington. Moreover, it will be necessary after the arrival of his credentials for Senor Montt to be received by the President before he can acquire the standing of a Minister.

THREE HUNDRED KILLED.

A Japanese Town Destroyed and Others Wrecked By an Earthquake.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Hioga, on the Island of Hondo, Japan, has been almost entirely destroyed by an earthquake. Telegraph wires are down, and particulars are hard to obtain, but it is known that a large number of lives have been lost.

At Oskaka, a city of 350,000 inhabitants, 300 persons are known to have been killed and thousands of buildings destroyed.

Suicide of a Philadelphian.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Edwin E. Marshall, shot and killed himself yesterday at the Hotel Parker. The cause of the deed seems to have been unhappy relations between him and his wife, who had been living at the hotel since Oct. 21. Marshall is 38 years old and is said to have been one of Philadelphia's well-known merchants. Mrs. Marshall had applied for a divorce from her husband on the ground of cruelty. She says they were married at Germantown, Pa., in January of this year, but lived together only a few days.

Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 29.—Harrison A. Tracy, of Lynn, who in a boxing match at Lynn last May, hit John Burns a blow, from the effects of which he afterwards died, was found guilty of manslaughter in the Superior Court here. The jury recommended mercy and sentence was deferred. The defense claimed that falling on the slippery floor caused the fatal wound, but it was held the man dealing the blow was as much to blame as if the blow itself caused death.

Not the Motive of His Suicide.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Men prominent in financial circles, who are supposed to know something of Irving A. Evans' affairs, stamp as a falsehood the story that Evans' suicide was caused by his inability to collect what was due to him

THE DETROIT LAUNCHED.

Secretary Tracy Expected, but Unable to Be Present.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29.—The new cruiser Detroit was launched at 3:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The big ship slid into the water gracefully and without a hitch. The Detroit yesterday morning presented a beautiful appearance lying on the ways bedecked with bunting; the American colors were unfurled to the breeze. A rope was stretched 20 feet above deck from bow to stern, and the colors making up the international code of signals were floating from it, reaching the entire length of the boat.

The sides of the stand were hid from view by the flags of various nations gracefully drooped. Until the last minute it was expected that Secretary Tracy of the Navy and other heads of the departments would arrive from Washington to witness the launch. They did not, however, put in an appearance.

There was a great crowd present who cheered the handsome vessel as she left the ways.

The Detroit is one of three cruisers of the 2,000-ton class. One is now building at Baltimore and the other at Boston. They are somewhat larger than the ships of the Yorktown class and swifter. The builders have agreed that the engines shall be capable of driving the Detroit at the rate of eighteen knots an hour.

Her length is 217 feet, beam 37 feet and draught 14 1-2 feet. She is schooner rigged and carries 6,239 feet of canvas. Her coal bunkers will hold 435 tons of coal, which will enable her to steam 10,000 miles at 18 knots an hour. A full supply of coal it is said, will strengthen her against projectiles.

Her armament includes eight 4-inch and two six-inch rapid-firing guns. The larger guns are mounted on central pivot carriages, one forward and one aft. The smaller ones are in sponsings, of which there are four on each side. There is a secondary battery, composed of ten rapid-firing 6 and 3-pounders. Six torpedo ports have been fitted.

She is moved by two triple-expansion engines of the vertical, inverted cylinder, directing type, making 185 revolutions a minute.

Great attention has been paid to the ventilation and drainage of this ship, and to the comfort of the officers and men. The quarters are lighted by electricity. A refrigerating room forward is a feature of her fittings.

CHAPLEAU'S RESIGNATION.

Not Yet Accepted Because of Difficulty in Finding a Successor.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—The resignation of Secretary of State Chapleau from the Dominion Cabinet has not yet been accepted by Premier Abbott, owing to the difficulty the latter experiences in selecting a successor. Chapleaus now in the city, but will not say anything until his resignation is either accepted or rejected.

The portfolio has been offered to ex-Speaker Ouimet, a personal friend of Chapleau, but he refused it. D. Girouard, member for Hochelaga, also refused the honor, and it looks as though Premier Abbott would have to submit to Chapleau's demands, give him the Ministry of Railways, or allow him to go, in which event he would take with him a following of twelve or fifteen members, sufficient to place Abbott in minority.

The situation is becoming grave, and many well-informed politicians assert that general elections will be held in the Dominion before the end of the year.

Thought to Have Been Murdered.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 29.—James Hess has mysteriously disappeared from his home at the Redstone Coke Works, south of this place. Some employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company saw five Italians pursuing the boy Tuesday night with guns in their hands. They also saw one of the Italians shoot at the boy, but they did not determine whether the shot took effect, as they could not see the boy at the moment the shot was fired. It is the general belief that the Italians murdered the boy and threw the body into the coke ovens to conceal their crime. The matter is being investigated.

Will Sue the B. & O.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company took preliminary steps yesterday for the filling of a bill in equity against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the Baltimore & Philadelphia Railroad and the Schuylkill River East Side Railroad Company, the latter being the title under which the Baltimore & Ohio enters this city. It is thought the proceedings have been brought to force the B. & O. to carry out one of its financial contracts with the Reading Railroad.

Accused of Burning the Barns.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 29.—William Gibbons, who was arrested in Philadelphia, and Eugene Burns, who was arrested here yesterday, were given a hearing before Justice Hasse. On the testimony of a detective and of James Moore, of this city, Gibbons was held in $5,000 bail for burning one of the Duponts' barns and an additional $5,000 for conspiracy. Burns was held in $5,000 bail for burning one of the barns.

THE SAW-LOG STORY

Pastor Junor Believes Sinbad Sam's Adventures.

THE MARINERS WHITEWASHED.

Editor Carter, Who Came from Florida to Disprove the Story, Discredited.

The Parson's Report of His Investigation a Complete Exoneration of Sam Thornton and Eva Jewell—Sam May Continue as Deacon of the Mount Olivet Church Without Reproach—Triumphal Vindication of the Much Maligned Couple.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 29.—Pastor Junor of the Mount Olivet Church has submitted his report on the adventures of Samuel Thornton and his sister-in-law, Eva Jewell. The report is a whitewash throughout, and plainly shows that the pastor is a firm believer in the wonderful feat of the ocean floaters.

He begins by reciting the circumstances of their temporary disappearance, which took place Aug. 27. He takes Elder Thornton's word for it that they went bathing in the surf, that a wave caught Miss Jewell and carried her into deep water. She could not swim and Samuel had hard work in keeping her from drowing.

They sighted a log, around which Eva wrapped her arms, and both were carried out to sea and remained floating on the log for two hours, when they sighted a sailing ship bound for Yucatan.

They were taken on board and the sailors gave them clothing in which they arrayed themselves and cast off their bathing suits, and after a week they were landed on the shores of Florida at a point which they were informed was twenty miles from Jacksonville. Afterwards they were driven to that city in a wagon, and sent a telegram to Elder Thornton's brother the following Sunday.

Next comes Miss Jewell's statement, which corroborates Thornton's in every detail.

That of Mr. and Mrs. Burst follows. It declares they saw a man and woman float out to sea the eventful day while they were in bathing at Coney Island, and that they since recognized Samuel and Eva as the pair.

Pastor Junor, in reciting the continuation of his investigations, states that he went to Florida, and from the description which the elder gave of the road he had traversed from the coast inland, followed it closely, and found that it agreed entirely with his own observations.

The pastor next describes his call upon Editor Carter, who declares he saw the couple in the car and could not be mistaken about them. He says that the conductor P. B. Barr, had evidently tried to help out his friend Carter in his statements, and adds that Superintendent Richardson was not a reliable man. He claims to have received telegrams from two other witnesses—one a man who saw a boat put out from the unknown ship to the shore, and another a person who saw a white man and woman drive over the road from the coast to Jacksonville.

The report is a complete vindication of Sam and Eva, so far as the Mt. Olivet Church is concerned. And still there are scoffers at the wonderful saw-log story.

More Indictments Against Dill.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 29.—Another true bill, containing 32 separate counts, was found against Banker Dill of Clearfield, Pa., by the United States Grand Jury yesterday. With the indictment made Tuesday, in which were four counts, there is now a total of 36 separate and specific and criminal charges against Mr. Dill. Bank Examiner Miller thinks the total amount named in the charges will not fall short of $78,000. He says, however, that Mr. Dill's peculations may reach twice that amount.

Gave All to Charity.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 29.—The will of Mrs. Julia F. Walker, widow of the late Horace Walker, was opened yesterday. The estate, valued at $24,000, is bequeathed to several missionary church societies, among them the Seney Hospital at Brooklyn, N. Y., which gets $5,000 for the endowment of a permanent bed. If the residue is sufficient another $5,000 is bequeathed for a second bed.

The Report Credited in England.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Board of Agriculture has given notice that the report that Russia intends to prohibit the export of wheat is well founded and it is expected that only cargoes on vessels that have already got clearance papers from the customs authorities will be permitted to leave.

Fall River Weavers Strike.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 29.—The weavers in the Narragansett mill struck yesterday. The men allege that they were not able to obtain all the wages they desired for making certain classes of goods. Eighty-five looms are idle.

CHILDREN MALTREATED.

Cruelties Practiced by a Rector in an Orphanage.

DUBLIN, Oct. 29.—Some startling testimony was given yesterday at the trial of the Rev. Samuel Cotton, a rector at Carnoch, County Kildare, who was charged with criminal neglect and ill-treatment of the children in the Carnogh Orphanage.

The Rev. Samuel Cotton, who has conducted the affairs of the orphanage for many years, has made many appeals to the public for financial aid and has received large sums of money by subscription for the maintenance of the orphanage. But owing to numerous complaints which have been made against that institution, the Society for the Protection of Children recently made an investigation into the manner in which the orphanage was conducted and thereby a horrible state of affairs was revealed.

The agents of the society found that the children were in an emaciated, filthy and ragged condition, and that they were covered with parasites.

The toes of one of the children, it was testified to, had rotted off. Another, a girl, had been chained by the legs to a log. The rooms of the orphanage were also found to be in the filthiest condition.

In the kitchen was found a baby, six weeks old, covered with dirty rags and dying of cold and inanition. Other children were found in the same apartment crouched around a small fire, almost frozen and half starved. All of them were weak and sickly and their growth had been stunted by the treatment received under the Rev. Mr. Cotton's management.

The sanitary condition of the whole establishment was found to be perfectly horrible. Some of the beds used by the unfortunate children were merely old boxes and packing cases filled with stable hay.

It was also shown that all the children were kept in a perpetual state of terror by the Rev. Mr. Cotton, and that it would be difficult even to imagine a more deplorable state of things.

The Rev. Mr. Cotton was committed for trial, bail, however, being allowed in order to enable him to attend the synod of the diocese, of which body he is a member.

THAT CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT.

Senator Quay Says He Had No Political Dealings With Bardsley.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 29.—Senator Quay arrived in Pittsburg from Beaver last evening and repaired to his hotel. About the same time ex-Collector David Martin arrived from Philadelphia and met the Senator at the hotel. Mr. Martin came to consult the Senator regarding the certificate of deposit found among the Keystone Bank papers.

A reporter called at the hotel and talked with both Senator Quay and Mr. Martin on the subject of the certificate. Mr. Martin, when asked to explain the transaction, said:

"Senator Quay gave his note for $9,000 to Mr. Charles Porter and myself in Philadelphia to raise money on it where ever we could. We first tried two or three gentlemen without success. We then took the note to Bardsley and asked him if he could not get it discounted for us. Mr. Bardsley gave us a check for the amount, which was cashed at the Third National Bank of Philadelphia, less the discounting of the note, $123. A certificate of deposit was sent to Senator Quay at Beaver, who sent on a check for $9,000. Senator Quay had no dealings whatever with Bardsley in the matter. Mr. Porter and myself transacted the entire business. The note was afterwards paid and I took it to Senator Quay in Washington."

Senator Quay said: "I have never been acquainted with Bardsley and would scarcely know him if I saw him. I was not even acquainted with him politically, nor ever had any political dealings with him. He was not a party man, for whenever he ran for treasurer it was as a citizens' candidate."

Senator Quay had with him the check that he sent to Philadelphia in return for the certificate of deposit. This check has no special significance except, as the Senator said, it is confirmatory of the statement of the whole transaction.

A Receiver Asked For.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.—F. C. Miller, for himself and others, yesterday filed a bill in court requesting that a receiver be appointed for the Dexter Spring Company. The total indebtedness, he claims, is $82,000. Many claims against the company are pressing and within 30 days at least $47,000 will fall due. The company is insolvent, the late president, Theodore Doerflinger (the defaulting school board treasurer), having fraudulently appropriated to his own use $13,600 of the company's money.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Francis Brooks, a well known man of West Medford, Mass., is dead.

The Harvard football team defeated Bowdoin yesterday at Boston by a score 89 to 0. This is the biggest score of the season.

Jack Bates of Ohio and Joe Daley of New York fought eight rounds at Danbury, Conn., Tuesday night, Bates being declared the victor.

The decision in the famous Andover case is that the trustees as a corporation should be made a party to the proceedings before the Board of Visitors.

In the United States Circuit Court in Boston yesterday Jacob Dick pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs for importing six musicians from Bavaria.

By the will of Lorley D. Paddock of Boston $30,000 is bequeathed to Boston University for a trust fund, to be known as the "Paddock Fund."

The bones of a man supposed to be those of a son of Charles Bullock, who disappeared some time ago, were found in the ruins of a burned barn yesterday at Bangor, Me.

Ex-Gov. John L. Barstow of Shelburne, Vt., has been appointed by the Secretary of the Interior a commissioner to negotiate with the Navajo Indians for the surrender of part of their reservation in New Mexico.

HIS SCHEME FAILED

Blackmailer Walsh's Designs on a Buffalo Lawyer.

HE KNEW A FAMILY SECRET.

Social Ruin of Barrister Box's Adopted Daughter Threatened.

Two New York Detectives Cleverly Ran the Rascal to Earth—An Innocent Young Man Also Involved—When Arraigned Walsh Refused to Make an Explanation—Held for the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The examination of William K. Walsh, alias H. K. Williams, accused of attempting to extort money by means of threat, yesterday, resulted in his being held for the Grand Jury.

The case is one of blackmail pure and simple, and the victim is Henry W. Box, a prominent Buffalo lawyer, and a man of great wealth. Four years ago Walsh lived in Buffalo, where he worked in a crockery store. Being of a sneaking disposition he learned many private affairs of Buffalo families, including that of Mr. Box.

Seventeen years ago Mr. Box adopted a pretty girl baby of respectable parents. The family was a large one, and Mr. Box, having no children of his own, took this child, the parents resigning all control. It was on this adopted child, now a pretty young girl, that Walsh decided to play his cards.

Walsh, under the name of W. K. Williams, sent a letter to Mr. Box hinting that if certain statements about the girl's parentage were known they would ruin her social standing in Buffalo. He intimated in his letters to Mr. Box that he had been informed of them by some Buffalo person, and that $1,000 would be the price of silence. To all his letters Mr. Box replied in vigorous language. Then Walsh wrote Mr. Box to send $500 and he would leave the country. He told Mr. Box that he wished to go to Australia and begin life anew. Mr Box, knowing it to be a scheme of blackmail, laid the matter before Judge Daniels, of the Supreme Court, and the Judge placed the matter in the hands of Inspector Byrnes.

Detectives Frank and Titus were put on the case. They told Mr. Box to continue his correspondence with Williams, who told Mr. Box to send the letter with the money to the General Post Office in New York. This letter reached the New York Post Office, but was not called for at once. Finally a letter reached the New York Post Office signed H. K. Williams, telling the Postmaster to send all mail for H. K. Williams to George W. Smythe, at No. 67 New street. The letter was taken to Smythe, but he refused to sign for it. The registered letter was inclosed in an envelope and taken to Smythe by a letter carrier, shadowed by Detectives Titus and Frink. Smythe accepted the letter and was arrested. He said that the letter belonged to William H. Walsh, who had been receiving others through him under the name of H. K. Williams.

Smythe said that he met Walsh three years ago in the office of J. C. Allen, where they both worked. Walsh was arrested, and when confronted by Smythe acknowledged the acquaintance.

Mr. Box was telegraphed for and hurriedly left Buffalo, arriving here yesterday morning. At the hearing Smythe frankly stated that as a friend he had received the mail for Walsh, but never had any idea of the contents of the letters. Smythe was sent to the House of Detention in default of $100.

Walsh refused to make any explanations. His bail was put at $10,000.

Can Maintain Separate Schools.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 29.—The Manitoba School Act received a bad blow yesterday when the Supreme Court at Ottawa rendered judgment, unanimously holding that the Roman Catholics of Manitoba can maintain their separate schools. The decision is to the effect that the public school act passed by the Manitoba Legislature prejudicially affected the rights and privileges of Roman Catholics in respect to their system of denominational schools, and it therefore violated the act admitting Manitoba into the Union.

A Grounded Barge Stops Travel.

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 29.—While the steam barge Hebe, Capt. Greenwood, from New York, with 200 tons of coal, was passing through the drawbridge at Westport yesterday she grounded and was left standing on a rock as the tide receded. A hole was stove in her bottom and she filled. Until the draw can be closed communication between the two sides of the river must be made by rowboats. Old mariners say the vessel may be in her present position for several days.

Hired Boys to Buy Liquor.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 29.—Wednesday Judge Blydenburgh, prosecuting attorney, employed two boys, Walter Wynkoop and William McGuire, minors, to visit saloons and get drinks. They succeeded in getting drinks at 120 saloons. Yesterday Judge Blydenburgh made out warrants for the arrest of the 120 dealers, and many have already been served. The list includes some of the most prominent men in the city engaged in the liquor business.

The Ladder at the Wrong Window.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Oct. 29.—At an early hour yesterday morning the cry of "Police! Murder!" was heard from one of the rear windows of the Hocker residence in this city. A young man was discovered on a ladder at the window of Mrs. Hocker's room. The police succeeded in capturing him. At his hearing he said that he had an appointment at the house with an inmate. By a mistake he put the ladder up at the wrong window.

ORIGINAL. No. 23.

Minute Biscuit.

BY MARION HARLAND.

1 quart of flour, 1 tablespoonful of butter and the same of lard, 2 teaspoonfuls of Cleveland's baking powder, ½ teaspoonful of salt, 1 pint of cold water, 1 teaspoonful of white sugar.

Sift baking powder, salt, sugar and flour together twice; chop up the shortening in the flour, not touching it with your hands, stir in with a wooden spoon the cold water; roll out quickly, cut into round cakes and bake in a good oven.

Be sure to use Cleveland's baking powder. Perfect success with it.

Every housekeeper knows that pure cream of tartar, pure soda, pure flour, are wholesome. These three ingredients, and these three only, are used in Cleveland's Baking Powder. Cleveland's is pure and wholesome; it leavens most, and leavens best, but its special excellence is that it is perfectly wholesome.

SWINDLER AND FORGER.

A Former Baltimorean Who is Now in Limbo in London.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—In the Dublin police court yesterday Percy Pilgman, a native of Baltimore in America, and Arthur Sims and Frederick Anderson, London crooks, were charged with loitering for an unlawful purpose. Pilgman pleaded guilty. The additional charge was made against Pilgman of forgery on the Hibernian Bank.

Pilgman was formerly a clerk at Berlin, but was dismissed from his post on account of defalcations, and has since followed a career of fraud. He defrauded several consuls on the continent, and was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment in Berlin.

It is believed that he was also concerned in defrauding certain Southampton money changers, some time ago, out of thirty thousand francs. He afterward procured employment in Bristol, and was dismissed from his place there on account of fraud. He was sent to prison at Leeds, England, for 12 months and for three months from the Old Bailey, on charges of swindling.

He and his fellow crooks became acquainted in prison, and agreed that Ireland was a good field for their operations. Upon their release they started their campaign in Ireland, and met with success in several instances in Belfast.

Thence, they went to Dublin and got caught in attempting to swindle the Hibernian Bank by means of a forged check. Pilgman was committed for trial on the charge of forgery, and his companions were each sentenced to one month at hard labor for loitering.

ANOTHER RUCTION IN CORK.

A Mob Attacks John Dillon and Dr. Tanner, and the Former is Hurt.

CORK, Oct. 29.—The fighting was renewed last night. John Dillon and Dr. Tanner were driving together to attend an anti-Parnellite meeting, when a mob started in pursuit, and overtaking them threw stones at Dillon, and also attacked him with blackthorns.

Dillon received a severe blow from a stick in the hands of one of his assailants, and was lamed for a time. He succeeded, however, in reaching the meeting and addressed an enthusiastic audience.

A strong volunteer escort surrounded Dillon on his departure, and protected him from further violence. His injury causes him considerable pain.

The Missing Wesleyan Student.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 29.—It is now thought that J. W. Narramore, the Wesleyan student left town because of heavy debts which he could not meet. No trace of Narramore has been found since his disappearance on the day of the Wesleyan-Yale football game at New Haven a month ago. Much sympathy is expressed for the young man. Narramore was working his way through college and could have secured financial assistance had he sought it.

Another Coal Field Discovered.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 29.—A valuable tract of anthracite coal has been discovered in Black Creek township, Luzerne County. Farms there that were formerly worth $2,000 are now worth $80,000. One farm sold yesterday for $120,000.

Ostrander and Trumpbour Indicted.

KINGSTON, Oct. 29.—The Grand Jury yesterday returned indictments against James E. Ostrander and M. T. Trumpbour, the wreckers of the Ulster County Savings Institution, for converting money of depositors to their own use and for perjury. There are eleven counts to the indictments found jointly against the men. They pleaded not guilty.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

RAHWAY, N. J., Oct. 29.—Little William Carroll, stepson of Richard N. Lynch, was fatally shot in the head by another boy, William Rowan, who pointed towards him a pistol which he had found in a bureau drawer. He did not know it was loaded.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.

The sensational story from Erie about one Heidecker having been buried alive is denied.

William Caldwell, colored, who killed an unknown German tramp at Florin last spring, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree.

Louis Jester, champion lightweight of Ohio, knocked out Harry Courtright of Scranton, in a contest for points at Wilkesbarre yesterday. Nine rounds were fought.

A SECOND VICTIM.

John Fitzgerald Falls from Grace Church Belfry and Is Killed.

The workmen on the new Grace church building had a terrible experience this morning, when they saw one of their comrades dashed almost to pieces on the stones far beneath their feet.

The accident happened at about 8 o'clock. The unfortunate victim was John Fitzgerald. He made a false step backward from the scaffold at the top of the church belfry, and before his fellow-workmen could spring forward to catch him he went whirling downwards to the cruel mass of building stone sixty-five feet below.

The workmen clambered down from their giddy height as quickly as possible, and tenderly picked up the bruised, bleeding and senseless body of their comrade, and conveyed it to the Muhlenberg Hospital.

Fitzgerald died at the hospital at 1 o'clock this afternoon, without having regained consciousness. The internal injuries from which he suffered were frightful. He had constant hemmorhages from the kidneys, and bled freely from other organs.

He leaves a family at Germantown.

This is the second man who has been badly injured by a fall from Grace church belfry.

A Plainfielder Writes on Religion.

J. D. Spicer, of West Fifth street, writes as follows, to The Sabbath Recorder, of Alfred Centre, N. Y., concerning the work of the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city:

"Considerable interest is felt in Dr. Lewis's new book, on which he has been at work for several years, and for the completing of which he has been furloughed for the past four months. I understand that it will appear under the general title of "The Pagan Residuum in Christianity". It is designed to show not only that Sunday observance is the product of paganism, but that popular methods of interpreting the Bible, the changes in the form of baptism, the doctrine of "Baptismal Regeneration", the union of Christianity and the State, together with many minor points, are all the product of pagan influence. It is believed that the book will exert a strong influence in showing that the Protestant Reformation, that is, the work of eliminating Paganism from Christianity, is only fairly begun. It will also show that the pagan elements were introduced into Christianity before the time of the Papacy, and that the Roman Catholic church was the product of paganized Christianity, rather than the source of it."

Plainfield Real Estate Transfers.

Recently recorded real estate transfers in Union county include the following from this city:

A Change Proposed for Editor Lewis.

The Rev. L. E. Livermore, George H. Babcock and W. C. Titsworth, the committee appointed to consider the relation of The Outlook and Sabbath Quarterly to the present demands of Sabbath reform, have recommended that The Outlook be issued monthly instead of quarterly, beginning next January, that the form of the publication be changed, and that the name of the monthly be The Outlook and Sabbath Restorer. The committee further recommend that the editors of The Outlook, of whom the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city is chief, be encouraged to complete their historical researches on the Sabbath question with a view to their permanent preservation in book form.

The report of the committee was submitted to the tract board at its recent meeting in this city and will be acted on Nov. 8.

A Mortgage for $10,000,000.

The Lehigh Valley Terminal Railway company put on record yesterday with the clerk of Union county a mortgage for $10,000,000 to the Central Trust company of New York. The mortgage covers the entire plant of the Lehigh Valley company and its branches. The money will be used in the development of the road and its branches. The Central Trust company will receive 6 per cent. interest. This was recorded also in other counties.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

MR. FEYTEL IS INDIGNANT.

Yet THE PRESS Has No Apology to Make.

Since THE PRESS reported Mr. Feytel's speech of Monday evening in Music Hall—in which he took occasion to publicly proclaim that his lodge of Knights of Honor was so much better than any other lodge of Knights of Honor—he has been very indignant. He writes in one letter, thus:

In your issue of the 27th you make a statement in your report of the Wetumpka entertainment, stating certain remarks made by me were incorrect, virtually making me a liar.

In another letter—he sent two yesterday and one to-day—he says:

I gave you the adv., and also the printing of the posters contrary to the wishes of the other members of the committee.

In regard to the first quotation given above, THE PRESS can only say this: It believes the Knights of Honor to be one of the very few sound and desirable mutual beneficial orders. That it is sincere in expressing such belief, is proven by the fact that its editor and publishers are members of both lodges in this city. But it does not believe that one lodge offers better advantages than the other.

If Mr. Feytel—the "Knight of Honor" who takes public occasion to run down the lodge of his brother Knights of Honor—says that Wetumpka lodge offers better advantages than Easter lodge, THE PRESS will say every time that that "Is not only uncalled for but incorrect." The fact that members have left Wetumpka lodge and gone to the other within the past few months; the fact that other members of Wetumpka are talking of going, and the fact that members of Wetumpka have said that Mr. Feytel's speech has done their lodge more harm than good, bear out the assertions of THE PRESS that the speech was incorrect and uncalled for.

The second quotation from Mr. Feytel's epistle, is hardly worthy of notice. It is given as an evidence of Mr. Feytel's belief that a newspaper can be blinded to justice by a few dollars spent in its counting room and job office. If any entertainment of any sort offered the public can get along without advertising in THE PRESS, certainly THE PRESS can get along without it. The few dollars invested in these columns to present to public notice the Wetumpka entertainment, sold probably a hundred dollars worth of tickets.

DOWNER NOT DOWNED.

Bitter Beer Refused and the Biter Bitten.

The final games of rotary whist at Fanwood, played Wednesday evening, closed as here stated: Abner P. Downer, 28; Walter Force and General Kyte, 25 each; Mr. Smith, 23 and Gardiner, 19. As heretofore noted, the games were to be played weekly for five months, the last resulting as above. The total now stands for all games played: Force, 144; Abner P. Downer, 143; General Kyte, 113; Gardiner, 109, and Mr. Smith, 108.

While this great wind-up was in progress, the refreshments provided by Mrs. Downer were devoured, and though the "Central New Jersey Exchange club" of which Mr. Downer is a prominent member, was represented by but one—the members having been invited by the hospitable Downer, to be present—everything passed off satisfactorily, though the host expressed himself as disappointed in not having his club more fully represented. Particularly did he desire the attendance of Messrs. Jeffries and Milligan of Plainfield, and Charles Young and "Al" Drake of Westfield.

After the game the consolation prize was offered to the lowest man on the lists, in the shape of a small keg of Kreuger's best beer, but it was haughtily refused, and the lowest man of record in "rotary" whist said he would take another pill.

Stricken on the Street.

At about 10:30 a. m. Friday, as Miss Amelia Sloan of Plainfield (accompanied by her mother) was walking down Maple street, she noticed that her mother could not speak, and suddenly was unable to walk. Mrs. C. Stuart Hoffman, who was passing in her carriage stopped, and the lady was carried to the home of her niece, Mrs. John Vanderveer, a mile east of Somerville, where she and her daughter had been visiting. They had just walked to Somerville when the old lady was stricken. Dr. Wagoner was summoned and pronounced it a stroke of paralysis. At the latest report her condition has not changed.—Somerville Messenger.

A Tea on Rockview Terrace.

The Daughters of the Cross will hold a sale of cakes, home-made candy, and potted plants, at the residence of Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen, Rockview terrace, Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 6 o'clock. The Daughters of the Cross was among the first of the circles organized to represent the King's Daughters in Plainfield, and during its career has done a great amount of charitable and benevolent work. The present officers are:

President—Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen.
Vice-president—Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor.
Secretary—Mrs. John Gray Foster.
Treasurer—Miss Ida Musgrave.

Plainfield's Good Health.

The following extracts concerning the healthfulness of this city are from the annual report of the secretary of the Plainfield Board of Health, to the State board:

PREVAILING DISEASES.

During the past year the prevailing diseases have been consumption and heart failure among adults, proving fatal; measles and scarlet fever among the children, though not of a serious character.

The total number of deaths for the twelve months ending Oct. 1, 1891, has been 190 from all causes, showing a small proportion in a population of about 12,000.

Pneumonia carried off 29 of this number; 15 died from consumption; 25 from heart failure; apoplexy 6; paralysis 5; accidents 7; Bright's disease 4. The other half of the death record was claimed from among the very young and those advanced in years.

VITAL STATISTICS.

A careful and thorough collection of all vital statistics has been made, and from the registry the following figures are compiled:

92 marriages solemnized; 228 births reported, being 109 males and 119 females; 190 deaths, as stated, embracing 57 children of 6 years and younger, 82 persons between 6 years and 60 years, and 51 over 60 years.

WORK DONE.

The year just closed, Oct. 1, 1891, has witnessed a quiet but continuous work in looking after the sanitary condition of Plainfield. The Health Inspector has reported 495 personal inspections made of different properties and about 100 mandatory requirements for the removal of nuisances detrimental to health. During the past twelve months 460 cesspools have been emptied and 346 privy vaults cleaned out.

The collection of kitchen garbage is attended to by regularly licensed persons, and often enough every week to prevent any accumulation which might be deleterious to health.

In these ways and many others the board has endeavored to promote a fair degree of healthfulness, by averting the causes of preventable disease. O. B. LEONARD, Sec'y.

Ending Their Second Century.

The Rev. L. E. Livermore of the New Market Seventh-day Baptist church writes to The Sabbath Recorder as follows:

"We are fourteen years from the two-hundredth anniversary of the founding of our church. The present pastor first came to the pastoral care of this flock fourteen years ago last April, and if he should be living fourteen years hence he will greatly desire to witness an appropriate celebration of that bi-centennial.

"Since the organization of this church in 1705 there have been thirteen pastors, covering 158 years of pastoral service and leaving, in the whole time, 28 years without a pastor. Their names and respective terms of service are as follows: The Rev. Edmund Dunham, 29 years; the Rev. Jonathan Dunham, 32; the Rev. Nathan Rogers, 10; the Rev. Henry M. Lafferty, 12; the Rev. Gideon Wooden, 18; the Rev. Wm. B. Maxson, 7; the Rev. Walter B. Gillette, 14; the Rev. H. H. Baker, 3; the Rev. L. C. Rogers, 10; the Rev. L. A. Platts, 8; the Rev. L. E. Livermore, 6, (1st pastorate); the Rev. E. P. Saunders, 1; the Rev. J. G. Burdick, 3; the Rev. L. E. Livermore, 4, (2d pastorate). Of these pastors the six last serving are still living. Two of the former pastors, brethren L. C. Rogers and L. A. Platts, have encouraged us with their presence and good sermons once each, during the summer.

"We anticipate having brother and sister Davis with us soon to spend a Sabbath in giving us a fresh inspiration for mission work.

"We have greatly enjoyed having the Rev. W. C. Titsworth and family in Dunellen during the summer. They left us for their winter home in Sisco, Fla., Oct. 13."

If Women, who complain of languor, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, and a weak, weary feeling, would throw "tonics," "bitters" and other patent medicines to the dogs and try before each meal a tablespoonful of TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey, they would find no need for patent trash. A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old. Sold everywhere.

MAX O'RELL'S HAPPY SAYINGS.

He Has a New Story About Mr. Depew and a Compliment for American Women.

M. Blouet (Max O'Rell), who is to lecture at the Casino of the Union County Country club Nov. 5, is at the Everett House, New York, having arrived yesterday on the Majestic. Last evening he was in great good humor. He had purchased an American cigarette.

"This is my first one"—he said.—"You see, I am becoming truly American. It is because I am so fond of the country, I think, that I can say all the things I do about it. You Americans are bright, and you understand what I mean. I can say many things to an American audience that I would be afraid to try on an English one. Wait! will explain. A story is better.

"Mr. Depew and I were once fellow passengers crossing the ocean. There was a tiresome Englishman. He told many stories—all about the English volunteers. Then Mr. Depew talked about the American volunteers. He said 'The American volunteers are great men. They are invincible in peace and invisible in war.' Now that was a good American joke. I asked an English Lord, who was sitting by me, what he thought of Mr. Depew. He answered: 'Oh, Mr. Depew is very clever, very witty, but do you not think that that last story about the American volunteers was in very bad taste?'

"Now that"—said Mr. Blouet—"is what I call a typical Englishman."

"I can pick out an American woman in any assemblage. There is a something, a reserve combined with a hauteur and brilliancy, I do not know the exact word, that makes her different from every other type of woman in the world. I am a great admirer of your American women. That is why I brought my daughter Leonie to this country. She is a Franco-English girl. She is just through school, and I wish her to have some of the American put into her.

"I am on a two years' tour around the world. She will hear nothing but English. I will be in this country about four months. I will lecture, and then I will go to Australia and then to India to see John Bull and company. I have seen John Bull; I now want to see the company."

One of the newspaper men had an idea that "Max" had attacked American women in his latest book "A Frenchman in America", and the expression of this belief acted like an electric shock on the complacent critic.

"No, do not mistake me", he said, "I have the highest admiration for American women. What I have said is that the American man is not typical, while the American woman is. Go to Chicago, to Boston, to Philadelphia, to Charleston, to Denver, and in each place you will find a different American man. The American man, therefore, is all kinds of a man. With the woman it is different. There is something about the American woman which stamps her as American, even among those who are most refined and—less typical. A certain gentle contempt for men is a distinguishing characteristic."

"Do you find the type agreeable or otherwise?"

"Very agreeable, I have brought my daughter that she may obtain a certain amount of Americanism."

Mr. Blouet's book has already won its way, like all his other works, into popular favor. Max O'Rell's marvelous versatility is the best guarantee that he does not repeat himself in these reminiscences. While every page glows with the humor of the same swift and graceful pen, the book is as fresh and brimming with interest as though its genial author had never before written a line about America.

Mr. Kemble has caught the spirit of the text with rare fidelity, and gives over 130 illustrations done in his inimitable style. Every Plainfielder, whether he hears the coming lecture or not, will want a copy of the book. Mr. Blouet has warm personal friends in Plainfield.

A Railroad Man Badly Hurt.

A smash-up of freight and coal cars occurred on the Jersey Central near Greenbrook just beyond Dunellen early this morning. A number of cars were wrecked, and the railroad officials had to put two wreckers into service to clear the tracks.

A brakeman on a Baltimore and Ohio freight closely following the wrecked train was putting on brakes to help bring his train to a stop when he was struck by a water feeder for locomotives, projecting over the tracks, and his head was cut open. He was brought to this city, where Dr. Fritts sewed up his wounds, and he was sent to his home up the road.

Said to be a "Voodoo Doctor".

Harry Divine, the colored man who was arrested by sergeant Lynch in this city a few days ago for stealing four gold bracelets, two silver watches and one gold pin from the residence of Mrs. Eva Brown at Elizabeth, and turned over to the Elizabeth authorities, turns out to be a "Voodoo" doctor from Newark. He peddles patent medicines. He was arraigned yesterday before justice Hetfield at Elizabeth and held in $500 bail, in default of which he was committed to the county jail. The prisoner is a glib-tongued fellow and looks like a clergyman.

Low-necked dresses are going to be very popular with the lovely young dudines, because if they should catch cold wearing them, haven't they got Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup to cure them?

How many murmur at high prices? Why Salvation Oil costs only 25c a bottle.

The State Library Convention.

Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Union library at Trenton, was held the annual meeting of the State library association. Among the delegates present, was Miss Adams of the Plainfield public library. Though but a year old this association numbers some sixty members, composed of librarians, library trustees, and others interested in the work.

The President of the association, Librarian Hill, of Newark, being at the San Francisco general convention of librarians, the meeting was presided over by the vice-president. After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting, there followed short, informal talks by some of the members on various practical features of library work, methods, etc. Librarian Cole, of Jersey City, told of his system of delivery stations putting the library within the reach of all, and enormously increasing its circulation thereby. Reports were also made by the representatives of the smaller libraries, among others those of this city, Passaic, South Orange, and Salem. While these could not boast such extensive work as that done in Jersey City, yet each in its own more humble sphere seems to be doing well. They all, however, are much hampered by lack of means, all speaking of the ridiculous smallness of their libraries' incomes in proportion to the work which belongs to them to do. Surely New Jersey, ahead as it is in many respects, falls far behind in the matter of its libraries. Let all hope that it may soon arouse from its indifference in this respect as it did on the school question and vote from the public treasury sufficiently large sums that the work may not need to fall back on charitable assistance any more than does that of the public schools.

It was suggested that the law passed by the State of New Jersey, regarding the establishment and maintenance of free public libraries, should be printed in the newspapers throughout the State, as the surest way of getting at the public, in order that the public might be aroused to establish libraries in places where there are none, and to support more generously those already established.

A lecture on 'University Extension' was given by the Rev. Mr. Thompson, which was eagerly heard by all. He gave a resume of the history of education throughout the State, speaking of its colleges, public schools and libraries, and lastly of 'University Extension'. He showed how well this had worked where it had been tried, and also how it might co-operate with the public library since the aim—the culture—of the people, is the same. Upon motion a vote of thanks was given to the lecturer for his interesting and instructive talk.

The officers elected for the year are:

President—Frank R. Hill, Newark.
Vice-Presidents — Dr. J. B. Thompson, Princeton College; George Watson Cole, Jersey City.
Editor—George Werts, Paterson.
Treasurer—G. F. Winchester, Newark.
Secretary—Miss M. F. Nelson, Trenton.

A New Whist Tournament Started at Fanwood.

A solemn agreement was entered into Friday evening at Fanwood, between Capt. L. J. Briggs and Abner P. Downer, parties of the first part, and L. J. Briggs, jr., and partner, the other parties, to play a series of games at whist one evening each week during the winter season. Immediately after organizing with Capt. Briggs in the chair, a resolution was passed as aforesaid, and another to the effect that the games should be started at once and finished in four hours. The resolution was unanimously carried—the hour of commencing as stated in the resolution to be 8 p. m. All delinquents will be assessed one dollar per minute or fraction thereof for every minute's delay—time to be called by the Capt. The game Tuesday evening resulted: Capt. Briggs and Abner P. Downer, 82; L. J. Briggs, jr., and his partner, 74. There is to be no "railroad" whist about this and the victors at the final game to be played as near to April first as is possible, will be awarded all fines collected together with a purse, the amount of which cannot be ascertained, but is subscribed by the "Big Four". All of the gentlemen named are residents of Quality Hill and owing to the inefficiency of the lights, for which they are supposed to pay 50 cents per month each, do not propose to take the midnight walk to their abodes depending upon their muscles for protection, but prefer to play on the hill. Upon the motion and earnest solicitation of Mr. Abner P. Downer, it was ordered that no "cross-talking" should be allowed, but matters pertaining to other than the game could be freely discussed during the play.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

He Thought it Over.

H. M. Moore, of Massachusetts, said recently: "Of course it takes money to run a Young Men's Christian association well! What is money good for but to do good with? I think every man should make his will, and make himself his own executor. I can tell you how much the richest man in Haverhill will leave. He will leave all he has got. A lawer in New York willed money to churches, benevolent institutions, etc., locked up his safe and went to bed. In the night he began to think that these institutions would be better off if he were dead. In the morning he began writing checks, and using his money while he lived."

"A GOD SEND is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your Balm has cured me."—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society is being held in Kansas City.

Lieut. Cowles and his officers blame the Winter Quarter Shoal Light for the loss of the Despatch. They say it was adrift.

Ball Brothers' tin stamp works at Muncie, Ind., were destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is about $52,000; partially insured.

The Grenadier Guards of London are said to have mutinied for the third time within a year a few days ago. Bad food is alleged as the cause.

Bushnell & Bushnell, the well-known real estate dealers of St. Paul, Minn., have assigned. The liabilities are estimated at half a million dollars.

The centenary of the Seminary of St. Mary was celebrated in the Cathedral of Baltimore yesterday with a grand procession and imposing ceremonies.

The experiments made by the United States Fish Commission in 1889 and 1890 with trout in the waters of the Yellowstone National Park have proved successful.

A Firebug Captured.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29.—For some time past a band of firebugs have molested this city and the losses incurred by their deeds amounted to half a million dollars in the past month. The police have kept a vigorous lookout, and yesterday captured one of the fiends, George Davidson, a negro, just as he was in the act of firing a house. He had oiled up cotton and kindling saturated with kerosene and the house took fire, but was saved. He will be vigorously prosecuted.

Berlin's Ripper May Confess.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The alleged Ripper, Schulse, is much broken down by his imprisonment, and it is believed he may confess his criminal career. The London police have made a request for the official documents, including the testimony at the inquest, to be forwarded in the original, or in copies, to London, on the ground that the crime of Schulse closely resembles the East End horrors.

Incendiary Makes Much Havoc.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 29.—The City of Newman was visited by a disastrous fire last night and many of the principal cotton warehouses, together with thousands of bales of cotton were wiped out of existence. Loss $200,000. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

Abe Coakely, the noted bank burglar, was convicted of larceny in the first degree.

J. H. Eliesbaum, aged 70, was killed by a Michigan Central train at Niagara Falls yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie sailed from Liverpool yesterday on the City of Paris for New York.

Brazil Morris, colored, has been arrested in Brooklyn, charged with the murder of John Kelly, in New Utrecht, L. I., in 1888.

The body of an unknown man, about forty years of age, was yesterday found in the East River, near Ward's Island. The man was dressed in the garb of a laborer.

Science Halts.

Layman—I understand that you have devoted your life to the study of disease germs?

Great Scientist (proudly)—I have.

Layman—Have you found a remedy for any of them?

Great Scientist—Well, no; but I have succeeded in finding good long names for them all.—Good News.

Over in Jersey.

New Yorker—Your police force here does not seem to amount to much. Have you found the perpetrator of the last murder that was committed?

Local Official—Waal, no, we haven't got no perpetrator yet, but we found the corpse of the victim.—Texas Siftings.

Why Not?

Elderly But Well Preserved Widow (in business)—This is an employment agency, is it not?

Manager—It is, ma'am. What can I do for you?

"I want a bright, active, capable young man for a typewriter."—Chicago Tribune.

Souvenirs of the Occasion.

Judge—You entered this man's house and stole ten silver spoons. Have you anything to say for yourself?

Ragged Hider—I am a souvenir spoon collector.

Judge—Let them be a souvenir of this occasion for six months.—Jewelers' Circular.

A Common Sense Remedy.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet, and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Gen. Field Makes Denial.

WASHINGTON, Oct 29.—Gen. Chas. W. Field, formerly door-keeper of the House of Representatives, has been confounded with the Gen. Field at Richmond, who at a meeting of the Army of Northern Virginia is reported to have said: "I understand that a Confederate flag cannot be unfurled at the World's Fair. If that is the case let us now have another World's Fair in this country." Gen. Chas. W. Field was not at the meeting and says he does not entertain such sentiments.

I WAS so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepsner, A. M., pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

He Had Change.

Tramp—Have you change for half a dollar?

Gentleman—Yes. Where's the half dollar?

Tramp—I haven't any, but I thort if you had change for a half dollar, you might have a dime er two fer a poor man wot's seen better days. All the gents I have asked fer help said they hadn't any change.—Good News.

He Didn't Know.

Marie (crossly)—That Harry Haskins never does know when to go home.

Katie—What's the matter; keep you up till midnight?

Marie (pettishly)—No; he went away at half past nine, when he might as well have stayed till half past eleven. Mamma and papa weren't at home.—Detroit Free Press.

TAKING OFFENSE.

Waiter—Menu, sir?

Uncle Josh (from Wayback)—Me, you skunk! What do ye mean' me for?—Judge.

She Knew His Weakness.

Laura—What a hateful little hypocrite Jennie Figg is. She smokes cigarettes when she is with us girls, but she won't let poor Chollie light one when he calls on her. Says she cannot endure them.

Flora—It is not that she cares to have him think she abhors them. but she knows he will go home some two hours earlier if he is not permitted to smoke.—Indianapolis Journal.

Fathers and Sons.

Howell Gibbon—Father, I wish to say to you that I am engaged to Miss Cashly, and I hope you will give your consent.

Old Gibbon—Miss Cashly? H'm—haw! Well, it's all right, my boy. I hope you'll be happy. Only—if her mother had accepted me instead of that confounded Teddy Cashly I'd never have been able to give you this pleasure, me boy!—Truth.

Very Ill, Indeed.

"Law me!" sighed Mrs. Partington, "here I have been suffering the bigamies of death for three mortal weeks. First I was seized with a bleeding phrenology in the left hampshire of the brain, which was exceeded by a stoppage of the left ventilator of the heart. This gave me an inflammation in the berax, and now I'm sick with the chloroform morbus.'—N. Y. Advertiser.

"A Year and a Day."

In ancient British law a year and a day was the time fixed within which certain things could be lawfully done. Under this law it was necessary to claim estrayed stock within a year and a day, otherwise it became the property of the lord of the manor. By the same law, if a person wounded died within a year and a day the person inflicting the wound was held to be guilty of murder.

AN OLD YOUNG PERSON.

How to Get Old and Young Again.

Overwork broke him down! This applies to thousands of overworked clerks, mechanics, shop-girls and others who see themselves growing thin in flesh, pale and sallow, and find themselves losing their physical strength and strong nerve. They grow weak, nervous, tire easily, have dull-feeling head, wake tired mornings, lose their appetite, feel miserable, old. They are rapidly breaking down, and should use immediately the great nerve strengthener and blood invigorator, Dr. Greene's Nervura. It will give a clear head strong and steady nerves, vigorous strength of body, and restore their youthful feelings.

"I had indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, cold feet and hands, sleepless nights and was very nervous. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura, and now have

IS THIS YOU, OVERWORKED CLERK! no more indigestion or dyspepsia. My nerves are strong, have no more palpitation, no cold feet or hands. I sleep well and get up refreshed. In fact, I feel I am myself again, all due to Dr. Greene's Nervura. I am positive everybody will be benefited by it. CHAS. A. TITSWORTH, 243 7th street Jersey City, N. J."

N. B. Dr. Greene, the successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th St., New York, can be consulted, free, personally, or by letter. Call or write him about your case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free. 9 15 td tias

KING OF CHEPIWANOXET

The Romantic Story of a Rhode Island Crusoe.

He Lives Alone in His Little Kingdom in Narragansett Bay—A Life Ruined by the Liquor Habit — The Palace of the King.

Capt. Willett Sherman is the Robinson Crusoe of Rhode Island. He lives on a little island in Narragansett bay, and is known for miles around as the the "King of Chepiwanoxet." In the early fifties, says the New York Sun, he was the best known pilot on the Sound. He stood in his day as Capt. Hank Haff and the Ellsworths do in theirs. At that time new packet lines were being constantly established between New York, Boston and intermediate Sound points, and new vessels built. Great rivalry existed on the water then as now, and each new vessel had to show her heels to the whole pack if she hoped to amount to anything. Capt. Sherman's knowledge of the sound gave him great prestige, and he was in constant demand, either to steer a new craft to victory or to hold a reputation previously made by an old one.

Then he fell in love with a woman unworthy of him. She lived in the little town of East Greenwich. Immediately upon arriving from each trip Capt. Sherman used to hurry over, loaded down with presents, to see her. On one visit he learned that his sweetheart had made a dupe of him. She accepted his attentions to get his presents and then ran away with another man. This shattered Capt. Sherman's faith in human nature. He got drunk and remained drunk longer than any one can remember. He bought an old boat, which he fitted up with a cabin. This craft he made his home, floating about Narragansett bay for years. He lived on the fish, the clams, and the quahaugs which he caught. He realized enough by farming the sea to buy all the whisky he wanted.

Everything ran smoothly with the captain and no one interfered with the life he was leading till he became an oyster pirate. Then he was arrested and fined $20. The captain didn't have 20 cents, so he was sent to jail. He didn't mind the confinement, but he kicked because there was no roll to the craft, as he called it, and no liquor in the hold. Two days there more than satisfied him. It was the beginning of the war, and the captain struck upon a novel scheme to effect escape. Sending for the jailer, the captain said: "Look here, I don't want to stay in here twenty years. There's no whisky and no tobacco. If you will enlist me I'll give you all over $200." The jailer accepted his offer on speculation and marched him to Norwich at the muzzle of a loaded rifle, where he enlisted him for $600.

When the war was over Capt. Sherman laid his course for the land of clams, and put his abandoned houseboat in commission again. He lived aboard the Red Lion, as he called the boat, as long as it would float. Then he beached it on the little island of Chepiwanoxet and built his present abode. It is a little wooden shanty, with bootleg hinges on the door. In the winter the wind is prevented from whistling through the cracks by covering it completely with sea weeds.

When not fishing the captain spends the time in making sail cloth mittens for winter work. He wears a shirt and overalls. They are the same that he donned when he began his Crusoe-like career. He intends to wear them till he dies.

A City's Stocking Bill.

Leaving men's socks or "half-hose" out of the calculation, it is estimated that the women, girls and children of New York city wear out an average of three pairs of stockings each in the course of a year, or a total of some 3,000,000 pairs. As to the cost, the range is almost incredibly wide—from 4 cents a pair for the cheapest cotton article up to $20 a pair for the triumphs of the hosier's art in pure silk, figured, open work, hand embroidered miracles which are worn by women in the beau monde—and also in the demi monde—upon whom money is freely lavished. It is said that the price of a single pair of stockings made to match the costume, has been known to reach $100. Altogether, it is computed that New York spends annually $2,000,000 for stockings for its women and children, two-thirds of that outlay being for the high-priced qualities worn by a comparatively limited class.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

The Journey Made in Open Boats by Two Daring Navigators.

Bridge-jumping and parachute tumbling are not edifying spectacles, nor, says Harper's Weekly, are they attempted in the interests of science or practical morality. Fortunately the men who go into such things are not counted by the thousands or even hundreds, and there is no likelihood of their attaining to the dignity or numbers of a profession. Crossing Niagara on a tight-rope may be a degree better, for practice and skill are here necessary, while the element of luck predominates in jumping from a bridge or dropping from the clouds with the aid of a parachute.

The natural instinct of man is to hold on to his life at all hazards, and there are generally ways of making a living other than risking that life in the attempt. Most people regard such exploits as savoring of bravado rather than courage, and the men thus gaining notoriety are to be placed on a par with the person who points an unloaded gun at his friends. It is tempting Providence and exhibiting a most unchristian spirit. Men grow careless in the presence of continual danger, as is illustrated by the buzz-saw and the accidental explosions that deal destruction to those habitually engaged in handling explosives; so it may be that sailors grow familiar with the deep and scorn its power. At least that is the impression that one receives after reading about the journey of the Sea-Serpent and Mermaid across the Atlantic.

These names are suggestive of the ocean, and the originals are credited with all sorts of aquatic performances, but when small open boats adopt these titles and do wonderful things, it is worthy of record. The wonder lies in the fact that their respective captains are still alive. The two boats started from Boston, each bearing one man, on a race across the ocean for a silver cup and three thousand dollars. Two hours after starting the boats lost sight of each other, and neither was heard of until August 5, when the Sea-Serpent, with Capt. Lawlor on board, arrived at Coverack, near Lizard point. The boat was jib and mainsail rig, fifteen feet long, and buoyed, fore and aft, with water-tight compartments.

Twice during the voyage she capsized, and was righted by Capt. Lawlor clambering along the keel; and once a large shark attacked the boat and threatened to overturn it, until the skipper had to feed him a dynamite cartridge, which effectually disposed of any danger from that particular shark. Very bad weather was encountered and Capt. Lawlor reached England, as the dispatches state, "in a greatly fatigued condition." The Mermaid was spoken some days later, and all was reported well by Capt. Andrews; but to the Sea-Serpent belong all the emoluments arising from the perilous journey.

TWO CHARMING WOMEN.

The Queen of Roumania and Her Favorite Mdlle. Vacarescu.

The love affairs of the young prince of Roumania, who is enamored of the queen's favorite, Mdlle. Helen Vacarescu, are threatening to cause a breach between the king and queen. The king will not hear of the match, and insists upon Mdlle. Vacarescu leaving court; but the queen, it is said, is still bent on making the match, and will refuse to return to the king until her favorite is restored to favor. A charming picture of the two ladies (of which our artist has given a slight reminiscence in outline) is to be found in an interesting work recently published by Messrs. Chapman and Hall, entitled "Elizabeth of Roumania," by Blanche Roosevelt.

The Famous Stonehenge.

Stonehenge is a famous ruin of great but uncertain antiquity, situated in the center of a plain near Amesbury, in Wiltshire, Eng. At present it is merely a confused mass of moss-covered stones, which must be closely inspected in order to trace out the original form, which was two concentric circles of huge upright stones enclosing two elipses, the whole surrounded by a circular ditch and embankment; the wall being 15 feet high and 1,010 in circumference. There is much difference of opinion among antiquarians as to what the original building, monument or dike was used for. Many eminent scientists believe it to be the remains of a Druidish temple, erected long before the Roman invasion of Britain.

IT MAY MEAN FIGHT

Chili's Reply Regarded as Almost an Insult.

A SECOND DEMAND TO BE MADE.

Fears Entertained that Minister Egan May Receive Rough Treatment.

THE PRESIDENT MUCH DEPRESSED.

The Saucy Answer of the Junta Creates Great Excitement.

Minister Egan's Dispatch—Reported that He Has Been Ordered to Remove the Effects of the United States Legation at Santiago to the Baltimore—Chilians Would Like to Fight Us—Activity at the Navy Yards—England's View of the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—It is not too much to say that a general belief in Washington is that relations between the United States and Chili are in danger, not only of diplomatic rupture but of violent fracture.

As might be expected, the persons who are aware of the exact facts at this crisis are extremely reticent. Neither the President, Secretary Blaine nor Secretary Tracy can be persuaded to utter a word.

A sensational rumor is current here that Mr. Egan has been instructed to remove the property of the United States Legation at Santiago and the refugees there to the United States cruiser Baltimore in Valparaiso harbor.

This is not very probable as such action might require force and Santiago is several miles by rail from Valparaiso.

The report telegraphed from Santiago yesterday that excitement had been caused by news of attack upon the Chilian legation in Washington is regarded here as mischievous, and as indicating a deliberate attempt to fan popular passion there.

In the present excited condition of the Chilian populace it is feared that harm may be done our representative there unless unusual precautions are taken.

Minister Egan's Dispatch.

Minister Egan's Valparaiso dispatch which was received yesterday afternoon gives the following as the reply of the Chilian government to the President's telegram of October 23, asking reparation for the recent murder of American sailors in the streets of Valparaiso:

"Minister for Foreign Affairs replies that the government of the United States formulates demands and advances threats that, without being cast back with acrimony, are not acceptable, nor could they be accepted in the present case or in any other of like nature. He does not doubt the sincerity, rectitude or expertness of investigation on board the Baltimore, but will recognize only the jurisdiction and authority of his own country to judge and punish the guilty in Chilian territory."

He says the administrative and judicial authorities have been investigating the affair; that judicial investigation under Chilian law is secret and the time has not yet arrived to make known result; when that time does arrive, will communicate result, although he does not recognize any other authority competent to judge criminal cases than that established by the Chilian people.

"Until the time arrives to disclose the result of investigation he cannot admit that the disorders in Valparaiso or the silence of his department should appear as an expression of unfriendliness towards the Government of the United States which might put in peril the friendly relations between the two countries.

A Second Demand to be Made.

Mr. Blaine will make a second presentation of the views of the United States to the Chilian government, and will call attention to the fact that we have not "formulated demands" or "advanced threats" or attempted to interfere with the "administration of judicial authority" of that country, but have simply presented the case to the Junta and asked for proper reparation.

If the demand is not promptly met by a suitable apology, the punishment of the criminals and an indemnity in money American vessels will begin to concentrate on the Chilian coast and every arrangement will be made for the bombardment of Valpairaiso if such a course may be deemed necessary.

The President and Secretary Blaine are very much in earnest in the feeling that we should allow no trifling in so serious a matter, and that we should not allow it to appear that we are indifferent to the suffering which has been inflicted on the families of our sailors by their causeless murder, nor to the dignity of our uniform by the outrage put upon it.

Force is Needed.

It is not believed in diplomatic and naval circles that correspondence without a show of force will be likely to have any effect.

"The Chilians are a fighting people," said a distinguished naval officer last night, who has touched at Chilian ports on many cruises. "They had rather fight than eat. Moreover they have just got through a little fighting among themselves and their blood is up. The are in a pugnacious mood and think they can lick creation. It was just the same way with us after the close of the Civil War. We had a chip on our shoulder for years, and we were eager to sail into Great Britain or Spain."

Would Teach Them a Lesson.

"The Chilians will be only too glad of an opportunity to show the United States what they are made of. They have never liked us and they have a very inadequate idea of the strength of our navy. As a matter of fact they have nothing that could successfully compete with us if we should assemble our fighting strength before Valparaiso."

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Counting on England's Help.

One of the reasons of the bellicose attitude of the Chilians is hinted at in a letter received by a naval officer from a comrade on the Baltimore. This letter states that the Chilians are counting, in case of trouble, upon the support of Great Britain against the United States. They have no warrant for this in any intimation from the British Government or any declarations of the representatives of Great Britain in Chili, but they base their hope upon the large English interests in Chili and the relative sympathy the English have shown to the popular party during the recent civil war.

ENGLAND'S VIEW.

The Impression General that the United States Must Fight.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The greatest ferment exists in the South American trade over the news from Chili. The general impression is that Chili will fight, and that the United States is now in a position where it must fight or retreat with dishonor. No person of responsibility has yet been found who doubts that America will come out foremost in the end, but the general impression is that Chili will have for the present a decided advantage.

The sentiment of the mercantile houses trading with Chili is strongly against war, and the nitrate interests are also opposed to it on the ground that war might result in the United States, through an arrangement with Peru, getting control of the nitrate deposits; also that a successful war would have the effect of raising American prestige in South America to the detriment of England.

The change of feeling since yesterday is most significant. Then the idea of war was poohpoohed. Now the South American opinion in London is exactly the reverse, and war is regarded as almost inevitable.

RUMORS OF WAR.

A Buzz of Excitement Over the Orders for the Monitor Miantonomoh.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Great activity prevailed on the double turreted monitor Miantonomoh at the Navy Yard yesterday morning. Officers from the other men-of-war, now anchored at the Navy Yard, paid visits to the officers of the Miantonomoh and discussed sub rosa wild war rumors occasioned by the order from Washington to Commander Erben to place the huge monitor at once in commission. It excited considerable surprise when it came so suddenly.

One of the lieutenants on duty this morning said that in case of an emergency the monitor could be ready to go out to sea within about a week, but if the work is allowed to go on at the present speed it will be nearly a month before she will be fully equipped and ready to fight. The huge warhorse has been undergoing alterations and repairs for the past year or two, but she shows many traces of her eight years of idle life at the Navy Yard. Her new officers are subjected to many discomforts on account of this condition.

A ROUGH PASSAGE.

The Steamer Briggella, From Baltimore Has a Hard Experience.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The British steamer Briggella, Capt. McGregor, which sailed from Baltimore Oct. 10, for Barrow, put into Queenstown yesterday. The vessel had a terrible experience, and everything about the deck and in the saloons gives evidence of the roughness of her passage.

Her supply of coal had given out, necessitating her putting into Queenstown. On Oct. 12, when in latitude 27, N.; longitude 74, W.; the wind rapidly freshened and soon was blowing with hurricane force.

A high sea sprang up and the vessel took much water on deck. Some of the seas which boarded her did considerable damage to her deck fittings.

One sea smashed a life-boat to pieces. One sailor was carried overboard and lost.

Narrow Escape of an Innocent Girl.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—A young lady, 19 years old, giving her residence as a few miles out in the country from Toronto, Canada, arrived here yesterday on a train from Buffalo, being directed to a house of ill-repute. She says last week she met a girl in Buffalo who gave her name as L. M. Kendall of Pittsburg, who persuaded her to come here and do housework. Before reaching this city she showed the letter of introduction to a passenger, who informed her of the nature of the house. Superintendent of Police Weir will see that the girl is sent home.

Gov. Bulkeley Recognized by Gov. Hill.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 30.—Judge Calef, of this place, who is commissioner of deeds for the State of New York, was notified recently that his commission would expire on October 29 and that he must have a recommendation from the Governor for its renewal. The Judge forwarded a recommendation from Governor Bulkeley and yesterday received his commission. This is the first time Governor Hill has recognized Governor Bulkeley.

WHICH WAS MEANT?

The Muddle Over the Monoghan Will Case.

TWO CLAIMANTS TO A FORTUNE.

Half-Brothers Bearing the Same Name Making a Bitter Fight.

The Obscure Will of Thomas Monoghan—The Surrogate Holds that What Is Written, Not What Is Meant, Determines to Whom the Property Shall Go—The Rightful Heir Likely to Lose the Suit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Monoghan will case, which has been hearing in the Surrogate's Court the past few days, has demonstrated that what a man means cannot affect what he puts in writing.

Old Thomas Monoghan was a house painter who quit painting houses in 1871 and commenced to dabble in real estate. So successful was he that when he died in September, last year, he left property valued at $500,000.

Long years ago the painter was married, but he separated from his wife, Annie McEvoy Monaghan, in 1864. Of the three sons she bore him only one has survived—Thomas Monoghan, jr., a blonde, about 30 years of age. He has not seen or heard of his father for many years, having lived on a farm in Iowa.

After separating from his first wife Monoghan married again, although for a number of years before Annie McEvoy died he lived with the present Mrs. Monoghan. There is a grave question, even among his lawyers, whether the oldest son by the second marriage is legitimate.

On the day before the old painter died he made a will dividing his property almost equally between his "beloved daughter, Rose Monoghan, now living with me," and his "beloved son, Thos. Monoghan, Jr."

This latter was the oldest son of the second Mrs. Monaghan. He is a fine looking young fellow with a brown mustache and a dashing air. Unlike his half brother, he is dark. He was prepared to enter into the enjoyment of the property left to him, when the elder young Monoghan put in an appearance and objected. He claimed to be the "beloved son, Thomas Monoghan Jr.," and said that his half brother had no right to the name, and consequently not to the estate.

Surrogate Ransom practically decided in the blonde's favor yesterday. "There seems to be no doubt from the evidence," he says, "that the proponent (second young Monoghan) was the party meant by his father to receive the benefit of his estate. But, unfortunately for him, he failed so to state. In a case like this we must go by what the will states, not by what the testator is thought to have meant. The objector is the legitimate son of Thomas Monoghan, is known as Thomas Monoghan, jr., and seems to have a right to the name. The proponent has no such right."

Lawyer Thaddeus B. Wakeman thereupon arose and asked for an adjournment. "This view of the case is a complete surprise to us," was his first remark. "We have diligently searched the records of the Catholic churches, hoping to prove that the objector is not entitled to his name, but is really known as William Monoghan. We ask for a little more time."

An entertaining discussion among counsel ensued over this proposition, which Surrogate Ransom finally settled by adjourning the hearing until Wednesday of next week. In return for this privilege, however, he ordered that the proponent pay the fees of the objector's witnesses and his hotel expenses as well. The Surrogate also added sarcastically that the surprise of the counsel at his view of the case was not so much a surprise of the facts as a surprise of the law.

Had the old painter simply added the words "Now living with me," after his son's name, as he did after his daughter's, the present litigation could not have been possible. As it is now, all the indications are that Thomas Monoghan, sr., instead of providing for the wants of the son, whom he loved with all the warmth of a father's affection, has simply enriched the child whom he cast off many years ago.

Mechanics Laid Off.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—About 350 skilled mechanics of the 2,000 men employed by the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, have received notices that their services would not be required after to-day. Slack business at present is the cause.

Escaped from the Penitentiary.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 30.—Gillette, the forger, who was serving a ten years' term in the Stoney Mountain penitentiary escaped during the night and has not been recaptured. He is the convict to whom the alleged Burke, the Cronin murderer, confessed while in prison in this city.

FIFTEEN LIVES LOST.

A Steamship Burned—Many Passengers Killed by Fire and Water.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29.—The steamboat Oliver Beirne, from St. Louis, was burned at Milliken's Bend, 25 miles above Vicksburg, early yesterday.

Most of the passengers and crew were asleep, when at 3:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded, and almost before any one was awake the boat was aflame. The blaze originated on the lower deck, from what cause is not known, and communicating with the dry cotton was soon burning with great fierceness. The crew of the boat were aroused, and with the passengers who were awake gave the alarm to those who were asleep.

A rush was immediately made for the forward part of the boat, and many got off in safety, but that avenue of escape and others were soon cut off, and the unfortunate passengers and crew were forced to plunge into the water.

The crew of the boat displayed commendable coolness, and every effort was made to rescue those who had not got ashore. Chief Engineer Ed. Bird launched the yawl of the boat, and he, with other men, succeeded in picking up many of the unfortunates in the water.

Some, however, were beyond reach, and were either burned to death or sunk beneath the waters to rise no more. The alarm was communicated to the people of Milliken's Bend and the bank of the river was soon crowded with villagers, who assisted in the work of rescue and hospitality, throwing open their houses to the survivors.

Besides a large number of cabin passengers there were over 200 deckhands on board. The deckies were on their way to work on the levees south of Vicksburg. The passengers lost all their personal property.

The list of the lost, as furnished the steamboat company by Capt. Thorwegian is made up as follows: Two children of Dr. Worrell of Baton Rouge; three chambermaids; Samuel V. Entricken; a daughter of Mr. Adams of Omaha; five cabin boys; a nurse of Mrs. Frazier of Natchez; Mrs. Woolidge of New Orleans; a number of deckhands. The body of an elderly lady was found floating down the river and has not been identified.

The steamboat company place their loss at about $125,000.

SUING FOR LIBEL.

Senator Quay Will Prosecute Every Newspaper that Published the Charges.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—Senator M. S. Quay yesterday brought suit against the Pittsburg "Post," in general, and Albert J. Barr and James Mills, editors, for criminal libel, based on editorials printed in that paper, charging Quay with receiving $8,877 as his share of the profits of Bardsley's operations in State funds. The hearing will take place Saturday.

Senator Quay's lawyers will to-day enter civil suit for libel against the Pittsburg "Post" for $100,000 damages. Attorney Thomas M. Marshall said: "We are now preparing papers to bring criminal suits for libel against every newspaper that published the slander, and also against Chairman Kerr, of the Democratic State Committee."

Sullivan Accepts Slavin's Challenge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 30.—Champion John L. Sullivan, who arrived yesterday from Australia, decided to-night to accept Paddy Slavin's challenge at once. He wired his managers in the East to put up the necessary forfeit money and to demand a fight as soon as possible. Sullivan does not care how big the purse is, but he stipulates that this will be his last fight in the ring. He will be free from theatrical engagements early next summer, and unless Slavin backs down the fight will then take place. Sullivan is in dead earnest and spoiling for a fight.

National Unitarian Society.

FITCHBURG, Mass., Oct. 30.—At the annual meeting of the National Unitarian Sunday School Society, held here yesterday, Rev. Edward A. Harton, of Boston, was chosen president and Rev. H. G. Spaulding, of Newton, Mass., secretary. Among the directors selected were Mrs. Kate Gannett Wells, of Boston, Rev. C. A. Thayer, of Cincinnati, Rev. Wm. I. Nichols, of Philadelphia, and Rev. Wm. Fenno of Chicago.

Captain McLain Escaped.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 30.—Capt. Alexander McLain of the Hamilton Lewis, who was captured some time ago by a Russian man-of-war and taken to prison, is now on his way to San Francisco from China, where he will arrive next week. How he escaped is a mystery.

Typhoid in a Prison.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 30.—For the past three weeks an epidemic of typhoid fever has prevailed in the Rhode Island State prison. The first case was discovered six weeks ago. The bad water supply is supposed to be the cause of the trouble.

Postoffice Burglarized.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 30.—The postoffice at Groton was entered by burglars early in the morning and the safe blown open. Five hundred dollars, mostly in postage stamps, were taken.

Sanctioned by the Federal Council.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The Federal Council of the German Empire has formally sanctioned the repeal of the prohibition on the importation into Germany of American pork.

Transcontinental Record Broken.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The record between San Francisco and New York has again been broken. Mr. John W. Mackay recently made the journey in 4 days 12 hours and 30 minutes. Yesterday Mr. James L. Flood alighted at the Grand Central Depot, having done it in 13 minutes less than Mr. Mackay. He left San Francisco on Saturday last at 7 p. m. in his car, the Grassmere, and followed the route taken by Mr. Mackay.

FIGHTING FACTIONS

Shillelaghs Plied With Great Vigor in Cork.

O'BRIEN DISABLED BY A MISSLE.

The Riot With Great Difficulty Quelled By the Police.

Jack O'Connor Did Great Work for the Parnellites Until He Was Knocked Out—The Hospitals Filled With Wounded Combatants—Parnell Followers Again the Aggressors—Many Seriously Hurt.

CORK, Oct. 30.—The rioting was renewed last night in more desperate form than before. William O'Brien had been invited to address a meeting of McCarthyites in the suburbs of Cork. The McCarthyites were armed with stout sticks, and many of them had their pockets well loaded with missiles, prepared to resist any attack of the enemy. A solid bodyguard closed around Mr. O'Brien, to protect him in case of an onslaught.

Meantime the Parnellites were not sleeping. They gathered in the heart of the city, in an enormous crowd, with banners, torches and bands, the bands playing "Croppies Lie Down," "McKenna's Dream," and other soul-stirring airs of '98, mingled with "God Save Ireland," and "The Conquering Hero Comes," the last being an allusion to Mr. William Redmond, who sat in an open car, waving a handkerchief and shouting words of encouragement to his followers.

The Parnellites marched until they reached the anti-Parnellite meeting. A hoarse cry of defiance went up from the McCarthyites. At this challenge the Parnellites broke whatever semblance of rank they had, and dashed wildly upon the enemy, brandishing blackthorns and howling at the top of their voices. The two crowds met fiercely, neither giving way. Sticks descended on skulls, combatants grasped each other and rolled in the dirt, and blows and kicks were exchanged with an energy that meant victory or hors du combat.

Stones flew hither and thither, and O'Brien, where he stood attempting to be heard and to say something to quiet the furious encounter, received a severe blow in the rear from a missile that was thrown.

The struggle was one hand to hand, and men could be seen now and then staggering out of the melee covered with blood. Among the combatants could be seen the big form of Jack O'Connor, his blackthorn waving like the plume of Navarre.

The police had not anticipated any serious riot at this point, owing to its remoteness from Parnellite centres. It was some time, therefore, before they could effectually intervene. But, at length, having been hastily reinforced, they charged upon the combatants, striking right and left with their batons.

The McCarthyites fell back; but not so the Parnellites. These obstinately held their ground, Jack O'Connor boldly facing the police and refusing to give way. William Redmond was equally determined, and the police, treating them as the leaders of the onslaught, at length set upon them in earnest, and gave both a terrible clubbing that disabled them.

With the leaders knocked out, the mob gradually fell back, and the battle was over for a time. It is said that the number of bruised and broken skulls was even greater than in Wednesday's fight, and probably a good number will not be able to do any more rioting until after election.

Late last night O'Connor was having his wounds dressed, and declared his intention to be in the field again to-day. The Parnellites look upon him as their war lord, and would be depressed by his absence.

Cardinal Gibbons Will Attend.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 30.—Canon Plancarte, of this city, has sent invitations to Cardinal Gibbons and the bishops of the Catholic Church in the United States to attend the opening of the Colegiata Church at Guadaloupe, one of the most renowned temples in Mexico, which has been undergoing repairs for some time, but which is now nearing completion. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, and the bishops of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis have already accepted the invitation and will gather at Chicago and come to this city by special Pullman coaches.

Attached His Sister's Property.

SING SING, N. Y., Oct. 30.—George A. Brandreth, of this city, has secured an attachment for $45,000 against the property of his sister, Mrs. H. C. Symonds, who is at present living at Los Gatos, California. The property, real and personal, was seized by the Sheriff yesterday. It covers stock in the Brandreth pill and porous plaster factory, a $3,000 legacy in the Bacon estate and other securities.

Field and Forest Fires.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 30.—The field and forest fires in the blue grass region continue and the fire is eating its way into the most valuable corn fields and farming land in the State. The farmers and their men are out vainly trying to fight the fire back and save their stock. Nothing but a very heavy rain can stop the progress of the flames.

Shipped Matches Not According to Law.

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—Joseph, Julius and Ephraim Cohen, comprising the firm of Cohen Bros., were yesterday held by United States Commissioner Hallet at $300 each for their appearance before the grand jury of the United States District Court charged with the shipment of matches not marked according to law to Bath, Me.

BRYAN WAS TO BLAME.

His Harsh Utterances At Bucksport Precipitated the Riot.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 30.—Advices from Bucksport, the scene of the riot, are to the effect that everything is quiet, but the feeling against State Treasurer Bryan of the Farmers' Alliance is very strong. He has left the County and his whereabouts are not known. Bryan has been lecturing through the State on the Sub-Treasury, land and loan scheme doctrine.

The fact that his friends went to the meeting armed with shot guns caused a sentiment that trouble was anticipated. His harsh utterances against his political opponents at Bucksport are said, to have been the cause of the trouble. Bryan had hardly finished speaking when a shot was fired which caused a stampede.

Buck Manning who was injured, died yesterday. A little girl was found crushed almost beyond recognition. Manning and Towns were shot with Winchesters. Five others were seriously wounded.

It is feared that should Bryan attempt to speak in other parts of the State there will be serious trouble. Alliance men claim that an attempt was made to prevent Bryan from speaking, and this caused the trouble. Bryan is an Alliance candidate for Congress from the Fifth district.

THE SENATE INVESTIGATION.

Obstruction Tactics Alleged—Adjournment Until Next Week.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—The Senate adopted a motion yesterday afternoon, after Judge Orvis had concluded his argument on jurisdiction, permitting counsel for the Philadelphia magistrates to discuss the same subject.

Senator Rois raised the point of order at a subsequent stage of the proceedings that the necessary two-thirds had not voted for the motion, but the chair decided that as business had intervened the point was not admissible.

Senator Hall intimated that the purpose of the Senate in allowing the arguments for the Philadelphia magistrates to be entered, was to prevent the Attorney-General from summing up the evidence in the Boyer case until after the election.

The Senate will adjourn to-day until Sunday next.

FANNING WANTED TO DIE.

He Cut His Throat While on His Way to a Connecticut Prison.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 30.—A sensational attempt at suicide was made here yesterday morning. Joseph Fanning, a young man who had served one term in prison for robbery, had been sentenced to Wethersfield for seven years. With a batch of eight other prisoners he was being taken to the train for transportation to the prison.

As he entered the door of the railroad station he drew a knife from his pocket with the arm which was free, and, opening the blade with his teeth, drew it sharply across his throat. He slashed again, but his arm was held by one of the sheriffs.

The blade had skipped the jugular vein and he may live. He made frantic efforts to tear the bandage from his throat, but was constantly watched. He was taken to prison and placed in the hospital there.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Westfield hopes soon to have electric light, supplied by an Elizabeth company.

—Do not fail to hear ex-Mayor Randolph's address at Reform Hall, Sunday evening.

—Fanwood, over on the Plainfield side of the earth, puts on airs because it has devoloped a female burglar.—New Brunswick Home News.

—The Woman's Home Mission society held its regular meeting for sewing, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church.

—There was a social gathering in the Crescent Avenue chapel, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society, last evening, from 8 until 10 o'clock.

—James Kiederling, of Plainfield, has again accepted a position with Eynear Staats, near Raritan. Mr. Kiederling was in Mr. Staats's employ last winter.

—The Emerald is the name of a new five column folio issued by Andrew E. Kenney, of this city in the interests of the Catholic societies of this place.

—The United Tea and Coffee Growers' association have something to say in their advertisement to-day about butter, apples, tea and coffee, that interests everybody.

—The "Daughters of the Cross" will hold a cake, candy and plant sale, to-morrow from 3 until 5 o'clock at Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen's, Rockview avenue.

—The Washington Star says of the speech delivered by judge Ulrich before the recent reunion of the 15th N. J. Vols., that his words were remarkably well chosen and enthusiastically received.

—The Relief Association greatly needs clothing suitable for boys and young men. Any persons who have cast-off garments of that description will confer a favor by sending them to the Relief rooms, 45 West Second street.

—The Bound Brook Democrat says that Chester A. Cleves is clearing off a number of building lots on the top of the mountain north of Bound Brook, for Mr. Vail, of Plainfield. It is a beautiful location for building sites, with scenery seldom excelled.

—At the annual session of the State library association, Wednesday, Miss Emma L. Adams of Plainfield reported that the library in her city was an exceedingly popular institution, and was particularly used by the advanced pupils in the schools.

—"My First Drink and My Last" is the title of a booklet written by S. H. Hadley who will speak to men in the M. E. church next Sunday at 4 p. m. The Young Men's Christian association has ordered a supply of these tracts for gratuitous distribution at the close of the meeting.

—Frankie and Josie Lupo, who were severely burned by the explosion of a barrel of crude petroleum at Martinville, are slowly improving under the care of Dr. B. B. Mathews of Bound Brook. They have suffered terribly. Little Jamie, who was killed by the explosion, was buried at Plainfield.

—A copy of Mr. Sayre's letter has been posted in every bicycle club-house in the county, telling how he was arrested at the instigation of George Kyte for riding his bicycle on the side path where the road was in an impassable condition. Therefore every bicycler is called upon to vote for Flower. Mr. Kyte, meanwhile, is preparing an answer to the letter.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Wm. H. H. Calif is visiting Mrs. Asa Collier.

The Misses Sadie and Hattie Currie, of Arlington avenue, will spend the next two weeks visiting friends in New York and Brooklyn.

D. I. Smalley and his brother-in-law George F. Brown left town this morning for a visit to Washington. They will call on President Harrison.

The numerous warm and sincere Plainfield friends possessed by J. Augustus Hinchman, will be glad to know that he is at The Albion and promises to remain there for some time to come.

Signor J. E. Pucci, manager of the Postal Telegraph offices in this city, Elizabeth and New Brunswick, is recovering from painful injuries received a few nights ago in jumping from a Jersey Central passenger train that he thought was carrying him past his station.

75 CENTS A MONTH GONE.

Mr. Feytel's Lodge Takes Its Advertisement Out of THE PRESS.

When a State officer of the Knights of Honor, vice-Dictator Feytel, stood on the stage of Music Hall and told five hundred people that his lodge was better than any other, THE PRESS in justice to the rest called him down. In such action the paper has the approval of all Knights of Honor, including those in Mr. Feytel's lodge. What steps the Grand Lodge of the State will take in Mr. Feytel's case, are not yet known.

Meanwhile he has had a meeting and ordered the advertisement of his lodge—for which is paid the munificent sum of 75 cents a month—taken out of THE PRESS. At this meeting, which took place last evening, a resolution was passed to the effect that the reporter of Mr. Feytel's lodge should communicate with the daily papers of Plainfield—including THE PRESS—and show in what particular the advantages offered by Mr. Feytel's lodge differ from other lodges. These advantages, Mr. Feytel's lodge insists, are the payment of extra benefits in case of sickness, wife's death, etc., but as every cent thus paid comes out of the pockets of the members of Mr. Feytel's lodge exclusively, the "advantage" is not apparent; and certainly to the bachelor who has to chip in every time a married man loses his wife, it must seem a disadvantage.

The resolution—which is all in Mr. Feytel's handwriting—goes on to say that Mr. Feytel's lodge "depreciates" the discussion forced on them by "the attack made on him by THE PRESS." So they should "depreciate" the paper's attack, as he calls it, but as honorable Knights of Honor they should not "depreciate" his attack—a State officer's attack—on their sister lodges and brother Knights.

Continuing, Mr. Feytel's resolution says: "Resolved, That the standing advertisement in THE PRESS respecting our meeting nights, be transferred to The Courier."

Notes from the Pond Works.

The popular shipping clerk at Pond's, J. W. McMurray, was around among the boys getting members for the Young Men's Republican club. He gave "Lathe Hand" a wide, wide berth, but secured John Roberts as secretary. He will make a good one, but it is too bad to see him in such company.

Albert McComas, better known to the public as "Robert", says he is going to Harrisburg, Pa. His comrades wish him a pleasant trip.

A mistake was made the other day in the notice of the casting of the planer bed in the foundry, in spelling the foreman's name as McArdle. It should have been Andrew McCardell. Pardon, this time, Andrew.

Who broke the window? Little William Gray, who had sixty cents to pay.

Election topics are causing some little excitement in the shops, and several bets have been made on the result in New York State. Benj. F. Allen, the tool maker, is quite interested in Platt's nominee, J. S. Fassett. LATHE HAND.

Trenton's Battle Monument.

After several weeks' work—says a message from Trenton—a solid bottom was obtained at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the first stone was laid for the foundation of the monument to be erected to mark the scene of the battle of Trenton. The site is historically accurate, being the place where Washington first encountered the Hessians, after crossing the Delaware. The cornerstone laying will take place next Christmas Day, the anniversary of the battle. The monument will cost $60 000, of which Congress has appropriated $30,000, New Jersey $15,000, and the citizens of Trenton have subscribed $15,000.

Wrecked in the Dark.

Edward Schenck, a Dunellen milkman, may bring suit against Firman Gise for the loss of a horse. Just before daylight yesterday morning, while Schenck was driving to Plainfield, his wagon ran into a big cart loaded with crushed stone that Mr. Gise, proprietor of the Dunellen stone crusher, had left standing for the night on North avenue opposite the round-house.

Schenck's horse through fright ran away, threw out the milk, smashed the wagon, broke a leg and otherwise so injured itself that it had to be shot.

One or Two Friends,

I have been using Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills in my own case with marked success, and upon my recommendation have induced one or two friends to try them, with pleasing results. L. E. BENEDICT, Editor Ellenville Press.

TWENTY-TWO BUILDINGS BURNED.

The Town of Clinton Devastated by Fire.

A disastrous fire that swept away twenty-two of the principal buildings occurred at Clinton, Hunterdon county, last night. The cause is not known. A brisk southwest wind drove the flames from house to house. No lives were lost. The damages will amount to about $100,000. The fire went out for lack of further fuel. The town has an abundance of water, but no fire engines. Clinton is the former home of several Plainfielders.

An Unusual Musical Treat.

Music lovers will be pleased to know that John Cheshire, harpist to H. R. H., the Duke of Edinburgh, also to the German opera and Seidl's Metropolitan orchestra, New York, will give a harp recital in the Casino, Thursday evening, November 12.

Mr. Cheshire comes to Plainfield under the auspices of Mrs. W. L. Patton, his former pupil, and she gives this concert for the benefit of the industrial training department of the Plainfield Boys' club. The newspaper comments, both in Europe and America, show him to be an artist of the highest order. He is a host in himself, and probably the most eminent living harpist. Mr. Cheshire will be assisted by Mrs. Cheshire, a brilliant pianist. Their duets, with harp and piano are delightful to listen to.

The Mendelssohn quartette of New York, will also assist, and with such an array of first-class talent, the result can be only success. Each member of this quartette is a soloist and already a favorite in Plainfield.

Borough Republicans Hear Some Speeches.

The Republicans of North Plainfield held a rousing meeting at the headquarters of the U. S. Grant club, Spencer's hall, last evening. The hall was packed, and much enthusiasm was manifested. In the absence of the president, Dr. H. K. Carroll presided and made an appropriate speech. He introduced George A. Dilts, the Republican candidate for Assembly in Somerset, who made an interesting address. Other speakers were the club's efficient secretary, H. Newton Spencer, Mayor Place, councilmen Hegeman and Buckle, the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, brother of the candidate, Horace J. Martin, T. W. Morrison, and John Goodwin.

Local Speakers in the Y. M. C. A. Course.

A very enjoyable talk was given by Capt. William B. Ostrom under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the association rooms last evening. The captain related in his usual happy manner some of his early experiences at sea, and in the course of his remarks gave his hearers some sound advice. The talk was well attended. Next Thursday evening Franklin S. Smith, teacher of science in the public schools, will give an illustrated talk on "The Chemistry of Flame".

The late P. T. Barnum thought that he had got the nineteenth century boom in Jumbo, but he forget the great excitement caused by the sale of Dr. Bull's Cough Sytup, the peer of cough remedies.

Poor-House Inmates Caught in Wrong-Doing.

Mrs. Beard, Mrs. Cahill and Jimmy Powers, all from the town poor-house, were arraigned before judge Codington this morning, charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. Policemen Cooney and Flanagan caught them indulging in behavior last night that was decidedly improper, but the circumstances of the case were such that only the one charge could come before the local court. All pleaded not guilty, and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Blue Jeans Will Never Wear Out.

That great success, "Blue Jeans", which comes to Music Hall next Thursday evening, is unquestionably the best constructed domestic drama that will be seen here this season. The cast is made up of capable people whose talents are peculiarly fitted to just the roles they are called on to play. For realism the play is without an equal and nature is strictly adhered to, which is the secret of the play's great success.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

PUSHING HIS BUSINESS.

—Pall Mall Budget.

An Old Bachelor's Excuse.

"You were never married, I believe?"

"No, I was never married."

"That's a little singular, isn't it?"

"No, not at all. You see, the first time I fell in love I said to myself: 'I'll marry her or none.'"

"Why didn't you marry her then?"

"Well, you see, after I had become better acquainted with her I said to myself: 'I'll marry none rather than her.' Since then I've got along very well with none."—Texas Siftings.

Deserved the Place.

"I have done innumerable favors to members of the banking profession," he said, as he placed his hat and gripsack comfortably on the president's table, "and now I want you, in my extremity, to give me a position as cashier or teller."

"What is your present business?" was the question.

"Nothing just now. I recently failed in the Montreal hotel line."—Judge.

Colored Mendacity.

There was a large boiler of scalding water over a fire in the yard and several black imps playing near it. Suddenly a shrill voice was heard from inside the shanty.

"You, George Washington, keep away from dat ar biler. D'rectly you is gwine ter upset de biler and scald yerself to def, an' w'en you is, you'll be de fust one to say: 'Twasn't me, mammy.'"—Texas Siftings.

GET IN LINE!
AND GET ONE BEFORE THEY ARE GONE! $1 39 buys a handsome Parlor Lamp, cheap at $2. You can't afford to pass us by when you are in want of a lamp, for our assortment is the most complete in town, and to say that our prices are the lowest, would be putting it mild. We have just received a fine line of Jardiniers, fancy Flower Vases, Toilet Sets, Dinner and Tea Sets, and fancy Crockery. We bought these at a closing out sale at bargain prices, so come while the assortment is good and select what you want and have them laid aside till needed; a small deposit secures them. We are in business to handle goods, and we will do it if we have to give them away; and no matter what others' prices are, ours will be under. Look at our $10 Dinner Set; it's worth $15 anywhere. Our $3.75 Tea Set sells all over for $5. Ordinary Table Crockery we lead the World on, and our prices astonish even the makers. Housefurnishings of every description, way down! Common Lamp Chimneys, all sizes, 5 cents; don't pay eight again for them. Those who do not throw money away will do well, and are invited to visit constantly, whether they wish to buy or not, that they may be posted as to the novelties and bargains coming in daily. Use 25c Royal Tooth Powder, 10c; nothing finer made. The 5 and 10-cent Store.

A PLAINFIELD ARTIST'S SCHOOL.

An Institute That Imparts a Practical Education to Its Scholars.

An institute of learning that is rapidly becoming known to everybody is the New York Institute for Artist-Artisans, at No. 140 West Twenty-third street, New York. This institute was, three or four years ago, started by John Ward Stimson, the well-known instructor in decoration and painting, who was for years art instructor at the Seminary in this city, and for some time a resident of Plainfield. He founded the institute after his withdrawal from the school of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and each season the success of the institute is more assured and firmly fixed, its departments enlarged and others added.

The object of the New York Institute for Artist-Artisans is to instruct young men and women in American art as applied to American industries; to give them an artistic-artisan education, not to serve as an accomplishment or a fad, but as a means of livelihood. It has long been contended, and with a considerable degree of truth, that work in stained glass, decoration, wood carving, ceramics and textile work in this country has been done and is being done by foreigners; that all our manufacturing jewelry houses and concerns devoted to interior decorations and the designing of effects in wood employ foreigners, because there are no workers in this country.

The plan of the New York Institute is to educate the youth of this country in a knowledge of such arts and to enable them to secure that labor that has been given to others. All branches of labor are taught—labor that demands a knowledge and appreciation of all that is artistic and beautiful in work, and made clear to the student as a method of earning a living.

So successful has been the work of the institute that several famous seats of learning are considering the advisability of adding the institute to their curriculum. Educators are beginning to realize the wisdom and stern necessity of instructing the youth of the country in affairs that will fit them for the battle of life, and for that reason they are looking with favor upon the New York Institute of Artist-Artisans as the pioneer in that direction.

The New York institute began its season of 1891-2 three weeks ago, though students are being received every day. A number of Plainfielders have already entered. One important feature that has been enlarged this year is the department of textiles, the instructor being Mrs. Candace Wheeler. Three halls and two fine rooms have been given to Mrs. Wheeler for her department.

Among the other instructors are Professor Conrad Diehl, of the Munich Art School, who lectures on the "Principles of Decoration and Historical Ornament;" John Ward Stimson, drawing and shading from objects, and the antique; Lyall Carr, stained glass; Frederick Kaiffer, wood carving, and R. Hunter, jewelry and metals. George Wharton Edwards of this city was desired as the instructor in sketch and illustration work, but his time was too fully occupied to accept, and W. H. Gibson has taken his place.

Classes are also held in the evening, and every opportunity is held out for people who are employed during the day. Should the institute become incorporated with either one or the other universities that have suggested such a scheme, a new and a practical element will be introduced into our educational system, and colleges instead of turning out graduates with a "little Latin and less Greek" will send them out into the world with a practical knowledge of the higher branches of labor, and so fit them to compete with the artist-artisans of Europe.

A Plainfielder Who Kept Trenton Folks in the Best of Humor.

[From The Trenton True American.]

Every seat, and practically all the standing room of Library Hall, was occupied last evening with an audience of ladies and gentlemen who had assembled to attend the second lecture of the Young Men's Christian association for the present season. Preceding the lecture the orchestra of the association, with its full ranks of eleven men, rendered a programme of choice selections.

Robert Anderson, chairman of the lecture committee of the association, then stepped to the front, and in a few choice words, introduced Mr. Robert Rushmore, of Plainfield, N. J., who, for over an hour and a quarter, held his audience with an interesting description of "Life in Texas Among the Cowboys." His description of the life on the ranch, the method of catching and training horses and the peculiar experiences enjoyed by the cowboys in this work, kept his audience in the best of humor during the entire evening.

A Sermon to Young Men.

The service of Nov. 7 will be "Communion Sabbath" at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Dr. Lewis will preach to young men to-morrow at 10:30 a. m. Strangers are cordially invited.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

DUNELLEN HOLDS THE CUP.

A Most Enjoyable Afternoon of Sport Closes the Bowling Green Season of '91.

The Dunellen and Middlesex bowling green clubs were to compete again, yesterday for the Adams challenge cup. The former game, in which the Dunellen club was successful, had been declared off for the reason that the jack was thrown in one of the rinks after the game was called by the referee. But for this, it was said, the Middlesex club would have been the winners.

But at the appointed time, yesterday, the Middlesex bowlers did not show up, and as there can be no more bowling this season the Dunellen club will continue to hold the Adams cup until next year.

Several social games, however, were indulged in among the club members. The attendance was the largest ever seen on Mr. Schepflin's lawn. Among the prominent guests was Col. VanCleff of the Governor's staff, who in a most happy speech invited all the club to attend the next session of the State Legislature, in a body, as his guests.

The most successful bowler, and the one who was in the happiest frame of mind over his success, was Mr. Stone of Newark.

Four rinks were played, and a remarkable coincidence was that in each case the score was 21 to 19. Mr. Stone's side was a winner, and so was Mr. Love's. On the finals the 19's beat the 21's by just one point.

Mr. Schepflin was heartily thanked by all the members, for his hospitality. One expressed his feelings by saying that it was the most enjoyable afternoon he had passed in 25 years. Another said that it was the most glorious time that ever was.

John Young made a neat speech of congratulation on the happiness of the occasion.

A resolution was passed that this should be the last day's sport of the season, and the green is therefore closed till next year.

Plainfield's Brokers to Help Celebrate.

Stock Exchange brokers from Plainfield and other suburbs of the metropolis are beginning to take an interest in plans for celebrating the one-hundredth anniversary of the formation of what they consider the organization from which the present exchange is descended. President W. B. Dickerman has been empowered to appoint a committee of five members to consider arrangements for a celebration May 17, 1892.

The first organization of brokers to assist in the carrying on of business was effected May 17, 1792. Of course, it was far from an exchange of the modern kind, but it was a first step toward one, and the developments from the small beginning have been tremendous. In the early days the brokers merely had an agreement to meet and to give fellow-members of the association preference over outsiders.

Just what form the celebration of the anniversary will take has not yet been determined. All matters pertaining to it will be in the hands of the committee.

They Do Well to Be Vigilant.

The Newark News refers as follows, editorially, to the anti-race-track fight of the Plainfield and other Union county clergymen:

"The members of the so-called Citizens' League of New Jersey have good reason for their apprehension of a new effort to secure the passage of a law legalizing pool-selling in this State. The capital invested in racing interests here is large in amount, the profits which would be made if the tracks could be run in law-abiding counties are enormous, and the railroads and individuals interested are wealthy and powerful. Unquestionably the race-track men will not yield without doing battle for the privileges which they desire, and the legislators to be elected next month are likely to be called upon to vote on the question. People who do not want this variety of gambling legalized in New Jersey do well to be vigilant and earnest, and to begin their fight against it early."

A Rare Old Bible.

A rare old Bible was exhibited at the recent Methodist Ecumenical conference at Washington. It is 200 years old, and was used in the Epworth church pulpit by the Rev. Samuel Wesley, father of John Wesley, the great Methodist leader and was preserved in the family of Dr. Adam Clarke, the famous commentator, until the death of his daughter. It is now owned by the Rev. W. H. Boole, of New Jersey. Bishop Hurst has secured the Bible for the use of the Ecumenical conference. It is proposed to purchase it by voluntary contributions for the American University.

Dr. Cox Asks for a Pardon.

Dr. Cox, of Port Murray, Warren county, who was convicted of causing the death of Miss Jennie Osborne, of Newark, by criminal malpractice at Easton, Pa., about three years ago, and who sought to implicate a Plainfield nurse with him, has made application to the Pennsylvania Court of Pardons for a curtailment of his sentence, which will practically be a pardon, in order that he may be restored to citizenship.

The re-hearing of the application has been granted and argument will be heard by the Board of Pardons later.

"A GOD SEND is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your Balm has cured me."—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

I WAS so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Liepsner, A. M., pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

AN ABLE FINANCIER.

George J. Gould, the Promising Son of the Famous Jay.

The eldest son of Mr. Jay Gould, the capitalist and railroad proprietor, had placed upon him when he was barely of age responsibilities which would have staggered many mature men who do not think badly of their own ability. Mr. George J. Gould, who is about thirty years old, did not receive a collegiate education, but as soon as he came of age was taken into his father's office and into partnership with the firm of brokers of which Mr. Jay Gould was at that time a member. He must have learned the mystery of finance very rapidly, says Harper's Weekly, for very quickly he was made a director in this company, and that, until soon he sat at the council board of pretty nearly all the corporations in which his father held a large interest. And what was more, the father soon learned to rely with implicit faith upon the son's judgment and business acuteness.

At an age when the sons of rich fathers are usually cutting a pretty wide swath in society, and sowing an abundant crop of wild oats, Mr. George Gould was as hard at work as any bank clerk in Wall street. And it is pretty certain, too, that he had the natural inclinations of youths of his age. But he felt his responsibilities, and in consideration of them suppressed all wayward fancies and frolicsome desires. Since then he has been his father's confidential adviser and associate, and on more than one occasion of long duration, when Mr. Jay Gould has been abroad, the son has had complete charge of all the immense and complicated interests of the father. He has been the president of the Pacific Mail Company and of other large corporations. At present he keeps track of all the details of his father's business, and has gained the respect of all the shrewd men who are associated with Mr. Jay Gould in his various enterprises.

Mr. George Gould is of manly bearing and handsome appearance. In manner, though he is quick, he is courteous, and he impresses an observant visitor with the idea that he is a young man who knows pretty well what he is about. He is a man of family now, and has developed such quiet domestic tastes that he is rarely seen in public except in his journeys to and from his office.

NEW USE FOR WOOD.

Wooden Pipe-Line Irrigation in Perris Valley, California.

Irrigation is one of the oldest of the arts, and many of the ancients practiced it with as great skill as has been shown in our own time, when by its help what less than a generation ago was known as the Great American desert has been converted into as fruitful farming land as any in the country. In such an old art it is interesting to note anything that is new, and something in this direction, says Harper's Weekly, has just been accomplished in California. The usual method of taking water from place to place for irrigating purposes has been by the construction of canals, and that was the universal practice in ancient times. But in the western part of the United States, for some time past, large pipe lines have been laid, and have been used with much success. There is a long pipe line in California from the Great Bear reservoir, in the San Bernardina mountains, which extends for forty miles into the Perris valley, in southern California. This steel pipe line has now been tipped by a pipe line seven miles in length made of redwood staves from twelve to twenty feet long, and bound together with steel bands or hoops. This wooden pipe is thirty-six inches in diameter, and will therefore carry a large volume of water. What is new in this line is the use of wood for constructing so long and large a pipe as this for irrigating purposes. Wood is not usually plentiful in sections needing new irrigation works, and it is therefore not likely that this plan will be imitated to any considerable extent.

Some Interesting Statistics.

The investigations of an inquiring statistician have brought out the fact that getting born costs the people of the United States $250,000,000 annually; that the total expenses of getting married are $300,000,000, and that getting buried costs $75,000,000. The addition of the fact that getting drunk costs us $900,000,000 per year adds a new and sarcastic impressiveness to the admonition: "With all thy getting get understanding."

AMELIE RIVES' RETURN.

The Well-Known Authoress Will Hereafter Devote Herself to Art.

Mrs. Amelie Rives-Chanler, the well-known authoress who first came before the public through the agency of her singular literary work, "The Quick or the Dead?" returned to this country from France, where she has been writing and studying during the past two years. She was accompanied by her husband, John A. Chanler, who is a connection of the Astor family. Mrs. Rives-Chanler returns to this country with the expressed determination of giving up literature for a time, at least, and devoting all of her energies to art. Her work with the brush already shows great possibilities for her in this new field of endeavor.

Her father, Alfred Landon Rives, was born in Paris in 1830, and was assistant engineer in completing the capitol building at Washington. He has been general manager of the Mobile & Ohio and vice president and general manager of the Richmond & Danville railroad, and in 1888 was appointed superintendent of the Panama railroad. Mrs. Chanler, his only daughter, was born in Richmond, Va., just twenty-eight years ago. She was educated by private tutors and has written much for the magazines. In 1888 she married Mr. Chanler, a New Yorker.

Witness my hand this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1891.

VINCENT W. NASH,
Special Policeman and Collector of Delinquent Taxes.

Equal to the Occasion.

Sybil—Is that Harry Scribbler's writing, Kitty?

Kitty—Yes. I am engaged to him, you know.

"Of course. I was engaged to him last summer."

"The dear boy! I wonder who he'l eventually marry?"—Drake's Magazine.

Highly Necessary.

"I wonder what Simson keeps an office for?" said a business man. "He never has anything to attend to downtown."

"I suppose," was the reply, "he has to have some place to go while his wife gets the housework off her hands."—Judge.

Not Available.

Proud Father (to editor)—My eldest boy—only six—got off a pretty good thing the other day. I thought you might like to print it.

Editor—I am very sorry, sir; but we employ a man especially for that kind of work.—Puck.

Those Excursionists.

Miss Wayback (first visit to the sea beach)—How awful dirty the ocean water is! Bah! It tastes horrid, too.

Mrs. De Style (a cottager)—Yes, it has always been so. I suppose it's these excursionists.—Good News.

Always Remembered.

Boggs—There is one thing the young man who goes through college never forgets.

Foggs—What is that?

Boggs—To mention the fact.—N. Y Herald.

Very Much Alike.

Tommy—Pa, Mr. Bixby said to-day that I was very much like you.

Pa—I'm glad to hear it, my son. How did he come to say it?

"I asked him for a quarter."—Puck.

An Opinion.

Politician—I don't know what o' the matter with me, doctor. I can't lie on the right side.

Doctor—That's not strange. It takes a statesman to do that!—Truth.

A Careful Buyer.

Mr. Locks—Yes, sir; I will guarantee that my safes are fire-proof and burglar-proof.

Bank President—Good! but are they cashier-proof?—Puck.

MOY HE PUTS UP PRESCRIPTIONS!

-S:A:Y:-

—HAVE you seen the Bannockburn Flannels? Nice they are; just the thing for Children's wear, and for Ladies' House Wrappers. Price 12½c.——Special attention is called to our stock of Comfortables. We handle nothing but White Cotton filled Quilts, and have them made in town, and are made of the best quality.——'Tis the general verdict of all who have seen our display of Fall and Winter Jackets, that our styles are the newest, that our garments are better made, and that our prices are the lowest.——We have many improvements in our House-Furnishing Goods Department, and you will find many articles that will interest you. We have the largest assortment, and sell at a closer figure than all others.——There are a few more of those Decorated English Porcelain Toilet Sets left at $2.40 each, and if you want Hall, Parlor and Hanging Lamps, you are rock bottom on them.——Gentlemen, we have received another case of those 48c night shirts. Look at them.——Another good thing that we won't have long is, 100 genuine Hand-made Turkish Rugs, that cost to import, $9 each—our price $3.75.——How about Underwear? We have every thing for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children, in White, Red and Natural Wool, in all qualities and sizes, and our prices are way below the lowest.——We commence this week another sale of Granite Ironwear, at about half the regular price.

FEELING IS BITTER

American Officers in Chili Apprehensive.

FURTHER TROUBLE IS FEARED.

The Junta's Reply Deemed a Deliberate Insult in Santiago.

The Imprisoned Americans Were Forced to Sign a Statement Exonerating the Police Who Arrested Them—The Chilian Premier's Message to Senor Montt—Investigation Being Made—Minister Egan Will Probably Be Recalled Soon After Election—A Story That His Removal is Demanded by Chili.

SANTIAGO, Oct. 31.—The controversy between the United States and the government here is just now the all absorbing topic. Instead of the feeling of bitterness and resentment on the part of the Chilians having become alleviated by the sobering influence of many hours reflection, the sentiment towards persons and things American has become intensified, and American residents and officials are, apprehensive of further trouble.

Minister Egan, Consul McCreery and Captain Schley were in consultation most of the day. The result of their deliberations cannot be given, but they are unanimous in the opinion that the reply of the Junta to the demands of the United States was decidedly insulting to say the least. That they regard the situation as serious cannot be doubted.

American residents are very indignant at the arrogance of the Chilian Junta. They are quietly making preparations in case of further trouble, which they one and all daily expect to occur.

The sentiment expressed by the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Baltimore is that their commander should take extreme measures to enforce proper treatment for such members of the vessel's crew as may, from necessity, be forced to go ashore. This, it is believed, is Captain Schley's intention.

The idea is not to irritate the Chilians by sending the men ashore when they are known to be unwelcome there, but when marketing, watering and other necessary duties make such visits necessary, they will be protected at all hazards.

A new feature of the Valparaiso incident, which needs explanation, has developed. The officials in Valparaiso having charge of the investigation of the assault on the American bluejackets, compelled the United States seamen, who were locked up at the time, to sign a statement written in Spanish, exonerating the police from all responsibility as to their arrest.

The situation is one of increasing uneasiness and further trouble may occur at any moment.

BEING INVESTIGATED.

Senor Montt Receives Word Concerning the Baltimore Incident.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Senor Don Pedro Montt, the Chilian representative, has received the following official cablegram from his country in explanation of the troubles at Valparaiso:

"Investigation instituted immediately and continues with all diligence, but it is not finished. The trouble began in Cleve street, and it became a tumult at about 7 p. m. Regular soldiers, police and the special guard of the Intendente restored order. The combatants—30 Americans and 11 Chilians—were committed before the judicial authorities. They fought with knives, stones, and everything they could lay their hands upon. There was one killed and several wounded. It is said that there were 160 American sailors from the Baltimore on shore at the time of the tumult."

In explanation of the small number of Chilians arrested, in comparison with the number of Americans, it is stated that the Chilians were at home, and able to conceal themselves, while the sailors, being strangers and in uniform, were easily distinguished, and having no place of concealment, were readily captured. It is thought to be certain that the Chilians implicated will eventually be brought to justice.

The reply to be made to the communication of Minister Egan has not yet been decided upon.

Minister Egan May Be Recalled.

Regarding the intended recall of Minister Egan, the following circumstances are related:

Immediately upon the accession to power of the Junta de Gobierno, after the downfall of Balmaceda, that body cabled to Senor Pedro Montt in Washington directing him to assume charge of the Chilian Legation at Washington as soon as the government of the Congressional party in Chili should be recognized by the United States. Neither the State Department nor the Chilian Legation of Balmaceda at Washington would recognize the credentials of Senor Montt, but told him that when duly written instructions were received from Chili, the Legation would then receive him (Montt) as Chili's representative in the United States.

The fact of Montt's appointment as Chilian Minister at Washington was also communicated to Minister Egan in Santiago, with the request that the latter inform the Department of State by cable of Montt's status in the United States, as Montt had cabled his government that he would be obliged to await his autographic credentials.

It is not known that Egan ever cabled this to Washington, so that Montt had to await the receipt of his formal credentials as Minister from Chili upon their arrival by the Colon via Panama a few days ago, and he lost no time in presenting them to the State Department on Wednesday last.

At the same time that Senor Montt was cabled to regarding his appointment as Minister, he received instructions through the same channel to demand, in Chili's name, the recall of Minister Egan as a "Persona Non Grata" to the present Chilian authorities. This request of Chili was also shelved to await the arrival of Montt's credentials, and it is believed in Chili as well as in Washington that Egan knew that the Chilian Government did not want him, and used the slow process of the mail to inform the State Department of Montt's appointment as minister.

It is now stated that Chili has again demanded Egan's recall, and that the State Department will reply to the Chilian Government after the elections have taken place, according to Chili's request.

Will Make Another Demand.

As nearly as can be ascertained this government proposes to wait a "reasonable time" for Chili to conclude the inquiry which is now said to be under way. This "reasonable time" will not be a question of months, but of days.

If no report is soon received from the Chilian government, and there is reason to believe that it is intentionally delayed, this government will again make a request for an explanation, and if no reply is forthcoming steps may be taken toward a suspension of amicable relations.

It is expected, however, that the report will be promptly made. Its purport is already anticipated. No one in government circles in Washington expects that the Chilians in their present frame of mind will acknowledge that they are in the wrong. Any amount of testimony will probably be presented to show that the sailors were murdered in a street row, in which both the Chilians and Americans are equally to blame. The cablegram made public by Senor Montt, the Chilian Representative, indicates that this will be the line of Chilian defence.

WILL RETAIN DR. BRIGGS.

Union Seminary Decides to Return Him to the Biblical Chair.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The directors of the Union Theological Seminary have decided to stand by Dr. Briggs and return him as Professor of Biblical Theology. Moreover, they deny that the Presbyterian General Assembly has any right to interfere with them, and there are hints that they may break away from the agreement of 1870 and make the seminary an independent institution again if pushed to extreme action.

This is the outcome of the conference between the committee appointed by the General Assembly at Detroit and the directors of the Union Seminary. The object of the committee from the General Assembly was to prove that a man with Dr. Briggs's ideas was unfit to hold the responsible chair of Professor of Biblical Theology.

Dr. Hastings, president of the seminary, said at the request of the directors that the board had carefully and persistently refused to consider the question of the legality or wisdom of the arrangement of 1870 simply on the ground of courtesy to the General Assembly and the committee which they knew was to come to them.

DIVORCE COMPLICATIONS.

A Wife Abandoned Years Ago Has Her Husband Arrested.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—George J. Glaze, formerly a well-known shoe dealer of this city, and now worth $3,000,000, has been arrested on a charge of abandonment preferred by his wife, whom, it is alleged, he deserted more than a dozen years ago.

Glaze was married to Miss Elmira Lamb in this city in 1878, but after a brief period of wedded bliss he deserted her.

Later he procured a divorce by fraudulently, it is alleged, but this was set aside on Mrs. Glaze's appeal. Glaze went to California.

All this occurred a dozen years ago, but the woman bided her time, and recently received information that her husband had returned to New York. He was soon located and his arrest followed.

English Train Wreckers.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—There is considerable excitement in railway circles over another dastardly attempt to wreck trains on the Great Western Railway. This time the attempt was made in Devonshire. Fortunately the obstacles placed on the track were unable to resist the impetus of the Great Western express, and the engine dashed them aside without leaving the rails. Otherwise a terrible loss of life would have occurred.

Pilot Welch Convicted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Pilot Welch of the tug P. W. Devoe, who has been on trial for causing the death of Broker Jenkins and Charles Bain, passengers on the yacht Amelia, during a collision, has been convicted of manslaughter in the second degree with a recommendation to mercy.

Steamer Moselle Wrecked.

PANAMA, Oct. 31.—The steamer Moselle, carrying the Costa Rica mail, is a total wreck near Colon. Her captain is known to have been lost and it is feared the crew have met with the same fate. Nothing has been found of the mails. Unprecedented storms are prevailing off Colon.

PERILS OF THE DEEP

Awful Experience of the Crew of a Swedish Bark.

CAUGHT IN A HURRICANE.

The Vessel Driven Upon the Reefs at Mona Island.

Crew Washed Overboard, and Out of Eleven Men Eight Perished—The Captain Among the Dead—One of the Sailors Lay Helpless for Several Days in a Cave—Terrible Suffering of the Survivors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The British steamship Smeaton Tower, from Porto Rico via Cuba, which has just arrived in port, brought with her two of the three survivors of the Swedish bark Mora, which was wrecked on Mona Island August 20.

One of the men, Koester, was chief officer of the bark, and from him a fairly good account of the accident was obtained. He speaks English, but not fluently.

Mr. Koester says that the bark was caught in the terrible hurricane of August 20, and was nearly driven ashore on Mona Island. Both anchors were dropped, but the chains parted and the ship was driven on her beam ends broadside to the reef, the sea making a clean breach over her.

Captain Pearson was sick at the time of the hurricane, and the command of the ship devolved upon the chief officer. When the anchors parted Captain Pearson asked Koester to lash him to the deck, and the subordinate started to obey. Just as he reached the side of the captain a heavy sea made a clean breach over the ship carrying Koester overboard.

"I gave myself up for lost," he said, "but I made a desperate struggle for life and got ashore more dead than alive. I was cut and bruised from head to foot. What little clothing I had left was nothing but rags, and my only thought was to get some rest. Near where I had been washed ashore was a little cave, and into this I crawled. For two days I lay there suffering terrible agony, and was finally found by workmen who gave me the kindest possible care."

Koester thought that the entire ship's company had perished, and his joy was great when he learned that two of the sailors had escaped. Islanders had watched the bark breaking up, and noticed among the wreckage what appeared to be human beings. They hurried down to the beach hoping to be of assistance. Finally a plank was washed ashore, lashed to which were two men. At first it was thought they were dead, but a careful examination showed that they still breathed. It took a good deal of care to bring them around, but the efforts were successful, and in the course of a day or so the men were out of danger.

Neither of the seamen has any distinct recollection of how he came to be there. All they remember is the bark being among the reefs, after which they knew nothing until they were revived ashore.

The day that Koester was found alive in the cave, bodies of eight drowned men were washed ashore. They were easily recognized by the survivors as being those of Captain Pearson and the seven members of the crew. All of them now rest in unmarked graves upon the little island.

Koester and one of the seamen sailed on the first boat that touched at the island, the Smeaton Tower, the other man preferring to return home by some other route. The two men now here will probably be returned to their homes by the Swedish Consul, unless they prefer to join some other ship. Both of them, however, express distaste for the sea, and say they will try life ashore for a while.

Eaten by Wolves.

AUSTIN, Minn., Oct. 31.—For the past two months wolves have inhabited a section of timbered land near the farmhouse of Jerhard Jenson, seven miles east of this city. Two nights ago the family was horrified by cries from their two small children who had drifted into the wooded growth. The father armed and started toward them, but before he could reach the scene the brutes had completely torn the little boy to pieces and made rapid work of the 6-year-old girl. The body of the boy was horribly mutilated and the daughter's right arm and limb badly chewed, but it is thought she may recover.

NEW YORK NEWS IN BRIEF.

James F. Hunt, a well-known newspaper man, is dead at Buffalo.

The body of John Henner, missing since October 21, has been recovered at Mount Morris.

Mrs. Julia Buttles Smith, wife of Hamilton L. Smith, senior professor of Hobart College, is dead.

Simonson & Weis, of New York, one of the largest houses engaged in the manufacture of ladies' cloaks, have failed. Liabilities $180,000.

A CLEVER SMUGGLING SCHEME.

Kid Gloves Brought in Marked as Linen Towels—Examiners in Collusion.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Custom House authorities at this port announce that they have unearthed a smuggling scheme, the extent of which they cannot tell at present. So far they have in their possession over $10,000 worth of goods captured in one consignment.

The goods were taken from the steamship El Dorado, which was wrecked on the Bahama reefs some two months ago. Nine cases of goods marked "linen towels" were brought from the wreck back to New York and placed in the Custom House. These cases were from Bremen, Germany, and were consigned to Steinberger & Kalisher, merchants in San Francisco, and invoiced at $994. The goods were marked "via New York, for immediate trans-shipment to San Francisco without appraisement."

When the Custom House people opened the cases in order to see how badly the contents were damaged they found that only three cases contained towels, the other six were filled with kid gloves, with a layer of towels on top. It was also found that the cases marked in a certain way in order that the examiner in the San Francisco Custom House might select the ones filled with towels for examination and appraisement.

The kid gloves in the six cases are valued at over $10,000. The custom officers say that this method of smuggling has been going on for some time and they have the names of the consigner in Germany as well as the agent at New York through whom the goods were shipped, but at present they will not disclose these names. An investigation is being made at San Francisco by the Treasury Department to find out if possible what examiners are in collusion with the German shippers of the goods.

FATAL TARGET PRACTICE.

A British Vessel Sinks Two Fishing Smacks By Neglectful Gunnery.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A despatch has just been received from Plymouth which states that while the gunboat Sabine was engaged in gun practice, some of her shots struck and immediately sunk the fishing smacks Sunbeam and Aurore, both of which were anchored outside of the breakwater.

One man belonging to the Aurore was drowned, while another was nearly so. Two of the crew of the Sunbeam were almost completely exhausted when they were taken out of the water.

The accident is attributed to the gross negligence of the officers of the gunboat. The Admiralty will order an investigation.

Philadelphia Bank Examination.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Acting Secretary Spaulding says that the Treasury Department had refused at this time to appoint experts to examine the Spring National Bank of Philadelphia, for the reason that four experts under the Philadelphia Committee of Fifty were now examining the books, and two sets of experts could not work at the same time. After these experts have finished their work and made it public, if the Council's Committee still wants its experts to examine the books and will pay them, as the Committee of Fifty have done, no objection will be raised by the Treasury Department.

May Negotiate a Treaty.

MADRID, Oct. 31.—In view of the recent treaty with France, which gives Spain the advantage of the French minimum tariff, the Spanish government is now inclined to negotiate an extensive treaty with the United States, somewhat on the lines recently suggested by the Washington government. Such a treaty would comprise the opening of American ports to Spanish products, chiefly wines, in consideration of which concession Spain would consent to the imposition of merely nominal duties on petroleum and agricultural machinery imported from the United States.

New Railroad in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—The State Department has granted a charter to the Reading, Lancaster & Baltimore Railroad Company. The capital stock of the road is $2,500,000, and H. C. Lehman is president. The new line will run from Reading to New Holland, Lancaster County, thence to a point on the Maryland State line in Fulton Township, Lancaster County, to connect with a railroad to be built from Perryville, Md., with a branch from Strassburg to Lancaster City. The entire length of the line will be 52 miles.

Henry B. Norton's Will.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 31.—The will of the late Henry B. Norton leaves $200,000 for the Norton Library and Reading Room in Norwich; $50,000 for the Norwich Free Academy; $15,000 for the Broadway Congregational Church, and small bequests to the Five Points House of Industry, the American Home Missionary Society, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and to the American Congregation Mission, all of New York.

Adjutant-General's Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The annual report of the Adjutant-General to the Major-General commanding the army shows that a marked decrease in the number of prisoners in confinement has taken place during the past year, and it is shown by a comparison of statistics that the decrease in the number received is about an even rate with the decrease of the number of desertions from the army, which is about 30 per cent. of the average for the past ten years.

The Czar Dodging Nihilists.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 30.—The plan of the Czar's movements are being daily altered in view of the activity of his Nihilist enemies. It is to-day announced that the sea voyage to Dantzic, en route for Livadia, in the Crimea, has been abandoned, and that the Czar and Czarina, together with their royal companions and guests, will proceed to their destination overland via Fredericia.

BANKER SELIGMAN'S MISSION.

His Inquiries in Berlin Concerning a Bimetallism Agreement.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—Mr. Jesse Seligman, the well known New York banker, has been in this city recently, furnished with credentials from the United States, for the purpose of making inquiries among foreign financiers in regard to the possibility of arriving at some international agreement in the interests of bimetallism.

Mr. Seligman has received much attention in this city. It is stated here that President Harrison and Secretary Foster are greatly interested in the negotiations being conducted by Mr. Seligman.

The United States Minister, William Walter Phelps, has secured for the New York financier interviews with Herr von Maltzahn, Secretary of the Treasury, and with other prominent men in the financial world of Germany.

Mr. Seligman, upon leaving Berlin, seemed to have the highest hopes that matters, so far as Germany is concerned, are progressing toward an international conference on the subject of bimetalism.

A JEALOUS WIFE'S REVENGE.

Annie Walden Shot Her Husband Because He Deserted Her.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—James Walden, a young man well known about the race tracks in the country, was fatally shot in Seventh avenue at 8 p. m. by his bride of two months. Jealousy and alleged bad treatment on the part of Walden are given as the causes of the tragedy. Young Walden is a nephew of Wyndham and Peter Walden, the horsemen.

About all that is known of the reasons for the shooting is the story of the woman. She is a pronounced brunette, short, stout and attractive in appearance. She was arrested immediately after the affair and locked up at the Thirtieth street station.

Mrs. Walden says that after the marriage James neglected her and finally became abusive in his treatment. He finally neglected her altogether, she claims, for a woman named Harris. When she reproached him for this attachment he beat her, she says.

The Reviewing Stand Collapsed.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 31.—While the Democratic torchlight parade was passing the reviewing stand at the corner of Eutaw and Madison streets, a portion of the stand collapsed and United States Senators Gorman, Kenna and Morgan, the Hon. Frank Brown, the Democratic Gubernatorial nominee, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Phillips of Pittsburg, Congressman Barnes Compton, John P. Poe, and others, were precipitated ten feet to the ground. Senator Gorman and Congressman Compton were underneath and were at first supposed to be badly injured. When released it was found that neither had suffered seriously but each had a lame leg and other slight bruises. Mrs. Phillips suffered more than any other victim of the accident, her ankle having been broken.

Driven From the Old Home.

TOPSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 31.—Much sympathy is expressed for Annie L. and Lillian P. Wright, two cultivated women, daughters of the late John Wright, at one time a wealthy citizen, who were evicted from the homestead which has been in the possession of the family for six generations. The eviction was the result of the foreclosure of a mortgage given by Mrs. Wright, who died last year.

Where Is A. B. Balmer?

READING, Pa., Oct. 31.—A. B. Balmer, a leading cigar manufacturer, has disappeared. Thursday night a stranger entered his office and asked him to go to the Adams Express office and sign for a valuable package. Mr. Balmer went with him, and has not been seen since. At the express office it is stated that no package had been received there for Mr. Balmer.

Pernambuco and the Fair.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The special commissioner of the Latin-American Department to Brazil, Capt. Alex. Rodgers, writes that he finds the officials at Pernambuco very much interested in the exposition at Chicago. He was most heartily received by the Governor, and invited to meet the commission which had charge of the State exhibit, and when the details of the exposition had been fully talked over, was assured that a very full and complete representation would be made from that State. The manager of the Lyceum of Fine Arts at Pernambuco promised a fine exhibit, and there will also be a great many articles sent from the State Museum.

The Tarpey Hearing.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 31.—A. S. Draper, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has announced that on Monday morning next, at 10 o'clock, he will hear the charges preferred by J. H. Thiry and others against Peter E. Tarpey, one of Long Island City's public school principals, formerly employed in a like capacity in New York city. It is expected that both sides will be represented by counsel, and that lively developments will result.

Offers $25,000 for a Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—The Olympic Club offers a purse of $25,000, twenty thousand to the winner and five thousand to the loser, for a contest with five ounce gloves to a finish between John L. Sullivan and Frank P. Slavin. In addition to the purse a solid gold tilting pitcher, emblematic of the world's championship, will be offered as a trophy, which will have to be won twice successively to be retained.

Met Death in a Pit.

PANGOS, Pa., Oct. 31.—While an employe of the Excelsior Slate Company was tending a gate at the head of the quarry and trying to haul in a stone weighing about a ton, a severe wind storm started the derrick which struck the man and dashed him head first into a pit seventy-five feet deep. He was instantly killed. His name was not learned.

Killed in a Rolling Mill.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 31.—Charles Bodgettes, aged 17 years, an employe at the Keystone Rolling Mill, was caught by the shafting and thrown to the roof with great violence. When picked up he was an awful mass of bruises and broken bones, dying in half an hour. The body was removed to the home of his parents. His mother, who is in ill health, is so prostrated that her recovery is impossible.

To Resume His Studies.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 31.—President Raymond of Wesleyan University says Student Narramore has made two statements regarding his recent disappearance. The real reason for the student's strange act has not been made public, but Mr. Raymond says there was nothing criminal in it. Narramore will probably resume his studies.

Rebel Mahommedans Beaten.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 31.—It is reported from Mombasa that Captain Lugard has severely defeated the rebel Mahommedans of Uyoro, and struck a blow at the slave trade from which it will be difficult to recover.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Francis Steers, for intoxication, was fined $5 by Judge Codington this morning.

—The "Stelle company" yesterday sold a bay trotter, "Major", to parties in Brooklyn.

—Wednesday evening at 7:45 is the hour of weekly service at the German church, North Plainfield.

—A number of young people from this city attended a dance of the Phil Kearney Guards at Elizabeth last evening.

—The Montauk Wheelmen of Brooklyn will hold a ten-mile road race on the celebrated Plainfield course, Nov. 30.

—The six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, to be held next April, it is reported, will be an eight-hour-a-day affair.

—There will be a five-minute talk about penmanship, every Monday evening, at the close of the book-keeping class of the Y. M. C. A.

—The Sunday afternoon service at the Church of the Holy Cross has been changed to 4:30 o'clock, a half-hour earlier than formerly.

—The annual exhibit of their work by the members of the Plainfield Camera club, will take place this year from Nov. 23 to Dec. 5 inclusive.

—Several bicycle clubs, among them the Bedford Wheelmen of Brooklyn, intend to hold road races on the Elizabeth-Plainfield course, election day.

—All kinds of ice-cream and candies, fresh every day, and of the best quality, are Compton's specialties. His pastry and bread are the best in the market.

—The New Brunswick Home News gave another evidence of its growth and prosperity by coming out yesterday in eight-page form and with many improvements.

—Land-holders desiring notices to post up warning the people that if found gunning or trespassing they will be prosecuted according to law, may be procured at this office.

—Mr. Ross has sold his gray trotting mare, "Lady Heidt", to a Sixth street liveryman for breeding purposes. She cost her former owner $175, but it is said she was sold for about $50.

—S. H. Hadley who will speak to men in the M. E. church at 4 p. m. to-morrow, was at one time a professional gambler, and for fifteen years rarely went to bed sober. He's different now.

—The bowling teams of Fanwood and Westfield rolled a game Thursday night which resulted in a victory for the Westfields by the score of 1459 to 1255. The game took place at Westfield.

—The singing class conducted by Mr. Hazell, held its first meeting last night. It was a complete success, forty-eight members having registered. As the number is limited to fifty, applications for two remaining positions should be made at once.

—Appointments for the coming week at the First Baptist church are as follows, each at 8 p. m.: Monday, the Bible normal class; Wednesday, the regular church prayer meeting; Friday, prayer meeting of the Young People's league. Strangers and others will be cordially welcome.

—Judge Codington decided yesterday afternoon that the offenses of James Powers, Katie Beird and Catharine Cahill, who were captured in a raid on Battle Row as told in these columns yesterday, were so flagrant that nothing but long imprisonment could answer. Powers and Mrs. Baird got 60 days in jail apiece, and Mrs. Cahill got 40 days.

Seasonable Offerings.

Probably the finest line ever shown in this city of lap-robes, horse-blankets, rugs, and other desirable carriage furnishings that the coming season demands, is now displayed at L. M. French's repository at 16, 18, 20 & 22 Somerset street, just north of Front. This establishment is not equalled in the State, and its elegant show rooms are stocked full of all the latest styles of vehicles and their appurtenances.

The large business done by Mr. French demands a more extended and varied stock than is carried by other dealers. His line of fall and winter carriages embraces anything anybody can desire; and, as said before, when it is something all the way from a whip to a robe, French has just what you want.

I WAS so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—S. F. Liegener, A. M., pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

SET AFIRE BY EJECTED TENANTS.

Clawson and His Sister Charged With Arson at Randolphville.

Peter Clawson and Caroline his sister were lodged in jail at New Brunswick, yesterday afternoon, charged with arson. They have been residing in a house at Randolphville, Piscataway township, near Plainfield, belonging to Luther Boice, and Thursday were ordered to leave for non-payment of rent.

Clawson became very angry, and, running into the house, seized an old gun, with which he threatened to shoot Boice.

Wm. Randolph, who lives on the opposite side of the road, saw a suspicious light back of the house Thursday night, and found that one end of it was ablaze, and that hay and straw had been stuffed under the floor from the outside and fired. Straw was found scattered across the yard and out to the barn, whence the material had been obtained. Mr. Randolph at once gave the alarm, but the house, being an old frame one and very dry, could not be saved.

The house was a long one story and a half building, erected about seventy-five years ago, and considered at that time a very fine structure. It was valued at $1,800 and insured for $700.

The Clawsons were still in the neighborhood when the fire started, not having removed all their furniture, though they had emptied the section where the fire was first detected.

Constable Pierce, who arrested the prisoners, says they are both demented, and they are so regarded in the neighborhood. Preparations were begun a few days ago to obtain an order from the court to commit them to an asylum.

Clawson is 70 years old, and his sister about forty-five. Both prisoners are uncouth looking people and very reticent. At the jail last night Clawson said:

"I did n't make the fire, and I don't know who did."

Miss Clawson refused to say anything.

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON.

That's the Penalty Elston Gets for Robbing O. M. Dunham.

At the Union county court in Elizabeth, this morning, sentence was pronounced on Charles Elston, who some weeks ago stole a quantity of watches and jewelry from the store of his next-door neighbor, O. M. Dunham, West Front street, this city.

The court was of the opinion that Elston was too bad a character to be permitted to roam at large, and therefore sentenced him to five years' imprisonment at hard labor.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. James H. Force has been visiting Mrs. W. H. Voorhees of Brooklyn, formerly of Plainfield.

Miss Eva Taylor and her brother George Taylor, of Philadelphia, are visiting Miss Mabel Woodruff of East Second street.

A. W. Rand of this city, supervising deputy grand regent, was a prominent guest at the opening of the new Royal Arcanum rooms in Bound Brook, Tuesday evening.

"The Minuet", a graceful string of verses by George Percy Taggart of North Plainfield, will be printed in the scores of newspapers served by the literary budget of the United Press, to-morrow.

Congratulations are now in order to Mr. and Mrs. James W. DeGraff, of East Ninth street, for a daughter sent unto them yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Milliken are now grandparents.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the residence of Firman Long, Summit avenue, yesterday, by a large number of friends from Bound Brook and Plainfield and vicinity. Games and a bountiful repast were the features of the evening.

Foster Milliken, of Sycamore avenue, has entirely recovered from his late serious illness, and is now in Asheville, N.C., with Mrs. Milliken. He went quail hunting the other day and shot a hay-stack. It burned up and cost him $12.

They Played a Tune That Musin Played.

The fall social reunion at the Congregational church last evening was a very pleasant event. The musical entertainment arranged by Mrs. B. T. Barnes included a piano and violin duet by Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Conde, being one of the difficult selections that Musin rendered at Music Hall; a vocal duet by Miss Kirkner and Mr. Barnes, a harmonica duet by Wyatt and Malcolm Barnes, a solo by Miss Kirkner, being a beautiful German song that she learned while abroad, and a piano solo by Miss Winckler. The audience testified by frequent applause its appreciation of the many good things.

After the music, refreshments were served, and the evening was passed very enjoyably. The attendance was large, and included many young people.

Assemblyman Kyte Defeated.

The beautiful gold badge of the Fanwood club first won by the Hon. George Kyte in the local bowling tournament, was wrested from him Wednesday evening by George R. Brown.

Excitement ran high for a few frames, but Mr. Kyte seemed to lose all control of the balls, and the victor did not finish his last game, as it was evident he was the winner "hands down". The successful bowler has been challenged by Stevens, Gibbs and Moore, as the trophy only becomes the property of one member of the club after three consecutive successful contests. None but subscribing members to the fund are allowed to challenge.

Rutledge At It Again.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Mr. Rutledge, the brilliant and amusing ex-policeman whose curious actions have disgraced the borough for some time past, went on the warpath again last night and, as usual, made a fool of himself and put a number of innocent, inoffending souls to a lot of trouble.

It is needless to mention the case as even the Justice of the Peace admitted that there was n't any case at all. But Mr. Rutledge did n't mind a little thing like that and called people horrid names and roundly swore that he was going to get out a warrant for a gentleman who had interfered in the matter on the eminently just and righteous grounds that the gentleman had been "too fresh". I am told that Mr. Rutledge's notions of law-breaking are in great measure affected by the circumstance that he is paid forty cents a head for arresting people. The wisdom of placing such power as this in the hands of a man like Rutledge is open to some doubt, and it is a disgrace to the borough—and more especially to the so-called council—that such a blunderer is licensed to run at large, arresting innocent people right and left, and getting paid for it to boot. BOROUGHITE.

A Protest Against the Merry-Go-Round.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to make known to the public what a nuisance is being carried on at the rink on Broadway? I don't believe in running down any man's business, but when it becomes a nuisance IT OUGHT TO BE STOPPED. Ladies and their escorts are very much annoyed by the crowds that collect around in front of the building, and they are sometimes insulted by the remarks from the boys who gather there.

The associations of boys and girls who go there are not any too good and parents, of a certain [illegible]s, have requested me to keep their boys away from there. It would be a good idea for parents to look out for their daughters also. Is this not a matter for the Mayor and Common Council to attend to? It seems a pity for such an affair as this to be carried on in our city. W. H. MINER,

Supt. Plainfield Boys' Club.

[It is a matter for the Mayor and the police to attend to. The place is not licensed, and for that reason alone the police should have closed it long ago.—ED.]

That New Disease, "Heart Failure", in Plainfield.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS: In your issue of the 29th inst is given the report of the secretary of the board of health for the year ending Oct. 1, 1891, in which he congrtaulates the citizens of Plainfield for the continued good health of the city.

Yes! 16 per 1,000 inhabitants is a small death rate for a city the size of Plainfield. But taking this as an average year, a man with a heart, however, would hesitate to bring his family to reside here, from fear that upon his return from his day's business, would not have a joyous greeting, for heart failure may have overtaken those loved ones for whom he has been toiling. He would rather take his chances where there may be more sickness of a preventable and curative character, for when the heart fails all is over. Heart failure, new? No! But the increase has been so alarmingly rapid here of late.

Then under such circumstances he must wait many a day before Plainfield can become a very large city for I see by the report that the increase has been only 38 more births than deaths during the last year. ANON.

Mrs. Tomlinson Will Address Them.

Sunday afternoon services in W. C. T. U. rooms, will be held to-morrow as usual. By request the president, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, will again read the address delivered recently at the annual meeting. As this address embodies much of special interest concerning plans and methods of temperance work in Plainfield, it is to be hoped a large number will be present.

The evangelistic committee consists of Mrs. Helen M. Eaton, Miss Rachel Mair, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Mrs. G. H. VanNest, Miss Alice Smith, Miss Benedict, Miss H. N. Lugar, Mrs. Ayres and Miss C. R. Yates.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Australia is suffering from an epidemic of influenza.

Thirty houses have been consumed by the flames at Rebstein, near St. Gall, Switzerland.

Majunga, an important town in Madagascar, has been almost consumed by fire. Loss $200,000.

The crew of the whaler Grampus were not massacred, according to the whaler Horatio, which has just arrived at San Francisco.

Baron Pilsach, the president of the Municipal Council and adviser to King Malietao of Samoa, has resigned on account of trouble with the consuls.

Jackson Fletcher, the Choctaw who was to have been shot at Caddo, I. T., made good his escape last Tuesday night and has not been heard from since.

A Melbourne letter says that the beauty show in the Olympia Theatre was completely wrecked by an enraged mob. Treasurer Isaacs was mobbed in his office.

The corner stone of Augustin Daly's projected theatre was laid by Miss Ada Rehan. Many distinguished Americans and other literary and dramatic people were present.

Ex-Mayor Secor, of Racine, Wis., who was thrown from his carriage and fatally injured, did a number of very eccentric things during his term, one of which was to present the city with a bell, which was rung every day in his honor.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—For New England: Fair; slightly warmer; southwest winds.

For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland; Fair; slightly warmer; southwesterly winds.

For Western New York and Western Pennsylvania: Generally fair; stationary temperature; southwesterly gales.

Canada's Crisis.

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The government crisis continues. Secretary Chapleau, with a number of followers, is here trying to force Premier Abbott to yield and give him the position of Minister of Railways. All of the Conservative members from the Catholic Province of Quebec will, Secretary Chapleau says, bolt the party and wreck the government if his claim is not conceded.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. "Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50c., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and whooping cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by J. G. Miller, No. 10 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

Fell Four Stories and Broke No Bones.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Thos. Lewis, a laborer 26 years old, walked out of a fourth story window while intoxicated. Curiously enough no bones were broken, but the unfortunate man sustained injury to his spinal column and his lower limbs were paralyzed. He will die.

NEW ENGLAND BREVITIES.

Nicholas P. Appolonio, City Registrar of Boston since 1854, is dead.

Jack Smith of Birmingham, Conn., knocked out William Downs, colored, of Bridgeport, in two rounds in a finish fight for $200 a side, near Milford.

Isador A Janson, Secretary of the Order of the Golden Shield of Fall River, Mass., is charged with forging the name of the treasurer of the Order to a receipt or $370.

Dillon Angry at the Police.

CORK, Oct. 31.—William O'Brien has got over his reported panic and returned to Cork. The magistrate, Col. Turnel, denied that he apprised O'Brien of any plot concocted in the interest of the Parnellites, and for the injury of their enemies. John Dillon claims to be much irritated at having a guard of mounted police. He suddenly stopped in the roadway yesterday, and turning to the police, protested against their accompanying him. He said his friends were sufficient protection for him. The police listened, but continued to keep Dillon under guard.

IT IS NOT A LIE.

A. R. TUDOR'S Rye Whiskey is warranted absolutely pure and ten years old, and the statement is unqualifiedly true. Read the following affidavit:

HENRY SNYDER, Jr., of the City, County and State of New York, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he has been the General Manager of the A. R. TUDOR Co. from its inception, and he knows of his own knowledge that no neutral spirits, flavoring extracts, or foreign ingredients of any kind have ever been used or contained in the Whiskey bottled under the label and trade mark of A. R. TUDOR. He further solemnly swears that he has personally superintended the withdrawal of the A. R. TUDOR Co.'s Whiskey from the U. S. Bonded Warehouse, and that the U. S. Government stamps on the barrels thereof have, in no instance, borne date later than the year 1881.

SOMERVILLE SAVED THE TOWN.

Clinton's Fire Broke Out Afresh, but the Firemen Who Responded to the Appeal to Avert Fresh Disaster Were Shabbily Treated by the Villagers.

[FROM A PRESS CORRESPONDENT ON THE SPOT.]

CLINTON, N. J., Oct. 30.—Early this morning a disastrous fire broke out in Smith's cigar store on Main street, caused probably by a half-burned cigarette being thrown into a waste-paper basket. The fire burned fiercely, and gained headway very rapidly, spreading to the adjoining buildings, and causing great excitement. The hour was quite early, and some difficulty was experienced in getting the people aroused, but finally some of the town fathers got together and sent for help. It was quickly responded to, two engines coming from Easton, and one from Phillipsburg. In the meantime, before they arrived, the fire had spread along Main street, leveling Fogbasco's livery stables to the ground. The horses, and valuable papers in the safe, were saved, but all the hay, straw, and other contents, went to feed the ravenous flames. Beds, bedding and household furniture, were piled along the streets, and men and women who had been driven from their homes by the fire stood panic-stricken along the streets, wringing their hands, and watching their all go up in smoke. By this time help had arrived, but it was not sufficient to get under control the awful, destructive power of the flames; so word was sent to Flemington for their steamer, which arrived at 2 o'clock, and was put to work at once. By 4 o'clock the fire was under control, and the tired firemen were preparing to go home. It was then that some of the Easton firemen got possession of a barrel of spirits, and proceeded to "fill up". The fire for the time being was neglected, and broke out afresh. The Phillipsburg men had gone home, and things again began to look blue. The town was really in danger of all burning up. Families on the back streets were preparing to move out at a moment's notice, and again the good people of Clinton were plunged into the depths of despair. The firemen were tired and worn out. The could not work longer. Nature had exhausted herself, and the mayor as a last resort sent to Somerville for help. The telegram was received at about 7 o'clock this evening. It was decided to go at once. Word was telegraphed to superintendent W. H. Feddle, asking permission to send a special train, and he at once replied "Yes: go at once, and give the Clinton people all the assistance you can." In just one hour from the time word was received, the engine was loaded and on its way to Annandale, where horses were waiting to take it to the scene of the conflagration.

Clinton is about two miles from Annandale, and it was fully 9 o'clock before the Somerville boys reached here. When they did so they found the fire all out, and that the only thing wanted of them was that they would watch the town. About 10 o'clock all the Clinton people went to bed, locking their doors, and from that time until morning the firemen could not even get a cup of coffee. It was a positive shame to bring men here, and then treat them like this. D. N. Messeler, of the Somerset Democrat, himself went to Mayor Johnson's door, and tried to arouse him; but no; the mayor would not get up, and the brave fire laddies were compelled to keep warm as best they could, until they came away in the morning. Next time they will stay home.

This shows the laxity on the part of the Clinton people in not having some way of fighting the fiery demon; and to think that a town of this size, with a stream of water directly in middle of the town, should be compelled to lie still and see the best business part of the town destroyed! The general store of Hoffman & Duckworth, carrying a stock of about $30,000, was completely gutted, the walls being so hot they fell in. Gebhardt, the shoe dealer, lost his complete stock; and fifteen of the business places were a total loss. It is estimated that the loss will reach fully $200,000. The old stone mill caught fire, but the Easton fire department reached there just in time to save it. The town has a mayor, but no fire department; and at the last meeting of the town council the matter was brought up, and one of them, an old codger, said that as soon as they bought a fire engine they would begin to have fires. What a pity they could not have had an engine so the old fellow could have now said, "I told you so!"

At Music Hall Next Thursday Evening.

The New York Morning Journal, of October 7, said, "That there is plenty of material in our own country out of which to construct a good drama received another proof last night on the stage of the Fourteenth street theater. 'Blue Jeans' is thoroughly and distinctively an American play. Its humor is infectious, its situations are exciting, its characters are remarkably human and natural. The author lived for twenty years among the people whom he has depicted on the stage. He has reproduced their oddities, their quaint humor and their local characteristics neatly. 'Blue Jeans' was an undoubted success before the end of the second act last night. The performance, the excellent setting, the realistic features and the interest of the comedy-drama itself all combined last night to make 'Blue Jeans' a distinguished success."

Mashed strawberry ribbons sell at one dollar a yard, but you can get a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for only 25 cents.

"We'll be gay and happy", for Salvation Oil is only 25 cents a bottle. It kills all pain.

The Night When Boys Play Festive Larks.

All Hallow E'en will be observed tonight, according to annual custom. This festival had its origin from the conversion of the Pantheon at Rome into a Christian temple, and its dedication to the Virgin and all the martyrs. This event was first celebrated on the first of May, but the date was subsequently changed to Nov. 1. That day was designated for the "Feast of All Saints," a day observed by the Episcopal church, as well as the Roman Catholic. Hallow e'en is therefore the eve of All Saints' Day. It has, however, nothing churchly about it, but on the contrary, seems to be a relic of pagan times, or mediæval superstitions. So on this night all manner of mythical notions are freely indulged in, although commonly given up to sports and practical jokes.

The girls take advantage of this night to fathom their lovers' intentions and faithfulness. It would be tedious to recite the multiferious methods to which the maidens resort to ascertain the constancy of their swains. Apples and nuts play a conspicuous part in the evening's diversion, and the night has thence been called Nutcrack night. Ducking or bobbing for apples set afloat in a tub of water which must be seized only with the teeth, is practiced in many places. So is the custom of setting three dishes on the hearth—one with fair water, one with suds and the third empty. The participant advances blindfolded and puts a finger into one of them, thus finding out whether he shall marry maid, widow or none. Other substances are often substituted for the water. The old custom of casting a ball of yarn at midnight into a well, and then beginning to wind it again, repeating an invocation for the lover to appear, has gone out of use, since a maiden drew up a coffin in her fancy. There is just enough superstition still in humanity to keep up the observance of Halloween. The night for the walking of spirits, for ghosts and apparitions and for divination will hold its place for years to come. Burns thus wrote of it:

"The old guid wife's well-hoordit nits
Are round and round divided,
And many lads' and lassies' fates
Are there that night decided."

Max O'Rell at the Casino.

"America as Seen Through French Spectacles", the lecture to be given at the Casino next Thursday, will undoubtedly be a delightful entertainment. M. Blouet, the French student of American and English sociology, and the author of several well-known books on American and English foibles, is one of the most charming lecturers of the day, and has a strong hold on the affections of the public. It is difficult to find words to express the enjoyment he has given to the large audiences that have greeted him everywhere. His popularity has grown largely since he lectured in this country and he is undoubtedly the most successful foreign lecturer who has spoken on the American platform.

The people of Plainfield will undoubtedly avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded to hear this distinguished man.

The Hillside Tennis club, under whose auspices the entertainment is to be given, should be congratulated on providing a lecturer who has such keen wit, ready satire, and charm of manner as has Max O'Rell.

Dr. Ketcham Will Deliver the Greeting.

At the morning session of the twelfth annual convention of the Union County Sunday-school association to be held in the First Presbyterian church in this city next Thursday, W. D. Murray, superintendent of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Sunday-school, will conduct the devotional service. The Rev. Dr. Ketcham will deliver the greeting, and the response will be by the Rev. N. W. Cadwell of Westfield. The reports of the secretary and treasurer and township secretaries will be read. The Rev. E. B. Cobb will deliver an address on "The Word". In the afternoon there will be addresses on methods of work by John Y. Foster, of Newark, Walter M. Patton, of Camden, and the Rev. S. D. Loomis, of Newark, and questions on Sunday-school work answered by general secretary, the Rev. S. W. Clark. In the evening the Rev. D. H. Martin, of Newark, will speak on "The Teacher as an Evangelist."

China Decorating and Firing.

Artists of this city who paint on china will be pleased to know that they can now have their work fired in Plainfield, thus avoiding the necessity of sending it to New York or elsewhere. Mrs. Albert S. Roe, of 8 First place, whose card appears elsewhere, has a studio gas kiln, and is meeting with entire success in firing decorated china.

—Elizabeth has cause to rejoice that it has at last managed to borrow money to pay its debts.

A Common Sense Remedy.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience or interfere with your business. Such a remedy is ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet, and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Return to Plainfield at the conclusion of the services.

One or Two Friends.

I have been using Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills in my own case with marked success, and upon my recommendation have induced one or two friends to try them, with pleasing results. L. E. BENEDICT, Editor Ellenville Press.

—The Rev J. B. Cleaver, formerly of Plainfield, continues to draw large audiences in the Reformed church at Bound Brook. To-morrow morning his theme will be "Victory for the Christian" In the evening he will preach on "The Moral Aspect of the Drink Traffic".

Be Prepared.

Bill Nye says, "Emergencies are liable to assault you at any moment", which is one reason why no young man should make an evening call without an engagement ring in his pocket, particularly when he can get them at Collier's with a coupon guarantee of permanent affection.

How tempting! Something "just as good" is offered when Hires's Root Beer is called for. The reason is plain. The unprincipled dealer makes more profit on imitation goods. The wise ones insist on getting Hires's.

His Latest Offspring.

Miss Esmeralda Longcoffin, although very beautiful, is not the most intelligent young lady in Austin by any manner of means. A young gentleman who is something of a poet has been paying her considerable attention. Referring to his new poem, he asked her, a few days ago, in the presence of a room full of company, if she had seen "the latest offspring of his muse."

"Why, I didn't know you were a married man! That's the very first I've heard of it. Is it a boy?"—Texas Siftings.

Business Enterprise.

A couple of peddlers were about to enter a large New York store, when one of them called the attention of the other to a large sign which read: "No Peddlers Allowed in This Building."

"We had better not go in there," said one of them, "Don't you see that notice?"

"Don't be a fool. That is the very reason we want to go through this building. We are bound to sell something, for we haven't got any competition, don't you see?"—Texas Siftings.

Discouraging.

"What shall I write about now, sir?" asked the sub-editor, after handing his first article to his chief.

"I think," replied the latter, after reading it, "you had better right about face."—Puck.

Very Queer Sailors.

Small Boy (at a dock)—Papa, those are not real sailors, are they?

Papa (a theatrical manager)—Why, yes, my son. They have just sailed that big ship clear across the ocean, and in about a week they will sail back.

"Well, I s'pose they must know somethin' 'bout sailing, but they ain't, really and truly, sailors, are they?"

"Indeed they are. Why do you think they are not?"

"Why, I've been watching them 'most an hour an' I haven't seen one of them hitch his trousers an' stand on one leg, and spit over his head, and say 'blast my tarry toplights' once."—Good News.

The Green-Eyed Monster.

"'Low me, sah," said Gabe Snodgrass to Jim Boodly, both colored, "to congratulate you on your marriage wid de Widow Snowball."

"Ise glad dat my mos' intimate frens am pleased wid my selection."

"Yes, eben your mos' intimate enemies am rejoised at your choice. Heah! heah! heah!" and Gabe laughed hysterically.

It seems that Gabe himself was a disappointed suitor for the paw of the widow.—Texas Siftings.

It Will Be Chilly for Him.

Humker (who wants to propose)—Miss Scadds, let us go out on the porch. Shall I get your wrap?

Miss Scadds—Thanks, but I shan't need it. You might put on your overcoat, however.—Epoch.

A Redeeming Feature.

"I don't see how you can stand that fellow Harlow."

"Why not? There are certain things about him that I like immensely."

"For instance?"

"A steam yacht."—Puck.

DISTRESSING EVENT.

What Might Happen at Any Time.

Mrs. A. fell to the floor after a social gathering, prostrated by nervous weakness and exhaustion.

There are thousands who feel just ready to drop from nervous weakness. It is what makes so many nervous, tired, languid, without energy or ambition. They have headache, stomach trouble, kidney and liver complaints, bowels not regular, headache, palpitation, poor blood etc., which are caused by weakened nerves and nervous prostration.

If they would use Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great nerve and blood invigorator, all these distressing troubles will immediately disappear. Especially should ladies use it who have weakness and debility. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists sell it, $1.

"I had terrible headaches for 30 years. They got so bad I felt that I should go INSANE, and made my husband promise not to put me in an asylum. I took Dr Greene's Nervura, and now have no headache, sleep and eat well, am not nervous, my kidneys are healthy, and blood pure. I was saved from that terrible fate, insanity or prostration by this wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura.

JOHN STEPHENSON.

The Man Who Built the First Street Car in America.

At Eighty-Two Years of Age He Retains the Vigor and Judgment Necessary to Run a Business Employing Thousands of Men.

The camel of the eastern caravan, the Roman chariot and the swift English stage coach of the Georgia era, are not more characteristic of their times than is the railroad car of the last sixty years of the nineteenth century. We are informed with considerable frequency what the age specifically is in which we live; it is the age of this, of that, and of the other, from steam, steel and electricity, down to friction matches and postage stamps. But with great reason it may be said to be distinctively the age of cars. They are, with slight exceptions, the one vehicle of public conveyance by land in civilized nations in modern times. The number of them in use has attained a surprising figure, says the Mechanical News. If we include freight cars, there are in the United States 1,090,813 cars, but of these only the comparatively modest number of 23,465 are devoted to passenger traffic. This, however, is an array which would be imposing if it could be included in a single view. Assuming the average length of a passenger car to be sixty feet, the train thus made up would be about 267 miles in length, and would reach in an unbroken line from New York to Concord, N. H. Night and day the vast network of 160,000 miles of railroad which knits the continent together is being traversed by the flying detachments of this great army of cars. If one can fancy their roof to be made strongly luminous, and it were possible to take in at a single bird's eye view the whole surface of the country from the seaboard to the western limit of the Mississippi valley, these flitting streaks as they run to and fro across the map would suggest a not inapt comparison with an exaggerated fire-work.

The subject is one which tempts the mind to imaginative flights, but it is nevertheless an intensely practical one, and it is to the long-continued efforts of practical men that we owe the inestimable convenience of the modern railway car. Chief among these men, by common consent, is John Stephenson, who has been justly called the father of American car-building, and our portrait of whom will be regarded with interest as representing one of the great personal forces in national development. John Stephenson is of Scotch-Irish descent, belonging in that particular to a class which has been singularly prolific of active leading and successful men. He was born in County Armagh, North Ireland, on the 4th of July, 1809, the birthday, as it happened, of the nation in whose upbuilding he was to render such important service. His father was an Englishman, and his mother of Scoth descent. The family came to New York in 1811, and the boy was educated at the Wesleyan seminary and fitted for a mercantile life. After three years of this experience, however, young Stephenson's turn for mechanics manifested itself so strongly, that at the age of nineteen he was apprenticed to a coach-maker in Broome street, and his father fitted up a room for him, with tools and appliances, in the family home. His evenings were devoted to the study of his trade, and especially to drawing and designing. Two years later he made his first business venture, establishing his own shop in May, 1831, at No. 667 Broadway. In this shop he designed and built the first omnibus, strictly so-called, which New York had ever seen.

JOHN STEPHENSON.

About 1831 the first street railroad company was organized, with John Mason of the Chemical bank as president; and the "Mason," the first street car ever constructed in America, was built by John Stephenson and used when the road was opened in November, 1832. The patent for this car issued to Mr. Stephenson was signed by Andrew Jackson.

We have spoken of Mr. Stephenson as the father of car building, referring to that industry in its general scope; but he is more distinctly identified with street car building, which has been his specialty for many years. Regular railroad cars of all styles were constructed in great numbers at his shops, which were soon enlarged to accommodate his increasing business; but street cars soon became so popular in all the cities that it taxed his facilities to supply the multiplying systems, and he built a new factory in Harlem. In the great panic of 1837, which was peculiarly destructive of railroad values, Mr. Stephenson was overwhelmed in the general disaster. But in course of time, with the indomitable courage of his race, he rallied his energies for a new and successful effort, and soon entered on a career of prosperity which has suffered no interruption. And it is furthermore recorded, to his lasting honor, that he insisted on paying his bankruptcy debts to the last dollar, firmly refusing to avail himself of the release afforded him by the law.

Millions in Shoes.

It has been estimated recently by a shoe man that the people of the United States spend $450,000,000 annually for shoes.

By Invitation.

Mrs. Minks—Why didn't you come home to dinner?

Small Son—I had my dinner, ma. I took dinner with Willie Minks.

"Did Mrs. Minks invite you?"

"Yes, ma. I smelled apple dumplings cooking, and I told her I liked apple dumplings awful."

"Oh, you did?"

"Yes'm. Then she said maybe if I went home I'd find you had apple dumplings for dinner too."

"Humph!"

"Yes'm. But I told her yours was always so heavy pa wouldn't let me eat any, an' then she invited me to sit down."—Good News.

In the Connecticut Valley.

Mrs. Birmingham—See that poor, miserable tramp, studying those crocus plants. With all his wretchedness and degradation he still has an eye for the beautiful.

Roadside Weeks (regretfully)—Always disapp'inted! How I did hope that them blades wuz terbacker.—Judge.

Doing His Duty.

Mrs. Speakermind (hanging to strap)—I think it's an outrage and a shame that a tired woman has to stand up in a street car.

Great Editor (from behind his newspaper)—Yes, madam, I'll write a scathing editorial on the subject for to-morrow.—N. Y. Weekly.

Where He Could Be Found.

Collector—I have been to your office a number of times, but I have never succeeded in finding you in. Where can you be found?

Impecunious Debtor—I am always in financial distress. You can always find me there.—Texas Siftings.

Experientia Docet.

"I've got ten thousand dollars; I want to build a house."

"You can't do it."

"Why not?"

"It takes twenty thousand dollars to build a house for ten thousand dollars."—Puck.

A HAIR-OWING OCCURRENCE.

Beautiful hair—

—But not all his own.—Judge.

Not His Fault.

Gilhooly came home at a late hour, and in his usual condition.

"You are just out of the saloon. Now don't you deny it," said his wife.

"It ain't my fault I came home," responded the wretched inebriate; "I'd have been in the saloon yet if the proprietor hadn't closed up."—Texas Siftings.

Had No Chance.

"Your husband," said the caller, sympathizingly, "was a man of many excellent qualities."

"Yes," sighed the widow. "He was a good man. Everybody says so. I wasn't much acquainted with him myself. He belonged to six lodges."—Chicago Tribune.

Giving Liberal Measure.

"How far did you say it was from the station to the house, Dennis?"

"Two miles, sir."

"Two miles! Why, we have been over three, already!"

"Well, sir, the roads are bad about here, so we give good measure."—Life.

What She Has Missed.

Miss Cumso—Here's what Miss Fangle calls "a little note." There are six pages of paper. It's the longest note I ever saw.

Cumso (with a sigh)—Then you never saw a sixty-day note for five hundred dollars.—Detroit Free Press.

A Cure for Vanity.

"It is an odd thing; Jones is such a modest man that I never saw him look in the glass; and yet he wears the loudest kind of neckties."

"He doesn't dare to look in the glass, my boy. His wife buys his neckties."—Puck.

The Height of Bliss.

"Now," said the teacher, on the opening day of school, "I want you to tell me what you all enjoyed most during your vacation."

"Sleeping late in the morning!" was the chorus.—Harper's Young People.

Too Fast.

He—Will you marry me, Eveline?

She—Sir!—

He—Rejected again!

She—'tainly. I only wanted to see whether you were in earnest or not.—Jury.

Special Measure Required.

Housekeeper—Seems to me that quart measure of yours is awful small.

Milkman—My cows is the small kind, mum.—Good News.

A Frank Reply.

Teacher—Did you find any hard problems?

Bad Boy Winks—I didn't look for any.—Puck.
